Hugh had never roused this tender protective emotion. Joan felt for Mark; Hugh had never made her feel the simple comradeship of being at his side each day, of being of service to him. Hugh had never phoned of the depths of her nature had never filled her with desire to strive for Mark's good.

And never before had Joan known the breath of devastating jealousy which had shaken through her like a hot wind. She could see them back there all the coffee-cups women, now, but still—gleaming beauty, softly seductive . . . Mark's eyes on those white shoulders . . . his mouth—that finely chiseled mouth that Joan loved, close to Thelma's bare-covered head.

Joan gave a little gasp of pain and shut her eyes. "Oh no—no—No!"

She hurried on by lagging footsteps; forced herself to think of dinner. She stopped at the steamy little delicatessen and bought some things to reheat on her gas-stove. And all the time she was hooking the thought of Mark and Thelma at arm's-length.

As Joan entered the lobby of her apartment house a girl who had been sitting on her lower step rose to meet her.

"Well, thought you'd never get home—I've been waiting nearly an hour."

Joan stared at her with startled eyes. It was Gilda Rasmey, the straw colored blond girl who had lived in the apartment above Joan's. She sensed the cordiality with her voice.

"Why—I'm glad to see you Gilda. Will you come on up to my apartment?"

Joan led the way with a troubled heart. She did not want to see anyone—tonight—certainly not Gilda Rasmey. But the girl was pleasant cool and ran a comb through her hair. "Oh, I'll come up—thanks."

"And you suppose right, dear!" Emma Hastings' voice was quite soothing, but her address when she died! She's so full of spite she'll bite herself—and you know it!" Gilda's fair hair bristled on the street this week-end. Joan's heart sank. Gilda was going to tell me where you were—what's the dirt, anyway?

Joan smiled. "Oh—I don't see Teddy much."

"Don't you scowled—eh?" Gilda raised a cynical eyebrow and reached for a cigarette. "Well, I'll tell you—I'm sorry you went to work for, wasn't it? Havens?"

Joan wondered how much those sharp blue eyes could read in her face. She felt as if they were close to her cheeks and she turned the subject.

"Will you stay for dinner, Gilda? It may not be like the Ritz, but it's home-cooked—and you're welcome."

All the time Joan set the table and cooked the dinner she was aware of the inconsequential chatter, but understrain she was wondering why Gilda had come. Gilda was a girl who lived with her expensive furs, her fake diamonds . . . what did Gilda want of her?

They ate at the infinitesimal table in the infinitesimal dining-room and Gilda's cheap electric light Joan could read plainly. Gilda looked older—last seen her, fleshily rouged and had lost her Hectically rouged cheeks did not disguise a sickening pallor. Her nerves were ragged, too; she lit one cigarette at the end of another while twirling fingers; but, more than this, there was a dog-like hopefulness in her eyes as they followed the other girl about the place which made Joan vaguely sorry—sorry for the wrecked her thoughts from Mark and the disturbing Thelma to focus them on her visitor.

Gilda suddenly laughed. "You're wondering what the devil I can do on you for, aren't you, Blondy? Well—you'd be surprised!" Gilda planted her thin elbows on the table and dropped her face between them. She was suddenly fiercely serious. "Because you're the only one in this whole city I've met who seems genuinely sorry about you Blondy—something—clean—something that makes me think—long ago—"

Joan was horrified to see Gilda's head go down on her arms, her thin body shaken by sobs. She took off her chair to the other girl and held her close. "Gilda dear—please don't—"

The other looked up with tears running down her sallow cheeks; she pushed her away almost fiercely. "Say, I'm sure of pretending to you! Everything's good dead wrong. Jim and I quarreled last week—he's back back to his wife—" Joan recalled Jim as the stout, middle-aged man with Gilda had said wished to "educate" her. "I'm . . . almost flat—it is last week. I'm . . . I'm sick. I've made such a mess of things!"

"But you—you do—" Joan hesitated, at a loss.

Gilda gave a hard laugh. "Oh Jim —he don't think I cared for him! He meant this—and this—" She fingered and contemptuously the fur coat flung over the back of the chair—the jeweled bracelet on her left wrist. "It's the things coming around, Blondy." Then with a sudden fierceness: "Know how glad I am Blondy?

"Why I suppose—about my age," Joan stammered, her chin quivering.

Gilda gave a laugh like a small shriek. "Be yourself, dearie! Did you know that I was divorced—that I had a couple of boys. The older is eight today—the birthday—can you think what that means to me—his mother?"

Joan was looking at a soul in torment. Though Gilda's thin face was twisted to a cynical smile, her eyes were burning and anguished.

"Gilda!" Joan bent out, her own throat aching. "Why don't you go back to your husband?"

At Gilda's shrug the expensive fur slipped to the floor. Gilda mechanically picked it up and replaced it again. The children are with him, and the second Mrs.—" Then, with a sharp cry, "My boys—my baby! She is eight today!"

Then as Joan was hesitating, wondering what to say to comfort, Gilda turned defiantly to the mirror, cheated of the latest parties, the latest jazz band, Emma's latest spite she seemed reluctant to leave. And when she had finally walked to the door she surprised Joan by kissing her; a hectic, chin-lipped kiss which seemed to burn the girl's cheek like a brand.

"Let me come again Blondy? It does me good to talk to you."

Joan walked back to the other room very soberly when Gilda had closed on Gilda. This glimpse of the human derelict vearily drifting across the dreary sea of life as seemed saddest thing she had found in the city. She stood there, one standing with hands tightly clasped under her chin, whispering to herself:

"And what about you—what about you, if you don't love Mark!"

CHAPTER 23

THELMA STARTS HER DIVORCE

Some of the most dramatic moments of life are the quietest—passed over almost in silence, unmarked by the casual looker-on. Such a moment came in the office the next day, when Joan, busy with some work on the files, hear Mark dictating Thelma Sewell's divorce complaint to Miss Hastings.

To Emma Hastings it was simply part of the routine to which she had become accustomed for 18 years. What Mark thought could not be read in his controlled face and his inscrutable eyes. Neither of them dreamed it could mean a thing to the girl who kept her back carefully turned to them as she searched the files.

Though Joan had told Mark of the circumstance which caused her to go away from home, she had loyally kept with-held Hughs' name. Now that was a cry because he had made humor which twisted her young mouth and darkened her eyes with pain. Time, the jester! A few short months ago this divorce would have been for her. Now she listened to it by freeing Hugh from a loveless marriage. Now she knew that she have been only a dream—a bitter dream lost somewhere back in the glorious girlhood of hers. Who would have dreamed of this twist of fate? Joan's face was set with a desolate sinking of her heart. Thelma Sewell's fate to be married to Mark.

In that brief moment of meeting last night, Joan had taken Thelma's measure; she had seen the beautiful, spoiled woman who could have had anything—a husband who worshipped her, a home, children—and who had thrown it all away for the glitter and no heart. Mark—with his absurd ideas of honor. Once this tiresome business was finished and settled they would reach an understanding. Thelma nodded as she adjusted a sparkling diamond circlet on her wrist.

"Poor Auntie—I must be going. Take me to the car, Mark. Won't you come with us?—Ike Selwyns will be delighted and we could drive you home to dress."

"Not tonight, thank you, Thelma."

"Princess!" she corrected him pettishly. "Where call me Thelma. Princess is more exclusively your own."

Mark read it for a promise which at one time would have caused his heart to leap and his head to swim. Even now it was pleasantly thrilling to have this silken, sparkling woman graciously inclining to him. He took her down to the car, to be scolded playfully by the impatient old dowager who had waited there. "Bad boy to keep Thelma so long! I've nearly frozen to death waiting for you two children—"

Miss Hastings read into that the gradually inclining note which he had marked in Thelma's voice. A note which boded ill for Mark of the future, which opened up heights to which a shabby boy had never dreamed of climbing.

Thelma was gathering her fur about herself while Mark held the door open.

"Remember—you're coming to us for Christmas dinner—" Then she suddenly turned, kissed him darkly on the cheek—he had a momentary impression of warm white fur and cool skin crushed against his—"I'm a stranger to you here—me—then the door slammed—the car moved off, only Thelma's high, sweet laugh like tinkling ice in the wake.

Chapter 24

GILDA TALKS TO JOAN

Gilda plopped down in the shabby old arm chair and looked about her with a sigh. Joan was putting away in the kitchen to drop her packages on the table. When Joan came in again Gilda was lapping a cigarette and was highly polished finger nail and her head thrown back to look out of the window looking out on to the court.

"How did you learn where I was?" Joan asked her, as she sat down on the couch and ran a comb through her hair. "I left no forwarding address."

"Oh, I'm a good detective, dearie! Emma wouldn't give one anything, but even her address when she died! She's so full of spite she'll bite herself—and you know it!" Gilda's fair hair bristled on the street this week-end. Joan's heart sank. Gilda was going to tell me where you were—what's the dirt, anyway?

Joan smiled. "Oh—I don't see Teddy much."

"Don't you scowled—eh?" Gilda raised a cynical eyebrow and reached for a cigarette. "Well, I'll tell you—I'm sorry you went to work for, wasn't it? Havens?"

Joan wondered how much those sharp blue eyes could read in her face. She felt as if they were close to her cheeks and she turned the subject.

"Will you stay for dinner, Gilda? It may not be like the Ritz, but it's home-cooked—and you're welcome."

All the time Joan set the table and cooked the dinner she was aware of the inconsequential chatter, but understrain she was wondering why Gilda had come. Gilda was a girl who lived with her expensive furs, her fake diamonds . . . what did Gilda want of her?

They ate at the infinitesimal table in the infinitesimal dining-room and Gilda's cheap electric light Joan could read plainly. Gilda looked older—last seen her, fleshily rouged and had lost her Hectically rouged cheeks did not disguise a sickening pallor. Her nerves were ragged, too; she lit one cigarette at the end of another while twirling fingers; but, more than this, there was a dog-like hopefulness in her eyes as they followed the other girl about the place which made Joan vaguely sorry—sorry for the wrecked her thoughts from Mark and the disturbing Thelma to focus them on her visitor.

Gilda suddenly laughed. "You're wondering what the devil I can do on you for, aren't you, Blondy? Well—you'd be surprised!" Gilda planted her thin elbows on the table and dropped her face between them. She was suddenly fiercely serious. "Because you're the only one in this whole city I've met who seems genuinely sorry about you Blondy—something—clean—something that makes me think—long ago—"

Joan was horrified to see Gilda's head go down on her arms, her thin body shaken by sobs. She took off her chair to the other girl and held her close. "Gilda dear—please don't—"

The other looked up with tears running down her sallow cheeks; she pushed her away almost fiercely. "Say, I'm sure of pretending to you! Everything's gone dead wrong. Jim and I quarreled last week—he's back back to his wife—" Joan recalled Jim as the stout, middle-aged man with Gilda had said wished to "educate" her. "I'm . . almost flat—it is last week. I'm . . . I'm sick. I've made such a mess of things!"

"But you—you do—" Joan hesitated, at a loss.

Gilda gave a hard laugh. "Oh Jim —he don't think I cared for him! He meant this—and this—" She fingered and contemptuously the fur coat flung over the back of the chair—the jeweled bracelet on her left wrist. "It's the things coming around, Blondy." Then with a sudden fierceness: "Know how glad I am Blondy?

"Why I suppose—about my age," Joan stammered, her chin quivering.

Gilda gave a laugh like a small shriek. "Be yourself, dearie! Did you know that I was divorced—that I had a couple of boys. The older is eight today—the birthday—can you think what that means to me—his mother?"

Joan was looking at a soul in torment. Though Gilda's thin face was twisted to a cynical smile, her eyes were burning and anguished.

"Gilda!" Joan bent out, her own throat aching. "Why don't you go back to your husband?"

At Gilda's shrug the expensive fur slipped to the floor. Gilda mechanically picked it up and replaced it again. The children are with him, and the second Mrs.—" Then, with a sharp cry, "My boys—my baby! She is eight today!"

Then as Joan was hesitating, wondering what to say to comfort, Gilda turned defiantly to the mirror, cheated of the latest parties, the latest jazz band, Emma's latest spite she seemed reluctant to leave. And when she had finally walked to the door she surprised Joan by kissing her; a hectic, chin-lipped kiss which seemed to burn the girl's cheek like a brand.

"Let me come again Blondy? It does me good to talk to you."

Joan walked back to the other room very soberly when Gilda had closed on Gilda. This glimpse of the human derelict wearily drifting across the dreary sea of life as seemed saddest thing she had found in the city. She stood there, one standing with hands tightly clasped under her chin, whispering to herself:

"And what about you—what about you, if you don't love Mark!"

CHAPTER 25

THELMA STARTS HER DIVORCE

Some of the most dramatic moments of life are the quietest—passed over almost in silence, unmarked by the casual looker-on. Such a moment came in the office the next day, when Joan, busy with some work on the files, hear Mark dictating Thelma Sewell's divorce complaint to Miss Hastings.

To Emma Hastings it was simply part of the routine to which she had become accustomed for 18 years. What Mark thought could not be read in his controlled face and his inscrutable eyes. Neither of them dreamed it could mean a thing to the girl who kept her back carefully turned to them as she searched the files.

Though Joan had told Mark of the circumstance which caused her to go away from home, she had loyally kept with-held Hughs' name. Now that was a cry because he had made humor which twisted her young mouth and darkened her eyes with pain. Time, the jester! A few short months ago this divorce would have been for her. Now she listened to it by freeing Hugh from a loveless marriage. Now she knew that she have been only a dream—a bitter dream lost somewhere back in the glorious girlhood of hers. Who would have dreamed of this twist of fate? Joan's face was set with a desolate sinking of her heart. Thelma Sewell's fate to be married to Mark.

In that brief moment of meeting last night, Joan had taken Thelma's measure; she had seen the beautiful, spoiled woman who could have had anything—a husband who worshipped her, a home, children—and who had thrown it all away for the glitter and no heart. Mark—with his absurd ideas of honor. Once this tiresome business was finished and settled they would reach an understanding. Thelma nodded as she adjusted a sparkling diamond circlet on her wrist.

"Poor Auntie—I must be going. Take me to the car, Mark. Won't you come with us?—Ike Selwyns will be delighted and we could drive you home to dress."

"Not tonight, thank you, Thelma."

"Princess!" she corrected him pettishly. "Where call me Thelma. Princess is more exclusively your own."

Mark read it for a promise which at one time would have caused his heart to leap and his head to swim. Even now it was pleasantly thrilling to have this silken, sparkling woman graciously inclining to him. He took her down to the car, to be scolded playfully by the impatient old dowager who had waited there. "Bad boy to keep Thelma so long! I've nearly frozen to death waiting for you two children—"

Miss Hastr- read into that the gradually inclining note which he had marked in Thelma's voice. A note which boded ill for Mark of the future, which opened up heights to which a shabby boy had never dreamed of climbing.

Thelma was gathering her fur about herself while Mark held the door open.

"Remember—you're coming to us for Christmas dinner—" Then she suddenly turned, kissed him darkly on the cheek—he had a momentary impression of warm white fur and cool skin crushed against his—"I'm a stranger to you here—me—then the door slammed—the car moved off, only Thelma's high, sweet laugh like tinkling ice in the wake.

Chapter 24

GILDA TALKS TO JOAN

Gilda plopped down in the shabby old arm chair and looked about her with a sigh. Joan was putting away in the kitchen to drop her packages on the table. When Joan came in again Gilda was lapping a cigarette and was highly polished finger nail and her head thrown back to look out of the window looking out on to the court.

"How did you learn where I was?" Joan asked her, as she sat down on the couch and ran a comb through her hair. "I left no forwarding address."

"And you suppose right, dear!" Emma Hastings' voice was quite soothing, but

DAILY SHORT STORY—

Johnny Pulls a Fast One

By Mattie Ramson

Tom Hampton was a derelict. He hadn't always been one. Time was when Tom owned five of the best horses running or any track.

"Hurry-up" Johnny Sender sent him at New Orleans, Hurry-up sent him to Tom for Tom and did a good job.

They met and talked over old times; ran over the races of yesterday and towards the end Hurry-up gave vent to his feelings.

"Listen Tom, you can't go like this! You're letting yourself to the grave, old man. Pull yourself together."

"No use, kid. The game's played out by me as I'm concerned."

"Don't talk like that," pleaded Hurry-up. "Why, it ain't like you to fold up. You're still a sport, listen to me, will ya, Tom—"

"No use, pal. I'm washed up. I tell ya. Why, even Phyllis give me the air."

Phyllis was Tom's fiancee at one time. He thought the world of her. Hurry-up knew it. No wonder Tom was going to the dogs.

"Where is she, Tom?" asked Johnny quietly.

"Don't know, kid. Last I heard she was running around with Regan's gang. Nice outfit to be running with."

"Aw, forget it, Tom. I got a hot one for the day. A hundred to one shot, Tom."

"Ya say it's good, kid. I got fifteen bucks left."

"Gimme twelve and a half, Tom. I'll stick another twelve and a half on it. We'll go for the twenty-five."

"O.K. Kid, sink it."

And that was all. Hurry-up bet the twenty-five on Comedy's nose at a hundred to one. A hot tip right from his trainer, and a good one. After the race he came to Tom with twenty-five hundred good American iron men.

"Swell goin', Kid." was all the comment Tom made. "I'll be able to live a long time on twelve hundred and fifty bucks."

"Then", the Kid was getting harsh, "ya ain't goin' to live on this dough. Ya kid Tom, I'm split it to live on. This means a new start for you and me. Old Man Crowley is out Stardust up for sale. A good three-year-old, but about ten pounds overweight. He's a shifting two grand for 'im, Tom. Let's make 'im train 'im. I'll ride 'im. Get Sheehy with 'im. It's a new deal for us. Whaddya say, Tom?"

Only a moment did Tom hesitate. Then, sticking out his hand he said, "It's a go, Kid, you're dead and you're the dealer. Shuffle the deck and let's go."

So Stardust had a new owner, a new trainer and a new jockey. Day day, Hurry-up watched him. He rubbed him, slept with him, and two days before the Handicap the Handicap reported to Tom that the horse could run a mile in faster time than anything in New Orleans.

That afternoon Tom dropped the name of the horse in the entry box for the big handicap. And that evening Hurry-up ran into Phyllis in front of the Traveller's hotel.

"Hello, Hurry-up. Been tryin' to get in touch with ya."

"Whaddya want with me? If it's Tom, leave 'im alone. He's gettin' along and don't need ya."

"Listen, Kid, I love Tom, whether ya believe it or not. But that don't matter. We'll talk about later Lizzie. Regan's figurin' on dragging Stardust out and givin' 'im a two or three-mile run with a couple hundred pounds over his back. I wanted to warn ya not to let Tom have any more dough, Kid."

"Thanks, Phyl, but there ain't nothin' I can do about it. So long."

Hurry-up had a big race Tom and Hurry-up had their last two hundred on Stardust to win. The horse was in at twenty to one.

Tom met Regan just before the race. Regan looked at him with a crooked smile, saying, "Ya got a good hoss there, Hampton, I'm coghta get down on im for plenty."

But Tom made no reply. Maybe to Regan the horse looked fagged out, but Tom knew nothing of it, so he didn't intend to tell him.

When the Kid said that Stardust was the best miler at the track, he didn't exaggerate. At the mile pole the horse was away out in front, and though he didn't keep the same lead, he was too far ahead to be overtaken by Regan's mount which ran second to Stardust.

After the race was over and Tom and Hurry-up were congratulating themselves, Phyllis ran up to Tom with: Tom, you old fool, you know darned well I never loved anyone but you. I was runnin' with Regan's crowd to try an' get the goods on them. But fell for him, trying to Hurry-up. "Stardust didn't look like she was run around with two hundred-pound sacks. What did ya do to him?"

"Didn't do nothin' to 'im. Stardust wasn't there when Regan sent his man to sneak 'im out of the stable. He took Old Man Crowley's Sapphire who's a dead ringer for Stardust, switched them, two after Stardust's workout that afternoon".

MARMORA

Marmora—The regular monthly meeting of the Holy Name Study Club was held on Sunday, December 13th, immediately after Benediction in the Separate School. Mr. J. O'Neill presided over a good attendance. After the reading and adoption of the minutes, Messrs. Paquet, McNally, E. D. O'Connor and H. Dunley reported for their sub-committees. A most interesting and comprehensive account of the past month's events were ably given by Mr. W. Maguire. Rev. Fr. Martin then gave a very instructive address on the Mystical Body of Christ, which was highly appreciated. There being no further business, the meeting adjourned.

A few weeks ago, Mr. J. N. Parker of Marmora Township, was taken to Nicholls' Hospital, Peterborough, for treatment, but in spite of all that medical science could do, he passed away on Monday, December 7th. Several years ago, Mr. Parker purchased what is known as the Arthurs Ranch in Lake Township, but the depression made the venture impractical and he then moved to the residence near Mr. Chas. Wells. Both Mr. and Mrs. Parker won the esteem and good will of all who knew them. They were good citizens and good neighbors, kindly and ready to help anyone in trouble. Interment took place at Harrow, Ontario, near relatives.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected at the regular meeting of the Marmora Branch No. 237, Canadian Legion, held on Friday evening. The Hon. President, Capt. R. A. Bleaske, was delegated by President W. J. Mumby to occupy the chair for this order of business. The new-elected are as follows:

President—T. Cousins.
1st Vice-Pres.—W. Bedore.
2nd Vice-Pres.—N. Hepson.
Secretary-Treasurer—C. Gray.
Asst. Sec'ty-Treas.—L. R. Rundle.
Sergeant-at-Arms—W. Gifford.
Sick Committee—T. Wright, G. Brooks, L. R. Rundle and N. Hepson.

The installation of the new officers will be held on January 8th.

The names of Dr. W. G. Ketchenson and Capt. C. A. Bleaker were retained as honorary presidents of the branch. Arrangements were made for the unusual rounds with Christmas Cheer gifts to the needy on Christmas eve.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. French who have been residents of this district for the past thirteen years, quietly celebrated their silver wedding at their home on Main Street on Friday. They were married at St. Peter's Anglican Church, Cobourg, on December 18th, 1911, by the late Canon W. J. Savage. Mr. French is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. C. J. French of London, England, and his wife before marriage was Miss Hodges, daughter of Mr. and the late Mrs. William Hodges of Manchester, England. The happy wishes for many added years of happy married life is extended Mr. and Mrs. J. French by a wide circle of friends.

Mr. George Kratz, of Jordon Station, Ontario, passed away on Monday, December 14th, in his 70th year. He was a brother-in-law of Messrs. Harris and Mrs. D. Knox of Marmora.

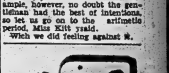
Miss Thelma Holland, of Campbellford, spent a day at her home last week. She was accompanied by Misses Dorothy and Jean Fraser and Messrs. Russell Crum and Buck Fraser.

Mrs. S. Dayman of Oshorne has returned home after visiting her sister and brother, Mrs. William Holland and Mr. Irvin Rupert.

St. Paul's Men's Club held a business meeting in the Parish Hall on Friday evening under presidency of W. J. Cottrell. It was decided to change ladies' night from Jan. 18 to Jan. 20. A gratifying report was given of the result of the recent tournament jointly sponsored by the Club and Ladies' Guild. The meeting wound up with a game of euchre.

The member of United Church Sunday School Class were treated to a bountiful banquet in the church hall on Friday evening. Although there was no program, jolly old St. Nick himself distributed a generous supply of oranges, candies and nuts to those present.

Little Benny's Note Book



In school today Miss Kitty was telling us about Christmass, saying some people seem to think that Christmas means just for them to get all the presents that they can think of, but it's the worst mistake of that is the wrong attitude entirely. The real Christmas is a spirit, a spirit of good will love everybody, and th epeople who injoy it most and get the most out of it are the ones who give and not the ones who accept. You have all heard the saying that it is more blessed to give than to receive, but I was the first time I ever had a clear idea of what it means. All who think that they understand its meening will Once there was a famine and only one man had one loaf of bread, and he gave it all away to his neighbor. Instead, his fertile brain calmly reviewed the possibilities of solving his problem. Presently a cunning plan flashed into his mind, and he called the great strong Ca-pat to him.

for a few practical examples illustrating how it is more blessed to give than to receive. Who will give me the first example? she said.

Wich Puds Simkins waved his hand, saying, I always start to save up my money about 2 months before Christmas so I can give other people Christmas presents, but no matter how many people I give presents to they always give me just as good ones back, and generally better.

I'm afraid too many sople give presents with the expectation of getting one of ones in return, Miss Kittysaid. But it's proberly better than expecting to receive without giving anything. Perhaps someone can give me a better example, she said.

We raising my hand and saying, Once there was a famine and only one man had one loaf of bread, and he gave it all away to his neighbor. Instead, his fertile brain calmly reviewed the possibilities of solving his problem. Presently a cunning plan flashed into his mind, and he called the great strong Ca-pat to him.

Radio Programs

MONDAY

9.00—Breakfast Club—WJZ
10.00—Betty and Bob—WABC
11.45—Ed. MacHugh, Gospel Sing. —WJZ
11.45—Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe—WABC
2.00—Al Pearce's Gang—WABC
4.00—Hour of Charm; Phil Spitalny's All-Girl Orch—WEAF
5.30—Singing Lady—WJZ
7.00—Amos 'n' Andy—WEAF
7.15—Uncle Ezra—WEAF
8.00—Fibber McGee and Molly—WEAF
8.00—Lorenz Heidt's Brigadiers—WABC
8.00—Helen Hayes in 'Bambi'—WJZ
8.30—Margaret Speaks, sop.—WEAF
8.30—Jack and Loretta—WABC
8.30—Melodiana—WJZ
9.00—Radio Theatre—WABC
9.00—Orchestra Nights—WJZ
9.00—Warden Lawes in "20,000 Years in Sing Sing"—WEAF
9.30—Richard Himber's Orch.—WEAF
9.30—Jack Pearl—WJZ
10.00—Wayne King's Orchestra —WABC
10.00—Children's Christmas Party—WEAF
10.30—Musical Toast; Jerry Cooper, bar.—WEAF
11.00—Christmas Carols—WJZ
11.30—Ray Noble's Orch.—WEAF

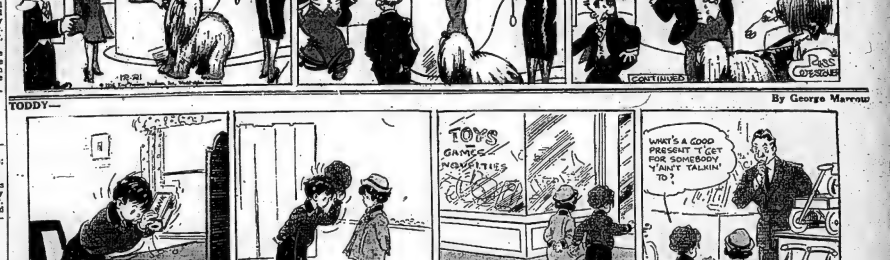
TUESDAY

9.00—Breakfast Club—WJZ.
11.45—Ed. MacHugh, Gospel Singer—WJZ.
2.30—Girls' Guild—WJZ.
3.00—Marian and—WJZ.
3.00—Al Pearce's Gang—WABC
5.30—Singing Lady—WJZ.
7.00—Amos 'n' Andy—WEAF
7.00—Easy Aces, sketch—WABC
7.30—Lum & Abner Sketch—WLW
8.00—Log Cabin Ranch—WJZ
8.00—Commerstein Music Hall—
8.00—Leo Reisman's Orch.—WEAF
8.30—Wayne King's Orch.—WEAF
8.30—Edgar Guest—WJZ
8.30—Al Jolson M.C. Victor [illegible]
9.00—Fred Waring's Orch.—WABC
9.00—Ben Bernie and the Lads; WJZ
9.00—Sidewalk Interviews—WEAF
9.30—Fred Astaire and Charles Butterworth and Johnny Green's Orchestra—WEAF.
9.30—Georgie Stoll's Orch. and Benny Goodman's Orch.—WABC
11.00—Christmas Carols—WJZ

WEDNESDAY

9.00—Breakfast Club—WJZ
10.00—Betty and Bob—WABC
10.15—Modern Cinderella sketch—WGR.
11.45—Edward MacHugh, Gospel Singer—WJZ
1.30—Christmas Concert, Glee Clubs and Orch.—WJZ
4.00—Henry Busse's Orch.—WEAF.
6.45—Lowell Thomas—WJZ
7.00—Easy Aces, sketch—WJZ
7.00—Amos 'n' Andy—WEAF
7.15—Uncle Ezra—WEAF
7.30—Lum and Abner—WJZ.
8.00—Fannie Brice—WABC
8.00—One Man's Family—WEAF
8.00—Carnivals of America—WABC
8.30—Famous Actors' Guild; Ethel Barrymore—WJZ
8.30—Wayne King's Orch.—WEAF
8.30—Burns and Allen—WABC.
9.00—Town Hall Tonight; Fred Allen—WJZ
9.00—Andre Kostelanis' Orch. —WABC
9.30—Community, Homer Rodeheaver—WABC.
10.00—"Sing Christmas" by Phillips Lord—WABC
10.00—Your Hit Parade—WEAF
10.00—Special Christmas Program from Montreal, Canada—WJZ
10.30—Chicago City Opera Co, "Alice in Wonderland."—WJZ
11.00—Benny Goodman's Orch. —WABC
11.30—Rabbi Louis I. Mann "Rabbi Looks at Christmas"—WABC
11.30—Christmas Carols—WJZ

MP. AND MRS.—

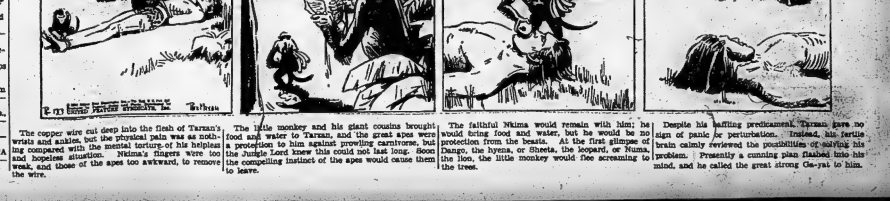


By Briggs

BRINGING UP FATHER—

By George McManus

TILLIE THE TOILER—



By Russ Westover

TODDY—

By George Marrow

TARZAN AND THE LEOPARD MEN (Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service)

The copper wire cut deep into the flesh of Tarzan's wrists and ankles, but the physical pain was as nothing compared with the mental torture of his helpless and hopeless situation. Nkima's fingers were too weak, and those of the apes too awkward, to remove the wire.

The little monkey and his giant cousins brought food and water to Tarzan, and the great apes were a protection to him against prowling carnivorse, but the Jungle Lord knew this could not last long. Soon the compelling instinct of the apes would cause them to leave.

The faithful Nkima would remain with him; he would bring food and water, but he would be no protection from the beasts.

Dango, the hyena, Sheeta, the leopard, or Numa, the lion, the little monkey would flee screaming to the trees.

Despite his baffling predicament, Tarzan gave no sign of panic or perturbation. Instead, his fertile

RUGBY— BOXING— WRESTLING—

SPORTS Of All SORTS

HOCKEY— BADMINTON— BOWLING—

STORMY MEETING AS SCHEDULES IN O.H.A. ARE DRAWN

Belleville And Trenton to Remain Intermediate "B" Teams

3 IN JUNIOR GROUP

Peterboro And Fliers Grouped as Intermediate "A" Squads

As one of the jangliest and stormiest O.H.A. group meetings ever held in this district calm finally prevailed and schedules for the junior and intermediate O.H.A. groups No. 2 were drafted in Belleville on Saturday. In the junior series, that includes Peterborough and Tweed and Belleville, a double schedule was adopted with a playoff for the group title being agreed upon between the clubs finishing first and second.

After threatening most everything except to withdraw from the O.H.A. the Peterborough intermediate club finally accepted their allotted rating as an intermediate "A" team along with the R.C.A.F. 'Fliers' to play a home-and-away schedule with the Belleville Redmen and the Trenton intermediates, the latter two being intermediate "B" clubs. It was agreed Belleville and Trenton play a double schedule while Peterborough and the "Fliers" will play a single schedule, with an interlocking single schedule also being included among the four clubs composing the group. Home and inferno games for all league games except the Peterborough-Fliers and Belleville-Trenton intermediate games, including junior fixtures.

The Belleville Redmen open the intermediate schedule at home versus the Trenton intermediates on Jan. 4th, while the R.C.A.F. Fliers will pay off their schedule at the Belleville Arena on the same night. Trenton plays

Toronto Leafs Down Amerks To Advance to Second Place; Canadiens Increase Their Lead

Chicago Wins First Home Game This Season By Defeating Amerks

DETROIT STOPS BRUINS

Canadiens And Rangers Split Even Over Week-end

By A. E. Pulford, Canadian Press Staff Writer)

13 was a big week-end in the National League with a lot of excitement here and there but one item stood out like Mrs. Claus's nose, Midway through his Christmas rounds, Chicago Hawks won a game. Of course hockey fans are supposed to win games now and then. Ten thousand Chicago fans were hardly prepared for the shock when Glenn Loughlin's team defeated New York Americans 3-1 last night. It was their first victory since they won from Detroit Red Wings Nov. 26, and their only one at home this season.

The two goals that scraped them out a win brought the low-scoring wonders up to their second of a goal a game. They have scored 14 goals in 14 starts, which must be a record.

Loyal Chicago followers figure they can make the grade now it over-confidence doesn't trip them up.

For Americans the game was the fifth straight loss. The team that started the season with a rousing bowl 3-1 to Toronto Leafs Saturday night and saw the Montreal Canadiens widen their lead at the top of the Canadian division to five points.

The Happy Hasbeens did it by taking New York Rangers 4-3 in overtime at Montreal Saturday and that they lost 3-2 to the New Yorkers in another extra-time contest last night took away none of their advantage. The Ranger victory kept them in the first first place in the United States division with Detroit, who won 4-3 from Boston Bruins in Detroit last night.

Defenceman Earl Seibert probably the most valuable man on the Hawk team, provided the winning margin for the collie team over Amerks, Eddie Wiseman scored on the second for the New Yorkers and Johnny Gottselig on the third to set the stage off. He caught the Amerks flatfooted, while Marty broke off Chicago was serving a penalty.

Big Crowd In New York

The best crowd of the five games attended the Canadien-Rangers game in New York. Fourteen thousand people saw Lynn Patrick score twice in the third period to wipe the second period goal by Dissy Desilets and Sweeney Schriner and Cowley and Joe Jerwa gave the Canadiens a 3-2 victory.

Cecil Dillon, Butch Keeling and Frank Boucher rapped in goals in the overtime and "Tiny" Blake added one for Montreal.

The veteran line of Johnny Gottselig, Doug Marcotte and Solly Pro vided the overtime fireworks at Montreal Saturday. Pete Lepine scored twice in the first period to give Canadiens a margin, Keeling and Dillon wiped out in the second. Gagnon drove the puck past Dave Kerr before he overtime with the aid of Morenz and Joliat. Another great line, Detroit's Lewis, Barry and Aurie combination had a hand in three of their four goals against Brutus, Herb Lewis and Marty Barry gave the Wings a two-goal lead in the first period and when Roy Getliffe cut it down in the second, Pete Kelly got it back.

Aurie made it safe in the third when he took Egan Bardis and young Bill Cowley made up the rest of Boston's total. The Lewis and Barry goals in the first period were scored while Eddie Shore and Bill Regan Hunter were serving penalties.

Bill Thoms starred in Toronto's second win in three nights over the Americans. The curly haired Toronto centre played his best game of the season, scoring one goal and assisting in another.

Happy Day and Gordon Drillon got markers in the first and second periods before Sweeney Schriner passed to Art Chapman for the only American score. Thoms had assisted Day and got a goal himself after Chapman scored.

Ventures Out on Ice Saved by Brother

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Dec. 21 (CP)—Robert Racicot, 11, pulled his 10-year-old brother, Donald from the St. Marys River, Sunday when the ice gave way beneath his skates. Donald, while skating with Robert Racicot, whose boy, ventured out too far. He held to the edge of the ice until Robert reached him.

Policemen saw the accident from the station window, called firemen and rushed to the boy's assistance. Rescue was made as they arrived.

HORTON SMITH IS TOPS AS GOLFER

All Top Golfers Go South in Winter to Increase Prestige

Coral Gables, Fla., Dec. 21 (AP)—The new Hall Memorial Bowl, topped the 1936 golf money winners with $7,964 in prizes, raised the question today of how the lesser known winter tournament players got by financially.

The answer—gleaned from the golfing fraternity's unofficial grapevine—is that many of them don't get by so well.

But, while they may end up each season's campaign broke, always there's the possibility of fame and the big money and they keep on swinging, spending and hoping.

The majority do not earn enough prize money during the season for a ticket home. Few of them have private incomes. Practically all depend entirely upon their golf skill for a livelihood.

They do it like this.

Most of the 200 or more who play the prize money circuit are professionals at northern or eastern clubs are closed in the winter. Some save enough from their summer salaries to finance their winter treasure seeking. Others continue to draw their salaries because of the prestige their playing gives the home clubs.

Manufacturers Help.

Equipment manufacturers finance the southern sojourn of many top scorers. They pay good salaries and expenses to get their names, which they receive good advertising when their field men win.

Several professionals come south at the suggestion of wealthy home club members who want to play with them while vacationing in Florida.

The young ones invest their savings in the winter tour, not because they expect to make money, but to get valuable experience and help them get better club connections nor spend a lift for the prize money alone and they have to be good to break even.

Next—to Smith, 1936's biggest money winner was Ralph Guldahl of St. Louis, with $7,582.

The every player like Smith and Guldahl who earns a hundred, however, who didn't make a nickle. Even Guldahl, for example, made only $54 last year.

Mayoress Dies Suddenly

GATESHEAD, England (CP)—Mrs. James White, 56 year old mayoress of this town, was found dead in the mayor's chamber as she was preparing to go with her husband to an old folks' tea party.

A WORTHY PAIR—BEST AT THE ROYAL

The two Holstein Friesian cows, Dewdrop Fayne Johanna and Dewdrop Johanna Changeling adjudged the best property of one dam, at this great show. At the right, Dewdrop Fayne Johanna, awarded Reserve Grand Champion Female honors at the show. Owned and exhibited by Douglas Hart, Woodstock, Ont.

QUEEN POPULAR WITH ALL FOLK HIGH OR LOWLY

Elizabeth Has Worked Long With Her Husband in Welfare and Is Considered Wonderful Mother

By DERWIN MacKENZIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Elizabeth, the new Queen, is a prime favorite of all classes both in the United Kingdom and in the Dominions beyond the seas.

The people always have loved "the little Duchess" because she is so sweet and friendly and wholly unassuming—as unspoiled and lovely as the heather blossoms from her own home highlands of Scotland. They sometimes called her "the smiling Duchess," too, for she has a winsome smile—a real smile of warmth that comes from the heart —for everybody, whether they be humble folk or great personages.

Elizabeth comes from a long line of aristocracy herself, but her attitude towards life has given the impression that she had stowed away in her pretty head the thought that if a member of the nobility cut his finger he would bleed red blood, just like any ordinary mortal, and not the blue blood one might expect from dining fine books about the peerage. She never has put on any airs, and that gets her a long way with the people.

Her husband knew the King, always has been like that, too. One of the achievements he is proud of is his sponsorship of a boys' camp, in which boys of all classes are thrown together and made to like it. As Duke he never was happier than when in a camp outfit, mixing with these youngsters.

Throughout their married life of 13 years the Duchess has worked with her husband among the poor in such labors of love. They have made a great pair and have devoted much time to such altruistic enterprises.

In her private home life Elizabeth, who is a charming and gracious figure in a drawing-room, has presented a picture of a good British housewife, with all the common sense of her race. One suspects she got a deal of inspiration from her royal mother-in-law, Queen Mary, who is one of the best housekeepers in England, even if she has lived in palaces.

Queen Elizabeth has been exceptionally fond of Elizabeth, and the two have been together much. The Queen Mother has, through the years, imparted a wealth of knowledge to the younger one.

Quite apart, from official duties, Elizabeth has won the ever efficient Queen take full charge of such things as the spring housecleaning in Buckingham Palace. Menus have gone to the royal chefs either in Queen Mary's own handwriting, or with her alterations noted on something the chefs had suggested. She always has run her own house.

All these things and many more Elizabeth has wished and, thereby stowed away for future reference or adopted to her own smaller needs. She is said to have been an apt pupil and should make a fine managing queen. Her household she now will have under her supervision.

But the most beautiful gem in Elizabeth's crown is her motherhood. She has been a wonderful mother to her two little Princesses —Elizabeth, who is now 10 and next in line to the throne, and little Margaret Rose, aged six. She has part of her reward in knowing that these two lassies are the most beloved small-folk in Britain.

One thing the Duchess could not conceal, however. She often has effaced herself in public so that her little daughters could have the limelight. The mother was building a future Queen, irrespective of what might happen to herself. And a proud and happy smile always lighted the Duchess' face when the crowds showed their love for the Princess.

TEXTILE INQUIRY AWAIT ARGUMENT

Probe Into Operation of Industry And Shut-Down of Plant Took 100 Days

OTTAWA (CP)—Designed primarily to establish whether the textile industry of Canada, operating under a high protective tariff, could justify itself to the taxpayers of the country as meeting such protection, whether the wages paid by the industry were commensurate with the income, and whether advantage had been taken of the tariff to disburse large dividends to the promoters in the creating wages, the Royal Commission which investigated the industry was concluded at the end of January. Its public hearings closed late in November.

The inquiry had other origins. During the election campaign of 1935 political speakers in certain parts of the country had threatened that if returned to power the Liberal party was successful industries would be closed and the men thrown into the streets. In a statement issued election night, Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King came out definitely for a probe of this situation.

The commission, on January 2, plant of the Dominion Textile Company Ltd., in Cherrybrook, was temporarily shut down; the reason given being the company's inability to continue operations in the face of increasing competition from Japan. Accepting this as a challenge, the government established the commission and vested in Mr. Justice W. F. A. Turgeon of the Supreme Court of Saskatchewan, wide powers as investigator.

J. C. McIlroy, K.C., of Toronto, was named chief counsel with Ellis Beauregard, K.C., of Montreal, his associate. A. S. Whitely of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics and Gordon E. Hooper of the National Revenue Department were loaned to the commission, Mr. Whitely as secretary and Mr. Hooper as cus-toms expert.

Following an organization meeting in Ottawa late in February, the commission began its task at Sherbrooke in the middle of March. The cause of the January shutdown at the rayon plant of Dominion Textiles was probed and considerable evidence taken relative to the wages and working conditions in that city. The investigation then went to Three Rivers, where a strike in 1936 at the Wabasso Cotton Company's plant was investigated.

Working conditions, the company's attitude to trade unions, the history of Wabasso since its inception, all formed the subject of inquiry.

Montreal was the next venue of the investigation with the financial operations of other textile companies being inquired into. Later the commission moved to Ontario.

Meanwhile the summer months were occupied by a visit to the United Kingdom where the commissioner made certain inquiries. Returning to Canada the commission continued investigations at Peterborough, Toronto, Paris, St. Catharines and Cornwall. Textile centers of all sizes and character were probed and the set-up was closely scrutinized by hearings which continued for three weeks at Ottawa in November.

When the commission adjourned "sine die," exactly 100 days had been put in on public hearings; exhibits filled with the commissioner totalled 1,246 and more than 4,-250,000 words of evidence transcribed. Counsel for all parties concerned were given until January 15, 1937, to prepare argument. Barrister acting for the companies were F. P. Lanctot, K.C.; Alme Geoffrion, K.C., and C. C. Lewart, K.C. of Montreal, and Roy Kellett, K.C. of Toronto. Stenographic reporting was in the hands of Robert Syrdie of Toronto.

Considerable time will elapse before Justice Turgeon renders his report.

CORONATION YEAR IS AFFECTING FUR PRICES

Events affecting the British Empire in the past and those to come have had and will have a far reaching effect on the various parts of the Empire, it seems, Mr. Harry Tanover, prominent local furrier, who just returned from an extensive tour of the northern parts of the province states that furs are reaching prices which have not been equalled for a number of years.

The Coronation of His Majesty King George VI in next May is sending the price of ermine skyrocketing. Other high-priced skins are also rapidly climbing with the increased markets especially those of Great Britain being largely responsible for the marked upward trend.

All-in-all stated, Mr. Tanover, it looks like a banner year for the fur business.

STALIN PREFERS LESSENING SPOT IN RED PICTURE

Releases No Power But Chafes Under Foreign Opinions and Recalls Soviet Homage to Lenin

By CHARLES P. NUTTER
Associated Press Staff Correspondent

MOSCOW (AP)—Less and less the name of Stalin is being featured in the development of Soviet Russia.

Although this has been apparent for many months, it was brought home most strikingly by the absence of Stalin's name from the 36 slogans approved by the Central Committee of the Communist Party for use in the November celebration of the revolution.

Many reasons, why such a move is in order are apparent to those who have followed recent developments here. There is no one who believes the move means Stalin is releasing any of his great power, but rather that he has turned to a more removed and less advertised means of governing the nation.

One of Stalin's reasons is the accusation, especially abroad, that he was only acting slavishly—the tactics of Mussolini and Hitler. He also realizes that dead heroes like Lenin should receive their greater attention from the people than contemporary politicians and executives.

Foreign rumors that Stalin is seriously ill, and that the move proves the open displeasure of his own party, are wholly discounted here. It is felt the leader of the Bolsheviks has as yet lost no single shred of his power. Stalin has never been bombastic, but there are many events and policies of contemporary Russians that leave him open to such a charge.

The recent visit of writer who stoked the word "Stalin" in letters a mile high for the edification of 1,000,000 spectators watching an aviation meeting on the outskirts of Moscow suggested the trend of things only as recently as last August.

No sky-writer tried to print Lenin's name on the clouds. There were criticisms heard of this, as well as the stunt of the atmospheric balloon which took off carrying a gigantic picture of Stalin, but not of Lenin.

LIPSON'S FURNITURE HOUSE

"THE HOUSE OF QUALITY"

LOOK
Occasional Chairs
A gift suggestion at great savings! Gorgeous modern walnut finished Occasional Chairs, richly covered, beautifully designed!

Let Mother give one to Dad . . . let Dad give one to Mother . . . or let the younger generation give one to the fellas! Whether you've set eyes on these chairs, we know you'll find a way to get one into your home for Christmas. They're beautiful chairs .....

3.95

3 Piece Modern Chesterfield Suites
Two modern 3-piece Chesterfield Suites at great savings. Modern in design and guaranteed to give satisfactory wear. Both are very high grade suites and must be seen to be appreciated.

$119.00 VALUE 58.95

$139.00 VALUE 89.50

CASH PRICE

A LASTING CHRISTMAS GIFT!
LOUNGE CHAIRS
Large, luxuriously comfortable chairs, superbly constructed throughout. An appreciated gift for Dad.
14.50 up

UPHOLSTERED
Bedroom CHAIRS
6.95

PARCHMENT
Floor Lamp SHADES
49c

END TABLES
Walnut Finished
89c

PARCHMENT
Table Lamp SHADES
29c

CHROME
Ash Trays
While they Last. Reg. 9c and 15c
9c

CHROME
Smokers
99c

SILK
Bed Lamps
Completely Wired
99c

Radio LAMPS
7.95

FOOTSTOOLS
ONLY ONE TO EACH CUSTOMER.
A beautifully finished footstool with carved legs and covered with tapestry. Manufactured to sell for $1.50 and $1.75
49c each
WHILE THEY LAST!

NOVELTY GIFT Suggestions
COFFEE TABLES
END TABLES
CONSOLE TABLES
SEWING CABINETS
MODERN DESKS
See our Display of NOVELTY FURNITURE
Gifts Too Numerous to Mention

CEDAR CHESTS
GIVE HER A CEDAR CHEST!
Red Cedar lined, fitted with automatic lock. See our big range of Cedar Chests. Everyone a wonderful buy! ....
12.50 up

LARGE BOWL
TABLE LAMPS
Reg. $2.98
1.95

Comforters
An outstanding value! Limited quantity which allows only one to each customer! Semi-satin covered in two tones. Size about 72 x 78. Reg. selling $4.95.
2.95

PICTURES
An ever popular gift. Pictures, in modern frames. Just the thing to brighten up that dull corner.
25c and up

STUDIO COUCHES
You'll hardly believe your eyes—but here it is! The chance to get that convertible Studio Couch you've been wanting. Easily converted into twin or double bed. Front opened; skillfully constructed; richly covered; handsomely styled. Inner Spring Mattress and Spring Filled Cushions. See our selection .....
19.95

Smyrna RUGS
36 x 63 .....
3.95

BRIDGE LAMPS
Stand and Shade Complete
1.99

CHROME
COFFEE TABLES
3.85

NOVELTY GIFT Suggestions
RADIO TABLES
TELEPHONE SETS
Desk and Chair
NEST OF TABLES
Walnut SMOKERS MAGAZINE RACKS
SILK CUSHIONS

UNLISTED MINES

Unlisted mines furnished by A. E. Kebbekus and Co. today at 3.15.

Albany 84-100
Alhoca 35-40
Baldwin 100-130
Cumpton 14-18
Chips Gold 854
Darwin 60-62
Oct. Pandora 19-22
Forty Four 238A
Frankenburn 37-41
Gold Eagle 75-77
Lapa Cad. 135-140
Oliboe 1 1-2-2 1-4
Ollie, Lake 25-6
Rhuland-Patricia 12 A
Tamlaw 17-18
Letich Gold 71-76
Madsen Red Lake 128-132
McCarthy Webb 44A
Mosher 46-49
Martin McNeely 8A
Moosbia 57-60
Pickle Crow 75
Oldrad 57-60
Old Diamond 41-44
Pan. Cadillac 100-105
Rim Lake 4A
Rahbi 4A
Rubec 14-18
Smallman Gold 9 1-2-10 1-2
Sturgeon River 42-46
Stockton 28A
Schreiber 12-14
Shenango 28A
Sigma 500A
Sioux Extension 14A
Thom. Cad. 226-240
Wendigo 203
Wilson Red Lake 10A

TORONTO INDUSTRIALS

Toronto, Dec. 21 (CP)—Trading dwindled to small proportions today in the industrial section of Toronto Stock Exchange and on but very slightly steady to strong, especially the industrial leaders, the utilities, the foods and steels. Base metals also was strongest of the power stocks. Consolidated Bakeries featured the foods with an advance of more than a point. Canada Wire and Cable A was up ½.

In the liquors Distillers-Seagrams and Walkers were but moderately higher and Industrial Acohol A was lower. Nickel and Smelters was stronger and the oils firm to slightly higher.

TORONTO MINES

Toronto, Dec. 21—(CP)—Medium priced gold area a strong display in the mining section of the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Issues advanced to a new high at $8 and O'Brien hit $14, its record high price. Other issues showing gains this afternoon included Sisco, Dartmouth, Macleod-Cockshutt, Kirkland-Hudson Bay, Perron, Paramoy, Hard Rock and Sladen.

At the opening Foothills Oil and gas shot up to $2.20 to show a gain of 46 cents but the gain was dropped in the subsequent profit-taking. Home Oil and the other oils were steady to strong. Fond Gentle with a rise of 6 cents to $5.75 was the feature of the Base Metals.

WALL STREET

New York, Dec. 21 (AP)—Speculative sentiment was more too forward in today's brief session although gains of fractions to a point or so were posted for several coppers, utilities and specialties. Trading turned quiet after a fast opening and the list was narrow and definite near the fourth hour.

In the forenoon action of the market prices were unchanged to slightly higher among International Nickel, McKesson, Douglas Aircraft, Canadian Pacific and Distillers Corp.-Seagrams. Late gains, Lake Shore edged a shade higher. Dominion Government bonds were inactive. Montreal funds gained 1-32 on a cent at 100.13⅝ cents.

Shares premium over the advancing side were Anaconda, Kennecott, Canadian Pacific, American Smelting, Electric Power & Light, Deere, International Harvester, Canada Dry, Packard Steel Car, Chrysler-Paige, Newport Industries, Texas & Western, American Can and Paramount.

A share after share of G. E. Steel, McKinney, Consolidated Biscuit, Radio, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, National Distillers, Armour & Co.

Declined in drift lower were General Motors, Chrysler, General Electric, Goodyear, Allied Chemical, Johns-Manville, Union Carbide, Du Pont and Sears Roebuck.

Board Room Gossip

As supplied to Biggar and Crawford by Financial Services

Last week was a momentous one for the stock market, it having 10 withstood some considerable pressure. On the whole, it acted considerably better than was expected in the many quarters and indications are that the immediate future of the market will continue into 1937. There are more favorable factors surrounding the stock market today than there are unfavorable ones. Consistent dividend payments and extra, cash payments attest to the improvement in industry.

Drury & Thompson, in their Market Letter, state that the approach of the year-end should be a good opportunity for investors and speculators generally to put their accounts in order. It is a good plan to occasionally get out of the market altogether in order to get a fresh viewpoint as anyone who is long or short is apt to become prejudiced, his judgment being influenced by his hopes and fears.

The market during the past year has had a long and substantial advance. The outlook at the year-end is immeasurably better than at the close of 1935 but it is just a question how far this condition has been discounted. There will be many buying opportunities in 1937 and those who will benefit most will be those who are in a position to take advantage of opportunities as they arise.

Stock Markets

Quotations furnished by Biggar and Crawford, F. H. Wills, branch manager. Quotations at 2.19.

MINES

Acme 14
Alar 51
Armfield 90
Anglo Fire 258
Base Metals 28
Beattie 135
Bobjo 19
Bly Missouri 84
Bughman 2
Bralorne 760
Bra 5
Buffalo Ank 11 3-4
Castle Trap. 12
Can. Malar 189
Central Pat. 430
Chemical Research 136
Chromium 130
Coast Copper 206
Chibougamau 226
Conlagrum 198
Dome 46 5-4
Eldorado 226
Falconbridge 11 3-4
Gold Eagle 80
Goldale 44
Gunnar 109
Graves 88, 89
Hardrock 266
Home Oil 216
Hollinger 13 1-4
Howey 58
Hudson Bay 32 3-4
J. M. Cons 49
Kirkland Lake 90
Lake Shore 39
Lebel 17
Little L. L. 736
Macassa 795
Man. F. 13 1-2
McIntyre 38 3-4
McKenzie 24
McMillan 15
McWatters 89
Mandy Mines 205
Noranda 73
Nipissing 46
O'Brien 13 3-4
Parbec 1 1-4
Paymaster 107
Pamour 260
Perron 38
Pend. Or. 390
Pickle Cr. 740
Pioneer 505
Premier 500
Pros. Air 115
Read Auth. 460
Red Lake G. 5. 126
Reno 130
Hoyalite 69 1-3
San Antonio 230
Sherritt G 776
Sisco 460
Stadacona 89
St. Anthony 26
Sud. Basin 545
Sullivan 210
Sylvanite 305
Teah 17
T. Hughes 618
Ter. Can. Oil 222
Tyborn 385
Ventures 282
W. Amulet 239
Wr. Hargreaves 726
Ymir 35
Mankfield 170
Francoeur 100
Gimcora 34
May Sphere 36
Moneta 187
McVittie 13 1-4
McLeod 500
Stanley 50
Sladen 175

Toronto.

Bell Telephone 165½.
B. A. Oil 22⅝.
Brewing Corporation 24¼.
Brazilian Traction 17⅝.
Canada Bud 84¼.
Canada Cement 12⅛.
Canada Dredge 46¼.
Can. Industrial Alcohol 7.
C.P.R. 16.
Canada Malting 34½.
Canada Vinegar 18½.
Canada Car 18½.
Cockshutt Plow 10¼.
Cons. Bakeries 21⅝.
Can. Smelting 79½.
Dominion Stores 11¼.
Distillers-Seagrams 27.
Fanny Farmer 22.
Ford "A" 21¼.
Gypsum 14.
Goodyear 88.
Imperial Oil 20⅝.
Inter. Nickel 67½.
Inter. Petroleum 34¼.
Imperial Tobacco 15⅝.
Loblaw 23¼.
Massey Harris 7.
Mitchell Power 30.
McColl Frontenac 13⅝.
Power Corporation 34.
Steel of Canada 78½.
Superior 33.
Shawinigan 26.
Walkers 47.
Walkers Preferred 19¼
Walkerville 24¼.

NEW YORK

American Can. 113
American T. and T. 163 1-8
Amer. Tob. Power T 54
American Radiator 26 1-4
Anaconda 33 3-4
Auburn 30 1-4
Bethlehem Steel 73
Case 164 1-4
Chrysler 118
General Electric 61 3-8
General Motors 68 1-4
Int. Nickel 67 1-8
Inter. Telephone 12
North American 20 1-4
Montgomery Ward 58 1-2
Phillips Pet 47 3-4
Radio 11 1-4
Simmons 44 3-4
Standard Oil of N.J. 86
Standard Brands 15 1-4
Stewart Warner 17 3-4
U. S. Steelers 85 1-2
U. S. Steel 75 5-8
United Aircraft 37 3-4
Vanadium 37 1-2
Westinghouse 143

"Alcohol" Sells Balance of Whiskey

Secretary to Manage Seagrams

At the time when the United States went wet it was thought that the Canadian Industrial Alcohol Co. Ltd. would be able to dispose of their well-seasoned inventory at a figure close to 64. a gallon. Too much competition prevented this from becoming an accomplishment. The Street now hears that this company has sold 1,600,000 gallons of its fine whiskey to Distillers-Seagrams for a total price of $1.06 a gallon or $1,640,000.

Cheese Board

Delta, Dec. 21.—At the regular meeting of the Delta Cheese Board 504 boxes of colored cheese were boarded and sold to Dool at 19 7-16 cents. Buyers present were: Dool, Beckett, Osmond, Brown, Taylor. Board adjourned for season.

Plumsmith, Wis., Dec. 21—Cheese quotations for the week, Wisconsin Cheese Exchange: Twins 16½; cheddars 16c. Farmers' call board: Daisies, 16 1-2c; horns, 16 1-2c.

Livestock

Toronto, Dec. 21.—(CP) —Cattle trade was dull on the Toronto livestock market today. Butcher cows gained 25 cents but other grades traded at previous levels. The calf division was strong and indications pointed to a firm close for hogs. Sheep and lambs were steady. There was no cattle holdover from Thursday.

Receipts reported by the Dominion Livestock Branch were: Cattle 1,150; calves 240; hogs 930; sheep and lambs 760.

Medium to good weighty steers brought $6.50 to $6.90 with one load ranging up to $6. Good butcher cattle sold from $5.00 to $6.40 and down to $3.50 for common. Choice cows traded at $3.25 to $3.50 with top at $3.75. Canners and cutters went from $1.75 to $3.25.

A few butcher bulls went at $3 to $3.50. Feeder steers ranged between $5.50 and $7.50 for the majority with some at $8. Medium to good stockers were priced at $3.50 to $4.50.

Choice calves ranged from $9 to $9.50 with common lights from $5 to $6. Heavy calves sold from $4 to $5.25. Canners and cutters went from $1.75 to $3.25.

A few butcher bulls went at $3 to $3.50. Feeder steers ranged between $5.50 and $7.50 for the majority with some at $8. Medium to good stockers were priced at $3.50 to $4.50.

Choice calves ranged from $9 to $9.50 with common lights from $5 to $6. Heavy calves sold from $4 to $5.25. Canners and cutters went from $1.75 to $3.25.

Fowlings close for off truck bacon hogs was $8.10 to $8.25.

Bulk of good ewes and wethers sold with a few choice light lambs reaching $10. Heavies and bucks were priced from $7 to $8. Sheep brought $1.50 to $4.50 cwt.

Steers up to 1050 lb.: good $6 to $6.40; medium $5.50 to $6; common $4.25 to $5.

Steers over 1050 lb.: choice $6.75 to $6.25; good $6.50 to $6.75; medium $6 to $6.50; common $4.25 to $5.

Heifers: Good $6 to $6.35; medium $4.50 to $5.75; common $3.50 to $4.25.

Cows: Good $3.50 to $3.75; medium $3 to $3.50; common $2.50 to $2.75; canners and cutters $1.75 to $2.25.

Bulls: Good $3 to $3.50; common $2.75 to $3.

Stockers and feeders: Good $4 to $4.25; common $3 to $3.75.

Milkers and springers: $30 to $60.

HOG QUOTATIONS

Toronto, Dec. 21 (CP)—For the second consecutive day Ontario markets reported steady prices for bacon hogs, while Hull showed higher quotations. Liverweights gained 15 cents at Ste. Quebec city and dressedweights advanced 15.

Liveweights: Barrie $7.75; Brantford $8; London $7.75; Hull $8; Peterborough $7.75; Stratford $7.75; Chatham $7.75; Kitchener $7.75.

Dressedweights: London $10.35; Hull $11; Peterborough $10.40; Stratford $10.35; Chatham $10.35.

FRENCH AVIATRIX NOT BADLY HURT

Mme. Marie Schmeder In-duced For Assault Following Crash

Selsey, Sussex, Dec. 21 (AP) — A pretty French aviatrix whom police believed to be the principal in Europe's astonishing aerial drama at Villacoublay airdrome recovered from shock today following a crash in a dense fog.

(A dispatch from Versailles said the woman of Villacoublay, Mme. Marie Schmeder, was indicted today for assault in connection with an attack there on Pierre L'Ailement, who was shot in the head with a pistol. The investigating Magistrate Grenier announced he would ask to question Mme. Schmeder from England. She flew away in the plane which she and L'Ailement carried jointly after the wounded flier had managed to land it).

The aviatrix smashed her plane near Selsey late Sunday afternoon. It became known today. She gave Sussex police the name of Virginia Reid, although it was understood she carried no passport.

The police declined to give any indication of the woman's identity until they had had long consultations with Scotland Yard. Then, they said, reports from Paris confirmed she was the companion of L'Ailement. (L'Ailement was reported recovering satisfactorily in a Versailles hospital).

The woman was dazed by a slight cut over the head, when she stepped from the cockpit of her broken plane.

Attired in full flying costume she was taken by a local physician for treatment and then was questioned in a farm house by the police. Her condition was said to be not serious, although she was suffering from shock.

A Sussex constable, P. C. Endle-man, first saw her plane, approaching over the sea west of Selsey. He said the motor stopped, while the craft still was some distance from land. The plane crashed in a field near a mill, the wind tilting the wings at the last moment. The propeller and undercarriage were severely damaged.

Produce Markets

(By United Farmers Co-Operative Company).

Toronto, Ontario, December:—
Buying Prices

United Farmers Co-operative Co. today are paying the following prices for Toronto delivery:

Eggs—Subject to grading, cases returned basis, delivered Toronto:

A-large	30c
A-medium	28c
Pullets	23c
"B"	24c
"C"	18c
Churning cream, 1 lb	30c
Churning Cream, No. 2 lb	26c
Butter lb. No. 1	26c
Butter lb. No. 2	25c

(Quotations in Cents)

Young Chickens—

	Dressed	Sel.
Over 6 lbs	20	19
5 to 6 lbs	19	18
4½ to 5 lbs	18	17
3½ to 4½ lbs	17	16
2½ to 3½ lbs	13	12
1½ to 2½ lbs	13	12

	Dressed, Milked	A. Sel.
Hens
Over 5 lbs	18	14
4 to 5 lbs	14	13
3 to 4 lbs	13	11
Old roosters	9	11

Turkeys—Hens 2 cents heavier than "A". "C" grade 3c lower than "B".

	Sel. A.
Young Turkeys—
8 to 12 lbs	20
10 to 12 lbs	21
Over 12 pounds	22
Toms—
Over 8 lbs	15
Ducks—
A-large	26c
"B"	24c
"C"	20c
Young ducks, white 4 to 5 lbs	22c
Over 5 lbs	20c
(Colored ducklings, 3c less.)

Selling Prices

United Farmers Co-operative Co. yesterday were offering produce to retail dealers at the following prices:

Butter—No. 1 Creamery prints No. 1, 36, No. 2, 37c!

Eggs—

A-large	36c
"B"	29c
"C"	25c

Potatoes—New Ontario bag f.o.b. shipping point

HAY AND STRAW

No. 1 timothy, $10 to $11 per ton: No. 2 timothy, $9 to $10; oats and wheat straw $6 to $7. Above prices f.o.b. Toronto.

Livestock Quotations

(Toronto)

Steers, up to 1,050 lbs.

good	$6.00 $6.35
Do., medium	5.25 5.75
Do., common	3.25 4.25
Steers, over 1,050 lbs.
Choice	6.00 6.35
Do., good	5.25 5.75
Do., medium	4.25 5.00
Do., common	3.25 4.25
Heifers, good and choice	5.00 5.75
Do., medium	4.25 4.75
Do., common	3.25 4.25
Cows, Canners and cutters
choice	3.00 3.50
Do., good	2.75 3.00
Do., medium	2.50 2.75
Do., common	2.25 2.50
Bulls, good	3.00 3.50
Do., common	2.50 2.75
Stockers and feeder steers, good	3.75 4.00
Do., common	3.00 3.50
Milkers and Springers	$6.00 $8.00
Calves, good choice veals	8.50 9.50
Do., common to medium	5.00 8.00
Grassers	3.00 4.00
Hogs, f.o.b.	7.75
Do., city truck	8.00
Do., off cars	8.50
Good ewe and wether lambs	9.00 9.25
Bucks	6.50 7.00
Bucks	7.00 8.00
Do. Culls	4.00 5.00
Sheep, good light	3.50 4.50
Do., heavies	2.00 4.00
Do., culls	1.50 2.00

Produce Prices on Montreal Market

Montreal, Dec. 21—Egg prices showed weakness on Montreal open produce markets last week while butter ruled a little steadier. Cheese was unchanged.

Grade egg shipments in carlot or less were quoted at 34 cents a dozen for A-large, 32c for A-medium, 30c for A-small, 27c for grade 3 and 21½-22c for C. Receipts: 4,589 cases compared with 4,356 the week ago.

Butter was quoted at 25⅜-26c per pound for carlots or less of No. 1 while lots to retailers were 26¼-27 for No. 1 and 27-27½c for prints. Receipts: 4,397 boxes compared with 2,507 a week ago.

Grain Markets

Closing quotations on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange as furnished by A. H. Ketcheson and Co. today.

	Open	Close
Wheat—
December	136⅜	133⅝ 134⅛
May	138	132⅛ 134⅝
July	121⅝	118⅛ 120⅝
Oats—
December	81⅜	81¼ 81⅜
May	74⅛	72⅛ 73⅝
July	70¼	68⅛ 70
Barley—
December	81¼	81¼ 81⅜
May	107⅝	104⅛ 106⅝
July	106⅝	103⅛ 106⅝
	103⅛	100 102⅛

CHOOSE Christmas Gifts at the C.D.S.

Store Open Tonight Until 9.30 p. m.

TOYLAND Featured!

Special Clearance of "Roadking" Tricycles

Smartly finished little tricycles, with good sturdy frame, adjustable seat, rubber handle grips, and solid rubber tires. Free running tricycles that you'll come early Tuesday morning, for first selection.

Reg. 10.95 sale price 7.50 | Reg. 11.50 sale price 8.50 | Reg. 12.95 sale price 10.00

Toys for Children

Look Boys! A "G" Man Machine Gun

Rat-tat-tat-tat it sounds almost like the real thing. Is about 20 inches long, brightly colored, and shoots sparks out of the barrel. Boys will have lots of fun with one of these. Special, Each 1.39

—Toyland third floor.

Tootsie Toy

Clearing at 1-3 Off

A box of toys that the kiddies will get a lot of fun and enjoyment from. Well known and a favorite with most children. A limited number only to clear at 1-3 off regular prices. Set 43c to 1.35

—Toyland third floor.

Lighted Railroad Station

An electric lighted railroad station set that is just the thing for your train set. Consists of station house, railroad crossing sign, working automatically, hand truck, two trunks, station seat, transport truck and station lamp, that lights. Come early for this special! Clearing, complete 1.50

—Toyland third floor.

NEW ★IN • MATERIAL • LOOKS ★AND CONVENIENCES • HERE JUST ★IN TIME FOR CHRISTMAS GIVING

It's the Hoover One Fifty Five Cleaning Ensemble—for rugs, for furnishings. One second makes the change. Handy cleaning kit holds all tools. Made with the wonder-metal, magnesium, for amazing new lightness—Plus Positive Agitation, Dirt Finder and two speeds. Delivered in special Christmas cellophane package. Down payment for as little as $4.50.

HOOVER One Fifty Five CLEANING ENSEMBLE

★ ALSO the low-priced Hoover "500", complete with cleaning tools, for as little as $1.00 a week, payable monthly.

Eatonia

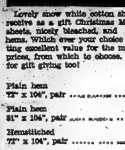
Finished and Hemstitched

Cotton Sheets

Make Smart Gifts

Lovely snow white cotton sheets that every woman would love to receive as a gift Christmas Morning. These are sturdy, well woven sheets, nicely bleached, and finished with plain or hemstitched hems. Which ever your choice you can be assured that you are getting excellent value for the money you invest. Note the sizes and prices, from which to choose. And each pair will be wrapped ready for gift giving too!

Plain hem
72" x 104", pair 3.25
81" x 104", pair 3.50



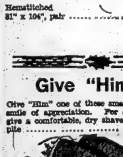
Hemstitched
72" x 104", pair 3.50
81" x 104", pair 3.75

—main floor rear.

Clearance of Men's Wool Felt Spats 50c

Here's a smart gift for either men or young men. Neat looking wool felt spats in fawn or grey shade, with neat leather binding. In button style, sizes 6 to 11. Reg. 75c. Clearing pair

An Overnight Case for "Her"



would be an admirable choice and these are most reasonable in price too. Only 2.95 each for fairly made, lightweight, with covering of heavy grained black imitation leather, nickelled hardware and attractively made and fitted with pockets in lid and body, size about 20" x 12 x 5 3-4". Each 2.95

—Men's store rear.

Give "Him" an Electric Razor 12.50

Give "Him" one of these smart Clip-Shave Razors, and note his smile of appreciation. For a man who has tender skin these give a comfortable, dry shave. Packed in neat gift box. Complete

Give Eatonia

Fine Silk Hose

She probably knows the name and quality and will appreciate such a practical and thoughtful gift. In full-fashioned style. Service or chiffon weight, in such smart tones as Brushwood (dark brown); Beaver (medium brown); Suntan (dark fawn); Gunmetal (dark grey); Rifle (medium grey); Taupemist (brown taupe). Sizes 8½ to 10½, and priced pair 1.00

3 PAIRS 2.85

Children's Wool Pullovers

Smart little, gaily colored all wool pullover sweaters for folks of tender years and these are most reasonable in price too. All wool in plain and fancy knits, with round neck and button at shoulder, V neck or with a neat little sports collar. Some are finished with emblems such as anchors, chevrons etc. In red, brown, navy, white, maize, green and brown and sand. Priced each

1.00, 1.59 and 1.95

—second floor.

Christmas Eve. Store Closes at 6 p. m.

In appreciation of the loyal support of our staff during these very busy days and in order that they may enjoy to the full a Happy Yuletide, the Canadian Department Store will close at 6 P. M. on Christmas Eve.

We will appreciate your co-operation by doing your shopping early in the day.

Early Shopping is Easy Shopping.

Only 3 Days Left!

CANADIAN DEPARTMENT STORES LIMITED

THE WEATHER.
Fair not so cold tonight. Wednesday mostly fair and milder; fresh northeasterly winds today, shifting to southerly on Wednesday.

The Ontario Intelligencer

TEMPERATURES
Max. Min.
Today ..... 13 1 above
Year ago ..... 8 28 below

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 22, 1936

FIVE REGIONAL CENTRES ESTABLISHED BY CBC

Manufacturing, Tourist Trade Helpful in Increasing National Income

FIVE CHILDREN TRAPPED IN HOME ALL ARE BURNED

Parent And Two Other Children Escape With Burns

MOTHER IS SERIOUS

Drops From The Upstairs Window And is Critically Hurt

Ottawa, Dec. 22 (CP)—Five pantomime children were burned to death early today when fire destroyed their two-storey frame home in lower town. Their parents and two other children escaped but the mother was taken to hospital suffering from serious burns and bruises after leaping from an upstairs window.

The dead: Rosario Civaro, 17; Cecile, 11; Therese, 10; Marguerite, 8; Jeanne, 5.

The father, Adelard Civaro, 60, rushed from the house carrying the baby daughter, Therese, 2. Raymond, 14, raced from the building into the blazing street. Mrs. Civaro suffered severe burns before she jumped from the window.

Hospital authorities reported the mother was in serious, but not critical, condition. She is in a delicate condition, they said, her experience making serious burns unportend. . .

Fire Starts In Kitchen.

Cause of the fire was undetermined but Citoyn said he discovered it in the kitchen after he was awakened by noises. He shouted and grief-stricken little leather worker ad in a neighbor's home as he watched the still-burning ruins of his home in the bodies of his children.

He told this story:

"We were all sleeping on the top floor. I was awakened by a noise like an electric light bulb exploding. I jumped out of bed and as I did I smelled smoke. I called to my wife and children and then rushed downstairs. I threw open the kitchen door. I saw the walls were on fire. The fire seemed to be above the first floor. I saw the walls were on fire. The fire seemed to be above the first from the floor.

"I rushed back upstairs and called to my wife again. She said: 'We are all going to die here. We haven't had a chance.'

"I did not stop. I picked up the youngest of the family, Jeremiah, who was sleeping in a crib and carried her downstairs, leaving her outside.

Children Panic-Stricken.

"The family were all panic-stricken and did not know what to do. They were not really waiting at (Continued on page two)

POPE MEDITATES ABOUT BROADCAST

Pontiff Feels He is Able For Task on Christmas Eve

Vatican City, Dec. 22 (AP)—Pope Pius meditated today upon the Christmas Eve message he will broadcast to the world and a semi-official Vatican bulletin said his health continues to improve.

Pius said the Holy Father, in the radio message he will make at 12:30 p.m. Thursday (6:30 a.m. E. S. T.) probably will place emphasis on the grave problems which afflict the world and will expound the principles through which humanity may find win salvation.

His daily will voice appreciation of the worldwide expressions of sympathy which his current illness has inspired. He had not decided what message will be very brief.

The Pontiff's visitors today were Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli, Mgr. Giuseppe Momo, secretary of briefs.

Vatican sources said physicians to Pope Pius were dismayed by the Holy Father's decision to broadcast his Christmas message to the Cardinals.

The doctors hastened to the papal apartments and were understood to be attempting to modify His Holiness' enthusiasm for the project.

While hobnobbing at the Pope's order, proceeded to rig up broadcasting apparatus, physicians were said to be none too sure the Pontiff would be able to stand the exertion.

They insisted the Cardinals rest, with only a minimum of daily work on preparing the allocution announcing his 'joys and sorrows', if he is to be strong enough to address them over over a bedside microphone.

NEWS BRIEFS AND ODDITIES

Farcobie Lake, Ont., Dec. 22—(CP)—This is the first time Farcobie Lake's been reported in a one-line item because it's a brand new mining camp up in this northern wilderness. Four men, with planes literally transplanted the camp from Winnipeg. Four hundred tons of mining equipment, awaiting up virtually nothing more than flown here and accumulation is still under way.

Fifty years ago, a boy and girl with them came new mills, treasures, ale conquerors, steel mills are bankers pipes, cement, fire clay, all grocerie and supplies. Mixed-metal smelting and refining and sent-high abroad in contact with Wm. Mitchell, manufacturer of Winga, Limited, the aviation company.

Hollywood, Dec. 25 (AP)—Gladys Swarthout, Metropolitan opera singer, Orsonio Marx, comedian. That's Hollywood.

The prospective bride Swarthout and her husband, Frank Chapman, will be married Christmas Wednesday after which, when played, brings their votes when and Christmas Eve Swarthout and Shelley in a spoken message of greeting.

Groucho Marx and Christmas cards had July 4. So many, they are receiving bunches of Greenbacks.

Hamilton, Dec. 22 (CP)—Jack Jobbin in North Eastern Township were given a day's holiday in 1935 by hunters in 25 automobiles swept over the township recently in one of the biggest drives in years. They came from Detroit, Chatham, Kingsville and the surrounding district, under leadership of ex-Warden W. Smith. Signed: Mayor Jobbin, Clerk Dowsie, Wardsville, with 18.

Galt, Ont., Dec. 22 (CP)—Postal officials here were given a surprise when the city old fellow with the whiskers had lost his temper. While he paid postage on a usually a flood of letters addressed to Santa Claus in the mails, this year only two had been received.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Dec. 22 (CP)—A friendly trade over a chew of tobacco claimed a record of 64 years' standing when Jacob Hoffman died in hospital here yesterday.

Pleading guilty to Magistrate Reynolds, they were fined fatally when they left him on open charges of theft a few days ago as allegedly engaged in a scuffle with members of a fire of a Beacon. France died last week.

Owen Sound, Ont., Dec. 22 — (CP)—For several years Mrs. K. A. Duncan had written a column in the Canadian Echo, a weekly newspaper conducted by her husband, but on the night of March 19 miles west of here. A few weeks later the column died and the latest issue of the Echo, his widow announced she will take over its direction.

Archbishop of York Speaks; Coronation a Rededication

British Constitution Strengthened Through Crisis, He Says

STARTING 1937 ARIGHT

York, England, Dec. 22 (AP)—The Archbishop of York broke his silence on the abdication of King Edward VIII today in words more outspoken than those which drew the fire of sections of the press and parliament on his previous utterances on the matter.

The harm was not done in December, nor even in October when the intention of marriage was announced to the prime minister," the archbishop declared in his January letter to his diocese, "but much earlier.

"It has happened that many a man before now has found himself beginning to fall in love with another man's wife. That the development of the critical decision and the right decision is that they should cease to meet before passion is so developed as to create an agonizing conflict between love and duty.

"That decision has often been taken by men of honor."

The Archbishop of York, who ranks second only to the Archbishop of Canterbury in the Church of England, declared any kind of love which conflicts with duty is not the love of which the Gospel speaks.

He described the coming coronation of King George VI as a "rededication of our whole national life and conduct as a citizenry."

The prelate said the British constitution had been strengthened by the crisis which grew out of King Edward's love for Mrs. Wallis Simpson Warfield.

"We, more deeply than ever, are convinced that the essential principle of the supremacy of parliament is the confidence of the people who have the confidence of the House of Commons."

Hailing the new king and queen, the archbishop said the country entered the new year by "definitely saying 'Yes' to that way and definitely saying 'No' to that way. We are confident we will start in a happier future."

It was the first time the archbishop had commented on the constitutional crisis although his superior, the Archbishop of Canterbury, severely criticized Edward in a broadcast just after the abdication.

Both prelates praised Urged

LONDON, Dec. 22.—(AP)—Lord Beaverbrook's Evening Standard, objecting to criticism of former King Edward VIII during days of

(Continued on page 2)

G. Britain Leads World In Naval Construction

99 Warships Under Construction or Planned by Empire —United States is Second With 83 'Jane's' Ships

London, Dec. 22—(AP)—Great Britain leads the world in naval construction with 99 warships under construction or planned.

The United States, with 83, was said to be second in the new edition of "Jane's Fighting Ships", authoritative naval annual.

The publication drew a picture of an unrestrained race for nava' supremacy ready to be thrown into high gear Jan. 1 when the old Washington and London naval treaties expire.

The United States contemplated two new battleships, Jane's stated, carrying the largest guns of any warships afloat. The United States government, the new year book said, will install 16-inch guns on the new men-of-war.

Great Britain, Jane's said, would lay down two big ships immediately after the first of the year. Maximum armament for the British vessels was reported to be 14-inch guns.

The year book said Italy ranked third with 66 warships being built or planned, and cited 43 for France, 39 for Germany and 38 for Japan.

Japan plans four new 35,000-ton battleships, Jane's stated with a probable speed of 30 knots.

"With definite abandonment of the principle of quantitative limitation by the (1936) treaty," the book said, "the high tide of naval construction so clearly foreshadowed by last year's 'Fighting ships' has set in strongly.

"Not since the Great War ended has such a quantity of new tonnage been authorized."

Pointing out that all the present construction would be completed by 1940, Jane's added:

"There is little doubt but that in that year the number of new capital ships placed in commission will be greater than at any time since 1916."

Oats Shortage is Forecast; Germans Eat Day-Old Bread

Five Types of Flour Eliminated in New German Regulation For Three Types— Goose Scarcity is Foreseen

Berlin, December 22.— (AP)— The outspoken complaint that "getting today' reported there was an oats shortage in Germany because the army commissioners are taking all available supplies."

This was the newspaper item which recently predicted a 1,000,000-ton grain shortage.

Food dealers heard unofficially only day-old bread would be sold in the Reich after Jan. 1, but there was no decree as yet. Since fresh bread consumes in larger quantities than when it is stale, the Government apparently expected an automatic reduction in grain consumption by this decree.

Today the Government ordered only three types of flour might be ground, instead of the customary eight. A communique explained more flour than ever would be obtained from the same amount of wheat.

It also was learned there will not be enough Christmas geese in Germany for every family, although the estimated 1,000,000 will be consumed in the country.

A German trade agreement with Ireland was renewed for two years, assuring a continued supply of butter, eggs, wool and hides from that source.

NEW ERA BEGINS FOR EGYPTIANS

Land of Pharaohs Becomes Ally of Great Britain

London, Dec. 22 (CP Cable)—Sir Miles Lampson will be the first British Ambassador to Egypt.

The exchanges of ratifications of the new Anglo-Egyptian treaty at Cairo today opens a new chapter in the tangled relations between Britain and the land of the Pharaohs. The treaty makes Ambassador of Egypt ends. Egypt, in accordance with the treaty, becomes Britain's ally and friend.

As British High Commissioner at Cairo Sir Miles Lampson has been in charge of the difficult negotiations which resulted in the Anglo-Egyptian treaty. His appointment as Ambassador was made simultaneous with the exchange of ratifications.

FIRE THREATENS MINING VILLAGE

Geraldton, Ont., Dec.22.—(CP) —Fire threatened to destroy the newly-settled mining village of Jellicoe, mine this year and before it was brought under control early today, the west-end business section was practically destroyed. Only one of a row of five buildings survived the fury of the flames, which raged in sub-zero weather.

The entire population of the Thunder Bay District settlements northeast of Port Arthur formed a human bucket brigade to battle the spreadin flames. M. Brazel suffered severe burns rescuing two watchmen, who were asleep in one of the burning buildings. Total of the burning buildings. Total damage was estimated at $75,000.

Buildings destroyed were: Nels Ballard's barber shop; Dandrif's department store; Louis Top's restaurant; Windsor Hotel.

It is believed the fire started from an overheated stove in Ballard's barber shop. A low water supply hampered the efforts of the fire department, which was aroused at first sound of the alarm. Guests of the Geraldton hotel were awakened by residents,

City and District News

W. C. EDWARDS GIVEN RESPONSIBLE POSITION

Establishing the regular meeting of the Belleville Lodge 1004 Loyal Order of Moose held last night in the room was the appointment of W. C. Edwards to the position of Governor of the General East Division of the order. The appointment is for a year, February to February. Port Hope, Cobourg and Trenton, Mr. Edwards will be in charge of the new appointee. Vice President of the same division this month.

An important phase of the meeting was the appointment of the committee of 4 membership campaign early in the New Year or which Brother Watson of London, Ont., will be the chief organizer.

DIVISION OFFICERS OF MOOSE ELECTED

At the annual election of officers of the Quinte Division, Quinte Lodge No. 197 of the Loyal Order of Moose held in the Moose Rooms on Bridge St., Mr. T. A. Smith was elected to the office of North Moose for the coming year, succeeding Merrill Moose Thomas Gill. Other officers elected were, South Moose, Ernest Wood; Chief Moose, A. Oscanell; Past Moose, F. Gauthier, Guide, Moose, C. H. Mallette; Sergeant-at-Arms, W. C. Edwards.

Following the election of officers, retiring North Moose Thomas Gill was presented with a set of five bills representing the dues of 5 members. These were presented by Mr. Smith Moose W. C. Edwards and responded to by Mr. Gill.

Refreshments were served following the business session of the lodge.

BAND SERENADES FOR YULETIDE

The local Salvation Army Band has already begun its Christmas serenading, starting last Friday night, and will continue throughout the Festive Season.

Some of the selections of the city have already been covered by the West Hill district will be done on Wednesday night.

Christmas morning the band will play carols at the various institutions in the city, and the entire residential district of the East Hill.

The residents of the district are requested to give as liberally as possible to assist this organization to help the less fortunate at this city.

CHEDDAR CHEESE IS GIVEN TO THE FUND

Fire Chief Lynch and his merry crew of fire fighters are wearing a broad smile today for surmounting their stock of Christmas supplies to be given away to needy families in the shape of Cheddar Cheese Co., of Finkle Street, and the whole appreciated by the Toy and Grocery Fund of the Belleville Fire Department.

S. A. Young People's League Give Baskets

The local Salvation Army Young People's League are to give several Christmas baskets to the sick and needy again this year, it was announced. The Young People supply the necessary articles for these baskets and their generosity is greatly appreciated by those who receive the gifts.

Sparks Explode Cotton, Worker's Arm Burned

Preston, Ont., Dec. 22 (CP) — Henry Courtney, Preston, is in St. Mary's Hospital, Kitchener, suffering facial and arm burns as a result of sparks from a motor igniting cotton threads and flame blanket plant here today.

A piece of metal passing through the machine operated by Courtney is believed to have caused the sparks, setting cotton dust and lighting

ENDS TODAY—Marion Talley in FOLLOW YOUR HEART

It Pays to Buy at the Rexall Store

TOILET CASES
Jeanlee and Gardenia.
ALL PRICES
MEN'S SHAVING CASES
$5c to $3.50

McKeown's
DRUG STORE

THE SATURDAY EVENING POST
NOW 5¢ a copy
Where to Magazines Are Sold

House Plants
NEED FERTILIZER
Too.
Call for a Handy 15c Package Today.

BISHOP'S SEED STORE
173 Front St, Phone 263

tales of stock in the carbonizing room. Damage was estimated at $150.

Firemen were forced to don gas masks to enter the building which was filled with deadly fumes.

FIVE CHILDREN

(Continued from page one)

the same time.

"I made a rush to get back into the house but the flames drove me back. I tried again and again. I then realized it was useless for me to try to get in.

"With that I heard a thud on the ground and when I turned around I saw it was my wife. She had only a nightdress on and was cut and badly burned."

The policeman said they passed the house in a patrol car fifteen minutes before the alarm was sounded and saw no sign of fire. They returned in response to a radio call from headquarters and rushed Mrs. Giroux to hospital.

Ernest Lecombe, a neighbor, said he was awakened by Giroux shouting and pounding on the front door of his home. He leaped from his bed and ran in his night clothes to a fire alarm box.

P. W. F. Shirff, Ottawa chief coroner, said he would hold an inquest, probably Monday.

Giroux said another daughter, Rose, 16, was staying at the home of an uncle who employs her and had visited her family last night, leaving just a few hours before the fire started.

Police officials today revealed a number of charges of shoplifting have been laid against girls in connection with the fire.

The largest number of transients to apply for a night's lodging at the police station this month was in evidence at the police station last evening when 19 "weary travellers" were provided warm sleeping quarters.

CANTATA HEARD AT ST. ANDREW'S

Christmas Program is Put on in Fine Manner

At St. Andrew's Church last evening a large audience enjoyed the Christmas cantata, "The Glad Deliverer", presented by the Sunday School choir. The cantata, taken from the various classic took part in the production, was rendered under the direction of Rev. W. J. Walker, with Mr. Hodgins in charge of the orchestral accompaniment. The children took their parts in an effective manner, and the singing of the artistic costumes added greatly to the interest of the scene.

The soloist for the cantata was Master Douglas Browning whose fine voice was heard to the best advantage. The program was greatly augmented by the audience who showed generous in its praise. At the conclusion of the program each child was given candy and an orange.

YS MEN BRING GIFTS TO CLUB

In Turn These Will be Donated to Dundas Street Mission

Exemplifying the spirit of service the members of the Belleville Y's Men's Club held a Christmas party meeting at the "Y" last evening when all members brought presents, toys being specialized for some fellow-members. After the distribution of opening each respective gift and enjoying the spirit of the gift, the club voted to present all toys, and gifts received to the Dundas Street Mission and to supplement these toys with as many more as necessary in order, that no Christmas joy may be assured others, such being the true spirit of service club members. Some 25 toys and Christmas stockings, all of the most acceptable type, were passed over to the committee in charge following their distribution among the surprised members at their everyday meeting. Chairman Alex Weir intimated an equal number of toys for other scholars attending the Dundas Street Mission will have to be purchased from the club funds, however.

Rev. C. G. Sinclair spoke on the greatest story known to mankind, the Birth of the Saviour, during the meeting. He had up to the "glad tidings of great joy", that filled the world and he continued so to do for nearly 2,000 years. T's man Newt Thompson thanked the speaker for his great message and the splendid manner in which it was presented. Newt also led in the community singing, which consisted of Christmas carols, all of the members joined in whole-heartedly.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the club was extended to President Jack Wilson who was absent owing to the sudden death of his sister at home in Toronto.

SHOPLIFT. CASES ARE INVESTIGATED

Police Have Considerable Work Looking Into Complaints

Shoplifting in the city of Belleville has reached its zenith, local police authorities revealed today, following their short investigation of seven business run; has been opened and the police have compiled a list of numerous places of business to investigate reports of shoplifting and theft. It is understood, however, no heads of the stores do not desire to court publicity, preferring merely being satisfied when restitution has been made," police stated at noon today.

Yesterday two teen aged youths were apprehended in the act of taking toys from the counters of a local department store. The lads were turned over to the police and after being reprimanded when taken before the police magistrate, the young youth was hailed by F. C. Evans as he was about to leave the police department store, with the manager in pursuit. The youth, police say, was found in his possession of a pair of gloves taken from the store counters.

Police officials today revealed a number of charges of shoplifting will be laid against girls on the complainants and would be present at a night's sitting of the local police court for consideration.

CLOSED ON BOXING DAY
SATURDAY
December 26th.

In order to show our appreciation to our customers who have been so busy these hours for us during this busy Christmas season we are remaining closed on Boxing Day.

Angus McFee
JEWELLERS
SINCE 1860

Unsigned Letters

Letters bearing nom de plumes but not the names of the writers continue to be received at the Ontario Intelligencer office from time to time. Following out the principle of refusing to publish such letters unless they bear the names of the writers (not for publication. If it is so desired, but for the purpose of knowing for authority of the information conveyed in the letters and as a guarantee of good faith on the part of the writers), the newspaper refuses publication of such letters.

Letters that are fair in their attitude on any matter of public interest will be published, even under a "pen-name" if desired, but the newspaper must know who the writers are before publication.

Letters to the Editor

CITY BY-LAWS

To the Editor Ontario Intelligencer:

Forty years ago the City Council employed the late George Desmond, Barrister, to revise and codify all the City by-laws. These were condensed into 304 printed pages. Some of these by-laws have been repealed, amended or become obsolete and the copies are practically all out of print. Since the by-laws were revised several thousand by-laws have been passed by the City Council. This continued and unsettled mass is the circle of law by which the citizens of Belleville are governed and which is closed to them. It is therefore, of great importance to have the by-law period and consolidated and put in form so that the members of the council, officials and citizens generally will know some chance of knowing by what laws they are governed.

If a City Manager was appointed he would require to spend the whole of his first year's time and consolidating the by-laws so he as well as the people will know and know the laws by which the municipality will be managed. If the City Manager is not appointed then some one else should be appointed to revise and consolidate the by-laws.

W. C. MIKEL.

MAKE YOUR SELECTIONS FROM THIS LIST OF Serviceable Gifts

SHEFFIELD STAINLESS CARVING SETS
$2.75 to $7.50

POCKET KNIVES
A Large Assortment
25c to $1.50

BEST MAKES SCISSORS & SHEARS
50c to $1.75

G.G.M. SKATE AND SHOE MATCHED SETS
$2.75 to $7.50

HANDSLEIGHS FLEXIBLE COASTERS AND TOBOGGANS
30c to $3.25

ROASTING PANS ENAMEL ALUMINUM and SHEET IRON TYPES
50c to $2.00

Hockey Sticks ..... 15c to 75c
Fast Choppers ..... 90c to $2.25
Flashlights ..... 75c to $2.50
Air Rifles ..... $1.45 to $3.75
Bathroom Scales .. $2.95 to $3.95
Dumbbells ..... $1.15 to $2.49
Enamel Teapots .... 75c to $1.25
Whistling Teakettles 75c to $1.25

SMITH HARDWARE
PLUMBERS AND TINSMITHS

Special Three Course
Xmas
Dinner
Choice of
TURKEY or GOOSE, 60c
Family of 3 ..... $1.50
Family of 4 ..... $2.25
CHRISTMAS DAY
11 a.m. to 8 p.m.
THE GUILD RESTAURANT
245 Front St.

Candies
for Christmas
We have an very attractive lines of Candy in various makes, dressed up with a little color, so suggestive of the season.
PRICES FROM 30c UP.
Also
HOME-MADE CANDIES GLAZED FRUITS and NUTS
and
FRESHLY SALTED NUTS
Assorted
Dickens & Son
Phone 170

A NEW LOT OF Brush Sets
Just Received at $3.00 and up
Also
MEN'S ZIPPER CASES
Schryver's
Pharmacy

SEE our WINDOWS.
SEE OUR STORE FULL OF GIFTS.
NOTE OUR LOW PRICES.
We wrap your Gift in Christmas Paper, Sealed with Holly Tape, and Deliver it FREE,
DOLAN
THE DRUGGIST

Cities Win Awards In Fire Prevention

Quebec, Dec. 22.—(CP)—City of Guelph, Ont., was first honors in the Fire Prevention Week Competition for 1936, the competition was sponsored in October by the Provincial Fire Prevention Bureau.

Edmonton, Windsor, Ont., and Sault, Ste. Marie, tied for second place.

In Class "B" cities with population of 30,000 to 80,000 Kitchener was first in Ontario while in Class "C", cities with less than 30,000 Guelph was first in Ontario, Perth second, Niagara Falls, Woodstock, Petrolia, Sarnia, Alexandria, Galt, Renfrew, Brockville and Sault Ste. Marie receiving honorable mention.

HELD ON ATTEMPT CHARGE

PETERBOROUGH, Ont., Dec. 22 —(CP)—On charges of attempted murder and assault Gordon Drane, 19, and John McClennan, 18, today were further remanded until Dec. 29 without election on plea. Entrapment of the cases was requested by Crown Attorney V. McSherry, K.C., on the ground Edgar Carter, victim of a .45 calibre revolver bullet on the night of Nov. 28, last, has not sufficiently recovered to leave the hospital.

TURKEY PRICES DOWN A LITTLE
Average Price, However, Around 25 Cents a Pound
Turkeys, geese, ducks and chickens are largely dominated the city market this morning and in spite of the snappy weather a large crowd of vendors completely jammed the inside market at an early hour, with a splendid display of the Christmas "dinners" in all weights and sizes.

It was simply another case of the "early bird getting the bird" for long before their usual hour of appearance a large crowd of potential buyers thronged the market fumed with shopping baskets and a decided shopping gleam in their eyes. Apparently realizing the profitability of Christmas buyers held off waiting for better prices although the average price of 35 cents per pound for turkey held fairly firm for a while. Buying dropped off and the price began to fluctuate. One buyer purchased a 25 pound turkey for $8 or 30 cents the pound and the battle was on. Until a late hour of the morning prices held fairly firm however, but were beginning to show a slight downward trend. Geese were plentiful and showed some really fine specimens. Prices for these birds averaged from eighteen cents to twenty cents the pound, with buyers showing fair activity. Ducks were also in the buying limelight bringing prices ranging from ninety cents to $1.30 each.

Chickens were not as plentiful as other birds, but held steady at from 50 cents to ninety cents each.

Eggs showed another slight decrease when the market opened, being quoted this morning at 35 cents for "A" selects, 33 cents for "A" mediums, and twenty-five cents, for "B" grades.

There were little or no vegetables on the outside market, the Christmas produce apparently holding the interest of the buying public. A few winter apples were in evidence with Northern Spies being quoted at "$2 the bushel lot". Ontario Sweets were offered at $1.50, Macintosh at $2 and Snows at the same price. Celery was offered at fifteen and fifteen cents the stalk.

Butternuts and hickory nuts were offered at 10 cents the quart and fifteen cents respectively.

Obituary

MRS. SARAH A. THOMPSON (Omemee)

After an illness of about three weeks' duration, Mrs. Sarah A. Thompson passed away at the family residence in Omemee on Dec. 20. She leaves to mourn her loss, as the first break in a happy family circle, her husband, Joseph Thompson, one son, Mr. John A. Thompson of Toronto, and four daughters, Mrs. Ernest Hall (Omemee), Mrs. Louis Yost, both of Bloomfield, Mrs. Fred Clarke, Port Hope, Ont., and Mrs. Chas. Spafford, of Kingston; one sister, Mrs. T. Thompson of Omemee.

Mrs. Thompson was born near Millbrook, Ont., on Feb. 22, 1852, and on Nov. 3rd, 1886, and last year their happy couple celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. The entire 51 years of her married life was spent in Omemee, the village over which she was well known, and loved. She was a member of Omemee United Church, a member of the Women's Association of that church and a charter member of the Women's Institute.

Although seventy-one years of age, Mrs. Thompson has been an active and willing worker in the church and community, and, although in failing health for the past two years, owing to a weakened condition, she maintained her leading a more quiet life.

The funeral service was conducted by the Rev. Sanders in Omemee United Church. Mrs. H. Weeks and Mrs. R. Wait sang very impressively "Well Say 'Good-Night' Here, but 'Good-Morning' There."

The pall-bearers were Walter Locke, Adam Locke, Wm. Chase, Lester Puffer, Wm. Zufelt, Wm. Beman.

Interment was made in Wellington cemetery.—Contributed.

MURDER CHARGE HAS BEEN WITHDRAWN

Montreal, Dec. 22 (CP)—The Crown today withdrew a charge of murder against Henri Emile Plasidie, 35-year-old longshoreman, who previously had been freed on a charge of killing 22-year-old Eliane St. Pierre, reported missing since she went for a motor-driving with Plasidie about five weeks ago.

Crown prosecutor Oscar Gagnon said police were convinced murder had been committed but evidence against the man being withdrawn was not to prejudice later developments.

FURNITURE MOVED FROM SIMPSON HOUSE

London, Dec. 22.—(CP)—Furniture was removed today from Mrs. Wallis Simpson's Cumberland Terrace residence, and her representatives said the lease would be allowed to expire without renewal. The activities of the furniture removers attracted no public attention. Mrs. Simpson remained at Cannes on the French Riviera.

The CHRISTMAS GIFT of LASTING SENTIMENT and VALUE
A diamond lasts forever . . . is a perpetual symbol of true affection, whose intrinsic value increases with the years as an investment which never fails. Truly the ideal Christmas Gift to a loved one.
BLUEBIRD Diamonds are certified perfect. They are the world's Standard for Fine Gems. Settings are marvelous examples of the jeweler's art. Rings from $25.00 up.
BLUEBIRD Registered DIAMOND RINGS
Doubly Guaranteed
Angus McFee
JEWELLER — SINCE 1860
One Year Deferred Payment Plan. 10% Down. Balance in Weekly or Monthly Payments

CLEARANCE SALE OF DOLL CARRIAGES and SLEIGHS
½ Price
STROUD'S

WONNACOTT'S
JEWELLERY STORE
29 Bridge Street, East
LAST MINUTE SERVICE
HERE'S WHERE WE SHINE.
Goods purchased here will be engraved and Nicely Wrapped FREE WHILE YOU WAIT. Numerous Gifts to Choose From.
VIRA KIDDERD, Clerk, Phone 1209W

ARCHBISHOP

(Continued from page one)

York, said today "the need for restraint, understanding and patience is not less now when the nation has to overcome a deep sense of loss".

"The crisis ended December 10 with the abdication," the newspaper, of said in an editorial. "After that event, whatever a man's wishes might have been during the crisis and at the climax, it became his highest duty to submit himself to self-denying ordinances directed against recrimination."

The principal obligation, "which corresponded to the best instincts of our people," the newspaper declared, was "silence about the immediate past and its consequences."

King George came to the throne, the Standard said, with the goodwill of everyone "including those section of the public which thought with this newspaper that another solution to the problem was possible."

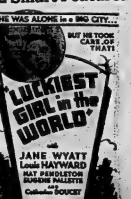
The newspaper referred to its suggestions that King Edward retain his throne by a morganatic marriage.

"Time for Consolidation

"Christmastide also was suggested as a time for consolidation," the Standard continued.

"Yet this was the time chosen by the Archbishop of Canterbury to broadcast criticism of the ex-King's friends which aroused disapproval which was not one-sided but universal.

"Now, following the unhappy example, comes the Archbishop of York. His Grace has not yet marred by criticism Edward in words of ash as were wounding the public hopes given currency to a false view of the late crisis.



The Standard insisted "Edward never at any time showed the slightest inclination to depart from the sound, established constitutional practice of Great Britain."

"If it was ever suggested in malicious, irresponsible quarters that such a challenge existed, the falsehood was destroyed once and for all by Prime Minister Baldwin's speech in the House of Commons on the day of abdication."

The Evening Standard said:

"The Evening Standard urged restraint, understanding and patience during the crisis. The need for those qualities is not less now when we have to overcome a deep sense of loss".

Now to Thursday—2 Smart Features

The most thrilling romantic adventure a man and woman ever shared

THE IDEAL CHRISTMAS GIFT!
THEATRE TICKETS
In Gift Envelopes
Now on Sale!

COUNCIL PLACES HEAVIER TAX ON SLOT MACHINES

Licence Fee For Either Slot Machine or Pin Machine Will be $200

BY - LAWS PASSED

Business of The Past Year Practically Cleaned Up

Members of the Belleville City Council were in holiday mood at their regular meeting held on Monday evening and only routine business was transacted. The meeting was held in the committee room for the convenience of the council members, as the fires in the large furnace in the basement there and the City Hall was left without heat. The fire was quickly drenched and a short order made to repair the damage. A welding job will be done until new pipes from Toronto can be secured.

The report of the special committee, consisting of Aldermen Strong, Dompierre, Clapp and the City Engineer on snow plowing was received and read, and four of the recommendations was accepted by the Council. An agreement with Frank Sparks will be entered into to keep the street clear of snow during the present winter, the cost to be $2.25 per plowing hour Mr. Sparks to provide a five-ton truck for the purpose and the city to provide the scraper. Mr. Sparks will pay for all incidentals including gas and oil and will also carry Public Liability and Property Damage insurance. The Council felt this would be a cheaper way of looking after the work than doing it by City Work, the second recommendation of the report "that a new truck be purchased in the spring for the Public Works Department as the truck now in use needed about $500.00 of repairs. No action was taken on this item, the council believing this a program for the incoming council.

Municipal Education Board

Under the head of enquiries, Alderman Balcanie, asked "What is a Municipal Education Board?" In asking this question and would like to get the Chairman's answer so that the residents who vote will have a clear idea of the nature of the question they are being asked to submit to", said the Alderman. Dr. J. Collins, K.C., entered the discussing and told the members, that the Board at present was only a union of the High School Board and the Public School Board and had been functioning that way for many years. "There has been a desire for a smaller Board", said the Solicitor "and under the Statutes cities under 50,000 can have a board elected, not under the ward system, to consist of ten members.

Nine of the members would be elected and one appointed from the Separate School Board. The new board if ratified would come into existence in 1938, Alderman Balcanie then asked "Would this Board have any more power than the one constituted?" and Dr. Collins said "none whatever". Alderman Barlow interjected, "Is the new Board issue their own debentures? and Mr. Collins replied "No". "As I understand it", said Alderman Barlow, "the Board as constituted at the present time has never been properly assembled for the two Boards, Public and High School formed a united Board and later called themselves the Belleville Board of Education without any authority or by-law, that can be found in connection this action." Mr. Collins stated he believed that to be a fact. This closed the discussion on the matter.

Machine Licence Raised

After a letter had been read to the Council against the operation of slot machines in the city, the writer stating they were only an incentive to initiate young boys into the life of crime, the council took drastic action passing a recommendation to amend the by-law governing the issue of these machines. Under the old by-law a slot machine had a licence of $100 and a pin machine a licence of $25 but under the new by-law each machine whether it be a slot machine or a pin machine will be licenced for $200. Alderman Clapp wished them taken out of the city altogether but Alderman Wills explained the council had no jurisdiction as it was a matter for the Admiralty. Inspector of the Provincial Police. All the members were in favor of raising the licence fee and some suggested a fee of $500 but the figure was finally set at $200 for all types of machines.

A request for the remitting of taxes on 1320 on Brown Street and Great St. James Street was filled with no action being taken. The City Engineer was authorized to secure a railway sign for the crossing at the Pilkington Plant, where a death occurred late this fall. There was a sign there but in some way has been removed. After a considerable discussion a letter and the specifications with the Rice truck from Deline's Tire Shop at a price of $1,130. The members generally were of the opinion that the Chairman of the Department had a right to spend up to $25 in his department without coming to the Council for authority.

Bridge Fair Play

Authorization for the final payment of 20 per cent. on the Gangway Bridge was made at the session. The Patterson Construction Company was given 80 per cent. at the time of completion with the rest held back for six months and the time being up and the bridge being inspected and found satisfactory. The City Treasurer was authorized to investigate the Trader's Licence for the new cafe on Front Street and if the owners are liable for this tax he be authorized to collect same. Chas. of the Belleville Athletic and Yachting Club was remitted by a vote of the council. The club was established a rink on the Bay close by the Bridge and many of the citizens have been enjoying for some time skating under ideal conditions. Anybody is welcome to skate on the rink provided.

Two by-laws were passed one to make laws the recommendation recently passed by the council respecting holidays for members of the Fire Department and the second to licence shooting galleries in the city. The fee will be $25.00. Alderman Bateman asked if anything had been done to allow the council to use the surplus of the Sinking Fund and it was explained that special legislation would have to be obtained to touch this money. Harry Penn was given permission to operate a billiard parlor in the city. Payment of accounts to employes of the city will be made before Christmas, while Mrs. Lillian Hall and W. J. Woodley were appointed as Belleville's representatives on the Mother's Allowance Board.

BOXING DAY

In appreciation of the hearty co-operation which our clerks have given us during this busy season, Zellers Ltd. will remain closed on BOXING DAY, December 26th, to enable our employees to enjoy to the fullest extent this Festive Week-End.

ZELLERS

HONOR ROLL

S. S. 19 THURLOW

(Term of Sept. 2nd.)

V Class—Gordon Hart 79.2.

Sr. IV—Everett Harrison 85.3; Marguerita Goodfellow 71.8.

Jr. IV—Grand King 77; Bessie Howes 74.4; Elmer King 72.7; Helen Mills 69.5.

Sr. III—Walter Chisholm 86.3; Helen Welsh 81.8; Donald Sills 71.8.

Jr. III—Howes 76.4; Margaret Harrison 75.1; Clare Chisholm 70.4; Ellen Goodfellow 63.3; Harold Osborn 57.4.

II—Evelyn Sills 64; Bruce McMaster 62.5.

Part—Ruth Reid, Ronald Gray, Keith Harrison, Ray Morgan Dorothy Howes.

Primer—Teddy Welsh, Jack Golden.

Teacher—Roberta McBurn.

S. S. NO. 16 THURLOW

Sr. IV—Floyd Ray 81.3 (Hon.); Albert Tuxmon 79.3 (Hon); Gerald Tuxmon 77.2; Lee Ray 69.1.

Sr. III—Jean Marshall 79.3 (Hon.); Glen Morgan 71.5 (Hon.); Bridge Fair 67.4.

Jr. III—Gwen Ray 77.5 (Hon.); Gwen Ray 76.2 (Hon.).

II—Keith Hicks 66.7.

Sr. Pr.—Teddy Ray, Bay Weddon.

Jr. Pr.—Allen Lott.

Teacher—Martha Treverton.

SEARCH FOR GUNMAN

Cornwall, Ont., Dec. 22 (CP)—Search for an unidentified gunman who robbed Orven J. Dupras, Montreal, last night, of $75 on a lonely road Sunday extended to Montreal today.

The man was believed to have fled there by means of another car after Mr. Dupras early Sunday and held him up when he had driven to a deserted road. He left Dupras stranded in the car of the automobile.

MOUNTAIN VIEW

Mountain View—Mr. and Mrs. Russell Dickson, Arnold and Howard spent the tea hour on Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Burkitt and family.

Mrs. J. A. Bovay spent Friday with Mr. and Mrs. Howard Calnan and Jimmie of Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Wood and Ronald spent the dinner hour on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Morley Wood of Centre.

Messrs. J. G. Sprague, Gilbert Badgley, Jay Sprague and Mrs. Clarence Sprague motored to King-ston on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bovay and Wayne of Wellington were Sunday afternoon callers of Mr. and Mrs. John Bovay.

Miss Olive Vanvart spent the tea hour on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Russell Dickson and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Badgley, Mr. J. G. Sprague and Miss Elizabeth Jordon spent the tea hour on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Jay Sprague and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Parliament and Ralph of Kingston spent Sunday with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hartford Parliament.

Miss Mildred Weaver of Westbrook, who has been spending the past three weeks with her aunt, Mrs. Geo. Neal and family returned home on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Sprague and Mr. and Mrs. Jay Sprague motored to Toronto on Tuesday.

Miss Helen Lloyd spent the week-end with Miss Luella Fife of Ameliasburg.

Miss Bertice Minaker spent the dinner hour on Tuesday with Miss Evelyn Sprague.

Mr. and Mrs. Loral Wannamaker and Miss Jean Wannamaker of Belleville were Sunday visitors of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Orand Wannamaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Llewellyn Goodwin and Mrs. A. J. Goodwin of Cherry Valley, spent the tea hour on Monday with Miss Elizabeth Jordon, the occasion being Mrs. Jordon's 32nd birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Ritley and family of Wallbridge were Sunday guests at Mr. and Mrs. Bertie Minaker's.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Anderson and Miss Lillian Sprague also Mr. and Mrs. John Sprague spent the tea hour on Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sprague of Wallbridge.

Mrs. John Bovay spent the dinner hour on Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bovay of Wellington.

Mr. Myrtle Bass of Belleville, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Fryner.

The Young People of this vicinity are busy practising for their Christmas Concert.

Mrs. James Way of Bowerman's spent a few days last week with Eleanor and Roger Sprague.

Mrs. John Bovay on Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Huff of Shannonville.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Parliament spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Ross Parliament and family of Schoharie.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Sprague returned home from Toronto, on Thursday with a new car.

On Wednesday night over seventy-five neighbors and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bovay and family gathered at the Sunday School rooms to spend a social evening, before their departure to their new home in Colborne. The evening was spent in ring-song and contest and social chat. The winners of the Prayer contest were Mrs. John Black and Rev. D. J. Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Dickson were asked to come forward and the following address was read by Mrs. Arthur Parliament,

Dear Russell and Ethel,

We are sometimes called upon to do things, which if we could follow the dictates of our own hearts we would gladly know that it might be left undone, for might brings home to Mountain View very forcefully, the knowledge of the loss we as a community are about to sustain.

It is with thoughts of deep regret that we have learned of your intended departure from our midst. Your lives from earliest childhood have thus far been spent in this community or near by. As children in the day school and Sunday school and later as husband and wife, each working together giving valuable assistance and support in every local organization or activity which, or it be of our church or purely social.

We will miss you. Ethel, as a member of our Women's Institute of the Church Choir and of our Sunday School. You have given freely of your time, and your services rendered so willingly merit our sincere appreciation. If we have been slow to express that appreciation forgive our carelessness—we will surely miss you.

Russell, I will miss you, have ever manifested a kindly attitude and cheerful spirit to others, while we can read upon your services have ever met with a ready response.

As an expression of our love for you, and our continued interest in you, we bring your this gift trusting it may speak to you of "A little kindly" that distance cannot sever, and serve as a token of our esteem for you and a memento of this social get-together. We hope that in your new surroundings it may prove a frequent and pleasant reminder of friends at home, whose thoughts will follow you in the earnest wish that life's richest blessings may be showered upon you both, each and every day.

We extend to you and to the boys Arnold and Howard, the sentiments of the holiday season. Wishing you a bright and happy Christmas and a prosperous New Year.

(Signed)—D. J. Campbell, Mrs. Ben Anderson, Lillian Sprague, Arthur J. Parliament, Brith Burkitt.

Mrs. Wm. Burkitt and Miss Lillian Sprague presented them with a lovely walnut occasional chair, Mr. and Mrs. Dickson replied thanking their friends for the lovely gift.

On behalf of the School Howard Lough read a brief address to Arnold and Howard, and behind Sprague presented Arnold with a Parkette pen and Howard with a School Supply Box. All joined in singing "For They are Jolly Good Fellows."

Refreshments were then served and a social half hour enjoyed by all.

GIFTS

What is more acceptable to a woman than one of ELIZABETH ARDEN handsome Gift boxes containing Bath Salts, Perfume Sets, Beauty Sets. Prices from 1.75 up. ELIZABETH ARDEN products are not cheap, but they are the Last Word in perfection of quality.

ARDEN DAYTIME BAG 32.50

ARDEN EVENING BAG 22.50

DRESSER SETS
MANICURE SETS
MEN'S MILITARY BRUSH SETS
COMPACT SETS
BATH SETS
ELECTRIC RAZORS
ROLLS RAZORS
WILKINSON RAZORS
GILLETT RAZORS
VALET RAZORS
TOILET WATERS and PERFUMES
DUSTING POWDER and BATH SALTS
ELECTRIC PADS
SHAVING SETS CAMERAS
PEN AND PENCIL SETS
DESK THERMOMETERS
WRITING PAPER and ENVELOPES
CIGARETTE LIGHTERS
YARDLEY SETS

PAGE & SHAW CHOCOLATES

In beautiful Xmas Packages. ..... 30c to 9.75

See the French Doll Package Life Size Dog 60c and 1.00

1 lb. package ..... Neilson's Chocolates 50c lb.

Make Your Purchases Now — We will Deliver your Gifts on December 24th. We Cordially invite you to call in and see the hundreds of attractive things we have to choose from.

DOYLE'S DRUG STORE

PHONE 326

MAKE THIS AN ELECTRICAL CHRISTMAS.

IRONS, OURLERS, TOASTERS, PADS, RANGES, Etc.

John Lewis Co.

325 Front Street, BELLEVILLE

Simpson's PIANO SENSATION

"The Minx"

with full seven-octave keyboard—Now on Display

See it! Hear it!

No longer need you forego the pleasure of piano music on account of lack of space . . . no longer need the dreary beds of the old style piano spoil the appearance of your living room . . . this new PIANO SENSATION — The "MINX" is the answer.

$268

8.65 DOWN

and $8.00 a month —no interest — no extras.

Immediate Delivery

Let the family enjoy this grand surprise for the holiday season.

BENCH $10.00 Extra

STORE CLOSED ALL DAY SATURDAY, DEC. 26

The "Minx" is an artist's piano in every sense of the word; yet its built is less than half that of the old style upright. You would hardly believe so fine a piano could be so small. Its keyboard encompasses full seven octaves. Its tone is fine and rich, its touch light and easy, its design is new and distinctly different. Its case is of rich, handsome woods.

If you are a lover of piano music—If you desire to give your children an education in music — we invite you to come in NOW — see, hear and play this new "Minx", only then will you realize what a splendid combination of fine tonal quality, beauty and convenience of design this PIANO SENSATION offers.

Height ..... 2 feet, 10 inches
Width ..... 4 feet, 4½ inches
Depth ..... 1 foot, 8 inches

J. J. HIBBARD

SPECIAL REPRESENTATIVE

23 Bridge St. BELLEVILLE Phone 155

Alleged Robber Tracked For Miles by Police

Brantford, Ont., Dec. 22 (CP)—Tracking him in the snow for blocks and finally catching him hiding behind a henhouse in a yard on Terrace Hill Street, Police Constable James Davison and Police Constable Frank Ward arrested Thomas Earl Hartley, Brantford, charged with house-breaking and theft.

Police said Hartley admitted in the past several weeks he had committed 13 house robberies and Provincial Police charged him with committing three in the County. City police charged Hartley entered five houses in the city Saturday night and early Sunday morning Provincial Officer Carl W. Farrow stated the three county robberies were committed Saturday night.

It was the heavy fall of snow that led to Hartley's arrest. He was tracked by Davison and Ward like hunters tracking a rabbit. There were the only prints on the street that were obviously fresh, though snow was still falling when he was found.

GIFTS GALORE

TO CHOOSE FROM AT YOUR

I.D.A. DRUG STORE

EAST SEYMOUR

East Seymour.—The following account is of interest in this district: "Windsor, Dec. 17.—Anne Hume, Branch Librarian for sixteen years was named Chief Librarian of the City of Windsor by the Library Board tonight. Eleanor Barkwell was assistant. Maxwell Schott appointed to the Board last night was the deciding vote, breaking a deadlock that existed at his week's meeting." This appointment has been in abeyance for a year and a half, a suspense hard to bear for those Librarians of the amalgamated Border Cities, each one of whom, no doubt hoped to win the appointment. Miss Hume is a graduate of Queen's University and second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Hume.

Mrs. Frank Little received word on Thursday of the death of her father, Mr. Shipps, of Baltimore, Ontario.

Mrs. Robt. Matthews with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harper Rollins, of Stirling, spent the Christmas holidays with the former son, Mr. Robt. Matthews, of Wellman's. The two latter persons called upon friends in Campbellford in the afternoon, returning for Mrs. Matthews, who intends remaining in the winter with her daughter, Mrs. Harper Rollins.

Mr. Percy Oddie and family spent Thursday in Belleville.

Miss Elsie Hume was a dinner guest on Wednesday of her aunt, Miss Mather.

Christmas Fruit Cake

Iced and Decorated ..... lb. 35c
Almond Iced and Decorated, lb. 40c
Light Christmas Fruit Cake ..... lb. 25
Light Christmas Fruit Cake, Almond Iced and Decorated lb. 30c
Prepared Almond Icing ready for your cake .. lb. 40c
Fruit Icing 30c
Plain Icing and Decorations for your cake.

A LARGE ASSORTMENT OF CHRISTMAS Candies

GENUINE SCOTCH SHORTBREAD, Special per pound 30c
CHRISTMAS PLUM PUDDING—over 200 made, each 35c

BELLEVILLE BETTER BAKERY

A. G. HANNAH

Next to Bridge Hotel Phone 35 WE DELIVER

THE ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER

THE DAILY ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER is published every afternoon (Sunday and holidays excepted) by The Ontario Intelligencer Building, 199 Front Street, Belleville.

W. E. BOSTON, PUBLISHER

TO SCHOOL TRUSTEES INSTEAD OF 21

Voters will have an opportunity at the approaching civic elections to decide whether or not they would favor the reduction of the membership of the Board of Education from twenty-one to ten members, 9 to be elected and 1 to be appointed as separate school trustee. In June last the question was thought an important by the Board that it decided to have the question submitted at the coming municipal election.

As pointed out in June when the issue was before the Board, Belleville's board is the largest board, as far as known, in Ontario. Toronto with a population of over six hundred thousand has a board with members totalling twenty, that is one less than Belleville though this city is many times smaller than the capital city. In the early part of this year inquiries were sent to many cities by advocates of a reduced board for the sake of efficiency and expedition in dealing with business and replies indicated small boards were in favor. Even London for instance with a population of 71,000, has but 7 trustees, six of whom are elected while one is appointed as separate school board representative. In Windsor there are seven members, two being separate school representatives. Sarnia has ten trustees, nine elected and one appointed for the separate schools. Owen Sound, Chatham, Guelph, Galt and Kingston possess ten-member boards.

As far as can be learned there has been no fault found with the smaller boards and no attempt made to have boards enlarged to such a number as constitute the Belleville Board of Education.

Under the present large board here, there are fourteen committees with a few trustees on each committee, the result being that to secure action at the board, many matters of business have to be gone over for the information of the members who are not on any committee in question. The result might be expected to be a lack of general acquaintance with the business of the board. It was said during the discussion some time ago that it would be very easy for every member of a board of ten to be on every committee and if so, every member would be fully cognizant of every angle of matters coming before the board.

Then it has been, at times, difficult to obtain a quorum at a board of twenty-one. And often there have been delays in opening meetings which have had to wait until the telephone was used to bring out members who had not intended to attend as they expected there would be a quorum without them.

As usual in a board it is really a small body of men who are the active members carrying most of the duties.

There has for many years been a lack of active interest by the public in elections of school trustees with a smaller number to elect, and with the entire city voting as against the ward system of election of public school trustees today, where the interest is restricted to one ward of the city, interest ought to grow. This lack of election interest is a past ought to be remedied by every possible means.

The city council which is elected for the entire city draws more attention to elections and to council than the ward system ever did when seven divisions of the municipality of ward matters in the elections of aldermen. Quite often the battling was not even a battle because of acclamation and general lack of interest. Election of council under the ward system became unsatisfactory, quite a few years ago, that the ward system was scrapped and election for the whole city was adopted. The Board of Education has however retained the old ward system.

For such reasons the Ontario Intelligencer feels that the voters when the choice is put before them ought to consider very thoughtfully the bylaw to reduce the membership of the board to a less number. It is believed that with this change greater solidarity would result to the board and that members having more work and duties to perform there will be more real interest about the business than in a very large board, on which there can be no doubt a considerable number have little to do.

THE CHILDREN AT CHRISTMAS

While adults play most important roles, the Christmas season is essentially one for the children, rich and poor. It celebrates the birth of a Child, whose influence has changed the face of human history in the past nineteen centuries. It has gathered around it the loveliest tradition in the course of the figures which live out the tales behind the Christmas celebration. The guileless mind has created Santa Claus and his reindeer to give expression to the spirit of giving.

But the spirit of giving was not created by the people in the Middle Ages. It accompanied the scene in Bethlehem, for in sacred lore the story is told of the gifts which brought to the manger in that town. That spirit is inherent in the life principle of the progress and continuity of civilization by the endless sequence of births down the ages. The child is the greatest of gifts and parents and friends rejoice at its birth and make their gifts to infants symbols of all which they hope will be showered upon these children.

It is well that the child is given so prominent a place on this day. This involves the important fact that Christmas accordingly is a family celebration.

And the child who receives gifts and who is the centre of the celebration in every home creates the cheer which fills the home, through the shouts of glee, the happy singing and all those other manifestations of delight of the child. Hardhelled men of the world and fashion who boiled men of the world and fashion who collect often the mere material in all things catch through the child a glimpse of the fervid imagination which rules the young life.

For giving the children their due place in the Christmas festival parents are rewarded by the children with joys which are peculiar to the fireside and to Christmas.

SIDELIGHTS

THE HOME FORUM

Discussing the events of the day, home people and general news topics as revealed by the home newspaper—Conducted by Sidelights, Belleville, Ont., and Clay, — Supervised by The Lamplighter

CHRISTMAS

Now in hall and cottage, holly wreaths
Are hanging,
Homes are bright and cheery with the Christmas glow;
Back to home and fireside wayward feet
are trending,
Once again they're children, as in the long ago.

Every care and worry to the wind they're flinging,
Careless of the sorrows that the years have brought.
Oh! the happy spirit of good-will they're bringing,
Counting all the passions of the years as nought.

Gladsome is the greeting, free the joyous giving,
In it does the semblance of our Lord appear.
Oh! the Christmas Spirit makes a joy of living
That its tender tokens might last throughout the year.

—Helen B. Anderson.

* * *

The thrills and joys which only youth can enjoy to the full, thrills which follow down the years, in the pleasant memories of those Christmases when the doubts of the existence and authenticity of Santa Claus marred the perfect enjoyment of anticipation and fulfillment—memories which for some of us centre around a lone stocking hanging up by the fireplace hallowed by modest anticipations—a Christmas morning with a full stocking, an orange in the bottom, a big yellow lovely orange, then nuts, in profusion and finally the whole capped by delicious candy, including of course, a candy cane—just ordinary grocery store candy but gosh how good it tasted, better than any dollar-and-a-half confection which Sis prefers today. Christmas belongs to Youth and Youth to Christmas, but, hully gee, there's plenty chance for grownups getting a big thrill out of it by making it a happier Christmas for the young folks and also older folks, and particularly those who haven't been as fortunate as us and are not looking forward to the Christmas season with degrees of pleasure. Christmas holds innumerable opportunities for capturing the spirit of Christmas and all the blessings that go with following in the footsteps of the Master working for Peace on Earth and Good Will to Man of Good Will.

* * *

"MINNIE THE MOOCHER" IS LOOKING FOREWARD TO CHRISTMAS with the customary anticipatory relish, for Minnie knows that Christmas always brings surprise and delight peculiar only to the Christmas season when Men are Gods and Women are little less than Angels—in any language. Minnie fares well, however, for Minnie has served well and faithfully for thirty or more years and is entitled to all good things which can be put in her way. Minnie, we would have you to know is a horse, one of those good drivers which we hear so little about nowadays, but which used to be the pride and boast of many horse lovers who were in their glory when seated in a light buggy or cutter with the ribbons responsive to every touch and the spanking pacing off the miles in quick time and throwing dust or snow particles in the eyes of other less favored roadsters. Minnie for years carried as well known citizen of Belleville, William Clark, about the country while he inspected and purchased beef on the hoof and dressed, and Minnie could always be depended upon to make time and get the chief promptly to the scene of his appointments. Minnie also was trusted with many tender courting secrets and at least two happily wedded couples have fond memories of moonlight nights and Minnie—for Minnie was wise in her generation and would drive one-handed or with the reins wound 'round the whipsocket—for Minnie was always tolerant of the vagaries and whims which, Cupid, that artful imp, imparted to otherwise sane humans. Minnie has been retired to College Hill for some time with the finest box-stall possible in the winter and the most luscious clover field to runn in during the summer time, and a shady nook down by the old mill stream to loll in and dream of winding roads of the long ago, roads that twist and twist and have a song in every turning.—Merry Christmas Minnie.

LOOKING BACKWARD

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

DEC. 22ND, 1916

Mr. W. D. Ketcheson will spend Christmas at Peterboro.

The members of the Belleville Rifle Club will hold their Christmas turkey shoot at the Armouries this evening. There will be open events for visitors.

Mr. D. R. McCoy is offering the old established McCoy livery business for sale.

The members of the High School teaching staff today presented a handsome book case to their Principal, Mr. R. C. Carman. The following short address accompanied the gift: "We ask you will accept the accompanying book case as a slight expression of our esteem and appreciation of your uniform kindness to us. Wishing you the compliments of the season." Chesley Gibson, Ella Gordon and New Year—Signed: E. P. Milburn, W. H. Metcalfe, M. R. Lloyd, C. Bird-son, R. G. Templeton, A. C. Haynes, N. A. Irwin, E. R. Peterson, D. M. Chace, A. L. Hobson, C. G. Ritchie.

Belleville today is in the throes of a tie-up snow storm which began about midnight. Business which began as well a weak age is practically stopped; the city population is pretty well snowbound, as are also the country people.

30 YEARS AGO

DEC. 22ND, 1886

At the annual meeting of Benjamin Loyal Orange Lodge, No. 574, which was held last night, the following officers were elected for the year 1907: Bro. Reuben Powell; Deputy Master, Bro. A. R. Walker; Chaplain Bro. J. C. Ash; Rec. Secy., Bro. Asa Richardson; Fin. Secy., Bro. Robert Detlin; Treasurer, Bro. F. M. Clarke; Dir. of Cer., Bro. Geo. F. Sharpe; Lecturer, Bro. F. Elliott; Standing Committee, Bros. Thos. Gilbert, chairman; Robert Simmons, Jonathan Elliott, Allen Brown, R. Cornell; Hall Trustees, Bros. F. M. Clarke, W. C. Reid and Robert Simmons; Auditors, Bros. J. G. Porter, M.P., and J. W. Watson. Bro. Sir Mackenzie Bowell, a Past Master, conducted the election and the installation of the new officers.

Mr. Arthur Northrup is home from Montreal to spend the Christmas vacation.

Mr. Roy Moore is home from the Dental College, Toronto, to spend the Christmas holidays.

Mr. "Will" Campbell, a student of Toronto, is visiting relatives here.

Mrs. Douglas Fenton and children of Toronto are guests of Col. Fenton at Sidney College.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Johnson of St. Paul, Minn., are guests of Mrs. Jamieson's father, Mr. Richard Bowell.

Messrs. Ernest and Newton Alford have arrived home to spend Christmas with their parents.

40 YEARS AGO

DEC. 22ND, 1896

Sgt. George Leavens is spending a few days at Madoc.

Mr. H. Derry of Kingston is in the city.

Capt. W. S. Volume of Madoc was a visitor in town today.

Ald. N. B. Falkner has left to spend the Christmas holidays with his daughter at Watertown, Ont.

Mr. Maurice Buckley of Toronto is in town on a visit to his mother and sister.

Miss Bessie Simmons was waited upon by her division in the Central school and presented with two handsome books as a slight token of her public regard for her.

The shortest day was followed by the coldest night, the thermometer registering 4 degrees below zero. At 8 o'clock it was 2 degrees below zero.

A young lad named George Hamborn, son of Mr. W. H. Hamborn, Forin Street, broke an arm as the result of a fall while skating upon the sidewalk on Saturday last. He is a choir boy of Christ Church.

50 YEARS AGO

DEC. 22ND, 1856

Some action should be taken by the corporation to keep the walk from the water tank on Hotel Street to Front Street clear for pedestrians. A large number of people carry water from the tank and the sloping of water from the pails keeps the walk covered with ice throughout the winter months. If the walk cannot be kept free of ice, water carriers should be made to walk in the road.

At the annual meeting of King Edward Preceptory for the election of officers which was held last night, the following Sir Knights were elected: Sir Knight S. S. Leder, Eminent Preceptor; Sir Knight D. B. Robertson, Constable; Sir Knight J. F. Thompson, Marshall; Sir Knight Rev. M. W. Maclean, Chaplain; Sir Knight George H. Pope, Treasurer; Sir Knight William Sneaton, Registrar; Sir Knight Donald Mc-Lean, Sub-Marshal. Right Eminent Sir Knight Lazier will conclude the other officers of the Preceptory at the next regular meeting in January.

The chair at the meeting was occupied by Eminent Preceptor, J. Parker Thomas.

ROTARIANS SING CHRISTMAS CAROLS

Belleville Rotary Club celebrated Music Day, Monday with Sandy Burrows, Harry Moorman and Leo Biggs in charge of the program. Christmas carols were sung by the Community chorus under Bobbie Jamieson Bone, Bert Houston, H. V. Tilley, Wm. Strong, J. Arnold Thomson, Albert Evans Gardiner Duff, Harry Moorman, Sandy Burrows. A number of fine old English songs were rendered with great spirit and precision, delighting those present. Community singing was also appropriate to the festive season. President Joseph Gilmour was in the chair with Harold Sandery, sergeant-at-arms. Harry Hill, chairman of the Christmas basket committee reported that everything was ready for the Rotary Santa Claus to do his stuff and Thursday was the zero hour for starting the gang will journey with Christmas cheer baskets. Norman Garbutt, President-elect of the Kinsmen Club, was guest of honor, receiving a cordial Rotary welcome and assurance of co-operation in service work.

SCHOHARIE

Schoharie—Mr. and Mrs. Herb. Foster and Mr. and Mrs. Lamar Huff were entertained at a venison dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John McGee on Sunday last.

Mr. Morley Istead spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Cleave.

Mr. Arthur Baxter of Kemptville Agricultural College is a holiday guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burton Baxter.

Miss Elizabeth McGee has spent the past week visiting friends in Toronto.

Mrs. H. M. Williams left last week to spend several weeks in New York with her daughter, Mrs. Theodore Scrait and Mr. Scrait.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Hobson spent Sunday of last week with Mr. and Mrs. Reg. Moore of Zionville.

Messrs. George and Burton Hobson motored to Toronto over the week-end.

ALBURY

Albury—The Eachernville Y.P.U. held their Christmas social evening in Albery Church on Tuesday evening. Exchange of Christmas gifts caused much fun and games and contests were played. Miss Doris Wrenn was the winner of the 12-pound Christmas cake. Lunch consisted of cake and coffee.

A few attended the Anglican Church bazaar and play held in Carrying Place Hall on Friday evening. Mr. Harry LaTour was the winner of the quilt.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Russell and Nancy spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Allison.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wess entertained company on Sunday.

CAR DITCHED; TWO INJURED

Prescott, Ont., Dec. 22 (CP)—Thomas Brewer, Harold Jones and Cyril Crosby, all of Toronto, escaped with slight injuries when their automobile was ditched on a slippery road near here Saturday.

DECORATOR'S SALON

OPEN

on

JANUARY 2, 1937

For Spring Trade

WALLPAPER

VENETIAN BLINDS

and

DECORATING

STANLEY W. WILBUR

FRONT STREET

Over Hosmer's Bicycle Store

Bert Wheeler and Robt. Woolsey in "Mummy's Boy" at the Capitol Theatre with Red hit "The Big Game."

WALKER STORES, LIMITED

WISH THEIR MANY FRIENDS

A MERRY CHRISTMAS

AND A HAPPY NEW YEAR

This Store Will Be Closed All Day Saturday, December 26th

WALKER STORES, LIMITED

People do Want

Laura Secords

2763 Pounds Received

AND WE HAVE ORDERED MORE TO-DAY.

We cannot promise 3-lb., 4-lb. and 5-lb. boxes unless you order now. Pay when you call for them.

1 SINGLE LB. 60c. 2 or More 1-lb. Boxes 50c each
Half Lb. 30c; 2-lb. $1.00; 3-lb. $1.50;
4-lb. $2.00; 5-lb. $2.50.

LAURA SECORDS — As Necessary as the Turkey

DOLAN, the Druggist

Phone 126

Merry Christmas

to everyone, and may your holiday be bright and cheerful with an abundance of the good things of life.

Just In Case You Have Overlooked Something—Here's a List of

Last Minute Suggestions

CANADA DRY

Cartons of FOUR 26-oz. size 80c

Cartons of TWELVE 15-oz. size $1.50

Plus Usual Bottle Charge.

Nuts and Candies

FINEST QUALITY.

Fresh and wholesome

SEE OUR DISPLAY

Hard Mixed Candy 2 lbs. 25c
French Creams -- lb. 15c
Chocolate Drops -- lb. 15c
No. 1 Mixed Nuts - lb. 23c
Fancy Boxed Chocolates
1-lb. Box .29 2-lb. Box .56 3-lb. Box .98

LARGE 32 Oz. JARS

CRANBERRY JAM TO BE SERVED WITH FOWL OR ROASTS 29c
EXCEPTIONAL VALUE

Red & White Brand Tomato Juice LARGE 2½ Tins 10c
RED and WHITE BRAND

Choice Golden Bantam Corn 2 tins 25c
GOLD MEDAL BRAND

Finest Quality MINCEMEAT 2 lbs. 25c
GOLD MEDAL BRAND

PIMENTO STUFFED OLIVES NO. 12 JARS 29c
EXTRA SPECIAL

Walker's Fresh Soda Biscuits 2 lb. bags 23c
THE MOST POPULAR CEREALS

Kellogg's or Quaker CORNFLAKES pkg. 8c
SWEET—MAKE TO FEED

Japanese Mandarin Oranges per dozen 25c

Red & White Coffee

As we all after dinner coffee, Red and White is supreme—enjoy its rich, mellow flavour —

1-lb. can 39c

QUALITY ALWAYS HIGHER THAN PRICE

Tweed and District

Tweed, Dec. 22—The annual meeting of the Women's Association of St. James' Anglican Church was held on Thursday at the home of Mrs. George Clark; for the purpose of electing officers for 1937 and reports of the various departments of the W.A. during the past year. Mirford Attraction was noted all along the line. An excellent programme was given including a splendid paper by Mrs. Albert Jones.

With the Rector Rev. W. G. Hope Swayne in the chair, the following officers were elected:

Honorary-President: Mrs. (Rev.) Swayne and Mrs. G. Clark.
President: Mrs. M. Wallace.
Vice-President: Mrs. Graham.
Secretary: Mrs. F. Mitchell.
Treasurer: Mrs. A. Baker.
Leader of Teen Age: Mrs. McDonald.
Supt. Juniors: Mrs. G. Clark.
Secretary-Treasurer Little Helpers: Mrs. J. R. Elliott.
Delegate to Annual: Mrs. J. Laffnan.
Alternate: Mrs. McDonald.
Parsons Committee: Appointed by the President, Mrs. A. Bench, Mrs. Drew, Miss F. Mitchell.

The meeting concluded with prayer by the Rector, followed by lunch served by Mrs. Clark.

The final session of the 1936 council was held on Tuesday evening to wind up the business of the year. A motion was made to vote an honorarium of $50 and an allowance of $150 for relief administration to Reeve Sayers and an honorarium of $20 to each of the councillors. The question of the remuneration meeting and election of members of the 1937 council was dealt with. A by-law was passed setting the dates Monday, December 28th for the nomination and Monday January 4th as election day should an election be necessary. The following places were chosen as polling places:

Poll 1: Margaret Johnston's house.
D.R.O.: Archie Sinclair, Post Office, Roblin Building.
Poll 2: Council Chambers, D.R.O.
Deputy Lee. Phil Clark, Jno. Stoker.
Poll 3: Mrs. Oakley Rogers' house. D.R.O., Fred Mitchell, Poll Clerk, M. Hammett.

The following accounts were ordered paid:

O. H. C. Morton, Asst.	$174.99
Tweed Hydro	196.57
W. J. McCutcheon	20
F. B. Weller	31.42
George Way	12.00
Harry St. Cr.	17.50
A. C. Hawley	9.45
Paul Bastedo	6.30
S. B. Rollins	2.00
Jerry Thompson	4.00
Mrs. A. Rogers	10.00
Robert Rogers	13.50
Archie Sinclair	8.50
Isaiah Woodcock	1.50
Edmund Pilchett	34.00
D. E. Morrison	24.00
E. W. Jones	114.75
Jas. Wallace	6.50
J. Rashotte	1.50
A. C. Hayes	31.50
Secy. Fire Brigade	265.00
W. McKnight	40.00
W. H. Sayers, sect. and honorarium	210.00

A former resident of Tweed, Mr. Ford Gilbert, accompanied by Mrs. Gilbert of London, Ontario, spent a short time in Tweed recently. Mr. Gilbert was sixty years of age last here when but four years of age. He is the son of Mrs. Gilbert a former resident of Tweed public school. Mr. Gilbert was particularly interested in his old home, now owned by Mr. Louis Rashotte.

Tweed High School Report
Junior Middle School

Cassidy, E., 5-56; Clark, L., 7-56.5; Clark, M., 7-61; Cody, N., 5-61; Conroyes, P., 7-61.5; Fenlon, H., 7-53.5; Foster, R., 7-56.11; Geary, N., 5-40.5; Grills, G., 6-62; Harrison, R., 8-61.6; Jeffrey, M., 8-67.3; Kleinsteuber, A., 8-67; Mahaney, T., 8-67.4; Nicholson, R., 8-79.5; O'Leary, L., 7-61.8; Palmateer, A., 6-56; Quinn, M., 7-72; Quinn, N., 7-62.5; Rashotte, R., 4-50; Scott, W., 5-40.4; Stewart, G., 8-32.5; Thompson, A., 5-64.4; Thurnson, J., 7-54; Tummon, Marion, 5-55.9; Tummon, Marjorie, 7-68.9; Varty, Earl, 7-64; Varty, Marion, 7-56; Allore, K., 1-53; Gaborie, J., 2-73.5; Vance, M., 1-40.

An interesting Christmas programme was given on Wednesday afternoon in the church parlors of the United Church by the Mission Band under the direction of Mrs. S. G. Way and Mrs. Amy Gerald. Christmas songs recitations and a play were given by the children. A number of mothers and friends were present and enjoyed their children's efforts. Each child was given a treat.

The annual meeting of the Junior W.A. of St. James' Church was held on Wednesday afternoon when the officers for 1937 were elected:

Superintendent: Mrs. Geo. Clark.
President: Lucille Leal.
Secretary: Muriel Baker.
Treasurer: Gladys Shewring.
Offertory: Shirley Leal.
Supt. of Sewing: Betty Shewring.

A large parcel of Christmas gifts including books, toys and candy was packed and despatched to needy children in the northern part of the district.

The Brotherhood Class of the United Church is sponsoring a concert for the children of Tweed in the United Church on Tuesday evening at 7.30. A committee composed of T. C. Graham, President; Ed. Rash, Secretary; S. B. Rollins, Jno. W. E. Tummon and Casey Jones was appointed to make arrangements. Admission is free to everyone, children and adults alike.

MADOC JCT.

Madoc Jct.—Mrs. Carl Reid and children and Miss Caroline Rayner spent the week-end with friends recently with Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Lake.

Mr. Thomas Eggleton and Mr. and Mrs. C. Pickett and family were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Pitchett, West Huntingdon, on evening last week.

Mr. Russell Stapley and his mother, Mrs. R. Stapley visited Mr. and Mrs. M. Terwilliger of Picton on Saturday.

Several of the men on this line spent Monday afternoon at Mr. James Rayner's and assisted in getting his wood cut.

Mrs. Russell Stapley and Marcella spent Saturday afternoon with Mrs. E. Danford of Belleville.

Miss Gladys Cooke has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Bruce Stapley.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Irvin of Tweed spent Sunday with their nephew, Mr. Clarence Pickett.

Mr. George Cooke, Sr. is visiting his daughter, Mrs. Will Stapley.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Stapley and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Stapley spent Tuesday afternoon at Mr. and Mrs. George Hamilton's, of Turner Settlement.

On Friday night, December 18, a very successful Christmas entertainment was held in the United Church. The pupils of S. S. No. 24 Sidney, under the efficient training of their teacher, Miss D. McMillan, and a number of the young people in the community put on the programme which was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

The church was decorated in keeping with the occasion and presented a very cheerful appearance. The big tree was also prettily decorated and surrounding it were mysterious parcels of all shapes.

Rev. R. A. Turner acted as chairman in a very capable manner.

Following is the program:

Chorus by School—"A Song of Welcome."

Recitation, "Presents"—Fern Reid.

Chairman's Address.

Dialogue—"Christmas at the Hogan's"

Recitation—Gordon Clarke.

Duet—Miss J. Stapley and Mr. Leonard Waterfall.

Wand Drill.

Duet—Grant Stapley and Clinton Brush.

Recitation—Mary Chambers.

"Why We Like Christmas."

Dialogue—Reidpa Springs a Surprise.

Recitation—"Telephoning Santa" by Rosella Fleming.

Motion Song.

Reading—Miss Perla Pidgeon.

Star Drill by five girls, directed by Mrs. Bruce Stapley.

Dialogue — "Father's Christmas Joke."

Song—Laura Wannemaker and Marcella Stapley.

Monologue—Hugh McMullen.

Dialogue—"Getting Ahead of Grandpa."

Chorus—"Christmas Bells."

Address—Seymour Ashley.

Recitation—Jack Clarke.

With the jingle of bells Santa then arrived dressed in his red outfit and long white whiskers.

Several young ladies assisted Santa by handing the tree and distribute the gifts.

ROSLIN

ROSLIN—Dr. Harold E. Welsh elected Conservative representative in the Ontario Legislature on December 9th., is the third member to come from this township district. The late John White represented the riding in the House of Commons for many years, while the late William P. Hudson was a member of the Ontario Legislature for fifteen years, retiring undefeated.

The Young People's Society of the United Church held their regular weekly meeting in the vestry of the Church on Monday evening.

A number from here attended the anniversary services held in the Foxboro Presbyterian church on Sunday, when the new minister, Rev. J. W. McDonald was in charge. The service in St. Andrew's church being withdrawn.

Rev F. O. Beauy, Mrs. Beauy and Mrs. C. Welsh attended the banner and social evening in the I.O.O.F. Hall, Tamworth, on Tuesday evening, under the auspices of the Women's Auxiliary of Christ Church, Thomasburg.

The annual meeting of the Roslin Cheese and Butter Co., was held in the factory on Friday afternoon, December 11th.

BOXING DAY
DECEMBER 28th
Store Closed All Day
Meagher's
MEN'S STORE

YOU COULD NOT GIVE A MORE ACCEPTABLE OR USEFUL GIFT
McBRINE TRAVELLING GOODS
• AEROPACK
• FITTED CASES
• WARDROBE GLADSTONE
• KIT BAG
McBRINE WARDROBE GLADSTONE
• BERKELEY BAGS
• TRAVEL TWINS
• AERO PACKETTE
• WARDROBE TRUNKS
McBRINE AEROPACK FOR LADIES
Everybody loves smart Travelling Goods, but they must be Good Quality to stand the heavy demands made on them, and keep looking smart.
LESLIE'S LUGGAGE LASTS and LOOKS SMART ALWAYS because the Quality is There — the famous McBrine TRAVELLING GOODS
Leslie has a large and varied stock of McBrine Travelling Goods, finest and most popular obtainable, right up to the minute.
IF YOU WOULD MAKE THIS CHRISTMAS THE MOST SUCCESSFUL YOU EVER EXPERIENCED GIVE TRAVELLING GOODS FROM LESLIE'S SLIPPERS, GOLOSHES, RUBBERS ARE USEFUL CHRISTMAS GIFTS.
Leslie's Shoe Store
255 FRONT ST. BELLEVILLE
Rest Room for Women and Children
Open Evenings 'Till Christmas

GIFTS — DOLAN'S
MEN'S RAZORS and SHAVING SETS
Packard Electric $12.50
Hanley Electric $12.50
Kelly $6.95
Wilkinson $3.00
Gillette $4.00
Gillette Set $7.50
Schick $7.50
BLUE BLADES
Gem for 35c
Star for $1.10
FRENCH SOAPS
50c, 75c, $1.00
$1.25, $2.00
ELECTRIC HEATING PAD
$3.95.
YARDLEY SETS
35c to $18.00
TWEED COLOGNE
The Perfume Luxurious
50c: $1.10, $1.35; $2.25; $4.00
RAZE PERFUMES
—Chanel Number 5
—My Sin
—Chaldean
—Evening in Paris
—Coolspun's
—Ohejo
—Yardley's
Small Bottles of the Finest odors procured in France
CUTEX SETS
GLAZO SETS
35c; 65c; $1.00; $1.25; $1.75; $2.25; $2.50; 4.25
These will please any lady.
EVENING IN PARIS
Toilet Water ..... 50c to $1.00
Sets ..... 85c to $4.00
LAURA SECORDS
Why pay as much for chocolates not bearing this mark of quality, wholesomeness and freshness.
1 POUND 60c
2 or more 1-lb. boxes 55c each.
2-lb. 4-oz. and 5-lb. boxes at 55c the pound.
What would Christmas be without Turkey and Laura Secords
CIGARETTE CASES
60c; $1.45; $2.00; $4.50;
CIGARETTE VANITIES
$4.50 and $6.50
COMPACTS
Sea Gem Sunshine
PENCIL CASES FOR SCHOOL
Latest from New York.
Purse style, silk cases
35c 50c 65c
DU BARRY FACIAL KIT
A Christmas treat—Du Barry's Richard Hudnut Facial Treatment
$1
Du Barry's orchid skin
Obtainable only at DU-BARRY VITA-RAY SKELCATO INNOXA
SEE OUR WINDOWS, THEN STEP INSIDE AND SEE OUR BEAUTIFUL DISPLAYS AND LOW PRICES
DOLAN The Druggist

Fine Christmas foods at LOBLAWS
Loblaw's
EXCELLENCE Without EXTRAVAGANCE
GROCERY SPECIALS On Sale Dec. 22-26th
ABUNDANCE of TURKEYS
PLACE YOUR ORDER NOW for CHRISTMAS TURKEYS for BEST SELECTION and DESIRED WEIGHTS
Usual Low LOBLAW Prices—See Your Local Manager
It will pay you to buy your Turkey at Loblaw's.
SPECIAL! Oriando of the Finest SEEDLESS NAVEL
ORANGES doz. 29c
REAL GOOD SIZE
We also have a fine selection of other sizes attractively priced
SPECIAL—FLORIDA
Tangerines 2 doz. 25c
Real juicy Oranges that peel and segment so easily. A real treat.
SPECIAL—Choice Large, Crisp, Waxy Bunches
Celery Hearts 2 for 21c
TEXASWEET BRAND
Grapefruit 3 Real Good Size 14c
EXTRA FANCY SANTA CLAUS BRAND
CRANBERRIES - lb. 27c
BEEF Prime Rib (BONELESS AND ROLLED) lb. 17c
"SPECIALS" Pot Roast (BONELESS AND ROLLED) lb. 10c
Special—FULL CUT RUMP ROAST lb. 13c
Special—FRESH SHOULDERS PORK lb. 11c
Special—MAPLE LEAF Smoked Pork SHOULDERS lb. 23c
LEAN BUTTS PORK lb. 16c
SMOKED SLICED SIDE BACON 2 lbs. 25c
COUNTRYBRED SAUSAGE 2 lbs. 25c
MEAT, FRUIT & VEGETABLE "SPECIALS" on Sale Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday of this Week — Dec. 23, 24 & 26th
MINCEMEAT Mrs. Hamilton's Bulk 1 lb. 13c
LIBBY'S 1-lb. tin 16c
LIBBY'S 16-oz. jar FANCY QUALITY 23c
Loblaws Fine Quality SHORTBREAD TIN 34c
Made in our own pure food kitchens, from the finest ingredients. Packed in attractive air-tight tins. Each tin contains two 8-oz. cakes.
LOBLAWS Delicious ALMOND PASTE 7½-oz. Pkg. 19c
ENGLISH DOUBLE-FILLED CRACKERS
MERRYMAKER Gold Tuft extract bead, Green Holly Leaves and Red Berries attached. Box of 12
Each stocking containing either half or one pound of Crackers. 99c
JOLLY-TYME Trimmed top and bottom with red and white paper, centre trimmed with yellow band. Box of 12
Each stocking containing either half or one pound of Crackers. 49c
LOBLAWS FEATURE their famous CHRISTMAS CAKE lb. 37c
ALSO IN DECORATIVE GIFT BOXES
2 lb. - 79c
4 lb. $1.43
5 lb. $1.79
THESE ARE ICED
Excellent Value ASSORTED CHOCOLATES 5 lb. Family Size Box 89c
DON'T FORGET YOUR CANDY MIXTURES
LOBLAWS Christmas Mixture
An Excellent Assortment at Most Centres or
Festive Mixture lb. 12c
With Hard Candies, Creams and Gums
LOBLAW CHRISTMAS HAMPERS
For those who wish to buy baskets of special Christmas Groceries.
No. 1 - $2.00 No. 3 - $4.00 Ask Your Local Manager
No. 2 - $3.00 No. 4 - $5.00
NUTS
MIXED NUTS Almonds, Brazils, Filberts, Pecans, Walnuts 2 lbs. 19c
WALNUTS California Diamond Shelled ..... lb. 23c
LOBLAW'S RED LABEL TEA ½-lb. Pkg. .31 1-lb. Pkg. .61 Black or Mixed
SHELLED NUTS
SHELLED PECANS, halves 17c
SHELLED FILBERTS Large size 11c
SHELLED BRAZILS 13c
HOLIDAY STORE HOURS:
Special—LOBLAWS Famous PRIDE of ARABIA COFFEE
½-lb. Pkg. 15c 1-lb. Pkg. 29c
SWEET GHERKINS Special—ROSE Brand 24c
OLIVES Special—SOMOR Brand—Large Queen PIMIENTO STUFFED 17½-oz. Bottle 34c
Stores will Remain Open Until 10 p.m. Tues., Wed., Thursday.
LOBLAW GROCETERIAS CO. LIMITED
BABY STILTON CHEESE
2 Years Old
Approximately 8½ lbs. of cheese. At the rate of 28c lb.
We recommend the choice of these baby Stiltons as a real treat to connoisseurs of old cheese.
Special! Swiss Gruyere CHEESE 2½-oz. Pkg. 13c

MR. HUSBAND!

Stop Worrying

About What to Get Your Wife for Christmas

GET HER A MUFF TO MATCH HER FUR COAT from $3.50

Woodleys Furriers

273 Front St.

DEC-2

Personals

ENGAGEMENT NOTICE

Mr. and Mrs. Moore Sandford announce the engagement of their sister's sister, Mildred Adeline Sandford, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Sandford, Trenton, Ontario, to Fred Armstrong of Kingston, son of Mrs. Armstrong and the late John Armstrong, Deseronto, the marriage to take place December 26th.—(Kingston papers please copy). 222-1c

Mr. and Mrs. A. Meeks and children spent the week-end the guests of relatives in this city.

Miss Joan Griffin, student at the Ontario College of Education, is home for the holidays.

Miss Muriel Wardner who is attending the Ontario School of Art, is home for the Christmas holidays.

Mrs. Bessie Stebbins of the staff of the Kemptville Agricultural School is arriving home on Thursday for the Christmas vacation.

Mr. Lyle Twiddy, College of Pharmacy, Toronto University is home for the Christmas holidays.

Misses Edith Clare, Olive Delaney and Lorraine McClennan, who are attending Albert College, Belleville, of Toronto, are home for the holidays.

Mr. Walter Hillen who is attending the University of Western Ontario, is spending the Christmas holidays at his home here.

Mr. Floyd Henry of Ottawa, is home for the Christmas holidays.

Miss Helen Hicks, Peterboro Normal School is spending the vacation at her home, Cobourg.

Miss Helen Hall, Peterborough Normal School, is spending Christmas at her home here.

Mr. Douglas Newby and Mr. Fred Newby of Queen's University, Kingston, are spending the Christmas holidays with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Newby.

PLEASANT VIEW W.M.S.

The December meeting of Pleasant View W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. (Rev.) Johnston with 14 ladies present. The Thankoffering hymn was sung, conducted by the President, Mrs. F. Jeffery. The guest speaker Mrs. (Rev.) Farnsworth, gave a very inspiring address on Christian friendship.

Mrs. W. Holmes gave the financial report, after which the thankoffering was received.

Mrs. Will Hammond and Mrs. Frank Jeffery served a very dainty lunch.

Following are the officers elected for the coming year:

President—Mrs. (Rev.) John-ston.

1st Vice President—Mrs. J. Detlor.

Treasurer—Mrs. W. Holmes.

Secretary—Mrs. F. Jeffery.

Temperance—Mrs. S. Lloyd.

Corresponding Sec.—Miss M. Lloyd.

Pianist—Miss M. Lloyd.

Assistant—Mrs. O. Vermilyea.

"GIVE A MAN A PIPE HE CAN SMOKE"

DUNHILL'S

$8.00

THE BEST IN PIPES

Schryver's Pharmacy

Just Rub it in NOXACORN

GIVES THE BEST NEW LOW PRICE 35c

On Sale at CLERY'S Drug Store.

BLUE'S

Quality Food Store

Corner VICTORIA AVE. and FRONT ST.

FREE DELIVERY On all orders of $1. or over

PHONE 1984

PERSONAL SERVICE or SELF SERVE

Our Christmas Mixture 2 lbs. 23c

Consisting of Chocolate Drops, Cherries, Gums, Satins.

Chocolates

Drops ..... 2 lbs. 25c Mixed ..... 2 lbs. 23c

Cheese and Sanborn COFFEE ..... lb. 36c

Melrose's Shirriff's Cranberry

Jelly Powder. 3 for 14c Jelly ..... jar 24c

Sage ..... jar 9c Poultry Dressing. Jar 8c

No. 1 MIXED NUTS 2 lbs. 35c

Brazil Nuts ..... lb. 19c Filberts ..... lb. 17c

Budded Walnuts lb. 23c Peanuts ..... 2 lbs. 23c

MINCE MEAT - - - - lb. 11c

BREAD - - - - loaf 6c

GOOD SIZE ORANGES ..... doz. 29c

Large Size Oranges ..... doz. 39c

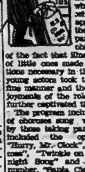
Good size Grapefruit ... 6 for 25c

Cranberries ... lb. 27c Grapes ..... 2 lbs. 25c

Celery ... Head ... 5c

Hearts ..... 10c Lettuce .....

4 Quarts 95c



6 Pints 75c

THIS INCLUDES BOTTLES

CANADA DRY

Christmas Concerts

QUEEN MARY SCHOOL JR. CONCERT

PRESENTING their annual Christmas concert the Junior pupils in Queen Mary School gave a delightful entertainment yesterday afternoon to a large crowd which was appreciative by the audience of parents and small children. In their "Flower Bed of the fact that Illness of a number of little ones made certain alterations necessary in the program, the young actors took their parts in a fine manner and their evident enjoyments of the roles they enacted further captivated the audience.

The program included a number of choruses sung with expression by these talking pupils. The program included the opening chorus, "Hurry, Mr. Clock", "Rain, Drip Drop", "Twinkle on High", "Good-night Song" and the concluding number, "Santa Claus Express".

The songs and drills were particularly well done. The first was "A-Shopping We Will Go" and earnest and tiny Jennings Rogers carried as grownups explained the strain of Christmas shopping which was thoroughly relieved by additional cash from equally small masculine escorts whose top hats were most amusing costume items. "Jack Horner" Christmas Pie" was another clever drill which was followed by Christmas drill by girls in white dresses with red caps. The Christmas Tree drill was also well carried out, the children holding even green branches following precisely the intricate figures of the drill.

Parents were greatly interested all the familiar and joyous symbols of Yuletide while "The Christmas Spirit," a chorus in which a very large number took part, heralded the spiritual side of the festive season. One of the most popular items was the singing of "Alice Blue Gown" by seven small belles costumed in the daintiest of blue frocks and pretty hats.

Recitations during the afternoon formed an interesting part of the entertainment. These were given by Lois Greer, Walter Daynard, Donald Kilbarg, Barbara Tilson and Anna Hogle.

The popular request, the Puppet show, "The Bedraggled Princess" was given on splendidly by children under the direction of Miss Hart on Friday afternoon's program was repeated. The puppets, made by the children, were operated by the children and the parts were taken by members of the same class.

Christmas wishes were extended those present by the principal, Mr. C. I. Frederick, and the interesting program was brought to a close with the National Anthem.

Warner Baxter and June Lang co-starred in the thrilling romantic drama, "White Hunter" now on the Belle screen with "The Luckiest Girl in the World."

CLARE'S

TAXI

4 — HEATED CARS — 4

24-Hour Service

Phone 196

Clare Drive With Care

DEC-22-24 2-23-31

Lace Mats 19c

Lace Runners ..... 25c up

Rayon Satin Cushions $1.00

Rayon Satin Spreads, with valance, 80x100 .. $2.98

Framed Pictures 15c-$1.50

All Wool Reversible Smyrna Rugs, 27x54 $2.29

Axminster Rugs, 27x51 ..... $2.49

Pure Australian Wool Throws, satin bound, 60x80 ..... $4.50

Pure Australian Wool Blankets, 60x80 pr. $5.95

Bridge Lamps .. $2.75 up

Chesterfield Suites from $39.50

THOMPSON'S

208 Front St. Phone 42

(Next to Loiter's)

Store Open Evenings until Christmas

NATIONAL INCOME

(Continued from page one)

000 in 1933.

Percentage increase for industries in 1936 over 1926 was as follows: Agriculture 10.6, Forestry 18.0, Fisheries 3.0, Trapping 9.0, Mining 30.4, Electric Power 9.4, Construction 2.5, Custom and Repair 9.6, Manufactures 8.6.

The tourist traffic is among the industries unreported by the Bureau of Statistics. Estimates from other sources, however, place the value of this industry at $250,000,000 in 1926, compared with $200,000,000 in 1936 and $177,000,000 in 1932.

In $4,546,000,000 the 1926 grand total is 11 per cent above $4,083,-936,000 in 1933. The figure for 1932 was $3,350,000,000.

Commodity Production

After eliminating the value of materials consumed in the production process and making allowance for some duplication in reports under different headings, the estimate of commodity production in Canada for 1936 was about $2,941,000,000, an increase of 42.5 per cent. above $1,996,000,000 in 1933 and 11 per cent higher than $2,650,000,000 in 1929.

Partly owing to crop reduction due to adverse weather conditions in recent years, manufactures now exceed primary production in significance in net value of production. Since 1933, however, agriculture has shown an annual increase in value.

Based on 39 factors, the index of manufacturing production for the first 10 months of 1936 had risen to 107.3 compared with 97.5 for same period of 1935. The price index, on the base 1926 equals 100, was 78.5 in September, 1936, and 77.3 in September, 1935.

Employment in manufacturing was up to 103.1 for the 10 months compared with 96.7 last year.

Cotton Imports Up

Among factors showing heavy increases were raw cotton imports up 21.5 per cent at 139,465,000 pounds and production of cotton cloth, reduction of 20.8 per cent at 1,010,-566 long tons in the same compartment with a gain of 17 per cent. Shipments of 15.3 per cent advance at 610,000 long tons.

Acreage of wheat planted in 1936 was up 4.4 per cent at 27,369,000 acres but yield fell 20 per cent and the production of 233,600,000 bushels was 15.8 per cent below 1935's 600 bushels in 1935.

Wheat prices mounted however, with the result that the value of production was placed at $300,065,-000, which is 17.5 per cent higher than $170,332,000 last year.

All field crops had a value of $694,000,000, a gain of 16.7 per cent over $508,000,000.

During the 11 months creamery butter production increased 3.6 per cent at 238,296,000 pounds and factory cheese output was up 13.5 per cent at 114,373,000 pounds.

Mining Contributory Factor

Contributing to the spectacular improvements in the mining branch of the industry except copper showed gains in 1936 over 1935 in comparison with 1935.

Gold was up 15.3 per cent at 3,748,551 fine ounces, silver 9.6 per cent at 13,110,327 fine ounces and nickel 36.2 per cent. Higher percentage increases were symptom, 44.4 per cent at 566,000 pounds; asbestos 44.1 per cent at 304,326 tons.

An increase of 6.3 per cent in the wholesale price index of the wood and paper group to 69.6 had substantial effect on the value of forestry products. Newsprint production was up 13.3 per cent at 3,-090,000 tons for the first 11 months of 1936. Exports of planks and boards for the same period were 1,-966,756,000 board feet, an improvement of 23 per cent. Employment in logging was 3.7 per cent better, bringing the index to 171.1 at the end of November.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnstone's SOCIAL CLASS

will dance the

Old Year Out and New Year In, December 31st.

Your friends and visitors will be welcome.

Wishing you all a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.

DEC-2

Trenton and District

Trenton, Dec. 22 (Special)—The annual Rotary Christmas tree was held in front of the Post Office yesterday afternoon and in the afternoon 1,000 children from the Public and Separate Schools attended. Following the singing of Christmas carols each child was presented with a bag of candy and fruit by Santa Claus (John Hewitt) and his assistants. Highway traffic was controlled by Police officers while the service was on and police protection formed the large gathering. Miss Nora McLellan conducted the singing. The community service committee under George Sprentall were in charge and distributed a grand total of 1,200 gifts.

Brethren Grants of Belleville at the regular Rotary meeting in the Gilbert Hotel last night. Trenton clergymen were guests of the evening. Following the enjoyable dinner, His Worship H. R. Gray addressed the gathering and spoke on doing the world lacking today was good will towards men and said the Rotary spirit should be adopted universally. The Rev. Fr. Hanley of St. Peter's Catholic Church, explained the origin of the Christmas tree and said it originated in Germany. Rev. Grant Overholt, pastor of the Bethel Church, was responsible for an initial introduction, and voiced that the religious significance of Christmas should be brought to the forground. "My desire is to see the Rotary spirit extended among all classes of the world," said the Rev. A. E. Hilborn, of the Dundas Street United Church. Rev. G. D. Campbell of Grace United Church and Rev. F. J. Smith of St. George's Anglican Church gave inspiring and appropriate addresses. Vote of appreciation to all the speakers was given by Norman Bower. In a body, with Percy Mason at the piano leading, carols sung "Jingle Bells", "Silent Night" and "Come All Ye Faithful." Ben Joyce and George Cobbey sang the latter solos of "Jingle Bells." The Salvation Army band was specially mentioned for their services at the Christmas tree in the afternoon. The hotel staff were presented with gifts. It was announced 23rd Ladies' Night will take place on Monday.

Willing Workers Walk to Church

Under the auspices of the Willing Workers held their initial church walk to Grace United Church on Sunday. The organization turned out in the march again in a body and owing to the conditions of the road were transported to the church by Frankford bus. Rev. O. D. Campbell conducted a special Christmas service during several beautiful anthems. After the service the ladies adjourned to the church hall where they have been planned for the future.

Bicycle Riders Struck by Car

On the highway two miles west of here, two children on bicycles were thrown heavily to the road when struck by a car driven by one aided by Leonard Mayhew of Brighton. The driver was returning from the hockey meeting and when about two miles on his way west a bicycle carrying Charles McDonnell, 13, and David Valyear, 10, both of York Road, swerved abruptly into his pathway. Mr. Mayhew was called and said McDonnell was suffering from a deep scalp wound. Valyear escaped with a severe shaking and minor abrasions. Provincial Constable Whitby investigated and laid no charges.

Avon Duffy Escapes Drowning

One night last week, Avon Duffy, a well-known youth, was riding his bicycle on the river. As he passed under the town bridge the ice gave way and he was thrown into the fast freezing waters and the bicycle sank to the bottom. Duffy climbed out of the hole after considerable difficulty and went home. In the morning he returned to the spot and with a grappling hook recovered the sunken wheel and a pair of skates that had been lost there. The heavy thaw and swift current at that point in the river weakened the ice.

Court

Harold Cox and Dr. R. C. Thos paid $12.35 for failing to transfer a car registration and without days after purchasing the vehicle.

Samuel C. McDougall of Ottawa was assessed $7.35 for passing through a stop sign on the rain of 40 miles an hour. Provincial Constable Whitby laid the information and the fine was paid.

Three local youths pleaded guilty to numerous charges of theft and were remanded for sentence for one week. The nature of the stolen articles were inexpensive razors, watches and clocks. Belleville police have preferred charges against the youths and they will appear there this week.

A suspended sentence was imposed on a local man on condition that he send his children to school regularly for the remainder of the school term.

A Belleville trucker was assessed $7.35 for travelling sixty miles an hour.

Store Flooded

When the snow melted on Sunday a hole opened in the roof of the Tweed Theatre and water ran down into Magdalen Robinson's confectionery store below. When she opened the store in the morning considerable water was on the floor and a number of chocolate bars and other articles were ruined.

Distribute Gifts

Many families will be made happy this year by the gifts that the Willing Workers' organization will distribute this Wednesday. In the neighbourhood of one thousand gifts have been accumulated and are ready for Santa Claus to distribute. Mr. George Cobbey has donned the trunk and a Santa Claus for the day.

Police cleared up a number of break-ins and petty thefts yesterday when they arrested three local youths. One of the articles recovered was stolen one year ago.

A&P Christmas Savings

on every item for your Christmas table!

FOOD STORES

A. & P. Christmas Cakes

2 lb. cake 35c 1 lb. cake 19c

FOOD STORES

HEINZ SOUPS	Assorted Varieties	2 Tins 25c
TOMATO SOUP	HEINZ	2 Tins 23c
TOMATO JUICE	ENFO	2 20-oz. Tins 15c
SALADA TEA	Brown Label Black	1-lb. Pkt. 61c
QUAKER OATS	Regular	5-lb. Bag 22c
PICKLES	Fully Pure Sweet Mixed	16-oz. Jar 15c
OLD CHEESE	Over a Year Old	lb. 19c
GINGER ALE	(Plus Bot. Deposit)	26-oz. Bot. 10c
SHORTENING	Jewel, Domestic Shortening	lb. 13c
PASTRY FLOUR	JEWEL or DOMESTIC, 6% shr.	24½ lbs. 67c
	Somerset 24½ lbs. 16c

COFFEE SALE

Eight o'Clock 25c

Bokar 29c

Red Circle 21c

Cooking Chocolate ROWNTREE'S ½ lb. 16c

Complete Assortment of Christmas Items

NUTS, CANDIES, DATES, RAISINS, CIDER

EXTRACTS, JELLIES, DRESSINGS, ETC.

FRESH KILLED GOVT GRADED

TURKEYS Grade A lb. 29c Grade B lb. 25c

FRESH KILLED ONTARIO

CHICKENS 4 to 7 lbs. average lb. 23c

FRESH KILLED ONTARIO

GEESE 10 to 14 lbs. average lb. 21c

FRESH KILLED ONTARIO

PRIME RIB ROAST lb. 19c

OYSTERS pint 49c

SMOKED HAMS 9 to 14 lb. lb. average 27c

FOR POULTRY DRESSING

SAUSAGE MEAT 1 lb. pkg. lb. 19c

Empress GRAPES 2 lbs. 25c

Sweet Potatoes 4 lbs. 19c

Cal. Navels—Good Size ORANGES doz. 29c

Cranberries lb. 27c

KIDNEY SUET Chopped 1 lb. Cello Bag 12c

MINCEMEAT 2 lbs. 23c

Swift's Premium Sliced BACON SIDE ½ lb. pkg. 19c BACK ½ lb. pkg. 23c

A&P FOOD STORES

Check Your Gift List Off At

LIPSON'S

AND SAVE!

GIFTS FOR HER

DRESSING GOWNS
PARTY FROCKS
LINGERIE
HOSIERY SLIPPERS DRESSES
GLOVES
COATS
Etc.

GIFTS FOR HIM

LEATHER COATS
WINDBREAKERS
OVERCOATS
SLIPPERS
RUBBERS
SCARVES
GLOVES
SHIRTS SOCKS
TIES
Etc.

GIFTS for the HOME

PILLOW CASES
BEDSPREADS
BLANKETS
TOWELS SHEETS
Etc.

ENTER OUR STAR COUNTING CONTEST. YOUR CHANCES ARE STILL GOOD TO GET ONE OF 5 PRIZES AMOUNTING TO

$50.00

STORE OPEN EVENINGS

Kresge Ltd. Employees Given Christmas Bonus

Appreciation of years of faithful and loyal service was exemplified last night when approximately forty employees of the local branch of the Kresge Store received cash bonuses at a Christmas party tendered them by the management in the staff quarters or the store on Front street.

During the presentation of the bonus which was the largest given since the memories of the staff presented Mr. Jack McVeigh local branch manager with a beautiful engraved gold ring.

The social hour which followed had a real Christmas flavor. A real Santa Claus disguised himself and presented gifts to the members during the musical program. Refreshments were served by the girls of the Fountain staff and one of the jolliest events in the history of the store came to an end shortly before midnight.

INSURANCE MEN RECEIVE TURKEYS

Gordon Bray, district manager of the National Life Assurance Company of Toronto and Everett D. Ketchum, agent for the same company, were the recipients of a fifteen pound turkey each from the head office this week for their activities during the past month. Each wrote $15,000 worth of insurance and received payment for same. The contest continues from November 16th to December 15th.

RELIGIOUS WARS

(Continued from page one)

adian Mounted Police

Historical Series

The historical series will take the form of "reminiscences of great Canadians of the past."

"Acrimonious debates between the spokesmen for different religious organizations which have been recently on the air in various parts of the country, are to cease," the announcement continued. "The object is to use his authority to suppress them. Sermons and talks about religion will have to be confined in the future to positive pleadings for the cause being promoted by the speaker. Attacks on other faiths or creeds or sects or persons will not be permitted.

"A plan now to broadcasting anywhere, that of intimate contact by the broadcaster with the listener, has been decided upon for CBO through various representatives of the organization. CBO will resort to listeners from time to time telling them what is being done, asking for their co-operation through letters and otherwise.

Review By Major Murray

Wrenght at 10:30, the general manager will review for listeners from coast to coast the progress that has been made to date and the decisions of the meetings of the board of governors.

AUTO FINANCE

AUTO LOANS REFINANCING

on new and used cars. Any car, any age, any make. Low rates. Terms to fit your pocketbook. Quick service. Only the actual cost. Full information gladly given. Deal with the actual company that will be financing your car.

HAIG BROS. LTD.
202 FRONT STREET
BELLEVILLE
Representing
CAMPBELL AUTO
FINANCE CO. LTD.

DENTIST

DR. ROBT. H. EMPSON
DENTIST
X-Ray
Phone 388 Phone 38, Res. 2176

LAND SURVEYOR

FRANK AYLESWORTH
Ontario Land Surveyor and Registered Professional Civil Engineer. Office, Campbellford, Ont. Phone 128, Residence, 251. Correspondence solicited.
P. O. Box 70, Phone 1 or 2, RING 09 MADOC, ONT.

STOCKS & BONDS

BIGGAR AND CRAWFORD, MEMBERS of the Toronto Stock Exchange. Private wire 178. P. E. Wills, Belleville. 252-tf

Business Directory

HOSPITAL

The Belleville Hospital specializes in Medical and Surgical treatment, with Out Patient Department, under the direction of the Medical Staff, Limited to Dr. F. Strickland, Graham Ross, as Superintendent. Phone 1822. 231 William St., Belleville.

CHIROPRACTOR

R. A. WYATT, PH.C., CHIROPRACTOR and Drugless Therapeutic Specialist. Consultation and treatment. Electro-therapeutic treatments, Neuro-Calometer, Spinal and foot examination. Manipulation of spine, posture and orthopedic work every operation. 24 Coleman street, Belleville. Phone 3000.

G. E. and VERA B. FINCHEN, Ph.C., Chiropractors and Drugless Therapeutic Specialists. Consultation, Diagnosis and Treatment. Chiropractic and Electrical Analysis. Graduates of Canadian Schools. Over 20 years' practice between them. 19 Campbell St., Belleville. Call Phone 1276.

INSURANCE

The Strength of Five Lions Half the Tortures when you're protected by one! Fire Insurance.
SANDY BURROWS and HOWARD FROST
LIFE AND FIRE INSURANCE
211 FRONT ST. PHONE 139

HALL & EARLE

General Insurance, Fire, Accidental, Sickness and Plate Glass
172 Front St. Phone 2154-w

LEGAL

WALLBRIDGE, CAMERON AND CO. (Successors to Wallbridge & Ponton), Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, Conveyancers, etc. Bank Building, corner Front and Bridge streets, Belleville, Ontario.

MALCOLM WRIGHT, BARRISTER, Solicitor, Notary Public, etc. Office: Campbell St., Belleville.

F. V. WILLS, BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, Notary Public, etc. Office: Campbell St., Belleville. Money to loan at 5%. Mortgages bought and sold.

FOSTER, PAYNE AND ARNOTT, BARRISTERS, Solicitors and Notaries Public. Chas. A. Payne, K.C., B. D. Arnott, Clifford O. Ford. Bell Telephone Building.

FOSTER AND GRAHAM, BARRISTERS, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Conveyancers, Office: 20 Bridge St. East Belleville. Bank of Montreal Building. To loan on mortgages. W. N. Foster, K.C., M.P., A. J. Graham, Office Phone 37.

DONIAN AND BUTLER, B. G. Donian, K.C., B. G. Butler, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public and Commissioners, etc. Office, Court House Building, Belleville, Ont. Phone 124.

38
HILLSIDE ST.
SOLID BRICK HOUSE
FOR SALE
At Reasonable Price
For Quick Sale
Living Room, Dining Room, Kitchen; 3 Bedrooms; 3 Piece Bath, Good Cellar, Garden, Garage.
A Cozy Home in a Pleasant Locality.
EXCLUSIVE AGENTS
Belleville Locators
GEO. N. GORMAN, Prop.
102 Front St. Opp. City Hall
Phone 99 Home Phone 807

IN MEMORIAM

SEARLES—In sad and loving memory of our dear Mother, Mary C. Jury, wife of Burton R. Searles, who passed away December 22, 1921.

Patient dear, we loved her truly
Our Mother dear, she passed away;
Calm and peaceful she is sleeping,
Freedom and rest that follows pain.
We who love her, sadly miss her,
But trust in God to meet again.
—Ever remembered by Daughters.
422-1t

SPRAGUE—In loving memory of Mrs. Annie Sprague, who passed away December 22, 1930.
—Ever remembered by Husband and Family.
422-1t

WANTED

WOMAN OF FORTY-FIVE, WELL-educated, wants position as housekeeper or companion. Apply Box 'W' Ontario Intelligencer. 422-1t

FOR SALE

ELECTRIC T-TUBE RADIO, MUST be sold immediately. Apply 102 Victoria Ave. 422-2t

SAXAPHONE, GOOD CONDITION, price reasonable. Case included. Phone 322. 231-3t

TO LET OR FOR SALE

SIX ROOM BRICK HOUSE, hardwood floors, furnace, garage, garden; immediate possession; 361 Bleecker Ave. Apply Grove St. Phone 3211M. 414-tf

TO LET

HALF HOUSE, 86 OCTAVIA ST., all modern conveniences, also half house, 315 Bleecker Ave. Apply R. B. Graham, or phone 84. 414, 13, 15, 17, 19, 21, 24, 26, 28, 31.

TO LET OR FOR SALE OR RENT

GRIST MILL AT HALLOWAY, fully equipped with machinery. For further particulars apply Mrs. W. A. Cadman, on premises. 418-4t

Business Liners

Paper white Narcissus Bulbs make a nice Christmas gift for the flower lover. 5c each, 50c doz. at Bishop's Seed Store. 421-2t

LOST

LADY'S WHITE GOLD WATCH between Belmont and Belle Theatre last night. Finder please phone at Ontario Intelligencer. Reward. 422-1t

THE DOUBLE-BARRED CROSS

International Symbol of the Crusade against Tuberculosis

As armies march across the pages of history, fighting for the causes they believe worthy at the time they be, one common symbol has been used to identify the men on each side. The symbol may be a flag, a banner or a shield, but whatever it is, it represents the cause for which opposed armies are fighting. Good or bad, the cause will always be identified by the symbol under which gradually it becomes a badge of honor. Since the dawn of the Christian era, the Cross has been the immediately popular symbol and with the doughty knight rode forth to do battle for the Cross and the Holy Sepulchre. Today the Cross of all shapes, sizes and colors, is the symbol of many causes. Fraternities, clubs, orders, guilds, societies, churches and governments have found a religious symbol adaptable to their needs. Even the Red Cross of Geneva, the symbol of Humanity in the old symbol made of several crosses. The Iron Cross of Germany and the carved cross into our modern civilization and still the cross remains the universal symbol of mercy and humanity.

It was therefore quite the natural thing that when the world-wide anti-disease movement, and nation after nation fell into line, that the international symbol should be chosen from the ancient symbols of the Cross. Nothing could be more appropriate. Nothing could be more logical. It is important that the symbol should be immediately recognized by the man of universal appeal, and yet it should be distinctive enough that it will not be adopted by international symbol as well as by nations.

It would seem that the Red Cross of Geneva, the symbol of the nineteenth-century humanitarianism, would be the one and only symbol that would have something like universal appeal, but the Red Cross is not to be quite distinguishable from it. That is used to advantage by the Red Cross, but there of the various sects, the Greek Cross, the Latin Cross, the Cross Potent, the Maltese Cross, the Cross of St. Andrew, the Cross of St. Patrick, the Celtic Cross and the Cross of Lorraine, to the world a great deal more than they thought they, and so we have the problem of finding a cross that will be different from any of these, and yet be recognized in every land of a very popular sentiment. Such a cross has been found and universally adopted, a new cross of the Crusades, a cross that is to be known as the Double-Barred Cross. It is the cross which the Canadian Red Cross Society, the Canadian Mary Hospitals for Consumptives have marched these many years—the famous cross which they and other associations in the United States have adopted as their symbol in the fight against tuberculosis.

But this victory can only be won with the continued effort and the financial support of the people.

Every dollar contributed to the Christmas Seal Campaign will help to carry on the continued fight against tuberculosis. Every dollar will help to bring the message of health to the people. Every dollar will help to save the life of a child. Every dollar will help to bring the message of health to the people. Every dollar will help to save the life of a child.

PROCLAMATION

PUBLIC HOLIDAY
BOXING - DAY

At the request of a large number of citizens, I hereby proclaim Saturday, December 26th, a civic holiday and I would respectfully request that all citizens observe said holiday.

HARRY HILL,
Mayor.
422-2t

NOTICE
ADVANCE POLL
MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS
Railway Employees and Commercial Travellers

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that by authority of the Railway Employees and Commercial Travellers' Act, a poll will be opened at the residence of Thomas Morris, 201 Station Street, from nine o'clock a.m. so sit o'clock p.m. on Thursday, December 31st, 1936, and Friday and Saturday, January 1st and 2nd, 1937, for the purpose of the vote of all duly qualified Railway Employees or Commercial Travellers, who by reason of their employment will be absent from the City on the regular day of holding the annual municipal elections, viz. Monday, January 4th, 1937.

J. WILFRED ROLAND,
Returning Officer.
422, 26, 30

INSULATION

ARTHUR A. SILLS CO.
CONTRACTOR & DISTRIBUTOR
325-327 Coleman St. Phone 1354
XXX-tf

WE PAY CASH FOR DELIVERED CREAM
Deliver Your Cream At Our Convenient Downtown Plant
Where a Personal service is given
CITIZENS' DAIRY
Coleman Street
XXX-tf

FINKLE
ELECTRIC WIRING
NEON SIGNS
MOTOR REPAIRS
144 Front St. Phone 3000

BAY OF QUINTE
FIRE INS. CO.
Policyholders, call for
1937 CALENDARS.
NEW OFFICE—East Robertson Block, 182 Front St.—Phone 344w.
C. W. BURS Agent.

PERSONAL

$10.00 REWARD

For any corn or callous that we cannot remove with the new scientific LLOYDS THYMOLATED CORN SALVE. Order a Box of this WONDERFUL SALVE today, 40c. Sold by Dolan the Druggist and

Women, worry won't help. Drugs! for all cases of menstrual disorders will. Free booklet this week at Laithmer's and Seldon's Drug Stores. 421-2t

MENI GET YOUR AT ONCE! Contain new vitamin concentrate. Tablets make strength, vitality, energy, pep, sex desire. If not satisfied, money refunded. Price $2.00. Sold by Dolan the Druggist. 421-2t

BUY Through the WANT-ADS

Residence Burglary? Liability of Property-Owner to the Public? Boiler Insurance? Fidelity Bonds for Trusted Employees?
We handle every description of insurance.
JAMIESON BONE & CO.
Investment and Insurance Brokers

Current Attractions at Local Theatres

What Local Theatre Managers Have to Say About Current Offerings

AT THE CAPITOL

"Mummy's Boys"
"The Big Game"

The tombs of long-dead Pharaohs in Egypt's famous "Valley of the Kings" have served before as settings for dramatic motion pictures, but the use of these ancient spots as the setting of a modern feature, length comedy is something new under the film sun.

The half-raising and hilarious climax of "Mummy's Boys", the latest RKO Radio offering starring Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey, starting tomorrow at the Capitol as hit No. 1, takes place within the hieroglyphed walls and masonry of such a structure, reproduced in full size on a studio stage.

Mummies and mummy-cases, chariots, weapons, ornaments and all the other contents of such tombs were also copied in detail for the scene, concerning which will afford most picture-goers their first opportunity to see what the interior of a tomb is really like.

While Oberphem and other Our Gang comedies have made the huge pyramids they erected during their lifetime, and the royal mummy risings were entombed in the rocky sides of the historic Egyptian necropolis, known as the "Valley of the Kings", according to Captain Arthur Roberts, technical advisor on the picture. Most of these tombs were unknown until recent years, their entrances being covered by rocks and sand. And with the Egyptian government now taking complete charge of all further excavations, few visitors are allowed to penetrate their tunnelled depths.

Barbara Pepper, Marcel Oleen, Frank M. Thomas and Willie Best head the supporting cast. Leo Maloney produced, with Fred Guiol directing.

"The Big Game"

How the brains and brawn of the football field can be mastered by the craft and guile of the gambling world is vividly dramatized in RKO Radio's smashing gridiron drama, "The Big Game", seen as hit No. 2.

Besides a stirring aspect of the so-called professional side of intercollegiate football, the Pandro S. Berman production, starting tomorrow in audiences a new romantic team in the persons of Philip Huston, noted young Broadway actor, and Judith June Travis'.

In addition to a featured cast consisting of Bruce Cabot, James Gleason, Andy Devine, Henry Gordon, Gilbert Williams and Barbara Pepper, the roster of players includes All-American pig-skin stars Bobby Wilson, William Shakespeare, Jay Berwanger and James "Stoney" Kong' Klein, "Chuck" Bennis, Monk Moscrip, "Bones" Hamilton and Frank Aluisio.

Adapted to the screen by Irwin Shaw from the novel by Francis Wallace, "The Big Game" is a fast-moving story of the rise, revolving around the gridiron careers of two ex-coal miners, played by Huston and Cabot, who enrol at a college football team through the intercession of a former miner's daughter, and whose future is almost wrecked when big-time gambling interests try to control the games.

ENDS TODAY

A musical picture that will touch your heart "Follow Your Heart", starring a cast that includes Sam Marian Talley, of the Metropolitan Opera Co., Nino Martini and Gloria Bartlett. As an added hit a Charlie Chase Comedy "On the Wrong Track".

AT THE REGENT

"White Hunter"—Jack London's Great Novel in the World"

Braving hate, defying fear, fighting for love fiercely amid sinister dangers that threaten their very lives, Richard Cortez and Barbara Lang, the thrilling sweethearts of "The Road to Glory", rise to even greater dramatic heights in their newest Twentieth Century Fox picture "White Hunters", on the Belle screen tonight, Wednesday and Thursday matinee and evening.

Crowned by the outstanding performance of the stars and an impressive supporting cast including Gail Patrick, Alison Skipworth, Wilfred Lawson and George Hassell, the picture depicts driving drama charged with the menace of savage passions.

Warner Baxter plays a barnstorm guide in a strange and foreboding country.

By a fateful coincidence he is engaged for the hunting expedition which includes Cortez, Hassell-Gale, and the man responsible for Baxter's exile and his father's death. Lawson is accompanied by his young wife, Gail Patrick, the daughter by another marriage, the beautiful June Lang, Alison Skipworth a talkative silver tongued Hassell, her henpecked spouse.

It is not until their plane has departed, out in the jungle for a month, that Lawson discovers who Baxter is. Certain that the man he has wronged will seek to square accounts, Lawson, in overcome with fear and determines to forestall him.

In an atmosphere dripping with danger and revenge, under an ominous sky, the party encamps. During the first night, June Lang's life is menaced and Baxter heroically saves her.

Gail finds Baxter to be her former lover, but because he has his heart set on false and dangerous, fails to revive the old feeling.

Oppressed by the fierce menace of the jungle, the father of what Baxter may do, Lawson tries to escape. When his attempt is foiled he decides to end the grim game of survival between himself and Baxter by causing the latter to meet "accidently" during an elephant hunt.

Meanwhile jealous Gail has lied to June about Baxter's relations with her (Gail) and June, heart-broken, flees blindly from the camp into an adjacent and doom-ridden wilds.

These situations follows tense situations as the hunt moves further way and reaches a gripping climax in the moment of murder, a self-sacrificing heroism and triumphant love that leaves you breathless.

"Luckiest Girl" Funny

"The Luckiest Girl in the World" Universal's laugh hit featuring Jane Wyatt and Louis Hayward is announced as the second feature attraction on the same program. The comedy by Gene Serth, first came to public attention in the Ladies' Home Journal under the title "Eli, Jr." Everyone from everywhere in Belleville and vicinity can share the laugh privileges in viewing the laugh engendered by this hilarious film provoker. Hollywood scouts declare the film is a comedy haymaker. The supporting cast includes Ralph Bellamy, Eugene Pallette, Catherine Doucet, Phillip Reed and Viola Callahan.

King Edward's Broadcast

King Edward's Farewell, greatest of broadcasts, has been brought to the screen, making it possible for millions of audiences throughout the land again to hear the retiring monarch's memorable words as depictorially visualized from archives of the King's great love story — a history-making testament.

A thrilling heart-stirring drama! Every word spoken as broadcast from Windsor Castle . . . all who missed listening in will welcome the opportunity to hear it now and hundreds of others in Belleville and vicinity will be eager to hear it again. This and other of World Events will be presented in the same topical. Performances start daily at 2.30, 7.10 the last complete show starting at 8.30 p.m. "The Luckiest Girl in the World", begins at 2.46, 7.16 and 8.00 p.m. "White Hunter" begins at 2.30 and 8.30

NELLIE SMITH
KEESOR BLDG. (Upstairs) BELLEVILLE
25% to 50% off
On Our Entire Dress Collection . .
IMPORTANT REDUCTIONS
WEDNESDAY
and THURSDAY
December 23rd. and 24th.
Nellie Smith

Legion Auxiliary Honors Member On Her Birthday

Mrs. Fannie Wright Guest at Surprise And Entertainment

MARMORA—Members of the Ladies Auxiliary of Marmora Branch No. 227 Canadian Legion honoured a fellow member on the occasion of her sixty-ninth birthday on Saturday evening. The recipient of their good wishes and gift, a beautiful bathrobe was Mrs. Fannie Wright, wife of George Wright of Marmora. Husbands of the auxiliary members, members of the Legion, completed the surprise gathering. Shortly after the unveiling of the Vimy War Memorial, Mrs. Wright received a certificate from the Canadian War Graves Commission concerning her late son, Private George Wellington Wright, No. 60102, 21st Battalion, Canadian Infantry (Eastern Ontario Regiment), who fell in action on October 3rd, 1918, at the age of twenty-three. The certificate gives the number of his panel on the Vimy Memorial as I.P. 20 and further states: "His name is carved in stone at Contes Military Cemetery." This sweet prized possession of Mrs. Wright however, meticulously escaped her custody, to turn up in a beautiful frame on Saturday evening, to her great astonishment. Mrs. Wright most sincerely thanked her fellow members for their kind remembrance of her and after the singing of some choruses and songs and a recitation contributed by Warner Gifford, the ladies served an excellent lunch. All joined hands for "Auld Lang Syne" before leaving for their respective homes.

The weekly euchre card party, under the auspices of ladies of the Sacred Heart parish took place on Friday evening in the Separate School, with a large attendance. Honors for the high score of the evening went to Mrs. James McGrath and Mr. Carl McCoy. The door prize went to Miss Dorothy O'Neill.

Messrs. Lawrence and Eugene Paquet, who attended Queen's University, Kingston, are spending the Christmas holidays with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. Paquet, Deloro.

Miss Mary O'Neill, who attends St. Joseph's Convent, Lindsay, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. O'Neill.

Miss Barbara Wright of the Conservatory of Music, Toronto, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Wright of Deloro.

Miss T. Mayor of Moulton College is spending the Christmas holidays with Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Barlow in Deloro.

Mr. Hubert Hollingsworth of Albert College, Belleville, is spending the Christmas holidays with his parents, Rev. and Mrs. C. W. Hollingsworth.

Messrs. Fred and Vincent Callery of Tiverton, are visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. Callery, during the holidays.

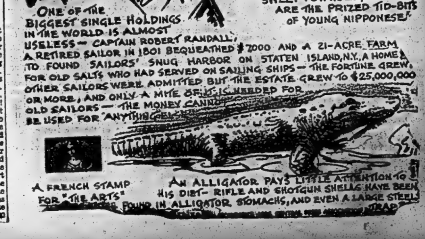
Miss Evelyn Rhine of Belleville, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jules Rhine, of Deloro.

Miss Mary Brawley of Lindsay, is spending holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. Brawley in Deloro.

Mr. Charles Hollingsworth of Queen's University, Kingston, is visiting his parents, Rev. and Mrs. C. W. Hollingsworth, during Christmas holidays.

Mr. G. W. Gladney and daughters Jean and Elizabeth, visited friends and relatives in Marmora, on Friday and Saturday.

Mrs. C. E. Blake of Toronto, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Wright, Deloro.



Mrs. F. Sweet was the winner of the afghan in the drawing recently conducted by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion.

James Mitchell of St. Andrew's College, Aurora, returned to his home here on Thursday to spend the Christmas holidays.

Mr. H. G. Potts left recently for Noranda, Quebec.

SCOTT'S SCRAPBOOK by R. J. SCOTT

PREVENT INFECTION, HEAL CUTS, BURNS AND BRUISES WITH PENETRATING PENETRO FOR COLDS, COLDS, USE PENETRO COUGH SYRUP

HOW JOAN LOVED THRU

by

ANNE FORESTER

A check from Mark! An impersonal, quickly vanishing check! Her heart cried out; if only he had given her some tangible sample of his feelings—a bunch of violets, a handkerchief—send her, personal gift that she could hug to her heart to warm it. But this—money—emphasizing the gulf between them.

To her horror, Joan felt the tears standing down her face. She was splashed on the check in her hand. Mark's hand went out instinctively to smooth her hair. She jerked her head away from his touch as though it burned her.

Chapter 27
Christmas Eve

After a struggle, Joan looked up with an April smile. "It says of course you mean—you are too kind, Mark."

"Not Mark"—on Christmas Eve, Joan!"

That took away part of the chill of the check. Joan drew a long breath, fought for her poise. Mark's suddenly assumed calm in calling her hand was on her shoulder. He withdrew it slowly. His eyes were troubled.

"Joan, are you going to be alone Christmas?"

Joan knew that he was thinking of Thanksgiving and their happy ride in the country. She answered, hard, "No. I'm going to Donny Lewis' for dinner."

Mark's eyes lingered on the curve of her lips, on the sweet line of her throat. Then he got up, plunged into the grey eyes regarding him. Joan's eyes were softly luminous. Mark's man 'round himself thinking that beside her actual living beauty, all his ma. Sewell in her furs and diamonds would have seemed tawdry, artificial. Something like a flame kindled in that long glance between them. Mark's lips parted, he was about to speak when Miss Hastings came into the office. Mark abruptly turned on his heel and entered his own office, carefully closing the door behind him.

It chilled Joan a trifle to learn that he had not given Miss Hastings a cheek. That it was his Christmas custom to do so. What a fool she was! Joan scolded herself bravely, quelling sentiment and shoot a man who would dare to be kind!

She had made stir frivolous and entirely inappropriate handkerchief for him. Mrs. Sewell dragged said she stopped them on her desk as she was leaving.

Miss Hastings thanked her in dry, precise words, but there was a mist in her eyes. A song which made anyone had given Emma Hastings anything so lovingly ridiculous!

As Joan stepped into the cold night air she saw a limousine near the way to the curb and stop directly opposite the building's entrance. She walked up the street, telling herself defiantly that she would not look back. But she did, and all the way home she was tortured by the sight of Thelma's profile clearly outlined as she turned to go up to Mark's office.

A cold depression was settling on her heart; bright, born of little things which seemed to have no personal application. The shoes were dark now; the fir trees were gone from the Market at the corner; it was no longer a mysterious wonderland. It was a cold city on the street, where the bleak wind caught her as she turned the corner. And people passing—bundles in their arms, faces glowing with happy anticipation.

In the steamy little delicatessen, Joan talked with a sort of deep pursuit gayety to the fat proprietor. She handled briskly to a few of the regular customers whom she was coming to know by sight. She smiled a cheery hello to the manager of the house as she struggled to unlock the door of her apartment and not drop the number of small, greasy cartons hanging to each distended finger. She sang defiantly as she prepared her dinner, and she ate it with a book propped up on the sugar bowl before her. But after dinner all reference of being happy dropped from her, and she dropped like a flower too long in the shade.

"It's this—miserable silence!" she said aloud. She thought of going to Donny Lewis' party and helping them to trim the Christmas tree. But she was too restless, she didn't want to talk to the Lewises.

"He's going to take her to dinner," Joan suddenly told herself as she fiercely followed her secret thoughts. "Well, why not—if he has her money I could dress to attract any man, too—I'm prettier than she is!"

Then she was ashamed. Mark Harmon was not a man to be swayed by a woman's clothes—not by a pretty face alone. There was some distinction there that she had not fathomed. Could it be the glamour of an unassailable position—the mysterious charm called culture?

Joan remembered what Donny had said of Thelma.... "a beautiful face which hid nothing, a shallow mind—a careful selfish heart." Now she felt that Hugh had spoken with bitter penetration. Oh, Mark deserved more than that! He should have a woman whose love for him was a vital golden thing—not a thing such as she was crushing for him in her own heart!

Joan was startled by the sound of the front door announcer for a moment she thought it might be Mark, for thoughts—she had the wild hope that he might be. Mark, she caught her breath with a little cold despair. She had left the door ajar, and standing she wore in the kitchen, smoothed her hair with her hands.

The next minute her heart was hurting bitterly for Mrs. as she for Olida, and two men into the apartment. One of the men was large and noisy and red-faced; the other was slim and quiet, with a sort of dangerous quietness about him as pleased. Both were bold and furtive; yet both contrived to be in alike with some amble, coarse fiber which made them like the men in Emmett Sanctuary.

Olida kissed her with a breathy smothing of gin and perfume.

"Blondy, we're out on one grand spree! Drink hot this happy Christmas eve!"

Chapter 28
Olida's Christmas Party

Olida's voice was high and reckless, her eyes were glassy.

"This the girl you said you'd get to come with us? Where's the redfaced man.

"Can't she the cat's last cry, like I said she was?" Olida was shrilly gay.

"She's everything you said, only more," returned the other gallantly. "Oooh, Bert, in love tonight!"

The other man—Bert, said nothing, but his hard eyes slid from Joan's hair, turned to a shining halo under the cluster of electric lights, down the slim length of her body like a stealthy caress. Joan felt an indignant flush stain her face. Only for Olida's sake did she keep herself from visibly resenting it.

Olida flung an arm about her. "Blondy is the best pal in the world. Bert, two of the best scouts in town. Get your old ugly brown bonnet on—and we're going—we're going downtown and tack our stockings to the highest chair—there's a cold city we've seen up—"

"And he's going to fill 'em up—" from the red-faced man.

"With Scotch," put in Bert, with the first sound of his glance.

"With gin!" screamed Olida with the gayety of a child anticipating the old sock tonight, Santa's running out of money—and lucky if you don't get wood alcohol!"

This was worse than Emmett! thought Joan. Olida was sinking down hill fast—this was distinctly the wrong place for Blondy.

In reply to their loud demands that she join them, Joan shook her head.

"Awfully sorry. I'm expecting company."

"Bring 'em along!" the red-faced man seemed unable to engage in any thing under a roar. "If it's a he," why, bring him along, and if it's a her—why, we can take care of two!"

"I'm sorry," Joan controlled the little twitch of her lips. "It's an old lady. She's pretty frail to go out—I'm afraid my heart—"

"No, thank you!" The Boy Friend's" conversation was getting terrific. He sat up in his chair so suddenly that Olida, who had been sitting on the arm swinging one thin but shapely ankle, was upset. "No ladies!" he said, with the air of one to get plenty of them, oh, Bert?"

The slim man's head was sent in the direction of the wooden faced Bert, who said nothing but kept his gaze fixed on Joan's face.

"Well, we'll have a drink anyway," Olida purred, pulled a large, tasseled flask from his hip pocket. "Get some glasses and ice, Blondy."

It was impossible to argue with them; nor, for Olida's sake, dare Joan. Olida was disintegrating fast. She gravely allowed them to fill her glass, then, under pretext of getting a chaser in the kitchen, she poured it down the kitchen sink, hastily substituted the same amount of water, and rejoined them, to drink to a toast patched off in Olida's half-pitched voice.

Watching Olida's fevered attempts to be gay, her fawning efforts to win favor with the hardboiled Bert, Joan marveled that this pitiful woman was the one had set on her kitchen and wept in spite of her—for away from her under another woman's care, while their mother started on a night of debauch.

"Oh, Blondy!" he burst out, "can't you see she's stalling? She's been sitting right under those—that—that was water—about the old woman she said was coming here. She's just trying to slip me the bum's rush. Let's beat it out."

It was a relief to have them gone, no matter how. Joan opened the window to blow away the acrid smell of gin. She did not intend to linger. After that she sunk down on her knees and remained looking up at the clear winter sky. Directly above the dark court was a particularly bright and scintillating star. The girl watched it, her eyes grew tender, her thoughts growing sweet and calm.

There was a star above over Bethlehem....over a manger where a little Child lay sleeping....

Olida, the two little boys far away, sleeping at this minute, safe and sound, headless their weeping mother....

Joan's head went down on the sill; she felt it cold and hard against her forehead as she whispered a little prayer.

CHAPTER 29.
Dinner With The Lewises.

Joan was going to Donny's house for dinner at two o'clock the next day. All morning she had been quietly busy cleaning the apartment washing the dishes she had used in the office, frowning anxiously as she examined her small supply of cash, and finally dressed and painstakingly mended them.

She had to forget that it was Christmas. There would be time for that when she got it might be Mark, the family chest of the jovial Lewises. In the middle of the morning she had heard Mrs. Sewell's doorbell—a florist boy with a long box, and Joan had known that Thelma had sent her flowers.

She bore it back to the living-room and opened the box with trembling fingers. Mark's Harvest card—and on it, written in his hand, "Merry Christmas, Joan." Nothing more, but because of the thought which had prompted it.

They were a spray of beauty in her sombre little apartment. The white roses and lilies-of-the-valley glorified Mark had thought of her today! Despite the sumptuous allure of Thelma, he had thought today of Joan! Though she already knew it by heart, Joan read the written message on the card again. Mark, too, was lonely today. Alone in a big city on Christmas—but no! Too bad that he was not in town to have her here with them always, but goodness only knew they managed to get by well, with Patty sharing Donny's room and Hugh on the couch in the room.

Mr. Lewis hailed Joan as his best girl, and threatened to ruffle her hair. Mrs. Lewis pulled her down, both Donny and Patty carried her off to their third room and said she was not the ones they had made for her. And always to the background came Hugh, strolling in his new brown lounging robe, trying to look supercilious and pop corn into his mouth at the same time.

Joan's heart was in buoyant ways of their affection, Joan felt her spirit relax from the tension. In the quiet moments when they gathered about the living-room fire to roast chestnuts and pop corn she promised herself that she would control her heart. Mark should never know that she loved him. For she would keep him as a dear friend, and this sweet, boring love should be enough for him in sets of service and loyalty. Countless unselfish women have made since the world began—promises as lovingly thing under a tree. If it's a he," why, being him along, and if it's a her—why, we can take care of two!"

"I'm sorry," Joan controlled the little twitch of her lips. "It's an old lady. She's pretty frail to go out—I'm afraid my heart—"

"No, thank you!" The Boy Friend's conversation was getting terrific. He sat up in his chair so suddenly that Olida, who had been sitting on the arm swinging one thin but shapely ankle, was upset. "No ladies!" he said, with the air of one to get plenty of them, oh, Bert?"

The slim man's head was sent in the direction of the wooden faced Bert, who said nothing but kept his gaze fixed on Joan's face.

"Well, we'll have a drink anyway," Olida purred, pulled a large, tasseled flask from his hip pocket. "Get some glasses and ice, Blondy."

It was impossible to argue with them; nor, for Olida's sake, dare Joan. Olida was disintegrating fast. She gravely allowed them to fill her glass, then, under pretext of getting a chaser in the kitchen, she poured it down the kitchen sink, hastily substituted the same amount of water, and rejoined them, to drink to a toast patched off in Olida's half-pitched voice.

Watching Olida's fevered attempts to be gay, her fawning efforts to win favor with the hard-boiled Bert, Joan marveled that this pitiful woman was the one had set on her kitchen and wept in spite of her—for away from her under another woman's care, while their mother started on a night of debauch.

"Oh, Blondy!" he burst out, "can't you see she's stalling? She's been sitting right under those—that—that was water—about the old woman she said was coming here. She's just trying to slip me the bum's rush. Let's beat it out."

It was a relief to have them gone, no matter how. Joan opened the window to blow away the acrid smell of gin. She did not intend to linger. After that she sunk down on her knees and remained looking up at the clear winter sky. Directly above the dark court was a particularly bright and scintillating star. The girl watched it, her eyes grew tender, her thoughts growing sweet and calm.

There was a star above over Bethlehem....over a manger where a little Child lay sleeping....

Olida, the two little boys far away, sleeping at this minute, safe and sound, headless their weeping mother....

Joan's head went down on the sill; she felt it cold and hard against her forehead as she whispered a little prayer.

CHAPTER 29.
Dinner With The Lewises.

Joan was going to Donny's house for dinner at two o'clock the next day. All morning she had been quietly busy cleaning the apartment washing the dishes she had used in the office, frowning anxiously as she examined her small supply of cash, and finally dressed and painstakingly mended them.

She had to forget that it was Christmas. There would be time for that when she got to the family chest of the jovial Lewises. In the middle of the morning she had heard Mrs. Sewell's doorbell—a florist boy with a long box, and Joan had known that Thelma had sent her flowers.

She bore it back to the living-room and opened the box with trembling fingers. Mark Harmon' card—and on it, written in his hand, "Merry Christmas, Joan." Nothing more, but because of the thought which had prompted it.

They were a spray of beauty in her sombre little apartment. The white roses and lilies-of-the-valley glorified Mark had thought of her today! Despite the sumptuous allure of Thelma, he had thought today of Joan! Though she already knew it by heart, Joan read the written message on the card again. Mark, too, was lonely today. Alone in a big city on Christmas—but no! Too bad that he was not in town to have her here with them always, but goodness only knew they managed to get by well, with Patty sharing Donny's room and Hugh on the couch in the room.

Mr. Lewis hailed Joan as his best girl, and threatened to ruffle her hair. Mrs. Lewis pulled her down, both Donny and Patty carried her off to their third room and said she was not the ones they had made for her. And always to the background came Hugh, strolling in his new brown lounging robe, trying to look supercilious and pop corn into his mouth at the same time.

Joan's heart was in buoyant ways of their affection, Joan felt her spirit relax from the tension. In the quiet moments when they gathered about the living-room fire to roast chestnuts and pop corn she promised herself that she would control her heart. Mark should never know that she loved him. For she would keep him as a dear friend, and this sweet, boring love should be enough for him in sets of service and loyalty. Countless unselfish women have made since the world began—promises as lovingly sacred as Mary's promise to be as frail.

When Joan left, Tom quietly slipped into his own overcoat, trying, red faced, to ignore his family's knowing looks.

They did not take a taxi—pennies counted carefully in the Lewises. After a glance at the star-crested sky, Joan was overjoyed that they would walk. Tom strangely silent; generally he was full of his plans, joyously reflecting on the day's events. Donny refused at the dental college—the savings of the teachers. But tonight he was almost stunt until she remarked that Mrs. Lewis's brother was a dentist, babble like Thompson's brook.

Another silence, which he effectively broke the day with the best intention in the world, pointing out Joan's landmarks in the soft, pulsing air. But as they turned into her street the feeling burst out loaded with emotion:

"Joan, we might just as well have our right now. I can't go on dancing by my cost-tail from a house and home. Donny's going to throw it in right now."

She looked at him in consternation. "Why, Tom—if I've made you angry—"

Tom gave a queer sound, half laugh, half snort. "Angry—Good Lord, I wish it was that—or, no I don't, either. I wish—I don't know what I want unless it's you, Joan. Can't you see I'm crazy about you?"

Unconsciously both had stopped without being aware of it. Joan's eyes strained through the dark to the boy's desperately upset face. A kind face—a good face, very serious now. Even through the dim light she could see the freckles standing out on it—it made her think of Henry, and her hand went out with tender pity to Tom's shoulder.

Under that light touch his head rose in a deep breath. He stabbed at it that small, kind hand, held it tightly between both his own as he leaned forward, anxiously, trying to read Joy expression.

CHAPTER 30.
Life's Sad Ends.

It seemed to Joan that she was looking back at Tom's pleading face from a height of sad wisdom, as she had at other fevrir' and bright times as being with Mark made her feel very young and adoring, as the smallest worried in intense pain with Tom Lewis. The last year had made her acquainted with the seamy side of life, she knew a different and really different — world from the comfortable if modest one which had always surrounded Tom. Joan felt like Rikleery, in the Scotch legend, who caught one glimpse of Hiland and returned home saddened and strangely changed.

Perhaps Tom felt this, too, for he spoke softly. "There's something about you, Joan, that sets you apart from any girl I've ever known. Something—mysterious and—I don't mean about you — your life — he floundered. "It's just you yourself, there's a shadow in your eyes when you look at me sometimes like the corners of your mouth when you smile there's something somehow sad, something that makes my heart ache and makes me feel as though you were part of—mine—"

"Oh, no—no, Tom!" Joan shrunk sensitively from that last! "You don't feel that—I'm unworthy—you—"

"You are not!" Tom interrupted her with fond, angry loyalty. Joan's freckle seemed blazing through the dusk with his desperate earnestness. "Oh, don't—don't—don't you see I'm that way at all?"

Joan's voice was low and crooning, she patted the hand which held hers, and put her own as firmly. "Dear Tom . . . I poor dear—"

She stopped with a sort of groan. "That means you don't care! You're sorry for me. I know! That's what the matter—" Tom spoke from the depths of stygian gloom. "You don't and you seriously mean it's going to be a denial!"

"Tom, are you serious?" Joan leaned forward to regard him intently.

Tom wagged his head in sad wisdom. "That's it—I know! If I was a doctor, you'd see me as a human; it's all psychological—you form the habit of thinking of the doctor as a hero—but a dentist—sort of a comedy character." Tom muttered. "Darn doctors—always heroic in a girl's mind — pulling people back from the jaws of death—tugging the center of the stage—. Look at the books that have been written about them!" he turned on the amazed Joan. "Dozens of doctor heroes! Can you find one dentist hero? Not outside MacDougas—and look what happened to him—died in a desert, with only a canary around—"

Joan's laugh rang out, clear, infectious, and eventually even Tom's face relaxed and his mood began to twitch. "Just the same," he said darkly, "you can't stop me loving you, Joan, every day I'll remind you love me—"

The little smile lingered in Joan's eyes as she let herself into the apartment, but soon it faded and there grew across them with drought as the sight of Mark's roses on the table. She moved across the room without taking off hat or coat and stood there for a moment pensively touching one of the buds.

Was it one of life's sad and inevitable rules that everyone wanted what they didn't have? Tom loved Joan, Joan loved Mark—did Mark love Thelma? At the thought such a sharp pain darted into her heart that her hand flew there.

Before she went to bed, Joan carefully set Mark's roses on the bureau till outside the kitchen window to keep them fresh and she lingered for a moment in the chilly wind blowing about her thinly clad figure, to lower down the flowers with closed eyes and tremulous lips.

Joan was accordingly awaiting Mark's arrival at the office the next morning. When she heard him enter his private office by the hall door she made a corrected brief the excuse for going in.

He was standing over by the window, his back to her, looking out, as he intently examined some object held in his hand. In the sudden wave of yearning love which went over her at the sight of him Joan felt herself trembling. She stood a moment in the mean little street I spots of, that was how she first saw Thelma."

No doubt that Mark's voice was for himself now.

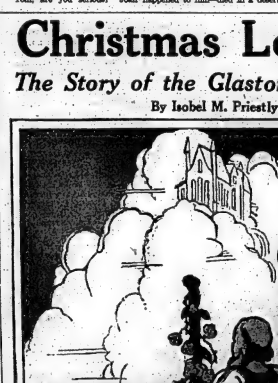
"As imperious as a princess—that was what I named her in my own mind — princess. A haughty little princess with long golden curls and powdered hair and gowns with deep flounces—in the winter white fur and little gilt hat shoes with silk bosoms which bobbed when she walked or sat. She became the spot of light that was desirable and beautiful and outside the shadows."

Then, one day she appeared—and it seemed a miracle to me—in our garden. She had stepped from her nurse and tutor to come out to her, to play. She came to me . . . we played together . . . it had been raining. She impatiently ordered me to take off my jacket—and put it over a mud puddle—Sir Walter Raleigh stuff—"

The man was smiling but Joan felt that he was not smiling at her. She hailed the child Thelma then as much as she had ever dislked the woman. She seemed to represent at the long-ago scene, she wanted to fly at the spoiled child with a fury and fling protecting arms about her precious Mark. It was not just the warped selfishness of the child—it was the colossal selfishness which was the keynote of Thelma's whole nature! Oh, why couldn't Mark see!

But Joan sat mute as he continued, "No," he shook his head at her question, "Costa were too scarce! But after that—she went away to school, and I grew up—and she was always in the background of my thoughts, set like a star above the commonplaces of the day. She became the inspiration for hard work to climb up—she was the reason for it all—" he waved a hand at the room about him.

(To be continued)



"It Keeps Me on my Feet"
says Mrs. Harold Patrignani, R.R. No. 3, Matapedia, Nova Scotia.
"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a wonderful medicine. I recommend it to all women who suffer as I used to. Its really opened the first day I took it and the pain was as intense. Since taking it I can do all my work and never have a day's pain.
98 out of 100 Women Report Benefit
Liquid and Tablets — At all Druggists
LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

the Neilson's GIFT for CHRISTMAS fresh CHOCOLATES
Greetings
ALWAYS FRESH
50¢ per lb. box
$1 for 2 lbs.
4 Delightful Assortments
ARISTOCRATES'
EVERY PIECE DIFFERENT
FRUITS, NUTS AND CREAMS
NUTS AND HARD CENTRES
Give Neilson's famous chocolates and you are sure to please — the highest quality it is possible to buy at any price.

Christmas Legends

The Story of the Glastonbury Thorn

By Isobel M. Priestly

In many parts of Europe people still believe that on Christmas Eve the fruit trees—apple, plum and pear—all burst into blossom in honor of the Saviour's birth, and although we may smile at these old legends, there is at least one tree known that does flower for the Christmas season which, so we are told, was planted originally from Joseph of Arimathea's staff.

After the Ascension, Joseph of Arimathea, hated by the Jews that his friends persuaded him to flee from the Holy Land. Setting sail with his twelve companions he set sail in a frail boat and, after long buffeting by storm and tempest, he came to Glastonbury. Here he had been under a hill on the west coast of Britain. Full of joy the weary travellers stepped once again on dry land and, climbing the steep hillside, St. Joseph thrust his staff into the ground and knelt to give thanks to God for having brought them to so fair a place. As the little boat rose from their knees they were amazed to find that St. Joseph's gnarled staff had come to life and was covered with fresh flowers. This miracle as a direct sign from God, St. Joseph built, near that very spot, the first Christian church in Britain. Later his simple structure was replaced by the stately Abbey of Glastonbury, but up on the hillside the thorn from which he had cut his staff continues to flower on the Eve of the Nativity.

The actual thorn that sprang from St. Joseph's staff is reputed to have perished all through the centuries until it was finally cut down by one of Cromwell's soldiers who, for his impious act, was immediately smitten with blindness. Offshoots from the original thorn, however, escaped destruction and to this day in the ancient abbey ruins, the Glastonbury thorn still breaks into flower for the Christmas festival.

Marks eyes thanked her. "I do, indeed love Mark—did Mark love Thelma? At the thought such a sharp pain darted into her heart that her hand flew there.

Before she went to bed, Joan carefully set Mark's roses on the bureau till outside the kitchen window to keep them fresh and she lingered for a moment in the chilly wind blowing about her thinly clad figure, to lower down the flowers with closed eyes and tremulous lips.

Joan was accordingly awaiting Mark's arrival at the office the next morning. When she heard him enter his private office by the hall door she made a corrected brief the excuse for going in.

He was standing over by the window, his back to her, looking out, as he intently examined some object held in his hand. In the sudden wave of yearning love which went over her at the sight of him Joan felt herself trembling. She stood a moment in the mean little street I spots of, that was how she first saw Thelma."

No doubt that Mark's voice was for himself now.

"As imperious as a princess—that was what I named her in my own mind — princess. A haughty little princess with long golden curls and powdered hair and gowns with deep flounces—in the winter white fur and little gilt hat shoes with silk bosoms which bobbed when she walked or sat. She became the spot of light that was desirable and beautiful and outside the shadows."

Then, one day she appeared—and it seemed a miracle to me—in our garden. She had stepped from her nurse and tutor to come out to her, to play. She came to me . . . we played together . . . it had been raining. She impatiently ordered me to take off my jacket—and put it over a mud puddle—Sir Walter Raleigh stuff—"

The man was smiling but Joan felt that he was not smiling at her. She hailed the child Thelma then as much as she had ever disliked the woman. She seemed to represent at the long-ago scene, she wanted to fly at the spoiled child with a fury and fling protecting arms about her precious Mark. It was not just the warped selfishness of the child—it was the colossal selfishness which was the keynote of Thelma's whole nature! Oh, why couldn't Mark see!

But Joan sat mute as he continued, "No," he shook his head at her question, "Costa were too scarce! But after that—she went away to school, and I grew up—and she was always in the background of my thoughts, set like a star above the commonplaces of the day. She became the inspiration for hard work to climb up—she was the reason for it all—" he waved a hand at the room about him.

(To be continued)

WHAT BETTER GIFT THAN
PYREX Ovenware
The Gift that is truly appreciated by every housewife
John Lewis Co.
263 Front Street,
BELLEVILLE

Candy Specials—

The New Guild Restaurant Candy Counters are Beautiful and Attractive. Special Reduced Prices are listed to introduce our Candy to Candy Lovers.

Home-made Mixtures, Caramels, Fudges, Nugatines, Jellies . . . lb. 15c) 2 LBS. . . . 25c
Peanuts and Cocoanut Taffy . lb. 15c) 2 LBS. 25c
Assorted Chocolates, extra good . . . . . lb. 25c
Fancy Salted Nuts—Walnuts, Almonds, Cashews, Brazils, Filberts, Pecans . . . . lb. 50c
Moirs Chocolates, in bulk or box . . . . . lb. 50c
Willard's, Ganong's, and Neilson's, in Gift Packages, ... from 25c up to $5.00

TRY OUR FULL COURSE DINNERS
Tasty and Wholesome

Stuffed Young Turkey 50c
Stuffed Young Chicken 40c
SPECIAL LUNCHES FOR CHRISTMAS SHOPPERS. from 25c

THE GUILD
RESTAURANT and CANDY STORE
245 Front St. (Formerly Mobres)

DAILY SHORT STORY

An Opening for One

By Charles Frederics

The line of straggly men moved ahead slowly. The chill breeze that blew perpetually down the three deserted, grey vestiges of hope gone from their pinched subjects' faces, shuffled around their tattered, filthy clothes pulled tighter in a vain attempt at warmth.

Over a block long was this line, reaching to the dimly lighted portal bearing that bore the imposing title of Municipal Lodging House. The exterior of soot-blackened bricks merely shone haunted look as the beaten men begging for its shelter. Sleet, chilly blasts from the Hoxward found desperate, weary, sick men all passed without a second glance, a second thought.

Big to Philip Wade, standing for over two hours, it was not so casual. He was cold. Hungry. Sick at heart. He had remembered bitterly. The depths to which a man would go to have a warm place to sleep and slops to appease the fierce, gnawing pangs of hunger!

He shuddered as he looked at his companions. Like living ghouls they stood, emotionless. Beaten and crushed. If look courage in a man to face life. Took strength to resist, but, by G—d, he'd fight! He'd be back on top of the heap again. G—d!

Philip tossed fitfully on his hard, unsteady cot. The thin, pale streaks of sunlight filtered in through the narrow, grimy windows. Another day.

He retrieved his basket of clothing and washed down the hot, sticky gruel with black, bitter coffee and started the weary, discouraging round of employment agencies. The same answer. No help wanted. One more office to go to.

Th man at the agency looked up as Phillip entered. "Glad you can in, Wade. Run over to this address. There may be an opening. Good luck!" He had wished as he awaited an interview. One by one, five other men joined him, all with hopeful gleams in their eyes. Phillip's throat choked up in a sudden feeling the pity for them. Only one would be lucky.

A self-assured secretary motioned Phillip to enter. From across a huge walnut desk a portly gentleman peered at him searchingly, questioned him. Satisfied, he nodded approval.

"Mr. Wade, I think you'll do. However, in all fairness I must grant to the others an interview. Don't misunderstand me. I've not hired you yet, but if you will wait in this other room I will see you again."

Phillip struggled to keep the exultant look from his face. He entered the adjoining room, brimming with happiness. A break at last! But wait, perhaps one of the others . . . Phillip laughed . . . Nonsense! He had seen them. He'd get it. Suddenly the door opened.

A young man, about his own age, Phillip guessed, entered. He sat with Phillip on the settee, twisting a handkerchief in damp, nervous fingers. Another applicant, Phillip thought ruefully. The newcomer cleared his throat. "Are you—are you applying for the position here?" he asked.

"Yes." Phillip answered him gruffly. This man was no friend of his. Why was he here, threatening to smash his hopes of the last few minutes?

"I'm after it, too," confessed the other. "Mr. Downs told me that one of us would get it."

Phillip said nothing. Stared straight ahead. The young man fumbled in his pocket and from a bling, dropped a photograph to the floor. He picked it up and looked at it fondly.

"This is a picture of my little daughter," he said shyly. "Told me to carry it for luck, Isn't she beautiful?"

Phillip glanced at the photograph. A pinched smile hovered over her lips. Big, appealing eyes burned in his brain. Tore at his heart.

"How long have you been out of work?" Phillip asked reluctantly.

"About eight months," the other said, "but Mary, that's my wife, says it doesn't do to get discouraged."

The rotund figure of Mr. Downs interrupted. He motioned to Phillip. "Mr. Wade," he said, when they were seated in his office, "I have decided to give you the position."

"Thank you, sir," replied Phillip somehow, he wasn't thrilled. That feeling of elation, of thankfulness was missing. That baby . . . He couldn't get that baby's undernourished face out of his mind. What kind of a tool was he making of himself? What concern was it of his? He had his own worries.

"Just one thing, Mr. Downs," Phillip cried suddenly. "What is the salary?"

Mr. Downs looked surprised. "Why twenty-five dollars a week."

"Twenty-five dollars? For a man of my experience?" Phillip was laughing hysterically. "I'm finished with your job!"

Phillip Wade, standing on the slow moving line that night, was colder, hungrier than ever.

"Tomorrow," he said, half-aloud, "tomorrow, I'll try again. It doesn't pay to become discouraged."

Little Benny's Note Book

We was sailing supper and ma said to pop, Well it's settled at last, much to my sigh of relief, and at the eleventh hour I know what to give my own grandchildren for Christmas.

They both wanted toy soldiers and cannons and battleships and sunchine trinkets, didn't they? pop said, and ma said, Yes they did, and that was precisely what I've been bracing every breath me to prove to them, because how are we ever going to have universal peace if we dont start at the bottom end of the ladder by giving the budding generation toys that will tern their little imaginations away from war instead of vice virtus fost the opposite. It was fairly easy to win little Nora Rose over from her obsession for war-like implements. I just told her it'd buy her a red cross nurse uniform, explaining how pritty the red cross nurses look and how at the same time they see just as much of the war as the soldiers do, and she was delighted, but Willie's case was more difficult, ma said.

I suppose he had 3 arguments for every one of yours, pop said, and ma said, Precisely. He wanted to know this and the other thing, such as how anybody can have peace if they're not armed to the teeth by nobody will dare make war on them, and all kinds of other silly unanswerable questions. I finely won by appealing to his sense of reason. I told him that countries couldn't fite if they didn't have anything to fite with, and I told him the best present I could give him was a book on the livez of grate peacemakers so he would be in a position to discourrage the very idea of war. And with that his little face lighted up and he told me he'd be satisfied if I bawt him 4 little anty aircraft cannons so he could discourrage any warlike aggression that way, shooting real little covk shells up in the ceiling or something of that nature, so that's how I compromised with him, and the relief was all mine, believe me, ma said.

I'm going to read how Kid Outgeon put Balding Barger into a peaceful sleep after 13 rounds of contentious endeavor, pop said.

And he got behind the sporting page and stayed there.

MR. AND MRS— By Briggs

BRINGING UP FATHER— By George McManus

TILLIE THE TOILER— By Russ Westover

TODDY— By George McManus

Radio Programs

TUESDAY

9.00—Breakfast Club—WJZ.
11.45—Ed. MacHugh, Gospel Singer—WJZ.
2.30—Music Guild—WJZ
3.30—Market and—WJZ.
4.00—Al Pearce's Gang—WABC
4.30—Singing Lady—WJZ
7.00—Amos 'n' Andy—WEAF
7.30—Easy Aces, sketch—WJZ
7.30—Lum & Abner Sketch—WLW
8.00—Log Cabin Ranch—WJZ
8.00—Hammerstein Music Hall—
8.00—Leo Reisman's Orch.—WEAF
8.30—Wayne King's Orch.—WEAF
8.30—Edgar A. Guest—WJZ
8.30—Al Jolson M.C. Victor Young's Orch.—WABC
9.00—Phil Harris' Orch. —WABC
9.00—Ben Bernie and the Lads; WJZ
9.00—Showgirls Interview—WEAF
9.30—Fred Astaire and Charles Butterworth and Johnny Green's Orch.—WEAF
9.30—Gedge Stoll's Orch. and Henry Goodman's Orch. —WABC
11.00—Christmas Carols—WJZ

WEDNESDAY

9.00—Breakfast Club—WJZ
10.00—Betty and Bob—WABC
10.15—Modern Cinderella sketch—WJZ.
11.45—Edward MacHugh, Gospel Singer—WJZ.
2.30—Christmas Concert, Glee Clubs and Orchestra—WJZ
4.00—Henry Busse's Orch.—WEAF.
6.45—Lowell Thomas—WJZ
7.00—Easy Aces, sketch—WJZ
7.00—Amos 'n' Andy—WEAF
7.15—Uncle Ezra—WEAF
7.30—Lum and Abner—WJZ
8.00—Fannie Brice—WJZ
8.00—One Man's Family—WEAF
8.00—Charlie Chaplin Emerson—WABC
8.30—Famous Actors' Guild; Ethel Barrymore—WJZ
8.30—Wayne King's Orch.—WEAF
8.30—Horns and Allen—WABC
9.00—Town Hall Tonight: Fred Allen—WEAF
9.00—Andre Kostelanis' Orch. —WABC
9.30—Commodity, Homer Rodeheaver—WABC.
10.00—"Gang Busters" by Phillips Lord—WJZ
10.00—Your Hit Parade—WEAF
10.00—Special Christmas Program from Montreal, Canada—WJZ
10.30—Chicago City Opera Co. "Alice in Wonderland"—WJZ
11.00—Benny Goodman's Orch. —WJZ
11.30—Rabbi Louis L. Mann "A Rabbi Looks at Christmas"—WABC
11.00—Christmas Carols—WJZ

THURSDAY

9.00—Breakfast Club—WJZ.
10.00—Betty and Bob—WABC
10.45—Nellie Revell—WJZ
11.45—Ed MacHugh, Gospel Singer—WJZ
12.30—The Romance of Helen
2.00—Al Pearce's Gang—WABC
4.00—Eddy Duchin's Orch.—WEAF
4.30—Jim Rumler News—WJZ
6.45—Lowell Thomas, news—WJZ
7.00—Amos 'n' Andy—WEAF.
7.15—Sportsman, Ted Husing—WABC
7.30—Lum and Abner—WLW
8.00—Rudy Vallee—WEAF
8.00—Radio Wagner: Kate Smith—WABC
8.30—Ain't Y'Kast from Buenos Aires—WEAF
8.30—Guy Lombardo's Orch—WOR
9.00—Show Boat—WJZ
9.00—Major Bowes amateur hour—WABC
10.00—Then and Now; Guests—WJZ
10.00—Bob Burns—WEAF
10.30—March of Time—WABC
12.00—Vincent Lopez' Orch.—WABC

(Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service)

TARZAN AND THE LEOPARD MEN

RUGBY— BOXING— WRESTLING—

SPORTS Of All SORTS

HOCKEY— BADMINTON— BOWLING—

Bigger Crowds and "Gates" Conspicuous Trend of 1936 According to Sport Writers

All Sporting Events of The Past Year Well Attended

BASEBALL BENEFITS

American League to Introduce Night Baseball

By ALAN GOULD

New York, Dec. 22—(AP)—Continuation of the "new boom" in nearly every branch of sports competition, accompanied by more open and widespread commercialization of amateur affairs, was the loudest keynote detected this year by sports-writers of the United States.

Expressing their assorted views in the sixth annual Associated Press sports poll, 22 press-box observers cited bigger crowds and "gates" as the most conspicuous trend of 1936.

They called attention to such all-time attendance marks as 61,5.0 for the Kentucky Derby and 168,000 for the Indianapolis auto race. The south and east contested their biggest football turnouts in history, 48,000 as Baton Rouge for Louisiana State-Tulane, and 105,000 at Philadelphia for Army-Navy.

New High In Baseball.

In major league baseball, a new high mark of 64,417 for the All-Star game because of the recent American League division of baseball into two double-header with the Cardinals, while the biggest crowd in world series history, 67,000, viewed the fourth game at the Yankee Stadium.

The manifestation of greater interest by cash customers, noted in every sport except professional boxing and wrestling, were accompanied by a marked growth in wagering by the sports-fraternity. Many experts cited the spread of "pools" on college football results, as well as a gratifying increase in horse-race gambling.

Chief baseball trends observed comprised a renaissance in many minor league territories, including the Pacific coast, and the decision of the American League to follow the National's lead in permitting night games.

Open Handling.

Fourteen sports editors emphasized the college football trend toward "more open and honest handling of the problems of subsidizing and recruiting."

Following the example furnished by the Southeastern Conference, which laid down the principle of "open subsidies, openly arrived at, under faculty control," the Big Ten Conference modified the so-called "freshman plan". Although the Big Ten rejected Wisconsin's athletic subsidy proposals and the Southwest Conference established a system of intensive similar activities openly, the trend of college to "come out and adjust themselves to changing times" seems clear.

Linked with college problems is the trend of professional athletics to absorb the college material more rapidly than ever before. The collegiate "name" members were assisting to the inducements of pro football as well as other commercialized sports.

The Olympics this year served as a flashboard for professional ventures by Jesse Owens, Glenn Hardin and Jack Torrance, a trio of track and field combinations that, as well as a number of equatic stars, lured Percy, in bands, and Lawson Little, in golf, jumped the amateur traces.

U. S. Olympic Fund Goes Over the Top

New York, Dec. 22 (AP)—Some four months after the close of the Olympic Games, the drive for funds to pay the expenses of the American team has gone over the top, too.

Gustavus T. Kirby, United States Olympic Committee, revealed yesterday that all the athletes who had returned up their own expenses nobly during the frantic few days before sailing last July had been reimbursed, all important debts had been paid and a balance of more than $10,000 remained.

"We still have some bills to pay in Berlin," Kirby said, "and I shall attend to them." Kirby also said that all collection of several of our athletes had been completed.

care of. We also have some money to Ships made by athletes.

WIN IN OVERTIME

Vancouver, Dec. 22 (CP)—Vancouver Lions last night defeated the Portland Packaways 10 to 9 in overtime here in a Pacific Coast Hockey League game. Captain Tim Coleman missed the winning shot past the veteran Andy Aitkenhead [illegible] minutes of the extra session.

POPULAR PRICED GIFTS
— FOR MEN —
CHAS. J. SYMONS

LEAFS TO MEET BOSTON BRUINS

First Trip to Boan Town For Canadian Team This Season

Somewhere near 25,000 persons will knock off Christmas shopping long enough tonight to watch half a dozen National Hockey League teams in action. It is a tribute to the hold the game has on the public, that it can stage its fixtures on Christmas week with a reasonable expectation of good crowds.

Probably the best gathering will be in Boston where the Bruins entertains on Toronto Maple Leafs. Ten thousand or so should see that contest and almost as many are expected in New York when Montreal Maroons meet Americans. A smaller crowd would be satisfactory in Montreal where Chicago Black Hawks play Canadiens.

Great interest in the New York game because of the recent decision of Ottawa Senators not to defend their championship. Manager Red Dutton says if it doesn't there will be other changes immediately.

Chicago added the New Yorkers to the top of the Canadian section in the first month of the schedule, Dutton has no intention of seeing them drop very far from there without doing something about it.

The game may do something to break up the triple tie for second place in the division between the Americs, Maroons and Leafs. Bread Cunningham should lose to Chicago they won't be overtaken. A five-point lead gives them a little comfortable margin.

Unless he sees the Boston game Conny Smythe should be able to get a valuable slant on the way his younger players are going to be able to take it. The way the Bruins are using their bodies these days is enough to scare any youngster. And if his rookies come through the game without backing down they should do.

Sports Roundup

(By Scotty Reston)

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—(AP)—Sport has reached a new all-time high—nothing or another on dead center—and something is going to have just off Times Square is running a pro football game between the Brooklyn Horton Smith, a clever gent, who knows his golf but can't always keep his behave, makes a great comeback and tops all the golf pros in what looking prize money is. And what does he get?—$7,584. . . . Joe Louis gets one Eddie Simms for eight rounds gets $30,000 for 36 seconds of fighting. . . . Connie Hall will be '41 tomorrow. . . . Wonder how he'd look without that four-inch collar.

Add Smiles: Ar — obvious as a Texas Leaguer. . . . Bill Dwyer just went off that financial ski jump. . . .

The owner of New York Americans will be landing down below any time now. . . . Dwyer has to pay the National League's Club's debts of $15,000 or lose it in April, and since the Americans have lost their five games, Bill's best chance of raising the money is at his Tropical Park race track . . . Henry "Thug" Hammond, tough guy of the Southwestern (Texas) . football team last season, is working this holiday season in a ladies' ready-to-wear shop.

Lynn Waldorf, touring the Bengal Circuit right now, will sign a five-year contract as Northwestern's head football coach waiting when he gets back to Evanston for Christmas. . . . Instead of having numbers on the face, the watch has the letters: "Worthy Steele" . . . Ace Hudkins, weighing 240 now, will run a couple of parties at Santa Anita this year. . . . Mike Jacobs is on the Dan. . . . Critics say he rushed Harry Belamno into the top flight too fast. . . . Louisiana State doesn't mind advertising for athletes. Their publicity department has just issued a booklet entitled "Attention Athletes: Come to L.S.U. and see the World".

At the Arena

OPENING NIGHT, WEDNESDAY, DEC. 23rd.
Public Skating, 8 to 10 p.m.
ADMISSION: Adults 25c; Children 15c
SEASON TICKETS..... $2.00. Under 16 ..... $1.50

Dr. Phil Edwards Recognized Canada's Greatest Athlete

Ran Two Point Winning Races at Recent Olympics

AYMOT CLOSE SECOND

Toronto, Dec. 22 (CP)—Dr. Phil Edwards, who in a year or still go home to practise medicine in British Guiana or perhaps find his patients in Canada's American country, has a Christmas stocking filled with medals and trophies. Phil has been his own Santa Claus.

Today he found himself publicly acknowledged Canada's greatest athlete in 1936, his Olympic feats hailed the best achievement in sport by a Canadian this year. Sports writers marked Edwards at the top of the annual Canadian Press yearend poll.

At 28 and with ten years of major competition on the track behind him, the Mouth University graduate came out of retirement last spring and won two point-winning races at the Olympic Games in Berlin. He was third in the 800 metres, fifth in the 1,500 metres.

The feat was remarkable because Edwards had been out of training since 1934, hadn't run the mile distance since he placed fourth in the event at the 1932 Olympics. It was his third Olympic appearance, the first being at Amsterdam where he was fourth in the 800 metres.

Aymot Close Second.

The comeback by the dusky Guianan raised ahead of anything else, but Ozinary Frank Aymot was a good second in the poll with his brilliant swing in the 1,500-metre single-blade paddling event. Aymot was the only Canadian winner in the Berlin games.

Robert Rankine of Preston, Ont., and Sylvanus Apps of Paris, Ont., were tied for third. Rankine won the majority of his distance races in Canada and United States after failing to place in the Olympics. Apps is fine all-round athlete, who won sixth place in the Olympic pole vault and was captain and coach of the professional hockey player with the Toronto Maple Leafs.

Thomas McLarnin's comeback in the ring, marked by victories over Carmen Barth and Lou Ambers, lifted the Vancouver Irishman to fourth place ahead of Ewerdy Schriner of Calgary, the year's most surprising hockey player. In his second full season with New York Americans, Schriner led the league's point-getters.

Football's nominee was Hugh Quilty, Winnipeg Blue Bomber star, tied for seventh place with Johnny Loering, the University of Western Ontario quarterback. Quilty starred in the Olympics is the 400-metre hurdles and the [illegible]

Steele to Get $20,000 To Defend His Title

Chicago, Dec. 22 (AP)—Freddie Steele, wrecking crew of the heavyweight division, boring for the first time away from his native Pacific coast, will defend his middleweight title again against the Akron, O., negro, Gorilla Jones, in a 15-round battle in Milwaukee New Year's Day.

It will be Steele's richest purse since he won the title from Tommy Freddie Steele, wrecking crew of the heavyweight division, boring for the first time away from his native Pacific coast, will defend his middleweight title again against the Akron, O., negro, Gorilla Jones, in a 15-round battle in Milwaukee New Year's Day.

It will be Steele's richest purse since he won the title from Tommy Freddie Steele, wrecking crew of the heavyweight division, boring for the first time away from his native Pacific coast, will defend his middleweight title again against the Akron, O., negro, Gorilla Jones, in a 15-round battle in Milwaukee New Year's Day.

It will be Steele's richest purse since he won the title from Tommy

HOCKEY RESULTS

O.H.A. Junior "A".

Stratford..... 6 Galt 1

Ottawa Valley Senior.

Smith's Falls.. 2 Carleton Place 1

Hamilton Junior "B".

Ramblers ..... 7 Westdale 0
Tigers..... 3 Stelcos 1

Nickel Belt League.

Frood Mines .. 3 Conistor 2

Van Horn Cup Series.

TrentonAirPos 6 Kingston Car. 2

Michigan-Ontario League.

Detroit H.V.. 7 Pontiac 3
Chatham..... 4 Muskegon 2

Pacific Coast League.

Portland ..... 4 Seattle 2
(Played Sunday).

South Oxford Rural League.

Springford..... 3 Dereham Centre 1
Cornell ..... 3 Salford 1
Parry Sound.. 2 Bracebridge .. 2
N. Y. Rovers.. 7 Yale 2
Cornwall..... 2 Montreal Boy. 2

'FLIERS' WIN FIRST PLAY-OFF

Defeat Garrison 6-2 in Rough Game—General Fight Ensues

In a strenuous hockey game that saw fisticuffs prevalent and a general free-for-all fight injected into the pastime during the final stanza, R.O.A.F. "Fliers" finally downed the Kingston Garrison sextette in the first semi-final play-off game played in the Kingston City League last evening. The "Fliers" applied the pressure throughout during the first twenty minutes when they scored three times in rapid succession. The score by periods and in favor of the Fliers was 3-0, 3-1 and 6-2.

Art Cowley was the chief marksman of the night, firing three shots into the net for scores. The Mc-Neely brothers, Eric and Ernie, each flashed the red light once while Le Compte scored the remaining counter for the Fliers.

Scoring three goals in the initial frame the Fliers appeared to have a cautious game in the middle stanza when each team counted one goal. Again in the early stages of the final period the Fliers again applied the pressure and scored early in the canto. With the score standing 6 to 1 against them the home-siders began to rough matters. Being quite able to take care of themselves the Fliers refused to back down and when the battle royal ultimately broke out the Fliers refused to "go up in the air" and handled the situation quite satisfactorily. After peace and order had been restored, and two Fliers and one Garrison player banished, the homesters scored.

The second game of the semi-finals will be played between these two clubs on Friday.

BASKET BALL SCHEDULES

With four intermediate and three junior clubs entered in the Eastern Ontario Basketball Association the schedule for the coming season was announced today from its secretary, President Phil Brockell at Kingston and adopted by the two local entries. The Belleville Y.M.C.A. intermediates and the Deseron-Iroquois juniors will represent Belleville in their respective groups. In the intermediate group the Kingston Y.M.C.A., Queen's University and R.M.C. are paired with the local entry, while Queens and R.M.C. are also sponsoring junior clubs.

The series where the R.M.C. "Cadets" and the Queen's clubs are the intermediate opponents against Belleville, the junior clubs will also compete in a home-and-home and-away series with the Deacon kids.

The 1937 E.O.A.B.A. schedules are:

Intermediate Schedule

Jan. 16—Belleville Y at Kingston Y.

Sat. Jan. 16—Queen's at R.M.C.

Wed. Jan. 20—Queen's at Belleville

Sat. Jan. 23—Kingston Y at R.M.C.

Wed. Jan. 27—Belleville Y at R.M.C.

Sat. Jan. 30—Queen's at Kingston "Y".

Wed. Feb. 3—Kingston Y. at Belleville.

Wed. Feb. 3—R.M.C. at Queen's.

Fri. Feb. 5—Kingston Y at Queen's.

Tues. Feb. 16—R.M.C. at Kingston Y.

Junior Section "A"

Sat. Jan. 16—Queens at R.M.C.

Wed. Jan. 20—Queens at Deacon A.C.

Wed. Jan. 27—Deacon A. C. at R.M.C.

Wed. Feb. 3—R.M.C. at Queen's.
Wed. Feb. 10—R.M.C. at Deacon A.C.

Mon. Feb 15—Deacon A. C. at Queen's.

REBOUNDS

Trenton, Dec. 22 (Special)—Tiger league hockey executive and team managers met on Friday night to discuss whether Allan LaMorre, R.C.A.F. player be permitted to compete with the Centennial Cub aggregation for the coming season. LaMorre is an alternate with the Ottawa O.H.A. team and in other seasons such players were restricted from the town league. After over an hour of debating a motion was moved and seconded that special permission be given Centennial Can. Co., of the town league to use Allan LaMorre provided that he is not signed as an R.C.A.F., O.H.A. player at the beginning of the season and that he is released by the R. C. A. F. team manager of their town league team. LaMorre is an alternate on the O. H. A. "A" squad but has not played a game as yet.

We wonder how Mr. Harry Smith was all done with hockey for this year but to our surprise he popped up at the arena on Friday night, and before the evening was completed it was plain to see that Harry had designs on another season. The Canadian Order of Foresters being laid Mr. Smith was idle and every quick to see him, Secretary Skyler Thompson original manager of the C.O.F. team signed a complete outfit and through some diplomatic manoeuvring on the league officials. The vacancy was an important one to fill this time of year as Jack Hamilton, the Foresters star who has had considerable experience in the O.H.A. ranks, signed so with Mr. Smith into the game once more activities take on a brighter hue.

"We have a broken leg that is nerly the length of the dressing room the league will walk through our squad easily," said Mr. Smith before the meeting was called to order and that permission be given the C. O. F. to travel to Alleburg and procure the needed material. When the meeting was called to order a verbal battle was on and many old grievances were renewed before the chairman finally dispersed the rival C.O.F. officers set, permission was granted to the C.O.F. entry to go to Belleville and pick up players.

Trenton teams can go to Belleville and play in the O.H.A. series but must not be of O.H.A. calibre, and it is doubtful that such an opportunity as the C.O.F. would play Belleville players.

The C.O.F. entry not being likely to travel to Belleville for players will be forced to depend on the season and fully intend to drop from the Trenton Senior Van Horn Cup league. The manager advised the team backers it was the best alternative as they did not feel able to organize a suitable team with the material that is available around here at the present time. Other sports clubs have signed everything that has the slightest semblance of ability. "Should we drop from the league we will be in a position to do as we feel," the C.O.F. officers said and unanimously voted in favor of dropping out entry. "We'll be back next year with a squad to be proud of."

The C.O.F. drops from the league and what happens. A new schedule will be drawn up with the Cane-ladians in the O.H.A. "A" group to fight it out. One entry 'must be idle every other night, however. What's the matter with the Ex Rex Sprag Co. of Brighton is making up a hockey team for the winter. He reported a strong team and expects to reveal several surprises before the season opens early next long. One of his finds is a Lambert boy, not related to the Cane-ladians of Belford O.H.A. squad last winter.

Bert Hamilton, coach of Trenton and playing with the Ottawa Maroons is going great guns according to reports from Ottawa. He is known as the Flying Frenchman, an appropriate name we think. Ralph worked out with Herb Mitchell's Brantley forces at Niagara Falls this week and went to Ottawa after scouts gave him the nod. The Chatham Coloured Coloreds are going to the ice with no one to beat, drew the goal tender to one side and flipped the rubber high into the corner. It's a good think to see a Trenton boy making his way up the ladder.

Provoking the weather stays cold Trenton Hockey fans will see a match before the week ends. Local promoters are intending to stage a pre-season contest at the earliest date and all that is holding them back is the lack of good ice from rink manager Harry Coutts.

Down at the R.C.A.F. an outdoor rink has been erected and already a sheet of ice has been laid down. The flyers have had their practicing on home ice in a few days.

Monthly Bowling

The following have qualified for the monthly bowling tourney on Wednesday: L. LaMorre, G. Allore; L. Yeo, W. Allore; J. Hall, R. Bowser; F. Amy; O. W. Neale; R. Fosbery; F. P. Carswell; M. Kennedy; Dr. Hamilton; C. Shoemaker; G. Bowden; E. Jones; H. Mc-Neely; Dr. Hagerty; F. Orr; A. Dalton; M. Dixon; Pafford; R. Sweeney; R. Shakespeare; J. Lacombe; B. Bernard.

Last minute SUGGESTIONS

We told you once and we'll tell you again . . . a man appreciates a gift that he can wear, and coupled with the Quiet Robertson Stamp of Quality it is certainly bound to please.

- Dressing Gowns
- Shirts
- Gloves
- Ties
- Scarves
- Pyjamas

and COUNTLESS OTHER SUGGESTIONS

Quick & Robertson

CORRECT CLOTHING FOR MEN

STILL WORRIED OVER THAT GIFT OF "HIS"?

NO NEED TO BE, COME IN AND SEE OUR GIFTS FOR "MEN"

Sport Callings

By Ken Colling

During the progress of Saturday's of speed, can carry the rubber and hectic O.H.A. group meeting in possess a little more than the averBelleville, the Peterboro delegates age amount of ability around the pulled the prize gag of the day. puck. As a complete forward line They're bantling for a "B" rating or endeavoring to have Belleville elevated to an "A" classification, suddenly Ernie Wolfe, generalissimo and chief speaker for the Petes, popped to his feet. "I'll tell you what we'll do. Peterboro will put two teams in our group, an "A" and a "B" team. How about that for a suggestion to clear up the situation?" he asked after the meeting had been deadlocked for two hours. Sitting stolidly aside, Manager Eddie Thomas merely turned his head, glanced at Wolfe and replied — "Ernie and your letter head in the "B" series. What do you think we are down around here, a bunch of saps?" And so abruptly came that suggestion to a bitter end.

All through the meeting the Lindsay-Peterboro feud was prolonging for the scalps of the local Redmen; they being scalpers at the first school. It seems the Petes are still hot under the collar because the locals, as a "B" team, defeated them once last season and have similarly booked them into a second hat, insofar as getting into their group play-offs with the Oshawa "Chevies" in the "A" series was concerned. Of course we can readily understand the red faced and chagrinned feelings that the Petes still retain. Naturally the Littlock City aggregation did not think it quite fair to be handicapped by a loss which in turn had everything to gain and nothing to lose, as was the fact of the local Redmen last season under the Oshawa-Peterboro-Lindsay-Belleville set-up. Ernie and Wely were determined not to have the same thing taking happen. "You birds down here in Belleville seem to have a great pull with the O.H.A. but take it from me you'll not get away with this "B" locals business," declared Manager Harry Wolfe after Saturday's meeting. "Peterboro, Lindsay, Bowmanville and there's many a slip 'twixt the hockey of today and tomorrow, or semple."

The local intermediates tied into it for an hour of good practice last night. Manager Thomas had the two Jackson boys and Thompkins from Deseronto on one line and this trio look to be just what the doctor ordered. The kids possess plenty of speed, can carry the rubber consistently, Gordon is the calibre of player to thrill the fans. His method of wearing while carrying the ball stamps him a player of high merits. He will be a decided asset to the cause of the local hoopsters as he is a sharp shooting centre, a clever ball carrier and an almost certain shot on basket when around the opponents' cage.

It's O.K., lads and ladies, your years snakes sharpened and be ready for the big blow off — the Belleville Arena opens for public skating tomorrow afternoon. The building has been completely renovated inside and new comforts installed for the benefit of all. Among the special speakers booked by Stewart Warney will bring all of the latest music for the skaters. Watch for the next few days banner announcements during hockey games and wherever needed for just purposes. Manager George Gay has a glorious month of ice and assured us today the Arena would open its doors under the most favorable circumstances enjoyed in years. There is no better exercise known than ice skating, so the adults can join the fun also.

"Tis often said and true, "A leopard cannot change his spots". Down in Kingston last evening the R.C.A.F. "Fliers" downed the Garrison 6 to 2 in the first period of the City League play-offs. Five Fliers turned it. Cowley in the first period to score three goals. Seeing certain defeat staring them in the face the Garrison town boys injected fisticuffs into the game in the third period and a general free-for-all ensued. Even the spectators hopped onto the ice and took a hand in matters, much to the chagrin of two civilians, who were escorted from the playing surface displaying a black eye each, by members of the Fliers who will be played on Dec. 30.

During the melee that broke out during that hectic third period last night, Lakeside, lefty defenseman of the Fliers, was sidelined for the remainder of the game. Now it seems that Lakeside took no part in the general battle that ensued and was unfairly punished through casual chance.s that arise when Kingston officials see their fellow-townsmen getting the worst of matters. Be it what it may.

BUY NOW AND MAKE WORK

WESTMINSTER fireproof HOTEL

A quiet, artistically-appointed hotel in a residential quarter of Toronto, yet close to downtown section. Thoroughly modern and well constructed throughout. Food selection and service in charge of experienced European chef. Courteous service. Moderate rates for single or double room or suite with private bath. Write for folder.

TORONTO - 240 JARVIS STREET

Seven Hundred Children Welcome Santa at Stirling

Stirling, Dec. 22—Nearly seven hundred happy red-faced children from all parts of the district braved the rough stormy weather of Saturday to welcome in a royal fashion Old St. Nicholas, who paid an official visit to Stirling on that day. Children of all ages followed the great parade through the village to the giant Christmas tree on the left side of Memorial Park. Although the time for the parade was set to begin from the high school at two in the afternoon, many youngsters were early and were on hand at twelve-thirty and one o'clock.

Mr. S. Good, Mr. Grant Thain and Mr. Wells received the children at the high school and directed the arrangement for the big parade, and in spite of the stormy weather all floors of the school building were required to house the large number of children who were present and eager to follow their great champion in his march through the town. Mr. T. W. Holmes led the parade and the Stirling Citizens Band were out in full force to play stirring martial music for the tramping of little feet. A large transport truck owned by Mr. Thos. Story was required to carry the large cargo of Christmas bags to be given away by Santa and following this came Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus loudly greeted by the cheers of many children on foot in the parade. At the Christmas tree, the distribution of gifts was carried out in a systematic way and the honoured couple were assisted by a large staff of helpers to increase speed. After each bag generously filled with candies and nuts and other good things, and shaking hands with the kindest man in all the world, the children continued on their way to the Stirling theatre where, as guests of the Stirling Village Council, they enjoyed an excellent free show. Only children were admitted to the theatre and nearly six hundred crowded into the building.

Here the children enjoyed a good show and were carefully looked after by a group appointed for that work, their parents enjoyed the freedom to do their Christmas shopping and for the next few hours all places of business were kept going at top speed and served stores added members to their staff for the rush. This is one of the enterprises started by the Council each year meets with greater success. As five in the evening the parents again called at the theatre for their children many of whom were quite ready for bed as mothers could be seen carrying their tired but happy offspring home after a busy day. Many sparkling eyes had behind for the first time in their young lives the great much talked of band, and truly he was just like his pictures happy round-faced and smiling.

Among those who so generously subscribed to help make this event such a successful one were the following: Messrs. Chas. Paire, Wm. Cranston, T. W. Holmes, John Bateman, C. F. Linn, H. A. Fellows, Rector Rector, Fred Hoodkin, Jr. Station, A. E. Stickland, F. T. Hulin, R. W. Middleton, J. S. Morton, Mrs. Stehlebien, J. S. Morton, N. E. Ingleton, - Frank Stapley, George Bailey, C. Macklin, James Carter, C. B. Mallins, R. MacMillan, R. H. Williams, Ashley Brooks, B. A. Bartels, A. R. Wright, W. H. Lash, M. Mick, J. E. Belshaw, J. E. Salisbury, P. W. Gray, Geo. Lane, Albert Hammond, C. Peacock, Walter Wright, Chas. Greaney, Roy Duffin, F. T. Ward, Jos. Whitehead, E. C. Bailey, C. N. Baker, R. W. Cranston, Harper Bolling, Thos., Syd and Mac Reid, G. W. Jones, J. M. McGee, Jos. Cramer, W. J. White, Roy Fowler, Harry Francis, G. L. Clute, J. B. Bradshaw, T. H. Good, G. Mc. Thain, Edward Bailey, Trenton Women's Institute, Mrs. Anne Bailey, Miss D. Caldwell, Pat and Anderson, Miss A. Fleming, Macintosh and Wells, Reynold's Shoe Store, Haig Bros. Ltd., per A. Stedman, Dr. Deneveval, Stirling Creamery, Stirling News Argus, Mc-Gee and Legrow, Dr. H. E. Alger, Dr. W. R. Pedley, Misc C. E. Burch, Miss K. Mundy, Miss A. Calder, Rose Cuts, Stirling Community Welfare Club and Stirling Council, H. F. Ellis.

Carol Singing Job in Community Carol Service. Over Five Hundred Present

After the regular church services of the town and district, which were all of outstanding character, the members of all churches in the village and district gathered in the Stirling theatre on Sunday evening for a Community Christmas Carol service under the direction of the young men of the village. This was the first service of its kind ever to be held in the district and will be a great success. The village council generously offered the free use of the theatre for the event and the Stirling Citizens' Band under the direction of Conductor Maurice Bell donated its services. A choir of over fifty male voices under the direction of Mr. G. L. Clute, assisted by the Trenton Church, with Mrs. H. Moore, at the piano led in the singing of the old favorite carols.

Program:

Mr. Thos. Ward, President of St. Andrew's Young Men's Bible Class, presided as chairman and introduced the various numbers on the program, in addition to leading the carol singing, the massed male choir offered two special numbers "Christmas Bells" and "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing." Mr. Ward's solo "Gentle Mary Laid Her Child." St. Andrew's male quartette consisting of Messrs. Geo. Tulloch, Roy Fowler, Frank Hoodkin, jr. and Arthur Duncan offered "God Rest Ye Merry Gentlemen." Rev. A. S. Mc-Donald, Rector of Holy Trinity Church offered prayer, Rev. W. A. Koffend of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church read the Scripture lesson and Rev. J. A. Scott of St. Paul's United Church delivered a brief address. Christmas readings and solutions were given by Messrs. Chas. Dracup and Arthur Duncan of Stirling and the Stirling Band played "Stilly Night." Words of the carol songs were flashed on a screen from a lantern operated by Mr. Gerald Ward.

This is the first of such concerts ever to be held within the district and the young men are to be congratulated on the fine manner in which it was organized. The combined voices of the male choir, the band and the five hundred members of the audience made the singing of the well-known old Christmas carols most enjoyable. With all churches represented on the program and a prominent part taken by Stirling ministers in the service it was portrayed very clearly that for at least the duration of the impressive service, the true spirit of Christmas prevailed and Peace on Earth Good Will Toward Men." The young men are grateful to Mr. Joe Wilson for his kindness in offering the use of his lantern and screen for the service and to Mrs. Moore and Mr. G. L. Clute who gave so willingly of their time and musical knowledge in training the large choir.

Since the presentation of this concert many have expressed the hope that it will become an annual event to which all people may look forward and join in celebration of the greatest event in the history of mankind. "Unto Us a Child is Christ." Rev. James K. Beckel of Rawdon United Church Circuit pronounced the benediction.

Men's Club Held Successful Card Party

The members of St. John's Men's Club held a very successful card party on Wednesday evening when about seventy-five members and friends of the organization gathered in the Memorial Hall to take part in the game of euchre. There were fourteen tables in the play and at the end of the fifth game the following players had the highest scores: 1st, Mr. and Mrs. D. Anderson, 2nd, Mr. Sid Williams; 3rd Mrs. Ed. Reid; 4th, Mr. John West. Later in the evening the ladies of the church joined with the men for the lunch and entertainment period. St. John's Men's Club which was organized a couple of years ago is making rapid strides in growth and in every increasing membership keenly interested and active in all functions. On Friday afternoon a successful euchre was held in the basement of the hall under the auspices of the same organization and met with an equal amount of success. The range for targets was approximately forty-five feet and 22 calibre rifles were used by all contestants.

Heavy snow of Saturday followed by hail and rain made travelling very uncomfortable for farmers of the district during the week end, but in spite of the bad weather Stirling was crowded with shoppers and visitors on Saturday and merchants experienced one of the best last days of the year. Sunday's thaw followed by a quick freeze-up, has put the roads in a very bad condition and even the most experienced drivers have to drive with the greatest amount of caution. Several cars have been put in Sunday evening and came to rest in a deep snowdrift until help arrived to pull them out. Early Monday morning the ploughs were put into action and within a few hours all roads leading out of Stirling were reported in fair condition. A large number of farmers have turned to the use of horse and sleighs and the sound of sleigh bells adds a seasonable touch to the Christmas season.

Students of Short Course Hold Christmas Party

Climaxing a series of short courses held under the supervision of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, the classes closed their study periods with a very successful social evening on Thursday evening in the Frankford Community Hall. An excellent program of musical numbers, community singing, brief addresses by prominent members of the municipal council and the awards presented to successful students along with the appearance of Santa Claus and a high lights on the evening's entertainment. Buffet luncheon was served in an adjoining room and the remaining portion of the evening spent in dancing to the rhythmic music of the Trenton orchestra.

Mr. Harry Serviss, resident instructor in Agriculture, officiated as chairman for the evening and a lively community singing was greatly enjoyed under the leadership of Mr. Arthur Duncan of Stirling. A solo was given by Master Harry Hearns drew a hearty applause as did the offerings of Ella Ruggles and Walter Lohnes. The presentation of the first edition of the school paper as given by Mr. Donald Johnson created a great deal of merriment with its quality and quantity of real live good humor and wit.

Presentations

At this time officers and instructors of the group were called to the platform and with appropriate remarks presented the prize winning students with their awards. First prize in the sewing classes was awarded to Miss McCrooks by Miss Davis. Mr. D. H. McGibbon was called upon and after briefly addressing the gathering on the value of such instruction presented each of the members in the boys' class with their class pins.

A real Christmas party atmosphere was created at this time by the colorful appearance of Santa Claus who entered the back of the hall and was cheered by the merry Christmas tree where he was assisted by a number of young ladies in the distribution of the many lovely gifts. A musical contest then was the means of dividing the gathering into smaller groups for the luncheon which was served in cafeteria style in another room of the building. After the luncheon period the large number present enjoyed both round and ball room dancing to the fine music played by the Trenton orchestra and it was well on in the morning hours before the last couple left for home.

These short courses have been in progress for the past few weeks under the supervision of the Ontario Department of Agriculture and the work of organization, etc., was directed by Mr. Joseph Wilson, representative of that department.

Miss Mary Hicks has taken a position in Toronto and will leave early in the new year to take up her duties in that city.

Mr. Arthur Duncan spent a day recently at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Duncan in Trenton.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Bennett, Jean and Roy of Frankford spent Sunday visiting friends and relatives in Stirling and district.

Mrs. H. Rosebush, Miss Flossie Rosebush and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Rosebush of River Valley were Sunday guests at the home of the former's daughter Mrs. H. E. Hulin.

Mr. Chas. Allen of Campbellford visited friends and relatives in Stirling on Saturday.

Christmas Service In Stirling Churches

Special Christmas services were conducted in all Stirling Churches on Sunday Dec. 20th, large choirs offered special Christmas music and appropriate Christmas messages were presented by the ministers. At St. Paul's United Church a choir of twenty-seven voices under the direction of Mr. G. L. Clute offered the following numbers: Anthem, "The First Christmas Morn." Male chorus, "We Three Kings of Orient Are." Anthem, "Arise Shine." Male chorus, "Let us Hail the Morn". Solo by Mrs. Francis "The Birthday of a King." Miss Grace Pitman A.T.C.M., well known organist of Stirling gave a fifteen minute organ recital previous to opening of the evening service and her numbers were very much enjoyed by the large congregation. Appropriate messages were presented at both services by Rev. W. J. Scott.

St Andrew's

Special music offered by the choir at St. Andrew's morning service included, "There Were Shepherds Abiding in the Fields" and the "Awakening Chorus." The evening service was one of most unusual character, Christmas carols beautifully illustrated on the screen and an illustrated vocal trio composed of Mesdames J. A. Koffend, Roy Eggleton, W. Bishop, "Calm on the Listening Ear," a composition of Mrs. Koffend. Midway through the service Arthur Duncan sang "Softly the Night was Sleeping." The message presented by Rev. J. A. Koffend was a story of his own writing entitled "The Traveller", which revealed the facts of the first Christmas morn in an entirely new fashion. The story was one which depicted the important happenings as a place in the life of a casual observer. It was delivered in and beautifully illustrated through-

We Suggest:

FOR HER

DRESSEMAKER SETS $2.50 to $20.00

PERFUME 50c to $10.00

LEATHER GOODS 50c to $6.95

TOILETRY SETS 50c to $17.50

PEN and PENCIL $1.50 to $6.00

KODAKS $2.95 to $14.00

FOR HIM

DRESSING CASE $6.50 to $15.00

BRUSHES $2.00 to $7.95

SHAVING KITS $2.50 to $5.00

RAZORS 39c to $14.50

CIGARS, Cigarettes 50c to $2.50

MARTINDUN PIPE $1.25

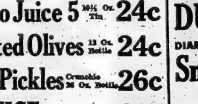
CANDY

NOZZS—Pot of Gold 50c

SMILES 'N CHUCKLES Gift Wrapped, 50c lb. 1, 2, 4 lbs.

GEORGE Pauley DRUGGIST

EATON'S For All Your Festive Foods



Check Over These Last Minute Suggestions

★ CHOICE PEAS Aylmer No. 1 Tin 11c
★ Aylmer Rosebud Beets Fancy No. 2 Tin 16c
★ Eatons Mincemeat Old English Style 2 lbs. 25c
★ Libby's Tomato Juice 5 10½ oz. Tins 24c
★ Holiday Assorted Olives 11 oz. Bottle 24c
★ Sweet Mixed Pickles Crumskin 32 oz. Bottle 26c
★ Grapefruit JUICE Dixie Delicia 2 No. 2 Tins 29c

CHRISTMAS CANDIES
ASSORTED CHOCOLATES
In Attractive Boxes
1 lb. Size 29c
2 lb. Size 48c
4 lb. size 33c
5 lb size 98c
Mixed Chocolates and Creams 2 lb. box ... 49c
• Christmas Mixed CANDY 2 lbs. 25c

Don't Forget CHOICE QUALITY MIXED NUTS 19c In the Shell, lb.

RAISINS, FIGS and THINGS
• Camel Layer Figs ½ lb. pkg. 10c
• Cluster Raisins 15 oz. pkg. 27c
• Choice Filberts in shell lb. 17c
• Washed Brazils in shell lb. 19c
• Roasted Peanuts ..... 2 lbs. 23c

A Festive Favourite Eaton's
CHRISTMAS CAKE
Be sure to have plenty to serve the many friends that will drop in over the holiday weekend— Eaton's is so rich and festive-plain or almond iced ... lb. 27c

Christmas Crackers
Small Size 12 Crackers to box 25c
Medium Size 12 Crackers To Box ... 59c

CHOICE FRESH ROASTING CHICKENS lb. 23c
GRADE A YOUNG FRESH GEESE lb. 19c
CHOICE GRADE A DUCKS lb. 24c
DIAMOND E SUGAR CURED Half and Whole Smoked Hams lb. 28c
FRESH SHOULDERS PORK, shank off lb. 19c
Fresh Boneless BUTT PORK ..... lb. 19c
Sliced BREAKFAST BACON ..... lb. 25c

★CHRISTMAS FRUIT
California Navel Oranges
Large size ..... doz. 41c
Good size ..... doz. 33c
Medium Size ..... doz. 25c
Small size ..... doz. 19c
CRANBERRIES ..... lb. 25c
Fancy Delicious APPLES ..... doz. 33c
SEEDLESS GRAPEFRUIT ..... 3 for 25c
SWEET POTATOES ..... 3 lbs. 19c

STORE HOURS
To show our appreciation of the co-operation of employees during the Christmas rush, this store will close Christmas Eve at 5 p.m., in order that every employee may better enjoy the Christmas holiday. We ask your co-operation in shopping early.
Monday, 8.30 a.m. until 6.00 p.m.
Tuesday, 8.30 a.m. until 6.00 p.m.
Wednesday, 8.30 a.m. until 6 p.m.
Thursday, 8.30 a.m. until 6 p.m.

EATON GROCETERIA
FRONT STREET BELLEVILLE

Candy Specials—

The New Guild Restaurant Candy Counters are Beautiful and Attractive. Special Reduced Prices are listed to introduce our Candy to Candy Lovers.

Home-made Mixtures, Caramels, Fudges, Nugatines, Jellies ... lb. 15c; 2 LBS. 25c
Peanuts and Cocoanut Taffy . lb. 15c; 2 LBS. 25c
Assorted Chocolates, extra good ..... lb. 25c
Fancy Salted Nuts—Walnuts, Almonds, Cashews, Brazils, Filberts, Pecans .... lb. 50c
Moirs Chocolates, in bulk or box ..... lb. 50c
Willard's, Ganong's, and Neilson's, in Gift Packages, ... from 25c up to $5.00

TRY OUR FULL COURSE DINNERS
Tasty and Wholesome

Stuffed Young Turkey 50c
Stuffed Young Chicken 40c
SPECIAL LUNCHES FOR CHRISTMAS SHOPPERS. from 25c

THE GUILD
RESTAURANT and CANDY STORE
245 Front St. (Formerly Moores)

A Pen Set
An Ideal Gift
98c to $15.00
Parker, Waterman, Eclipse and Sheaffer Pens and Pencils

Schryver's
Pharmacy

HERE'S A GIFT THOUGHT
English Fireproof TEAPOTS
Have You Seen Our Gift Suggestions in Electrical Goods?
John Lewis Co.
245 Front Street BELLEVILLE

Miss Potts Weds Dongan Hall

The wedding of Miss Virginia Ray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Ray, of 5 Buttonwood Crescent, Dongan Hills, to James Edward Potts, of Stirling, Ontario, Canada, son of Mrs. and the late Dr. James McCumming Potts, took place on Wednesday morning, December 16th, in Manhattan. The Rev. Randolph Ray, rector of the Church of the Transfiguration (Little Church Around the Corner) performed the ceremony in the small chapel of the church at 2.30 o'clock.

Both the bride, who was given in marriage by her father, and her bridegroom, dispensed with attendants.

The bride wore a navy blue crepe street dress, trimmed with fuchsia, and a matching felt hat with fuchsia. She carried fuchsia. Her flowers were a corsage of orchids and lilies of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Potts sailed the same afternoon at 5 o'clock on the Berengaria, enroute to India, where they will reside for about three years.

Mr. Potts who is connected with the National Carbon Company, will be stationed at the Calcutta office for six months, and will then go to the Bombay office. He is an alumnus of McGill University in Canada.

Mrs. Potts attended Dongan Hall and was graduated from the Miss Chonte School, Brookline, Mass. She later attended the Katherine Gibbs School in Manhattan and until recently was a social worker at the Lying-In Hospital, Manhattan.

HEAD OFFICE NOW AT CORBYVILLE

Oldtyme Distillers Corporation-Gooderham Making Change at Annual Meeting

Montreal, Dec. 22 (CP)—Canadian Industrial Alcohol Company, Limited, has sold its entire interest in American-type whiskey, Mulder Jr., J. O'Donnell and other holders at the annual meeting here today.

At a special meeting held immediately after the annual meeting, shareholders approved plans to exchange six per cent debentures of Canadian Industrial Alcohol plus cash and scrip. Reduction of book value of capital stock, without changing number of shares, to one dollar is provided in charter of Oldtyme Distillers Corporation and changing of head office from Montreal to Corbyville, Ont., were also approved.

Major Donnahoe, in his report, termed the sale of alcohol as "advantageous" and said the 10-bond whiskey by American distillers will be available Jan. 1, 1934.

Plans approved at the special meeting call for an exchange of Mulder's 50 per value debentures for $8.50 of Canadian Industrial Alcohol $6 per cent debentures plus $1.00 in cash and scrip representing 50 cents redemption fee, 15, 1937, with interest at five per cent from Nov. 15, 1932.

Reasons for this exchange were described as twofold: First, about 90 per cent of McMullen debenture holders are Canadians and must pay a heavy British income tax on the interest, while the McMullen Company is a British incorporation. Second, Canadian Industrial Alcohol has a surplus of cash on hand which is drawing interest at 1 1-2 per cent interest and it is available to retire the Mulder debentures on which they interest at six per cent.

Reduction of the book value of capital stock by one dollar will permit payment of dividend in shares of "Oldtyme Distillers Corporation" at rate of one Oldtyme share for every five Canadian Industrial Alcohol shares held.

The change of head office to Corbyville, Ont., will permit issuance of debentures in Ontario as recent legislation now requires that debentures be secured by specific fixed assets, the company will however, continue to carry on business in Montreal.

C.N.R. MAIN SHOPS RUN AT FULL TIME

Announcement is Made By President Hungerford Today

Montreal, Dec. 22 (CP)—Full-time operations will be inaugurated in the main shops of Canadian National Railways at the Point St. Charles on New Year, it was announced today by H. J. Hungerford, chairman and president.

"I am glad," said the President's announcement, "to be able to announce that the general improvement in business conditions and consequent increase of traffic for the railway has made possible the increase in the hours of work in our shops.

"Starting from the first of the New Year our main shops will be operated on a basis of 40 hours per week, which is an increase of approximately 30 per cent. over the working hours of the present year.

"This will mean a substantial increase in the number of men now employed in these shops. How long the new scheduled working hours will remain in effect will naturally depend upon the extent to which earnings increase, but we are hopeful the growth in the volume of traffic will be such as to justify the continuance."

Board Room Gossip

As supplied to Biggar and Crawford by Financial Service.

International Nickel

International Nickel has had its new smelting unit at Copper Cliff in production since November 15, and everything is reported working smoothly. The company commenced the burning in of the two reverberatory furnaces soon after first of the month, and both of the furnaces were then placed in operation, together with the rest of the seven converters. It is estimated that for the present the rate of increased production will be about 15 or 20 per cent above that which has prevailed for some months, and the utilization of the full augmented capacity of approximately one-third will depend upon the demand for the company's products.

At the Orvigilon mine, work is proceeding in the opening up of 10 additional levels below the main shaft, which was completed in August to a depth of 4,075 feet. Early next year it is expected, the new hoisting facilities will be in full swing, and when these are brought into play, the Orvigilon and Wood Mine between them will be in position to hoist nearly 30,000 tons per day.

The copper refinery is reported to be working at capacity now, and it is thought that any new programme of expansion in the near future will be centered around additions to the refining plants. The present capacity is about 200,000,000 pounds of copper annually, but this will be increased considerably somewhat.

International Nickel has nearly finished its 1936 building program and is presently engaged in expending about $250,000 on a research laboratory located adjacent to the present plant in Copper Cliff. This building will be completed next Spring.

Base Metals

The main shaft at Hudson Malartic, has reached a depth of 485 feet and is within a few feet of the objective at 500 feet, according to progress report issued by Andrew Wyle, consulting engineer, overseeing recent operations. It is believed that the shaft sinking and station will be completed before Christmas.

Low values in gold were first found in the drift at a depth of 435 feet and at 465 the shaft encountered stringers of the ore body which is reported to show excellent values on the hanging wall. From this it appears that the main ore zone has risked towards the shaft and the main ore body is now of considerably east of its position on the 360 foot level. Mr. Wyle considers that ore length may also be considerably more than 400 feet on the 500 level than on the 360 level.

UNLISTED MINES

Unlisted mines furnished by A. E. Ketchesen and Co. today at 2.35.

Albany 25-26
Alberta 20A
Beathfield 110B
Coulpitan 14-16
Cuppe Gold 90A
Darwin 45-47
Canadian Pandora 19-20
Perry Four 226A
Faulkenham 27-41
Gold Eagle 73-77
Lapa Cadillac 124-139
Gilbee 5-7
Gilling Lake 53-56
Hudson Patricia 12A
Lamaque 203
Lelich Gold 83-86
Madsen Red Lake 132-138
McCarthy Webb 44A
Monbar 50-53
Martin 38-41
Moosbla 57-60
Moffat Old 5A
Oliver 2-5
Old Diamond 61-66
Pandora Cad. 108-107
Rice Lake 4A
Rahill 204A
Rubes 13-16
Steelers Gold 6¼-9¼
Sturgeon River 42-46
Stockton 25A
Stock Extension 13A
Stom. Cad 322-326
Wrenlye 21A
Wilson, Red Lake 19A

TORONTO MINES

Toronto, Dec. 22 (CP)—While the base metals advanced and a few of the golds moved up, the general ground on Toronto Stock Exchange mining section the list had a downward trend some generally, O'Brien declined a fraction, Macassa, off 30 cents, and minor recessions appeared for Sheard-Cockshutt, McKenzie Red, Teck-Hughes and Wright-Hargreaves.

Golden Rose, Normoda, Sherritt, Pend Oreille and Ventures were all higher in response to strong metal prices and Hollinger was steady around 3.22. The oils were quieter than in recent sessions, Spooner held down and Home Oil and Calgary-Edmonton edged early gains.

TORONTO INDUSTRIALS

Toronto, Dec. 22 (CP)—Prices displayed a firming tendency in the industrial section, Canada Bread, Embassy, but buying continued in Canadian General Investments, a reflection, no doubt of the near approach of the Christmas holidays. Canada's Consumers Glass, a grain of a point, Nickel a gain of about two points and Steel of Canada were features of the trade.

Dividends declared for C.P.R., the Steel of Canada issue, the Standard Paving Stocks and National Steel Car advanced about a point. Gains were sprinkled through the utilities, steels, banks and miscellaneous groups while the oils were steady. The bid was for the new stock of the brewers and distillers, representing 10 shares of the old stock.

WALL STREET

New York, Dec. 22—(AP)—What brokers termed the "overnight" public market attracted buyers in sufficient numbers, to rally recently depressed leaders fractions to a few more points.

In the forward push the ticker tape got behind floor dealings for a brief interval. The activity allowed later but near the fourth hour advances were well maintained.

Aside from a 3-point gain in International Nickel, Canadian issues of McIntyre, Hollinger Corp.-Consgrams and C.P.R. were unchanged to a little higher. On the curb, Lake Shore moved up a trifle. Dominion government bonds were steady. International Nickel ruled even at 100.10 15-16 cents.

Copper and steel shares took the lead early and held it during the greater part of the proceedings. Some of the motors, utilities, rails, oils and specialties gave a good account of themselves.

Conspicuous on the come-back were Anaconda, Kennecott, Inspiration, Calumet and Hecla, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic, Youngstown Sheet and Tube, Vanadium, Chrysler, Consolidated Edison, General Motors, Standard Oils of Indiana and Colorado, Westinghouse, Air Reduction, Allied Chemical, Sears Roebuck, J. C. Penney, American Radiator, Goodrich, Commercial Solvents, Stone and Webster, Warner Oil and Snowdrift and Yellow Truck.

In a rather slim groove were General Motors, Montgomery Ward, United Aircraft, General Electric, Du Pont and North American.

With export copper being booked almost daily to new highs for the year and years, the domestic price of the red metal was lifted early to 11 1-8 cents a pound, a peak since June, 1930. A rate of 11 cents, from 10 1-2 cents, was established on Dec. 14.

Stock Markets

Quotations furnished by Biggar and Crawford, P. H. Wills, branch manager. Quotations at 2.35.

MINES

Acme 13
Abx 44
Armfield 32
Ashley 5
Anglo Hur. 670
Base Metals 27
Beattie 123
Bobjo 39
Big Missouri 57
Bagamac S 1-3
Brakorne 7½
Bra 3 1-2
Buffalo Ank 31 3-4
Casla 7½ 131
Can. Malar 196
Central Pat. 62c
Chemical Research 125
Chromium 190
Coast Copper 600
Chibougamau 200
Conjuror 168
Dome 68 1-2
Eldorado 28B
Falconbridge 11 5-8
God's Lake 50
Goldale 46
Gunnar 168
Green Pk 26
Hardrock 37¢
Howey 28
Hollinger 13 3-8
Howey 28
Hudson Bay 23
J. M. Cons 48
Kirk. Lake 3
Lake Shore 36 1-4
Lebel 17
Little L.L. 745
Macassa 70
Man. S 13 1-4
Mc Intyre 39
McKenzie 182
McMillan 14 1-8
McWatters 85
Mining Corp. 220
Normoda 72 1-4
McCarthy Webb 44A
Monbar 50-53
Martin 38-41
Moosbla 57-60
Moffat Old 5A
Oliver 2-5
Old Diamond 61-66
Pandora Cad. 108-107
Rice Lake 4A
Rahill 204A
Rubes 13-16
Steelers Gold 6¼-9¼
Sturgeon River 42-46
Stockton 25A
Stock Extension 13A
Stom. Cad 322-326
Wrenlye 21A
Wilson, Red Lake 19A

TORONTO MINES

Toronto, Dec. 22 (CP)—While the base metals advanced and a few of the golds moved up, the general ground on Toronto Stock Exchange mining section the list had a downward trend some generally, O'Brien declined a fraction, Macassa, off 30 cents, and minor recessions appeared for Sheard-Cockshutt, McKenzie Red, Teck-Hughes and Wright-Hargreaves.

Golden Rose, Normoda, Sherritt, Pend Oreille and Ventures were all higher in response to strong metal prices and Hollinger was steady around 3.22. The oils were quieter than in recent sessions, Spooner held down and Home Oil and Calgary-Edmonton edged early gains.

TORONTO INDUSTRIALS

Toronto, Dec. 22 (CP)—Prices displayed a firming tendency in the industrial section, Canada Bread, Embassy, but buying continued in Canadian General Investments, a reflection, no doubt of the near approach of the Christmas holidays. Canada's Consumers Glass, a grain of a point, Nickel a gain of about two points and Steel of Canada were features of the trade.

Dividends declared for C.P.R., the Steel of Canada issue, the Standard Paving Stocks and National Steel Car advanced about a point. Gains were sprinkled through the utilities, steels, banks and miscellaneous groups while the oils were steady. The bid was for the new stock of the brewers and distillers, representing 10 shares of the old stock.

WALL STREET

New York, Dec. 22—(AP)—What brokers termed the "overnight" public market attracted buyers in sufficient numbers, to rally recently depressed leaders fractions to a few more points.

In the forward push the ticker tape got behind floor dealings for a brief interval. The activity allowed later but near the fourth hour advances were well maintained.

Aside from a 3-point gain in International Nickel, Canadian issues of McIntyre, Hollinger Corp.-Consgrams and C.P.R. were unchanged to a little higher. On the curb, Lake Shore moved up a trifle. Dominion government bonds were steady. International Nickel ruled even at 100.10 15-16 cents.

Copper and steel shares took the lead early and held it during the greater part of the proceedings. Some of the motors, utilities, rails, oils and specialties gave a good account of themselves.

Conspicuous on the come-back were Anaconda, Kennecott, Inspiration, Calumet and Hecla, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic, Youngstown Sheet and Tube, Vanadium, Chrysler, Consolidated Edison, General Motors, Standard Oils of Indiana and Colorado, Westinghouse, Air Reduction, Allied Chemical, Sears Roebuck, J. C. Penney, American Radiator, Goodrich, Commercial Solvents, Stone and Webster, Warner Oil and Snowdrift and Yellow Truck.

In a rather slim groove were General Motors, Montgomery Ward, United Aircraft, General Electric, Du Pont and North American.

With export copper being booked almost daily to new highs for the year and years, the domestic price of the red metal was lifted early to 11 1-8 cents a pound, a peak since June, 1930. A rate of 11 cents, from 10 1-2 cents, was established on Dec. 14.

Neutral Ships Warned Harbors Are Mined

Lisbon, Portugal, Dec. 22 (AP)—The insurgent Spanish radio station at Salamanca broadcast today an official warning credited to General Francisco Franco for neutral shipping to be wary of Tarragona, Barcelona, Valencia, Alicante, Cartagena, Malaga, Gijon Santander and Bilbao.

Produce Markets

(By United Farmers Co-Operative Company)

Toronto, Ontario, December:—

Buying Prices

United Farmers' Co-operative Co. today were paying the following prices for dairy products:

Note—Prices to producers, cases returned basis, delivered Toronto:

A-large	29c
A-medium	28c
Pullets	24c
Cartons	31c
Brakorne	30c
Churning Cream, No. 1 b	30c
Churning Cream, No. 2 b	24c
Butter No. No. 1	25c
Butter No. 2	24c

(Quotations in Cents)

Young Chickens—

	Dressed	Sel.
Over 5 lbs.	17	14
4 to 5 lbs.	14	13
3½ to 4 lbs.	13	12
2½ to 3½ lbs.	11	10
All "2" grade poultry 2c lower than "A". "C" grade 3c lower than "2".

Young Turkeys—

	Sel. A.
8 to 10 lbs.	26
10 to 12 lbs.	25
Over 12 pounds	24

Young Geese—

Over 8 lbs.	12

(Other Poultry—

Young ducks, white 4 to 8 ..... 14c

over 5 lbs. 15c

(Colored chuckings, 3c less.)

Selling Prices

United Farmers' Co-operative Co. yesterday were offering produce to retail dealers at the following prices:

Butter—No. 1 Creamery prints No. 1 36, No. 2, 35c.

Eggs—

A-large	36c
"B"	30c
"C"	25c

Potatoes—New Ontario bag 2.0b. at shipping point $1.25

HAY AND STRAW

No. 2 timothy, $10 to $11 per ton; No. 3 timothy, $9 to $10; oats and wheat straw $6 to $7. Above prices f.o.b. Toronto.

Produce Prices on Montreal Market

Montreal, Dec. 22.—Local produce markets were steady to firmer yesterday. Cheese was a shade firmer in price and there was a firmer undertone on the egg market. Butter potatoes and wheat were unchanged. The poultry market was very active, retail stores stocking up on supplies of turkeys and other Christmas lines. Receipts of eggs at the Board of Trade as 446 cases of eggs and 46 boxes of butter.

Spot eggs were further regraded, was quoted there at 35¾c to 35¼c. Asking prices were: extras 36 cents for 3s, and 31½ to 32c per lb. for cartons or 1-kl. lots f.o.b. cars.

On the egg market graded shipments arriving in cartons or 1-kl. lots were: extras 36c for A-large, 31-32 cents for A-medium, 25 cents for A-pullets and 30 cents for 3s, and 31½ to 32 cents for C.

The cheese market was 19c to 19½c for No. 1 Ontario and Quebec, current receipts, the basis line arriving.

On the butter market, shippers in cartons continued at the basic rate of 36c per lb., for grade, with some shading on light weights.

Livestock

Toronto, Dec. 22.—(CP) —Hog prices moved 10 cents higher on the Toronto livestock market today. The small offering cattle traded at steady prices. Calves, sheep and lambs sold around previous levels. There was no cattle holdover from Monday.

Receipts reported by the Dominion Livestock branch were—Cattle 300; Calves 200; Hogs 600; Sheep and Lambs 600.

Butcher steers and heifers brought $4 to $5.75, cows unchanged to from $2.50 to $3.75. Some fed calves ranged from $5.50 to $8.

Choice veal calves were priced at $8 to $8.50 with a few tops reaching $10. Common lights sold down to $5.

Off truck bacon hogs closed at $8.40 to $8.50.

Good Lambs, including one car of Western, brought $9. Other grades were from $6 to $8. Sheep traded at $4 to $4.50 for good light ewes.

Grain Markets

Closing quotations on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange as furnished by A. H Ketchesen and Co to-day.

Wheat—	Low	Close
December ...	123⅛	131⅛ 122
May	123⅛	131⅛ 121⅜
July	49⅛	53 48⅛
Oats—
December ...	31	30 30¼
May	30⅝	40⅛ 40⅝
July	40⅛	43 43⅛
Barley—
December ...	30	30 30
May	70	71¼ 71⅝
July	69⅛	67⅜ 67⅛
Rye—
December ...	104⅛	101⅜ 101⅜
May	104⅜	102⅛ 102⅜
July	101⅛	99⅜ 99⅜

CHOOSE Christmas Gifts at the C.D.S.

Store Open Tonight Until 9.30 p. m.

Rousing 8 p.m. Specials for Wednesday Shoppers!

Clearing! Rayon and Cotton
Table Cloths
8 p.m. Special Each 1.59

Lovely, fine quality rayon and cotton yarns, with a soft, lustrous finish and in a rich cream color, showing smart broadcloth designs in self tone. Size about 50" x 70", and regularly priced at 1.79 each. On sale Wednesday at 8 p.m. Be on time!

—Main floor, rear

Boys' Handkerchiefs
8 P.M. Special ..... 6 for 29c

All Linen or all cotton in the lot, with neat hemstitched hems, which are colored in green, wine, blue or tan. A generous size and regularly priced at 9 for 29c or 2 for 25c. Buy them Wednesday at 8 p.m. and save money.

—Main floor, centre

Armchair
Scatter Rugs
8 p.m. Special Each 1.98

Size about 27" x 51", soft, thickly piled Axminster rugs in a convenient scatter rug size and specially priced Wednesday night at 8 p.m. In hit and miss design in several colorings. Smart for Christmas gifts, too!

—Main floor, rear

Men's Spats
8 P.M. Special, pair .50c to 1.50

Of Nox Cloth or wool felt, smartly made spats for men and young men. In grey and fawn sizes in the lot from 6 to 11. Wednesday is the time to secure a pair of these spats for yourself or for a gift. Note the savings.

—Men's Store, rear

Eatonia Boned Rayon
Lingerie
A gift of any of these smart rayon garments will be well appreciated! Lovely quality rayon, in white, pink or tearose. Sizes small, medium and large. SLOCKERS regular style, with elastic fittings. PANTIES flat front style with elastic across the back and neat band at knee. VESTS in built-up shoulder style. Individually cellophane wrapped. Eatonia value, each 1.00

Second floor

Winceyette Gowns
Soft, cotton winceyette gowns, in pink, tearose, or white, with short sleeves, and neat embroidery trim across the front. Choice of V or round necks. Here's a practical sort of gift for "her" and the price, each 69c

Baby Blankets
ARE GOOD GIFTS
And we have smart ones of cotton yarns, with soft, fleeced nap or those soft, all wool blankets, decorated with cute little Nursery Rhyme characters. Neatly finished with blanket stitch around edge. In pink, white or blue. In box. ..... 39c to 2.59

Give Those 7 to 12 Year Olds
Smart One Piece Ski-Suits

These have a convenient slide fastener front and come in gay colors of wine, green, navy or brown. Tailored on comfortable, roomy lines from all wool blanket cloth, sizes to fit 7 to 12 year olds. The price, each

5.95

Second floor

Women's Wool Scarves
Lovely soft, all-wool scarves for women, in a big assortment of colors and patterns from which to choose. Various styles, al lobong in shape, some with fringed ends. A very smart gift for "her" this year and prices moderate, too, at each

79c to 1.50

—Main floor centre

HANDKERCHIEFS

Women's Boxed Hankies
ARE ALWAYS ACCEPTABLE
No woman really has too many hankies, so you'll be safe in giving some this year if you wish for more smart ones of these prices, nicely arranged in a gift box and in all linen, in assorted styles or white with colors. Note the fine selection of prices, too. Box, each ..... 25c to 1.00

—Main floor, centre

Men's Eatonia
Linen Handkerchiefs
Of fine all linen yarns, Irish manufacture and in a size that men prefer. Snow white and with neat hemstitched edges. Eatonia value, each

20c

—Main floor centre

Half Price Clearance
Pyralin Dresserware
The balance of our stock of these smart dresserware articles clearing at just half regular prices. Sets come in rose, green or maize shade and pieces run from 3 to 7. Any of these sets would make a fine gift and at these prices you save money, to

2.50 to 3.97

Reg. 5.00 to 9.75. Sale price, set

Turnover Style
Toasters
With shony colored metal base and top. Side racks are chromium plated, with convenient handles attached for turning toast. With a dependable element and complete with cord and plug. Reg. 2.25. Special each 1.85

IN APPRECIATION
of Our Staff's Loyal Co-operation during the Christmas Season
THE STORE WILL REMAIN CLOSED from 6.00 p.m. THURSDAY, DEC. 24th. until 9.00 a.m. MONDAY, DECEMBER 28.

CANADIAN DEPARTMENT STORES LIMITED

THE WEATHER
Lower Lake Region: Fresh southwest winds, mostly cloudy and comparatively mild today and Thursday.

The Ontario Intelligencer

TEMPERATURES
Today
Max. 31; Min. 2
Year Ago
Max. 1; Min. 4 below
Weather—Overcast.

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 23, 1936

BRIEF TRUCE ARRANGED IN CHINESE CIVIL WAR

London Hears Rumors of Impending Economic Collapse in Germany

HALT IS SOUGHT TO ENLISTMENTS FOREIGN SOLDIERS

Britain Asks 27 Other Nations to Give Specific Pledges

COMMITTEES NAMED

Experts to Inquire Into Service of Volunteer Troops

London, Ont., Dec. 23 (CP)—Provincial police have been ordered watching a western Ontario farmer to take more care with their clover and other seed grain to ensure against the ill. Mrs. Lenz reports have been received from farmin district and through Middlesex concerning grain thefts and they have become almost a racket, officers believe.

* * *

Hiawatha, Ont., Dec. 22 (CP)—Annoyed by their dog's habit of running away, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Bender have advertised for sale an ad in the classified column on the card were the words: "I don't. The dog hasn't run away again.

* * *

Toledo, Wash., Dec. 22 (CP)—Carl Mack, 11, has learned his lesson in Sunday School every school day at 9.55 a.m.

He rents a boat two miles across an arm of Puget Sound. Then he rows a mile to school and rides 4 1-2 miles. His transfer to a relay of boats ends the journey. Today he reaches his high school. Total school days: 180. Total days, seven. Carl never has been tardy.

* * *

Milwaukee, Dec. 22 (CP)—Miss Meyers will have roles in the forthcoming wedding of Gertrude Meyers, 21, and Milton Meyer, 20.

Miss Meyer will be attended by her sister, Norma. Her father, the Rev. Elmer Meyer will perform the ceremony and her brother, Wilbur, will be best man.

Miss Meyer's sister, Dorothy, Pauline and Meta, will preside at the bridge.

Only the best man will not be a Meyer. He is Morris Odenhoff.

NEWS BRIEFS AND ODDITIES

Carnduff, Sask., Dec. 22 (CP)—A crop of pigs nodded hungrily today for a local rabbit "round-up" in this south-eastern Saskatchewan district. The "hunt" will be staged like a big social where the kill will take place. Six to seven hundred have been taken in previous drives. The pelts are worth 15 cents each.

* * *

London, Ont., Dec. 22 (CP)—Provincial police have been ordered watching a western Ontario farmer to take more care with their clover and other seed grain to ensure against the ill. Mrs. Lenz reports have been received from farmin district and through Middlesex concerning grain thefts and they have become almost a racket, officers believe.

* * *

Hiawatha, Ont., Dec. 22 (CP)—Annoyed by their dog's habit of running away, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Bender have advertised for sale an ad in the classified column on the card were the words: "I don't. The dog hasn't run away again.

* * *

Toledo, Wash., Dec. 22 (CP)—Carl Mack, 11, has learned his lesson in Sunday School every school day at 9.55 a.m.

He rents a boat two miles across an arm of Puget Sound. Then he rows a mile to school and rides 4 1-2 miles. His transfer to a relay of boats ends the journey. Today he reaches his high school. Total school days: 180. Total days, seven. Carl never has been tardy.

* * *

Milwaukee, Dec. 22 (CP)—Miss Meyers will have roles in the forthcoming wedding of Gertrude Meyers, 21, and Milton Meyer, 20.

Miss Meyer will be attended by her sister, Norma. Her father, the Rev. Elmer Meyer will perform the ceremony and her brother, Wilbur, will be best man.

Miss Meyer's sister, Dorothy, Pauline and Meta, will preside at the bridge.

Only the best man will not be a Meyer. He is Morris Odenhoff.

34 BODIES FOUND BY RESCUE CREWS IN TEXAS MINE

Explosion of Fire Dump Believed Cause of Fatality

MANY SEVERELY BURNED

Majority of Those Killed Were of Mexican Birth

Eagle Pass, Tex., Dec. 23.—(AP)—An explosion-torn mine, which yielded at least 34 bodies, was searched today by digging rescue crews 80 miles to the south in Mexico for five miners believed entombed.

Thirty-five injured miners were treated, several for severe burns, which may prove fatal.

The border town's information from the mine at Nueva Rosita, Coahuila, failed to confirm a report from Torreon, Mexico, that the explosion was a dynamite blast.

About 700 miners were scattered throughout the coal-filled shafts when the Old Mine Company's Number six mine, when the explosion occurred yesterday at 4 p.m. from the entrance and 400 feet below the surface.

Officials suggested sparks from an unknown source may have set off fire-damp gas.

Mine funeral services were postponed by the company, reported from the Number One shaft, bringing gas and smoke and timber which blocked the shafts hampered rescue work.

Injuries received here said all of the victims were Mexicans.

The mine is owned by the Compania Carbonifera de Sabinas, S.A., Mexican subsidiary of the American Smelting and Refining Company.

BROKERAGE FIRMS GIVING BONUSES

Some Paying as High as 15 to 20 Weeks Wages

New York, Dec. 23 (AP)—Some brokerage firms, 100 of the New York Stock Exchange's 670 members have long passed about the Christmas bonus band-wagon.

The bonuses vary, the average distributed being equivalent to four or five weeks' wages.

Some run up to six weeks' pay, while a few concerns with small staffs are understood to have awarded as little as 2 to 20 weeks' wages.

While no direct comparisons with 1929 are possible, one broker's estimate indicates more firms are paying bonuses this Christmas than before the workers' melons are somewhat larger.

Lloyd's War Insurance Except in N. America

LONDON, Dec. 23.—(AP)—Lloyds decided today to withdraw war risks from policies covering property in any part of the world, except Canada and the United States.

War insurance was stopped some time ago in the United Kingdom and Ireland.

OLD PRACTICES BEING RESTORED

Absence of Royal Broadcast to Have Depressing Effect

(By Thomas T. Champion
Central Press Staff Writer)

London, Dec. 23.—(CP Cable)—Stories of arrangements in the Royal Palaces and residences being restored to those prevailing King Edward's day have received some confirmation today from the weekly paper Truth.

It had been freely asserted, said Truth, which is usually able to speak with some authority in such matters, that King Edward was already making preparations to install chefs and other retainers at Sandringham and Windsor and that cooking like expenditure and amenities at those residences.

"Within the last week," said the paper, "the practice and outlook of the last 20 years has been re-established. Balmoral and Sandringham, saved from innovations, at any rate of a startling kind, will remain much as under George V. This was to be expected from the fact that the King and Queen are both lovers of outdoor sport.

At Sandringham there will be a family party, but it will be only a shadow of what it has been.

"The absence of the Royal broadcast will prevent the Christmas Day Sandringham week end in the world outside."

KING'S COUNSEL ARE APPOINTED

Seventy-Three Lawyers in Ontario Honored by Attorney General

Toronto, Dec. 23.—(CP)—Attorney-General Arthur Roebuck today announced appointment of 73 new King's Counsel for Ontario.

Thirty-one Toronto lawyers were honored and Ottawa was next highest on the list with nine appointments. Hamilton, London and Windsor each had two lawyers appointed.

Lawyers from 22 other Ontario centres were included in the list. Two Brantford lawyers were appointed and there were three appointments in Welland.

Northern Ontario was not remembered. The Attorney-General's Christmas present to the legal profession went with appointments in Sudbury, Sault Ste. Marie and Sudbury.

GRIM CHRISTMAS IS SEEN IN SPAIN

Hope of Troops to Return to Madrid For Fete Fades

Madrid, Dec. 23 (AP)—The crash of enemy shells in the industrial northwest of the Spanish capital today foreshadowed a grim Christmas-time for the city's loyal defenders.

Militiamen at the front wistfully remembered hope among them might be allowed to return to Madrid for the day but the ever-present fear of insurgent attack on the vital communications with El Escorial held them to their posts.

Favor Light Industries For $10,000,000 Gift

By THOMAS T. CHAMPION
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Dec. 23 (CP Cable)—Lord Nuffield's gift of $2,000,000 ($10,000,000) to the United Kingdom's "depressed areas" has evoked a flood of suggestions as to means of using the fund.

Competent north country opinion inclines to the belief that the best results probably would come from the establishment of light industries which would afford a greater variety of employment than heavier industry.

FOLLOWS CANTERBURY'S LEAD

Britain's church controversy which flared following a stinging attack via radio by the Archbishop of Canterbury upon the former King Edward and his close circle of friends, blazed anew when Rev. Dr. William Temple (ABOVE) Archbishop of York and second ranking prelate of the Church of England, also condemned the ex-monarch in a public address. The attack came while the Archbishop of Canterbury was seeking to quiet the matter there by pleading for co-operation. Influential publishers of London's Fleet Street then came on Dr. Temple for his statement.
—Central Press Canadian Photo

TWO TRUCKLOADS OF MAIL FOR DUKE

Envelopes Will be Destroyed After Being Opened

Kranefeld, Austria, Dec. 23 (AP)—Two truckloads of Christmas mail arrived today for the Duke of Windsor.

So great was the interest of Kranefelders in the mail and so devious their efforts to get the stamps it was announced the envelopes would be destroyed immediately after they were opened in the castle of Baron and Baroness Eugene de Rothschild where the duke is a guest.

OWNER POOLROOM SLUGGED, ROBBED

Thug Takes $268 And Leaves Man With Fractured Skull

Windsor, Ont., Dec. 23 (CP)—Sam Masur, 36, Windsor, proprietor of a poolroom, was slugged and robbed of $268 in cash in his premises today. He is in hospital suffering a possible skull fracture. Four stitches were required to close a gash on the top of his head.

Attendants said while Masur is not unconscious he is still dazed from the effects of the heavy blow.

Police were called by Pete Boychyn who lives in the same apartment building as Masur. He said he had found Masur lying on the floor of his apartment kitchen, blood flowing from the wound on his head.

Masur was unable to give a coherent account of what had happened. He said he had closed his poolroom and went directly to his home. His apartment is at the rear and he said he was attacked not far from the entrance door. He recalled that he had been threatened on two previous occasions.

LEON TROTSKY ON HIGH SEAS

"Man Without Country" Proceeding to Mexico

Oslo, Norway, Dec. 23 (AP)—Leon Trotsky, "man without a country", will spend Christmas on the high seas, bound for Mexico—the only nation willing to shelter the exiled Bolshevist after his asylum in Norway was terminated.

Trotsky and his wife were spirited out of Norway and put aboard an unidentified steamship Saturday. They were expected to arrive in Mexico between Jan. 10 and 15.

3-DAY ARMISTICE HALTS CIVIL WAR AMONG CHINESE

Erroneous Rumor of Kai-Shek's Release Stirs Nanking

TRUCE COMES QUICKLY

Reported Strategic Victory For Nanking Troops in Expedition

Nanking, Dec. 23.—(AP)—An armistice—Japan mediated China's civil war today at the urgent request of Mme. Chiang Kai-Shek and her brother, Dr. T. V. Soong, after their flight to Sian-Fu to rescue the Nanking Government's captive leader.

Shortly after Generalissimo Chiang's wife and her brother arrived at Marshal Chang Hsueh-Liang's headquarters, a truce was flong telegraphed Nanking asking for a

Armistice to December 26

After a hasty conference with other Nationalist leaders, Dr. Kung, acting Civil Head of the Government, declared an Armistice until December 26.

The proposal to end hostilities came on the heels of a reported victory for the Nanking expedition troops of the punitive pressing to rescue Chiang.

Dispatches from Hankow said reports that Marshal Chang had effected an alliance with Communist leaders further to the northwest and was actively cooperating with them.

The young Marshal was said to have flown 200 miles to Fu Yin, important city of Northern Shensi Province, for a conference with Communist leaders, bringing one of them back with him to Sian-Fu to meet Mme. Chiang and Dr. Soong.

Officials Appointed

The central executive committee of the Kuomintang, indicating pre-paration for a long delay before the Generalissimo's return, named high government officials to take over the reins of Chiang's office.

The Kuomintang is Chiang's National Party which is all-powerful in the government.

Put Something by For Christmas

LONDON, Ont., Dec. 23.—(CP)—Joseph Bozak of Courtland just got something in for Christmas, he told Magistrate Jeffery today.

Mounted Police think it must be part of the Christmas shopping planning. When they raided his home last night, they found, according to police, a gain on the following:

Whiskey—Four gallons of moonshine, one gallon of rye.

Wine—125 gallons.

Beer—18 dozen pints.

Will Menace of Collapse Drive Chancellor Hitler In Foreign Adventure?

Germany Will Ration Table Fats From New Year's

WORKERS ADVISED

German Participation in Spanish War at Crucial Point

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Dec. 23 (CP Cable)—London homes with rumors of an impending crisis in Germany. There was widespread fear that the grave economic collapse may drive Chancellor Hitler to a new adventure in foreign fields.

Implementing the idea that guns come before butter, the Government will ration table fats from the new year.

Skilled workers such as mechanics and the drivers of motor vehicles, not eligible for conscription, have been warned to be ready to leave their work on the first hour's day of any eventual mobilization.

Unfit Men as Substitutes

Men unfit for military service and women would take the place of the skilled workers.

Henceforth no German man between the ages of 18 and 45 may have a passport for travel abroad without the sanction of the local military authorities.

Reports of German participation in the Spanish civil war has aroused fears that General Franco and the Insurgent commander, needs more help if he is to win. Premier Mussolini of Italy, eager for a Mediterranean agreement with Britain, shows little enthusiasm for the Spanish adventure.

Hitler vs. General Staff

Hitler may therefore be faced with the alternative of committing himself in Spain to the extent his own general staff consider unwise or suffering a dangerous loss of prestige.

Britain and France are watching developments in Germany with anxious interest. In neither is there any desire to see Germany overwhelmed with economic disaster for its repercussions would be felt throughout Europe.

But in both the predominant feeling is that Germany must change her policy. If she is to get colonies she must be ready to co-operate. For the race in armaments she must be prepared to see her people's reduction to any rate limitation of armaments.

Just as in 1914 Europe to the constant shocks of broken treaties, Germany must join in an effort to place peace on a secure foundation.

PONTIFF PASSES A FITFUL NIGHT

Preparing to Deliver 1,000 Word Message to World Today

Vatican City, Dec. 23—(AP)—Pope Pius, working in bed finished writing his Christmas message to the world today.

At the same time, Vatican radio engineers completed installation of broadcasting equipment to permit the Pontiff, suffering from drowsy sore congestion, to speak through a microphone in his bedroom.

The Pope's 1,000 word Christmas address, in Italian would be about 1,000 words long and take between 15 and 20 minutes to deliver. He will speak at 12.30 P.M. (6.30 A.M. EST)

The 79-year old Pontiff passed a fitful night, Vatican sources declared, but his condition showed no pain in his partly paralyzed left leg.

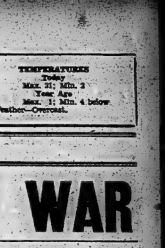
Dr. Amandi Milani, the Pope's physician, and Dr. Amadeo Bignami, an early visit to the Holy Father's bedside to examine their patient in an attempt to persuade him to refrain from overwork on the address.

His Holiness, described by well informed sources as "very weak but in good cheer," has agreed to be very brief in his broadcast which will, perhaps be made as he lies in bed.

Dr. Milani urged the pope, who is 79, not to consider the slight betterment noted in his condition after complete repose yesterday as a warrant for any activity today.

SEVEN YEARS FOR ARMED ROBBERY

Pleads Guilty to Robbing Clothier And Carrying



Windsor, Ont., Dec. 23.—(CP)—Joe Palazzi, 23-year-old St. Louis, Mo., hoodlum was sentenced to seven years in Kingston Penitentiary by Magistrate D. M. Brodie today after he pleaded guilty to a charge of robbery Nov. 18 of Harry Berger, Windsor clothier.

Palazzi also admitted having concealing weapon in his possession during which he drew a gun.

He received two years, and on a further charge of deportation from Canada he was fined $50 or three months, all three sentences to run concurrently.

The gunman, who said he was born in Buffalo, was captured by the lobby of a hotel here after a short struggle with two police officers during which he drew a gun.

Palazzi had previously been arrested for questioning in connection with the robbing of a bank at St. Joachim, 23 miles east of here, last July 29. He was released when it was proven he had been in a Buffalo jail at the time of the holdup.

PRES. HUGH RANSOM

Mme. Chiang Kai-Shek, China's most beautiful woman and wife of the generalissimo held prisoner by rebel leader Marshal Chang Hsueh-Liang, is reported to have gone to Sian-Fu in a desperate effort to effect her husband's rescue by pleading a hero's ransom to his captors. — It said she was ready to offer a king's ransom to free the Chinese military fortress, greatest in China.
—Central Press Canadian Photo.

GERMAN EDITORS TO BE REPLACED

'Safe' Nazi Leaders Will Manage Frankfurt And Berlin Papers

Berlin, Dec. 23.—(AP)—Authoritarian Germany moved today to replace with "tried-in-the-wool Nazis two newspaper editors who refused to obey orders from the propaganda ministry.

The Frankfurter Zeitung will be permitted to continue publication, officials said, on the condition a National Socialist leader assumes the chief editorship and approves all articles before publication.

The Berliner Tageblatt will also be compelled to accept a "safe" man as chief editor, it was announced. Paul Scheffer, present chief editor, it is said, will be given a foreign correspondent's post, officials declared.

The Frankfurter Zeitung incurred the displeasure of Dr. Joseph Goebbels, propaganda minister, December 16, by publishing a story from Germany fears a 1,000,000-ton wheat shortage.

At that time Goebbels was reported seriously considering withdrawal of the newspaper's publication permit. The powerful industrial interests in the Rhineland, however, were reported to have intervened on the paper's behalf.

Second Term Given MacDonald at Peterboro

Peterborough, Ont., Dec. 22—(CP)—George A. MacDonald was given a second term as president of Peterborough today by acclamation and Roland Dennis was re-elected to the Utilities Commission for a three-year term. Six were nominated for the two vacant positions on the Board of Education, Dr. A. Moir, LL.-col. A. A. Dewitt, W. J. Alexander, Harold G. Walker, Dr. Raymore Scott, and Charles Shaw. Nominations for aldermen are to be held this evening.

Bishop of Manchester Pays Tribute to Edward as King

Three More Churchmen Discuss Abdication of King Edward

PROFITS BY CRISIS

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Dec. 23 (CP Cable)—Three more Church of England Bishops today discuss the abdication of King Edward VIII.

The Bishop of Manchester, Rt. Rev. Guy Rochford Warman, in his Christmas letter pays tribute to Edward "both as Prince of Wales and King.

"He used his many gifts in service to the English and he helped it much," the Bishop writes. "We cannot let him go without sincere sympathy and gratitude."

Bishop Warman is a leader of the Evangelical party with great experience in social work. Two years ago he told a meeting at Leigh, Lancashire:

"If I have to remain Bishop of Manchester for a long time I shall have to go to the Bankruptcy Court. I have to depend on my income. Since I became Bishop of Manchester I have not saved a penny and I have spent a good deal of the money I saved before I came to Manchester."

Bishop Warman's salary is £4,200 ($21,000) annually.

Rt. Rev. Mervyn Haigh, Bishop of Coventry, writes in the Diocesan Gazette that thrones and fires of flament alike emerged strong from the crisis.

"The throne can only profit by the revelation of the nation's conception of kingship," the Bishop writes. "Parliament rediscovered its power to express the national mind and will."

The Bishop of Ely, Rt. Rev. Bernard Heywood, in the diocesan letter says: "Though it was terrible on account of Mrs. Simpson's rank of nationality that the British people so resolutely against the projected marriage of the late King, the occasion of the deep, underlying conviction that divorce with remarriage, however, it may be tolerated in an imperfect world, is not in accordance with Christian standards of living which in their hearts most men approve."

Feeling of Uneasiness

"The King might have married Mrs. Simpson, thus making her Queen," Bishop Heywood proceeds. "Alternatively if the King, aware of his unfitness for the position, had married her. In case he

(—Continued on page elevend,)

Coming Events

DANCING JOHNSTONES' BALL room Wednesday night and Christmas Eve. The smartest ballroom and dance band in town. Toomte Mason and his famous music. c22-1t

DANCE AT QUINTE INN DEC. 26. Cards and dancing till 1. Music by Toomte Mason. Auspices Red Serville Guild. Admission 35c. c23-1t

MOOSE EUCHRE, BINGO AND Dance, Wednesday, 23rd. Cards 8.30, $15 in tickets and turkey draw. Bingo and 25 dances 10-2.30. Army and Navy Hickey draw after cards. Admission 50c including lunch. Dance Christmas night. c23-2c

TURKEY BINGO WEDNESDAY night, 8.45, K. of C. Rooms. Everybody welcome. c22-3t

CHRISTMAS EVE (THURSDAY) at Christ Church, Medieval and Modern Carols sung from the gallery at 11.00 P.M. William Festival Music and Anthems from The Messiah (Handel) at the service beginning at 11.30. c23-1t

City and District News

TUBES REPLACED READY FOR HEAT

The following a brief in which temporary tubes in the boilers have been used in the offices of the city hall for the past week, the larger boiler through bursting tubes on Monday, it is expected that the heat will be turned on this evening or tomorrow following the replacement of five tubes. Also at the city hall their cost from nature, welding of the apparatus, tubes and installation. Work of replacement has been carried on continually by Chas. Ellwyn and Jack Rollin since the break.

FEW DUPLICATION IN GIFTS EXPECTED

Families on relief lists of this city will not be overlooked at Christmas time and will share in the usual seasonal goodies enjoyed by their more fortunate brethren if the efforts of the Belleville Relief office are successful. In this work of providing extra articles for the tenants and the home on that day work of the relief office has often been lightened by various church, society, fraternal and benevolent organizations, who assume charge on this important work. Through a check of the lists of those who will benefit, duplication of gifts is expected to be largely avoided.

PRESTO MUSICAL CLUB HOLD SOCIAL EVENING

The Presto Musical Club met on Monday evening at the home of Mrs. R. J. Brown, Catherine street. A program of Christmas music was rendered by members. The guest artist, Mr. William Connor, a former member of the club, played Liszt's 19th rhapsodie and Grainger's arrangement of "Country Gardens and Song". At the end of the program several carols were sung by the entire club. Delicious refreshments were served.

CAPITOL
NOW PLAYING
TWO GREAT PICTURES
The "Cuckoos" in the Darkest Egypt!
They feared the curse of Pharaoh, but they wouldn't let love's flames die!
Bert Wheeler
Robert Woolsey
in MUMMY'S BOYS
ADDED ATTRACTION
The gripping thrilling football drama to years!
THE BIG GAME
With
Wild 2 college stars on the plays that made them great!
FRIDAY NITE ON OUR STAGE AT 8:15 — AUCTION NITE — Don't fail to be on hand to try to buy SANTA CLAUS.

It Pays to Shop at the Rexall Store
Betty Ann Candy
WONDERFUL CENTRES TASTY COATING
2 LBS. 1.00 WHY PAY MORE?
1 LB. 50c
McKeown's DRUG STORE

Furs RE-PAIRED RE-STYLED RE-LINED
R. A. BACKUS EXPERT FURRIER
39 Bridge St. W. Belleville

Mr. and Mrs. Johnstone's SOCIAL CLASS
will dance the
Old Year Out and New Year In, December 31st.
Your friends and visitors will be welcome.
Wishing you all a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.

CLARE'S
TAXI
— 4 — HEATED CARS — 4 —
24-Hour Service
Phone
196
Clare Drive With Care

THE CHRISTMAS GIFT

THE NEW FUR COAT — THE NEW MUFF — THE NEW FUR HAT

R. A. BACKUS EXPERT FURRIER
39 Bridge W. Belleville Ont.

WILL TAKE OATH FOR SECOND TIME

Officers and ranks of the newly formed Tank Battalion of this city will not swear their fealty to the King George VI until formal for this purpose are received from Ottawa, it was stated by Lt.-Col. C. Gribble this morning. It will be the second time within a year that officers and men of the Belleville Militia have sworn their oath of allegiance to a new ruler.

THIRTEEN BROWNIES ARE ENROLLED

Thirteen Brownies were enrolled at last week's meeting of the Brownies of Company Three which preceded the annual Christmas party. A large number of mothers were present and greatly enjoyed the interesting ceremony. The candidates were enrolled by Brownies Joyce Fraser, Lillian Jeffs, Jean Brown, Betty Ling, and Elizabeth Keeler.

Those enrolling were Gwen Jenkins, Olive Smith, Mildred Newton, Mary Jackson, Muriel Robins, Betty Ashbury, Florence Newton, Betty Demarr, Doris Kennedy, Noreen Moreau, Eleanor Waddell, Yvonne Keeler and Christie Cronin.

NO ARRANGEMENTS TO FEED TRANSIENTS

No arrangements will be made to provide transients with a Christmas meal in Belleville, local police authorities stated today. "Although it might be fitting to add such a gesture at this time of the year, the department feels that by affording transients a special Christmas meal it might tend to increase their numbers coming into Belleville. There has been a marked decrease in the number of transients stopping in Belleville ever since we discontinued providing meals for transients at the police stations," revealed Chief Kidd today as he intimated no effort would be made to encourage the return of these persons to Belleville.

SOME FAMILIES ARE LIKELY TO EAT OUT

Notwithstanding the fact that the sale of turkeys, geese, chickens and ducks will likely exceed by a large margin, that of previous years, many families of the city will pass up the time honored custom of the preparation of the Christmas dinner and dine at the many hotels and restaurants of the city.

Hotel and restaurant proprietors are making elaborate preparations for the accommodation of a large number of Christmas Day guests and today report an excellent advance sale or reservations for the holiday. While many people will wait until evening for the festive meal, the greater majority will eat their turkey at the noon hour, according to one prominent city restaurateur.

No Garbage Collection On Christmas Day

Garbage men of the city will enjoy a full holiday on Christmas Day in keeping with tradition, it was announced today by Alderman Thos. Cushing, chairman of the board of works of the party. This follows the policy of giving every city employee where possible, an opportunity to enjoy also this day, it was stated.

CHRISTMAS MUSIC AT ST. THOMAS' CHURCH

Under the direction of Prof. Wheeling, the Choir of St. Thomas' Church will render the following Christmas music:

Choral Celebrations
(Thursday Midnight)
Introit: "Unto us a Child is Given" (Harker)
Offertory: Sanctus (Gounod)
Sunday Evensong
The Nativity in Prayer and Song
1. Christmas Carillon of Bruges
2. French Traditional Carol
(R. Terry)
3. 17 Century German Carol
(Cuthbert Harris)
4. Italian Carol
5. The First Christmas Morn
(Newton)
6. Hallelujah Chorus
(Handel)

POLICE BLOTTER

Local news dealers are complaining to police regarding the pilfering of their newspaper bundles these cold snappy mornings. According to one local person unknown cut open the bundles of morning papers and helped themselves to the daily news without leaving behind the conventional "penny." The papers are extracted from the bundles, that are left in front of the news stands by the delivery truck in the early hours of the morning. The night constables have been instructed to keep watch for these reported petty thieves and endeavour to apprehend the culprits if the reports are found to be of an authentic nature.

Shoppers, apparently excited through the hurry and blurry of the Christmas shopping season, repeatedly leave their hand bags and other parcels in local stores and forget them, local police revealed today. A "general lament" of reports regarding people losing or mislaying parcels, purses and handbags are being received in this year, stated Chief Kidd this morning as he pointed to four cases of missing articles and purses being reported to Belleville yesterday. The police endeavour to try to locate these missing articles, but owing to the lack of owners are at a loss to know where the goods were laid down. Investigations are rather difficult, police added.

No arrests were necessary in Belleville during the past 24 hours, activities being quiet and serene in local police circles. Also a falling off of transients applying for night's lodging was noted last night, seven signing up for same.

PAYS RATES EARLIEST FOR TEN YEAR PERIOD

Leamington, Ont., Dec. 23.—(CP) —For the first time in ten years, Mersea Township will have paid its county rates amounting to $88,- 527.70 before the end of the year, Treasurer L. Wade pointed out here today in releasing the Township's financial statement.

The Township's assets amount to $260,868.25, the statement reveals. Its assessable liabilities of $160,706.86 by same $99,370.25.

Postal Staff, Extras Work Long After Dark, Before Dawn

16 Assistants Join to Aid Distribution of Mountains of Mail

GREATEST IN HISTORY

Full Service is Given by All Departments on Christmas Day

A hive of bustling activity, men hunched over tables and desks, their fingers flying as they sorted stack upon stack of letters. Stamping machines whirring and humming ceaselessly and stamping letters averaging forty-five thousand daily; on the floor men were crouched over huge piles of packages, sorting and changing, moving dizzying but orderly into neat piles for distribution. Bags of mail awaiting sorting and finish hustle swift quiet but calm efficiency as trained fingers fairly fly in their efforts to give the public one of its greatest services. That was the scene which met the eyes of a representative of the Ontario Intelligencer at an early hour this morning.

So heavy has been the mail in the Belleville Post Office during the Christmas rush that sixteen extra men, all eligible employees of the Civil Service, have been rushed to the scene. And these men started themselves so quickly that at the hours they were working with the efficiency of the older employees.

Extra forms have been inserted, clerks stand quietly at their various tasks sorting and filing, assisted by an efficient manner, letters and parcels bound for all parts of the globe. In the outer office an extra postal box has been installed to take care of city mail.

Letter-Carriers Heroes

And those unsung heroes of the Postal Department, the letter-carriers have been doing yeoman service since the first appearance of the holiday rush. Rising to work as early as two in the morning these men work quietly all their seemingly impossible task. From that hour until noon they labor so that the public will suffer no inconvenience in the delivery of the Christmas mail.

Outside in the city, street deliveries are made in packs, all through the night men dash out to relieve the overtaxed street postal boxes. Within the hour, the boxes are cleared again. And all through the night, faithful police serve this labor, each duty overstalling with the other to give the public its mail service on time.

So rushed have been the members of the staff that five extra day employees were needed to augment the night staff in order to relieve the congestion.

Parcels and mail coming from other countries were sorted and speedily sorted and taken care of by the local Customs office staff who were at their work as early as six o'clock in the morning.

Rural mail carriers struggled through huge piles of mail, working overtime for hours to serve the rural residents their Christmas letters and parcels on time.

Mr. J. V. O. Trudell, Postmaster of the City of Belleville, stated this morning that the immense rush of letters received at the Postoffice on Monday of this week is a record never received in the history of the office. Local residents in an orgy of Christmas card mailing have left a stamp capacity of the office to the limit.

"There will be full service in all departments of the Post Office on Christmas Day," he said. "This holiday has been cancelled by order of the Postmaster General and the public therefore will receive that service on all days of the year.

9 Year Boy, Sister Run in Front of Car

Leamington, Ont., Dec. 23—(CP) —Two children were confined to the hospital here today after being struck by an automobile outside their home near Kingsville last night.

Nine-year-old Leland Stockford is suffering multiple fractures of the left leg and bruises about the head. His two-year-old sister, Ruth, has concussion and undetermined head injuries. They are children of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stockford, Cosfield South Township.

Investigation revealed the children ran from behind the rear of a truck of a machine driven by Mrs. Harry Bell of Colchester. Mrs. Bell was not held.

Turkeys Sell in Wide Range Prices Vary 23 to 32 Cents Lb.

Plenty of Fowl Reported Throughout Entire Province

SOME 'LOW' FIGURES

By The Canadian Press

As "gobble, gobble" was soon to be translated from barnyard to dinner table, a survey of the Christmas turkey situation in Canada today revealed the king of yuletide birds selling as low as 23 cents a pound, as high as 32. Guelph reported the widest price range.

Quality of turkeys this season is exceptionally good. T. A. Benson, senior poultryman at the Dominion Experimental Farm, Lacombe, Alta., was an indication of better feeding and care of the birds, even though feed prices were high. Choice birds sold in Toronto at an average of 29 cents, compared with 34 last year.

Guelph reported that merchants would decorate Christmas tables there than in several years as deals are announced from 23 cents per lb. from five to seven cents below last year's current prices ranged from 25 to 32. Choice birds sold at 25 cents in Brockville, but there were grade 2's jobs hast as low as 21 cents.

Other Ontario prices:

Brantford, supply plentiful, 25 to 27 cents; Woodstock, 23 to 28, ducks and geese, 20 cents, chickens, 30 to 32; Galt, going fast at 30, some stores 25; geese, 23 to 28, more plentiful than turkeys; Stratford, ten vendor offering at 15 cents a pound; hot sellers, 27 to 30; geese, 16 to 19; ducks, 30; milk-fed chickens, 32; demand slow, market "literally swamped with fowl"; North Bay, 25 to 30; St. Thomas 26 to 30; "lots of them"; Sarnia 25 to 28.

'Appulse' of Moon Seen on December 27

Sky watchers of this city and district, favored with clear weather conditions and a cloudless sky will have the opportunity to witness a rare and interesting lunar event known as an appulse of the moon, scheduled for the evening of December 27. This near eclipse is not as spectacular as an eclipse, and the moon does not come into the real shadow of the earth, but merely into the penumbra, or partial shadow, according to a scientific definition. Two days prior to the appulse, namely on Christmas Day, the moon will come closer to the earth than at any other period of the year.

MISSING BOY FOUND

Kitchener, Ont., Dec. 23.—(CP) —According to information here today, Donald Steinmetz, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Steinmetz, missing since Friday, was found in Detroit visiting with friends.

TURKEY DINNER
50c
CHRISTMAS DAY
NOON TO MIDNITE
ALL THE FIXIN'S
NEW SERVICE LUNCH
Opposite Capitol Theatre

JUST A FEW
LAST MINUTE SUGGESTIONS
FOR THE BUSY SHOPPER
KODAKS
PIPES
CIGARETTES
CIGARS
PERFUMES
TOILET WATERS
Shaving Brushes & Sets
ROLLS RAZORS
NEILSON'S CANDY
FOUNTAIN PENS
and Many Items Too Numerous to Mention.
SCHRYVER'S PHARMACY

HERE'S A GIFT THOUGHT
English Fireproof TEAPOTS
Have You Seen Our Gift Suggestions in Electrical Goods?
John Lewis Co.
265 Front Street BELLEVILLE

Pop Corn
FOR XMAS
WHITE, BLACK and YELLOW
All Guaranteed to Pop
2 lbs. 25c
BISHOP'S SEED STORE
173 FRONT ST. PHONE 283

Obituary

GEORGE MANLEY SHORTT (Rawdon)

After a brief illness George Manley Shortt passed away at the old homestead on the 10th. concession of Rawdon Township, near Springbrook, on Monday, Dec. 21st.

The late Mr. Shortt, who was in his 84th. year, was born in Prince Edward County. When an infant he went with his parents to Rawdon and Mr. Shortt spent practically all of his long and useful life with Rawdon people. His parents were the late Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Shortt. Mr. Shortt was engaged in farming for many years, but some time he was a member of the Belleville Choose Board. In religion he was a prominent member of the Society of Brethren. By all who knew him he was most highly esteemed.

Surviving him are two sons, Mr. George W. Shortt of the 2nd. concession of Rawdon Township and Mr. Mark E. Shortt on the old homestead in Rawdon township; one daughter, Mrs. William Stiles of Rawdon Township.

The funeral will take place this Wednesday afternoon from his late residence to Nicholson Church where service was conducted by Mr. Irving of the Society of Brethren, Hamilton.

Interment was made in Rylstone cemetery.

JOHN J. GEARY

John Joseph Geary home address Belleville, died at Kingston on Tuesday, Dec. 22nd. He had been in failing health for some time.

The late Mr. Geary, who was in his 43rd. year, was born at Belleville, his parents being the late Mr. Surveying him are one son, Mr. J. H. Geary of Hornell, N. Y., and one brother, Mr. William H. Geary of Belleville.

The body of the late Mr. Geary is resting at the Mark Marsh Funeral Home, Church Street. The funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this paper.

LATE THOMAS F. K. ROBINSON

The funeral of Thomas F. K. Robinson took place from his late residence, 20 West Bridge St., Saturday afternoon. Service was conducted by the Rev. W. Bowbrick of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Belleville, at the home and the graveside in the Evergreen Cemetery, Tyrelon. The funeral was under the auspices of the Masonic fraternity and the last rites were conducted at the home and at the graveside.

The many beautiful floral tributes marked the esteem in which the late Mr. Robinson was held. Police officials from many parts of Eastern Ontario were present. The Ontario Provincial Police, of District No. 4, headquarters at Belleville, acted as a guard of honor for their late fellow-constable and were headed by Inspector Dyer, C. D. Toronto, Inspector F. Gardner and Sergeant Thompson of Belleville. Included in the motorcycle patrolmen, headed by Inspector Sid Hunter of Belleville, present at the funeral while a detachment of Royal Canadian Mounted Police, in dress uniform and headed by Sergeant Moore, were in attendance. The Belleville Police Department, Chief Kidd and all officers, also Trenton, Tweed, Picton, Napanee and Deseronto were present to pay their last respects to a departed fellow-constable and friend of many years.

The Masonic funeral services were conducted by Worshipful Master Chamberlain, Fred Chapman and Albert Chapman of Belleville. There were all members of the fraternity and were Messrs P. Chapman, F. Chamberlain, Geo. Hall, Wm. Hope McGinnis; Geo. Papadakis and K. J. Odling.

LATE FRANCIS GRAHAM

The funeral of Francis Graham, late of Big Island, Prince Edward County, took place Tuesday afternoon from the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home, Campbell Street. Service in the chapel and at the graveside in Belleville conducted was conducted by the Rev. L. E. Wight of Bellecroft. During the service in the chapel a vocal duet entitled "Safe in the Arms" was rendered by Miss Agnes Caughey and Mr. William Caughey.

The bearers were, Messrs. Nelson Schryver, Sherman Mills, I. Nightingale, A. Shih, J. Ketcheson and J. Rapson.

LATE JAMES ALBERT CLAPPER

Tuesday morning the funeral of James Albert Clapper took place from the residence of his sister Mrs. R. Hinds, 81 Station Street. The service in the home and at the graveside in Belleville cemetery was conducted by the Rev. J. G. Richardson of the Bridge Street Temple.

The bearers were Messrs. D. Fredrick, J. Robinson, J. Mayhew, I. Connors, A. Meeks and William Dumble.

POLITICIAN CROPS WOOD AT 78

Yellow Springs, O., Dec. 23.—(AP)—Twelve days ago Simeon Dawson, 78, one of Ohio's and the United States leading Republican political figures, observed his 78th birthday by chopping wood.

Free appeared in good health at his home here and said he will set to "carry on" a militant fight against the new deal. Twenty-two years a member of Congress from the Yellow Springs district, a relentless critic of the Roosevelt administration.

NOTICE
Municipal elections are near at hand and I wish to take this opportunity of thanking all the electors who have supported me during the past three years. During this time I have always endeavored to serve this city to the best of my ability and if I have made any mistakes they were not done intentionally.
During the past year a great deal of my time has been taken up with fraternal and service organization work and along with City Council work I found that I could not do justice to the different offices that I was honored with; so I have decided that at least for a couple of years I would have to drop out of City Council work, which I have so thoroughly enjoyed during this time.
Once more I wish to express my appreciation to the electors who supported me in the past, and wishing you all A Merry Christmas and A Happy and Prosperous New Year.
Alderman Frank Domenico

People do want
Laura Secords
2763 Pounds Received
AND WE HAVE ORDERED MORE TO-DAY.
We cannot promise 3-lb., 4-lb. and 5-lb. boxes unless you order now. Pay when you call for them.
1 SINGLE LB. 60c. 2 or More 1-lb. Boxes 50c each
Half Lb. 30c; 2-lb. $1.00; 3-lb. $1.50;
4-lb. $2.00; 5-lb. $2.50.
LAURA SECORDS — As Necessary as the Turkey
DOLAN, the Druggist
Phone 128

ENTIRE STOCK OF DOLL CARRIAGES
½ Price
STROUD'S

B-E-L-L-E Today & Thursday
IN AFRICAN JUNGLES!
CAUGHT IN THE NET OF THE MOST DEADLY CREATURE TO DESTROY!
WARNER BAXTER and JUNE LANG
The White Hunter
GAIL PATRICK
SEE THESE HIT PLAYERS IN THEIR LATEST HIT!
Luckiest GIRL in the WORLD
JANE WYATT LOUIS HAYWARD
This Feat: 2.45, 7.15, 9.30
Shows Start: 2.00, 7.00, 9.00
GRIPPING ADVENTURE and ROMANCE
HURRY! LAST DAY KING EDWARD'S FAREWELL BROADCAST ON THE SCREEN!

Xmas Day-Saturday-Monday
AS FULL OF SURPRISES AS A SLEIGH LOAD OF GIFT PACKAGES !
HEAR Ching-Ching SING!
Shirley TEMPLE in STOWAWAY with Robert YOUNG Alice FAYE
EUGENE PALLETTE

THE IDEAL CHRISTMAS GIFT!
THEATRE TICKETS
In Gift Envelopes Now on Sale!

CAPITOL
PONY CONTEST
RESULTS
—announced from our stage THURSDAY AFTERNOON at 2:45 p.m.

JURY SAYS WOUND SELF-INFLICTED

Adjourned Hearing Into Death of F. P. Robinson Is Completed

The verdict rendered by the coroner's jury, empanelled to look into the death of the late Provincial Constable Thos. P. Robinson, found that the deceased man came to his death on December 20th in the Ontario Province.' Police offices as the result of a gun shot wound in the head, which was self-inflicted, at an adjourned hearing held before Chief Coroner Dr. F. G. Wallbridge in the local police court rooms last evening. The investigation was conducted by R. C. Donnan, K. C., County Crown Attorney.

Dr. R. S. McCrady was the first "find" chief witness called, Dr. McCrady having been summoned to perform an autopsy and also to take x-ray pictures of the deceased on Sunday last. Producing x-ray photographs, taken of the fractured skull of the deceased, Dr. McCrady stated two scalp wounds were evident, but only one penetration of the skull. The cranium sustained a compound fracture.

"When the bullet struck the cranium it split into two pieces, the major portion lodging in the skull and causing the fracture, while the broken fragments came out of the scalp, thereby causing two scalp wounds, but only one penetration of the skull. The major part of the bullet was found lodged over the left eye," stated Dr. McCrady.

"What is your personal opinion as to how the bullet was fired?" asked Mr. Donnan.

"Should I give personal opinions?" asked the witness of Coroner Wallbridge.

When the answer came in the affirmative, Dr. McCrady stated he was of the opinion the wound was self-inflicted. "What was the cause of death?" asked Mr. Donnan.

"The destruction and disorganization of the brain resulting from the discharge of a bullet in the cranium" was the reply.

Found By Caretaker

Wm. Styles, janitor of the Chamber of Commerce Building in which the O.P.P. offices are situated, told of finding the slumped body of the deceased in his office on Sunday morning and of notifying Inspector Gardner. P. C. Arnott told of seeing the deceased at 12.45 a.m. Dec. 20th. "He seemed in good spirits," stated the witness.

Inspector Gardner, in charge of the O.P.P. for this district, reverted to the late Constable Robinson as a good, thorough and competent officer. The witness identified the deceased man's service revolver, which was found at his feet with one bullet discharged and five live shells. The witness could give no reason as to the action of the deceased. He came to me in quest of a loan from the department some six weeks ago, but that department had ceased to function and I heard no further mention of the matter. He wanted the loan of $300.00, he said," stated Inspector Gardner. As he produced the note written in long hand and addressed to Inspector Gardner, the note was read which instructed his superior official to pay off a list of debts and to turn over the insurance to his wife. The list of debts was itemized and included in the note. Chief Kidd told of seeing the deceased at 11.30 p.m. Saturday night. "He seemed quite natural by me of late," stated the witness.

The coroner's jury empanelled by Sergeant Booth consisted of the following:—C. Bowman, foreman, H. Beleman, M. W. Barlow, W. Marshall, N. Wilbur, J. W. Barlow, E. McCormick and C. Chesseman.

DISTRICT THROWN OPEN

Toronto, Dec. 23.—(CP)—Six million cords of pulpwood in an isolated section of the Long Lake district of Northwestern Ontario are to be thrown open to cutting following an agreement between the Ontario government and Pulpwood Supply Company, a new organization. Eventually the administration hopes to realize revenue of between $6,000,000 and $8,000,000 from the concession.

Program of the company, Premier Hepburn said last night in announcing the agreement, is that 1,000,000 will be taken out during first year of operations and 3,000 men will be employed. Later, he expected, the cut and employment would be increased.

Serve it at Home with festive holiday food

For the holiday festivities, remember to include the zeste that refreshes with ice-cold "Coca-Cola". A drink so delicious by itself—is the natural partner of good things to eat . . . and so easy to serve. The life and sparkle of ice-cold "Coca-Cola" adds wholesome cheer to any occasion . . . everyone welcomes it.

The handy 6-bottle carton is an easy way to buy "Coca-Cola". Ice-cold "Coca-Cola" is everywhere else; it belongs in your refrigerator at home.

The Coca-Cola Company of Canada, Limited

Grocers, confectioners and druggists everywhere sell the

Special Holiday Package
6 BOTTLES 27¢

DRINK Coca-Cola

C-6

HITLER, GOEBBELS PLAY SANTA CLAUS

Three Million German Children Fondle Toys

Berlin, Dec. 23—(CP-Havas)—Three million German children played happily today with Christmas gifts distributed to them under the auspices of Chancellor Hitler, while propaganda Minister Goebbels in a rapid "fireside talk" last night presented the Reichstucher in the role of Santa Claus.

He said Germany had become "a calm and happy land of peace," in a "world where hate, disorder and struggle reign."

The 3,000,000 gift package were bought by the proceeds from "National Solidarity Day" during which the highest-ranking government and party leaders collected alms in the streets of Germany.

Charge French Paper Published False News

Paris, Dec. 23—(CP-Havas)—The French government yesterday proceeded against the Echo de Paris, rightist newspaper, for publishing a report that Pierre Cot, air minister, had delivered a million pounds to French fighting plane to Barcelona.

The air ministry immediately requested the Justice ministry to seek prosecution of the newspaper for publication of false news.

The general committee of French Press Associations, headed by Paul Scraus, meanwhile sent a delegation to appear before the Senate Civil Legislation Committee to propose a substitute for article 27 of Premier Blum's new press bill. The article deals with false news.

55 MILLION TONS OF FREIGHT CARRIED

Amherstburg, Ont., Dec. 23—(CP) —A total of 55 million tons of freight, with a value of nearly $1,- 300,000,000 was carried past and passed the port of Amherstburg during the 1935 navigation season. Number of vessels to pass the Detroit river port, 18 miles south of Windsor, was 21,747, exclusive of passenger and pleasure craft. Principal cargoes carried were coal, ore, automobiles and grain.

FRENCH POLICE WANT AVIATRIX RETURNED

London, Dec. 23—(AP)—French police requested Scotland Yard today to return Mme. Marie Schemeder to France to face charges of shooting Pierre L'Allemand, her flight companion, over Villacoublay Sunday.

British authorities said Mme. Schemeder, wife of a wealthy French machine manufacturer, would probably be brought from Selsey, Sussex, where she is recovering after crashing her plane in a field, to London for an extradition hearing.

WIFE OF KAI-SHEK FLIES TO HIS PRISON

Nanking, Dec. 25—(AP)—The wife of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shak flew to her husband's prison today for what was possibly a final effort to secure the captive leader's freedom.

The conviction was growing no end to Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang's rebellion to force war against Japan was in sight.

PARIS JURIST DIES

Paris, Dec. 23—(CP-Havas)—Eugene Dreyfus, 73, first president of the Paris Court of Appeals died today. He presided in 1923 at the trial of Paul Gorguloff, assassin of President Paul Doumer.

BULOVA WATCHES

Miss America
24.75
Lady Maxim
Goddess of Time

Canadian Clipper, Ambassador, Phantom

Lorie Watches! Waltham and Elgin Watches

Monroe Watches, 15 jewels
Men's and Ladies'
10.00
We Guarantee All Watches

Electric Razors
PACKARD
16.50
Automatic Electric Tolerator
6.50
works with a tiny battery

EMBLEM RINGS, DIAMOND SET SIGNET RINGS
BIRTHSTONE RINGS and DIAMOND RINGS

Fancy Book Ends, Toilet Sets, Pen and Pencil Sets, Clocks of All Descriptions

WISHING ALL OUR PATRONS A VERY MERRY CHRISTMAS!
J.O.R.
McCurdy
PHONE 518 224 FRONT ST.

CHARGE INDIAN WITH SPEARING

Pursuit of Brother to be Postponed Until After Christmas

Lindsay, Ont., Dec. 23—(CP)—Authorities announced today Albert Taylor, 20-year-old Indian from Curved Lake Reserve, will appear tomorrow on a charge of spearing muskrat and a search in the bush for Noah Taylor, 46, his brother, would be postponed until after Christmas.

Russell Rainsford, Deputy Game Warden, captured Albert Saturday after a battle with both Taylors in the ice near the summer home of Mr. Joseph Flavelle.

With Rainsford, Stanley Curtiss, the warden had seen the two Indians eating down the lake ice carrying spears and knapsacks. Albert Taylor was arrested after the two shots were fired by the warden but Noah escaped in the woods. A search for him had been planned. It will only start next week.

MARMORA

Marmora—St. Paul's A. Y. P. A. held a business meeting in the Parish Hall on Monday. The sum of five dollars was voted to the Mission Funds of the Church and further plans were made for the debate which will be held with the Young Men's Club of St. Andrew's United Church.

At the regular meeting of Marmora A. Y. P. A. on Monday evening, Bro. R. E. Bonter was elected Master for the following year.

Other principal officers elected were:

W. M.—Bro. R. E. Bonter.
I. P. M.—Wor. Bro. J. A. Rice.
S. W.—Bro. G. Perry.
J. W.—Bro. F. B. Cheeseman.

Chaplain—Wor. Bro. E. C. Prentice.

Treasurer—Wor. Bro. F. K. Wells
Secretary—Right Wor. Bro. Clifford Bunkard.
Tyler—Bro. G. Kerr.

The remaining officers will be appointed at the January meeting when the installation will take place.

Mr. Burnett Bunkard who attends Pickering College, Pickering, is spending the Christmas holidays with his parents Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Bunkard, Deloro.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Simmons and family visited the former's parents Mr. and Mrs. S. Simmons at Hillier on Sunday.

Mr. J. A. Courtney of Toronto was a visitor to the village on Monday.

Mr. Dan Paquet of Kewagama, Que., returned to his home on Tuesday to spend Christmas holidays with his parents Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Paquet, Deloro.

TOMATO GROWERS WILL ORGANIZE

Movement is Under Way to Protect Growers as to Prices

Essex, Ont., Dec. 23—(CP)—To protect Ontario tomato growers, a move is underway to organize an association, and to this end representatives from each tomato growing area will meet at Queen's Park, Toronto, Dec. 31.

The plan was outlined by W. R. Thomson, Commissioner of Industry for Ontario, who addressed members of the Essex County Canners' Committee here last night. He said many complaints have been received from growers as to unsatisfactory prices paid last year.

Growers were alarmed, he said, because some canning factories were contracting already at prices actually below the cost of production. In the past, contracts have usually been made in late February or early March.

This year, however, Mr. Somerset contended, some companies, anticipating the effort by growers to obtain higher prices, are attempting to stall them off by contracting weeks ahead of the usual time.

Average cost of producing tomatoes in Essex County was $78.40 an acre, it was said, while the average yield of 250 bushels at 30 cents a bushel, the grower received a loss of $3.40 on every acre he grew.

J. Rimel, Pasquette; N. Rugabar, Maidstone, and J. Alfred Brown, Stoney Point, were appointed Essex County delegates to the Toronto meeting.

REDNERSVILLE

Redtersville, Dec. 23.—Mrs. Maines received the sad news of the death of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Foster Maines, Toronto, last Sunday morning. Mrs. Maines and Mr. A. E. Phillips accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ward motored to Toronto that day. Mrs. Maines remaining with her son and family for a time.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Ward were callers at Mr. Harold Ward's last Wednesday night.

Mr. W. H. Farley, Frankford, and Mr. Pat Dixon, Belleville, visited Mr. Harry Farley Friday.

Mr. Albert Snell is sick.

Mrs. Wright of Fort-Hope is staying with her sister, Mrs. A. Snell.

Mrs. Fred Ladley, Belleville, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Smith, Wednesday.

Mrs. Jones entertained the elderly ladies on Friday at the dinner hour.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Brickman, Victoria, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Wess, Sunday.

Mr. R. F. Hicks was a dinner guest of Mr. Wallace Simpson on Sunday.

Mr. Harold Wannamaker and young son came from Belleville Hospital on Monday.

Miss Marie Stafford of Albert College is spending the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Q. Stafford.

Little Benny's Note Book

Pop was smoking and thinking in his private chair and ma said, Pop is the most intelligent person at the bridge club this afternoon, Willyum Shakespeer all over the far flung corners of the world like Pop's intelligence. Pop said, I wish if there's any lurkishing site anywhere that she hasn't seen, it's not my fault. Ma said, Pop, your first name is Mrs. Dumbiasi, ma said.

Pop said, Shakespeer's name is reeve that behind her, even though she's dead, she's still going to the wind on the China Clipper, pop said, and ma said, Just imagine, Willyum, peacefully visiting all the famous geographical cities that most people only vaguely read about and have a hard time finding on the map. Pop, how even round the rounds of the far east, imagine that, Willyum, China and Japan, with their quaint ways, ma said.

Peekin and Tokio are 2 cities that I have always had a fascynay for ma, pop said, Did she have anything for to say about Peekin and Tokio? he said, and ma said, Well I should say she did the most extraordinary things and sensations. She told me it's almost impossible to get a private bathroom in Moscow, and there's not a reasonably priced hotel wurthy of the name, ma said.

She seems to be a remarkable woman, with what you mite call the historical view point, pop said, and ma said, O yes, she didn't miss a thing, and told me pop you can get lovely modern accomodations in London hotels, if you want to pay enough, although in the restaurants if you shut your eyes you can tell what you're eating, and she told me there's hardly a shower bath in the whole of Paris, although you can get a perfect omelet practically every corner. Why Willyum Potts, do you call that politic? she said.

Pop took no account of pop being in back of the sporting page.

(Copyright, 1935.)

OFFER FROM YOUNG MARSHAL

Peiping, Dec. 23—(AP)—A repulsed offer from Chang Hsueh-liang to "submit to any punishment Nanking decrees" if Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek "will only adopt a policy of resistance to our foe" was circulated in this ancient capital today.

There was no official confirmation.

REALLY WORTHWHILE!
Gifts for only $2.50
FOR EVERY MAN ON YOUR CHRISTMAS LIST

Gillette Blade Gift Package—Fifty Blue Gillette blades (10 individual packages of 5's) in a beautiful Christmas wrapping. A great present that means months of shaving comfort for any man. Price $2.50.

YOU can't go wrong when you select one of these handsome and practical men's gifts by Gillette. Each is attractively packaged—and each contains months of real shaving comfort for husband, sweetheart, dad or brother. See these fine, yet inexpensive gifts at your dealer's Now!

Canadian Gift Package—Contains a handsome gold-plated Gillette Razor and blade container in a sturdy overall case, covered with a beautiful leather grain material. Also 25 Blue Gillette blades. A gift any man will appreciate. Price $2.50.

GILLETTE SAFETY RAZOR CO. OF CANADA, LTD.

MIKE CAME TO THE RESCUE WHEN DUCKLINGS' MOTHER DUCKED

A supreme exhibition of "Father Love" is being given here by "Mike" an unpedigreed fellow who has taken charge of a family of four pretty, funny ducklings. The ducklings' ma dodged her responsibility soon after they were hatched, and "Mike" moved by the spirit of the season, has assumed the duties of guardian of the new barnyard arrivals. His guards them day and night, and seems not to mind at all when his charges, the children, come back for a skl slide.

—Central Press Canadian Photo

GIFTS — DOLAN'S

MEN'S RAZORS and SHAVING SETS

Packard Electric	$16.50
Hanley Electric	12.50
Rolls	10.00
Williamson	8.50
Gillette	4.50
Gillette Set	3.50
Schick	1.00

BLUE BLADES

48 for	50c
100 for	1.10

FRENCH SOAPS

50c, 75c, $1.00

$1.25, $2.00

ELECTRIC HEATING PAD

$3.95.

YARDLEY SETS

85c to $10.00

TWEED COLOGNE
The Perfume Sensation
90c; $1.10; $1.35; $2.25;
$4.50

RARE PERFUMES
—Chanel Number 5
—My Sin
—Shalimar
—Cordays
—Houbigant's
—Coty's
—Yardley's
Small Bottles of the Finest odors produced in France

CUTEX SETS GLAZO SETS

35c; 65c; $1.00; $1.25; $1.75; $2.25; $3.50; $4.25

These will please any lady.

EVENING IN PARIS
Toilet Water 50c
Sets ..... 85c to $5.00

LAURA SECORDS
Why pay as much for chocolates not bearing this mark of quality, wholesomeness and freshness.

1 POUND 60c
2 in 1 pound box ..... 65c each.
3-lb, 4, 5 and 5-lb. boxes
at 50c the pound
What would Christmas be without Turkey and Laura Secords

CIGARETTE CASES
90c; $1.45; $2.90; $4.50; $5.80

CIGARETTE VANITIES
$4.50 and $5.00

COMPACTS
See our Beauties.

PENCIL CASES FOR SCHOOL
Latest from New York.
Purse style, silk cases
25c 50c 85c

We Have a Few LADIES'
Dresserware
Sets
YOU CAN HAVE at a BARGAIN

Committee by DU-BARRY, VITA RAY, DELCANO and INNOXA

SEE OUR WINDOWS, THEN STEP INSIDE AND SEE OUR BEAUTIFUL DISPLAYS AND LOW PRICES

DOLAN The Druggist

THE ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER

THE DAILY ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER is published every afternoon (Sunday and holidays excepted) at the Ontario Intelligencer Building, 128 Front Street, Belleville.

W. R. MORTON, PUBLISHER

TYPICAL CHRISTMAS SETTING

Typical winter weather ushers in the season of Christmas, the cold causing the ears to tingle and the snow covering the landscape. Christmases without these have been known but they seem strange for all the traditional celebrations of the north are associated with the warmth of the fireside, contrasted with the cold without, rich colors of green and red and all the dazzling decorations of home interiors at Christmastide as opposed to the general spread of spotless snow with the greyish browns of the bark of trees and the distant green of the evergreens, which show above the snow's wrappings.

It is in this setting that the festival is nearly always celebrated. Take Christmas cold and Christmas snow, take Christmas merriment out of the winter time and it would be bare. It is the approach of Christmas which makes the late autumn and winter so attractive in anticipation.

Some of the ideas of old have gone from Christmas however. Little is heard of the jingle of the bells which seemed to bounce with festal joy from the noble backs of horses delighting in the brisk Christmas Day air, runners and sleds which used to carry happy folk to the festivities, sleigh boxes filled to overflowing with well-muffled celebrating folk in town and country are largely gone from their stead is the iron horse, known as a motor engine, the runners are wheels, and the cutter or sleigh boxes a motorcar tonneau and the folk less bundled up because they no longer face the open air in the trip to the turkey and goose dinner and the cranberry sauce and all the other confections which have clustered about this feast.

But still it is Christmas whatever the outward changes. Nature is the same and man is the same. He looks for the same nature and is not disappointed.

CBC PLANS

Announcement that efforts are to be made to provide national programs of a distinctly Canadian tone and atmosphere over the Canadian broadcasting chain with universal acceptance. These are to take three forms, two, topical, will include the Canadian industrial scene in mines, lumberwoods the far north, and every shade of Canadian activity. The life of the Mounted Police will be illustrated by a series. Historical series will deal with reminiscences of the outstanding Canadians of days ago.

So great is the task before the CBC that the programs are to be the growth of three to five years before they reach their finishes as seen from today.

The banning of religious strife on the broadcasts will bewelcomed for despite the interest of those from behind these broadcasts there is no demand for them from the people. As explained in the announcement, "sermons and talks about religion will have to be confined to positive pleadings for the cause being promoted by the speakers. Attacks on other faiths or creeds or sects or persons will not be permitted."

The radio is today a great factor in civilization and no country can afford to neglect it. The possibilities in radio engineering improvement are large but they are large in the expansion of interest served by broadcasting.

FINDING POSITIONS

One of the most certain evidences of the economic recovery is the fact that graduates of universities and collegiate and other schools are finding greater opportunities for employment. In some of the American colleges at least eighty-five per cent have found positions mainly along the lines for which they have been studying during their college courses. In some as high as ninety per cent have found places in which to earn a living. Whether these jobs are as good as jobs were ten years ago is difficult to say. But at least the wheels of industry generally are turning, which is quite a different story from what was told in 1931 or only 1932.

Such problems as faced students who had come to the many universities who were faced with a decision as to their lifework are not now so acute, what with the developments in industry. These problems which were acute wrought great changes in the outlook of those who intended to proceed through colleges to train for their lifework and there can be no doubt that many were in those years diverted in their plans. Among these were those whose means had been cramped and so they were prevented from following their inclinations.

Fortunately for the younger ones who are now planning their lifework, the outlook is brighter and the way seems clearer than it did for those who dared to proceed in spite of the darker days in leaner years now fortunately past.

SIDELIGHTS
THE HOME FORUM

Discussing the events of the day, home gossip and personal news topics as revealed by the home newspaper—under the evening lamp—and sometimes Grave and Gay. — Supervised by The Lamplighter

STORM WINDS

There's strange music in the storm winds sweeping by,
Chording on the harps of heaven full and high
Till the air like hidden choirs in the sky
Oh, the winds are like an anthem, grand and free;
To the hearts that make their dwelling by the sea.

North Sydney, N.S. —E. Nellie Morrison

• • •

NICK KENNY, RADIO EDITOR, OF THE NEW YORK MIRROR, looks over the radio advertising field and finds some queer queeriodics, vast sums of money go into entertainment which is not good advertising, and in most cases not good entertainment. Nick Kenny says: "What good is a good radio show if no one knows about it?" "If I were a radio sponsor," says he, "I wouldn't spend thousands of dollars for a radio program to which myself and family were the only listeners. I would investigate the followings of the various newspaper radio columns, and advertise my program in those most widely read. Putting on an air show without calling attention to it in the newspapers is idiotic. If it's a good show it's worth bragging about. And don't forget that it is the newspapers that have made radio. The newspaper is to a radio broadcast what the program is to a show in a theatre. I wouldn't let my sales talk be inserted in the middle of an exciting radio drama any more than I would stop John McCormack in the middle of a song to invite listeners to try my mouth-wash or corn cure. I would time my sales talk to end just when the listener hoped it would. That extra word, or phrase or entire page may make the difference his radio set into the ash can in disgust.

• • •

CARRYING COALS TO NEWCASTLE is an apt saying and illustrates the folly of taking coals to a place where coal is the one thing they haven't anything else but, as Amos and Andy might say. Carrying cream to Moscow would seem to be something else again, almost. Seems as though Russia, an agricultural country should be able to provide plenty of milk and cream for the kids, and even for the capital. Istic yoke has been shaken off and the bourgeoisie has been melded into the proletariat, and all are bosses and there are no hired men any more. But, woe verily, and that's another but which will never see butter, somebody has taken the cow out of Moscow and the wife of the United States ambassador to the Soviet Union, Mrs. Marjorie Post Hutton Davis, does not intend to place her faith in the Mos Cow nor the condensed cream but has taken with her 2,000 pints of cream in cardboard containers, frozen by a special process, which will be placed in electric refrigerators installed for the purpose in the official residence of the ambassador. Russia, the land of "Kapoit", where bosses have been abolished, except the Big Bosses with power of life and death, and willingness to use it—Russia where all are equal and there is no one to do the dirty work, Russia of the Czars, Rasputin, Bolshillists, Secret Police and all that sort of thing, mighty Russia can not be depended upon to furnish a daily supply of fresh cream from contented or discontented cow and Mrs. Davis makes sure of a supply by taking two years rations with her. Dictator Stalin may see in this an insult to the majesty of the Russian cow and a diplomatic crisis may ensue.

That thou are blamed, shall not be thy defect; for slander's mark was ever yet the fair; so thou be good, slander doth but approve thy worth the greater.—Shakespeare.

Close thine ear against him that shall open his mouth secretly against another. If thou receivest not his words, they fly back and wound the reporter. If thou dost receive them, they fly forward, and wound the receiver.—Lavater.

LOOKING BACKWARD

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

Dec. 23rd., 1916.

An Acceptable Gift. Chief Newton and the members of the Belleville Police Force have been kindly remembered this Christmas with a cheque from Mr. H. Smyth, manager of the local branch of the Merchants' Bank.

The employees of the new expansion of the Intelligencer desire to thank the Ritchie Company for Christmas remembrances.

Two citizens were present yesterday at the Municipal nominations for Mayor, alderman and school trustees. Mayor H. F. Ketcheson was returned by acclamation. He was nominated by Mr. John Elliott and seconded by Mr. J. W. Johnson. M. P. P. Twenty eight names were proposed for aldermen, nine of whom are to be selected. Messrs. Frank Sharpe, F. E. O'Flynn, Arthur Mcolle, S. Mallory, John Muir, L. N. Terwilligar and Robert T. Woodley were nominated School Trustees and returned by acclamation. They represent the following wards in the order they are named: Foster Ward, Dundas Ward, Ketcheson Ward, Bridge Ward, Bleecker Ward, Coleman Ward and Murney Ward.

30 YEARS AGO

Dec. 23rd., 1906.

With another mayoralty contest looming large before us, it may be of interest to recall the names of those who, in years past, have been Chief Magistrates of this good old city. From 1836 to 1850 Belleville was controlled by a Board of Police, the following held the office of president: 1836, Billa Flint, Jr.; 1837, H. W. Yager; 1838, Billa Flint, Jr.; 1839 Billa Flint; Jr.; 1840, Charles O. Benson; 1841, A. O. Petrie; 1842, to 1847, both years inclusive, F. McAnnany; 1848, James Whitehead; 1849, James Whitehead. In the year 1850 Belleville was incorporated as a town and since that date the following have filled the office of Mayor: 1850, S. F. Dary; 1851, W. H. Ponton; 1852, W. H. Ponton; 1853, W. H. Ponton; 1854, S. F. Dary; 1855, John O'Hare; 1856, John O'Hare; 1857 F. McAnnany; 1858, F. McAnnany; 1859, F. McAnnany; 1860, Dr. William Hope; 1861, F. McAnnany; 1862, James Brown; 1863, James Brown; 1864, Dr. R. Holden; 1865, Dr. R. Holden; 1866, Billa Flint; 1867, H. Corby; 1868, H. Corby; 1869, P. D. Conger; 1870, Alex. Robertson; 1871, Thomas Holden; 1872, J. J. B. Flint; 1873, Thomas Holden; 1874, G. R. Henderson; 1875, W. A. Foster; 1876, W. A. Foster; 1877, W. A. Foster; 1878, Alex. Robertson; 1879, Alex. Robertson; 1880, R. B. Patterson; 1881, R. B. Patterson; 1882, Nelson Leighton; 1883, Nelson Leighton; 1884, J. W. Dunnett; 1885, J. W. Dunnett; 1886, Henry McClench; 1887, W. H. Biggar; 1888, Dr. R. S. Willson; 1889, W. J. Diamond; 1890, Geo. S. Tickell; 1891, E. Guss Porter; 1892, Curtis Sqaatt; 1893, F. S. Wallbridge; 1894, J. E. Wahnsley; 1895, J. E. Walmsley; 1896, J. E. Walmsley; 1897, J. W. Johnson; 1898, J. W. Johnson; 1899, J. W. Johnson. 1900, J. W. Johnson; 1901, R. J. Graham; 1902, R. J. Graham; 1903, R. J. Graham; 1904, W. W. Chown; 1905, Charles M. Sullman; 1906, Charles W. Sullman. For the year 1907 the contest is between Mayor Sulman and Mr. D. V. Sinclair.

40 YEARS AGO

Dec. 23rd., 1896.

Mr. H. A. Moore of Trenton was in the city today.

Mr. C. F. Hepburn of Picton is stopping at Hotel Quinte.

Mr. Ed. Brader is home from Toronto to spend the Christmas vacation.

Mr. Harry Davis, assistant editor of the Belleville Daily Sun, will spend Christmas at his home at Palmerston, Ont.

A telephone has been placed in Walter Lambert's back office. The number is 61.

The skating rink on the hospital lot at the corner of Hotel and Church streets, which is operated by the I. O. O. F. Band is receiving large patronage.

Mrs. (Gen.) Geo. W. Ross of Toronto is in the city on a visit to her daughter, Mrs. Charles Brown.

One of the worst features of the unseasonable lack of snow is the dust which is blown about in blinding clouds on all the city streets.

50 YEARS AGO

Dec. 23rd., 1886.

More of those old gold-embroidered plush slippers for gentlemen were received by express this morning by Haines and Longstreth. They are lovely and cheap, Call early. (Advt).

The Christmas market today was packed. Extra tables were furnished in the building, yet many who were late, had to place their baskets upon the floor, and the available space in the square was filled with vehicles. Beef sold at $3. and 4c. per cwt.; ducks 50 cents; turkeys 70c to $1.50; geese, 60c to 75 cents; chickens 35 cents and 40 cents; eggs 20 cents per dozen; butter 20 cents.

The Madoc Literary School has been established in Murney Ward under the superintendence of Mr. N. R. McArthur, Mrs. J. P. Thompson and Miss Ponton. They will be doing a good work among the children. Mr. Walter Scott, Belleville, is one of the promoters of the school with two rooms secured for use during the winter months.

Letters to the Editor

Mr. Editor,—

Please remind the people if the birds get enough to eat they can stand the cold, and be with us another season to help us fight the grub and insect life. If they are half starved they cannot, also don't forget the animals. As the wise hoyish God's dumb creatures is not far from the Kingdom.

Anon.

WOULD-BE DICTATOR!
Col. Fulgincio Batista, Cuba's "strong man," whose difference with President Miguel Mariano Gomez of Cuba may be settled with Gomez impeachment by a commission of senators and representatives. The action is being brought because of Gomez' opposition to Batista's proposed bill calling for a nine-cent tax on each bag of sugar, revenues to be used for army-taught rural schools. Gomez calls army schools a step toward fascism.
—Central Press Canadian Photo.

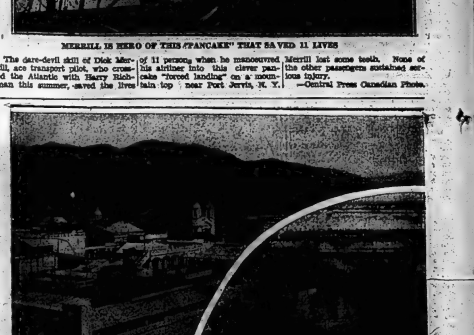
Sir Walter Alcock Declines Solo Job

London, Dec. 23.—(CP)—Because he played the organ at the coronation of King Edward VII and Queen Alexandra, and the coronation of King George V and Queen Mary, Sir Walter Alcock, organist at Salisbury Cathedral, has declined to be the sole organist at the coronation of King Edward VIII.

Sir Walter says: "I was very deeply touched by the offer by Dr. Ernest Bullock (organist of Westminster Abbey) to play at the coronation for the third time. But I declined because I felt that someone else should have the honor this time. Although I will not play alone, I will be very glad to play along with somebody else."

Sir Walter said he will not compose any music for this coronation.

The Mansell Triplets Five Years Old Today



Tecumseh, Ont., Dec. 23.—(CP)—The Mansell triplets, Edward, Henry and Charles, are five years old today and each will have an individual birthday cake with five candles on it. Their parents, however, will have to wait until Christmas. It's just their tough luck to have been born on the Santa Claus time.

As the sons of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Mansell, the trio were all agog today at their birthday and impending Christmas, with all its good things. They got single-engined sleighs and although they intend to divide into two camps when arguments arise, Henry and Charles are identical twins while bespectacled Edward is more of a lone wolf.

MERRILL IS HERO OF THIS STANCAKE" THAT SAVED 11 LIVES

The dare-devil skill of Dick Merrill, ace transport pilot, who crossed the Atlantic with Harry Richman this summer, saved the lives of 11 persons when he manoeuvred his airliner into this clever pancake "forced landing" on a mountain top near Port Jervis, N. Y.

TINY REPUBLIC OF SALVADOR AGAIN ROCKED BY QUAKE

Rocked by earthquakes the tiny republic of El Salvador in Central America rushes frantic rescue measures to succor the victims in its principal cities, which is reported destroyed by the tremor, with a death list running into the hundreds. Floods, hurricanes and quakes have repeatedly torn this little state in the past few years with a high loss of life and property. Seven towns beside San Vicente were reported damaged by the earthquakes, which were continuing while rescue and relief efforts got under way. The volcano that overlooks San Vicente was reported showing new activity. The city is pictured here. At the RIGHT is a view of San Salvador, made after hurricanes and floods swept the area some years ago killing eight persons, making 500 homeless and doing $2,000,000 in property damage.

ALLEGED ROBBERS HELD

Hamilton, Ont., Dec. 23—(CP)—With the capture of John "Rusty" Gordon, 36, and Thomas Bryer, 42, both of Hamilton, detectives were pressing forward their investigations into recent safe thefts.

Arraigned in police court, Gordon was charged with shopbreaking and theft in connection with the forced entry into the premises of the Dairy Bread Company, Nov. 26.

Bryer was charged with being an accessory after the fact. Both men with-drawal when they placed their request before Nelson A. Batchelder, general manager of the mill.

WAGE INCREASE PLEA REJECTED

Welland, Ont., Dec. 23—(CP)—Request for a 20 per cent wage increase was turned down yesterday as more than 700 employes of the Empire Cotton Mill remained on strike. A strikers' committee met with refusal when they placed demands for higher court for trial before Magistrate H. A. Burbidge demanded substantial bail for their release.

OFF TO SANDRINGHAM

London, Dec. 23—(CP)—The Royal family, loaded down with gaily wrapped Christmas presents, left London today for Sandringham in Norfolk.

King George and Queen Elizabeth were accompanied by Queen Mary and the two little princesses, Elizabeth and Margaret Rose.

SCOTT'S SCRAPBOOK

by R. J. SCOTT

DIONNE FAMILY TO JOIN QUINTS CHRISTMAS DAY

Eleven Children Will Have Happy Day in Dafoe Hospital

USUAL DIET

Quints To Present Gifts to Rest of The Family

Callander, Ont., Dec. 23 (CP)—For the first time in their lives the Dionne quintuplets will be united with all their family on Christmas Day, Oliva and Elzire Dionne are bringing their 11 children together for a happy celebration in the Dafoe nursery.

It will be the first time the Quints have seen all their brothers and sisters together, the first time, in fact, that they have seen baby brother, five-months-old Oliva at all. The others have visited them at various times but never all at once.

The Parents hope the gathering will be a prelude to a permanent reunion of the family in the home of few months ago. Ever since they ceased their efforts to break the government guardianship over their quint-teachers and bring all their children together under one roof.

But their bitterness will be forgotten for one day when they see their family gathered around the Christmas dinner table. There would be little needed at the table except for the fact that little Oliva is a bit too young for a high chair yet and will not sit down to turkey and the trimmings.

Father Dead Died

The quints will miss out on the usual Christmas food with their baby brother. Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe has decreed they are still too young for that sort of thing and they will follow their usual diet.

But in the afternoon they will have hours of play with their little sisters and three brothers. The eldest of the family, Marcel Dionne, his 10th birthday on Wednesday, has decided to waive any ceremony. He has heard about the big doings on Friday.

Rose and Pauline are the practical a dust to allay to their sisters, who will be two years old and seven months old next Monday. It was Rose, who recently wrote to Santa Claus asking that he bring her baby sisters back to her for Christmas. The old fellow has agreed to the extent of one, at least.

Marcella and Pauline will be there too for the gifts the quintuplets will have hung on a tree in the Dafoe nursery for the purpose. The tree is already cut and set up in the nursery and Nurse Agnes Davis, R.N., and Miss Claire Tremblay, teacher to the quints, are busy decorating the tree.

Nurse Accompanies

For the other Dionne children the festive day will start, when mother Dionne tells them that Santa Claus' clothes and Oliva drives them to church. Early on noon all the family will cross the road that has been a symbol of the separation of the family.

Miss Noel and Miss Tremblay will act as hostesses for the whole day and it isn't hard to imagine what the five young ladies will do when they see all the children coming in the door. They are delighted, when one visits them, to have the annual Christmas treat.

Before the Christmas dinner, Mrs. Dionne will open the gifts the quints will have for their parents and their brothers and sisters and the presents they will bring to the quints. After the dinner will come a full afternoon of play.

For this one day Annette, Cecille, Yvonne, Emilie and Marie will not be shown to the public. Even on these odd days a few tourists come to the Dafoe nursery for a glimpse of the youngsters, and they are never disappointed. But their public appearances will be cancelled while the family reunion is on. The only guest outside the family will be Miss Blanche Comtie, a friend of Mrs. Dionne.

SPAIN'S MILITIA HURLS HAND GRENADES; FRANCO REPLIES FROM THE AIR

Two scenes from Madrid's hard fought battle-front: Above, an insurgent "relative" battle measures of his opponents, the Loyalist militia man at left, is just hurling a hand grenade at an avalanche of bombs from the air; also rebel lines from the shelter of a government trench on the Madrid outskirts. On the RIGHT: the scene of wreckage in the Calle Mayor, main street of Madrid, after Gen. Franco's flyers dropped an estimated 40 tons of explosives on the capital's most beautiful hotels and residences. Most recent reports indicate that the grounded government forces are not only halting the rebels but are preparing a counter offensive.

Central Press Canadian Photo.

STAFF EFFICIENT AS FUSE BLOWS

Toronto Western Hospital in Darkness For Fifty Minutes

Toronto, Dec. 23—(CP)—Efficiency of Toronto Western Hospital's staff was crediting today for the lack of confusion when a breaker in a main transformer disrupted the hospital's lighting system for 50 minutes last night. No operations were being performed at the time.

The city and night staff was mobilized and, carrying candles and flashlights toured the institution. Fears were allayed when the staff found no emergency. Instead, Bachelor's sudden darkness was but a temporary interruption of the power system.

More than a dozen children were trapped in an elevator for 20 minutes while on their way to the top floor to a Christmas party. The youngsters sang Christmas carols until their voices attracted attention and an emergency door opened to release them.

Candles were lighted in every corridor of the hospital and visitors were permitted to enter the candle-lit rooms of patients. After repairs had been made and the lights on the children's party were started, the hospital services quickly returned to normal routine.

"Mike, the Bar-Dog, Although Proud Father Going About Business

Bowser, B.C., Dec. 23 (CP)—Mike, the Bowser bar-dog, was the father of three hicky pet he went about the serious business of serving bottled beer in this Vancouver Island town's only hotel with never a show of nervousness.

So calmly has Mike taken the event, that he has never even dropped a bobble of suds while carrying it from the bar to a customer. He has brought the bottles over and deposited it on the table as usual without a tremor and greeted the thirsty as they entered the little clapboard tavern of the Bower Hotel with the inevitable good nature that means so much to Hoolihan Charles Winfield's business.

Not even the fact that one of the pups was the dead image of his shaggy-jowled, four-year-old father turned Mike's head. He just looked at the critter, raised the pure-white, bootleg eye-brows on his black forehead and went back to the bar-room routine.

Hotelman Winfield too, took the event calmly. He said then a few days as soon as they were old enough to be taken from their parent, wire-haired mother—and got a good price for the one that looked like Mike.

Winfield is so used to telling the incredulous about Mike that he does it now as if he were retailing off a recitation.

Have to Make Change

"When a customer comes in Mike sits on a chair beside him and takes his order. Then he goes to the bar and gets a bottle in his teeth, walks over and deposits it on the table. He makes a second trip for the bottle opener. And that's all, half of it. He takes the customer's money over to the cash drawer and drops it in. Of course I have to make change for him but he takes it back to the table."

As hotel bar-cats 26 cents in three parts, the change is usually in coils easily handled. "Mike has to be extra careful with small change," Winfield explained.

Mike is known for miles around. People come from other parts to see the dog in action. "There was a couple from Cumberland, B.C., last summer and they could hardly believe their eyes."

Like One of Family

Winfield treats Mike pretty much like one of the family. He lets him sit at the dining table with a napkin tied around his white ruff and says he behaves well. "I have to call the

HE'LL SEE SANTA — THEN HE MUST DIE

A poignant story that brings a lump to the throat in the midst of festive season is that of little Johnny Hernandez. The Mexican boy is shown in Orlando hospital, where he is dying of a disease that will be complete in work before Christmas, doctors say. It has been arranged for Santa Claus to make an early visit in order that Johnny may see him before he dies. He has been in the hospital 10 months.

meat for him though."

Mike's mother was a pure-bred wire-hair, which two months brought here four years ago. The terrier met a sheep dog on an island off the coast while her master was out fishing. The owner gave Winfield one of the pups.

"No, Mike doesn't drink beer any more. He used to when he was a pup but gave it up—same as I did—a few hear years ago."

MADOC

Madoc—Trinity United Church celebrated Christmas Sunday with special services. The choir under the capable direction of Mrs. Leslie Ashley rendered lovely anthems. Mrs. Hulin also sang a beautiful contralto solo. At the evening service the choir sang "Holy, O Heavens" and "Shine O Wonderful Star" and a ladies' quartette comprising Mesdames Eagleson, Hulin, Ashley, and Miss Edna Salisbury, was very much enjoyed by the congregation. Suitable Christmas sermons were delivered by the pastor, the Rev. I. Kennedy.

Mr. Donald McKinnon has gone to Renfrew to spend the winter with his nephew, Dr. McKinnon.

Mrs. Jas. Wyrtock has been spending a few days with her son, Dr. A. B. Wyrtock in Niagara Falls, Ont.

Miss Audrey McCaffrey of McDonald College, Montreal, is spending the Christmas holidays with Mr. and Mrs. Jack McCaffrey.

Mr. Douglas Ashley who has been attending College of Pharmacy in Toronto, is visiting at home.

Miss Allsen Kelley of Toronto University is vacationing with her father, Mr. W. Kelley in town.

Mr. Clinton Nickle, who has spent the summer on the Great Lakes, has returned home.

Christmas carols were sung on Monday evening by the members of the Junior C.G.I.T. of Trinity United Church. They were entertained afterwards by their leader, Miss Grace Garrett, at her home.

TENT-DWELLERS TAKEN IN CITY

Salvation Army Officer Gives Warm Shelter For Christmas

Peterborough, Ont., Dec. 22.—(CP)—A rude tent dwelling with a piece of old stovepipe protruding through the top stood desolated on a deserted building lot, while Mrs. William Henry and her seven-year-old grand-daughter, Mildred Herron, found shelter in a city house.

When temperatures toppled and snow and rain buffeted the make-shift home that served the two since summer, Mrs. Henry last night gave up hope her husband would come along and take them back to Fraserville.

Still arrived yesterday when Adjutant Neil Warrander of the Peterborough Salvation Army Corps heard of the tent-dwellers outside the city limits. He made arrangements for their transfer to the girl's home.

The Salvation Army officer obtained proper clothing for the pair and arranged to have the tent and contents taken to the home of Mrs. Henry's son at Fraserville on the border of Durham and Peterborough counties.

Because wages "were so low and work high", the aged woman and her grand-daughter left Fraserville, made several camps in the open and prepared to spend the winter on the hillside.

"It's warmer here than in lots of houses I've lived in," said Mrs. Henry, scoffing at a suggestion it might be bitterly cold living in a tent in sub-zero weather. "We're not doing so bad."

UNION VALE

Union Vale—The school teacher, Miss Delellis and pupils of the school held their Christmas entertainment on Monday night which was a decided success and a good program was enjoyed after which Old Santa made his appearance and delivered gifts to all the children from a well loaded Christmas tree.

Everyone is sorry to learn that Miss Allen Pearsall had to be operated on for appendicitis at Picton Hospital on Saturday. Her many friends wish her a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Reynolds spent a recent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Lambert from Northport.

Mr. Arthur Wesse of Kingston visited Mr. and Mrs. Vincent's day last week.

Mrs. Jas. Tubbs' many friends are sorry to know that she is confined to her bed for a few weeks through illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Pearsall entertained a number of friends to a dinner party on Wednesday night. Covers were laid for thirteen.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Thurlow are returned home on Monday after spending a week with friends in North Hastings, also attended the funeral of his brother.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Jeansall, Bota and Leland spent a recent evening with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Tubbs.

Chicago, Dec. 22 (CP)—The entire population of Lee, Mich., came to Chicago to do its Christmas shopping—but transportation facilities were not taxed.

The delegation consisted of Walter Peterson, 23, and Herbert Peterson, 26.

Mayor Peterson said his town once had 800 residents but soon bothered to rebuild it after a fire almost wiped it from the map years ago. Walter and Herbert moved in and elected themselves to every office they could think of.

2 GAMES IN RURAL LEAGUE AT STIRLING

Glen Ross Wins 3-2 Over Bethel, Foxboro in a Tie

Stirling, Dec. 23.—(Special)—Activities within the Hastings County Rural Hockey League were on in motion last night at the Stirling arena when the four contending teams met in the first of their double-header fixtures. The pre-season ballyhoo given to the Glen Ross team, who faded back last year after winning the Championship in 1935, looks to be well founded for the Riverside boys grabbed off the league leadership with a three-two victory over the fast moving Bethel organization while the fray between West Huntingdon and Foxboro ended in a 1-1 tie.

The Games

In the first fixture Foxboro matched play with the West Huntingdon crew and showed a top speed with Mott, Wright and Rodgers leading a strenuous attack in the first period. Lee got the first rise for the crowd when he sifted in for Foxboro and tried Series with a couple of hot ones. Hemingway, Foxboro hard hitting defenceman also looked like their old selves, with Series turning in a real job in the nets although he was not tried quite so much as Sharp in the Foxboro nets. Lee, Rosaky and Sunderland will make a shifty front line for Foxboro after a few practices and Bleakley will be a worthy addition to the defence line.

Line-ups

Foxboro—Sharp, goal; defence, Hutchings, Bleakley; centre, Lee; wing, Rosaky and Sunderland Sum—Wall 2, Guay; N. Cruay; Hemingway and Cook.

West Huntingdon —Goal, Series; defence, Mackman and Reid; centre, Mott; wings, Wright and Rodgers; subs, Cook, Stapley, Thompson, and Rollins.

Officials—Wallace and Townsend.

Second Game

The second fixture seemed to be a little more speedy in the early part but with the players not yet in condition the speed gradually slowed to a walk at the end. Forty minutes would have been plenty of hockey for any of the boys. The fans were not disappointed in the game for any of the four teams and the talk of added strength made in the ranks of Glen Ross was quite true for on their first line R. B. Robinson and the Moore brothers with the scoring in Delnard Hagerman and Jones Rose and Allan Armstrong and Brown on defence make them a formidable club. Bethel also have added new blood to the team which has always shown plenty of fight. Stevenson, Hagerman and Culhane and Tapps look like the class.

The crowd seemed to expect the Riverside boys to swamp the Bethel team but it was not the case. It is true they came through with a one goal lead at the end of the game but they had to come from behind twice to do it. R. Dickey scored the first tally to put Bethel in the lead and Robinson scored for the Reds. Then Moore and Parks, Hagerman fished the puck out of a mix-up in front of the nets to beat R. Dickey and tie it all up again. Robinson scored the first a winning goal of the game, with only a few minutes left to play. Tapps and R. Dickey served the only penalties imposed.

Line-ups

Glen Ross—Goal, Hagerman; defence, Brown, Armstrong; wings F. Fraser, G. Fraser; centre, Robinson; subs, Moore, Parks, Reed, Brooks, Jones, Delnard, Hagerman.

Bethel—Goal R. Dickey; defence, Culhane, Sills; centre, Parks; wings Tapps and Dickey; Subs N. Guay, Paris, Dergue, Ray, and Brough.

Referees—Wallace and Townsend.

LIPSON'S LAST MINUTE SUGGESTIONS

GIFT LINGERIE

- Dainty underthings make such popular Gift Gifts. Our variety in Lingerie is unsurpassed. Panties, Dance Sets, Slips, Pyjamas, Nightgowns etc. All neatly boxed for Christmas. Materials include: Rayons, Satins, Crepes, Flannelette, Wool and the ever popular Chiffonette. Give Lingerie this Christmas.

25c to 1.98

GIFT HOSIERY

- You'll solve that Gift Problem so easily at Lipson's Hose Counters! Full fashioned, Chiffon and Service weight Hose — neatly done up in a colorful Christmas box. A complete color and size range awaits the early customers! Hose is a gift appreciated by young and old.

59c to 1.00

GIFT SLIPPERS

- Another easy way to solve your Gift Problem! Slippers for men, Women and Children. Romeos, D'Orsays, Moccasins, Juliets and many other lines too numerous to mention. In short — we have a slipper for every age and every taste. Boxed for Christmas, and greatly reduced in price.

39c to 1.98

GIFT SHIRTS

- Every man or boy needs Shirts! Neatly boxed for Christmas our complete line of fine quality broadcloth shirts is reduced in price. Plain shades, stripes, checks and all-over patterns in separate or collar attached style. He'll appreciate a Shirt!

59c to 1.29

TIES and SOCKS

- Have you forgotten someone? Tie in Christmas hose have been the most popular Gift for years and let us add another item — namely Fine Socks. Two Gifts a man would choose himself!

25c to 69c

ESTIMATES ARE POURING IN HEAVILY!
THERE STILL IS TIME TO GET YOUR SHARE OF
$50.00 IN PRIZES
OUR CONTEST CLOSES 9 P. M. CHRISTMAS EVE
WINNERS WILL BE ANNOUNCED AT 9.30 p. m.
SO DON'T DELAY — ENTER OUR STAR COUNTING CONTEST TO-DAY

Good Choice For Last Day Shoppers—

New goods from several famous makers are now available.

DRESSERWARE
MEN'S GOODS
and
PENS and PENCILS

—items of little girls at

25c to 1.00

CANDY

The largest shipments we have ever received.

MOIRS
or
SMILES 'N' CHUCKLES
½, 1, 2 and 4 lbs.

25c to 2.00

GEORGE Pauley DRUGGIST

for a MERRY CHRISTMAS

A GIFT OF THESE DELICIOUS

NO CHRISTMAS WOULD BE COMPLETE WITHOUT THEM

The Candy of Excellence

Page & Shaw Chocolates

There is no gift that pleases quite so much as

Elizabeth Arden's

BEAUTIFUL GIFT BOXES

• The Last Word in Perfection of Quality!

Doyle's Drug Store

PHONE 326

MAKE THIS AN ELECTRICAL CHRISTMAS.

IRONS, CURLERS, TOASTERS, PADS, RANGES, Etc.

John Lewis Co.

265 Front Street, BELLEVILLE

AFTER MERRILL LANDED! 'PLANE ON HILLSIDE

The huge airliner that was piloted by Dick Merrill lies like a prostrate mastodon in the mountainous wooded terrain near Port Jervis, N.Y., after he had cleverly "crashed it" to save the lives of 11 occupants. None was injured save Merrill, who lost some teeth and who can be seen at UPPER LEFT being treated at the St. Francis hospital in Port Jervis. Dick Merrill's last appearance in the headlines was when he and Harry Richman, entertainer, made a round-trip flight to England.

CHEST COLDS
Distressing symptoms relieved by VICKS
VAPORUB
Now WHITE—TASTELESS

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. W. Fletcher of Toronto are visiting Mrs. Jas. MacDonald, Cedar Street.

Mrs. A. L. Chambers, Toronto, is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Morris, 136 Victoria Ave.

Mrs. R. H. Vaughan was hostess at a delightful dinner party at the Quinte Hotel on Monday evening in honor of Miss Myrtle Reid.

Messrs. Jack Morgan, Franklin Martin and Jim Folwell who are attending Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, are home for the Christmas holidays.

Miss Frances Evans, Miss Elaine Clarke, Toronto University, are spending the Christmas holidays.

Mr. Charles Elliott, Peterborough Normal School, is home for the holiday season.

Messrs. Wilfrid Wye, James Allen, John Morrison, University of Toronto, are home for the Christmas vacation.

Misses Mary Monk and Audrey Sherfield, who are attending Peterborough Normal School are home for the Christmas holidays at their homes here.

Mrs. Frank Walker who underwent an operation in Kingston on Saturday at the Belleville General Hospital is progressing favorably.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Baker of Toronto are spending Christmas holidays with her father, Capt. J. Hudgins, Cedar Street.

Mr. Frank Hall, who suffered severe injuries to his face and neck a few days ago when he fell down a flight of stairs, is reported to be progressing favorably at his home on Burton Street.

Queen's University students home for the holidays include: Misses Rita Anderson, Helen Wills, Joan Mason, Mary Davison, Dorothy Fuldell; Messrs. George J. Carson, Jr., John Carmichael, Jack Mason, Richard Foster, Donald Long, Bob Gill, Arthur May, Stephen Laughlin, Jim Mason.

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Hepping and little Miss Marilyn, of Campbellford, are in the city to spend Christmas with her parents, Mr. F. Holst, 342 Bleecker.

Miss Eugenia May who is attending Ontario Ladies' College, Whitby, and Mr. Arthur May, Queen's University, are spending the holidays with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. May, George Street.

Weddings

BAKER—BAILEY

Senarior (Special)—A very pretty wedding took place in the residence of Mr. and Mrs. K. G. Bailey, Sidney, Ontario, on Friday evening, when their second their youngest daughter, Marion Alice, was married to Orval A. Baker, second son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Baker, Senarior. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. J. Scott, pastor of St. Paul's United Church, Trenton, in the presence of the immediate relatives of the bride and groom and those assisting. Miss Marie Berry was bridesmaid and Mr. Lorne Bateman, groomsman. The wedding music was played by Mr. Gerald Clute and Mr. J. P. Baker sang.

The wedding party sat to dinner at Long's Hotel after which the happy couple left on their trip to Eastern points. On their return they will reside in Sidney.

Dr. DeVan's Pills
A reliable feminine hygiene regulator on sale at Dunk's Drug Store, Bridge Street, Belleville. Price five dollars. For sale at DUNK'S DRUG STORE

MR. HUSBAND!
Stop Worrying
About What to Get Your Wife for Christmas
GET HER A MUFF TO MATCH HER FUR COAT from $3.50
Woodleys Furriers
273 Front St.

FIRST TRIPLETS OF NEW REIGN EXPECT KING'S GOLD

The British Empire's first triplets born under the reign of King George VI are the proud possession of a Vancouver couple, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Case. The youngsters, three girls, shown here with their mother, were born while accession of the Duke of York to the throne was being proclaimed. Under ancient British law the youngsters are eligible for the King's bounty of one guinea each, which they expect to receive shortly.
—Central Press Canadian Photo.

Christmas Concerts

MUSIC, mirth and melody reigned in St. Michael's Academy Auditorium last evening when the annual school entertainment was presented by the pupils before a large and appreciative audience. Featuring a Santa Claus theme, the program included a variety of numbers which delighted and amused the parents and friends. The entire performance demonstrated the high standard of entertainment used at St. Michael's and reflects great credit on the sisters in charge.

Against a woodland setting of evergreens, the operetta was presented and told in music and song the legend of the bell in the forest which warned of danger or wrongdoing. The success of the operetta was proven when an unwary traveller was robbed and an innocent man accused of the deed. The chimes of the bell continued to be heard until the wrong was righted. The staging of the soloists and choruses in this number was very good. The music was tuneful and the musical accompaniments well given and the voices of the boys showed careful training. Special credit is due the sister in charge of musical instruction at the Academy for the finished performance of this and the musical number given by the girls.

The talented cast of the play was as follows:

Prince—Jack Bellinger.
Count Ruprecht—Lawrence Feels.
Count Leopold—Billy Donavon.
Alexis—Bobby Temple.
Shuster, Chief of Police—Edward Buckley.
Karl Brag—Harold Giffen.
Old Screech, Town Crier—Terry McGee.
Frans Straub, a Wanderer—Gerald Healey.
Tradesmen, Villagers, Huntsmen and Attendants.

Between the acts of the operetta a duet was given in splendid style by Misses Catherine Harris and Ruth Kelly. Miss Rose Marie Hamilton contributed a solo tap dance which was received with great applause. Misses Mary and Catherine Grahan also gave a delightful dance.

The Rhythm Band of tiny tots which has already won a reputation throughout the city for its splendid work, added greatly to the enjoyment of the evening with two numbers in small units of the most dashing uniforms and pill box hats played their parts in the operetta. "Soldiers of Melody" by junior members of the band and the pupils was an amusing part of the program, well-executed by the boys and girls taking part. These were: Bugle Call—Josephine.

Secret Service Men—Donald Barnett, Clifford Doyle, Anthony Ballard, Dorothy Hand, Eugene Brenner, Billy Lorkner.

Artakov—Cecil Short, Gordon Strachan, Cyril Holland.

Townsend Friends — Chapelle, Mary Annette, Hazel Pelow, Terry Meagher, Donald Boyle.

Being with the boys for honors, fifty girls took part in an operetta "The Magic Garden", a colorful scene which introduced Mistress Mary and her garden of variegated blossoms which flaunted on growing in a contrary fashion until a fairy of whatever worker made showed Mistress Mary how to restore loveliness to the flowers. The beautiful costumes, clever drill and sweet voices of the children, especially of Mary, made this number most successful.

The cast included:

Mistress Mary—Carroll Kiser.
Worker Maids—Marion Davison, Ruth Cicert, Margaret Barrett, Kathleen Callaghan, Norma Callaghan, Gwyth Donavon, Agnes Graham, Mary Agnes Wilkinson, Barbara Davison, Marilyn Donavon, Lorna Kiser, Dorothy Ross, Teresa Alexander, Gwendolyn Doyle, Marie Casey, Betty Hayworth.

Flowers—Sheila Doyle, Joan Hanley, Lois Donavon, Joan Segal, Mary Lorkner, June Stirs, Joan Davidson, Catherine Meagher, Beverly Lang, Shirley Meagher, Elda Pigeon, Mary Alexander, Rose Marie Hamilton, Bernadine Lachance, Mary Fitz, Cecelia Trudeau, Margaret Garvin, Jean Masterson, Mary O'Haugh-nessy, Mary Anne Brooks, Georgina Gason, Mary Lalonde, Anne Mary Graham, Angela Paulins.

Musical selections, carols by the children and the singing of the National Anthem brought the very fine entertainment to a close.

UNIVERSITY S. S.

CHILDREN attending the University Sunday school enjoyed their annual Christmas tree last evening and presented before a large audience a very interesting entertainment.

The program was arranged by the teachers of the school and was very well carried out by the children.

Rev. E. Farnsworth was chairman and at the conclusion of the various numbers, Santa Claus arrived in state, with a gift for all the children. The program included the following numbers:

Prayer.

Chairman's address — Rev. E. Farnsworth.

Chorus "Happiest Time"—by the School.

Recitation—Donald Brown.

Nursery Rhymes—Miss Garrison's class.

Song—Mollie Pomeroy.

Chorus—"Holy Christ Child"—girls.

Recitation—Russell Vandervoort.

Chorus "Santa Claus is Coming"—Mrs. Vandervoort's Class.

Recitation—Beverly McTaggart.

Dialogue—Mrs. Burley's Class.

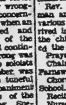
Song—Ruth and Barbara Patterson.

Recitation—Lillian Sommers

Scripture Reading—Mrs. Sharpe's Class.

Recitation—Miss Sharpe

Song "Nobody Cares"—Doris Carr and Shirley Turner.



Solo—Miss Sharpe.

Chorus "Silver Sweet"—Girls

Dialogue—Young Ladies.

ST. GEORGE'S CHRISTMAS TREE

ST. GEORGE'S, the little church on Station St. was the scene of its annual Christmas tree last night. The church was packed and the program although short, was very fine. The program Santa Claus arrived and gave out the presents to the children from a sleigh ren. Rev. Wright gave a short address and ended the evening with a short prayer, followed by singing God Save The King.

Program—Chorus—Hark the Herald Angels Sing; Recitation—Wesley Sicks—sung by Bernard Tugnet, Jean Perry, Jack Maddocks; Recitation—Alice Mathews; Holy Night—Carol by Mrs. Slingerly Class; Guitar Solo, Arthur Wellman; Recitation, Reta Coleman; Drill, Nora Armstrong's Class; Piano Solo, Norma Vanner; Chorus, While Shepherds Watched; Drill, Rocks Chatman's address, D. J. Batchelor.

CHRIST CHURCH S.S.

A T Christ Church Parish Hall last evening the annual program by the Sunday School provided a feeling of delightful entertainment for the large audience present. Mr. Vaughan acted as chairman and the program of plays, tableaux, and individual numbers, opened with the singing of carols, led by Rev. G. G. Wright with Mrs. Turvey presiding at the piano.

Mac Dowell contributed a violin solo, with Mrs. Graham as accompanist. Mrs. Graham accompanied the majority of the musical numbers, playing in pleasing style. A recitation was given by Norma Clapp followed by a piano solo by Mrs. Graham.

Directed by Mrs. S. Kerr a well-portrayed Christmas story of the coming of the shepherds was given. Mrs. Kerr not only directed but wrote the play and the cast taking part gave a fine performance. A trio of boys sang very acceptably "Three Ships". Those taking part were Bobby Boon, Bobbie Theabauld, and Doug. Burns. Mr. Vaughan's class sang as a chorus, "Silent Night"

Miss Marion Orr's class gave a very interesting tableau with the program closed with an acrobatic number by S. Wright and T. Burns. After the singing of the National Anthem candy was distributed to the Sunday School Scholars.

RHODES SCHOLARS IN DOMINION

(By The Canadian Press)

Selections for Rhodes scholarships have complete throughout the dominion with the following students and graduates each to receive the opportunity of three years in residence at Oxford University, England.

Nova Scotia—Henry D. Hicks, Bridgetown; graduate of Mount Allison University and now a student at Dalhousie.

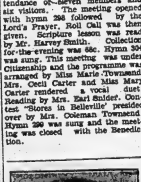
Quebec — Roger Gaudry, Quebec City; graduate of the Laval University, Quebec; engaged in Research work.

John S. Hodgson, Outremont; student at McGill University.

Ontario—J. C. Dawson, Kingston; student as Queen's University. J. Kenneth Macallen, Guelph; student at University of Toronto.

Manitoba—Carl D. Clark, Winnipeg; graduate of University of Manitoba.

Saskatchewan—Ian Grant Wahn, Yorkton; graduate of University of Saskatchewan.



Alberta—John Charles Garret, Strathmore; student at University of Alberta.

British Columbia—R. Dean Rankin, graduate of the University of British Columbia.

No Rhodes Scholars are appointed from Prince Edward Island Students from the Island Province applying in Nova Scotia-New Brunswick.

HALLOWAY Y.P.S.

On Wednesday, December 16th, Halloway Y.P.S. held their weekly meeting in the church with an attendance of seven members and six visitors. The meeting opened with hymn 346 followed by Lord's Prayer, Roll Call was then given. Scripture lesson was read by Mr. Harvey Hudgins. Collection for the evening was 68c. Hymn 304 was sung. This meeting was one of Citizenship and the programme was arranged by Miss Marie Thompson. Mrs. Cecil Carter and Miss Mary Carter rendered a vocal duet. Reading by Mrs. Earl Snider. Contest "Stores in Belleville" presided over by Mrs. Coleman was read. Hymn 290 was sung and the meeting was closed with the Benediction.

CAMPUS BEAUTY

Folks down in the Ozarks apparently recognize beauty when they see it, if Marie Fearing is a sample of their choice. Miss Fearing has been selected campus queen at the University of Arkansas, Fayetteville, Ark.

—Central Press Canadian Photo.

At the Theatres

AT THE BELLE

"White Hunter" and "Luckiest Girl in the World"

Braving hate, defying fear, fighting for love fiercely amid sinister dangers that threaten their very lives, Warner Baxter and June Lang, the thrilling sweethearts of "The Road to Glory", rise to even greater dramatic heights in their newest Twentieth Century Fox picture, "White Hunter," on the Belle screen tonight and Thursday, matinee and evening.

Crowned by the outstanding performance of the stars and an impressive supporting cast including Chil Patrick, Allan Ainsworth, Willfred Lawson, and George Hadley, the picture depicts a stirring drama charged with the menace of savage passions.

Warner Baxter plays a hunter-guide in a strange and foreboding country. A fateful coincidence he is engaged for the hunting expedition of Wilfred Lawson, millionaire magnate, and the man responsible for Baxter's exile and his father's death. Lawson is accompanied by his young wife Gail Patrick, the daughter by another marriage, the beautiful June Lang. Alliance, however, exhibits passion and George Hadrill, the hen-pecked spouse.

It is not until their plane has departed, not to return for a month, that Lawson realizes who Baxter is. Certain that the man he has wronged will seek to avenge his cronis. Lawson is overcome with fear and determines to forestall him.

In an atmosphere dripping with savage passion, under an ominous sky, the party encamps. During the first night June Lang's life is menaced and Baxter perilously saves her.

Chil finds Baxter to be her former lover, but because he has vowed he'll be false and dangerous, fails to revive the old feeling. Cognizant by the threat menace on all sides, by his fear of what Baxter may do, Lawson tries to escape. When his attempt is foiled he decides to end the grim battle of survival between Lawson and Baxter by planning to shoot the latter "accidently" during an elephant hunt.

Meanwhile, Jealous Gail who lied to June about Baxter's affair with her (Gail) and June, heartbroken, flees blindly from the camp into the dangerous and doom-ridden wilds.

Tense situation follows tense situation as the big hunt gets under way and reaches a gripping climax of plotted murder, self-sacrificing heroism and triumphant love that leaves you breathless.

"Luckiest Girl in the World"

Running up the comedy scale from amusing to uproarious and containing a tender love story with a new approach, Universal's first-rate laugh hit, "The Luckiest Girl in the World," now presented as the second feature attraction on the same program, featuring Jane Wyatt and Louis Hayward.

The situations that make the misadventures of a strong-willed heiress who shares kitchen privileges with her cook and young sweetheart, The lively dialogue sparkles with gay humor and the sprightly situations keep getting funnier as the story unfolds. "The Luckiest Girl in the World" is taken from the Ladies' Home Journal story by Kitchen Privileges" by Anne Jordan. King Edward's Farewell Broadcast is now in the screen and is included in visualized from archives of the day. This special attraction will be presented tonight only.

AT THE CAPITOL

"Mummy's Boys" and The Big Game"

Murder, mystery, and merriment among the ancient tombs of Egypt are in store for the Capitol fans when Wooley's legion of fans when the popular team of comics "Mummy's Boys" are the feature day at the Capitol Theatre as hit No. 1 in a swell double bill holiday show.

The crazy comic's nineteenth film recalls the famous "curse of King Tut" and the ancient Egyptian connection with strange deaths that struck many members of the expedition that found Tut's tomb.

A lusty satire on the "terror type" of mystery-thriller, it takes the boys from chick digging in New York to shoveling in the Valley of the Kings, preserving of Egypt's treasures and the similar curse. The fact that it is employed in a supernatural threat of death as a blind for his dirty work, spices the hilarity with thrills and leads to a high-tension climax when the boys and their new leading lady, Barbara Pepper, are trapped in a spooky under ground crypt with the mummies.

Miss Pepper, who romances opposite Stanley, is a lively young blonde beauty who got her start by being "glorified" by the late Florenz Ziegfeld, in the Wheeler and Woolsey tradition of plentitude of pulchritude, has attractive young ladies romance with Woolsey.

With Richard Cullen, Frank M. Thomas, Willie Best, Mildred Irwin and Francis McDonald, topping the cast, "Mummy's Boys."

Added Hit, "The Big Game"

"The Big Game" RKO Radio's gridiron melodrama, is reported to reveal in startling fashion how big-time racketeers attempt to reap a harvest from collegiate games.

Philip Huston, noted Broadway stage actor, makes his debut in this Pandro S. Berman production opposite pretty Ann Travis.

The story revolves around the gambling career of a coal miner's son, played by Huston, whose prowess on the gridiron prompts the gambling friend of his brother to send him to university. Due to the fact that big gambling syndicates are enabled in on alleged "inside" information regarding the outcome of the contests, a newspaper sports writer starts a crusade against the racketeering and is responsible for the guilty Negro gaining his freedom. From the boy fights dismissal from school and struggles to clear his name in the face of seemingly overwhelming circumstances.

In addition to the strong cast, nine All-American football stars appear in the drama including Bill Wilson, William Shakespeare, Jay Berwanger, Gomer Jones, "King Kong" Keth, "Chuck" Bennia, Monk Mascrip, "Bones" Hamilton and Frank Alustante.

The player cast includes Bruce Cabot, James Gleason, Andy Devine, C. Henry Gordon, Guinn Williams, Margaret Seddon, Barbara Pepper and John Arledge.

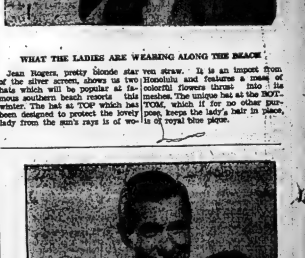
Pony Contest

Well Boys and Girls, the great day has arrived when those of you who have been hoping for the pony will hear who won the sought after prize, from our stage Thursday afternoon at 2.45.

HOW BRITAIN'S ROYAL PRINCESS SPENDS HER HOURS

Here is the daily schedule of 10-year-old Princess Elizabeth, who is all probability some day will be queen of Great Britain. Since her father ascended the throne as King George VI, Princess Elizabeth is being groomed for the throne with meticulous care.
—Central Press Canadian Photo.

Quinte Friendship Officers Installed



Under the direction of Rt. Ex. Comp. H. J. Clarke assisted by Past Principals Jr. Bro. Comp. C. B. Findlay, W. A. Walshe, Dr. 'A. J. W. Kinnear, W. Cole and Leonard Patrick of Moira Chapter, the officers of Quinte Friendship Chapter No. 227 R.A.M. were duly installed with appropriate ceremony in the Masonic Temple last evening in the presence of a large number of visiting brethren from the district. The work was ably carried out by the Installing Officer, who has officiated continuously in this position for a number of years. At the fourth degree following the lodge work, Roy Anderson acted as toastmaster and the usual toasts were drunk. The Masonic orchestra was in attendance and delightfully entertained the gathering. The officers installed were:

Ex. Comp.-Robert White, Z.
Ex. Comp. Percy Anderson, I.P.Z.
Ex. Comp. Howard Asselstine, H.
Ex. Comp. Samuel Dafoe, J.
Very Ex. Comp. William I. Cole, Scribe N.
Ex. Comp. Harry Hill, Scribe N.
Ex. Comp. Dr. A. W. Kinnear, Treasurer.
Comp. J. E. Bateman, P.S.
Comp. Wm. Cox, Asburg, P.S.
Comp. John Andrews, J.S.
Comp. N. Bird, Penrith V.
Comp. Frank Walker, Third V.
Comp. R. D. Adams, Second V.
Comp. J. A. Hanley, First V.
Comp. W. F. Youdale, S.S.
Comp. F. C. Holway, J.S.
Comps. Bruce Smith, Charles Bird, Assistant Stewards.
Comp. E. W. Bradley, Organist.
Comps. A. R. Schryver and Harry McKay, Auditors.
Comp. J. B. Findlay, Trustee.

For CHRISTMAS —GIVE—the famous
Laura Secord CANDIES
DOLAN
THE DRUGGIST

WHAT THE LADIES ARE WEARING ALONG THE BEACH

Jean Rogers, pretty blonde star ven strew. It is an import from of the silver screen, shows us two Honolulu and features a mess of hats which will be popular at fa- colorful flowers thrust in the mesh. The unique hat at the RIGHT was designed by Lisa Gilbert of TCM, which if for no other reason, keeps the face in the shade. The lady from the sun's rays is of wo- is of royal blue pique.

Jane Wyatt, Nat Pendleton and Louis Hayward featured in "The Luckiest Girl in the World," now on the Belle screen with Warner Baxter and June Lang in "White Hunter."

AUTO FINANCE

AUTO LOANS REFINANCING

On terms and at rates which you cannot obtain elsewhere. Phone or write us for particulars. Your application will be given prompt attention. Deal with confidence with the firm that has served Belleville and district for over 20 years.

HAIG BROS. LTD.
257 FRONT STREET
BELLEVILLE
Phone 1234

CAMPBELL AUTO FINANCE CO. LTD.

DENTIST

DR. ROBT. H. EMPSON
DENTIST
Phone 488 Over Post Office

LAND SURVEYOR

FRANK AYLESWORTH
Ontario Land Surveyor and Registered Professional Civil Engineer. Successor to Ayleworth & Peck. Prompt, accurate and reliable service. 6 Bridge St. E., Phone 2 or 1900, Kingston, Ont.

STOCKS & BONDS

HOGAN AND CRAWFORD, Members of Toronto Stock Exchange, Belleville Office, 257 Front St. Phone 1234.

Business Directory

MINERAL BATHS

THE Welsh Institute specializing in Medical Gymnastics, Electrotherapy, Hydrotherapy, Massage, Ozone, Radiant Heat, Infra Red Rays, Diathermy, Ionization, etc. Mrs. E. F. Jones, Principal, Graduate Welsh Institute, Phone 1165, 231 William St.

CHIROPRACTOR

R. A. WYATT, Ph.G., CHIROPRACTOR Graduate of Chiropractic, Toronto. Radiation Therapeutic Laboratory. Consultation and examination of blood and hemoglobin free. Office hours 9 to 5. Consultation and examination of urine by appointment. Office, 203 Coleman Street, Belleville, phone 2000.

DR. E. and VERA B. FITCHEN, Graduates of Chiropractic, Toronto. Consultation, Examination, Radiation, Chiropractic Treatment. Office hours 9 to 5. Graduates of Toronto and Massachusetts. Phone 2210, Office 88 E. Belleville, Ont. Phone 1274.

INSURANCE

The Receipt of Fire Loss Must be Known when you're protected with our Fire Insurance.

SANDY BURROWS
HOWARD FROST
LIFE AND FIRE INSURANCE
241 FRONT ST. PHONES 1280

HALL & EARLE
General Insurance, Fire, Automobile and Casualty
270 Front St. Phone 1154-w

LEGAL

WALLBRIDGE, CAMERON AND CO. (Successors to the late F. B. Wallbridge), Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, Money to loan, Dominion Bank Building, Belleville, Ontario. Bridge Street, Bancroft, Ontario.

MALCOLM, WRIGHT, BARRISTERS, Solicitors, Notaries, Etc. Belleville, Ontario.

T. W. WILLS, BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, Notary Public, Conveyancer, Etc. Belleville, Telephone 74. Money to loan on real estate at 5%.

FOSTER, PAYNE AND ARNOTT, BARRISTERS, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Etc. A. P. Foster, K.C., B. B. Payne, K.C., H. L. Arnott, Belleville, Ont.

FORTON AND GRAHAM, BARRISTERS, Solicitors, Notaries, Conveyancers, Etc. Office: 36 Bridge St. East Belleville. Mail: Box 1. Money to loan on mortgages. W. F. Forton, K.C., Belleville, Ont. H. Graham, Belleville.

DUNCAN AND HUTTLEY, B. C. Duncan, K.C., H. O. Huttley, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries and Conveyancers, Belleville, Ont. Corner House Building, Belleville, Ont. Phone 248.

38 HILLSIDE ST.
SOLID BRICK HOUSE
FOR SALE
At Reasonable Price
For Quick Sale
Living room, Dining room, Kitchen, 3 Bedrooms, 2 Piece Bath, Good Cellar, Garden, Garage.
Apply Home in a Personal Locality.

EXCLUSIVE AGENTS
Belleville Locators
GEO. H. GORMAN, Prop.
192 Front St. Opp. City Hall
Phone 99 Manor Phone 697

WANTED

BARBER FOR THURSDAY, DEC. 24th. Phone Earl Derry, 187 Trenton.

MAKE MONEY SELLING OUR nationally known Nursery stock. New selling plan with coupon books creates easier sales, more sales and more commission. Lake Brothers Nurseries, Montreal.

FOR SALE

USED WASHERS $15 UP; RADIOS $10 up; Stoves $5 up. Bring anything. 1 Bridge St. W. Co-operative Trading Co.

USE MODEL 2 VOLT 8 TUBE Battery Radio. Apply John Donaldson, R. 6, Belleville, Phone 21 ring 13. 223-16

BOSTON BULL PUPS, REAL Christmas present. Priced reasonable. 43 Murray St. 222-26

MEDTRED 7-TUBE RADIO, MUST be sold immediately. Apply 11 Victoria Ave. 222-24

SAXAPHONE, GOOD CONDITION, price reasonable. Case included. Phone 222. 221-26

TO LET

BED-SITTING ROOM, SUITABLE for married couple or two men. Apply 25 Victoria Ave. 223-26

TO LET OR FOR SALE

SIX ROOM BRICK HOUSE hardwood floors, furnace, garage, garden; immediate possession. 261 Sinclair Ave. Apply, 21 Crove St. Phone 231M. 216-tfd

FOR SALE OR RENT

CHURCH MILL AT HALLOWAY, fully equipped with machinery. For further particulars apply Mrs. W. A. Cadman, on premises. 219-tfd

LOST

CASH WITH ROYAL ARCH (Masonic) Regalia between Queen Street and Moncrief Hall. Finder please phone 1764J. 222-11

LOST

ON EAST HILL, PARCEL CONtaining Christmas gifts. Finder kindly return to Ontario Intelligencer Office and receive reward. 222-21

NOTICE

No Garbage Collection

TAKE NOTICE that there will be no garbage collection on Christmas Day. The route covered on Friday will not be taken care of until the next regular collection day.
J. WILFRED HOLMES,
City Clerk.
223-2t

DEATHS

GRANT—At Kingston, Ontario, on Tuesday, December 22nd, 1936, John Joseph Geary, formerly of Belleville, in his 63rd year.
The funeral will take place from the Martin Funeral Home, Church Street, Bellevile, Thursday morning, December 24th, to St. Michael's Church for Mass at 9 o'clock. Interment St. James' cemetery.
223-11

PROCLAMATION

PUBLIC HOLIDAY

BOXING DAY

At the request of a large number of citizens, I hereby proclaim Saturday, December 26th, a civic holiday and I would respectfully request that all citizens observe said holiday.

HARRY HILL,
Mayor.
223-3t

INSULATION

ARTHUR A. SILLS CO.

CONTRACTOR & DISTRIBUTOR
205-207 Coleman St. Phone 1584
223-26

AUCTION SALE

The undersigned Auctioneer has instructions to sell by public auction the Factory and Equipment of Wray Steel Tank Company, Lot 1, Concession II, Sawdon Twp., on Tuesday, December 29th, commencing at one o'clock, the following:

Milk Vat
Sharples Wray Separator 4000
Wray Steel Tank
Wooden Wray Tank 10,000 Ibs.
Galvanized Water Tank and Pump
2 sets Steel
Weigh Can Ladders
Some Cheese Boxes
Hooks
Step Ladder
Fork
Bottle Bottles
Vat Cover
Hoops
Box Stoves
3 Presses
Coil Pails
At the same time and place, the building, a frame structure with a steel roof, in good condition, will be offered for sale.
TERMS—Cash.
HENRY WALLACE,
Auctioneer.
223, 24, 26

PERSONAL

Women, worry won't help. Drugs for all cases of menstrual disorders at will. Free booklet this week at Latimer's and Seldon's Drug Stores. c27-3m

MENS [illegible] VIGOR AT ONCE. Get Genee Tone Tablets (medical compound) from druggist on guarantee to satisfy or money back. Don't be satisfied, master system. Get Genee Tone. Call, write or phone the Druglet.
M14-41t

STAPLEY'S EXPRESS & BUS SERVICE
Belleville - Madoc - Bancroft
Leaves Belleville for Bancroft 2.00 p.m.; arrives in Bancroft 5.45 p.m.
Leaves Bancroft for Belleville 8.00 a.m.; arrives 11.30 a.m.
Leaves Belleville for Madoc 9.00 a.m.; arrives 12.30 p.m.
Daily Except Sunday Phone 1340
213-52-tfd

A DAILY LETTER TO THE LOVED ONES FAR AWAY

300

Poppy News Letters about people they know in the old Home Town and District.

SEND THEM

The Ontario Intelligencer

The HOME TOWN PAPER
Phone 98

UNLISTED MINES

Unlisted mines furnished by A. E. Ketcheson and Co. today at 2.15.

| | Albany 26-26 | Athona 24-A | Buckshot 11(28 | Dumptan 14-16 | Capps Gold 39-43 | Darwin 37-39 | Can. Fandora 18-22 | Forty Four 23½-25 | Faulkenham 37-41 | Gold Belle 69-73 | Lapa Cadillac 122-126 | Gillies Lake 80-83 | Hudson Patrick 12A | Lamaque 775-825 | Leitch Gold 23-24 | Madsen Red Lake 125-126 | McCarthy Webb 44A | Monbar 50-52 | Moosbia 56-59 | Okland 62B | Old Diamond 41-44 | Pickle Crow Cal. 100-106 | Rice Lake 4A | Rahill 30A | Rober 13-14 | Smellers Gold 8½-10½ | Simpson River 42-46 | Stockman 36B | Schriber 12-13 | Shenango 36A | Sigma 502A | Slave Extension 12A | Thom. Cal. 210-217 | Wendigo 41-44 | Wilson Red Lake 10A |
|---|---|---

HOW JOAN LOVED THRU

by

ANNE FORESTER

Chapter 45
Joan Makes Her Fate.....

Joan could read into Mark's letter more meaning than he put into them. She said nothing to her fiancee of a star. Mark had told her that they were to marry her. With a woman's intuition Joan knew that this was the final test of Thelma's sanity, with all the hero-worshippers at stake. With some life's figure at some fine work of fiction) some give the heroine the benefit of the pulling and hauling of the hair. With me it was Thelma. Joan knew all things depended on her eyes, to discard the cheap-ness of deception—be the real thing. Those traits until it was too late. She had become the idol of the common people in his life. Her next words proved as much.

"I must had such a star, dearie. We're all hero-worshippers at heart. With some it's a figure of fame, some fine work of fiction) some give the benefit of the doubt—a pulling and hauling of the hair. With me it was Thelma. I

DAILY SHORT STORY

HARD BOILED

By Vera Payne Rockwell

"Kindness don't pay; I ought to know." Bitterness hinted in Miss Priscilla's weary sigh placed beside "I've been kind to folks all my life and others don't." She loosened the near pocketing over her glasses at Lila.

"In the back" suggested Lila, coolly.

"That's it!" exclaimed Miss Priscilla with satisfaction. "In the back. I couldn't think of the spot."

Lila held her hand on Miss Priscilla's knee. "Tell me one instance where kindness did not pay," she begged.

"One instance!" cried the lady of the tainted shoes. "Can I recall one you'd doubt? There's the time I broke my heart over Mrs. Gordon and her cruel husband. I just helped her to leave him and, for months, comforted her on having saved her life and reason. Then, one time, she came back and came, broke and repentant. Her fool husband forgave her, took her in, and . . . Oh, the story is told. You're sorry?"

"Proof of it! Everybody else loves you," blurted Lila.

Miss Priscilla gave her a stern glance and said, "And Reta Mendelson. They wouldn't let her marry anyone. Need I say more? What did I do? - I nominated and elected my friend Judge Hamilton for Cupid and smoother-out of the path of true love. I took Amon in to board for next to nothing and managed so that Reta could meet him at my house from time to time. They were married on her twenty-first birthday and my heart glowed with the reward. Now, I'm a 'too-dead done.' She snorted with contempt.

"I think it was a glorious deed," said Lila stoutly, "to unite two loving young hearts."

"O, yes, you would," sniffed Miss Priscilla. "Well, they married and had six young ones in eight years! They both ate more than my share ever put together. Folks can solve their own problems and fix their own mistakes from now on as far as I'm concerned. I'm through. I'm hard-boiled!" She glared at Lila.

"Oh yeah?" answered Lila, unimpressed. "About as hard-boiled as a one-minute egg. But this is all in the past. You must have had something else happen to make you feel as you do today."

"You know the Simpsons," replied Miss Priscilla, tight-lipped, "all those young ones and him out of work most of the time. A few days ago I went over there and — found Hazel, the seven-year-old, sitting up near the fire, moaning enough to break your heart.

"'Child's sake, what ails you?' I asked. Mrs. Simpson told me she had fallen and broken her wrist and her father had set it.

"'Set it,' I said, in surprise, 'has he studied surgery?'

"No, he ain't surgeried none," Mrs. Simpson tartly, 'but he's handy.'

"'Well, I couldn't get my night's rest thinking of that poor little girl. Soon's I got my morning work done I hurried over to Simpson's.

"'You ought to have a doctor,' I told Mrs. Simpson.

"'Much thing!' she whined it out. 'Pa's handy an' it costs a heap of money to have a doctor.'

"Along about teatime I couldn't stand it any longer. I had talked over the phone with several neighbors and they had agreed with me that something ought to be done. So I called up the district nurse today to hear the reading of the will of our late friend and relative Silas Wharton. I am sure you are not interested in the preliminaries, so I shall dispense with them. Listen carefully. First, to Miss Norton, my niece, I bequeath the sum of one thousand dollars; second to my cousins, John, Fred and Henry Morgan, I bequeath the sum of five hundred dollars each; third to my nephew, Jed Norton, who has shown plainly that he has designs on my money, I bequeath the sum of one dollar; fourth, to my friend Bob Harris, who was ungrateful for all I did for him, and who left me in my time of greatest need, I bequeath one dollar; fifth, to my respected friend and secretary, Paul Jackson, because of his loyalty and obedience, I bequeath the balance of my fortune—"

There was a gasp of amazement from the heirs. Jackson's expected a great deal of Silas's fortune, for he had been smart and miserly and had told them much more than once they need not expect much of anything. They had concluded that he intended leaving most of it to Bob, thus their enmity toward him. But now he, too, had been left out in the cold, and they glared inwardly. Still they had a new object for their hatred now—the secretary who would inherit so much. Silas was reputed to have had half a million dollars.

Bob, who had been sitting in silence for a few moments now rose and advanced to the table where the lawyer was returning papers to his brief case.

"Mind if I look at the will, Lerlar?" he asked.

"Why, of course not." was the answer, as the lawyer handed the will to him. "Thinking of contesting it, perhaps?" he asked.

Bob did not reply, but busied himself with re-reading the legal paper. The others were preparing to leave.

Suddenly they were halted by a surprised gasp from Bob. He started to return the will to Lerlar, but hesitated and said, "Where's the fee original will, Lerling?"

The lawyer looked up in surprise and answered, "Why, you have it there in your hand. There was only one made."

"No doubt there was only one made by my uncle," Bob said, "but this isn't it. This was forged!"

Rage flooded the lawyer's face and he made as if to strike his accuser, but the expression in Bob's eye halted him. "Young man," he said, "that's a bold statement; you don't know what you're saying, I demand—"

Bob said coldly, "That will was forged, and I'm accusing you and Jackson of conspiring to defraud me out of what is rightfully ours".

Jackson's voice was shrill. "You young squirt, just because you were the old man's pet I guess you're sore because you didn't get everything. Well, listen, you bore down your own playhouse when you left him. He told you so much."

Bob shoved him backwards and he fell into his chair. "I know Uncle Silas was — became ill — left, but I was tired of being stern-ly bossed! I was old enough to know how to take care of myself. You probably don't know that he wrote me after I left, trying to get me to come back; he told me he had left me heaps of his fortune in his will, and that's one reason why I suspected this will wasn't the only one, for, whatever Uncle Silas was, he certainly never lied to me. He made his will right after I left, two years ago. Now listen—while I am in the north I worked in a paper mill. Everyone knows that all writing paper is watermarked. I recognized the paper on which this will is written, as being a brand that was manufactured at our mill. Look carefully. This will is dated March 2, 1932. It could be nothing but a forgery, for we didn't start manufacturing this particular brand of paper until April 1933!"

QUEENSBORO

Queensboro, Dec. 21—Miss Ida McCaw spent last week-end with friends in Madoc.

Mrs. Ross Phillips and Hattie Holmes, Remington, were Friday guests of Mrs. Jas. Groves.

Mrs. Thos. Turner spent a few days last week with friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. McClintock, Eldorado were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs C. McMurray.

Mrs. John Holmes, Tweed, spent a few days during the past week with her daughter, Mrs. Thos. Lynn.

The play "Dead Line" was presented by the young people of this vicinity in the Orange Hall on Friday evening, Dec. 18 under the auspices of the L.O.B.A. It was a decided success and was enjoyed by the large crowd which was in attendance. Those taking part in the play were Mrs. H. Decker, Mrs. Alan Diamond, Misses V. Decker, M. Cawley and Lola Crover, also Messrs. Allan Diamond, Earl and Albert Pegg, Charles Lynn, and Charles West. Between acts solos were given by Miss Freda Beger and Mr. Leonard Summers also an instrumental duet by Misses Marion Love and Vera Decker. After the program the remainder of the evening was spent in tanning.

MR. AND MRS.— By Briggs

BRINGING UP FATHER— By George McM

TILLIE THE TOILER— By Russ Westover

TODDY— By George Mayer

THE WILL

By R. M. NOBLETT

Rob Harris sat apart from the others in the room. They, all his relatives, had come to the home of his late uncle, Silas Wharton, to hear the reading of the deceased's will.

Rob was a social outcast where his relatives were concerned, and they made the fact very plain by having as little to do with him as possible. After several attempts at Lila's conversation, Rob gave the answers to his questions were mere "yes" or "no's," and at last he left the others alone and entertained himself with his own thoughts.

There was a sudden stillness as Lila opened and closed the door, the attorney, walked in, accompanied by the secretary of the late Silas Wharton.

The secretary seated himself by a desk and busied himself upon the others the smug smile that had long before come to hate when he had lived there with his uncle. Rob had learned to judge character fairly well, and he had often wondered how his uncle had come to like Jackson.

The attorney raised his hand to command silence and said: "Friends, I have called you here this morning for the reading of the will of Silas Wharton. I am sure you are not interested in the preliminaries, so I shall dispense with them. Listen carefully. First, to Miss Norton, my niece, I bequeath the sum of one thousand dollars; second to my cousins, John, Fred and Henry Morgan, I bequeath the sum of five hundred dollars each; third to my nephew, Jed Norton, who has shown plainly that he has designs on my money, I bequeath the sum of one dollar; fourth, to my friend Bob Harris, who was ungrateful for all I did for him, and who left me in my time of greatest need, I bequeath one dollar; fifth, to my respected friend and secretary, Paul Jackson, because of his loyalty and obedience, I bequeath the balance of my fortune—"

There was a gasp of amazement from the heirs. Jackson's expected a great deal of Silas's fortune, for he had been smart and miserly and had told them much more than once they need not expect much of anything. They had concluded that he intended leaving most of it to Bob, thus their enmity toward him. But now he, too, had been left out in the cold, and they glared inwardly. Still they had a new object for their hatred now—the secretary who would inherit so much. Silas was reputed to have had half a million dollars.

Bob, who had been sitting in silence for a few moments now rose and advanced to the table where the lawyer was returning papers to his brief case.

"Mind if I look at the will, Lerlar?" he asked.

"Why, of course not." was the answer, as the lawyer handed the will to him. "Thinking of contesting it, perhaps?" he asked.

Bob did not reply, but busied himself with re-reading the legal paper. The others were preparing to leave.

Suddenly they were halted by a surprised gasp from Bob. He started to return the will to Lerlar, but hesitated and said, "Where's the fee original will, Lerling?"

The lawyer looked up in surprise and answered, "Why, you have it there in your hand. There was only one made."

"No doubt there was only one made by my uncle," Bob said, "but this isn't it. This was forged!"

Rage flooded the lawyer's face and he made as if to strike his accuser, but the expression in Bob's eye halted him. "Young man," he said, "that's a bold statement; you don't know what you're saying, I demand—"

Bob said coldly, "That will was forged, and I'm accusing you and Jackson of conspiring to defraud me out of what is rightfully ours".

Jackson's voice was shrill. "You young squirt, just because you were the old man's pet I guess you're sore because you didn't get everything. Well, listen, you bore down your own playhouse when you left him. He told you so much."

Bob shoved him backwards and he fell into his chair. "I know Uncle Silas was — became ill — left, but I was tired of being stern-ly bossed! I was old enough to know how to take care of myself. You probably don't know that he wrote me after I left, trying to get me to come back; he told me he had left me heaps of his fortune in his will, and that's one reason why I suspected this wasn't the only one, for, whatever Uncle Silas was, he certainly never lied to me. He made his will right after I left, two years ago. Now listen—while I am in the north I worked in a paper mill. Everyone knows that all writing paper is watermarked. I recognized the paper on which this will is written, as being a brand that was manufactured at our mill. Look carefully. This will is dated March 2, 1932. It could be nothing but a forgery, for we didn't start manufacturing this particular brand of paper until April 1933!"

Radio Programs

WEDNESDAY

8.00—Breakfast Club—WJZ
10.00—Betty and Bob—WABC
10.15—Modern Cinderella Sketch—WJR.
11.45—Edward MacHugh, Gospel Singer—WJZ
12.00—Christmas Concert, Glee Clubs and Orch.—WJZ
4.00—Henry Busse's Orch.—WEAF
6.45—Lowell Thomas—WJZ
7.00—Mary Ann, sketch—WJZ
7.01—A.-ka 'n Andy—WEAF
7.15—Uncle Ezra—WEAF
7.30—Lum and Abner—WJZ
8.00—Fannie Brice—WJZ
8.00—One Man's Family—WEAF
8.00—Serenade of America—WABC
8.30—Famous Actors' Guild: Ethel Barrymore—WJZ
8.30—Wayne King's Orch.—WEAF
8.30—Rhema and Lee—WJZ
9.00—Town Hall Tonight: Fred Allen—WEAF
9.00—Andre Kostelanetz' Orch.—WABC
9.30—Community Homer Rodeheaver—WABC
10.00—"Dead Reckoning" by Phillips Lord—WABC
10.00—Your Hit Parade—WEAF
10.00—Special Christmas Program from Montreal, Canada—WJZ
10.30—Chicago City Opera Co. "Alice in Wonderland"—WJZ
11.00—Benny Goodman's Orch.—WABC
10.30—Rabbi Louis L. Mann "A Rabbi Looks at Christmas"—WABC
11.00—Christmas Carols—WJZ

THURSDAY

8.00—Breakfast Club—WJZ
10.00—Betty and Bob—WABC
10.45—Sisters of the Skillet—WJZ
11.45—Ed MacHugh, Gospel Singer—WJZ
12.30—The Romance of Helen
3.00—Al Pearce's Gang—WABC
4.00—Eddy Duchin's Orch—WEAF
4.30—Jim Hunter News—CFRB
5.45—Lowell Thomas, news—WJZ
7.00—Amos 'n Andy—WEAF.
7.15—Sportcast, Ted Husing—WABC
7.30—Lum and Abner—WLW
8.00—Kitty Valentine—WEAF
8.00—Band Wagon: Kate Smith—WABC
8.30—Ain't 'Nough from Buenos Aires—WEAF
8.30—Guy Lombardo's Orch—WOR
9.00—Show Boat—WEAF
9.00—Major Bowes amateur hour—WABC
10.00—Then and Now; Guests—WABC
10.00—Bob Burns—WEAF
10.30—March of Time—WABC
12.00—Vincent Lopez' Orch.—WABC

FRIDAY

9.00—Breakfast Club—WJZ
9.30—Richard Maxwell, songs—WABC
11.00—Magazine of the Air—WABC
11.30—Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe—WJZ
11.45—Ed MacHugh, Gospel Singer—WJZ
2.00—Music Appreciation Hour—WEAF
4.00—Tea Time at Morrell's—WEAF
4.30—Radio Guild—WJZ
6.30—Singing Lady—WJZ
7.00—Amos 'n Andy—WEAF
7.30—Lum and Abner—WJZ
8.00—Concert: Jessica Dragonette, bass—WEAF
8.00—Broadway Varieties—WABC
8.30—Ray Perkins and Ray Heatherton—WABC
8.30—Smith Ballew Orch—WJZ
8.30—Waltz Time Frank Munn tenor; Abe Lyman's Orchestra—WEAF
8.30—Hollywood Hotel—WABC
9.00—Fred Waring's Orch—WJZ
9.30—Josef Bonime's Orch—WJZ
10.00—Kipling Program: Rhythm Orch.—WJZ
10.30—To be announced.—WABC
12.00—Guy Lombardo's Orch.—WABC

(Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service)

TARZAN AND THE LEOPARD MEN

As Ga-yat vanished into the forest, Tarzan settled down with stoic patience to await the outcome of the great ape's mission. He neither wasted his strength in trying to break the bonds which he had found unbreakable, nor displayed his nervous energy in futile worry.

Meanwhile, Old Timer and Kali Bwana trudged on as rapidly as possible through the jungle. Now and then they stopped to rest, but these halts were brief. "We must keep going," said the man. "It's not safe here. We're still too close to the Betets country."

Kali Bwana felt a pleasant warmth toward this man who had saved her life. Through him she might still find Jerry. Impulsively she placed a hand on his arm. "You have done so much for me," she said. Her touch was like a spark to the powder of the man's deep love.

He wheeled and seized her, pressed her close and kissed her. She struck at him and pulled herself away. "How dare you!" she panted. "I hate you!" Old Timer looked into her blazing eyes for a long moment. "I love you, Kali," he whispered, "my Kali."

RUGBY— BOXING— WRESTLING—

SPORTS Of All SORTS

HOCKEY— BADMINTON— BOWLING—

MELVIN OTT OF N. Y. GIANTS IS BATTING CHAMP

"Ducky Wucky" Medwick of Cardinals a Close Second

N. L. AVERAGES

Lloyd Waner Struck Out Fewest Times in Season

(By Ed Fedor)

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, Dec. 22.—(AP)—The wrath of an eye-lash did not accrue Mel Ott and Ducky Medwick last baseball season so far as slugging and timely hitting honors went in the National League.

Official averages for these miscellaneous departments, released today, showed New York Giants "Little Melvin" and St. Louis Cardinals' "Ducky Wucky" wound up in a blanket finish to share what honor may be handed around.

As a team, however, the Ole House gang from St. Louis, paced by Medwick's .349 mark, swept the boards, outclassing even the heavy-hitting Pittsburgh Pirates and the slugging Phillies.

Ott took the individual slugging championship, finishing with a .365 average for the season, but by hitting for 314 total bases in 534 trips to the plate. Medwick, however, topped everyone in sight by belting the ball for a total of 367 bases and driving 122 runs across the plate.

The Cards' outfielder wound up fourth in the slugging section, with a percentage of .554. He trailed Ott, Dolph Camilli of the Phillies and Johnny Mize, the Cards' prize Rookie, but was not far behind any of them. Ott, on the other hand, was a poor second in total bases, with his aggregate 314, and a surprisingly close runner-up in runs batted in, with 116.

Pirates up in Ratings

Otherwise, the Pirates did most of the "champion" producing.

Lloyd Waner struck out the fewest times, chalking up a near-record, minimum of five whiffs in 105 games. Bill Brubaker, was the "strikeout King," fanning 96 times in 146 games. Arky Vaughan led the league for the third straight year in pilfering bases. He also worked pitchers for 118 passes.

Paul Goodman of Cincinnati Reds had the hardest time getting away from "Bean Bals". He was hit by pitched balls while at bat. Camilli, Joe Moore and the Phillie Lou Ordeman were the Reds' next best play-things each Boston Hal Spindel was that department's meat, stealing the title away from Ernie Lombardi, Reds' catcher, by driving in 98 runs batted in.

Ott popped up with a new pet record. He walked 116 times, to pass the 100-mark for eight years running. Previously, Pittsburgh's Pie Traynor had been tied with a record total of seven successive years.

The Cards' slugging championship was somewhat one-sided. They polled better than the second-place Pirates compiled. The Ole House gang hit for a total of 2,370 bases and drove 723 runs across the plate, leading the Pirates in both of these divisions.

FREE!
BOOK ON HOCKEY
A Great Book "How to Become a Hockey Star" by T. P. "Tommy" Gorman, Manager of Montreal Canadiens (World "Champions"), profusely illustrated and contains many valuable tips on how to play the game.
also
AUTOGRAPHED PICTURES of CANADIENS
(Montreal's Famous Hockey Team)
Group "Les Canadiens"
Individual pictures of
Georges Mantha Wilfred "Wildcat" Cude
Toe Blake Ralph "Cooney" Weiland
Earl Robinson Herb Cain
Paul Haynes Dave Kerr
Dan Bouchard Art Lesieur
Johnny Gagnon Mervyn "Red" Dutton
Walter "Mush" March Harry Bowlin
Wilf Cude Joseph Benoit
Jean Pusie
• Your choice of the above •
For a limited time only we offer at "CROWN BRAND" or "LILY WHITE," Corn Syrup.—Write us on the back of your name and address — plainly — and the name of your favorite Hockey Star (name of the picture you want) (one book or picture for each label). Mail the label to the address below.
EDWARDSBURG
CROWN BRAND CORN SYRUP
THE FAMOUS ENERGY FOOD
A product of
The CANADA STARCH COMPANY Limited
TORONTO

Sport Callings

By Ken Colling

Manager Eddie Thomas has still got the sign hung out: "junior players wanted." Along with manager of the annual call for the season's initial practice of the local junior squad last night, manager Thomas doubtless being absent owing to the busy Christmas rush of business. For instance only one aspiring goalkeeper put in an appearance, he being Jack Jackson, a product of the local Ki-Y League. In practices Skipper Thomas always had three or four captains of the twice-out-balling for goals and two-out-doubles next week will see a general pulling of teen-aged young-sters wending their way to the local ice igloo, when the next junior puck practice is called.

We only saw one member of last year's junior squad present, he being Bill Stewart, clever wing player who showed plenty of class with his stick-handling ability last night. Bill was another who kept his eye on the puck and he surely made the best of chances with plenty of goals and continued vigor. One odd-comer, a robust youngster named "Webb" Wilson from Mountain Grove, coasted up and down with the right lane and had all the marksmen on the prospect who needs plenty of polish, however. "Hot-dog" Muir and Pat Slater, former M.C.I. rubber-chasers, also were last year's St. Mikes centreman. Jim Stone and Al Burns were others to put in an appearance. Jim Cooper, product of the local Ki-Y League and brother of Bill Pepper, who played with the Junior "A" team in 1936, was also present and he showed that he has not forgotten how to handle himself. A few more practices and with the additional material that is expected to turn out Manager Thomas should be able to ultimately get a real good banner higher than in past years perhaps.

No one knows—and few have attempted to count—the number of times the first ice skater, or where the first primitive contest began. We doubt if it was anywhere on the northern countries of Europe, and on settled ponds. Even the first recorded contest of skating is in connection with the Norse god Skadi through a fall on the ice by Skadi, daughter of Schelving, the giant. Skadi's brother called the "Fairest Relic of Skating." Of course he was fairest, for he was the only one who could skate. Skadi's brother was presented to the whys and the wherefores of skating, and he was a real skater, and he was a real teacher of skating, but it is well known fact, that too skating is wonderful for the health, and that the exercise of exercise, towards the building of the muscular system. Today skating is the most diverse sports open to those to the public and offered to the public of this community, too skating, and the most popular sport that can be thoroughly enjoyed by all. Notice: Do more ice skating.

As is usually his custom the Pirate lacrosse squad met last night another for an error yesterday. The Littlock Court was crowded with that the R.C.A.F. intermediates would be coached by Jackie "Toots" Holway, ex-Belleville pro hockey player. For the information of curious (?) and the contrary, we might inform him that "Toots" Holway is not a former hockey player, Toots signed a contract with the Seattle Ice Hawks of the Pacific Coast League on Monday. He was communicated with by Manager Frank Patrick last week and asked to report immediately. "Toots" decided to remain at home with his family for Christmas and informed Patrick of his decision. Monday night came but "Toots" Holway was not there. Tuesday, due to transportation both ways guaranteed and to get to the "Queen City of Seattle," "Toots" is looking forward to a big time and enjoyable Christmas. "I'm leaving by train for Chicago where I change to a plane and I'll be in

BELMONT RESTAURANT

FRONT ST.—Near Victoria Avenue

Special Christmas Dinner

75c

From Noon to Midnight Christmas Day

Consomme Royal Cream Turkey Soup
Oyster Cocktail Queen Olives
Celery Hearts Iceberg Lettuce
Baked Fresh Filet of Sole, Maitre de Hotel
Roast Young Turkey—Cranberry Sauce
Roast Young Duckling—Chestnut Dressing Fried Sweet Potatoes
Roast Sprigg Chicken—Savoury Dressing
Choice Porterhouse Steak Asparagus Tips
Grilled Filet Mignon Champignons

Fresh Green Peas Golden Bantam Cream Corn
Scalloped, Creamed, Whipped, Fried Sweet Potatoes
Mapleton Plum Pudding—Wine Sauce
Sponge Cake and Fresh Bonne Hot Mince Pie Pumpkin Pie
Fresh Fruit Sundae Cheese Nuts Layer Raisins
Fresh Fruit Tea, Coffee, Milk Ginger Ale

PHONE FOR RESERVATIONS
PHONE 1838

DELANEYS
CHRISTMAS EVE FUR SPECIALS

FUR MUFFS	$1.95
FRENCH SEAL MUFFS	$2.50 up
HUDSON SEAL MUFFS	$3.75 up
GREY BROADTAIL	$7.50
BLENDED MUSKRAT	$8.75
BABY'S ROSE	$9.50 up
SCARVES	$9.50 up

In appreciation of the hearty co-operation which our customers have given us during our busy season Delaneys will be closed on Boxing Day, Saturday, December 26th, to enable our employees to enjoy their Christmas festivities to the fullest extent.

Delaney Exclusive Furriers

77 Campbell St. Store Open to 10 p.m. Phone 737

MAKE CHRISTMAS MERRY with FRESH FLOWERS and PLANTS from POTTER'S

FLOWERS CUT FRESH DAILY FROM OUR OWN GREENHOUSES —WORK A SPECIALTY

POTTER'S

Phone 516 Market Square

We take this opportunity of wishing our clients and friends the Compliments of the Season, and a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

JAMIESON BONE & CO.

INSURANCE - INVESTMENTS

CHURCH OF ENGLAND

Church of St. Thomas

REV. A. BEAUCHAMP PAYNE, Vicar.

CHRISTMAS EVE—Thursday

11.30 p.m.—Choral Celebration Holy Communion.

CHRISTMAS DAY

8.00 a.m.—Holy Communion.
11.00 a.m.—Holy Communion (Choral)

FUNERAL FOR 5 HELD IN OTTAWA

Many Men in Public Life Including Prime Minister Attend

Ottawa, Dec. 23—(CP)—Two days before what should be the happiest time of the year for children, Fernand Giroux, 14, and his 15-year-old sister Rosetie trudged along beside their father today to the funeral of their brother and four sisters.

Many men in public life, including Prime Minister Mackenzie King, accompanied friends and relatives to the church for the funeral of the five children of Adelard Giroux killed in the fire, that destroyed their home early Tuesday.

Added to the father's bitterness was the discovery today the kitchen range was stolen from the home a few hours after the fire. It and another stove were the only contents that survived the blaze.

"The stoves were all we had left," Giroux said.

Mrs. Giroux who saved herself by leaping from a window after suffering severe burns, was reported at the hospital today as slightly improved.

Only three of the eight children escaped the fire. Besides Rosetie, married his baby daughter, Bernadette, as he ran from the blazing building.

Those who perished were Romeo, 11, Cecile, 9, Jeanne, 7, Marguerite, eight and Jeanne, five.

The fire was believed to have started, when one of the stoves became overheated.

BISHOP OF MANCHESTER

(Continued from page one)

of the disfavor wherewith his proposal was viewed had renounced all thoughts of marrying Mrs. Simpson—while the sacrifice of personal inclination would have been acclaimed in many quarters—there would undoubtedly have been a prevailing feeling of uneasiness which would have qualified the loyalty with which the British people are accustomed to regard the occupant of the throne."

The Archbishop of Canterbury again will broadcast to the nation Sunday night. It will be a radio call back to the faith. The primate believes the time has come when the nation needs to be reminded of what christianity demands. He feels there has been a drifting away from religion. There must be a change of heart and mind.

The floodlight of criticism which the Archbishops of Canterbury and York have turned to former King Edward has aroused a certain amount of resentment. The view is frequently heard is that while the Archbishops may be right, Edward has paid the penalty of his errors and that it is better now to draw the veil.

"There are two Archbishops," says the Daily Express "That the "English rule recognizes and pays. Now they have both had their say about the former head of state probably both will agree to let things rest.

Charity "at Home"

The Archbishop of Canterbury's call to prayer, to faith, hope and charity could not be better timed. The greatest of these is said to be charity. And it begins at home."

"The nation," comments the Daily Mail, "having resumed its normal life, does not wish to contemplate what is unhappy, that is past. Let it rest.

"It insist on dwelling on yesterday, to re-assess a crisis safely surmounted is unprofitable, while the harm terms cast by the Archbishop of York are doubly inappropriate at this season. There will be general resentment if charity does not allow the matter to sleep. We hope that the prevailing mood of restraint and silence will henceforth everywhere be respected."

Archbishop Upheld by Paper

The Liverpool Daily Post in its London letter observes that "the Archbishop of York is the true reporter of the mind of the nation when he says that the conflict between the Duke of Windsor's public destiny and his private life should not have developed."

"But what particular purpose is served by repeating the obvious? asks this Provincial paper. "The mind and nerves of the nation have been sufficiently worked upon by the crisis without sermonising being thrust upon us.

"I find it difficult to believe Dr. Temple's entirely unnecessary public inquest on the abdication can cause anything but pain and embarrassment—and not least to King George and Queen Elizabeth."

"But possibly the Diocesan Bishops and other religious leaders will appreciate that enough—if not more than enough—now has been said."

Dr. Henry Wilson, Bishop of Chelmsford, has been put on the list of 'condemned'."

Plight of Church

Dr. Wilson is the latest of the Bishops to enter the arena of public controversy. He said recently that it would be a good thing if a certain number of Bishops and clergy were shot. He was almost immediately overwhelmed with letters. Some were diverting. Some were serious. Some obligingly rewarded a list of bishops and clergy who should be shot. One or two thoughtfully included Dr. Wilson himself among the condemned.

The Bishop now explains he was misunderstood.

"Apparently they imagined," he writes in the monthly letter of the Chelmsford Diocese published today, "that my remark took rise from a feeling of disapproval toward certain of the clergy and bishops. The truth of the matter was that I discussed what in my judgment is the gravest fact of modern life.

"I mean by that trouble the persecution to which the churches of Russia, Spain, Germany and other countries have been subjected. Also the pitiful submission of the church in Italy to the secular authority.

"I went on to say that the likelihood of religious persecution in this country might not be great but it was by no means impossible; that it sometimes thought that if the same treatment were meted out to our clergy in this country it might be a very great stimulus to religion. The truth of the matter is that the church is always strong when it is misused, weak when it is pampered."

DISTRESS FLARES WERE IGNORED

Captain of Tug Reports Incident After Arrival in Port

Halifax, Dec. 22.—(CP)—Distress flares set off by the crew of the trawler St. Outhbert, when she was wallowing helplessly in heavy seas off the Nova Scotia coast Sunday night were ignored by "a small steamer", Captain J. Barr Champion said today as the dragger, now safe in port, underwent repairs.

The St. Outhbert, her engines disabled, was towed into Halifax yesterday by the powerful tug foundation Triumph, sold to British Continental interests, the former Halifax trawler had sailed from this port last Thursday, but she was only 145 miles off the coast when Captain Champion called for assistance Sunday.

"We sent up three flares and two rockets but the vessel continued her course." he told reporters. The steamer sighted, declared Captain Champion, Nova Scotia master mariner, was about two miles astern of the St. Outhbert.

EFFORTS MADE TO STEM SUICIDES

Officials State May be Busiest Month in This Department

Vienna, Dec. 23—(AP)—The Austrian cabinet ordered reductions in the price of basic food necessities today in an effort to stem the increasing suicide rate.

Milk, sugar and coffee were included in the latest move to calm the economic pressure, said to be the outstanding cause of self-destruction.

Persons of all stations in life are involved in daily newspaper reports of suicides, and, while over anti-semitism is lacking, an even increased number of Jews, exiled from Germany, seek advice about committing their desire to kill themselves.

They are among the 200 persons each month who call at the semi-official department for people who are tired of living (lebensmuedenstelle).

Utterly dejected, they lay bare their woes and are offered as much help as possible in readjusting themselves. Although the department has aided more than 16,000 persons since it was started in 1923 the number of suicides reported constantly is growing.

Official statistics are almost impossible to get but it is estimated in Vienna alone six persons every day seek death.

Men are the victims of their depressions more often than women, according to the bureau, and May is their busiest time of the year because of the contrast between a blossoming world and their own dejected spirits.

The department does not make loans or obtain jobs for applicants. The consultants limit their help to advice, attempts at reconcile with relatives and creditors, legal aid, and, sometimes, more material help.

FORMER SENATOR DIES

Washington, Dec. 22.—(AP)—Former United States Senator Benson D. Paes of Ohio died unexpectedly in a hotel here today of a heart attack. He was 73.

THREE IN FIELD

St. Catharines, Ont., Dec. 23—(CP)—Ald. H. K. Rogers, Ald. F. G. Coy, and ex-Mayor J. D. Wright were nominated for St. Catharines mayoralty race today and all signified their intention of running.

W. J. Chapman and W. B. Elliott were returned to the Public Utilities Commission by acclamation.

Packages Bright with red and green, Herald Christmas in Belleville Business District. Cheerful crowds fill the Streets, gay greetings the air . . . and the Happy Holiday Spirit comes to Belleville.

It's real, this Christmas spirit, when you see it in this Christmas City! It's in the air . . . in the people . . . in the streets! It's a part of the city itself . . . a favorite time with those who know Belleville!

Crowds? of course! Happy crowds, bent on spreading happiness with the treasure they find in the stores. Cheerful crowds, a part of the Christmas scene in every store, mingling with bright lights, bright trimmings, bright gifts. Smart crowds . . . for they've come to Belleville, where shopping is easy . . . and fun!

WELSH MINER GETS CHANCE TO ENTER OPERA

Robert W. Nicholson poses for his first photograph on board ship as he arrives at New York. Robert, 29, is a Welshman who, until recently, has worked in Australian mines. When Richard Crooks, well known tenor, heard Nicholson's baritone voice, he encouraged the lad to get

ENTIRE PLANT CLOSED DOWN

St. Gregoire, Que., Dec. 23 (CP)—Entire plant of the Dominion Textile Company here was closed today following a walkout of 300 men and women spinners and workers. A total of 1,500 workers are now involved, according to W. D. Fleming, district superintendent.

The strike arose from the spinning room workers' demand for a wage increase of 15 per cent instead of the seven per cent. raise offered by the company, according to still officials.

Ald. Jennings Replies to Letter of Mr. W. C. Mikel Over City Management

(CITY MANAGEMENT)

(An Open Letter)

Dear Mr. Mikel,—

Your attack on the present City Council, in your recent letter to City Manager Roy-Levy, I believe was unjustified.

Early in the season, Mayor Hill as my request appointed a committee of five, to be known as the Special Committee to investigate City Management. The personnel of this committee consisted of Aldermen Armstrong, Bateman, Cushing and Lewis, together with myself as chairman. The business of the committee was to secure data and report. Without doubt each and every member of that committee has the best interests and welfare of the city at heart. Not one would welcome a change in our civic government, unless that change would be for its betterment. The committee made a thorough investigation, in which every member took his part in gathering and sifting a vast amount of matter. Satisfied with the results of their work, the committee submitted its report, together with their recommendation, adopting a by-law. A by-law was then set up and passed. The by-law was set up by the City Solicitor.

I shall attempt to answer only those statements in your letter which evidently were made because of insufficient information on your part. First, you say the by-law omits to state the duties of a city manager. That statement alone shows you are not conversant with the principles underlying City Management. Having a City Manager will not change the duties or services to be performed in a municipality.

I must repeat at this point what every student of civic government should know, and which has been so clearly and admirably presented in the columns of the Ontario Intelligencer over an extended period. "Trend today is towards smaller representative and smaller council is less cumbersome. This modern type of council legislates only; the City Manager administers, thus eliminating a multiplicity of committees and chairmen. With the coming of the more efficient and smaller council and a manager, better men have offered themselves, thus bringing to the council a higher standard of ability. This long needed change has made for the outstanding success or City Management in more than 60 municipalities, ranging in size from one thousand population upward. Size makes no difference in the successful operation of the plan.

Again you say, "I, of course, is not enough for individual members of the Council to express their views of each matter, it requires the vote of the whole council to make a decision." That is conceded. The By-Law for a smaller council, and the one for a City Manager, were both passed by a large majority. Our individual views were practically unanimous. A majority vote legalized the matter.

"This is not a matter that need be hurried," you say. If it were an experiment, new and untried, I would agree with you. Your position is an unreasonable one to take. How much longer would you wait? City Management has been under discussion in Belleville for more than fifteen years. It is a good thing for many other municipalities of our size, why delay longer?

I wish all your attention now to further statements that have appeared in the Ontario Intelligencer. They are quoted from official statements of heads of "city managed municipalities," who are sure of the advantages that have accrued from having a City Manager.

"City manager form of government provides better law-making body, with more efficient administration of municipal government."

"In manager plan the municipality is run upon business principles, where economy is made possible by eliminating unnecessary expenditures, as well as unnecessary waste."

"A healthy condition of finances is guaranteed by the plan."

"The application of sound business principles makes lower tax rates possible."

"A central purchase bureau materialises largely to savings under the City Manager plan."

You say further, "Business concerns exist solely for profit, but the primary purpose of municipal corporations is not profit but public service." Granted, am glad you mentioned it, because it brings out another advantage of having a City Manager, for one of the first things the new manager does, is to put that service on a cost basis, not cost-plus.

Again your statement that only a few municipalities have adopted this plan and then only when exceptional circumstances confront them. If a 40 mill rate is not an exceptional circumstance, what would you call it?—A blessing?

Another statement "I cannot let pass. It is where is conveyed little left for the municipal council to manage."—This statement is manifestly unfair. I not only speak for myself, but for every member of the Council, and I wish to state it most emphatically: The 1936 City Council has had a vast amount of routine business to pass upon. Aside from that, there have been many most important and far-reaching matters that have been before the Council, that have been carefully considered and completed. You will find that nothing will be unfinished when the last session is over Monday night.

In closing, let me quote no less an authority than Horace L. Brittain of the Citizens' Research Bureau of Canada, who is to honor the Belleville Rotary Club with an address on City Management, December 28th, at their regular Club luncheon. He has said:—"The high cost of city planning is in not planning."

In line with that quotation, the Belleville City Council this year with its forward looking legislation, may rest with pride on the fact, that it has paved the way for further city planning by future councils.

I am, sir,
Very truly yours,
Burton F. Jennings.

WILL ADDRESS EMPIRE

Over an Empire-wide radio hook-up from London on Dec. 16, the Duke of Kent, shown here in a gay mood, will broadcast an address as part of the 100th anniversary of the founding of Cape Colony, now part of the Union of South Africa.

—Central Press Canadian Photo.

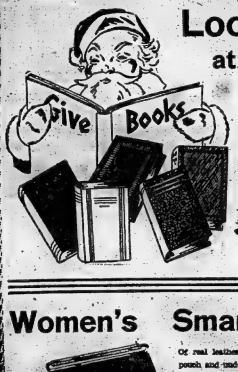
ONE OF THESE MAY SUCCEED POPE PIUS

Should His Holiness Pope Pius XI prove unable to overcome excruciating weakness caused by his serious illness, three highly placed prince of the church are mentioned as possible successors to the supreme office in the Roman Catholic hierarchy. They are Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli (TOP RIGHT), papal secretary of state, and one of the world's leading diplomats; Cardinal Dalla Costa, archbishop of Florence (LEFT INSET), and Cardinal Lavitrano, archbishop of Palermo (RIGHT INSET). All the pomp and ceremony of an age-old ritual will go into crowning of a new pope. A scene in the magnificent Vatican Cathedral during a ceremonial, with Pope Pius officiating, is pictured as LEFT. Cardinal Pacelli is reported the pontiff's choice as his successor.

THE CANADIAN DEPARTMENT STORES LIMITED

Eleventh Hour Giftips

Women's Slippers



All greatly reduced for this last day's selling before Christmas. Included are velvets, silk fabrics and leathers. In both Cuban and low heel styles with chrome tanned leather soles. Assorted colors and styles. Sizes 3 to 8. Special

69c pair

— Men's Store, rear

Look! Books at Half Price!

The balance of our Book stock at half regular prices! These are mostly books for children, all nicely bound, and with bright colored illustrations. If you have a small tot on your list by all means hurry down and secure some of these at reduced prices! Half price, each

5c to 29c

— Main floor, centre

Women's Smart Purses

Of real leather, smooth and grained finishes, in both pouch and underarm styles. In black, green, navy and brown. Nicely lined and smartly fitted they are big values at this reduced price. Reg. 4.95 each

3.75 each

— Main floor, centre

WATCH

for the

Not Advertised Price Cards

throughout the store on THURSDAY.

They'll save substantially for you!

Women's Angolskin (Rayon)

Slips

These are made with "resista-rip" seams, in both lace trimmed and tailored styles with adjustable straps on shoulders. In white or tearose, sizes 32 to 44. Special, each

1.00

—Second floor

Furniture Gift Shop

Clearance of

Footstools

Made with solid walnut show wood parts and covered in a choice of materials, such as rayon damask repp, etc., in various colorings. Here's a splendid gift that would be most appreciated in any home. Each

98c

— Main floor, rear

Reversible

Wool Rugs

Neatly fringed and woven from fluffy yarns. Sturdy rugs that come in two sizes and a type that would make a smart and very practical gift. In blue, green, rose or mauve with motif in the corner. A splendid size for living rooms, dining rooms, etc.

Size 25" x 48". Each 3.95 to 4.50
Size 30" x 60" 4.95

Walnut Finished

Smoking Cabinets

Complete with separate ash tray and match and cigarette holder. Smartly made in modern design, with a thought to convenience as well. Of birch wood, in rich walnut finish. Buy one for "him" for that Christmas Gift. Each

4.50

— Main floor, rear

In Appreciation

Of our Staff's Loyal Co-operation During the Christmas Season

This Store Will Remain Closed

from 6.00 P.M. THURSDAY DECEMBER 24th, until 9.00 A.M. MONDAY, DECEMBER 28th

TOYLAND FEATURES!

Look for the Big Table of Toys Specially Reduced!

Look for this big clearance table of Toys in Toyland, Thursday. Many toys probably that you have looked at and thought you couldn't afford, are here on this table at greatly reduced prices! Better shop early, for this last-day clearance sale will find Toyland crowded!

— Third floor

Stream Line Motor Cars

Reg. 1.50 for 1.00

In red, blue or sand, equipped with two headlights, rubber tires, and spare bulb for hard, rough usage. Regularly they were priced at $1.50.

Hand Car Sets

Reg. 1.39 Special, each 1.00

8 lengths of track with this outfit, and a hand car with Mickey and Minnie Mouse attached to the pump handle, making them go up and down when the car is in motion. Figures are brightly colored. Special, the set 1.00.

Rolo-Bolo and Skil Pail

Reg. 1.00 for 50c

Two smart games for both grownups and the kiddies. Well made and in bright colors. Regularly 1.00, clearing at half price Thursday. No phone orders, please.

Popular Line of Dolls

Reg. 1.39 for 1.00

A well known make of doll, with real hair, in blonde, or brunette. With sleeping eyes; bright, clear complexion, and movable joints in neck, arms, legs. Special value, each only 1.00.

Christmas Tree Lights

Half Price. Set $1.25

In red, white or green. These are in attractive styles and shapes and will do much to brighten your home during the Christmas season. Clearing at half price, Thursday

Set 1.25

— Third floor

Give Your Boy a

"Glider" Bicycle

He'll be "tickled" with one of these smart bikes for a Christmas present. In a rich maroon color with strong tubing frame, Perry Coaster brake drop style mud guard and padded leather saddle. Smart looking all the way around and a real present for any boy. The price

26.50

B. P. Terms on this Bicycle if desired.

Special Clearance of Luncheon Sets

All Linen and Cotton Luncheon Sets, in oyster and snow white, with colored embroidery designs in the corners. Set of cloth, 36" x 36", with four napa, sized 11" x 11". Choice of rose, blue, yellow or green designs. Regularly 1.49 to 1.95. Set

1.29

— Main floor, rear

Board Room Gossip

As supplied to Biggar and Crawford by Financial Service.

Sullivan Consolidated Mine

Destined to become one of Northwestern Quebec's major gold producers, The Quebec Miner feels confident in prophesying, Sullivan Consolidated Mines Limited is now proceeding with a development and exploration program pointing to an enlargement of milling capacity, and that recent alterations at the mine allow for the crushing capacity to be maintained at a rate of 700 tons daily and daily treatment to be at the rate of 150 tons.

Exploration and development work is being proceeded with on all levels, and the authorized extensive program is now getting into full swing.

Indications are that earnings of British American Oil from Canadian operations have been well sustained this year while the favorable record of the wholly-owned British-American Producing Company in the mid-continent field has improved the operating position of the company. Crude oil production from this subsidiary is reported to be in excess of the refining requirements of the entire organization. Earnings of the United States producers are not included in consolidated returns; a change in this policy would permit British American Oil to report earnings for 1936 materially above the $1.10 a share of 1935. And this rail since 1929.

The pre-Christmas pay for some were Britons.

STEEL MILLS GIVE $6,250,000 TO WORKERS

Pittsburgh, Dec. 23.—(AP)—Pittsburg's steel mills distributed more than $6,250,000 of Christmas pay today to the 58,000 workers in the district—the biggest steel pay-

50,000 workers in the 19 Ca Illinois Steel Corporation alone received $3,500,00 clothing, approximately $300,00 ed bythe record wage increa

ONLY 484 BRITONS

Ottawa (Can. CP)—South population was swelled by 3 migrants during the first six of 1936, but of this number, ons to declare an extra dividend of 20 cents, bringing total disbursements for the year to $1.00 a share.

THE WEATHER
Mostly cloudy and mild Friday, mostly cloudy with stationary or somewhat lower temperatures; probably some light rain or snow.

The Ontario Intelligencer

TEMPERATURES
Max. Min.
Today 30 17
Year ago 13 1
Weather: Fair

BELLEVILLE ONTARIO, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 24, 1936

Christmastide 1936

France Warns Germany Forced to Aid Madrid If Nazi Troops Invade

Foreign Minister Delivers Ultimatum to German Ambassador

FRANCE AIDS POLAND

French May Consider German Demands For Colonies

LONDON, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Britain and France began today what authoritative quarters described as "urgent consultations" over a means of halting outside interference in strife-torn Spain.

Their action, which observers interpreted as indicating the Spanish situation had reached a critical stage, came after Lord Plymouth, chairman of the International non-intervention committee, yesterday urged all members of the group to Spain.

A reliable informant declared: "France has intimated to Great Britain it has decided in the present circumstances to spare no efforts to make the policy of non-intervention more effective."

NINE OVERCOME BY COAL FUMES

Boarder Awakens And Staggers One Block For Help

Toronto, Dec. 24.—(CP)—Miss Parsons, including four children, were overcome by coal gas fumes in their home here today and might have suffocated if Nicholas Quinto, a boarder, had not awakened and staggered a block for help.

Those overcome were Mr. and Mrs. Pascuale Salmindo; their four children, Mary, 13; Ida, 9; Mildred, 5; and Cecil, 2; and Al Sebastiano and Michael Miotto, two other boarders.

Quinto awakened, fell from the fumes at 3 a.m., found he could not help them when in his house. Barely able to stand, made his way from house to house to the alarm.

Treatment was given the victims at the hospital and a plugged chimney was blamed for the near tragedy.

Germany Refuses to Rebroadcast Address

Vatican City, Dec. 24.—(AP)—New tension between Germany and the Vatican over the education of Germany's Catholic youth was disclosed today in the Reich's refusal to rebroadcast the Pope's Christmas speech, informed sources said.

Germany was the only large nation with which the Vatican has diplomatic relations which failed to rebroadcast the speech.

Several days ago, Vatican diplomats asked several governments to arrange for the re-broadcast. However, Vatican sources said Baron Konstantin von Neurath, the Reich's Foreign Minister, told the Papal Nuncio, Dr. Orsenigo, this could be done in Germany.

Accordingly there was no German translation broadcast from the Vatican station and telephoned, instead, to Berne and Vienna and broadcast from there.

Eucharistic Vestments Worn In Canterbury on Christmas

Archbishop of Canterbury Refuses to Prevent Dean Wearing Them

PROTEST IS MADE

By THOS. T. CHAMPION

Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Dec. 24 (C.P. Cable) — The Archbishop of Canterbury refused today to take any action preventing Dean Hewlett Johnson from carrying out his intention of introducing the chasuble and other ecclesiastical vestments in Canterbury Cathedral from Christmas Day onwards.

The Church Association, which made the protest, held the chasuble, a short back and front garment, and other such adjuncts of Anglican worship to be illegal and not in accordance with the Prescribed basis of the Church of England.

The association remitted the Archbishop the judicial committee of the Privy Council, which besides being the highest court of appeal for the British Empire at large is also the highest court of appeal for the legal affairs of the established Church of England, had condemned the use of the chasuble.

The Primate replied the Royal Commission on Ecclesiastical Discipline in 1906, the report of which was signed by such loyal evangelicals as the late Sir Edward Clarke, and Sir John Kennaway, had stated "a court dealing with matters of conscience and religion must above all others rest on moral authority if its judgments are to be effective; as thousands of clergy with every legal support refuse to recognize the jurisdiction of the judicial committee its judgments cannot practically be enforced."

The Archbishop continued the new prayer book rejected by parliament would have legalized the use of the alb and chasuble and after the rejection the Bishops of the Ecclesiastical Province of Canterbury had resolved that until further action had been taken they could not regard as inconsistent with loyalty to the principles of the church the use of such additions or deviations as fall within the limits of the practice contained in the new prayer book. The primate considered it accordingly was not prepared to take any action on the protest.

Many cathedrals already use such artistic vestments but incense appears not to have been adopted in any such building.

Newspaper Published Saturday, Dec. 26

On Saturday, December 26th, the Ontario Intelligencer will be published as usual.

On Christmas Day, there will be no issue of the Ontario Intelligencer.

CHRISTMAS FARE IS BADLY CRIMPED IN GERMAN REICH

Decree Enforces Rationing of Food For Mankind And Animals

PART OF 4-YEAR PLAN

Fish Sausages in Germany Are Urged as 'Substitutes'

Berlin, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Wartime regulations on rationing of meat, vegetables, fats and bread, enforced by decree and propaganda, curtailed Germany's Christmas larder today.

Animal feed likewise was ordered "rationed" in order to spread the dwindling domestic foodstuffs over the winter.

The ultimate objective was Germany's self-sufficiency in accordance with Chancellor Hitler's four-year plan for economic rehabilitation of the Third Reich.

The scarcity of fats, of which only half the normal average consumption is produced in Germany, has been harassed Nazi Conservation plans.

After Jan. 1, butter and lard will be rationed closely with talk taps on each family.

War-Day Methods Used

Bacon, long scarce, hardly can be obtained in Germany today because of the fat and hog shortage caused by meat scarcity.

For the same reasons, there are shortages of beef and pork.

The four-year-plan propagandists are urging substitution of fish for meat with fish sausages pressed on housewives.

Wartime methods have been duplicated in providing special garbage cans for housewives into which hogfeed must be deposited. In this manner, Nazi leaders hope to obtain daily garbage tails leavings from Berlin's 1,400,000 households to fatten 350,000 hogs.

Carbohydrates Fats

The four-year planners appealed for greater consumption of carbohydrates such as sugar, bread and potatoes, to make up for lack of fats.

The egg shortage is acute, although normally Germany produces 90 per cent of its domestic fresh eggs, consequently, are hard to get and can be had only with a corresponding number of storage eggs.

VERNON KNOWLES IN BANK ASSOC.

Managing Editor of Toronto Star in New Role

Toronto, Dec. 24 (CP)—Vernon Knowles, for a decade a prominent newspaper executive in Canada, has been engaged as public relations adviser to the Canadian Bankers Association. S. H. Logan, president, said today the Association is confident Mr. Knowles will supply a needed link between the public and the banks and that he will still contribute to a better understanding of the functions and operations of banking in Canada.

Mr. Knowles has latterly been managing editor of the Toronto Daily Star, having previously been executive editor and a member of the Board of Directors of the Toronto Mail and Empire. After honorable pleading in Alberta in 1909, he entered newspaper work as a reporter, rising to editorial position in Saskatoon. In Winnipeg he was general manager of the Telegram and later managing editor of the Tribune. He was also a newspaper publisher and later for 10 years was an advertising executive in the United States.

Dozen Suits Stolen From Windsor Cleaners

Windsor, Ont., Dec. 24 (CP)—It looks like a blue Christmas for cleaners whose suits were stolen early today from the main plant of a dry cleaners' company here.

Company employees are still picking up the scattered bills to find out exactly what clothes were stolen but it is estimated the haul included more than a dozen suits.

"Twas the Night Before Christmas"

'Twas the night before Christmas, when all through the house
Not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse;
The stockings were hung by the chimney with care,
In hopes that St. Nicholas soon would be there;
The children were nestled all snug in their beds,
While visions of sugar-plums danced in their heads;
And Mamma in her 'kerchief, and I in my cap,
Had just settled our brains for a long Winter's nap,
When out on the lawn there rose such a clatter,
I sprang from my bed to see what was the matter.
Away to the window I flew like a flash,
Tore open the shutters and threw up the sash.
The moon on the breast of the new-fallen snow
Gave a luster of mid-day to objects below;
When, what to my wondering eyes should appear,
But a miniature sleigh and eight tiny reindeer,
With a little old driver, so lively and quick,
I knew in a moment it must be St. Nick.
More rapid than eagles his coursers they came
And he whistled and shouted and called them by name:
"Now, Dasher! now Dancer! now, Prancer and Vixen!
On, Comet! on, Cupid, on, Donner and Blitzen
To the top of the porch, to the top of the wall!
Now dash away! dash away! dash away all!"
As dry leaves that before the wild hurricane fly.
When they meet with an obstacle, mount to the sky,
So up to the house top the coursers they flew,
With the sleigh full of toys and St. Nicholas, too.
And then, in a twinkling, I heard on the roof
The prancing and pawing of each little hoof.
As I drew in my head, and was turning around,
Down the chimney St. Nicholas came with a bound.
He was dressed all in fur from his head to his foot,
And his clothes were all tarnished with ashes and soot;
A bundle of toys he had flung on his back,
And he looked like a peddler just opening his pack.
His eyes—how they twinkled! His dimples how merry!
His cheeks were like roses, his nose like a cherry!
His droll little mouth was drawn up like a bow,
And the beard on his chin was as white as the snow;
The stump of his pipe he held tight in his teeth
And the smoke, it encircled his head like a wreath;
He had a broad face and a little round belly
That shook when he laughed like a bowlful of jelly.
He was chubby and plump, a right jolly old elf,
And I laughed when I saw him, in spite of myself.
A wink of his eye, and a twist of his head
Soon gave me to know I had nothing to dread;
He spoke not a word, but went straight to his work,
And filled all the stockings, then turned with a jerk,
And laying his finger aside of his nose,
And giving a nod, up the chimney he rose.
He sprang to his sleigh, to his team gave a whistle,
And away they all flew like the down of a thistle.
But I heard him exclaim, ere he drove out of sight:
"Happy Christmas to all, and to all a good-night!"

Sarah Churchill Wedded To Vic Oliver, Comedian

Orchestra Leader Says Miss Churchill's Family Not Opposed

New York, Dec. 24 (AP)—Sarah Churchill, daughter of Winston Churchill, British statesman, was married to Vic Oliver, orchestra leader and comedian, at the British Consulate today.

The wedding took place at 10.30 a.m. The couple left immediately to board the liner Aquitania on which they will sail for England.

Oliver has an engagement to open in London shortly after New Year's.

Oliver has announced several times Miss Churchill's family did not oppose the marriage.

Randolph Churchill, brother of the slender British girl, followed her to this country in September and conferred with her about the romance, but told friends afterwards he had "nothing to say."

Miss Churchill met Oliver while she was appearing on the stage as a dancer, in New York, she made her "Four-a-day" appearance with him on the stage of a Broadway movie house.

Guard Singlehanded Prevents Prison Break

Guelph, Ont., Dec. 24—(CP)—Battling a quartet of prisoners single handed, William Moreland, guard at the Ontario Reformatory prevented a jail break last night. He suffered considerable bruises.

Four men slipped away from the main gang after supper and as soon as their absence was noticed a search was established.

Moreland found the quartet hidden under a stairway. They set upon him. One of them climbed partly out of a window from which they had ripped the screen and was half way to freedom when Moreland jammed the window on his head and hands. Assistance came just as the prisoners endeavored to reach another part of the building.

50 YEARS MARRIED

Peterborough, Ont., Dec. 24—(CP)—George N. Graham, hotel proprietor and his wife, the former Margaret Elizabeth Gage, Christmas Day celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary. They were married at Cobourg Dec 25, 1876.

GERMAN STEAMER TAKEN INTO DOCK BY SPANISH SHIP

Alleged Boat Loaded With Material Valuable to Fascists

TAKEN TO BILBAO

Report of Incident Emanates From San Sebastian

Bayonne, France, Dec. 24 (C.P.-Havas)—The German cargo-boat Palos of Hamburg was stopped by a Spanish warship yesterday and conducted to the port of Bilbao, it was reported here from San Sebastian.

The boat was said to be loaded with 1,500 tons of merchandise regarded as being of potential value to the Fascists.

SAVING HIS DOG BOY LOSES LIFE

Within Ten Feet of Safety, Went Back And Struck by Train

Goderich, Ont., Dec. 24 (CP)—Only son of a widow, Robert Mearkle, 14, lost his life here yesterday in a futile attempt to save his dog from being crushed by a fast freight train on a trestle bridge just outside Goderich.

The boy's broken body was picked up from rocky ground beneath the bridge while his mother, Mrs. Lee Mearkle, anxiously awaited his return from a search for Christmas fir. She had run back for the dog when he was within a short distance of a safety zone. Unable to beat an approaching Canadian Pacific Railway train to the span he either was struck by the train or jumped over the side of the bridge.

Members of the train crew said the boy was within 10 feet of safety when the train caught up with him. He would not have been killed if he had not gone back for the dog.

Just before he left the bridge, he threw his pet from his arms in a fruitless effort to save it but the animal fell directly in the train's path and was crushed to death.

Eccentric Hermit

Young Mearkle and a chum, Pat Kennedy, 15, were en route home when the tragedy occurred. They had neared the south end of the bridge, the train, one hour late, roared around a curve behind them at a roar of empty freight cars and bore down on them.

Panic-stricken, the boys started to run along the bridge. They had travelled several yards when Mearkle turned and saw his little dog cowering on the track. The apparently frightened he would not follow his master.

Mearkal, heedless of his own danger, hurried back, scooped up the dog and set out again. The train ground to a stop near the safety zone. Coroner Dr. A. McBride, Hamilton, was in charge of the inquest and J. A. Boyd, local engineer.

Boyd said he had applied the emergency brake on rounding the bend and seeing the boys on the bridge.

Wartime Prime Minister Sends Message to Duke

Lloyd George Resents 'Shabby Treatment Accorded' He Says

WISHES HIM WELL

Monreal, Dec. 24 (CP Cable) — David Lloyd George, wartime Prime Minister of Great Britain, on Christmas Day in the British West Indies, today sent the following telegram to the Duke of Windsor in Austria:

"Best of Christmas greetings from an old Minister of the Crown who holds you in as high esteem as ever and regards you with deeper loyal affection, deplores the shabby and stupid treatment accorded you, prompted by mean and unchivalrous attacks upon you and regrets the loss sustained by the British Empire of a monarch who sympathized with the lowliest of his subjects".

Stricken Pontiff Prays For United Christianity To Oppose Communism

'New Menace More Threatening Than Ever For World,' He Says,

SPEAKS 29 MINUTES

Pope Pius Sounds Sorrowful Note Over Civil War in Spain

Vatican City, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Pope Pius prayed before the whole world today that God accept his suffering for peace among men, and, from his sickbed, called on men of all Christianity against the "evil forces" of Communism.

The stricken Pontiff spoke in a throbbing voice through a microphone hidden by flowers, in the rector of the Vatican Radio station. He called for a crusade of prayer that God accept his present suffering "for His own glory, for the conversion of all who have gone astray, for peace and the good of the entire church—and, in particular, for Spain."

In Spain, the Holy Father said, "propaganda and evil forces have helped to make the present appointment of all the destructive forces, and not only throughout the world, which they have at their command.

Menace Threatening

"Here is a new menace more threatening than ever before for the whole world, and particularly for Europe and its Christian civilization," he said.

The Holy Father's voice trembled throughout the whole 29 minutes of his Christmas Eve message.

At times he seemed to be forcing himself on. At several intervals, he paused for a second.

He spoke of the bitter sorrow of our paternal heart, caused by the many great evils which these days have fallen like a scourge on humanity, civil society and the church."

(Continued on page five)

CHIANG KAI-SHEK WOUNDED, REPORT

Shanghai, Dec. 24 (CP-Havas)—Government airplanes with machine guns strafed Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek but is not released by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's headquarters, War Minister Ho Ying Ching told Robert Marshal Chang Hsueh Liang today.

Beijing, Dec. 24 (CP-Havas)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek was reported wounded today.

The distinguished captive held at Sian was reported to have been wounded in circumstances unknown here.

Hankin, Dec. 24 (AP)—China's hopes for a speedy end to Marshal Chang Hsueh Liang's revolt intensified today.

At Han-Yin, capital of Shensi, where the rebellious Marshal held Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, prisoner of China, Madame Chiang and her brother, Dr. T. V. Soong, endeavoring to treat personally for his release.

NEWS BRIEFS AND ODDITIES

Port Burwell, Ont., Dec. 24 (CP) —This is a story about Tubby, the cat, who couldn't wait for Christmas.

Tubby's master bought her a nice catnip mouse and carefully hid it away in a closet where Santa would find it and bring it to Tubby on Christmas Eve. A day or later the household became suspicious when Tubby acted like a kitten about the mouse, although Tubby had been taking a dim view of that catnip.

Sure enough, when the master went to the closet he found Tubby gnawed catnip mouse in a litter of paper. Three other gifts, wrapped for the children and awaiting Santa's arrival, were also chewed open.

Los Angeles, Dec. 24 (CP)—For eight years Capt. Lawrence J. Chiappino, airline pilot, has spent Christmas Eve flying between two fixed airways, MM. consequently the Chiappino Christmas dinner is always delayed.

But this year page Chiappino had an idea. When his plane starts east Thursday night aboard will be Mrs. Chiappino, Saturday, 7; hourly, it did the proper demand page will emerge from the pilot's cabin, don his slippers and sit down to Christmas gifts among his family.

Mexico City, Dec. 24 (AP)—Diego Rivera, Mexican mural painter and Communist leader, was attacked and beaten last night, police said, in a downtown restaurant.

Rivera, dining with her husband, tried to stop the encounter and was felled by a blow on the head, officials said.

Two men punched Rivera in the face and cursed him for being a follower of Leon Trotsky, called Communist leader in Soviet Russia who is on his way to Mexico, police reported.

Mobile, Ala., Dec. 24 (AP)—The mother of twin five-year-old girls left their home on a visit to a neighbor's.

She gave her name as Mrs. Charles Shafer and said she came here recently from Purvis, Miss.

"Christmas means a lot to me," she said, "but there has been no money to spend and I want to buy Christmas presents for my little girls."

Her husband, she said, has been unemployed since a traveling theatre in which he worked as a mechanic closed. The family lives in a two-room house trailer on Mobile Bay.

Wabash, Ind., Dec. 24 (CP)—John Lockwood wondered when a truck delivered a ton of coal to his parental home.

Now he understands. It was a Christmas gift from members of the hot shore league who gather nightly to play checkers.

They explained they thought it was only fair to furnish coal for the fire that would burn during the course of a winter.

Nest in Christmastree Means Extra Dime

Brantford, Ont., Dec. 24 (CP)—Two apparently identical Christmas trees were offered by a youngster to a Brantford man today. One was 85 cents and other 75 cents. Asked why the difference the lad pointed to the tiny bird's nest in the upper branches of one, explaining its presence was worth the extra dime. His sales talk clinched it.

"LADY BOUNTIFUL" DIES

Old Windsor, England, Dec. 24 (CP)—Old Windsor's "Lady Bountiful", Lady Julia Follett, died in her sleep early today at the age of 87, it was announced today. Lady Follett was a relectricity in her mansion here and always used a carriage and pair.

WAGES INCREASE 5 PER CENT.

Brantford, Ont., Dec. 24 (CP)—R. J. Hopper, manager of the Canadian Car and Foundry Company, formerly the Frank Leadlaward Company, today confirmed a report of a five per cent increase in wages has been made throughout the entire plant. The company employs 225 men.

Coming Events

TONIGHT — AAJMAA CLUB — Euchre and Bingo, 8.30. c24-1t

CHRISTMAS DANCE FRIDAY night at the Moose, 9-1. Admission 30c including tax. c24-1t

A Merry Christmas

TO OUR FRIENDS throughout Belleville and the district, we extend sincere good wishes for a merry holiday season.

DOROTHY F. QUICK

DOROTHY F. QUICK FLORIST DAVID WHITE

In conformity with the Proclamation of His Worship the Mayor, the offices of the undernoted Banks in Belleville will be closed on "Boxing Day," Saturday, December 26th.

The Bank of Montreal
The Royal Bank of Canada
The Dominion Bank
The Canadian Bank of Commerce

City and District News

TEA, TURKEYS GIVEN AT VETERAN'S PARTY

Two turkeys were distributed at the annual Christmas gathering of the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada, Unit No. 207, held in the Moose Auditorium last evening.

Following the draw for the turkeys and evening of cards and dancing, the entertainment being supplied by the Veterans. Tea table was well selected from the audience by complete the draw, no lady being asked to draw more than one lucky number. The winners of the Army and Navy Veterans' turkeys were: Mrs. Moffatt, Burnside Street, W. Sandford, Strachan St., W. Wilber Clarke, Western St., H. Colbrick, N. Park Street; Mrs. Martin, Burnside Street; Geo. Rowbotham, Meadow Avenue; Wm. Adams, R.R. No. 6, Belleville; C. Wright, West Bridge; W. Stephenson, College Street and F. Lalonde, Dundas Street. The meeting was supervised by the Veterans with President George McIntosh acting as master of ceremonies.

GIVEN TIME TO PAY THE FINE

Joseph Barnhardt, Trentonian Reserve, appeared before the Indian agent, H. J. Boyd, in Toronto yesterday, charged with being found in possession of liquor on the Indian Reserve. The conventional fine of $100 and costs was imposed and will be paid at a later date. Barnhardt's arrest followed a search warrant issued by the R.C.M.P., following complaints being received regarding the illegal

It Pays to Shop at the Small Store.

BUY YOUR CHRISTMAS REMEMBRANCE at

McKeown's
DRUG STORE

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS TO ALL

possession of liquor. The accused was given time in order to raise the fine and was also liberated during that period.

YACHT CLUB RINK IS NOW OPERATING

The Belleville Athletic and Yacht Club officials announced today that the rink was open for the general public and no charge was made for the skating privileges to be enjoyed. The officers and members were arranging for a cosy warm room where the skaters may put on their boots and skates. The children will be well looked after.

DELICIOUS SNACK
HAMBURGER BAR
Wheat Cakes and Syrup 5c HAMBURGER SANDWICH
LUNCHES OF ALL KINDS — DAY AND NIGHT
DELICIOUS — DELOVELY — DELIGHTFUL
318 Front Street

370 FAMILIES GIVEN HAMPERS FOR CHRISTMAS

The magnitude of the task connected with providing needy families of the City with Christmas hampers for Christmas was clearly indicated at the city relief office this morning when it was known that on the relief list, the Mothers' Allowance and Old Age Pensions lists alone a total of 370 families are receiving regular relief, the majority which will be distributed mainly by the local churches, the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs, the city fire department, the Salvation Army and Emmanuel Club. Private individuals have also contributed in no small measure to bring this Christmas cheer into the expectant homes. Seventy-five pounds of beef for the most needs of the late Senator Derby are also included.

One of the more generous organizations, the city fire department, as in past years will take on a heavy load. Committees early this morning for the purpose of giving out baskets and hampers loaded with toys, groceries and turnips were being carried on with into the evening. Rotary Club of the city will also be well remembered by many families owing to the larger quantities of necessities that are being given out to the more deserving.

Families of returned unemployed or needy war veterans also will be well remembered through the efforts of their more fortunate comrades of the Army and Navy Veterans and the Canadian Legion who will use part of the tag day fund for this purpose.

Individual donors will also assist in this work, by sending names of deserving families have been asked for in order that their names anonymous contributions may find the right homes.

Working for the past week or more on the task of checking and rechecking the lists of needy officials of the Central Relief Office will still be in the middle of one of their heaviest jobs today. In this manner duplication of giving is being largely avoided.

"Our heaviest task, however, is in trying to please both the recipients and those who give. Yearly this has been one of our heaviest tasks. We expect it to be just as heavy this year," commented officials of the office.

CITY MARKET

Here are the turkeys but where are the customers? seemed to be the theme song at the Belleville market today as fowl in abundance and of a quality that was fine. Sitting for most exacting festive board, was on display before a slow buying public. Not only the Christmas bird key but fowl of every kind, geese, ducks, chickens, were brought in in good quantities but failed to tempt Madam Housewife, who appeared to have done her Christmas provision shopping early. The average price asked for turkeys was 25c per pound; geese were 17 to 20 cents while chickens were offered at 60 cents to $1.00 and ducks ranged from 60c to $1.20. There appeared to be very few sales, however, as the Christmas trees at twenty five cents were on display just in case some one were late in arranging for the Yuletide atmosphere in their homes.

Vegetables gave their place of prominence to the fowl and only a few, for the accommodation of early customers, were shown, at prices unchanged since last Saturday. Apples were also in smaller quantities, Northern spies selling at $2.00 a bushel, McIntosh Reds at $1.75 and a few stows at $1.50.

There trucks of wood were in evidence but found no sale.

Buying was far from brisk in the butcher's market with many vendors and few customers. Thirty five cents was asked for choice "A" sirloin steaks, thirty cents for medhums and twenty-five cents for rounds. The price for butter remained at about twenty-eight cents.

PROMOTION MADE IN A. L. I. (TANKS)

Through certificates which have arrived at the office of Lieut.-Col. A. B. Gribble, Officer Commanding the local Argyll Light Infantry (Tanks), the promotions of Lieut. J. B. Morgan to the rank of Captain; Lieut. J. M. Merritt to the rank of Captain, and 2nd Lieut. R. Keel to the rank of Lieut., are announced. Examinations were held at St. Jean, Quebec, recently.

Now graduated with the highest qualification any signalling officer can obtain, 2nd Lieut. H. Frost, also of the local unit, has received his certificate as qualifying in the advance course of visual telegraphy which was held at the Royal School of Signals at Camp Borden recently.

Christmas Services In City Churches

Christmas Eve and Christmas will be marked in many of the churches of the city with time-honored services.

At Bridge Street United Church there will be a service on Christmas Day at eleven o'clock with Rev. Dr. Bowles in charge.

At Christ Church at eleven o'clock on Christmas eve there will be singing of carols from the gallery and at 11.30 o'clock just as the Christmas Day holy communion at St. George's at 11.30 and choral communion at 10.30 a.m.

At St. Thomas' Church at 11.30 o'clock tonight, Rev. Eve there will be a choral celebration of the holy communion and on Christmas Day at 8.00 a.m., a celebration of Holy Communion and at 11.00 a.m. choral celebration.

There will be a procession in St. Michael's Church at 11.40 tonight, and solemn high mass will be sung at midnight. The choir under the direction of Rev. Father MacMahon, S.J., of Toronto, one of the best polyphonic choirs in Canada. Masses will be celebrated at Michael's on Christmas Day at 12, 7.00 a.m., 8.30 a.m. and at 10.30 a.m.

On Christmas Day at 10.30 a.m. the congregation of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church will hold a special Christmas service.

CLARK'S
TAXI
4 — HEATED CARS — 4
24-Hour Service
Phone
196
Cars Drive With Care
1926-35-36-37-38

BELLEVILLE
I.D.A.
Drug Stores
Say
Merry Christmas
GOLAN'S DOYLE'S
GEEN'S PAULEY'S
SOHRYVER'S

SPECIAL
CHRISTMAS DINNER
BELMONT RESTAURANT
75c
NOON TO MIDNIGHT FRIDAY
Everything From Soup to Nuts and then some.
FRONT ST.—Near Victoria Ave.
Phone 1636 for Reservations

CICERI'S
Will Open at NOON
SATURDAY
December 26th.

BOWRA
ELECTRIC and HARDWARE will be CLOSED
All Day Saturday
(BOXING DAY)
In compliance with the proclamation of the Mayor of Belleville.

Obituary

MRS. W. R. KELLY (Madoc)

Madoc, Dec. 24.—The death occurred at her home here today after an illness of some duration of Ida Elizabeth Kelly, wife of Mr. W. R. Kelly, retired conductor of the Eastern Division of the G.N.R. She was 73 years of age.

Mr. and Mrs. Kelly returned to Madoc about one year ago after years of absence. Mrs. Kelly was a native of this village.

The funeral will be privately on Saturday at her home.

She is survived by a nephew residing in California.

MRS. CLARA LEE JOHNSTON

Trenton, Dec. 24—(Special)—Late yesterday afternoon following a lengthy illness Mrs. Clara Lee Johnston, 92 died at her home on Front street. In 1944 in the month of September she was born in Trenton the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Lee, of United Empire Loyalist stock. At the age of six months, she moved to Sidney Township with her parents. It was at the latter residence where she spent most of her life. Mrs. Johnson was an active woman for her age and was proud of the fact that she kept her home until ninety years of age. She had an excellent memory and often related to her friends how her father shingled the wooden bridge that at one time spanned the Trent River where the Government steel structure stands today. She was twice married and raised two children. She was devoted to her husband during her illness and was highly respected by the entire community. Surviving are her husband at Kingston, one daughter, Mrs. Herbert Mayhew of Trenton and one son, Mr. George Johnson of Belleville.

JENNIE LEETTA IBEY SHARPE

The funeral took place from the home and Wesley Church this afternoon of Jennie LeEtta Ibey, 61, wife of Edward H. Sharpe who died at her home on the 2nd concession of Murray Township on Tuesday. The deceased was born in Frankford, the daughter of the late John and Elizabeth Church Ibey. She was a resident of Murray Township for over thirty-eight years and was a member of the United Church and was one who took the work of the community to heart. Surviving are—her husband, one daughter, Miss Beatrice Wilson, John and Andrew all of Campbellford, Bernard of Toronto and George of Port Arthur. Several sisters predeceased her some years ago. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Gerrard at the services and interment was made in Stockdale Cemetery.

MRS. OLIVER HOUGH (Detroit) (Formerly of Belleville)

Mrs. Sarah Jane Hough, wife of Mr. Oliver Hough, passed away suddenly on Wednesday, December 23, at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Arthur Miller, Detroit, Mich.

The late Mrs. Hough was born in the 86th year, was born in the 5th concession of Thurlow Township, Thurlow, her parents being the late Mr. and Mrs. John Bush; the latter's maiden name was Miss Margaret Thrasher. For many years Mrs. Hough resided on Frankford and old friends in that district will regret to learn of her death. For the past five years she had made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Arthur Miller, in Detroit, Mich. In religion, Mrs. Hough was a member of the United Church and highly esteemed by all who knew her.

Surviving her are her husband, Mr. Oliver Hough; three daughters, Mrs. Harry Conley, Stirling; Mrs. Arthur Miller, Detroit, Mich.; Mrs. George Bedore, Toronto; two sons, Mr. Percy Hough of Mr. Kenneth Hough, Detroit, Mich.; four sisters, Mrs. Robert Bush, Frankford; Mrs. Mary Rayford, Belleville; Mrs. Arthur Penz, Toronto; Mrs. Jane Wall, Trenton; two brothers, Mr. George W. Bush, Sidney Township, and Mr. John A. Bush, Belleville.

The body of the late Mrs. Hough will be brought to Belleville and will rest at the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home, Campbell St. The funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this paper.

LATE BENJAMIN H. MORTON Moira

The funeral of Benjamin Herbert Morton, late of Moira, took place Wednesday afternoon, December 23 from the Thomas O. Thompson Funeral Home, Everett Street, to the United Church at Moira where all impressive service was conducted by the pastor, the Rev. H. A. Stone. There was a large attendance of friends of the late Mr. Morton at the service.

Interment was made in Moira Cemetery, the service at the grave also being conducted by the same minister.

The bearers were Messrs G. Allen Morton, William A. Morton, W. H. Morton, George H. Stokes, John Stokes and Wesley Stokes.

LATE JOHN J. GEARY

The funeral of John Joseph Geary took place this Thursday morning from the Martin Funeral Home, Church Street, to St. Michael's Church where Requiem Mass was celebrated by the Rev. Father C. O. Baker, who also conducted the committal service at the graveside in St. James' Cemetery.

The bearers were Messrs. J. Canning, J. Bawden, Patrick Hayes, H. Reid, T. O'Hara and A. Gunnell.

WE EXTEND A WHOLE-HEARTED
THANK YOU
TO OUR MANY CUSTOMERS AND FRIENDS
and
WISH ALL A VERY MERRY CHRISTMAS
and
HAPPY NEW YEAR
The Schuster Co. Limited
WALTER N. DELAIR, President

CASH BONUS AT STEWART-WARNER

Office And Factory Staff Given One Week's Salary

W. E. Rowsome, General Manager of the Stewart-Warner-Alemite Corporation of Canada, Limited, announces today the decision of the Company to present to each of its employees who have been with the company for one year or more a special Christmas gift equivalent to one full week's salary. This move, states Mr. Rowsome, is in keeping with the firm's settled policy to share the benefits of better times with the office staff and factory workers.

Holidays With Pay For Factory Men

During the heat of the summer, Stewart-Warner-Alemite factory employees also received one week's holidays with full pay. This, in addition to the Christmas gift, applied to the entire staff, including the three Divisions of Alemite Lubricating Systems and Stewart-Warner Radio and Tractor Cutters.

Personals

Miss Isabel Wallbridge, Toronto, is home for the Christmas holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant I. Taylor, Toronto, are spending the Christmas season with Mrs. W. H. LaMontagne.

Mr. John Clarke, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Clarke, is home from Toronto University for the Christmas vacation.

Christmas Greetings!
FRIDAY (Xmas Day) Saturday, Monday

Dimples GOES TO CHINA
Gay times with Shirley Ching-Ching of Shanghai!
As Full of Surprises as a Bleigh Load of Gift Packages!
Shirley TEMPLE
and a cast of favorite stars!
STOWAWAY
with ROBERT YOUNG ALICE FAYE
Eugene PALLETTE
Helen Westley
Arthur Treacher
A different kind of story for Shirley . . . Adventure, Romance, Thrills, Suspense! AND the Songs . . . Six that A R E Hits!
2 OTHER TREATS
B-E-L-L-E
Daily 2.30, 7.10, 9.10
LAST DAY—"White Hunter" & "Luckiest Girl in World"

THE IDEAL CHRISTMAS GIFT!
THEATRE TICKETS
In Gift Envelopes Now on Sale
THEATRE TICKETS ARE AN EVER-WELCOME GIFT!

CAPITOL
WISHING YOU ALL A VERY MERRY CHRISTMAS
WITH A SWELL DOUBLE HIT HOLIDAY SHOW
See the Bashful Boys in this rash adventure in Egypt where the other mummies are buried!
Bert Wheeler
They had nothing to gain but love
You have nothing to lose but your shirt
MUMMY BOYS
ADDED ATTRACTION — ON THE SAME BILL
A thrilling drama of the gridiron!
With EIGHT All-American Stars!
THE BIG GAME
with Phillips HOLMES, Thomas GLEASON, Jean TRAVIS, Brown CARNO, Andy DEVINE

ON OUR STAGE CHRISTMAS NIGHT at 8.45
Auction Nite
The Auctioneer buys from you—You Sell for CASH — Anything he asks for!
Novel—New and Different—Come and enjoy the fun.
Bring SANTA CLAUS as he might offer to buy Him

Christmas Fare Is Ready To Serve in Institutions

Feasting in Old Time Style Will Mark Great Fete

SANTA PLAYS PART

Not only to the various private homes of the city will the Christmas spirit, joy and general celebration be confined for the different institutions and schools of the city are making elaborate preparations for the holiday comfort of their inmates and pupils are as unable as to make the trip trek to their homes.

These ravaged facts under varying hair will wreath in genuine Christmas smiles at the House of Refuge on Christmas Day when the inmates of that institution gather together at a festive board which will contain all the goodies associating with the holiday. Turkey in all its glory, English plum puddings candies etc will again bring joy to the hearts of these aging people, and no doubt many memories will be revived as the cast falls at intervals to dine at the same table under the pretty holiday decorations. Then, too there will be a Christmas tree for the ladies and no doubt a Santa Claus will distribute gifts to these old folks. But not all of them will be able to enjoy their dinner at the table. Ten of them are confined to their beds and will partake of the Christmas fare there. But they will not be forgotten. and coffee.

At present plans indicate that the House of Refuge will be one of the jolliest places in the city on Christmas Day.

While one hundred and sixty-five of the pupils of the Ontario School for the Deaf took advantage of the opportunity to visit their homes, approximately one hundred and seventy-five will remain at the school over the holiday.

Here again a jolly time will be spent. There will be a Santa Claus and a tree at ten in the morning and at noon King Cobber and his associates will form the society of a splendid dinner for the pupils. Entertainment for those who left for their homes was held in the school on Tuesday.

Practically all of the student body of Albert College left for their homes for the holiday. Four students were left and these have accepted invitations to spend the day with friends in the city.

Twenty-two guests will accept the invitation of the city at a sumptuous repast at the county jail where roast fowl and all the trimmings will be served to those under the care of Governor O. H. French.

Following is the menu provided for the inmates of the county jail:—Roast ham, dressing and brown gravy, cranberry sauce, mashed potatoes, turnips, bread and butter; pickles; cabbage salad; cheese; cake; mince pie; nuts; candy; oranges; MacIntosh apples; cigars and

It has always been our greatest pleasure to express the spirit and good will of the holiday season . . . and to each of our friends, old and new, we say

"MERRY CHRISTMAS"

Angus McFee JEWELLERS SINCE 1860

Rawdon and District

Rawdon—Mr. John Coggins opened Young People's Society Friday evening with a Christmas hymn and Mr. Clifford Holmes, Miss Muriel Milligan and Miss Vera Holmes Adam took part in the Devotional. After the business period Miss Margaret Holmes and Mr. Lloyd Miss Marguerite White read the Bible lesson. Mervyn Robert McIlwaine, Harry McAdam and John Coggins received a trio and Miss Muriel Milligan gave a Christmas reading. Miss Dorothy Moore sang a Christmas solo and the President outlined the topic on the subject "Christmas Eve in the Jungle". A chorus "Good King Wenceslas" was rendered by Misses Marguerite White, Isobel Turner, Vera Holmes Adam, John Coggins and Robert Melville. The service closed with a Christmas prayer.

Mrs. Frank Smith received word on Saturday from relatives in Vancouver of the death of her cousin Mrs. Tuckey (nee Flora R. Cummings) of Rev. Cyrus Tuckey who passed away on November 29th in Vancouver, B. C. in her 86th year. Her husband predeceased her some years ago. She leaves to mourn her loss two daughters Helen and Blossom and one son Harvey all of Vancouver and Mrs. Hiram Cummings and one sister Martha Ann, J. Armstrong) both of Vancouver. Interment will be made resided in Saskatoon, Sask., before her removal to Vancouver. The late mains were interred in Saskatoon. husband at London, Ontario. In her childhood days Mrs. Tuckey resided with her parents at Stirling and in the vicinity of Belleville.

On Monday Mrs. Frank Smith received a letter telling of the death of another cousin Mr. Charles Victor Macilworthy who passed away at Seaman's Sudb., on December 19th in his 82nd year. The funeral service was held in Seaman's Mission Church Friday Dec. 18th, at Church Friday Dec. 18th, at 2 o'clock. Interment in Seaman's cemetery.

Deceased was the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Macilworthy and was born at Midland in 1855. In his early childhood he resided with his parents at Glen Rose days. Afterwards he journeyed west to Kenora, Dryden and thence to Keewatin, Manitoba.

In 1903 he settled near Seaman's where he resided until 1918. He was married to Miss Olive Powell, Toronto in 1895. He leaves to mourn his widow and three sons, Victor, Donald and Powell also his mother and two brothers Edward and John all of Seaman's.

Mrs. and Marion Montgomery is confined with bronchitis and pneumonia.

Central Cheese factory held their cheese meeting on Friday afternoon with the same officers re-elected. Mr. George Weaver is president and Mr. Morris Rose, secretaryman. Mr. Charles Linn was engaged as cheesemaker. During the year nearly two hundred and four thousand pounds of cheese were manufactured.

Stirling cheese, butter and bacon factoring Company on the fourth concession of Rawdon held their factory meeting on Thursday afternoon. The usual speakers were: Messrs. Charles Linn, Mr. Fryer and C. E. Mills.

Mr. C. M. Sine was re-elected president and Mr. Mills was re-elected secretary-manager. The company produced over one hundred and fifty-two thousand pounds of cheese.

Mrs. Ed. Rupert, Glen Miller, is staying with her daughter, Mrs. Albert Dunkley, who is slowly recovering from her recent operation.

Mr. Will Adey is holidaying with folks at Mount Pleasant.

Mrs. Gilbert Smith, Mount Pleasant, and Mrs. Ray Williams, Hoards spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Murphy, Ontario.

A large number of Rawdon people were entertained to a delightful home party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sine on Thursday evening.

Tweed and District

Tweed—Special Christmas services were held in Tweed United Church on Sunday, December 20th. The choir isn't was attractively decorated with evergreens and colored Christmas decorations. At the morning service Rev. Nicholson delivered a sermon on the theme Christ crowned out. The choir sang "O Lovely Voices of the Sky," Mrs. Grier sang "Holy Night" very appleasingly.

A musical service was given in the evening interspersed with Scriptural passages read by the pastor. Special lighting effects and a manger on the platform made an impressive setting for the service. While Mrs. Dales and Mrs. Connor sang "Away in the Manger", the other members of the choir entered from the rear of the church auditorium, forming a semicircle, about the manger and sang "Joy to the World". A short carol service followed.

The choir sang "It came upon the midnight clear", with obligato taken by Miss Cora McGrath, and "O Come to My Heart, Lord Jesus", with solo by Mrs. Connor.

The solo "An Old-Fashioned Lullaby" and "Infant Holy" were sung by Mrs. Moffat and Mrs. Grier.

The annual Christmas Concert of Tweed Consolidated School was held on Tuesday evening. The following program was given:

Chorus: Ring, Ring the Bells; Address of Welcome: Frank Shewring; Recitation—Jean Hagarty; Chorus—(a) Jolly, Jolly Santa Claus; (b) John, John, Go Away; Recitation—Ruth McFourth Class; Recitation—Jack McCutcheon; Clocking Drill—Primer Class; Recitation—Carl Peck; Christmas Acrostic—Miss Munn's Class; Recitation—Elizabeth Corbett; Play—"A Christmas Eve Pilgrimage"; Chorus—"Hail the Morn; Play—"Christmas in the Land of Nod"; Miss Blaney's Class; Chorus—"Bethlehem Lullaby"; Recitation—"The Parable Month"—Miss Campbell's class; Chorouse—"At Five O-Clock in the Morning" When Mr. Lolled her Babe"; Three Sailors Went A-Sailing" Miss Richard; Recitation—Donald Jones; Piano Solo—Hugh Phillips; Chorus—Miss Flint Novels—Under the Stars; God Save the King.

At the conclusion of the programme the various classes returned to their own rooms where they received a treat from their teacher and presented their teachers with gifts.

On Saturday afternoon Mrs. (Dr.) M. G. Dales gave a pre-nuptial shower in honor of Miss Nellie Alexander, bride-elect. The drawing room was tastefully decorated with Christmas decorations, including a Christmas Tree where the guests placed their gifts for the guest of honor. During the affair Audrey and Merrill Jr., two children of Dr. and Mrs. Dales dressed as bride and groom, entered the room to the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Bald Connor. A. H. Orser sang "O Promise Me", and Mrs. H. E. Connor sang "Unity". A dainty lunch was served at the conclusion.

Miss Doris McGuire B. A., of Queen's University spent the holidays with her parents Mr. and Mrs. W. McGuire.

Mr. Harold McCutcheon of Queen's visits at his home for the Christmas vacation.

Miss Marion Nicholson and Miss Gladys Gordon of Hamilton Thanksgiving returned to their homes this week to spend the holidays.

Miss Dorothy Alexander who is attending O. R. C. in Belleville spent the holidays with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Alexander at Arden.

Miss Vivian Millott of Belleville Collegiate Institute is at the home of her parents for the holidays.

Miss Elizabeth Ketcheson who is attending Macdonald Institute in Guelph is at her home for the holidays.

Mrs. S. B. McGee is spending a few days in Belleville with Mr. Bradley in Navan.

Miss Evelyn Reynolds of Fuller is at home for the holidays.

Miss Mabel Gunning who is taking a Course at Queen's University is at home with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Gunning at Lodgeroom.

BAYSIDE

Bayside—Miss Margaret Bolman is visiting her mother in Toronto.

Mrs. A. Paice spent Wednesday visiting at the home of her father, Mr. John Hall of Campbellford.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Rogers spent Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. J. Chappell of Campbellford.

Miss Bernice Powell of Port Colborne is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. Botsford.

Mr. and Mrs. Murney Jaffery and baby Joan spent a Sunday recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Rush.

Mrs. W. Westfall is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wood of Consecon.

Mr. and Mrs. John Fair, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Hall and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hall and family attended the Christmas dinner at the home of Mrs. L. Hall of Belleville on Sunday.

Mrs. A. Ralph is confined to bed but quite ill.

Mrs. William Bonisteel spent a day recently with Mr. and Mrs. R. Bonisteel.

Mrs. Edgar Harry and baby spent a few days last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Murphy, Bonisteel.

White's Sunday School held their annual Christmas concert on Monday Dec. 21st. The weather was favorable and there was a large number attended. The pupils of Quinte View Sunday School had charge of their teacher Miss Marjorie Stauffer provided most of the programme. Miss Dorothy Hall and Rev. Jas. A. Plant was chairman for the evening and the following programme Santa appeared and distributed the gifts. Closed with "God Save the King".

The December meeting of the Women's Auxiliary was held recently in the home of Mrs. Walter Jones on Thursday with an attendance of fifteen. Mrs. Ernest Hall read a poem. Rev. Jas. A. Plant presided over the business of the afternoon which was as follows:—President, Mrs. Clayton Stickle, 1st vice pres. Mrs. Albert Hall, 2nd vice pres. Mrs. W. Jeffery; Treasurer, Mrs. O. Ketcheson; Cor. Secretary, Mrs. Reclation; Secretary, Mrs. L. Hunt.

Quarterly service was observed at White's Sunday School on Sunday afternoon.

Donald and Morris Jaffery spent a few days recently with their grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wood.

Mrs. R. LaRay of Hamilton is visiting at her parents Mr. and Mrs. C. Nugent.

Miss Edith Hunt is spending the week end with her parents Mr. and Mrs. H. Hunt.

ALLISONVILLE

Allisonville—The Rev. McRae held Christmas service in the Methodist church on Sunday and evening with a good attendance.

Mrs. Kyle spent a few days with her parents before leaving for Miami, Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Harnes and Mr. and Mrs. F. Burkitt motored to Belleville Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Morton spent Saturday in Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Morden were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. K. Vancott's recently.

The snow plow was a welcome sight to see Monday.

Mr. Oliver Reynolds was in Belleville Saturday evening.

Dr. Smith V. S. of Wellington was called to this neighborhood Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Phillips were dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Marvin, Sunday.

Christmas is Here!

Christmas is here, Christmas is here,
Day of rejoicing and mirth and good cheer.
At four in the morning poor pa will patrol
To fill up our stockings in Santa Claus row.
And all he will find in his own is a hole,
Because jolly old Christmas is here!

Christmas is here, Christmas is here,
Most people know that it comes once a year.
But why, when the world is so merry all through,
And gladness the keynote of all that we do,
Must jumpy aunt Jane never sah to come too?—
Because jolly old Christmas is here!

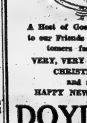
Christmas is here, Christmas is here,
Mother has got rather muddled, I fear.
All the connection went straight to her head,
The pudding she stuffed with sage, onions and bread,
And dropped co-and-ox in the turkey instead—
Because jolly old Christmas is here!

Christmas is here, Christmas is here,
Friends our flapper, who's forty, poor dear,
Spends under the mistletoe most of the night
And vows: "If I'm kissed I shall scream in affright."
But her ma declares she's lucky sounds more like delight—
Because jolly old Christmas is here!

Christmas is here, Christmas is here,
Friends are all anxious to greet us with cheer;
Neighbors drop in for a while to present
Gifts and their wishes for joy and contents
And even our landlord has called—for the rent,
Because jolly old Christmas is here!

Indian Prince Had Costly Card

The most costly Christmas card ever made, was prepared at the order of an Indian prince for presentation to a lady of high rank whom he greatly admired. Although the card measured only 12 inches by 10 it means six months hours and cost the artists who produced it, and its value was estimated at more than two and a half million dollars when it was finished. The card was up to its worry, but critical years would not do. Forty elephants were killed before the ivory of exactly the right quality were obtained to field the thin ivory card, for one of the most talented Indian artists were then set to work. Their task was to reduce the ivory to a thickness fewer than ten thousand scenes from the life of Hindu poet Shri. Buddah. Round the edge of the masterpiece, to form a frame for the picture, forty-four of the finest diamonds were set.



YULETIDE FIRES

Cleanse with the burning log of oak
The dust of day's care;
Deck with the scarlet-berried holly
The portals of the fair;
Spread pure-white linen for a feast,
Perchance some guest may share.

Give forth thy gold and silver coins,
For they are of value to thee;
Put out to usury thy dross,
That it yield gainful thrice,
Perchance the hungered and the poor
May pray to God for thee.

Once a pale star rose in the East
For watching herds to see.
And wonderful came to Bethlehem
And strength to Galilee,
Perchance; if thou dost keep thy eyes
A star may rise for thee.

—Old English Christmas Poem.

A Host of Good Wishes to our Friends and Customers for a VERY, VERY MERRY CHRISTMAS and a HAPPY NEW YEAR

DOYLE'S DRUG STORE

Carols Were Sung To Old Instruments

What are the proper instruments for accompanying the singing of Christmas carols? The use of the piano or the organ is, perhaps, justified, because they are the most convenient, but the older carols at least were originally sung to the accompaniment of very different instruments. In Wales, they have generally been sung to the harp. In Italy it is the lyre and viola-da-gamba or to an orchestra consisting of violins, guitar, tambourine and 'cello. In Italy, carolling began about ten days before Christmas, when the shepherds and other country folk visit the towns and go round singing and playing their local instruments—the pifferu, a kind of bagpipe—always stopping at the carpenter's shop, "out of gratefulness for Master St. Joseph." In England in the Middle Ages it was customary for the people to sing a verse of a carol, and then, while the verse played, for the boys and girls to dance to the music.

CRACKERS

At an elaborate Christmas dinner in London, a few years ago, the table decorations were unique. In the table two liveried footmen suddenly appeared at one end of the great dining-hall, carrying between them a large silver dish, upon which reposed the biggest Christmas cracker that anyone present had ever seen.

The man deposited their burden on the floor in the middle of the room and withdrew in solemn state. Scarcely had they disappeared when the cracker was seen to slowly rise up, and out of the opening stepped a beautiful young daughter, disguised as a dainty little fairy.

The child performed a spirited dance, then presented to each cracker, only to reappear almost at once with a number of costly presents, which she handed round among the delighted guests.

Another amusing Christmas cracker surprise was planned by a hostess at the Court of Hungary. In the big ballroom, where his Christmas party was held, an enormous cracker was erected on end, like a tower. It was many feet high and had been built by the biggest ever constructed. It was hollow within. A ladder was fixed inside, and this led up to a platform. Suddenly, at midnight, there a little girl in fancy dress crouched. She was a conjurer, and she stood up and threw a shower of presents to the excited guests below.

CANNIFTON

Cannifton—Christmas service was held in Cannifton Methodist and the United Church. Special Christmas music was rendered by the choir.

Friends of Mrs. Jas. Keenan are glad to see her able to be around.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Watts have moved in one of Mr. Fry's apartments.

Mrs John Webb was a tea hour guest of Mrs. C. Mathew on Thursday.

The Anglican Mission held their Christmas Tree at Ellis Memorial on Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Mrs. Robert Cannons and family were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. Matthews.

The Women's Institute of Belleville was the guest of her friend Miss Ella Thompson on Tuesday night.

The United Church held their Christmas Tree on Tuesday evening in the Town Hall. Proceeds amounted to $21.50.

Mrs. Gould held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Jas. Johnson on Thursday last.

A very pretty wedding party was held at the home of Mrs. MacDonald, Cannifton Road on Wednesday morning last. Proceeds were for the Guild.

Report of West Huntingdon Public School

Christmas Examinations Dec. 15, 1936

The pupils names are placed in order of merit.

Sr. IV—George Ashley, Kathleen Moorcroft, Helen Kepley.

Jr. IV—Russell Sills, Theda Moorcroft, Clarence Thompson, Jack Wright, Donald Wright, David Fargey, Norman McGowan.

Sr. III—Jean Hagarty, Ilean Kirby, Lindsay Sills, Gerald Kerby

Jr. III—Donald Runnalls, William Donnan.

Sr. II—James Donnan, Melbourne Wright, Gordon Kerby, Norman Wright, Stanley Reynolds.

Jr. II—Marjorie Mcleod, Shirley Reynolds, Ray Donnan, Muriel Thompson.

Primer Class—Joyce Wallace, Jean Hagarty, Arlem Tummon, Donald Wallace, Warren Moorcroft, Shirley Reid.

Teacher—Charles Moran.

CHRISTMAS REPORT ST. OLA SCHOOL

Sr. IV—Melles Phillips, Cora Ham Eugene Phillips, Gilbert Van Alen.

Jr. IV—Fred Phillips, Howard Carroll.

Sr. III—Virgil Neil, Jack McCormick, Burton Baker, Florence Beadrie.

Jr. III—Ivo McCormick, Hindy Dafoe, Cecil Dafoe, Allen Neil.

Sr. II—Plaudie Phillips, Ivan Defoe, Shirley Van Allen, Vera Beadrie.

Jr. II—Russell Reid, Calvin Reid, Wilfrid Phillips.

First—Clifford Neil, Gerald Brown, Lovenne Beadrie, Eugene Phillips, Mildred Neil.

Sr. Pr.—Marjorie Phillips, Myrtle Bowen.

Jr. Pr.—Verna Phillips.

Maisie Van Dusen.

Mumming Was Ancient Game

In olden times, on Christmas Day, New Year's Day and Twelfth Night, mummers went from house to house. They were dressed as women and women dressed as men. Many attired, they were, in fantastic costumes, and making merry. This kind of merry-making was supposed to have originated with the Saturnalia, or festival held in honor of the feast of Saturn. For this reason mumming was condemned by the Synod of Thundee, which decreed that "the public dancings of women should cease as being invented and observed in honor of heathen gods."

There is a record of a very extraordinary "mummery" arranged by London citizens at Christmas, 1377, with the purpose of entertaining the young son of the Black Prince. In the entertainment, 130 citizens took part, moving to the sound of trumpet, shawm and clarionet. By torchlight they rode in procession to the Manor of Kennington, where the young Prince then was with his mother, the Princess of Wales. The mummers, dressed as knights, and richly arrayed, dismounted from their horses, and, after having entered the manor, where they presented the young Prince with a pair of weighted dice and arranged that when he threw them he was bound to throw "sice ace," the mummers won a gold ring and gold cup. While all these and other members of his household were present—the Duke of Lancaster and other noblemen—lords danced with the mummers, who after being feasted, departed in procession as they had come.

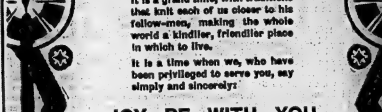
King Henry VIII seems to have objected to mummers, because they were "costly, foolish and inconvenient." He made a law that if disorder occurred, the mummers should be arrested by the King's Liege Men, and "committed to gaole, without bayle," for three months.

In 1672, however, we read of mummers in Kilkenny, Ireland, "a country places where a great number of old Christmas plays were performed. The squire's wardrobe was ransacked for costumes, and burnt cork was used to black the faces of the performers.

Mummers were also common formerly in Cornwall and Devonshire. He was surrounded by six other men, each wearing a reindeer head. They went aroun, from place to place, collecting pennies while and penny-pieces in huge bowls.

ZION VICTORY MISSION BAND

Zion Victory Mission Band group held their meeting at the school house, Monday Dec. 21st, with eighteen members present. Hymn 74 was sung. The Christmas Scripture, was read responsively. Mrs. Tufts explained Christmas in other lands. Phyllis Beadrie, Christmas asked Elmer Morgan to read the story of the Shepherds and the Angel. This was followed by a reading by Miss Townsend. A recitation by Delbert Shepherd and Ruth Neil. The Doh had been donated and dressed by the band girls which included a full line of quilt, pillow and bedding and mattress made by the girls while the boys had made the bed. It was decided to send these articles to Belleville firemen to give to less fortunate children. The meeting was closed by prayer by Mrs. W. J. Tufts and Phyllis Beadrie. The catering president, served all to a treat of candy.



To CHRISTMAS

It is a grand time, with traditions that knit each of us closer to his fellow-men, making the whole world a kindlier, friendlier place in which to live.

It is a time when we, who have been privileged to serve you, say simply and sincerely:

JOY BE WITH YOU

ZELLERS
RETAILING TO THRIFTY CANADIANS

Best Wishes for A MERRY CHRISTMAS to You — From Us

- CHARLIE DOLAN
- FRED WOODLEY
- TERRY DOLAN
- ARNOLD ARMSTRONG
- GORDON PALMER

The Staff of

DOLAN THE DRUGGIST

Little Benny's Note Book

I just read my book of Sherlock Homes stories again being about the 10th time but prolerly not the last, and our school is closed for two Years Pa's gist store and Mr. Pawl nocked on the window with his nuckles and made motions for me to come in, which I did and Mr. Pawl said, Your father left one of his glores here the day before yesterday and I haven't seen him since to give it to him, so you better take it home with you.

Then I did, and the proper pop was smoking to himself in his private cloat and I said, Pop, do you think somebody could learn how to be a grate detective just by reading Sherlock Homes stories?

Somebody mile, but the chances are a billion to one against it, pop said.

Morning prolerly not, I said. Well G, pop, that's how I learnt, and if you don't believe it I'll detect something rite now. I deduct that you've had something on your mind for 3 days, I said, and pop said, My dear young chap, if you knew half the things that are constantly on my mind you'd be the best informed person for your age in the world.

But gosh, pop, I mean something special to bother about, I said, I deduct that you've been wondering and worrying where you could of left your other glove, I said, and Pa said, You've found it sound in the house somewhere, and thank goodness they're not gloves you're looking for.

No I didn't either, pop, I didn't find it anywhere, I said, and pop said, Then how do you know anywhere.

—but what do we care who have that excellent coal supplied by Harry Smith. Our home is always comfortable and the coal gives that maximum of heat with the minimum of ash. So says a satisfied customer.

MERRY CHRISTMAS TO ALL FROM

HARRY SMITH

122 Pinnacle Street COAL MERCHANT Phone 30

GREETINGS!

THE WHITE LUMBER

WISHES TO EXTEND to all their customers and the Public generally, Heartiest Good Wishes for a VERY MERRY CHRISTMAS and a Prosperous New Year.

R. P. WHITE

SOLE OWNER AND PROPRIETOR

Belleville, December 24, 1936.

THE ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER

THE DAILY ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER is published every afternoon (Sunday and holidays excepted) at The Ontario Intelligencer Building, 148 Front Street, Belleville.

W. E. ROBINSON, PUBLISHER

A MERRY CHRISTMAS!

"A Merry Christmas to everyone" is the universal feeling at this time of year on the Eve of Christmas. In every land and in every tongue this or a similar salutation is heard in universal acclaim to the life of Him who lived over nineteen centuries ago and left influences which have reminde the world until the end of time. Throughout the ages yet to be these words will be heard: "Merry Christmas!"

This Life which has so deeply affected the world brought mankind back to realities and one of the great realities of course is the child life and the birth of generation after generation. He taught the value of the child in soul tones and it is fitting that one of the two great human festivals concerned with His life is one dealing with His coming into the world.

Century after century the event has been marked and in spite of what is called materialistic trends, the Christ-spirit does dominate Christmastide. Though there are evils in the body politic which need correction, no one can say that the world is not growing more and more happy in following out this way of life.

Into the Christmas celebration much of a tradition character has come, yet it preserves the central fact of the birth at Bethlehem, which every one acknowledges as that event which wrought the greatest influence upon human history. Today in every clime five hundred millions of persons, nearly one third of the world's population mark this day of all days in the year.

Generation after generation there is no cessation in the observance of Christmas for it has the quality of perpetual life, the reason being of course that it is associated with one of the events in the life of the individual being. The festival centres about childhood and the family life, which spread out to the rest of the world as from its water continues to extend out to infinity.

A better feeling actuates the minds of men at this time, so absorbing and influential is the thought of Christmas and what it means.

The poets, the novelists, have sung of this time of the year, Bayly says

"The mistletoe hung in the castle hall,
The holly branch shone on the old oak wall."

There is the merry note of Longfellow "I heard the bells on Christmas Day
Their old familiar carols play."

And wild and sweet
The words repeat
Of peace on earth, good will to men!"

Tennyson has unforgettable lines—

"The time draws near the birth of Christ;
The moon is hid, the night is still;
The Christmas bells from hill to hill
Answer each other in the mist."

Gay in his fables refers to the kitchen and the dining hall and puts these words in the turkey's mouth:

"How blessed how envied, were our life,
Could we but 'scape the poulterer's knife!
But man curs'd doom relentless preys;
And Christmas shorten all our days;
Sometimes with oysters we combine,
Sometimes assist the savoury chine;
From the low peasant to the lord,
The turkey smokes on every board."

Sir Walter Scott speaks of "a Christmas gambol which oft does cheer the poor man's heart through half the year." Tradition has said that "as many mince pies as you taste at Christmas, so many happy months will you have."

The children's side is told in these words of Phebe Cary:

"For children everywhere
A joyous season still we make;
We bring the precious gifts to them
Even for the dear child Jesus' sake."

Everyone remembers the Christmas Carol by Charles Dickens wherein the season is thrown in its true light in the changing of the life of selfishness through the lives of the unselfish and through the words of a child.

These evidences from literature like the evidences which come into everyone's experience prove the universal significance of Christmas. It is no wonder then that the world so regards this day, that happiness expresses itself in the words so natural to the lips, "Merry Christmas!"

HAPPINESS AND CHEER

All this season's cheer and happiness and improvements yet to be in the social sphere are possible because a Child was born in Bethlehem many centuries ago, bringing the purest essence of life to earth. What His mother realized as He was born is not known but she had visions of His greatness. The hope she had in Him was realized as no other mother's hope has ever been realized—for He became the hope of humanity, its guiding star. From lowly estate He grew under tender care to be the greatest that ever trod and left an influence on earth.

This Man whom a great share of the inhabitants of earth call Master, made clear the way of life. His kindness and loving care are still shown in the Christmas festival across nineteen centuries. He has stirred man as that the time of His birth is memorialized forever with joy and cheerfulness, which He spread among men.

SIDELIGHTS

THE HOME FORUM

Discussing the events of the day, home gossip and general news, topics as revealed by the home newspaper—under the evening lamp—and comments Grave and Gay. — Supervised by The Laughlighter

GEORGE McMANUS, CREATOR OF "BRINGING UP FATHER" and his comic page characters, enter the spirit of the holiday season and extend greetings to the readers of The Ontario Intelligencer. Readers of this newspaper have been enjoying the doings and sayings of Jiggs and Maggie so long that they have become almost neighbors and most human and intimate. George McManus, creator of Jiggs, Maggie, Dinty Moore and the rest of the bunch, shows great cleverness in keeping his subjects fresh and up-to-date without repeating himself—quite a job to create a new situation every day, with a touch of the comic and a bit of wholesome philosophy—sufficient to make most readers turn to Jiggs and Maggie immediately upon taking up the paper. Jiggs and Maggie have been long with us, may they long continue to amuse and entertain us.

* * *

THERE IS A SANTA CLAUS. Everybody realizes that now—for better or for worse.

* * *

TO ALL MEMBERS OF THE SIDELIGHT FAMILY we extend the heartiest of good wishes for a very Merry Christmas, forgetting all the shadows of the past and looking forward eagerly to the bright sunshine of the future in a better understanding and exemplification of Peace on earth and good will to men of good will.

* * *

THE SPIRIT OF CHRISTMAS could not be better exemplified than in Charles Dickens' Christmas Carol. The sour puss of present and past generations who ridiculed Christmas giving and cried out against a belief in Santa Claus are identical and it is likewise true that most of them come under the unwilling influence of Tiny Tim, even if Marley's Ghost fails to turn their feet from evil ways. Let's all listen to Lionel Barrymore Christmas night as he enacts the age-old story which is ever new.

* * *

OLD SCROOGE RIDES AGAIN—Dickens never dies, and his characters drawn so truly many years ago are just as true today, although the clothes may be a trifle different. The Christmas spirit is abroad, soon even the Old Scrooges will succumb and the Tiny Tims will triumph once more. God Bless Us Every One, said Tiny Tim, so many years ago, and the same thought holds good today. Incidentally it may be mentioned that Lionel Barrymore will again enact Old Schooge on the radio Christmas night and thousands will listen to the age old story as evidenced by Charles Dickens, hate Old Scrooge, love Tiny Tim and sympathize with Bob Cratchitt and all the little Cratchitts. And so, God bless us every one, said Tiny Tim, and so say we.

* * *

A little girl, who had watched with great interest the natives painting rings of tar round her uncle's fruit trees, and had been told that it was to keep the ants from crawling into the trees, saw for the first time some days later a man with a crepe mourning band round his left arm. "Mummie," she asked, "what's to keep them from crawling up his other arm."

LOOKING BACKWARD

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

DEC. 24th, 1916

Merry Christmas to all.

Mr. James Alexander is home from Lindsay to spend Christmas.

Mr. J. O'Brien of the Ritchie Co., will spend Christmas at Peterboro.

Mr. D. Doran of Detroit, Mich., is visiting his parents at their home on College Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. George Reid of Montreal are visiting his brother, Mr. C. M. Reid, Bridge Street east.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Adams are spending Christmas and New Year's with relatives at Millbr.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Keagan of Windsor are here to spend Christmas with friends.

Misses Lorne Young and Frank McGowan of the Intelligencer office will spend Christmas with relatives at Perth.

Miss Helen Palen is here to spend Christmas with her sister, Miss Imogene Palen.

Mr. W. H. Draycott of Montreal is home to spend Christmas with his parents Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Draycott.

30 YEARS AGO

DEC. 24th, 1906

Mr. Fred R. Lingham has arrived home from the Old Country.

Mr. William M. Ketcheson is home to spend Christmas.

Mr. Walter Pellerson is home to spend Christmas.

Mr. George Van Blaricom is home from Peterboro to spend Christmas.

Capt. W. Conger of Kingston, formerly of Belleville, has arrived to spend Christmas here with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Paice of Buffalo, N. Y., are visiting friends in the city.

Mr. James Robertson of Chicago, Ill., is here to spend Christmas with friends.

Mr. Byron Denyes of Cairo, N. Y., is here to spend the holidays.

Mr. G. B. Tandy will spend Christmas at his home in Kingston.

Mr. R. Hinchey is home from Toronto to spend Christmas with his parents.

Mr. Walter Dobbs of Montreal will be home to spend Christmas.

40 YEARS AGO

DEC. 24th, 1896

The officers of Quinte Encampment, No. 19, I. O. O. F., were elected last evening as follows: P. P., James Boyd; S. W. A. A. Matthews; H. P., Geoge Alkins; Scribe, F. M. Clarke; P. S. J. T. Osborne; Treasurer, L. B. Cooper; J. W. O. W. Cook.

The workers of the City Mission hope to be able to open the soup kitchen on New Year's Day if the friends of the work are liberal in their Christmas contributions. The work was carried on successfully last year and proved a boon to many poor families.

The carol singers will be out to night serenading the public.

Mr. G. H. Vermilyea of the Oak Hall Clothing House sent out his usual Christmas gifts this morning. The Intelligencer acknowledges very much his kind remembrances.

50 YEARS AGO

DEC. 24th, 1886

Merry Christmas.

The mild, rain ain't are not in harmony with the Christmas season.

The ladies of John Street Presbyterian Church have a beautiful silk quilt on hand a basket which they will present to their pastor, the Rev. J. E. George, tomorrow.

A number of boys who were caught coasting had their sleighs confiscated yesterday by the police. The boys received their sleighs back upon promising not to offend again.

At a meeting of Belleville Lodge, No. 361, Royal Arcanum, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Past Regent, R. Croft Hulme; Treasurer, W. N. Ponton; Collector, A. D. Northrup and J. W. Dunnett; Representatives to Grand Council, John Farley, Thomas, W. J. Diamond and W. H. Northrup. The lodge is very successful.

Letters to the Editor

BOXING DAY

Belleville, Ont.

Re Boxing Day. I would like very much to state a few facts with regards to the value of Boxing Day, especially for the employees.

All through the year, the employees of the retail stores, in the city work hard and honestly for the interests of the store owners. Perhaps during the year these employees will receive from one to two weeks holidays, and then go back again to their work always serving the public in the best interests of both the employees and the buyer. And especially during the Christmas season do these employees work many hours overtime to bring the best services to the customers. And now when the store owners have an opportunity to show their appreciation to their employees for the wonderful services rendered during the year, some hesitate to close on Boxing Day for why—do you ask?

Surely the retail merchants are not acting on the advice of the buying public. I may say, then, the store owners are very much in the wrong. The buying public are very much in sympathy with the clerks and after interviewing over 300 buyers and city poll on Saturday, I find 2 per cent of the people against Boxing Day and 98 per cent in favor.

For all the business that will be done during this day it will not pay the merchants to open. Still if they wish to open, let them do so but let their employees off to enjoy a complete Christmas holiday so that they will know what Christmas Day really represents.

Thank you very much,

Sincerely,

Stanley W. Wilbur.

Everywhere Christmas

Phillips Brooks, the great Boston divine, whose hymn, "O Little Town of Bethlehem," is one of the best loved Christmas hymns, was also the writer of the song: "He Lives" (S. S. 60) which gives for his sainliness and for the excellence of his song as a prayer.

Everywhere, everywhere Christmas to-night!
Christmas in lands of the fir tree and pine,
Christmas in lands of the palm tree and vine,
Christmas where snow peaks stand solemn and white,
Christmas where corn fields lie sunny and bright;
Everywhere, everywhere, Christmas to-night!

Christmas where children are playing,
Christmas where old men are praying,
Christmas where peace like a dove in its flight,
Broods o'er the men ja the thick of the fight;
Everywhere, everywhere, Christmas to-night!

For the Christ-Child who comes is the Master of all.
No palace too great, and no cottage too small;
The angels who welcome Him sing from the height,
"In the city of David, a King in His might";
Everywhere, everywhere, Christmas to-night!

Then let every heart keep its Christmas within,
Christ's pity for sorrow, Christ's hatred for sin,
Christ's care for the weak, Christ's courage for right,
Christ's dread of the darkness, love for the light,
Everywhere, everywhere, Christmas to-night!

APPOINTED WIRELESS ADVISER

London (CP)—Lieut.-Commander K. B. Best, Communications Officer to the Metropolitan Police, has been appointed wireless adviser to the police of the United Kingdom by London Included.

Best CHRISTMAS Wishes

WE TRUST THAT EVERY MATERIAL THING you wish this Christmas to bring will be yours and in addition the blessings of Health, Happiness and Success.

WISHING ALL OUR PATRONS AND FRIENDS A VERY MERRY CHRISTMAS

WALKER HARDWARE COMPANY - LIMITED

Lipson's

POPULAR PRICE STORE

Extends to Everyone the Heartiest

SEASONS GREETINGS

IRISH CHRISTMAS

In no country is Christmas looked forward to with greater anticipation, than in Ireland. For centuries the coming of the Christ Child has been hailed with unbounded joy by the people of the Emerald Isle.

Many stories associated with Christmas are repeated year after year around Irish firesides. An old legend tells that sometimes on Christmas eve Mary and the Christ Child wander abroad seeking shelter. Fearful lest they might rest in vain, as they did in Bethlehem long ago, a lighted candle is placed in every window to guide them to a place of refuge. Those are left in darkness through the night, gleaming into the darkness, guiding any wanderer that might be abroad; for the legend also tells that the "Mother and Child may come in almost any guise."

Believe Cattle Talk on Christmas Eve

There are still people who believe in the magic of cock-crowing to scare away evil spirits, as in the days of Shakespeare, "Some say that ever 'gainst that season comes; Wherein our Saviour's birth is celebrated; The bird of dawning singeth all night long; And then, they say, no spirit can walk abroad." And there are still in remote parts of England districts where it is an article of faith that cattle have the gift of language on Christmas Eve. And woe be to man or maid who yields to curiosity and overhears conversation for they are sure to hear something they would go miles to avoid hearing. There is a story told of a farm servant who, scoffing at the gossip, resolved to satisfy himself in his master's stable and listened. Just as the clock struck midnight he heard, so the story runs, one horse say to another: "Wy, shall have hard work to do this week." "Yes; the farmer's servant is heavy," answered his companion; "and the way to the churchyard is long and steep." The servant died and was buried just a week later.

SAXON "WARS HAEL"

Christmas fare has always occupied a big part in Yuletide celebrations. Our Anglo-Saxon forefathers were excellent trencher-men, and eating and drinking were a necessary part of every gala day. Stuffed boars' heads, peacocks, geese, capons, pheasants, mince pie, plum pudding—these decked the board. The turkey was unknown. That excellent fowl did not enter the hall of fame until the discovery of the New World. Of course, there was plenty of ale and wine to wash down the solemn wassail bowl. This bowl takes its name from the two Saxon words, "wass hael", meaning "be in health." It was a great bowl of Spanish iron which banal pies were thrown to enhance its flavor. Mince pie originated in 1266. It first was made from mutton. The Puritans condemned it as an ungodly diet, and the Quakers would have none of it.

WANT TREES RETAINED

London (CP)—The Society of the Men of the Trees is engaging in a petition against proposal of the Westminster City Council to remove four plane trees—the plane is the "Cockney's tree"—from Leicester Square.

May your Christmas Be Full of Good Things

—good things to eat, fine poultry and prime beef, all tender and true, garnished with everything that you like best—may your friends be many and the cost close to you this Christmas Day and may the Day of Days be all Joy and Sunshine with all shadows swept away by the Glorious Spirit of Christmas—is the wish of your friend,

HARRY GREEN

Front Street MEAT MERCHANT Belleville

SCOTT'S SCRAPBOOK

by R. J. SCOTT

THE ROYAL BANK OF CANADA

General Statement, 30th November, 1936

LIABILITIES

Capital paid up	$ 10,000,000.00
Reserve fund	10,000,000.00
Balance of profit and loss account carried forward	2,913,796.67
Dividend No. 174, payable 1st December	$ 12,913,796.67
Dividend No. 175, payable 1st March	12,961.44
Dividend unclaimed	780,000.00
	23,836,757.83
Deposits by and balances due to Dominion Government	$ 87,636,757.83
Deposits by and balances due to Provincial Governments	$ 256,181.23
Deposits by and balances due to other banks in Canada	2,200,566.77
Deposits by and balances due to banks and bankers elsewhere than in Canada	4,284,744.98
Deposits by and balances due to the public not bearing interest	41,184,988.13
Deposits by and balances due to the public bearing interest, including interest accrued to date of statement	156,679.71
Notes of the Bank in circulation	11,138,718.43
	79,754,417.25
	91,393,136.25
	51,150,000.00
Acceptances per contra	357,391.51
	$ 223,894,457.99

ASSETS

Gold held in Canada	$ 1,997,781.20
Gold held elsewhere	1,997,781.20
Gold held elsewhere	4,861,566.61
Subsidiary coin	1,000,000.00
Notes of Bank of Canada	6,138,732.20
Deposit with Dominion Government for security of note issues	2,000,000.00
	$ 17,371,167.27
Notes of other banks	1,204,291.00
	$ 91,085,879.56
Cheques on other banks	$ 24,379,258.67
Balances due by other banks in Canada	2,674.66
Balances due by banks and bankers elsewhere than in Canada	61,582,181.71
	87,764,994.63
Dominion and Provincial Government direct and guaranteed securities maturing within two years, not exceeding market value	113,279,412.66
Dominion and Provincial Government direct and guaranteed securities maturing after two years, not exceeding market value	139,363,816.93
Canadian municipal securities and British, foreign and colonial public securities other than Canadian, not exceeding market value	9,998,194.63
Railway and other bonds, debentures and stocks, not exceeding market value	11,998,178.17
Canadian municipal securities and British, foreign and colonial public securities other than Canadian, not exceeding market value	29,643,184.43
Call and short (not exceeding 30 days) loans in Canada on bonds, debentures and stocks	34,154,516.66
Call loans elsewhere than in Canada on bonds, debentures and stocks and other securities of a like character, not exceeding market value	14,434,186.99
	$413,230,570.74
Other loans and discounts in Canada, not otherwise included, not exceeding	$178,427,278.48
Other loans and discounts elsewhere than in Canada, not exceeding	1,766,434.22
	180,193,712.70
Liabilities of customers under acceptances, letters of credit as per contra	19,337,376.30
Real estate other than bank premises	398,416,461.99
Mortgages on real estate sold by the Bank	2,248,276.00
	396,168,185.99
Bank premises, at not more than cost, less amounts written off	14,441,067.12
Deposits with the Minister of Finance for the security of note circulation	3,780,000.00
Other assets not included under the foregoing heads	1,134,621.57
	$ 223,894,457.99

NOTE—The Royal Bank of Canada (Proof) has been incorporated under the laws of Canada to conduct the business of the Bank's Parts, and the executive committee of the Board has been included in the above General Statement of the Bank pursuant to the provisions of the Bank Act.

M. W. WILSON, President and Managing Director. — S. G. BOSTON, General Manager.

AUDITORS' REPORT

To the Shareholders, The Royal Bank of Canada:

We have examined the above Statement of Liabilities and Assets as at 30th November, 1936, and have compared the same with the books of the Bank and with the certificates received from the branches. We have checked the cash of the Head Office and a number of the branches and have obtained certificates from the Managers of the branches not visited by us at the close of business on the last day of the year. In our opinion, according to the information and explanations that we have received, and to our examination of the Bank, which have been carried on in accordance with the usual practice and procedure of a bank auditor, the above Statement of Liabilities and Assets is, in our opinion, properly drawn up so as to disclose the true condition of the Bank as at 30th November, 1936, and it is in accordance with the books of the Bank.

W. GARNET THOMSON, C.A., of Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Company } Auditors.
M. GORDON McGREGOR, C.A., of Harold, Roberts & Company

Montreal, Canada, December 22, 1936.

PROFIT AND LOSS ACCOUNT

Balance of Profit and Loss Account, 30th November, 1935	$ 1,909,554.61
Profit on Bank Premises written off, 30th November, 1936, after providing for contributions to Officers' Pension Fund	1,004,241.84
Profit for the year ended 30th November, 1936, after making provision for bad and doubtful debts, rebate of interest, contingencies accounting for $998,574.99 and after making appropriations to Contingency Reserve account which Reserve provision for all Bad and Doubtful Debts has been made	$ 3,113,796.45
APPROPRIATED AS FOLLOWS:
Dividend No. 172 at 5 per annum	$ 750,000.00
Dividend No. 173 at 5 per annum	750,000.00
Dividend No. 174 at 5 per annum	750,000.00
Dividend No. 175 at 5 per annum	750,000.00
	$ 3,000,000.00
Contribution to the Pension Fund Society	200,000.00
Written off Bank Premises account	13,796.45
Balance of Profit and Loss carried forward	1,913,796.67
	$ 3,113,796.45

M. W. WILSON, President and Managing Director.
S. G. BOSTON, General Manager.

Montreal, December 23, 1936.

Locing of Home Is Charge Laid

OTAWA, Dec. 24.—(CP)—Leopold Roy, 18, was under arrest today charged with looting the home in which five children, 10 Adelard Cloutier were killed in a fire early Tuesday.

Examining the ruined house after the fire, Girouxc discovered two watches and a quantity of metal silverware had been stolen. Detective said they recovered the articles after an attempt had been made to set them for a few dollars.

Bernard Roy, 15-year-old survivor, had been watching the ruins of the home, but said he had been relieved by a young man who claim. to have withdrawn from Adelard Giroux to dispose of the salvaged articles.

Slvation Army Band To Parade This Eve.

The spirit of Christmas eve will be heightened in the city this evening through the downtown sections by the Salvation Army Band of the local corps, which, following annual tradition, will devote the evening to be open air playing of the various well known carols and hymns. Starting at the corner of East bridge and Pinnacle streets at about 7.30 o'clock the band will parade on Pinnacle to the East Dundas Street and from thence to Front street. Various stops will be made at the various corners and locations.

Grain Markets

Quotations on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange as furnished by A. E. Richardson and Co. today at 1 p.m.:

	High	Low	Last
December —	126¾	126¼	126¼
May	127¼	125¾	127
July	122¾	121¾	122¾
Oats—
December —	53¼	51¾	52¾
May	51¾	51¼	51½
July	50¾	50¼	50¾
Barley—
December —	86	84¾	86
May	75	73¾	75
July	70¾	69¾	70½
Rye—
December —	108¾	108¼	108¾
May	107¼	106¼	107¼
July	107¼	104¾	107¾

HOG QUOTATIONS

Toronto, Dec. 24 (CP)—Two points reported advances in hogs here, prices today but other quotations were unchanged. Liveweights moved 15 cents higher at Brantford and 25 cents higher at Chatham. Dressedweights were up 25 cents at the latter point.

Liveweights: Brantford $8.15; Kitchener $8; London $8.10; Hull $8; Peterborough $8; Stratford $8; Chatham $8.

Dressedweights: London $14.80; Hull $11; Peterborough $10.75; Brantford $10.70; Chatham $10.05, $10.65.

UNLISTED MINES

Unlisted Mines furnished by A. H. Ketchesont and Co. at 12.30 today, Albany 80-86

Alhoba 29½
Backfield 100-120
Cumpiau 14-16
Cuppe Gold 26-42
Dan Patch 18-22
Forty Four 28½
Hudlonbay 82-92
Gold Eagle 66-72
Lake Shore 178-188
Gillies Lake 42-52
Hudson Patricia 9-11
Lamaque 175-185
Leitch Gold 97-100
Madsen Red Lake 130-136
McCarthy Webb 44
Meshaw 49-53
Mocaiba 57-56
Okland 82-86
Old Diamond 41-44
Pan Cadillac 100-108
Rahill 30
Rubec 11-13
Smellers Gold 9¼-10¼
Thompson River 46-49
Stecokun 20
Richardson 24-25
Shenango 23-26
Sylvanite 7
Sisco Extension 15c
Thom. Cad 210-215
Wasbeno 7
Wilson Red Lake 10a

TORONTO INDUSTRIALS CLOSE

Toronto, Dec. 24 (CP)—The industrial share market succumbed to the holiday influence today in the last hour of trading today and the tape was busy only during the time. Closing at 1.30 today, the market will have a Christmas holiday till Saturday morning.

Features of today's action were Power Corporation and Steel Co. of Canada common. The power issue climbed three to a new high at 31, up ¾ for the day. Steel of Canada common set a fractional Bridge also registered gains and in the utilities the tone was slightly firmer.

Ford A, C.P.R., Walker's common and Distillers Corporation closed with fractional gains, the only were more than a half point advance for Fanspec to a new high.

Massey Harris pfd. hit a new at 31 and Canada Steel picked up ¾ and Cockshutt Plow the minimum fraction.

Gainers in the miscellaneous list were Canadian Canners, Bridge Corporation, Imperial Tobacco and Consolidated Press. Dominion Tar registered a loss of almost ¾ point in the foods Maple Leaf and Canada Bread. Utilities also were Canadian Wire and Cable "A" was heavy around 55.

TORONTO MINES CLOSE

Toronto, Dec. 24 (CP)—Trading tempo eased off in the final session of the week today on Toronto mining section and minor losses outnumbered the gains as the day ended. The market closed at 12:30 and will remain closed until Monday, December 28 as Christmas holiday extended to include Saturday.

Outhoupoint, from a morning top price of 2.22, settled back around 2.13 where it was up 3 cents. Losers of a few each were showing at the close for Mend-Cookpatrol, Stadacona-Rickland, Bankfield, Sladen and Reno.

Among the few gains were Sisco, Central Patricia, Buffalo-Ankerite and Red Lake, Lake Shore, Pioneer, Hollinger and McIntyre were steady and Pickle Crow at 7.85 was up 40. Sisco added 32.

Pend Oreille was firm and active, selling around 84, Sherritt added a few, Sudbury Basin weakened 10, Eldorado off a few to 2.95.

Oils displayed mild weakness. Foothills at 1.80 was down 10 and Dalhousie at 1.33 was 2 lower.

WALL STREET

New York, Dec. 24 (AP)—Buying favors were observed among oils and specialties in today's stock market while many of the leaders received little or no attention. The ticker tape lagged indicingly and around the fourth hour-five hundred volume was comparatively small.

In the Canadian sector of the market, prices ranged from unchanged to a trifle higher among Home Mines, McIntyre, International Nickel, Canadian Pacific and Distillers Corporation-Seagrams. On the curb, Lake Shore gained a minor fraction. Canadian government bonds were narrow, Canadian dollars ruled even at 100.07 13-16 cents.

An advance of some 7 points was scored by Paramount Pictures Pfd. preferred stock and the Common was up 1. Among others fractional to 2 or so improved were Standard Oil of California and N. W. Bancorporation. Seaboard Pure and Texas Corporation declined.

Ahead as much as a point or so during the earlier part of the session were Kelsey-Hayes Wheel, Yellow Truck, Briggs Manufacturing, Public Service of New Jersey, U. S. Rubber, Consolidated Cigar, Goodyear, Anaconda Copper.

In a narrow but generally lower area were General Motors, Chrysler, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, North American, Anaconda, Kennecott Inspiration, Columbian Carbon, General Electric, Pennsylvania and National Dis-tillers. A cluster of stocks headed by Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck and Woolworth.

Gold Brick Poured At Gillies Lake

A gold brick valued at approximately $2,000 was poured the first of the week at the Gillies Lake Porcupine Gold Mine, according to information received by the Timmins Press from J. P. Dick, mine manager.

Production for December will equal that of the previous month, and possibly more, with 12 days of production still ahead.

Stock Markets

Quotations furnished by Riggs and Crawford, F. R. Wills, branch manager. Quotations at 12.30 close.

MINES

Acme 12
Alax 47
Armfield 80
Anglo Huronian 6.60
Base Metals 36
Beattie 125
Bobjo 12
Big Missouri 57
Bagmac 1—4
Brazilian 790
Bra 8-1-3
Buffalo Ank. 13
Castle Tr. 140
Can. Malar. 186
Central Pat 435
Chemical Research 190
Chromium 138
Coast. Copper 630
Chibeng 510
Conlaurum 180
Dome 48 1-2
Eldorado 295
Falconbridge 11 7-8
Gold Lake 81
Goldale 44
Gunnar 106
Greene St. 40
Hardrock 5
Home Oil 206
Hollinger 13 1-4
Howey 56
Hudson Bay 32 1-3
J. M. Con. 41
Kirk Lake 73
Lake Shore 188
Lorado 1 1-16
Little L. D. 738
Mandamin 790
Man. R. 13 1-2
McIntyre 54
McKenzie 178
McMillan 16
McWatters 81
Mining Corp. 235
Noranda 74 1-4
Nipissing 266
O'Brien 12 1-4
Parbfil 23 1-4
Paymaster 112
Pamour 400
Perron 318
Read. Oil 286
Pickle Cr. 790
Pioneer 305
Premier 378
Prem. Ak. 116
Read. Auld. 480
Red Lake G.S. 144
Reno 190
Royallte 46
San Antonio 234
Sherritt G. 286
Sisco 500
Stadacona 80
St. Anthony 31
Sud. Basin 38
Sullivan 312
Sylvanite 340
Tash. 17
T. Hughes 102
Tex. Can. Oil 238
Tobum 380
Venahuna 206
W. Ammlet 300
Wi. Hargreaves 770
Yndr 30
Bankfield 183
Francoeur 106
Glencora 26 1-2
Hay Bear 23
Moneta 180
McVittie 18
McLeod 70
Stanley 77
Sladen 208

TORONTO

Bell Telephone 160
B. A. Oil 22 2-4
Brewing Corp. 7 3-4
Bras. Thor. 17 7-8
Can. Bud Brewery 8 1-4
Can. Cement 13 2-4
Can. Dredge 44 3-4
Can. Ind. Alcohol 7 1-2
C.P.R. 14 1-8
Can. Malting 38 1-4
Can. Packers 19 7-8
Canada Car 21
Cockshutt Plow 10 2-4
Cons. Bakeries 21
Cons. Smelters 20
Dominion Stores 10 1-2
Dist. Seagrams 27 1-4
Fanny Farmer 14
Ford "A" 22 1-8
Gypsum 7 1-8
Goodyear 57
Imp. Oil 22 5-8
Int. Nickel 54
Inter. Pet 24 3-8
Imp. Tobacco 13 3-4
Loblaw 22 1-4
Massey Harris 7 1-2
Mont. Power 37
McColl Frontenac 13 3-4
Power Corp. 26 3-4
Steel of Canada 84
Superfoil 35
Shawinigan 26
Walkers 43 3-4
Walker's pfd. 19 3-4
Willys-Overland 11 1-2

NEW YORK (12.30)

American Can 118
American T. and T. 156
Amer. For. Power 7
American Radiator 36
Anaconda 53 1-4
Auburn 39
Bethlehem Steel 79 1-8
Case 146 3-8
Chrysler 118 3-4
General Electric 53 1-2
General Motors 88 3-4
Gen. Asbe Lite 40 7-8
Int. Harvester 117 3-4
North American 30 3-8
Montgomery Ward 57
Phillips Pet. 50
Radio 11 1-8
Simmons 41
Standard Oil of N.J. 68 1-4
Standard Brands 19 1-4
Stewart-Warner 18 1-4
U. S. Steelers 87
U. S. Steel 78 1-8
United Aircraft 77 7-8
Vanadium 39
Westinghouse 145 1-2

Livestock

Toronto, Dec. 24 (CP)—Hogs registered a further gain on the Toronto Livestock Market today. Off truck bacons closed 25 cents higher at $8.75. Cattle receipts were too few to establish prices. There was no activity in other divisions.

Receipts reported by the Dominion Livestock Branch were: Cattle 10; calves, none; hogs 50; sheep and lambs, none.

FRANCE WARNS GERMANY

(Continued from page one)

longer stand for a situation which was developing into a virtual invasion of Europe.

During the conversation, it was said, Belgian reports of a new mass of German troops joined the Insurgents France would be forced to go to the aid of the Spanish government.

Last night Delbos described to the Chamber of Deputies Finance Committee the ring of arms France is building against Germany.

France is placing more than 2,000,000,000 francs ($115,000,000) in Poland's disposal, he said, largely to enable her ally to build a strong air army as a Germany's eastern frontier.

Reports of the ultimatum were accompanied by indications it might be made the occasion for a general settlement. France was ready to consider German demands for Colonies if intervention in Spain is ended and a collective security pact organized.

Invoking "Iron Fist"

London, Dec. 24.—(CP)—(Havas)—The News-Chronicle said today Chancellor Hitler is trying to invoke the spirit of the late Kaiser Wilhelm did in his day.

"It is a question of what cannot be allowed by default," the paper said, "for it is a threat to the very existence of Europe."

Writing in the same paper, Vernon Bartlett, well-known author declared: "Hitler must decide whether he will support his army commanders and their leader in Burgos, or whether he will stand by his old colleagues despite the growing cancer of intervention in Spain."

The Daily Herald, Labor organ, said: "The case to the-day settlement of cholera." Much will depend, the paper declared, "on the next offensive against Madrid."

"If France scores a victory," the paper added, "Hitler and Mussolini will go on backing him. But if he scores another failure, the chances are that first Mussolini and then Hitler will begin a carefully planned disengagement. That is a position which begins to look untenable—unless Hitler suddenly decides to embark on and compels him to go on regardless of the consequences."

"Victory in Spain," said the Manchester Guardian, "is becoming a matter of internal as well as international prestige for Hitler. The German military opinion is opposed to open intervention."

The Times discussed the possible motives or hopes of gain underlying the action of the intervening powers.

"The sole optimistic note in the London press was struck by the Daily Express which said: 'War is far off. Even in Spain there may be a truce.'"

STRICKEN PONTIFF

(Continued from page one)

Of his own suffering, the Pontiff, ill for more than two weeks of slight paralysis and bronchial attacks complication, told his millions of listeners:

"....the divine goodness is granting us opportunity to contribute to the prayer, the work and the sacrifice of all the universal experience of suffering, and until now has marvelously spared us.

"And for which the more divine God is most readily and generously recompensing us with a wonderful touching union of prayers, which lately, from every part of the church, has incessantly been offered up for the well being of the common Father."

His Holiness spoke slowly, with an obvious attempt at careful diction. But only scattered pauses of his speech came strong and clear, as it did before his illness.

In general his tones were faltering, his syllables blurred. At times his voice dwindled to almost a murmur.

Halted Frequently

Frequently he halted in the midst of lengthy phrases to swallow and moisten his dry lips. Then with a long breath and a tired sigh, he would continue.

A semblance of his customary clarity and vigor, however, occasionally came to his voice, when he expressed his gratitude for the consolation offered in his illness by the prayers of the devout.

His voice likewise strengthened when he began to speak of the bloody conflict in Spain.

But it faltered when he came to deal with the suffering the war has caused. Of the prayers for his recovery, he said: "And the very fullness of our heart we take the opportunity of this hand, for a manifestation of filial affection, so loving and devoted."

Hopes And Divine Suffering

"Although what we have to suffer is very little, indeed, compared to that which, so generously and faithfully, people suffer in the world and compared with that, above all, which Jesus, our Lord, our God, our founder, the king of this divine church had to suffer for us, both in his soul, body, and heart, we feel deep offering, which we wish will always be in conformity with His most holy will."

Of Spain he declared:

"The sorrowful note which, this year, is mingled with the joys of Christmas, is rendered more profound and distressing because of the fact that there are still rages, with all its horrors, hatred, carnage and destruction, a civil war in Spain."

Of the efforts of Communism here he said:

"There are signs and portents of terrifying reality of what is being prepared for Europe and the whole world, if they do not hasten to put up the necessary remedies of defense."

The Holy Father said he saw with sorrow, among those who pretended to be fighting against the spread of Communism and Atheism, "not a few who, disregarding the laws of God, insisted and guided by false and fatal ideas, both in their choice of remedies and in the appraisal of their adversaries."

He continued:

Church Defence Against Evil.

"False and fatal, we say, for whosoever seeks to lessen or stamp out in the hearts of men, and especially in the hearts of the young, their faith in Christ and His divine revelation; whosoever seeks to forsake the Church of Christ, custodian of the treasure of truth and divine mandate the teacher of peoples, is an avowed enemy of national prosperity and progress, such a one is not only no builder of a prosperous future for humanity, but, on the contrary, he is destroying his most effective and priceless means of defence against the dreaded evil—and he is, even though he knows it not, working with those for whom he believes and boasts that he is fighting.

The Pontiff asserted his thoughts went out especially "to the little boys and girls who, from their earliest to the church in a faithful manner, are being" because they are Christ's beloveds."

Tranquility of Order.

He concluded his address with an appeal for tranquility of conscience in which, he said, "alone peace can exist."

Attending the Pontiff as he spoke were Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli, the secretary of state; Cardinal Francesco Sicoorsi, Dr. Arsenii Milieri, and the Pope's two secretaries.

The Pope appeared to almost a sitting position in his bed, and the cardinals, all standing, read the text from sheets of paper handed to them by Monsignor Pacelli without holding up his hand.

Pope Very Tired After Address.

The microphone was placed in such a manner as to obviate the necessity of the Pontiff changing his position, or straining his neck.

During the speaking, Dr. Milani frequently held a glass of water to his lips, and afterward he appeared very tired with a cup of broth.

As soon as he had finished this, the Pope blessed those gathered in the bed and asked all but his confidant Brotherhood nuns leave the room.

Brotherhood nurses leave the room. The Holy Father was reported to be tired but showed no other effects of the strain of his address.

Throughout the Vatican, intense activity in the Secretariat of State and other departments of Pontifical attributes while Rome around many radios and offered prayers for the Pontiff's health.

Produce Markets

(By United Farmers Co-Operative Co.)

Toronto, Ontario, December:—

Buying Prices

United Farmers' Co-operative Co. today is buying the following prices for Toronto delivery:

Eggs—Prices to producers, cases returned basis, delivered Toronto:

A-large	30c
A-medium	27c
Pullets	23c
"B"	25c
"C"	18c
Churning cream, No. 1 lb	36c
Churning Cream, No. 2 lb	34c
Butter lb. No. 1	26c
Butter lb. No. 2	25c

(Quotations in Cents)

Young Chickens—

	Dressed Sel.
Over 6 lbs	17
5 to 6 lbs.	16
4½ to 5 lbs.	15
3½ to 4 lbs.	14
2½ to 3½ lbs.	12
1½ to 2½ lbs.	10

	Dressed, Milked A. Sel. A
Hens
Over 5 lbs.	14
4 to 5 lbs.	13
3½ to 4 lbs.	12
Under 3½ lbs.	11
Old Roosters	9c
Other Fowl—
Young ducks, white 4 to 5 lbs.	14c
over 5 lbs.	13c

(Colored ducks 2c less)

Selling Prices

United Farmers' Co-operative Co. yesterday were offering produce in retail dealers at the following prices: (Subject to change without notice.)

No. 1, 2, No. 3, 2½c.

A-large	34c
A-medium	31c
"C"	26c
Potatoes—New Ontario bag Exb. at shipping point	$1.25

HAY AND STRAW

No. 2 timothy, $10 to $11 per ton; No. 3 timothy, $9 to $10; oats and wheat straw $4 to $7. Above prices f.o.b. Toronto.

Library Corner

by K. G.

Those who have been devoted readers of Grey Owl's books, "Pilgrims of the Wild", "Men of the Last Frontier" and "Sajo and the Beaver People" will welcome his latest book, "Tales of an Empty Cabin." Those who have yet to be initiated, will find unique personality, a Canadian Indian, who is attempting to instill into white men something of his love and belief in Canada's Northland. Part of his new book was written while on a lecture tour in Great Britain last year, when his mind often travelled back to his quiet cabin beside the lake, and to other cabins, now discarded, scattered at random over the wilderness or replaced by the swiftly moving feet of civilization. "Tales of an Empty Cabin", is a book of the Northland's many phases, of the men, both white and Indian who have made its history and of the animals, trees and rivers who are its sentinels. Grey Owl has decided in his book especially to "those whose souls are longing for the freedom of the Open-end but who are prevented by the invisible fetters of Fate from ever seeing the mysteries of the Wilderness save in the pages of a book".

The story of six exciting years in the life of Grey Owl and his wife told by Cecil Lewis in his book "Sagitarius Rising". An aviator during the World War and later for four years in China, teaching the Chinese to fly, his adventurous years from sixteen to twenty-two were filled with a breathless energy and a sense of daring. He delighted in talking Yoka and the story of those last years is the story of extreme youth in action, of hazardous flights, of incredible single-handed combats. Mr. Lewis' more mature comments on his youthful escapades add a distinctive touch to the story. A spirit of internationalism breathes throughout the book, a spirit that stands, in war and, wonder before dusty palaces and breathless courtyards of the East.

A new collection of poems by Rowland's Poet Laureate, John Masefield, is presented in the volume, "A Letter From Pontius". John Masefield has been called "a great poet", not so much for his power

Candy Specials

The New Guild Restaurant Candy Counters are Beautiful and Attractive. Special Reduced Prices are listed to introduce our Candy to Candy Lovers.

Home-made Mixtures, Caramels, Fudges, Nougatines ..... lb. 15c; 2 LBS. 25c

Peanuts and Cocoanut Taffy . lb. 15c; 2 LBS. 25c

Assorted Chocolates, extra good ..... lb. 25c

Fancy Salted Nuts—Walnuts, Almonds, Cashews, Brazils, Filberts, Pecans .... lb. 50c

Moirs Chocolates, in bulk or box ..... lb. 50c

Willard's, Ganong's, and Neilson's, in Gift Packages, ... from 25c up to $5.00

TRY OUR FULL COURSE DINNERS

Tasty and Wholesome

Stuffed Young Turkey 50c

Stuffed Young Chicken 40c

SPECIAL LUNCHES FOR CHRISTMAS SHOPPERS. from 25c

THE GUILD

RESTAURANT and CANDY STORE

245 Front St. (Formerly Moores)

OUR GREETING is an old one, but Christmas is the time for Old Songs, Old Wishes, and Old Friends. So, again, we say Happy Holiday . . .

BRIGHT WITH THE JOYS OF THE SEASON!

And filled with Holiday cheer, Are those that we send you here At this, the Merriest time of the Year.

May you Christmas-keepers be brimful of joy and no regrets is the wish of

BLUE'S Quality Food Store

As the Wise Men of Old brought their gifts, so do we bring you our sincere appreciation of your patronage and wish you all—

A Very Merry Xmas.

GREETINGS

Woodleys Furriers

371 FRONT STREET

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Mason, Picton, will be guests tomorrow of Mr. Matthew Mason and Miss Margaret Mason.

Miss Betty Burrows who is attending University of Toronto, is home for the Christmas holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Chesher, Third Road, are spending the Christmas holidays at the home of their son, Mr. Simore Chesher, Rochester, N.Y.

Mr. Douglas Nicholas, Campbellford, who has been a patient at Belleville General Hospital is progressing favorably.

Mrs. W. H. Merry and Miss Nelly Merry are spending Christmas in Toronto, the guests of the former's daughter, Mrs. J. Stewart, and Mr. Stewart.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Weddell and daughter, Margaret Anne, arrived here yesterday from Montebello, Quebec, and will spend the holidays with Mrs. Weddell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Brush.

Mrs. Burley, Bleecker Ave., left this morning to visit relatives in Rochester.

The Misses Fluery of Lindsay will be Christmas guests at the home of their brother, Mr. Thomas Fluery and Mrs. Fluery.

Robert Reid, Picton Station, Ontario, is spending the holidays the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Burkholder, Cockeris Street.

Miss Joan Macintosh, Queen's University, is spending her holidays at her home here.

Mr. Jack Chesher is visiting friends in Rochester during the Christmas week.

Mrs. W. J. MacDonald, Station Street, is spending Christmas and New Years at Sault Ste. Marie, visiting relatives and friends.

Miss Daisy Carre, of Toronto, is the guest of Mrs. F. J. Coyle, Dundas Street, for the Christmas holidays.

Mr. Wm. McCoy of Kirkland Lake is spending the Christmas holidays at his home, Picton St.

Miss Marie Brenton, Toronto, is spending the Christmas week-end at her home, Corbyville.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Gilpel, Miss Ray McGowan and Dorothy McGowan, of Toronto, are spending Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Michael McGowan, Albert Street.

Mr. Charles Jeffery, Mr. Jim Jeffery and Mr. and Mrs. George Jeffery, of Toronto, are spending Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jeffery, St. Agnes Manor.

On Tuesday evening the staff of the Deacon Shirt Company were guests of the management at a dinner-party held at the New Queen Hotel, and were afterwards entertained at a theatre party.

Thirty-five tables of euchre were in progress at the Moose Auditorium last evening. The prize-winners were, ladies' first, Mrs. Somerset; second, Mrs. Calbery; third, Mrs. Gerow; fourth, Mrs. Hebert; lone hands, Mrs. Donovan; gents' first, Marshall Woodcock; second, Fred Davis; third, Elmer Middleton; fourth, M. Deacon; lone hands, C. Seamon. The door prize of a twenty-pound turkey was won by Miss Rose Sheppard. The Commodores played for dancing.

Weddings

BATES—PURTELLE

The marriage took place on Friday evening at 30 Lovelace Street, Toronto, of Marjorie Purtelle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Purtelle, Bloomfield, to Mr. James MacVeigh Bates, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bates, Rosehill Road, Hamilton, Rev. W. A. McIlroy officiated. The bride given in marriage by her father was gowned in French lame and wore a corsage of lily-of-the-valley and sweet peas. Mr. and Mrs. Bates left by motor for Montreal. They will spend the holiday season, Mrs. Bates travelling in a Persian lamb coat with Kolinsky collar and muff and accessories. Upon their return they will reside in Burlington.

MISTLETOE LEFT BY ANCIENT DRUIDS

Another very old Christmastide custom is that of kissing underneath the mistletoe.

Many a maiden's cheek is red By lips and laughter thither led; And fluttering bosoms caress and beat.

Under the Druid mistletoe.

Of the mistletoe nothing undoubtedly bespeaketh to us by the ancient Druids, who always venerated the parasite plant, for the reason that the mistletoe flourishes in the winter in clusters of trees on one stalk, and they had a remarkable reverence for the number three. It was a Druidical custom to greet one another with a kiss of peace in the mistletoe's shadow. This fact would seem to have endowed the mistletoe with mystic qualities. The modern young followers of the Druids are not influenced by the Druidical reverence for the mistletoe; they are satisfied to regard it as an excuse for kissing, and were the mistletoe particularly absent at Christmas it would indeed be shorn of much of its charm. What many young lovers of today do not understand is that the Christmastide kissing under the mistletoe must be performed properly if it is to be followed by good fortune. For instance, there must be only one kiss for each berry on the suspended branch, a berry being provided for each kiss exchanged. It follows that kissing must cease when the berries are gone—when the branch is bare of them. If it doesn't, woe to the kissers!

RESULTS OF CHRISTMAS EXAMINATIONS

SENIOR 3rd CLASS

Sr. IV: Helen Ketchenon 79 (H), Grace Mattery 76 (H), Wanda Bonisteel 76 (H), Douglas McPherson 66.

Jr. IV: Marion Allen 84 (H), Prudence McNair 67.

Sr. III: Jewell Bedley 72, Marjorie Allen 71, Arnold Ketchenon 68.

Jr. III: Raymond Bonisteel 63, Gordon Bartley 57.

Sr. II: Gordon Grills 82 (H), Evelyn Ray 81 (H), Marjorie Bartley 81.

Jr. II: Keith Kells 78 (H), Dorothy Ray 76 (H), Carl Moon 76 (H), Ross Sickle 66.

Primer: Ray Scott 75 (H), Ray Scott 75 (H). Roy Bonisteel 73, Orant Kells 70, Samuel Mitchell 70, Helen R. Card, Teacher.

Flowers, trees and plants are not the only things around which legends have woven Christmas tales. The lowly creatures of the fields, the birds soaring carefree through the air, and even the tiny glow-worm, take their places in Christmas stories that have lived through the ages.

In many parts of Europe it is still considered ill luck to go into the stable on Christmas Eve, for on this holy night it is believed that nothing sleeps save the serpent. The cock is said to crow at every hour—and day of dawning altogether all night long"— certain humble beasts like the ox and the ass become endowed with the gift of speech, and on the stroke of midnight she ceases fall on their knees in memory of the first Nativity. On the continent, too, there was a belief among the first Christian American Indians that the deer of the forest knelt in worship of the Great Spirit on the Eve of Christmas.

In the Mid world it was the little wren who first learned of the Saviour's birth. Seeing the unaccustomed quiet, the wren left her nest and flew out into the waiting world. With amazement she saw the hungry wolf standing quietly by the silent sheep; neither would he eat turned crafty eyes toward her—but the animals of creation watched "where Saint Joseph's brazier burned."

Suddenly the empty skies were filled with the glad song "Good Will to Men" and the impulsive little bird darted across to the stable scene and, seeing the Holy Babe lying in the hay, she plucked two tiny leaves then dropped them at the Infant Saviour's feet. Smilingly the Blessed Mother gave a kiss to the little bird who sped joyously back to her nest. As she told the story to her own baby the Jay overheard her and flew screaming through the woods with the glad tidings.

Rather similar is the story of the glow-worm. It was bitterly cold on that first Christmas night and even the hay of the manger could not keep the Holy Babe warm. The little "the Prognostications of Master John Tyrault, of the influence of the Moone, of Seas and Warre, and of Sycknesse of the Yeare: with the constellacions that be under the Planets and the Revolucions of Kynges and Pryncs."

SYRIAN CHRISTMAS LULLABY

Now, all the night is hung with blue Our Lady such a mantle wore, She folded in her cloak.

The cedar boughs are sweet with snow,

She wore her linen white as wool To swathe about her Son,

Ideas and Facts About Yuletide

The Christmas tree was introduced into England less than a century ago by Queen Victoria's husband, the Prince Consort, but the Yule log belongs to the days of the hearth fire. It was carried in from the woods with great ceremony in Saxon times, and usually lighted with a brand saved from the Yule log of the previous Christmas.

It is a good omen if the cook is heard crowing on Christmas Day.

A snowfall on Christmas Day is supposed to foretell good luck.

Christmas puddings need a contribution from nearly every country in the world.

Christmas rejoicings were forbidden in the time of Oliver Cromwell.

Carols were first sung in the eleventh century.

Christmas was once called the Feast of Lights.

The Three Wise Men, or Magi, led by the Star of Bethlehem to the stable where Jesus was born, were three kings named Melchior, Gaspar, and Balthasar. The gifts they brought were gold, frankincense and myrrh.

YE CHRISTMAS TREE

The delightful custom of the Christmas tree will linger on for many years yet.

The wide world knows a tree, full and fairer yet than each and all: More worthy of the minstrel's song is lighted low ye prince's hall.

The Christmas tree whose thought of love To man upon those shores of time, Still bears glad tidings from above, And news to all of truth sublime.

CHRISTMAS WEATHER OMEN

A warm Christmas means a cold Easter, and a windy Christmas is a sure guarantee of a good fruit crop, say the weather prophets. In parts of rural England it is said that if on the morning of Christmas Day, the sun shines through the apple trees the apple harvest will be good. "If through the tree the sun shall shine, the apples will be fine, and fine," is the couplet which justifies their belief. Experts say that the rhyme refers to a tree disease which prevents the leaves falling in the autumn. A tree in leaf would not let the sun's rays through, and if the leaves beloknged disease then would be no crop.

THE GENUINE CHRISTMAS

Poets write beautiful Christmas carols, but a child's laugh is Christmas itself.

Report of Christmas Examinations

S. S. No. 34, Thurlow

Teacher—Beatrice Delaney

Sr. IV—Margaret Cowan, Marion Hubbard.

Jr. IV—Mildred Hunt, Bernice McDermott, Betty Cowan, Francis Hunt.

Jr. III—Teresa McDermott, Eddie McCargrist, Albert Lindsay.

II—Frank McGuiness.

McGuiness, Raymond Cassibo, Ilsley Cassibo.

I—Bobbie Byrne, Eileen McGuiness, Helen McGuiness, Agnes Cassibo, Ignatius Cowan, John Gafney.

Pr—Agnes Hunt, Bernard McDermott, Rosaleen Cassibo.

Facts And Fancies Concerning Christmas

A fall of snow on Christmas Day is regarded as the sign of a lucky New Year.

Turkey first became the Christmas dish in the reign of Henry VIII, but could not eat the boar's head usually provided.

The kiss for each berry was the original mistletoe ritual, a berry being removed as a kiss was given.

The first Christmas card was published eighty years ago.

Christmas carols originated in the 11th century, being sung between the scenes of the miracle and mystery plays of the period.

Christmas trees originated in Germany, and crackers in France.

FIRST CALENDARS

Almanacs sprang into being with the advent of the printing art. A calendar was among the first work upon which Gutenberg employed his new art of printing in 1457. The first almanac printed in England was "The Calendar of Shepherdes," which appeared in 1493. Apart from that time almanacs were numerous, "events and prognostications" being added in most cases to the calendar information. One of the earliest specimens preserved enjoys the title

A Judean shepherd, in the valley of Bethlehem, leading his flock into the fold. This peaceful scene is unchanged from those of hundreds of years ago. Time in the Bethlehem valley stands still.

YULETIDE FIRES

Turkeys have always been a popular item of the ordinary Christmas banquet. It is recorded that, on December 24, 1792, a total of 1700 birds were dispatched from Norwich have arrived rather late for dinner. The boar's head, as a Christmas dish, is mentioned by Chaucer. In the days of our ancestors it was served up with great ceremony, and at Windsor Castle the boar's head is annually instructed to "sound a fanfare" when it left the kitchen.

Plum pudding, too, has a close connection with the festive season, having introduced into England in 1717, the first specimen being called "Hadgepodge". The nursery legends that afterwards became popular with travellers were not known until a much later period. A hundred years before panic, Thomas Hood and Sir Sir Johnson wrote a "Christmas Masque". This was played in 1618, and one of the characters was called "Minced Pie". A somewhat similar piece was written by Thomas Middleton in 1617.

In the "good old days" the singing of carols was a feature and parcel of the recognised Christmas observance in all the old country households. Some of the earliest had their origin in folk-lore and legends, and thus made a wide appeal. The singing was accompanied by dancing. The "waits", who added much to the Christmas festivities, seem to have gone into the limbo of the traditional. Percival Orickilly, these itinerant musicians were attached to the Court. When the passed of years

"Sidewalk Secrets"

by "babette"

". . . yes, good photos are expensive—but Langley's clean them so beautifully they seem as little as usual, except perhaps more comfortable."—LANGLEY'S

"Glory to God in the Highest and on Earth, Peace"

"And she brought forth her first-born son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; for there was no room for them in the inn. And it came to pass, as the angels were gone away from them into heaven, the shepherds said one to another, 'let us now go even unto Bethlehem, and see this thing which is come to pass, which the Lord hath made known unto us.' And they came with haste, and found Mary, and Joseph, and the babe lying in the manger."

St. Luke 2:7, 15, 16.

Painting by Carl Bloch

The Christmas carol singer

Christmas Legends

Some Animal Stories

By Isobel M. Priestly

Greetings!

Your confidence in us has helped make 1936 the brightest year in our business life, and it is our aim to so serve you in the future that our friendly relations may long endure.

It is our hope that you, too, can look back with much satisfaction over the months of this year, which now draws to a close.

Above all this, however, may your efforts in 1937 bear much golden fruit and may your years have the greatest measure of Christmas cheer.

THIS IS THE SINCERE WISH OF

Norman E. Edwards

EYESIGHT SPECIALIST

Merry Christmas to All

At this season when the friendly gleam of Yule celebrations lights each window in Bellevile and throughout the Bay of Quinte District Seldon's Drug Store extends best wishes for a happy holiday.

SELDON'S DRUG STORE

GREETINGS

We wish to thank our Customers for past patronage, also to wish them

MERRY CHRISTMAS AND A HAPPY NEW YEAR

YETTA SHOPPE

Odd Christmas Fare

A badger, roasted before an open fire, was the chief dish at a Christmas five dinner eaten in an ancient hostelry at Ilchester, Somerset. Badger bam was only regarded as a delicacy, and Ilchester's "badger feast", as it is called, has been held every Christmas for many years past. Slices were cut from the joints as they hung before the bar fire. The guests washed down the badger with strong ale, which should, according to tradition, be served in horn cups.

Rose's cake, the true Yuletide dish in Britain, is always served at the Christmas Day dinner held annually by Queen's College, Oxford. The reason given for the survival of the custom is credited to that it commemorates the escape of a medieval undergraduate from a wild boar. The undergraduate was walking ahead, counting his Articles, when the boar rushed at him open-mouthed. With a loud cry of "Grescum est", the student thrust the volume down the throat of the animal, which, choked by the tough morsel, then and there expired. The frills and insignia with which the boar's head was decorated were distributed among the choristers. The rawn should, by right, be sent to the King.

At this banquet also strong ale was practically the only drinkto be served. Under the injunction of the founder the liquor must be brewed on the College premises by his own servants, acting under the supervision of the steward of the week and the treasurer's clerk. The gravity of the ale could only be indicated by a whole row of "ales", it is, in fact, no potent that it is sipped as a liquor. Mulled ale consisted with sweet, sugar, nutmeg and beaten egg, and served with toast. Lamb's wool seems to be a recipe at least two hundred years old at a Shrewsbury host, where "lamb's wool" was visibly kept performed.

Cumberland, however, aims to have the best recipe for relied ale. In many villages inns in its county the guests roasted apples and on string before the fire. Th apples were then put again Nathelm, the stalks came out and the nut fell into bowls of spiced ale.

Strong beer in leather bisk jacks, toast, nutmeg, and cheese were provided in a Lancashire village inn.

ITALIAN CHRISTMAS INDUFET

Naples was the centre of the Italian Christmas industry during the fifteenth century and hadd bands of artists, "figurari" as they were called, who did nothing ut make dolls for Christmas.

Noel Greetings

DELANEY EXCLUSIVE FURRIERS

F Campbell St — Phone

they held an official post under the Lord Mayor, and were provid with a badge, to prevent them being removed out by the police.

The custom of giving "Christmas Boxes" is as old as the fearful itself. Older, in fact, for it exited in the days of the Druids. When King land is concerned, Royalty I not disdain to accept a Christma gift from poor tenant. Queen Isabella put her entire household ider contribution and it is recorded that the guests received "one pee from ye head cook, and two roll of fine cambric from ye chamberl, hHenneye artist r y

MODERN CLEANERS and DYERS

May Christmas Happiness and Good Cheer be yours as Christmas Day and Every Day of the New Year to come.

AUTO FINANCE

AUTO LOANS REFINANCING

On terms and at rates which you will find entirely satisfactory. Your car is a value and principal asset for borrowing. Only the original buyer dealt with confidence at his home or business. Applications of all kinds for loans arranged.

HAIG BROS. LTD.
203 FRONT STREET
BELLEVILLE
PHONE 4000

CAMPBELL AUTO
FINANCE CO. LTD.

DENTIST

DR. ROBT. H. EMPSON
DENTIST
X-Ray Phone 2264 Front St.
Phone 66 17-tfn

LAND SURVEYOR

FRASER AYLESWORTH
Ontario Land Surveyor and Registered Professional Civil Engineer. Land Surveys, Plans and Reports on property. Alexander St. Phone 2 P. O. Box 69 MADOC, ONT.

STOCKS & BONDS

HODGSON AND CRAWFORD, MEMBERS of Toronto Stock Exchange, Investment Securities. Main office, 347 Bay St., Toronto. Belleville branch Manager, F. B. Wills. branch manager. 21-tfn

Business Directory

MINERAL BATHS

The Thistle Institute specializes in Medical Diathermy, Colonic Irrigation, Violet Ray Treatments for Arthritis, Neuritis, Sciatica, Rheumatism, Nervousness, Constipation, Obesity, Insomnia, Skin Troubles, Manicuring, Hair Bobbing, Facials, Shampooing, Marcelling. Phone 1181, 331 Willmott Building.

CHIROPRACTOR

B. A. WYATT, Ph.C., CHIROPRACTOR and Drugless Therapist. Consultation and Spinal Analysis Free. Complete examination of vascular and nervous systems, blood pressure, urinalysis, hemoglobin reading and metabolism. Office hours: 9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 5 p.m. 248 Coleman street, Belleville, phone 3000.

INSURANCE

The thought of Fire Loss Half the Terrors when you're protected with our Fire Insurance.

SANDY BURROWS
HOWARD FROST
LIFE AND FIRE INSURANCE
241 FRONT ST. PHONE 126

HALL & EARLE

General Insurance, Fire, Automobile and Accident. Phone 2184—Phone 2184
177 Front St.

LEGAL

WALLBRIDGE, CAMERON AND O'CONNOR, Successors to the late F. S. Wallbridge, K.C. Solicitors for Canadian Bank of Commerce. Money to loan. Belleville, Ontario. Solicitor for Toronto-Bridge Streets, Belleville, Ontario.

MALCOLM WRIGHT, BARRISTER, Solicitor, Notary Public, etc. Office: Campbell Block, Belleville.

T. V. WILLS, BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, Notary Public, etc. Office: Campbell Block, Belleville. Telephone No. 4000. Residence, 20 Moira St. W. Phone 1000. Money to loan on mortgages. 015-tf

PORTER, PAYNE AND ARNOTT, BARRISTERS, Solicitors and Notaries Public. Cable Address: Porter, Belleville. Code: A1 and A.B.C. 5th Edition. Solicitors for Bank of Montreal, Belleville, Ontario.

FORTON AND GRAHAM, BARRISTERS, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Commissioners, Offices: 20 Bridge St. E. Solicitors, Bank of Montreal, Belleville. Money to loan. Phone 2. H. Forton, K.C. A. E. O'Brien. Office hours 9 to 5.

DONHAM AND BULLER, K. C. Donham, K.C., C. Buller, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public and Commissioners, etc. Offices: Campbell Block, Belleville, Ont. Phone 28.

A CHRISTMAS SONG

Why do the bells of Christmas ring?
Why do little children sing?

Once a lovely shining star,
Seen by shepherds from afar,
Gently moved until its light
Made a manger's cradle bright.

There a darling baby lay,
Pillowed on a fragrant hay;
And its mother sang and smiled:
"This is Christ, the holy Child!"

Therefore bells for Christmas ring,
Therefore little children sing.

CHRISTMAS GIFT

Who hath not purse nor golden coin,
Who holds on lands in fee,
He stingeth nay on Christmas Day
In jolly bravery.

For who hath nought to give but love
Gives all his heart away,
And giving all hath all to give Another Christmas Day.

WANTED

MALE HELP WANTED

A LESSON FROM THE DEPRESSION—Be a Civil Servant—Postman, Customs Examiner, Preventive Officer, etc. Free booklet "How to Get a Government Job". M.C.O. Civil Service Institute, Toronto (15). S—se-tf

FOR SALE

PEDIGREE NEW LAID EGGS. F. S. Hudson, 188 Meyer Ave. c24-15

NINE SHOATS FROM 50 TO 70 lbs. One MacFarlane, R. 1 Stockdale. c24-14

ELECTRIC V-TUBE RADIO, MUST be sold immediately. Apply 11 Victoria Ave. c22-3

TO LET

HALF HOUSE, 50 OCTAVIA ST., all modern conveniences. Immediate possession. Apply 8 Station St. Apply R. R. Graham, or phone 94. c23, 12, 15, 17, 19, 22, 24, 26, 29, 31.

BED-SITTING ROOM, SUITABLE for married couple or two men. Apply 21 Victoria Ave. c22-3

TO LET OR FOR SALE

SIX ROOM BRICK HOUSE, hardwood floors, furnace, garage, garden; immediate possession. 261 Bleecker Ave. Apply 31 Grove St. Phone 3214M. c24-tf

LOST

ON EAST HILL, PARCEL CONtaining Christmas gifts. Finder kindly return same to Grove Street Car Office and receive reward. c23-3

FOUND

SMALL SUM OF MONEY. OWNER can have same by proving and paying for advertisement. Phone 1758J. c24-15

IN MEMORIAM

CRAWFORD—In loving memory of a dear wife and baby, Mrs. Wesley Crawford and Stanley, who departed this life on December 26th, 1935.

This day brings back to memory
Our loved ones gone to rest.
And those who think of you today
Are those that loved you best.

Just one year ago you left us,
How we miss your loving faces,
But you left us in God's keeping,
None on earth can take your places.

God knows how much we miss you,
He counts the tears we shed.
And whenever we are sadly sleeping,
Our loves ones are not dead.

So we will be brave dear wife and baby,
And pray to God each day,
And when he calls us home to you,
Your smiles will guide the way.

—Sadly missed by Husband and Family. c24-15

DEATHS

HODGES—At the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Arthur McGee, Detlor St., on December 26th, 1936, in her 83rd year, Mrs. Sarah Jane (Bush) Hodges, wife of Mr. Oliver Hodges, in the 59th year.

The funeral will take place from the above residence, Campbell Street, on Saturday afternoon, December 26th, at 2.30 p.m. to chapel at 1.30 o'clock. Interment Frankford cemetery. c24-15

PROCLAMATION
PUBLIC HOLIDAY
BOXING DAY

At the request of a large number of citizens I hereby proclaim Saturday, December 26th, a civic holiday and I would respectfully request that all citizens observe said holiday.

HARRY HILL,
Mayor.
c22-3t

INSULATION

ARTHUR A. SILLS CO.
CONTRACTOR & DISTRIBUTOR
325-327 Coleman St. Phone 1334
122-tf

AUCTION SALE

The undersigned Auctioneer has received instructions to sell by public auction the Factory and Equipment of the Bell Organ Company, Ltd., Corner No. 11, Rawdon Street, on Tuesday, December 29th, commencing at one o'clock, the following:

Billy Veit
Champion Whisky Separator 4000
Sweet Whey Steel Tank
Wooden Whey Tub 10,000 lbs.
Galvanized Water Tank and Pump
Set Platform Scales
Weigh Can Leaders
Quantity of Cheese Boxes
Rakes
Pipling
Fork
Sample Bottles
Oil Can Hoops
Beer Stoves
2 Presses
Paint Pails
At the same time and place, the Building, a frame structure, 24 x 40 feet, in good condition, will be offered for sale.

TERMS—CASH.

HENRY WALLACE,
Auctioneer.
c23, 24, 26

PERSONAL

"PRIVATE HOUSE KINDERGARTEN—Opens Jan. 4th, start you. The Canadian Kindergarten Institute, 1067 Yonge St., Toronto. 52-4

Women, worry won't help. Drugs for all cases of menstrual disorders will. Free booklet tells how. Lattimer's and Seldon's Drug Stores. c07-3m

MENI GET VIGOR AT ONCE—Contains new discovery. Invigorates nerves, blood, kidneys, bladder. Relieves few cents each. Call, write Dixon Pharmacy, Orillia. c24-3

NOTICE

Re Garbage Collection

TAKE NOTICE that there will be no garbage collection on Christmas Day. The route covered on Friday will not be taken care of until the next regular collection day.

J. WILFRED HOLMES,
City Clerk.
c22-2t

HOME FOR CHRISTMAS

"The cool crisp road with snow piled high.
The music of the bells,
The merry moment talk;
The harry and the beats that this
For, in another day we shall all climb out and see
The Home Folks, and be lasting all the luxuries that be.
It's there on Christmas morning that the wind blows fresh and bold,
And the firs are bowing welcome deep beneath the snow they hold."

Margaret A. Wright, teacher.

Public Notice

NOTICE is hereby given that a correct statement of each of the questions to be submitted to a vote of the Electors at the Annual Municipal Elections for the election of a Council for the Corporation of the City of Belleville to be held on the 4th day of January, A.D. 1937, is hereinafter correctly set forth:—

FIRSTLY

Electors shall have the opportunity to express whether or not they are in favour of and desire the formation of a Public Utility Commission and Electors may so express their opinion by voting either affirmatively or negatively, that is, either "Yes" or "No" on the following question:—

"Are you in favour of the formation of a Public Utility Commission to operate the power and light system of the City of Belleville, which would vest the control and management of all utilities owned and operated by The Corporation of the City of Belleville?"

SECONDLY

Electors shall have the opportunity to express whether or not they are in favour of and desire the formation of a Public Board of Education and Electors may so express their opinion by voting either affirmatively or negatively, that is, either "Yes" or "No" on the following question:—

"Are you in favour of the formation of a Municipal Board of Education?"

THIRDLY

Electors shall have the opportunity to express whether or not they are in favour of and desire an application to the Legislature for an Act empowering the Council to appoint and employ a City Manager, and Electors may so express their opinion by voting either affirmatively or negatively, that is, either "Yes" or "No" on the following question:—

"Are you in favour of an application being made to the Legislature to pass an Act empowering the Council to appoint and employ a City Manager, having authority to manage and control generally the administration of affairs of The Corporation of the City of Belleville and to perform such duties as the Council from time to time by By-law, may define?"

FOURTHLY

Electors shall have the opportunity to express whether or not they are in favour of and desire an application to the legislature for an Act reducing the number of members of the Council to six Aldermen and a Mayor, and Electors may so express their opinion by voting either affirmatively or negatively, that is, either by "Yes" or "No" on the following question:—

"Are you in favour of an application being made to the legislature to pass an Act reducing the number of members of the Council to six Aldermen and a Mayor?"

FIFTHLY

Electors shall have the opportunity to express whether or not they are in favour of providing for the levy of taxation for the establishment and maintenance of a fund for the support and aid of a band or bands of music, and Electors may so express their opinion by voting either affirmatively or negatively, that is, either "Yes" or "No" on the following question:—

"Are you in favour of providing by means of taxation for the establishment and maintenance of a fund not exceeding $1200.00 annually for the support and aid of a band or bands of music and for making annual or other grants from such fund to any band or bands as to the members thereof?"

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that the Mayor of the Corporation of the City of Belleville or a member of the Council will be appointed for each polling place and attend at The Mayor's office in the City Hall in the said City of Belleville on the Thirtieth day of December, 1936, at the hour of eleven o'clock in the forenoon and if requested so to do, shall appoint in writing signed by him, two persons to attend at the said polling place on behalf of the persons interested in and desirous of promoting the proposed Questions and voting in the Affirmative and two persons to be in number on behalf of the persons interested in and desirous of promoting the proposed Questions and voting in the Negative thereon.

AND FURTHER NOTICE is hereby given that those entitled to vote on the last revised question, namely the persons who are the assessment and maintenance of a fund for the support and aid of a band or bands of music, shall be those Electors who are qualified to vote on a money by-law and no others shall vote upon the said question.

AND FURTHER TAKE NOTICE that if a majority of those voting on the last mentioned question vote in the affirmative the Council may thereafter pass a by-law providing for a fund for the support and aid of a band or bands of music and for levying annually upon all the rateable property within the limits of the Corporation of the City of Belleville by means of taxation a sum not in excess of $1200.00 to provide said fund.

Certified Correct and dated at Belleville the 10th. day of December, 1936.

J. WILFRED HOLMES,
City Clerk.
d10, 17, 24, 26

A DAILY LETTER TO THE LOVED ONES FAR AWAY

300

Peppy News Letters about people they know in the old Home Town and District.

SEND THEM The Ontario Intelligencer

The HOME TOWN PAPER Phone 99

WE PAY CASH FOR DELIVERED MILK
Deliver Your Cream to Our Convenient Downtown Plant
Where Personal service is given
CITIZENS' DAIRY
Coleman Street
122-tf

FINKLE
ELECTRIC WIRING
NEON SIGNS
MOTOR REPAIRS
144 Front St. Phone 3020

BAY OF QUINTE FIRE INS. CO.
Fellowship—Call for
1937 CALENDARS.
NEW OFFICES—Bank of Montreal Block, 219 Front St.—Phone 966r.
C. W. BURR Agent.

NOTICE

INCOME TAX VOTERS
MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS

Take Notice—That as provided by 1936 Provincial Statutes, Chapter 40 all persons British subjects and of the full age of Twenty-one years whose names do not appear on the Municipal Voters List as tenants or owners of property and who have paid Provincial Income Tax for an amount of not less than Twenty ($15.00) dollars shall be entitled to have their names placed on the Municipal Voters List for the then current year providing they apply at the office of the City Clerk, producing a receipt showing that said Provincial Income Tax has been paid, when they shall receive a Certificate which shall entitle them to vote at the Municipal Elections.

J. WILFRED HOLMES,
City Clerk.
d3, 12, 19, 26

NOTICE

ADVANCE POLL
MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS

Railway Employees and Commercial Travellers

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that by authority of the Railway Employees and Commercial Travellers' Act, a poll will be opened at the residence of Thomas Morris, 304 Station Street, from 9 a.m. o'clock to 6 o'clock p.m. on Thursday, December 31st, 1936, and Friday and Saturday, January 1st and 2nd, 1937, for the receiving of the vote of all duly qualified Railway Employees or Commercial Travellers who by reason of their employment will be absent from the City on the regular day of holding the annual municipal elections, viz. Monday, January 4th, 1937.

J. WILFRED HOLMES,
Returning Officer.
d24, 26, 29, 31

ORDER EARLY!
Special
CHRISTMAS BRICKS
2 for 31c
GREEN AND RED
MELLOW-DEW (Colored Pineapple)
HONEY MOON (Crushed Cherries)
FREE DELIVERY SERVICE
ALL DAY CHRISTMAS
PHONE 142
RAINBOW
ICE CREAM ROOM
211 Front St.

SENSATIONAL SURPRISE
in JEWELRY GIFTS
at
A. E. WONNACOTT'S
203 Front St. Phone 1228
(Next to Lobley's)

LEATHER LASTS
Give a
TRAVELLING BAG
No Finer Gift
FULL LINE OF LUGGAGE
T. G. WELLS
12 Campbell St. Phone 12117

A Happy Christmas to All

Belleville Locators
GEO. N. GORMAN, Prop.
Licensed and Registered
Real Estate Brokers.
Province of Ontario
166 Front St. Belleville

HUFF'S ISLAND

Huff's Island—Mr. and Mrs. R. Thrasher spent Christmas Day with Mr. and Mrs. T. Nightingale.

Schools are closed and the children are celebrating their freedom by skating, sledding, ski-ing and kindred winter sports.

Mrs. Donald Hatfield, Queen's University, Kingston, is spending the holidays at his home.

Masters Wm. Ferguson and Victor Clapp, Rose Hill, are spending a few days with Wm. Nightingale.

On Tuesday evening, the annual Christmas Tree and entertainment was put on in the schoolhouse with a good attendance. An excellent programme was enjoyed with Mr. Barker making an efficient chairman. There were Christmas choruses, three entertaining short plays directed by Miss Doris Wallbridge. The plays were—The stepmother, the characters being taken by Miss Loretta Fairman and Lotte Wallbridge, Messrs. Wm. Nightingale and R. Thrasher. "For Here can tell what a woman will do" characters taken by Misses Frances Wallbridge and Mildred Hall, Messrs Edgar Hall and Kenneth Mosley. "Who ate the Candy?" the author of the bridge, Harry Hall and Wilfred Mosley. A humorous reading was well given by Miss Betra Fairman. Pearl Hall sang a solo. Recitations were given by Jean and Marion Conklin and Pearl Hall and Wilfred Mosley, and instrumental duets by Reginald and Wilfred Mosley. At the conclusion of the programme, the gifts from the tree were distributed and Old Santa Claus Mosley brought a pleasant evening to a close.

APPOINTED SECRETARY

Fredericton, N. B., Dec. 24—(CP)—Dr. Dunning Carvell, faculty member of the collegiate school at Brockville, Ont., was appointed secretary of the Provincial Board of School trustees yesterday. Formerly of Saint John, he is a graduate of the University of New Brunswick.

HIGHEST CASH PRICES PAID FOR
EGGS
THE TRENT MANUFACTURING CO. LIMITED
Phone 1020 Basement City Hall, Belleville

CHAS. L. HYDE
PLUMBING — HEATING
Rural Water System a Specialty
Stoves, Paints and Tinware
Oil Burners and Stokers
TINSMITHING
Satisfaction Guaranteed
Phone 33 252 Front St.

Current Attractions at Local Theatres

What Local Theatre Managers Have to Say About Current Offerings

AT THE BELLE

"Showboat"

Romantic as the radiant Chinese moon, and as glamorous with its surrounding company of great stars, teeming with danger, excitement, thrills, war-lord bandits, and Shirley Temple as a little waif who talks and sings, Chinese, Twentieth Century Fox's new film "Stowaway" coming to the Belle tomorrow (Christmas Day), Saturday and Monday, matinee daily.

Yes, Shirley's in China now ... and what she thinks you'd never guess her before...so different is the setting...so surprising the story. As Ching-Ching, the adopted daughter of a missionary couple killed in raid, Shirley is packed up by Robert Young, a care-free young millionaire who is touring the world in a vain attempt to get away from himself. Shirley, suddenly alone and in peril in a war car on a cruise ship, is instrumental in his discovering the lovely young fiancee of stuffy young Alan Lane. While waiting for Alan to join her at Hong Kong, Alice tours the town with Young and his pilot Phelps, all of whom he has given various jerk, which culminates in Shirley's winning a prize in a Chinese amateur show, singing in the native language.

Alan then appears to claim his bride-to-be, but they part in a fierce quarrel. Meanwhile Young is told by Chinese authorities that he cannot adopt Shirley, being not married, and must put her in a local orphanage. Determined not to part from her, he proposes to Alice that she become his wife in name only, that he may adopt Shirley. A divorce. This she does, but Young, realizing he is really in love with her, follows her to Hong Kong, with Shirley's artful aid, wins her consent to stay married.

Shirley's strong supporting cast includes Alan Mowbray, Helen Young and Alice Faye, Eugene Pallette, Helen Westley, Arthur Treacher, J. Edward Bromberg and Astrid Allwyn.

Six Gordons and Revel's latest song hits are introduced during the action of the film, which include "Good Night My Love," "I Wanna Be Loved By You," "A Twerpitean Choo-Choo to Lullaby Town," "You Couta S-o-l-e-n My Heart But You'll Be-a-Double-p-y," "One Never Knows Does On," "Stowaway," in which Shirley Temple does a feature yet! A different kind of story, with a different kind of thrills, thrilling suspense. It is perfect entertainment, and don't forget you'll be sure to bring the family! A smart and tuneful musical Revue, a clever New Year's Eve party, a splendid M.G.M. miniature presentation of Jack Benny and his kindred winter sports.

Performances start daily at 2.30, 7.15, 9.30, and complete show as at 8.15. "Stowaway" starts daily at 2.00, 7.40 and 9.45 p.m.

AT THE CAPITOL

"Mummy's Boys"

As a Christmas treat for the many patrons we are presenting as His No. 1, Wheeler and Woolsey, Richard Cromwell and Dorothy Dell in "Mummy's Boys" now playing until tomorrow night.

This is an Egyptian setting the two funsters assume the roles of a pair of amateur archaeologists who defy the curse that has already slain the members of the tomb of the Pharaoh Pharaktus. What happens to the archaeologists and their associates keeps the unique offering standing at top pace.

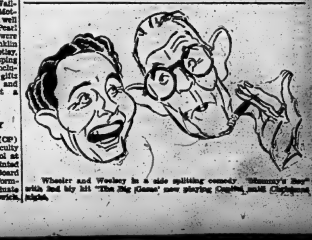
The story combines an unusually hilarious series of comedy situations in which the two comedians are cast, one mystery—a novel arrangement for the Wheeler-Woolsey pads, but one that pays rich dividends in laughter and entertainment and their performance in this picture shows why they rank as the Zane-most comedy team on the screen.

Barbara Pepper makes her debut as a Wheeler and Woolsey leading lady, and she gives a charming portrayal. Frank M. Thomas and Alfred Cohen are cast as a pair of scientists. While Best is a natural for the bonie episodes.

"The Big Game"

One of the most exciting football pictures to come to the screen is a thrilling picture, "The Big Game."

Philip Huston, former Broadway juvenile star, makes his screen debut as a star quarterback who improves on the gridiron scene him-self. Bitten and a bug with the theatre as his pretty co-ed sweetheart, looks upon his as professionalism, and with disastrous results. Ralph, the sports writer, starts to denounce the game in general and Huston in particular. It is then that she fights to defend his name. Besides him with the true alma mater spirit.



Bruce Cabot is ideally cast as Huston's rival in love-crazy, and also strives to clear his former friend when the spirit of the game overcomes his petty jealousies.

Other important players are James Gleason, the wise cracking gambler who unwittingly gets his self-confessed proteges in trouble; Sir Henry Gordon, as the sports writer and Andy Devine as a football player with a bags family.

Colored Lights On Cobourg Streets

Cobourg, Dec. 24.—Ablaze with colored lights, the Christmas spirit of Christmas trees on King and Division streets, in the business section of Cobourg, presents a beautiful sight. The trees were provided by the town and the lights installed by the public utilities commission.

At one time, it was the custom to have a row of Christmas trees in front of the town hall, and nails and candles given to children. This practice was discontinued, and this year is the first occasion in a considerable time when the streets have taken on a Christmas atmosphere. Merchants have admired the decorated streets this year.

Wheeler and Woolsey in a side splitting comedy "Mummy's Boys" with Red Sky Hit "The Big Game" now playing Capitol until Christmas night.

RUGBY— BOXING— WRESTLING—

SPORTS Of All SORTS

HOCKEY— BADMINTON— BOWLING—

Point Bonus Would Speed Up Hockey Games Says Coach Hay

Teams Concentrating Too Much on a Win Decision

Toronto, Dec. 24 (CP)—George Hay told team owners this year he was "through with hockey". He had a job, he said, and he was going to stick to it. When minor league clubs sought his coaching services, George paid only passing attention.

The former National League star outfielder's keep his mind off the game, however. Attending to his Toronto business, he still found time to work as hockey pundit. Today he offered a solution which he thought would make N.H.L. fixtures play open hockey consistently.

Hay—the some fans thought gloomy—was too much challenge for present-day hockey. He sought a solution.

"As I see it, the teams are concentrating too much on trying to make two points for a win or one for a draw," he said today. "They stall around and bat the puck down the ice just to protect a one-goal lead. They should be made to try for goals and more goals.

"Why not give a point bonus, then, to the team that's playing open hockey—in other words trying to score goals and give the fans a show?

"In one feasible way, Hay continued, we through elaboration of the present system of point standings.

"According to the plan I've worked out, a victory would count five points," he said. "The extra, single points would be given for the margin of victory. For instance, a team winning by 6-1 would earn eight points: five for winning and three more for winning by three goals. A draw would count only two points."

A team sagging near the schedule end would keep fighting for points, hoping for a scoring spree that would lift it higher in the standings, Hay thought. Today it's some that is seven points down and four three games to play hasn't a chance to catch up.

"The plan is complicated but it would draw the fans," he vowed. "It's been proved before that they'll turn out if you give them wide-open hockey."

Hay's opinions have always commanded respect. He was still a high-scoring star when he ended his playing career with Detroit Cougars. Later he coached Detroit Olympics and last year he handled London Tecumsehs.

"GOLDS" NOW IN SECOND POSITION

Art Cole's Team Comes From Behind to Win by 45-36 Count

"Whiter" opened the game purely on the offensive and scored the first eight points only to have the "Golds" knot the score in a fast-moving game. Cole was close at the half-way mark, the "Golds" leading by the small margin of six points as the count stood 22 to 16 in favor of the Cole-led squad.

Mervin Edwards, of the Golds, was the big scoring threat of the game, scoring 18 points and playing a sensational game around the opposition basket. He was closely followed by Murray Clare, a team mate, who stuck seven baskets for a total of 14 points. Jack Dickens was the high in the side of the victors and played a very good game to score 18 points for the losers with Thompson getting eight. The teams played with four men a side, which made the game lightning fast throughout and permitted plenty of scoring.

The Box score:
Golds	B.	F.	Pts.
Cole f	3	0	6
Smith K.	2	0	4
Mervin f	6	1	13
Clare f	7	0	14
Total	18	1	37
Whiter	B.	F.	Pts.
Dickens f	9	0	18
Thompson f	4	0	8
Wickerson g	3	0	6
Langton f	3	0	6
Sproulton f	0	2	0
Total	17	2	36

Referee—Ralph Morden.

NO INTENTION TO PASS PUCK

Howie Morenz Tells How He Scored Against Chicago

Montreal, Dec. 24.—(CP)—This is a story from Howie Morenz on how he scored a goal in combination with Joffre Dasilets against Chicago Black Hawks the other night, showing what a big-leaguer thinks of goals on dashes goalward.

"First," said Howie, "I was going to score myself, then I did. What I mean is that when I broke in I had no intention of passing. I was going to go right in and try to draw Karakas out and then score. But just as I crossed the Chicago blueline, I felt one of my skates slip and I knew that one of the edges was gone.

"Then I figured that if I tried to draw Karakas (Mike Karakas, Hawk goalie), I'd simply fall flat on my back when I manoeuvred. I saw Joffre beside me and I passed the puck. . . . Next thing I knew, the puck was back on my stick. I was plenty surprised.

"But the net was open and all I had to do was toss that rubber in there."

N.H.L. Players Have Christmas Holiday

Montreal, Dec. 24.—(CP)—Like almost everyone else, National Hockey League players are taking a bit of a holiday this week and five games are scheduled to be played before next Sunday.

The usual Thursday night games are not on the schedule but on Christmas night Chicago Black Hawks play at Detroit. Then on Saturday New York Americans play Montreal Maroons and Boston Bruins meet Maple Leafs at Toronto.

Those are the only games until Sunday when the Black Hawks go back into their stride with Montreal Canadiens playing at Detroit and Chicago playing Rangers in New York.

HOCKEY RESULTS

International-American
Pittsburgh 3, New Haven 2
Michigan-Ontario
Windsor 4, Chatham 3
Michael Bell League
Falconbridge 3, Copper Cliff 2
Kingston City League
Napanee 12, Calarayi 1
Doc. Myles 5, Crofters 3
Exhibition
Paris 7, Brantford St. Jude's 4
Barrie Golds 10, Collingwood 2

At the Arena

PUBLIC SKATING
TONIGHT: CHRISTMAS AFTERNOON and EVENING
SATURDAY MORNING FREE
Skating for Children, 9 to 11.30 a.m.

EDMONTON GRADS SARNIA IMPERIALS GREATEST TEAMS

Sport Writers Placed Teams in Tie For First Place

OTTAWA WELL UP

All Agreed Roughriders One of The Gamest Teams

(By Elmer Dolmage, Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Toronto, Dec. 24 (CP)—Edmonton Commercial Grads, never more dominant in women's basketball than in 1936 and the Imperial football army of Sarnia, Eastern Champions, played a 36-36 tie in the Canadian Press year-end poll of sports writers to decide the year's greatest team in Canadian sport.

The sharpshooting ladies of Edmonton and the bone-crushing warriors of Sarnia shared the affections of expert critics as evenly they were deadlocked for the lead when ballots were counted. Each team had 36 points on the basis of three points for a first-choice vote, two for second choice and one for third choice. Much voter mind threw teams in order of preference.

Behind these champions trailed other champions: Ottawa Roughriders, Big Four football monarchs; Orillia Terriers, lacrosse titlists; Kimberly Dynamiters, Allan Cup hockey winners; Regina Roughriders, Western football champions; Windsor Ford, men's basketball champions.

Far more than a decade Percy Page has kept his Grads, a jump or two ahead of the world's best basketball teams. Perhaps Page never had a stronger force than this 1936 outfit, though he may have had several better-balanced machines. This one was led by Noni Mandell, tall centre.

A succession of invasions by leading United States team could not stop Miss McDonald who piled up scores at home and then starred in every game Grads played on an extended European tour.

A Great Team

Sarnia's football team, coached by Art Massucci of Detroit, won the Ontario Union championship by defeating Toronto Balmy Beach in a playoff game. In the Eastern final against Sarnia they engineered a thrilling fourth-quarter rally that fell short by one touchdown of tying the count.

Orillia Lacrosse team, rebuilt from 1935 into a grand aggregation won the Mann Cup for the third consecutive time by upsetting the North Shore Indians of Vancouver in the final. There were few better all-round performances anywhere than that of this Terriers.

LEAGUE STANDINGS

NATIONAL LEAGUE

International Section

	P.	W.	L.	T.	P.
Canadiens	17	9	6	2	20
Toronto	17	9	7	1	19
Americans	17	6	7	3	15
Maroons	16	4	8	4	12

United States Section

Detroit	15	8	4	3	19
Rangers	16	8	5	3	19
Boston	15	7	6	2	16
Chicago	15	5	8	2	12

Sport Callings

By Ken Calling

"MERRY CHRISTMAS ALL"

To all readers, athletes and those interested in the various branches of the district sporting realm, the sports department of the Ontario Intelligencer wishes to thank for the many favors throughout the season and wish them one and all the compliments of the season.

"May your cup be filled to overflowing."

At this season of the year it might be appropriate to have an Oliver Wendell Holmes' poem on "Sportsmanship." It reads—

To brag little,
To show well,
To cover gently, if in luck;
To pay up,
To own up,
To shake off, if beaten.
Are the virtues of
A sporting man."

There have been crowds and kinds of sportsmanship laid down as rinks go down through time, but the following is perhaps as good a crowd for sport lovers as could be found—"Sport is something done for the love of doing it and it ceases to be sport when it becomes a business. Something done for the love of it is it;

Amateurism is something of the heart and spirit—not a matter of exact technical qualifications;

The good mechanics of sport are fundamentally and primarily important;

The code must be strictly upheld;

The whole structure of sport is not only preserved from the absurdity of undue importance, but is justified by a kind of romance which animates it; by the positive virtues of courage, patience, good temper and unselfishness.

The exploitation of sport for profit kills the spirit and vitiates only the rank and semblance of the thing;

The qualities of frankness, courage, and sincerity which mark the good sportsman in private life shall mark all discussions of his interests; believe it or not.

Effort to publish a daily sports column in a community like Belleville, and aim to endeavor keeping the sport notes not only interesting but of a local atmosphere, can only be successfully accomplished through the co-operation of all interested in the welfare and uplifting of athletic activities. We are glad to be able to assist in the promoting of healthful sport and wish to take assistance of others in keeping the sport notes up to the times, newsy and of interest to the readers. The sports department of the Ontario Intelligencer is no further away than the nearest telephone, so we hope and sincerely request the fans' athletes and sports to report their activities in the district will make a mention effort to inform us of any spicy or interesting sport happening before or them throughout the coming year.

"Sport is best carried on for sport's sake, get if you pass and miss and work to win, using everything that you have,' the sport's sake will take care of itself. Dirty playing is first of all terrible. If you take time in a game to try dirty tricks side trick an ex-opponent are deliberately neglecting a lot of important matter, that you have been told to use. To break training is the lowest form of robbing yourself and also your team of the highest performance; nothing short of your highest performance will do," Percy D. Haughton once told a group of athletes and how true his words ring.

Skaters, young and old, large and small, all ushered in the skating season last evening when the Belleville Arena and the rink at the Belleville Yacht Club inaugurated their facilities to the public. A goodly crowd was on hand at both places and thoroughly enjoyed a wholesome night's recreation. The skating season is at hand and should be taken advantage of by those who enjoy the freedom of good exercise. Both the Arena and the rink at the Yacht Club are available for this purpose. There is no better medium of recreation known than ice skating. Let's make 1937 a season of enjoyment through the sport of skating.

Now let's see what the local sporting boys would like Santa Claus to bring them.

Eddie Thomas—"A high class forward line, that can score goals and a heavy-hitting defence-man for his intermediates."

Belleville Baseball Fans—"A ball club, that can bring back the memories of those old and happy days, a long string forgotten, a history and a couple of apple knockers who can hit the pellet at least out of the infield."

The Quinte Motorcycle Club—"Timer for their second annual 200 mile Canadian motorcycle race."

The Sethallens—"A decent park to play."

The Arena—"Continued cold weather or preferably an artificial ice plant."

The Yacht Club—"A few more club points for competition especially one or two that can trim the pants off Tudor Smith, Maurice Callaghan and Harry Semark, that trio of social sailors."

Bill Fry—"One O.P.P.U. group title."

W. J. "Peeper" Mills—"To be back in the good old days of 1919."

Ted "Chatterbox" Reynolds—"A return trip ticket to the Isle of Man, next summer."

And we'll take a big, the bigger the better, hooker of Scotch.

23 NOMINATED IN SANTA ANITA

Race Will be a Mile For $5,000 Added And Run Friday

Los Angeles, Dec. 24 (CP)—Twenty-three thoroughbreds, including several Canadian headliners, were in nomination today for the $5,000 added $5,000 Christmas Day mile at Santa Anita. A crowd of 70,000 was forecast for the opening day of the famed coast meeting.

Entries for the "mile" included Stand Pat, owned by E. F. Seagram of Waterloo, Ont.; Tumpenella, owned by Mrs. Stephenson of Hamilton, Ont.; Special Agent, Major Austin O. Taylor of Vancouver; and Ariel Cream and Uppermost, K. C. Hatch of Toronto.

Fancied candates were Seabiscuit and Gallahadion, Bay Meadows winners, and Piccolo, winner of the Thanksgiving Day handicap at Bowie, Md.

More than a dozen were expected to go to the gate for tomorrow's big race, but it appeared doubtful Seabiscuit would be a starter.

Loses One Job

Jack Blackburn

To be the trainer of two fighters is sometimes a ticklish job. Jack Blackburn who trains Joe Louis and John Henry Lewis has been fired by the latter. Blackburn is displaced in favor of Larry Amadee New Orleans's fight conditioner. Rumors have it that Lewis, light heavyweight champ, is after a bout with Louis and to have one trainer for both fighters might bring on complications.

—Central Press Canadian Photo.

Season's Greetings

We wish to extend our sincerest good wishes to all our patrons and the citizens of Belleville and District generally, for the Merriest Christmas of their lives. We hope and trust that good old Santa Claus will be so good to all our friends as he has been to us in making it possible for us to enjoy the best Christmas business in our history.

HERE'S TO GOOD OLD SANTA CLAUS AND A MERRY CHRISTMAS FOR EVERYBODY.

Quick & Robertson

Joliat Lays Puck Neatly Behind Goalie Dave Kerr

New York Rangers defeated Montreal Canadiens in a National Hockey League match at Madison Square Garden, New York, by a score of 5 to 3. The Rangers were forced to play an extra period when Canadiens finally succumbed. Three quick goals, all within the space of three competitive minutes of the overtime period, put the game on for the Rangers. Davey Kerr, Ranger goalie, tried desperately to stop this play by Joliat of the Canadiens but was unable to prevent Heller, Ranger defence man, against the net. This score was made in the second period. The rubber cheo can be seen in the net.

—Central Press Canadian Photo.

Sports Roundup

(By Scotty Reston)

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, Dec. 24.—(AP)—A wealth like this Christmas eve in the game of golf, of boxing, of betting, and on the wreath a card, which reads: "In fond memory of days spent together in loving friendship" . . . It was sent by Max Schmeling to Joe Louis.

Sentiment in this, either . . . Max had a sincere concern for the Detroit Negro whom he battered around a Cleveland ring one July night five years ago . . . Schmeling will come back to America in February and bring his actress-wife, Anny Ondra.

Princeton has at last taken revenge for that 36-23 football defeat at the hands of Yale. . . . The Princetons beat the Yales at chess this week, 3-0 . . . Indiana's basketball team scored 149 points in its first three games this season.

Jack Doyle says the bottom in this country are getting sweepstakes-minded . . . There is a growing tendency to bet on the long shots . . . Wonder if Rabbit Maranville remembers the time he walked into a hotel in St. Louis, searched over by a gorilla, beer, spotted one little fish in particular, picked it out, and then calmly swallowed it?

When the football coaches convene here next week, Harry Stuhldreher of Wisconsin will start abolition of the huddle . . . But the huddle, invented by Bob Zuppke of Illinois, will stick . . . The decorner finally has some dope about the wrestling situation . . . Two matches have been having a wrestling war here . . . Both Jack Curley and Mike Jacobs wanted to stage wrestling acts on Monday nights . . . The state Athletic Commission told Curley the sole right in the Monday shows . . . Now Mike says wrestling's no good except on Mondays . . . We think this is an undersirement, at least . . . Timmy Braddock gets $1,250 a week for his broadcasts . . . A Merry Christmas to Hank Anderson, Jack Chevigny and Vic Hanson . . . And for everybody can arrange a little Yuletide peace from the Great Dean, that's all right, too!

Best Wishes

Thanking our patrons for very liberal support during the Christmas season we wish everyone a "Very Merry Christmas. May the bright sunshine of happiness and health drive all shadows from your homes and hearts in the win of

Shaw's Men's Wear

J. G. SHAW JACK BEAN RALPH SHAW

SCOTT'S SCRAPBOOK

by R. J. SCOTT

ONE WAY STREET—Six-day bike riders start their usual winter practice of riding thousands of miles to get nowhere.

Like $1,000,000

By CORONA REMINGTON

Evelyn Acton glanced quickly around to see whether any of the waiters were watching, then daringly removed two rolls from her gay little red-leather handbag and put them on the table beside her cup of steaming coffee. Coffee in this very glorious place was only 20 cents and it gave her a feeling of prosperity to breakfast with the successful business men and women of the town.

This morning, however, she was rather depressed because for three solid days she had been hunting a position, without success and her funds were now reduced to small change and a square meal was only a nagging memory to her. She looked wistfully at a juicy piece of fried ham that a patron had hastily left on his plate at the next table and noted her little nose as his fragrance came invitingly to her. It seemed to tease her and make the few rolls dried in her mouth. Then after she had finished she did a strange thing. She arose from the table she opened her purse, took out a pencil and piece of paper, sat down at the ham table. As she scribbled aimless words she noticed that there was a clean spoon beside the plate and the knife had only been used for cutting, so she was afraid of it—only a matter of habit now and she would be nonchalantly placing bits of the tender meat in her mouth—sensing that some one was at her elbow she looked up into the implacable face of a waiter.

"Pardon, madam, permit me to remove the fork and you will have more room for write."

The hand was whisked away and the knife and spoon, which she had only been used for cutting, but quick as the wink of disappointment came a sense of escape; if that waiter had not come at that moment, he would have seen her eating the other person's breakfast.

"Making your way in a big city isn't so bad," she reflected, "until you lose your position, and then—" a poignant homesickness rushed over her as she thought of the little home town she had left and of Jack Dalton who had wanted to marry her and whom she had refused.

"All right," he had said with a shrug, "when you get through with your career you can come to me."

That was five years ago. With a shrug, "when you get through with your career you can come to me." That was four years ago. With a look of impatience she pulled herself together and with a brisker activity slung:

"If your head be turned from people," she soliloquized, "you have to hold your head up when you wear a $5 dress and down from $13.98 (on the tag) and want it to look like a $25 creation." So she walked jauntily down the street, her disappointed stomach already beginning to scream for the ham it didn't get. Then she had a deceiving thing about coffee-and-rolls breakfast; it had a way, of playing hide and seek. It was gone and you found yourself all wish weary and hungry.

"Now, let's see, where's that address?" she went on. "Yes, 746 Empire building. The Weavrer Time company. They said to call at ten o'clock. Its three blocks down and two across. I'll just about get there on time. Wonder how many others they wrote to and, oh, too, that my letter was a good one if I say it—maybe they'll take me."

And the big building swallowed her, up. She left the elevator at the seventh floor, and pushed the knob of the big door leading to suite 746.

"You wanted a stenographer?" she said to the man at the high desk.

"Yes, please step this way, Miss Acton."

He showed her to the office door marked "private" and returned to his desk. As she entered the man inside turned to face her, then he rose and took both her hands in his.

"Evelyn!" he said gently as the girl started at him, her face suddenly blanched, but she recovered herself and greeted him flippantly enough.

"Same old Jack Dalton," she laughed a little forced laugh.

"You look like a million dollars," he said surveying her. "Let's get out of here where we can talk."

Like an automaton, she followed him out of the office and they went to a little restaurant nearby.

"I was so excited waiting I could not eat breakfast," he explained. "What'll you have?" When I read that letter that letter signed Evelyn Acton, in his handwriting I knew so well—"

"It was the biggest shock I ever got," she laughed. "You were prepared because you knew I was coming, but I wasn't."

"You've changed, too," he said after a pause. "I don't know what it is; there's something—a little wistful about you. What is it?"

"Wistful! Downright hungry! I'm starved, but she said:

"You've changed too—you're a man, more—even more than I before."

"Richer than a career?" he asked. "Don't fool me, Evelyn. I'm serious."

"Uh, huh!" she replied, slipping a piece of broiled ham into her mouth. "Come on," he begged. "Let's get out of here before I express myself in public," but Evelyn only crinkled her nose at him, gave his knee a little pat under the table and said:

"You're going to get a good breakfast before you leave this restaurant."

And he did. They did, I mean.

Radio Programs

THURSDAY

9.00—Breakfast Club—WJZ
10.00—Betty and Bob—WABC
10.45—Christmas with the Communist—WJZ
11.45—Ed MacHugh, Gospel Singer—WJZ
1.45—Dal'l B'cast from Bethlehem; Christmas Carols from pageant of Church of the Nativity in Bethlehem—WABC
2.15—Int'l B'cast from Switzerland; Swiss-Italian singers—WABC
3.00—Metropolitan Opera Co., "Hansel and Gretel"—WJZ
3.00—Al Pearce's Gang—WABC
4.00—Ruby Newman's Orch.—WABC
5.00—Devotions at Lighting of Community Christmas Tree — WABC, WJZ
5.30—Singing Lady—WJZ
6.00—Int'l B'cast from Rome, Italy; Midnight Mass—WABC
6.30—Jim Hunter, News—CFRB
6.45—Lowell Thomas, News—WJZ
7.00—Int'l B'cast from London; Carols from Wellesbourne—CBOT
7.00—Anne 'n Andy—WBEN.
7.15—Sportcast, Ted Husing—WABC
7.30—Lum and Abner—WLW
8.00—Rudy Vallee—WEAF
8.00—Band Wagon; Kate Smith—WABC
8.30—Guy Lombardo's Orch—WOR
9.00—Rudy Vallee—WEAF
9.00—Major Bowes amateur hour—WABC
10.00—Special Christmas Eve Program; Leopold Stokowski, conductor—WJZ
10.00—Bob Burns—WEAF
10.30—Music of These—WABC
11.15—Chimes and Carillon Music—WABC
11.45—Around the World B'cast of "Holy Night"—WEAF

FRIDAY

9.00—Babes in Toyland—WEAF
9.00—Breakfast Club—WJZ
9.30 — Richard Maxwell, songs—WABC
10.00—Betty and Bob—WABC
10.30—Melodies of the Air—WABC
11.45—Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe—WABC
11.45—Ed MacHugh, Gospel Singer—WJZ
2.00—Gilbert and Sullivan, Christmas Program—WEAF
4.00—Canada Wants Christmas—WJZ, CBOT
4.00—Tex Time at Morrell's—WEAF
4.30—Army Band—WABC
7.00—Amos 'n Andy—WEAF
7.30—Lum and Abner—WJZ
8.00—Concert; Jessica Dragonette, Bgo—WEAF
8.00—Broadway Varieties—WABC
8.30—Ray Noble, Frances and Ray Heatherton—WABC
8.30—Death Valley Days—WJZ
8.30—Wayne King, Frank Munn tenor; Ada Leman's Orchestra—WEAF, WTAM
9.00—Hollywood Hotel—WABC
9.30—Fred Waring's Orch.—WJZ
9.30—Josef Bonime's Orch.—WJZ
10.00—First Nighter—WEAF
10.00—Shep Fields' Rippling Rhythm Orch.—WJZ
10.30—Jack Hylo—WJZ
10.30—To be announced.—WABC
10.30—Jay Noble's Orch.—WEAF
11.00—Guy Lombard's Orch.—WABC

SATURDAY

9.00—Breakfast Club—WJZ
2.00—Metropolitan Opera Co.—WJZ
2.30—Weekend Revue—WEAF
5.30—Kaltenmeyer's Kindergarten—WEAF
6.30—News—CFRB
7.15—Sportcast, Ted Husing—WABC
7.30—Concert Band, Ed. D'Anna, cond.—WABC
8.00—Ed. Wynn, comedian—WJZ
8.00—Walter O'Keefe, m.c. Ferde Grofe's Orch—WEAF
8.00—Wortzbach News—WABC
8.30—Football Revue; Kay Kyser's Orch—WABC
9.00—Hockey game, Toronto Leafs vs. Boston Bruins—CFRB
9.00—Hal't Hart Dance—WJZ
9.00—Floyd Gibbons; Vincent Lopez Orch. WJZ
9.30—Chateau: Smith Ballew—WEAF
10.00—Your Hit parade—WABC
10.00—Barn Dance Frolic—WLS
10.30—Orrin R. Cobb's Paducah Plantation—WEAF
11.00—Hal't Hart Dance—WLW
11.15—Benny Goodman's Orch.—CFRB

BONARLAW

Hoosiers—Mrs. A. E. Stiles returned home on Thursday of last week from Strathclair, Man., where she has been visiting since November of last year.

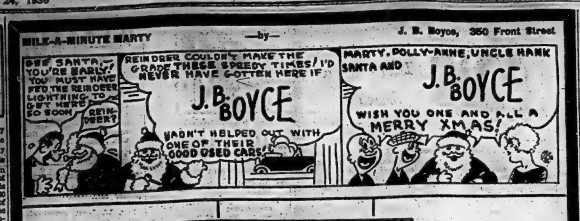
Mr. Mel. Fitzgerald met with a painful accident on Saturday last when he slipped on the ice and sustained severe injury to his knee. It was necessary for him to go to the hospital for treatment and is now in Belleville Hospital for several days.

Master Glen Foshay was admitted to Belleville Hospital on Friday last for tonsil operation, and ear treatment. He is expected home for Christmas.

WEST LAKE

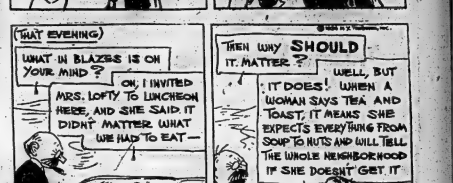
West Lake—The snow plough was through one day last week. also again on Monday after Sunday's blizzard. All are hoping for good roads for Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. Hough from near Napanee are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brown for a few weeks.



Many ladies turned out to the December meeting of the Ladies' Aid, which was held at Mrs. S. McQuade's on Thursday afternoon last. The election of officers resulted as follows: Pres. Mrs. Henry Brown; vice pres. Mrs. R. Clark; Rec. Sec. Mrs. W. Furse; Treasurer Mrs. J. Heffer; pianist Mrs. Cooper with Mrs. Helen Hyatt and Miss Fern Kleinsteuber assistants.

Miss Allison Maitland spent Sunday under the parental roof.



It is rumored that Mr. Herman Kleinsteuber has sold out his home and business to his brother Rudy, who with his family will move there in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. Hogg and family are moving to a farm near Bloomfield.

Mrs. Dorland Rogers who has been seriously ill, is reported somewhat improved.

By George McManus

By Russ Westover

By George McManus

(Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service)

After she had repulsed his ardent declaration of love, Jane and man walked on in frigid silence. Often girl and man walked on in frigid silence. Then they came to a little open spot, Old Tiger said, "We'll camp."

"The girl made no comment as she about the task of building a shelter. She helped him, following his examples without asking directions. "I'll have to have weapons to hunt," he said, finally; "and since there's no hardware store around, I'll have to make them."

With his knife, he shaped a bow, rough but practical, and strung it with the pliable stem of a slender creeper, such as he had seen the natives use for the same purpose in an emergency. When it was finished, he began to whittle an arrow, working deftly and rapidly. Then a staff for her and a club for himself.

Kali Bwana watched him with secret admiration, but on the few occasions when he chanced to look up, she quickly turned her eyes away. But there were other eyes watching them both from the edge of the jungle—red-rimmed, savage eyes beneath beetling brows!

GREETINGS

J. J. TRUDEAU

AND THE STAFF

OF

Trudeau Motor Sales

Extend at this, the Christmas season of all the year, sincere wishes for a Happy Holiday and a Prosperous New Year.

Sergeant Dick Jones of "I" Battery was in the front line trenches of French warfare and had taken away the glamour of marching men, waving flags and the rest of the tinsel verses which hides the real nature of war.

Twelve months of slogging in Flanders' mud, with the eternal staccato of a machine-gun symphony and the shells' nocturnal serenade, the sharp whine and the cracks of bullets had left the eighteen-pound-der as they hurled screaming death at the enemy trenches; the all night forced marches with sleep gathered in snatches while in the middle of the home; the dull routine of supersoldiering the cleaning harness and polishing brass during the rest periods at the horse-lines; and worst of all, the daily news of more food, more ammunition, more guns, more dead and the plum and spud jam, cheese, grease-dipped bread and bacon' each day. Each part of that which had been his main bill of fare since leaving England, had resulted in him a feeling of supreme disgust with all pertaining to this glamorous thing called War.

And driving the knife of disillusionment deeper into the sergeant's mental vitals came the thought that Christmas was only two days away. That morning he had received a card from a friend in England. It was one of those gaudy Christmas greetings with raised flowers and letters at the front of it, and on the inside message "A Merry Christmas to our Boys in France."

Made to Kneel

He sniffed even the ammunition came, his head bowed in his hands, visions of snow-covered streets, of flaring advertising lights and Christmas, the brightly lighted windows of the shops, with their displays and decorations, and of a simple home with a Christmas tree in the corner of the dining room, with the table spread out with gleaming silver and white linen, lingered in the mind of him.

A noise broke in on his reverie. "What's wrong Jones, sick?" Looking up, he discovered Major Johnson, his battery commander standing in front of him, a peculiar smile on his face. Jones leaped to his feet and stood at attention.

"No, sir," he said. "I was thinking of the folks at home and what they would be doing at this time of the year."

"Well, I can't blame you for that. We are all doing it," replied the officer.

Christmas Parcels Mislaid

"By the way, Jones" he added a moment later. "I have some bad news for the men. The Christmas parcels sent us by the different organizations have been mislaid in some way or another, and I am afraid we are out of luck for even little bits of things, so it looks like bully beef and hardtack for us, with perhaps a little plum and spud, for dessert."

Jones stiffened in his tracks. "Lie to him, sir," he said. "Wasn't Allison of "I" Battery sent down the line to get the parcels yesterday?"

"Why, I suppose so," returned Major Johnson, "I just had a report from "I" that they had not arrived, he said. But I suppose that is what they call part of war. Tell the boys I did my best, but it looks like Christmas day for our Christmas dinner." And then after turned away, flicking his hand to his helmet in the salute to junior officers.

Jones slowly turned away in the direction of the gun pits. So Allison, the man who claimed he had been robbed of the military medal which had been awarded to Jones was taking this way of seeking revenge. Particularly robbing a gunner of their Christmas boxes thought Jones, but he first checked. Surely there must be some way out. There must be some way of defeating the ends of such a scheme.

His Eyes Light Up

Suddenly his eyes lighted up. He broke into a run and headed swiftly for the dugout of "C" gun. Round the pass he leaped into the midst of the crew where they sat around a fire.

"Listen, Jones" he exclaimed excitedly, a minute later "I have every reason to believe that Allison, commander of "I" Battery has abandoned by some member of a battery, the Christmas parcels sent away from here. I'll tell you why I think I know. Tonight, Major Johnson and myself invited our crew for dinner, and believe me, Christmas goodies you ever laid your eyes on. Fruit cakes, plum puddings, candies and all the trimming. Naturally my eyes popped out when I saw them, and I asked him in a roundabout way where he got them. He grinned and he smiled a sort of knowing smile and replied "Billy Allen in love and that's all I know except that I got quite a bally War." I let it go at that but all the same I have a notion to see."

"And I have been doing some thinking along the same lines, sir," the G.O. continued. "Our Christmas dinner seems to be just a dream and not a very pleasant one at that, for last night I dreamed of pigs. I could almost hear them grunt and think, and I woke up with an intense yen for the taste of a pork chop, but there's no such luck for us. Well, I'm all ears, Sergeant. By the way, I hope you have a good idea, for I'm sick of bully beef and hardtack. I'm sick of the battery on the roads between here and Ypres. Drawing the youngsters on a short distance from the gun, Jones said in a low undertone, "listen, son, I've a notion Bill got the boxes for "I" battery," and at the youngster's look of affirmation, he continued "go and get twelve hours' leave and duck over and see him. When you get there look around and see what their plans are for Christmas."

"Why, what's up?" queried the youngster.

"Well, in a few sentences, the older man informed Hubbs what had happened. "I have a smashing suspicion that the guy Smithson is trying to put over a fast one, and it is up to you to find out."

The youngster's eyes lighted up eagerly. "Why Gee—I do it, Sergeant" he chortled. "I'll go right away and be back as soon as I can." And he scrambled for the battery commander's dugout.

Christmas War Scene

"I" Battery's guns curved the sector in front of Messines Ridge known as the "I" trenches. In the background the gaunt shell-swept buildings of the church at Wulverg-hem reared an ugly head against the dull grey of the French sky At all its base raging holes in the cemetery bore testimony of the havoc wrought by the German guns in their efforts to bring down the steeple which they suspected of harboring lookouts. To the right the ruins of Ploegs Epike with its demolished estaminets lay. A cobbled road twisted and turned its way past Engine Farm back to the comparative safety of Ouderdom and La Plestre. A half mile back, on the road to the back areas, and safely encamped in a muddy field were the horse-lines of "I" Battery. A battery of direct defence away, in a house partially wrecked by shellfire sat the old French refrain "Old Mac" the troops called her. Here in her parlor, which the house had set up for business selling the weak Belgian beer, fried eggs and "pommes-de-terre" to the Canadian troops in the vicinity.

The practical isolation had been the means of instilling in her mind the opportunity of getting excited over Christmas and this she did with gusto, thus gaining for her the cordial duties of at least one battery with whom she came in contact. Reconciliations were grunted by the "Old" could be had, no matter what uniform the petitioner wore. "Oui, Oui" she would say, "Oo-ze-ze Pierre." And seeing Pierre absent taking a trip to the pig sty at the back of the estaminet which housed the fat hog called Pierre, "Pierre, he is my children" she would grin, as the fat porky waddled its way through the entrance. Then with a sudden appreciation as the old hag fed it with juicy scraps from her own plate. Night had fallen on this sector of Western Front and Pierre, now slowly turned his steps to the guns. In the distance reverberating booms and the sharper spitefulness told of minor artillery activities down the line. Occasionally from "no front" the sharp crack of a rifle told of the watchfulness of the infantry. From the rear came the low rumble of transports and ammunition trains as they moved their precious freight nearer the front lines. Had planes been in the air,

With the greatest of pleasure the New Percival Furniture Company, Limited, now start sales that Opportunity is rich in all of their Friends and Customers over a truly happy holiday and to thank them for a most pleasant year.

THE NEW PERCIVAL FURNITURE CO.
206 - 208 FRONT STREET PHONE 2626

HOW JOAN LOVED THRU

by

ANNE FORESTER

Chapter 46
The Tender Watcher

For the next few hours it was a revolting business, an ordeal which left Joan almost as sick and wrenched as the limp figure of Gilda who at last lay on the bed in the deep sleep of exhaustion. In that time Joan had worked like an automaton, following to the instructions of the two men for hot water, stimulants; as they came as her tired body and numbed brain could comply.

The doctor straightened up wearily when the girl was at last in bed. "She'll be all right now—probably sick and weak tomorrow but there will be only bodily harm after effects. How did this happen?"

Joan, told the doctor in a tone none dead from weariness, feeling Marik's keen eyes upon her as she told how she had been roused from sleep by Gilda's cry of the unexpected appearance of the poison.

The doctor nodded sharply as though satisfied. "If you hadn't acted so promptly it would have been fatal. She's pretty weak, but she's young and healthy. You've had a pretty bad nervous shock, my dear. Go down to the kitchen and returned with some water in a glass into which he put a few pellets procured from his medical case. "Drink this—it's a sedative—" he explained as she obediently hesitated.

"I'll send Sally home to stay with her a while—though I'm sure she'll be all right—" he was speaking to the nurse comes then, get some other place for sleep where you can get undisturbed rest."

He turned to Havens. "Coming with me, Mark?"

"I'll stay here until the nurse comes, Bob, if you don't mind."

Joan's heart leaped and the man read the gratitude in her glance. Then the doctor left Joan went about automatically gathering up glasses—towels—straightening the room. She was starting to find Gilda's Chinese shawl when Mark took it gently from her, lifted her and set her down in the arm chair.

"Sit there, Honey. I'll do the rest."

Joan looked up with grateful eyes. "You've been so good—I took you away from your party—but I didn't know what to do. I couldn't find a doctor and I didn't want the newspapers to get hold of it—she's had so much trouble already."

Briefly Joan sketched Gilda's history and as Mark listened his eyes were busy with her own face, noting how the spirit of it shone even through the white fatigue of this night. How much more than beauty there was there, he told himself. There was purpose and poise; strengthening the inherited refinement. There was an understanding tolerance making her older by far than her years—that was the richness of the hard life she had had past year. Mark told himself. But he added something of nobility to her, it had deepened the wistful charm of her. How much of that sensitiveness he was unaware Mark Havens never guessed.

"Somebody didn't think of anyone but you," Joan finished briefly. "If you'd only know what to do, and you'd understand. Will you forgive me—"

"I wouldn't forgive you if you hadn't," Mark answered gently. "Now you must let me take care of you." He brought his overcoat and wrapped her in it. She was entirely overwhelmed by the goodness of her apparel. Conventions did not matter—such a night when they had battled for a life.

It was like a dream that she found herself sitting here while Mark moved about putting the place to rights with a quietly and deftly as a woman might have done. He possessed the strength and gentleness and the ability to move softly sometimes found in big men.

Joan had begun to doze after into the court, Joan could see it as a dream—the dark trees whose branches were white with snow—the sky and the air blowing in held the smell of it. Mark was clearing up the table. He had picked up the glass with its two rose-buds. Joan's tired heart gave a leap and a little flush stained her cold cheeks. But Mark gave no sign that he had recognized his own roses.

The nurse arrived, a capable middle aged woman who moved into the room with the air of a captain taking charge of a ship. Gilda was still sleeping, her face sharp and pinched white against the pillow, her straw colored hair plastered damply to her head.

Joan roused the manager of the house and briefly explained that a friend of Gilda's had been taken there a vacant apartment where she could sleep.

She slipped from Mark's overcoat as he prepared to go. The nurse was in the other room—they stood alone in the small hall. He read the gratitude in her starry eyes and a sudden impulse prompted him to touch the head and hide her very gravely and deliberately on the lips.

He heard the little sharp intake of Joan's breath but it was not until he was walking down the hall to the elevator that the full astonishing fact of what he had done on Marik's mind. It had seemed too natural to kiss her.... so strangely natural.

Chapter 47.
Thelma Acts

Mark was aroused from a deep sleep later that day by the shrill pealing of the telephone. There was something imperious about it that as though to warn him that Thelma was at the other end of the wire. Her voice came to him chilly with hatiteur.

"I've been rather expecting you to call me up—it's nearly noon. I should think some explanation was due me after the way you rushed away last night—"

Mark flung off the last cling-ing vestiges of sleep.

"I'm sorry, Thelma, I had no idea it was so late—"

"Did you have such a strenuous evening after you left me?"

Mark held his temper with something of an effort. "It was, but not on the account you seem to indicate." Then his voice took on a pleading note. "Honey, why do pretend to disbelieve me? You know how unexpected that message was last night. If it is true that Gilda is ill I would have ignored it but under the circumstances I could do nothing else. I'm sorry if it spoiled your evening."

Thelma gave a little angry laugh. "Oh—I wouldn't permit it to do that! Now, darling, I suppose I'll hope I'm not unreasonable but I can't help but feel a little affronted—it's be so unceremoniously thrust aside as the first word from that pale girl Marik told me it was she who rang up though you gave a detailed account of it. "Then—"

"A friend of hers was desperately ill—" Mark returned in a level voice. "She didn't know which way to turn—"

"Are you a doctor that you should go running at her slightest word?" Marik's voice was gallant, as though humored with a child.

"I know it must look strange to you, dear, but you see that this girl was all her wits' end? She is practically alone in the city and when she appealed to me at such a time I couldn't turn her off, could I?"

"Certainly not if you could turn off instead—" Thelma's voice was coldly insolent. "I'm curious to know what this girl can be to you that you let her summon you at her slightest word—"

At the insinuation in Thelma's cold silky voice, Mark's eyes turned fiery with anger. His voice matched the metallic hardness he placed on it. He felt that he was defending Joan rather than himself and his tone was hot. "It's belittling for me to take notice of that remark, Thelma. I'm sure when your better self reasserts—"

A click—a vacant humming—told Mark that Thelma had hung up the receiver.

As he dressed, Mark tried to shrug off the incident as a woman's unreasonable jealousy but gradually he succeeded. With him a sense of duty surrounded almost to a passion. He told himself that it was a wonderful thing for Thelma that he had everything to bully the girl who had nothing. Poor little kid—how tired her eyes had been last night when she said goodnight. That gloomy apartment—how it must have depressed her after the gaiety she was putting up. Those were his rose on the table.... they were his roses that she kissed them.

For her own part Thelma was saying the same thing to herself but it was affronted dignity but it went further than that. It was a genuine hurt that she felt. Not in conscious thought would she admit that this office girl had aroused in her a jealousy she guarded beauty but the primitive woman's instinct under the veneer of civilization had already accepted Joan as her rival.

She sat over the phone to ring, expecting to hear a repentant Mark on the other end. But when she heard the first charm of her. How much of that sensitiveness he was unaware Mark Havens never guessed.

"Somebody didn't think of anyone but you," Joan finished briefly. "If you only know what to do, and you'd understand. Will you forgive me—"

"I wouldn't forgive you if you hadn't," Mark answered gently. "Now you must let me take care of you." He brought his overcoat and wrapped her in it. She was entirely overwhelmed by the goodness of her apparel. Conventions did not matter—such a night when they had battled for a life.

It was like a dream that she found herself sitting here while Mark moved about putting the place to rights with as quietly and deftly as a woman might have done. He possessed the strength and gentleness and the ability to move softly sometimes found in big men.

Joan had begun to doze after into the court, Joan could see it as a dream—the dark trees whose branches were white with snow—the sky and the air blowing in held the smell of it. Mark was clearing up the table. He had picked up the glass with its two rose-buds. Joan's tired heart gave a leap and a little flush stained her cold cheeks. But Mark gave no sign that he had recognized his own roses.

The nurse arrived, a capable middle aged woman who moved into the room with the air of a captain taking charge of a ship. Gilda was still sleeping, her face sharp and pinched white against the pillow, her straw colored hair plastered damply to her head.

Joan roused the manager of the house and briefly explained that a friend of Gilda's had been taken there a vacant apartment where she could sleep.

She slipped from Mark's overcoat as he prepared to go. The nurse was in the other room—they stood alone in the small hall. He read the gratitude in her starry and gravely and sudden impulse prompted him to touch the head and hide her very gravely and deliberately on the lips.

He heard the little sharp intake of Joan's breath but it was not until he was walking down the hall to the elevator that the full astonishing fact of what he had done on Marik's mind. It had seemed too natural to kiss her.... so strangely natural.

Chapter 47.
Thelma Acts

Mark was aroused from a deep sleep later that day by the shrill pealing of the telephone. There was something imperious about it that as though to warn him that Thelma was at the other end of the wire. Her voice came to him chilly with hatiteur.

"I've been rather expecting you to call me up—it's nearly noon. I should think some explanation was due me after the way you rushed away last night—"

Mark threw off the last clinging vestiges of sleep.

"I'm sorry, Thelma, I had no idea it was so late—"

"Did you have such a strenuous evening after you left me?"

Mark held his temper with something of an effort. "It was, but not on the account you seem to indicate." Then his voice took on a pleading note. "Honey, why do pretend to disbelieve me? You know how unexpected that message was last night. If it is true that Gilda is ill I would have ignored it but under the circumstances I could do nothing else. I'm sorry if it spoiled your evening."

Thelma gave a little angry laugh. "Oh—I wouldn't permit it to do that! Now, darling, I suppose I'll hope I'm not unreasonable but I can't help but feel a little affronted—it's be so unceremoniously thrust aside as the first word from that pale girl Marik told me it was she who rang up though you gave a detailed account of it. "Then—"

"A friend of hers was desperately ill—" Mark returned in a level voice. "She didn't know which way to turn—"

"Are you a doctor that you should go running at her slightest word?" Marik's voice was gallant, as though humored with a child.

"I know it must look strange to you, dear, but you see that this girl was at her wits' end? She is practically alone in the city and when she appealed to me at such a time I couldn't turn her off, could I?"

"Certainly not if you could turn off instead—" Thelma's voice was coldly insolent. "I'm curious to know what this girl can be to you that you let her summon you at her slightest word—"

At the insinuation in Thelma's cold silky voice, Mark's eyes turned fiery with anger. His voice matched the metallic he placed on it. He felt that he was defending Joan rather than himself and his tone was hot. "It's belittling for me to take notice of that remark, Thelma. I'm sure when your better self reasserts—"

A click—a vacant humming—told Mark that Thelma had hung up the receiver.

As he dressed, Mark tried to shrug off the incident as a woman's unreasonable jealousy but gradually he succeeded. With him a sense of duty surrounded almost to a passion. He told himself that it was a wonderful thing for Thelma that he had everything to bully the girl who had nothing. Poor little kid—how tired her eyes had been last night when she said goodnight. That gloomy apartment—how it must have depressed her after the gaiety she was putting up. Those were his rose on the table.... they were his roses that she kissed them.

For her own part Thelma was saying the same thing to herself but it was affronted dignity but it went further than that. It was a genuine hurt that she felt. Not in conscious thought would she admit that this office girl had aroused in her a jealousy she guarded beauty but the primitive woman's instinct under the veneer of civilization had already accepted Joan as her rival.

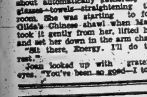
She sat over the phone to ring, expecting to hear a repentant Mark on the other end. But when she heard the first charm of her. How much of that sensitiveness he was unaware Mark Havens never guessed.

"Somebody didn't think of anyone but you," Joan finished briefly. "If you only know what to do, and you'd understand. Will you forgive me—"

"I wouldn't forgive you if you hadn't," Mark answered gently. "Now you must let me take care of you." He brought his overcoat and wrapped her in it. She was entirely overwhelmed by the goodness of her apparel. Conventions did not matter—such a night when they had battled for a life.

It was like a dream that she found herself sitting here while Mark moved about putting the place to rights with as quietly and deftly as a woman might have done. He possessed the strength and gentleness and the ability to move softly sometimes found in big men.

Joan had begun to doze after into the court, Joan could see it as a dream—the dark trees whose branches were white with snow—the sky and the air blowing in held the smell of it. Mark was clearing up the table. He had picked up the glass with its two rose-buds. Joan's tired heart gave a leap and a little flush stained her cold cheeks. But Mark gave no sign that he had recognized his own roses.



The nurse arrived, a capable middle aged woman who moved into the room with the air of a captain taking charge of a ship. Gilda was still sleeping, her face sharp and pinched white against the pillow, her straw colored hair plastered damply to her head.

Joan roused the manager of the house and briefly explained that a friend of Gilda's had been taken there a vacant apartment where she could sleep.

She slipped from Mark's overcoat as he prepared to go. The nurse was in the other room—they stood alone in the small hall. He read the gratitude in her starry and gravely and sudden impulse prompted him to touch the head and hide her very gravely and deliberately on the lips.

He heard the little sharp intake of Joan's breath but it was not until he was walking down the hall to the elevator that the full astonishing fact of what he had done on Marik's mind. It had seemed too natural to kiss her.... so strangely natural.

Special
Three Course
Xmas
Dinner
Choice of
TURKEY or GOOSE, 60c
Family of 3 . . . . $1.50
Family of 4 . . . . $2.25
CHRISTMAS DAY
11 a.m. to 8 p.m.
THE GUILD
RESTAURANT
245 Front St.

Please accept this expression of our appreciation together with our best wishes for a joyous Christmas and a prosperous New Year.

ODORLESS
CLEANERS and DYERS
332 Front St. Phone 84

HEARTY CHRISTMAS GREETINGS

To our Customers, Sincere Thanks for your generous patronage and friendly attitude. To our Staff, our grateful appreciation for your good work, through out the year.
Christmas Shopping Seems
EATON GROCETERIA
Ry Eaton
PROPRIETOR

"Wonderful for Mothers"
says Mrs. E. R. Donaldson, 49 McGill St., Hawkesbury, Ont.

"Before my baby was born, I was thin, tired and nervous. As soon as I began taking your wonderful Compound I could feel myself getting stronger. I could work all day without getting tired. I was so well all along, no swollen feet and no kidney trouble."

98 out of 100 Women Report Benefit
Liquid and Tablets — At all Drug Stores
LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

A THREE-FOLD SECRET
PENETRO
CONQUERS COLDS
LABORATORIES
Plough, Inc.
1. PENETRO is made with the soothing, old-fashioned ingredients found in many external treatments. Which gives it a far greater penetrating power than preparations made with petroleum jelly.
2. PENETRO is prepared a high degree of concentration to be effective in small portions as it is made to be used sparingly. Not a thick, greasy salve that clogs pores and irritates skin. It stimulates and soothes instead.
3. PENETRO is a scientifically prepared vapor that gives quick relief through inhalation. Its medicinal vapors are breathed deeply into irritated nasal passages, throat and lungs, bringing comforting relief. Then they go on with the blood stream, carrying soothing, healing ingredients to every part of the body. Thus PENETRO does not merely relieve one symptom, but attacks the cold in its entirety.
Just rub PENETRO on chest, back, throat and forehead. Inhale its vapors deeply. PENETRO does not stain skin or clothing. Use it also for children and adults. At all druggists. Price 25c.
PENETRO
THE SALVE WITH A BASE OF OLD FASHIONED MUTTON SUET
T. P. Wilson, Ltd., Montreal.

Mark Joan stood at the door—clinging vestiges of sleep.

"I'm sorry, Thelma, I had no idea it was so late—"

"Did you have such a strenuous evening after you left me?"

Mark held his temper with something of an effort. "It was, but not on the account you seem to indicate." Then his voice took on a pleading note. "Honey, why do pretend to disbelieve me? You know how unexpected that message was last night. If it is true that Gilda is ill I would have ignored it but under the circumstances I could do nothing else. I'm sorry if it spoiled your evening."

Thelma gave a little angry laugh. "Oh—I wouldn't permit it to do that! Now, darling, I suppose I'll hope I'm not unreasonable but I can't help but feel a little affronted—it's be so unceremoniously thrust aside as the first word from that pale girl Marik told me it was she who rang up though you gave a detailed account of it. "Then—"

"A friend of hers was desperately ill—" Mark returned in a level voice. "She didn't know which way to turn—"

"Are you a doctor that you should go running at her slightest word?" Marik's voice was gallant, as though humored with a child.

"I know it must look strange to you, dear, but you see that this girl was at her wits' end? She is practically alone in the city and when she appealed to me at such a time I couldn't turn her off, could I?"

"Certainly not if you could turn off instead—" Thelma's voice was coldly insolent. "I'm curious to know what this girl can be to you that you let her summon you at her slightest word—"

At the insinuation in Thelma's cold silky voice, Mark's eyes turned fiery with anger. His voice matched the metallic he placed on it. He felt that he was defending Joan rather than himself and his tone was hot. "It's belittling for me to take notice of that remark, Thelma. I'm sure when your better self reasserts—"

A click—a vacant humming—told Mark that Thelma had hung up the receiver.

As he dressed, Mark tried to shrug off the incident as a woman's unreasonable jealousy but gradually he succeeded. With him a sense of duty surrounded almost to a passion. He told himself that it was a wonderful thing for Thelma that he had everything to bully the girl who had nothing. Poor little kid—how tired her eyes had been last night when she said goodnight. That gloomy apartment—how it must have depressed her after the gaiety she was putting up. Those were his rose on the table.... they were his roses that she kissed them.

For her own part Thelma was saying the same thing to herself but it was affronted dignity but it went further than that. It was a genuine hurt that she felt. Not in conscious thought would she admit that this office girl had aroused in her a jealousy she guarded beauty but the primitive woman's instinct under the veneer of civilization had already accepted Joan as her rival.

She sat over the phone to ring, expecting to hear a repentant Mark on the other end. But when she heard the first charm of her. How much of that sensitiveness he was unaware Mark Havens never guessed.

"Somebody didn't think of anyone but you," Joan finished briefly. "If you only know what to do, and you'd understand. Will you forgive me—"

"I wouldn't forgive you if you hadn't," Mark answered gently. "Now you must let me take care of you." He brought his overcoat and wrapped her in it. She was entirely overwhelmed by the goodness of her apparel. Conventions did not matter—such a night when they had battled for a life.

It was like a dream that she found herself sitting here while Mark moved about putting the place to rights with as quietly and deftly as a woman might have done. He possessed the strength and gentleness and the ability to move softly sometimes found in big men.

Joan had begun to doze after into the court, Joan could see it as a dream—the dark trees whose branches were white with snow—the sky and the air blowing in held the smell of it. Mark was clearing up the table. He had picked up the glass with its two rose-buds. Joan's tired heart gave a leap and a little flush stained her cold cheeks. But Mark gave no sign that he had recognized his own roses.

The nurse arrived, a capable middle aged woman who moved into the room with the air of a captain taking charge of a ship. Gilda was still sleeping, her face sharp and pinched white against the pillow, her straw colored hair plastered damply to her head.

Joan roused the manager of the house and briefly explained that a friend of Gilda's had been taken there a vacant apartment where she could sleep.

She slipped from Mark's overcoat as he prepared to go. The nurse was in the other room—they stood alone in the small hall. He read the gratitude in her starry and gravely and sudden impulse prompted him to touch the head and hide her very gravely and deliberately on the lips.

He heard the little sharp intake of Joan's breath but it was not until he was walking down the hall to the elevator that the full astonishing fact of what he had done on Marik's mind. It had seemed too natural to kiss her.... so strangely natural.

(To be continued)

The Traveller

(A CHRISTMAS STORY)

by

JOSEPH A. KOFFEND

Instead of meeting the family upon his return from the market-place, he decided he would slip quietly up to the family guest room. If only no one would notice his arrival! He did want to be alone to think about the things he had heard in the market-place. If they were such strange words which had mingled with the story that had passed from mouth to mouth throughout the day. Yet, if it were only true! But how could it be? Yet, had not he heard the Chief Priest read just now from the Holy Book in the temple not so very long ago? If only he could stop thinking about them — and why should they trouble him? He had nothing to do with them, or the matter, and yet was he not part of that nation? If so could just he blame his world try to unravel all the things he had heard that day, and try to make some sense out of it all. Or if Rebecca were here—ah, that was it! Rebecca—he could tell her, she would understand, and she has a good memory; she would remember some of the words spoken by the Rabbi in the Temple. So he settled himself with the thought that after the evening meal he would slip away to Rebecca's home and tell her the story when she comes to him that day.

Probably I had better make my appearance with the family before they send someone out to search for me," said David. So going downstairs, he entered the house, trying to act as though nothing unusual had taken place throughout the day. In the house he found the family awaiting his return that they might partake of the evening meal, all of them wondering about the lateness of his coming.

They were soon gathered around the supper table, and throughout the meal David was unusually quiet, which was not his habit; for upon his return on market day there was a plenty to relate and the family hastily gave way to his oral newsreviewer. Tonight, however, it was different; he was not bringing any news; instead, there seemed to be a dull silence about the table. The family had held back long enough, and Leah, his mother, broke the silence with, "David, was there no news today at the market?"

"Not much, mother; in fact nothing of particular interest, except, with just the usual gossip among the crowd." And here he stopped, almost like the family his story of a troubled heart, yet hesitating for fear they would not understand and would only laugh at his tale as though foolish.

"But, what, David?—Is there nothing more? We thought that with your interest in returning something surely must have happened!"

"Ah!" chimed in Benjamin, his brother, "maybe Rebecca was there and they quarrelled."

"She was not there and we did not quarrel!" replied David, rather irritated.

"Benjamin," broke in Isaac his father, "We will hear no more from you."

"Yes, father," replied the younger brother. And David left the table without another word.

"The boy must be ill, Leah," said Isaac.

"I think something must have happened, to make him act thus," said Leah.

Later on that evening, David wandered over to the home of Rebecca, the one he had waited so long to ask to become his bride. "Shall I ask her someday soon," David said, talking to himself as he walked along the little narrow lane-like street to the village. Upon his arrival, David found Rebecca in the courtyard, and soon was unburdening his thoughts before her.

"Rebecca, have you been to the market place to fetch water for Sabbath?" he asked.

"Well, yes."

"You seem to hesitate, Rebecca, as though you would hide something from me. Did you hear about the same story too?"

"Yes, the women all talked about it as we stood in the well today; It is hard to understand, isn't it?"

"Rebecca, tell me this as you heard it from the women, will you?"

"As yet, David, there does not seem to be much of the story; only a little here and there. Yet what there is to it, is surely bewildering." And so Rebecca related the story as it came to her that day at the village well.

"Do you know, David, they have been talking about Zacharias becoming speechless. For nearly a month, they say, he has not spoken a word. Then the other day a son was born to him and his wife; and the other thing about it is, that Zachariah wrote, insisting that his name should be called John, which is not a family name at all, and so is contrary to the traditions of our nation. And immediately he was able to speak, and told them of the most bewildering experience which had come to him in the temple months before. He said that God had appeared to him there and foretold the birth of this son; and when Zachariah told him that not until the birth of this son would he a forerunner of the Messiah—would he speak again. And now they say the son is actually born, and Zachariah speaks again, even as Jehovah said he would. Is that what you heard?"

"Yes, Rebecca, the story is the same. The same that I heard today in the market place. And so much it is strange, that as I was inside the Rabbi read in the temple from time to time."

The evening wore on as they drifted from the talk of strange things and rumors, to plans for themselves and their future. As they sat there silently for a moment, Rebecca could see the face of her beloved in the light of the moon which shone above them.

"David, you seem worried tonight, is there something else bothering you besides the story of Zachariah and John?"

"Yes, there is a rumor of another tax burden upon the people. No one seems to know definitely, only that Governor Cyrenius is planning a new tax bill and soon word will come. This occurred, because you, the people!" continued David, becoming more agitated as he talked. "Taxes, taxes, always taxing us! They came look our people away, burned our cities and temples, carried away our treasures, and then always they cry, 'taxes' and more taxes!"

"Hush, David, if a soldier should hear you they would imprison you for treason. Forget not how they took away Judah of the village only two Sabbaths ago for talking thus. Do be careful. Maybe soon, aye, sooner than we think, Messiah will come!"

"Make members of the provinces within Palestine and Syria must return to their natal town or village within twenty days to register and be taxed" and it was signed by Cyrenius the Governor of the land.

In a few days David left for his natal town of Bethlehem, a journey which would take some days by mule. Early one morning he arrived in Bethlehem and was amazed to find the inns so full. People seemed to be everywhere. Ah! There was Joseph, whom he had not seen for years; and Malchi had just passed —he would see him later. Hmmm, his boyhood chum had also returned to town to be registered. There were many to see.

When David sought accommodation for himself the Inn-keeper could only give him a tiny room near the stables of the inn. But seeing conditions he was glad to find even that.

That night as he was about to retire he heard guests come into the courtyard and their voices carried easily on the night air, and his curiosity made him listen.

"Joseph, have you been to the inn?" the inn-keeper was saying.

"But," replied the stranger, "we must have accommodations for the night. We have travelled far, and the woman is so weary. Cannot you find us accommodations for this night? The hour is late, and on the morrow we will be away to make room for you."

"My friend, there is no place anywhere, for every room is filled with people! For many days all rooms except one have been filled here in Bethlehem. I went on the inn-keeper feeling tired and worn out himself with the oft repeating of the same tale, "and only a few hours ago a man from the north took it."

David listened. Should he offer his room? No, had not he as much right to another, any decent man? —the sir seemed filled with anguish. Oh, it was a wonderful experience! and——

"But," interrupted Mary quite stirred, "Just what did the angels say to you about the child?"

"Oh, yes, the angels, what did the angels say?"—After a moment's thought one of the shepherds answered: "The angels said,—"Fear not, for behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord. And this shall be a sign unto you: ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger. And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying, "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, goodwill toward men."

"Yes, that's it," replied another of the shepherds, "and after the angels left us we decided we would hasten here to Bethlehem and see for ourselves. We left one of our shepherds to keep watch while we came. And it's true isn't it?"

"Yes," said Joseph, "it seems all true. We pray that Jehovah has at last brought a great king to his land for our people. And now, mon, you must go for Mary is tired and would be quiet." And reluctantly the shepherds left the stable to return to their keeping of the flock. David followed them, something stirring in his heart, and a leadership mistrend his cheek, as he whispered to himself, "And I, too, have been given my reason for the birthplace of the Messiah—but I didn't." What a story he would have to tell Rebecca and the folks at home! When he returned, though David as he tried once more to regain the sleep he craved for earlier in the night.

One morning a few days after the visit of the shepherds, David noticed how quiet things were out in the stable and going in to where Joseph and Mary had made their abode, he found their belongings gone. The inn-keeper informed him, upon inquiry, that they had left early that day and spoke of stopping with relatives in Jerusalem. And while there they are to meet the child that is born of the virgin. Then they are to come to God in the temple, as is the custom.

"Then I will not see them again!"

"After some days they will return to Bethlehem, they said."

"But I must go! Yet, we may meet there, for I, too, journey toward Jerusalem."

They talked for awhile about the affairs of their nation, wondering if the events of these past days might have any bearing on its future. Finally, the inn-keeper said with a shrug, "I do not know; this is all too much for me. I am an old man and my inn business is enough to worry me." With that, he walked away leaving David to ponder his own thoughts. It has been nice to know someone at the inn to talk to at times, and the story the strangers, Mary and Joseph, told had been an interesting one. It really seemed to fit in to what David had heard about Zachariah and John. Surely these things were far from ordinary happenings!

David having finished the business of registration and payment of taxes in Bethlehem, said good-bye to the town of his birth and made his way through the hills he knew so well toward the royal city of Jerusalem.

MERRY CHRISTMAS

Weaver Kiosk Store extends heartiest greetings to all patrons and prospective patrons and wish them the Merriest Christmas possible.

T. A. TUCKER

Manager

Merry Christmas

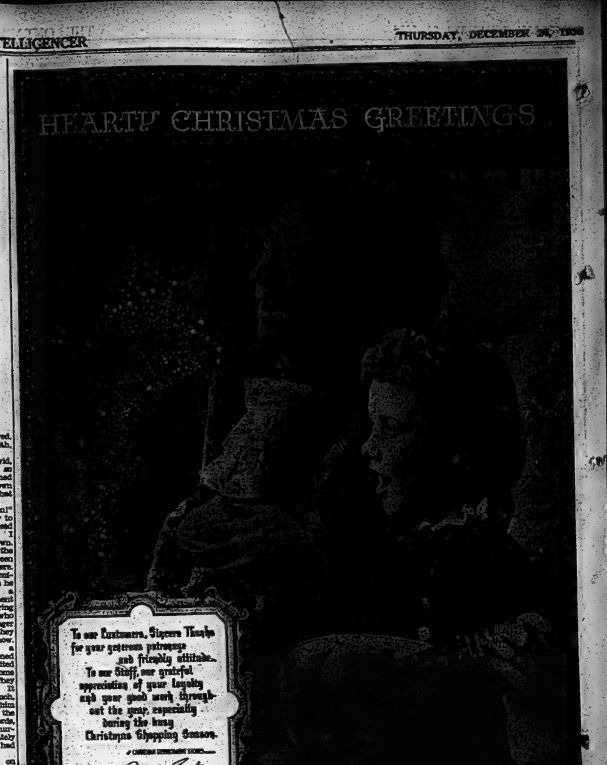
•

Worlds of good cheer and Happiness in abundance . . . that's the Christmas wish we make for every one of you.

•

JOHN LEWIS

COMPANY



MERRY CHRISTMAS

TO OUR FRIENDS AND PATRONS in Belleville and all through the Bay of Quinte District we extend the Season's Greetings, with the sincere hope that all will enjoy the Merriest Christmas possible. Worlds of good cheer and happiness in abundance . . . that's the Christmas wish we make for every one of you.

This Store will be CLOSED ALL DAY SATURDAY (Boxing Day)

SMITH HARDWARE

David could planned a brief visit there for he must now think of getting home. It seemed like ages since he had seen Rebecca and his parents. And would not he have plenty to tell them when he returned!

During the second day in the great city he went to visit the temple, where he hoped to meet some of his friends stopping for worship on their way home, just as he was doing. So to the temple he went, and as he entered the temple court the sight which met his eyes, and the words he heard amazed him. There, standing upon the steps within the court, were the strangers of the inn at Bethlehem, and with them another whom David recognized as a prophet. He watched and stood close enough to hear what was said, and these startling words came to him.

"Lord, now letest Thou Thy servant depart in peace, according to Thy word: for mine eyes have seen Thy salvation, which Thou hast prepared before the face of all people; a light to lighten the Gentiles, and the glory of Thy people Israel."

"What a peaceful look there is on the venerable man's face," said David to himself, as he watched him and the child in his arms. "Whatever he believes about the babe has indeed brought perfect peace to his heart. How I wish I knew if this is, in truth, the Messiah! Can it be, He would come like this? But I do know my heart burned within me, whenever I was near Him either, and with all my heart, I wish I had given them my room in the inn!"

The crowds came between, and David lost sight of the strangers and saw them no more. The next day he left Jerusalem, and as he journeyed homeward David could think of nothing but the happenings on this most eventful trip in his life.

For hours David had been slowly wending his way among the hills. He did not find the road lonesome, even the coming of night brought no fear as he rode along the narrow winding path. Then, as the stars made their appearance, one by one, across the sky, how bright they seemed! David's heart seemed stirred within him as he thought of the night, and it all blended into his thoughts and wonderings.

Suddenly, in the distance he heard the bells of a camel train. "What is odd," said David to himself as he rode along. "This is not the season for merchandizem. Probably they are visitors from afar coming to the holy city for worship."

The sound of the bells grew nearer and nearer, until over a hilltop came the camels with their riders. Seeing David, they stopped.

"What can these men . . . want?" Thought David, as one of the riders forced his camel to kneel that he might descend.

"Hail, my friend," cried out the stranger, coming before David. "Jerusalem—does it lie along this road?"

"Yes, not many hours of travel." "Have you come from Jerusalem?" asked the rider.

"Yes; only today I left the Holy City of my ancestors."

"While there, did you see the one born a King?"

"A King?" repeated David, wondering if there men too might have something to add to the story in his mind. "A King did you say?"

"Why yes have you not seen His star? Look yonder see is brightness. For days we have followed it, for it tells of a King and I and my friends follow it that we may find and worship this new born King. Do you know aught of Him?"

"Yes," cautiously replied David: "I heard some shepherds telling an amazing story about the birth of a King."

"Come," exultantly cried the man, "and tell this great news to my friends!"

As the other camels clumsily knelt for their riders to dismount, David thrilled with the feeling that he had found kindred spirits to whom he could open his heart about these strange things, and who could tell him something of the meaning of it all.

The men listened in eager silence while David told them the story of the Bethlehem stable, and what he had seen in the Jerusalem temple. And as David finished relating these things, he was amazed to find the conviction born in his own heart that these things were true. The offering was then taken and the meeting closed, by repeating the Magah benediction in unison. We then took part in a contest after which our hostess served a delicious lunch.

MERRY CHRISTMAS

To Our Friends:

Christmas would scarcely be complete without expressing our deep appreciation for your patronage and wishing you and yours the merriest of Christmas joy.

MERRY CHRISTMAS TO EVERYONE

from

WILLIAM M. LESLIE and STAFF of the

LESLIE SHOE STORE

THE WEATHER
Fresh to strong northerly winds; mostly cloudy and mild today and Sunday; occasional light rain.

The Ontario Intelligencer

TEMPERATURES
Today Min. 19
Max. 36 Year Ago
Max. 12 Min. 3 Below

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, SATURDAY, DECEMBER 26, 1936

ECONOMIC AID IF GERMANY ENTERS ARMS PACT

Generalissimo Returns Triumphant to His Capital at Nanking

CANADIANS ENJOY CHRISTMAS DAY TO THE FULLEST

Some Homes, However, Touched With Tragedy

FAMILY REUNIONS

Lord Tweedsmuir Attends Service in Ottawa Church

(By The Canadian Press)

The majority of Canadians looked back today on a Merry Christmas. But there were many whose Christmas tragedy had touched. Automobile accidents had taken their toll. Law-breaking and violence threw a shadow over Yuletide festivities.

In thousands of homes, however, Christmas was a happy affair with family reunions. Throughout the land the sound of childish laughter and most always as the things best to remember. Untroubled by wars and rumors of war that beset other countries, the Dominion was free once again to relax at the season of peace and good-will and thankfulness once again to the Holy Babe born 19 centuries ago.

It was a "green" Christmas for many Ontario residents, but those in Ottawa district and in the Laurentian areas were able to take thorough snow-shoeing. There was skiing, too, and in the Maritimes it was a mild Christmas. Victoria and Vancouver had "green" Christmas weather, and there was nothing on Western Canada's Christmas menu to remind the people of snow, ice, cold, which widely associated Christmas celebrations.

Christmas celebrations received attention on the Sabbath.

Canada's governor-general, Lord Tweedsmuir, trudged through the snow to attend divine service in little St. Bartholomew's Anglican Church, in the capital. There His Excellency read the lesson, a beautiful Christmas passage from St. Luke's Gospel.

Queens Have Happy Time

Up in Aurora-on-Holland, Ont., Canada's most famous babies, the Dionne quintuplets, had a happy one ordered Christmas because it was the first with their mother and (Continued on page seven)

DAUGHTER BORN TO DUCHESS KENT

Interesting Event at London on Christmas Day

London, Dec. 26—The Duchess of Kent gave birth to a daughter on Christmas Day, the Princess Royal, throne of Great Britain.

The baby is the third child of the youngest of the King's brothers and his wife, the former Princess Marina of Greece. They were married Nov. 30, 1934, and their first child, Prince Edward of Kent, who rules Paul Patrick, was born Oct 9, 1935.

Sir John Simon, the Home Secretary, whose presence at the birth of either a Prince or Princess is required by constitutional practice, was among those at the Belgrave House home of the Duke of Kent when the little girl arrived.

Both the mother and baby were reported to be making satisfactory progress.

The King, Queen Elizabeth and Queen Mother Mary sent their congratulations to the parents. Today a Royal salute was fired from the Tower of London and Hyde Park.

Queen Mary now has six grandchildren. Besides the new baby and Elizabeth, there are 10-year-old Princess Elizabeth, the heir presumptive; her sister, Margaret Rose and the two sons of the Princess Royal Countess of Harewood.

The line of succession ahead of the baby Princess is: Princess Elizabeth; Princess Margaret Rose; the Duke of Gloucester, the Duke of Kent, Prince Edward.

Physicians attending the birth of the little Princess were Dr. Gillatt, Dr. E. A. Gow and Dr. H. A. Richards. They tersely announced the mother and daughter were doing well and followed the announcement with the statement this progress was satisfactory last night. The birth took place at 11.30 a.m.

By coincidence the new arrival's birthday is the same as her aunt the Duchess of Gloucester. The baby's father, the Duke of Kent, is the youngest of the late King's five living children.

Britain's New Royal Family Enjoy London Carnival Informally

In an informal pose while each watching a carnival in London. George VI and Queen Elizabeth ob-one of them was busily interested Princess Elizabeth, of the current in the spectacle before them, Britain's new royal family is snapped deeply while her father, King Only Princess Margaret Rose, youngest of the royal family, is interested in the photographer. The picture illustrates the love of informality that permeates the new King's household.

HALIFAX HORSES GIVEN A TREAT

Three Tons of Food is Distributed Nicely Steeds

Halifax, Dec. 26—(CP)—Halifax horses munched contentedly yesterday as a Christmas dinner of their own.

Nothing fussy, you know, but a good solid meal of golden oats that proved a luxury to some of the bound members of the fraternity of quadrupeds.

Three tons of feed were distributed Friday by the society of Prevention of Cruelty to Animals among poorer owners in Halifax and district. Oxen were also allowed to share in the distribution.

Once upon a time, draught animals had their own Christmas tree, in the centre of Post Office Square near Jerry wharf. Carrots and other "sweets" were given them in addition to "regular" presents in feed.

The tree, however, was discontinued a few years ago as the necessities would go to the most needy.

CAPTOR THROWS SELF ON EX-CAPTOR'S MERCY

Nanking, Dec. 26 (AP) — Rebellious Marshal Chang Hsueh-Liang, asserting his willingness to "suffer death", threw himself today on the mercy of his former captive at Sian-Fu, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek.

The leader of the military mutiny which caused a grave governmental crisis made known his intention in a letter addressed to the Premier shortly after his arrival in the capital.

The letter said:

"I am ready to suffer whatever you and your government desire. Whether it means death or not, I am here and ready, for I realize my wickedness and am sin against you and the nation."

Wife of Kai-Shek Heroine, Secures Husband's Return

Captor Chang is Held Virtual Prisoner at Nanking

Nanking, Dec. 26 (AP)—General Chiang Kai-Shek, smiling triumphant, returned to Nanking today after two weeks' captivity and assumed firm control of the government.

A virtual prisoner in the capital was the rebel Marshal Chang Hsueh-Liang whose capture of the Premier Dec. 12 created one of the gravest crises in the history of the Chinese Nationalist movement.

Credit for the dramatic solution was universally accorded the generalissimo's wife, the former Meiling Soong, who stood proudly at his side as he took the tumultuous salute of the thousands who welcomed him on his return.

(Continued on page seven)

Open Raw Material Marts Guarantees of Peace

Refusal to Send Volunteers To Spain Also Demanded

BRITAIN, FRANCE FIRM

Paris, Dec. 26 (AP)—France and Great Britain will demand that Germany agree to enter a general disarmament agreement as well as take measures to halt the departure of volunteer soldiers for Spain in return for economic help, authoritative sources said today.

This became known after it was disclosed Great Britain and France had begun the outline of a program to give the Third Reich access to European raw material markets as a projected reward for refusing to send military assistance to the Spanish insurgents.

Curb Arms Race

The further condition for such economic help will be a German pledge to help curb the arms race, informed persons stated.

At the same time, qualified government sources said it be known that France and Great Britain have no intention of backing down on their demand for guarantees by Germany against the sending of either regular troops or volunteers to Spain.

Guarantees of Peace

Paris, Dec. 26 (AP)—Great Britain and France offered Germany aid in her economic struggle today in return for political guarantees of peace.

The democratic nations began the outline of a program which would make Germany a bid for raw material markets as a reward for refusing to send military assistance to the Spanish insurgents.

Indications the plan to influence Chancellor Hitler's answer to a Spanish Fascist request for 60,000 German soldiers was taking shape came in conversations between the French Minister of Commerce, Paul Bastid, and Count Johannes Von Welczeck, German ambassador to Paris.

Return of Territory Possible

In its broad outlines, the scheme included the possibility the Reich would regain some non-European territory, for colonization, with a by Locarno-and Spanish neutrality agreement interwoven in an attempt at a general settlement.

Should Hitler decide to send the insurgent General Francisco Franco the 60,000 troops he is said to be demanding, however, French circles used the word "explosion" to describe the probable result.

It was reported in Paris that five fully equipped divisions of the Reichswehr were awaiting only official orders to leave for service with the Spanish insurgents.

International Control

Despite the determined efforts of France, working in close harmony with Britain, to halt the civil war within Spain through economic moves, strong diplomatic representations were said to have been made for international control.

The French ambassadors were said to have renewed their insistance to Berlin, Rome, Moscow and Lisbon, paralleling British demands, for quick adoption of the non-international committee's control plan of arms and volunteers for both sides in Spain.

PONTIFF TO STAND BEFORE FAITHFUL

Sets This as His Goal For The Coming Easter Service

Vatican City, Dec. 26—(AP)—With indomitable fortitude, Pope Pius sat himself the goal today of standing before Easter throngs on the balcony of St. Peter's.

Twice yesterday Dr. Amanti Milani, his physician gave the Holy Father injections after noting physical depressions, believed, to have been an after-effect of the last heart attack. Nevertheless the Pontiff made Thursday from his sickbed.

The Pope, approaching his 80th birthday, went counter to his doctors' advice in making his appeal for peace.

Today, apparently, he began a second stage in the illness which forced him to bed, partly paralyzed in both legs and suffering a complication of old-age infirmities, it was believed.

Vatican sources said he seemed determined to carry on at least until Easter, when he was reported to appear before the faithful in person.

Although he appeared more subdued to his physicians' orders to remain quietly in bed for at least another month, attendants said he had been much already in former his possibility of pronouncing his benedictions on the Easter pilgrims.

He slept more peacefully last night than usual since his illness began.

He did not arise yesterday for Christmas Day mediation from his bed and spent the greater part of the day in meditation and prayer.

REMOTE ISLANDS TO SEE ECLIPSE

Many Scientists to Visit The Pacific Ocean For Event

Toronto, Dec. 26 (CP)—Remote islands of the Pacific Ocean will be the goal of scientists on June 8 next year, for those will be in the path of totality of the only total eclipse of the sun in 1937.

Two other eclipses are scheduled for the year, an annular of the sun on Dec. 2 and 3, and a partial eclipse of the moon, Nov. 18.

The total eclipse of the sun will be partially visible in the southwestern United States and in Central America, but the period of totality, during which the moon completely covers the sun's disk, starts near Lima, Peru, and sweeps in a great arc across the Pacific to the islands east of Australia.

The greater portion of the period of totality lies in the ocean. Christmas Island, one of the line group of Polynesia, about 1,000 miles south of Honolulu, Hawaii, lies directly in the path of totality.

FLIERS REPORTED SAFE AT STAYNER

Christmas Trip Interrupted By Snow And Fog

Sudbury, Ont., Dec. 26 (CP)—Jimmy Bell and Mike Valeriote, former University of Western Ontario football players, were expected to return to the airport here today after bad weather forced them to interrupt a Christmas airplane flight at Stayner, far south of here in the Georgian Bay district.

President of the Sudbury Flying Club and former flyer of the London, Ont., Flying Club, Bell piloted Valeriote on a projected Christmas trip to the latter's home in Guelph.

Anxiety arose last night when they were unreported here after telling the Stayner field, but the family had word they were down near Stayner.

The fliers spent Christmas Eve at Shelburne, where they were forced down by fog. They hoped to continue to Guelph Christmas Day, but were believed to have turned back towards here when they found Western Ontario blanketed with fog and rain.

Then came word of another enforced landing at Stayner. Details were lacking, and Stayner authorities had no record of them landing there despite Mr. Bell's assurance his son and Valeriote were safe.

DEATHS YESTERDAY

(By The Canadian Press)

Montreal: J. C. Stanton, 83, insurance executive.

Montreal: Lt.-Col. F. Massey, Fenian Raid veteran and Canadian Pacific Railway executive in 1887.

Pleasantville, N.Y.: Dr. Marshall Howe, 69, New York Botanical Garden director.

265 KILLED IN U.S. ACCIDENTS CHRISTMAS DAY

Tragic Side to One of The Merriest Days in History

PRESIDENT AT HOME

Travellers on China Clipper Achieves Two Christmases

Chicago, Dec. 26—(AP)—Unseasonal warmth and prosperous business conditions brought to the United States one of the merriest Christmas days in history.

Millions of dollars worth of gifts were exchanged in quantities which merchandising organizations report to be near a record. Charity groups, mindful in their task of collecting funds easier than in depression years, found it easy to cheer go thousands, but their burden was lightened by the increase in public funds.

There was a tragic side to the day, however, with at least 265 persons meeting sudden death in holiday accidents, mainly caused by automobile crashes.

The death toll in the United States was far more than in embattled Madrid where airplane bombs and artillery shells annihilated an hospital capital, killed only five.

(Continued on page seven)

FRANCE WILLING TO GIVE COLONIES

But Wants Guarantees From Hitler of Limitation in Disarmament

Paris, Dec. 3—(AP)—France is willing to give Germany back her former colonies if they will be used for "lasting settlement" of European worries, as to the third Reich's future guile, officials of the foreign office said today.

Such a settlement must include Chancellor Hitler's promise to participate in controlled disarmacti, as well as his stoppage of volunteer German enlistments in Spain, they said.

Hitler must also renounce territorial ambitions, and sign a pact of arms to return to economic collaboration with the world, it was stated.

On the other hand, the officials said, if Germany rejects the overture only to make Germany stronger in a warlike way, "he will have to reckon with the power of the forces."

The colonies now under French mandate from the days of Versailles which would be concerned in such a deal are Togoland and the Cameroons. There is a combined area in Africa of 192,321 square miles which are rich in minerals, authoritative sources said, have long been demanded that Germany enter a general disarmament agreement, as well as stop the flow of fighters to Spain, if she is to get economic help.

CELL THREAT FOR DOCTOR

Swansea, Wales, Dec. 26 — Justice Swift at Glamorgan Assizes threatened Dr. E. R. Griffiths of Barry with a day in the cells when he refused the question of his expenses before taking the oath.

British Economic Offer May be Peace Factor In Impressing Hitler

Spanish War Creates Most Dangerous Threat of European War

BRITAIN HOPEFUL

Christmas Holidays Broken by Hurried Conferences

London, Dec. 26—(AP)—The chancelleries of Europe watched Chancellor Hitler today for a decision on whether he will send troops to Spain in an effort to turn the tide of battle in favor of the insurgent Fascists, possibly provoking a general war.

Hope mounted, however, that Germany would avoid any action that might endanger European peace. This hope was strengthened by reports Hitler was studying carefully the demands the Spanish insurgents were said to have made for increased support.

The Spanish Civil War, feared as a threat to all Europe since its beginning, appeared to have brought the continent to a final showdown on the issue of war or peace for the immediate future.

Despite official optimism in the great capitals of Europe, the Christmas holidays were broken by hurried conferences.

Great Britain and France, obviously were disturbed but hoped Hitler might make a decisive gesture for peace and dispel the war clouds.

British sources appeared confident the move to help Germany find sorely needed raw materials and economic outlets, possibly through colonial expansion, would weigh heavily with Hitler in making his decision.

Continued on page 7.

DUKE OF WINDSOR READS NATIVITY STORY IN CHURCH

Viennese Church Congregation Hears Edward Read From Lectern

FAMILIAR NAMES

Vienna, Dec. 26.—Edward, former King of England, replied piously to his critics Christmas Day when he read the lesson from the gospel of Vienna's little English church and read the Christmas story of Jesus' birth in Bethlehem.

Worshippers, several of whom were Americans, stared in amazement when he appeared suddenly before them and began reading from the second chapter of St. Luke.

Many of the congregation were surprised that Edward, who gave up the Throne of England for the sake of "the woman I love", was remaining in authoritative sources said, have that city despite the attacks heaped upon him by dictators of the Church of England, he intended to remain devout.

He was pale and nervous when he began the story of the birth of the Infant Christ.

"And it came to pass that in those days there went out a decree . . . he read.

Recovers Poise.

He fumbled at his black necktie. Then he recovered his composure and in clear tones he read:

Continued on page 7

26 Killed and 100 Injured In Explosion Aboard Steamer

Italian Vessel in Italian Harbor Scene of Accident

SHIPS' SIDE RIPPED

Rome, Dec. 26 (CP)—Twenty-six persons were killed and 100 injured Dec. 23, an official communique said today, in an explosion aboard the steamship Cesare Battisti in the harbor of Massaw, Italian Eritrea, on the east coast of Africa.

A fire resulting from the explosion spread rapidly over the waterfront and the port, destroying several buildings including the offices of the port authority.

Twenty of those injured were reported seriously hurt. Most of the victims were laborers bound for Ethiopia. The liner was returning to Djibouti, French Somaliland.

A big hole was opened in the ship by the blast. The passengers, all of whom escaped injury, were transferred to the steamship Tripoli-tania, also bound for Djibouti.

ARTHUR BRISBANE COLUMNIST, DIES

Started Newspaper Career 59 Years Ago on New York Sun

New York, Dec. 26 (AP)—Tributes came from all parts of the United States today on the death of famous editor and columnist, whose death at 72 left the American journalism "one of its best known figures."

The noted newspaperman, who had been confined to his apartment with a severe cold, died in his sleep in his apartment yesterday as newspaper presses rolled out his last column—a Christmas message he had dictated only a few hours before.

Brisbane suffered a heart attack Thursday afternoon, but insisted on dictating the column. He slept that night in an oxygen tent, but succumbed about 8.30 a.m.

Brisbane's passing closed the second chapter of a career he began 53 years ago as a "cub" reporter on The New York Sun. He became America's highest-paid newspaper writer, drawing an annual salary of $260,000.

President Roosevelt led in messages of sympathy to his wife.

Continued on page 7.

LOSES FINGERS IN 'ENSILAGE CUTTER

John Courneyea, French Settlement Has Hand Amputated Later

Trenton, December 26.—Mr. John Courneyea of the French Settlement, had the misfortune to lose several fingers of his left hand in an ensilage cutter on Thursday afternoon. He seriously wore the bones of the hand crushed that it was found necessary to amputate the hand at the wrist. The accident is a particularly unfortunate one for a farmer, one in view of the fact that Mr. Courneyea had the last three fingers of his right hand a few years ago.

JOY WEEK FOR CHILDREN

London (CP)—Children in London are to have a holiday from May 10 to 18 inclusive for the Coronation, according to plans drawn up by the Education Committee of the London County Council.

Coming Events

TONIGHT

TUNEUP — REGULAR EUCHRE at Masonic Temple, 8.30. Regular prizes. Admission 25c plus tax. c26-15

BE ENTERTAINED BY BUD Haines and the Commodores in the Moose Auditorium tonight. Dance the Dixieland Band novelty, also special prizes. c26-15

SPECIAL EUCHRE AND BINGO, Liberal rooms, 8.15 tonight. Binko receipts paid back in prizes. Admission 25c including tax. c26-15

ANNUAL ST. CHURCH, SUNDAY night. Owing to numerous requests we have decided to repeat our Christmas Tree and Concert. Special request number, "The Holy City," Mrs. (Dr.) Stobie. c26-15

City and District News

REV. W. J. WALKER TO HEAD ASSOCIATION

The Belleville Ministerial" convened Dec. 21st and complete arrangements for the week of prayer and to elect the officers for the ensuing year. Rev. W. J. Walker presided and the report of the committee on arrangements for Week of Prayer was heard and approved by the meeting. The officers elected for the year were: President—Rev. W. J. Walker. Vice Pres.—Rev. A. C. Sinclair. Secretary Treasurer—Rev. Robert Hall.

Rev. J. R. Payne, the retiring president, pronounced the benediction.

TRANSIENTS THANK THEIR BENEFACTOR

The true Christmas spirit was in evidence on Christmas morning, when a local convict hitchhiked to the police station and left instructions to have all transients who had spent the night in the cell block, report at a local restaurant. Where their Christmas breakfast would be provided them at his expense, the transients in all were treated at the Police station on Christmas Eve. Santa Claus arrived bright and early in the form of the telephone call from the Christmas-spirited benefactor. The transients thoroughly enjoyed their early day repast, and expressed their thanks through the local police department to their benefactor.

RESIDENT SUSTAINS AN FRACTURED HIP

"No serious trouble" reported Chief Kidd of the local Police department today when reviewing Police activities over the holidays. Only two mishaps fell into the hands of the police, both being due to unwise attempts to proceed without assistance. One of the victims to have indulged freely, but not wisely, fell on the slippery pavement on Christmas Eve and sustained a fractured hip. He was taken to the Belleville Hospital in the police car, where he received medical aid and is still confined to that institution. Fourteen transients were housed at the police station over the holiday, nine on Christmas Eve and five on Christmas night.

LOCAL MARKET IS SPARSELY ATTENDED

Farmers throughout the district apparently deemed they had sufficient marketing previous to Christmas and therefore observed to the fullest extent the holiday, only a single vendor of farm produce was present at the stands marketed in Belleville on Saturday, while three women constituted the meat contingent. One woman displayed a quantity of cream for sale while the other two offered butter and eggs for the few purchasing citizens who appeared in search of market goods. Butter was offered by the one woman at 30 cents per two pound roll, while two sold at 28, 30 and 35 cents the dozen according to the size and quality.

21 Days to Shop at the Rexall Store.

BRITEN with "BRITEN"

The new tooth paste

LARGE SIZE TUBE

29c

McKeown's DRUG STORE

WANTED

Seven young men of mechanical inclinations who realize the opportunities ahead in Refrigeration and Air Conditioning. Those selected will later be required to come to Toronto for special instructions given by well-known American manufacturer. Write Box 1, Intelligencer, stating age and previous education, to Supervisor 804, Toronto.

REV. AND MRS. DIXON HONORED WITH GIFT

Rev. Gaford and Mrs. Dixon were pleasantly surprised on the day before Christmas when Rev. Mr. Dixon was driven to Milford called on them at their residence, Wooler Street, by Hamilton Read, and presented them with an appreciative address from the pastor and all the congregations of the Milford pastoral charge together with a good money gift. Mr. Dixon left Milford charge last June after six years service as pastor there.

ROTARY WILL DISCUSS CITY MANAGER SYSTEM

A talk on the city manager system of civic government will be given at Belleville Rotary Club meeting Monday in Hotel Quinte by H. L. Britain, City Chief Research Bureau of Canada. Dr. Britain has made a deep study of all phases of civic government and is acknowledged as an authority on all matters relating to municipal administration.

Dr. Britain will give address a public meeting Monday evening in the City Hall on Municipal Administration under City Manager System.

Public Meeting

City Hall, Belleville

MONDAY, DEC. 28

BEGINNING at 8.00 p.m.

Addressed by

DR. HORACE L. BRITTAIN

of TORONTO

Director of Citizens' Research Bureau of Canada

who will speak on

"Municipal Administration Under the City Manager System"

EVERY CITIZEN INVITED

Obituary

MRS. FRANCES E. BUSH Funeral

Mrs Frances Ella Bush, widow of Robert Bush, passed away at the family residence in the 4th. concession of Sidney Township, near Frankford, on Christmas morning. Her illness was of a brief duration.

The late Mrs. Bush, who was in her 71st. year, was born in the 5th. concession of Thurlow township, her parents being the late Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bush. At an early age she took up residence in the 4th. concession of Sidney Township and during all her residence there she was most highly esteemed by all who knew her. In religion she was a member of the United Church at Frankford. The passing of Mrs. Bush came closely after the death of her sister, Mrs. Oliver Hough, in her 86th. year, which occurred at Detroit, Mich., on Wednesday, Dec. 23rd, and whose funeral took place from the Belleville Burial Company Parlors, Coe Hill, on Saturday afternoon. The funeral service, Rev. Mr. Bush will take place from the late residence Sunday afternoon.

Surviving her are six sons, Messrs. William Bush of the 4th. concession of Sidney Township; Harry Bush of the 4th. concession of Sidney Township; Gerald Bush of the 4th. concession of Sidney Township; Earl Bush of 2nd. concession of Sidney Township; Vernon Bush of the 4th. concession of Sidney Township; Keith Bush at the manse during Holy Communion included solos by Mrs. G. Clapp, Miss Violet Cater, Mr. Jack Fisher and Mr. Harold Davison, and a duet by Mr. T. W. Trunkell and Miss Alma Lafferty.

Father Macmillan Preaches.

Father Macmillan then preached an eloquent sermon on devotion to our Blessed Lord. He pointed out that our Divine Lord was not dead nor merely a figure in history, but he is alive and with us today, active in the world, active in the church and active in our souls. Father Macmillan strongly recommended the hearers to study our Blessed Lord's life, words and doings as recorded in the gospel. By careful reading of the gospel we learn that our Blessed Lord was a democratic leader, a man of the people. He was a workman, He knew the trials of the poor, having experienced hard work, shortage of money, appointment and sorrow.

Christ was a powerful leader; even as a helpless child in the crib He was still, as God, all powerful. As He hung on the cross suffering, apparently helpless, even then He was all powerful. Sometimes He let His power flash out in miracles, as on one week-end when he performed four miracles, the calming of the tempest, the curing of a possessed man, of the poor woman who touched the fringe of His cloak, and the raising of the daughter of Jairus from the dead. Thus in the space of a few hours He showed His power over nature, over the devil, over sickness, and over death. The same power was vested in Him at His Holy Communion.

Compassionate Leader.

He is a compassionate leader, never too hard on those who try to do their best, no matter how low they may have sunk. He receives all who come to Him, the friend who betrays and Him, the criminal executed at His side. All manner of sinners are received, found mercy and no one received a word of reproach.

Finally, He loves us, the most remarkable of all His miracles, for we know only too well that there is very little in us to love. Yet He loved us, proving His love by suffering and dying for us, for "greater love hath no man than to lay down his life for his friends."

Love begets love. There ought to be a return of love on our part. Words are not enough and our love ought to break out into deeds, action, service and sacrifice.

At the conclusion of the sermon Monsignor Nicholson expressed the wish that Christmas would bring peace and happiness to those present, to their families and all citizens of the fair city of Belleville.

As the congregation left the church, French Christmas carols were played by Mrs. Grant with violin obbligato by Mr. Ross Hunter.

GERMAN GOLF DATES

Cologne, Germany (CP)— Bad Ems has been chosen as course for the German golf championships next year, the amateur to be played Aug. 8-12, the open Aug. 14-15 and the women's championship Aug. 10-12.

WEEK OF PRAYER IN CITY CHURCH

Ministerial Association to Hold Services in St. Andrews

The annual Week of Prayer under the auspices of the Belleville Ministerial Association will be observed in the city from Monday, Jan. 4th to Friday Jan. 8th. Each meeting is held in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church opening at 8 P. M.

The program for the week is as follows:—

Mon. Jan. 4th — Services in charge of Rev. W. J. Walker, Rev. A. C. Sinclair. Subject, Christ and the Individual.

Tues. Jan. 5th.—Services conducted by Rev. Bert Howard and Rev. A. R. Payne. Subject, Christ and the Home.

Wed. Jan. 6th.—Service conducted by Rev. Harold Reid and Rev. Dr. Semple. Subject, Christ and the Church.

Thurs. Jan. 7th.—Services in charge of Rev. C.O. Wright, Rev. Robert Hall. Subject, Christ and National Life.

Friday, Jan. 8th—Services in charge of Rev. J. Walker, Bishop Marshall. Subject, Christ and the World.

ARTHUR FISHER IS BADLY HURT

Sustains Broken Ribs And Internal Injuries When Struck by Car

Arthur Fisher, 56, R. R. 4 Belleville, sustained several broken ribs and serious internal injuries, when struck by an automobile driven by Peter J. Brant, Desoronto, at the eastern limits of Belleville on Thursday evening. Fisher was immediately removed to the Belleville General Hospital where he was attended by Dr. Van Blaskie.

Motorcycle Patrolman Sam Ervine investigated and reported Fisher was walking along the highway about 5 p.m. when, in some unknown manner, he stepped in front of the oncoming Brant car, Mr. Brant swerved his vehicle to try and avoid striking the pedestrian but owing to the slippery condition of the highway the wheels could not grip the road in traction. Following examinations Dr. Blaskie announced Mr. Fisher's internal injuries were quite severe, but he was resting quietly today. No charges were laid against the driver of the vehicle, Traffic Officer Sam Ervine reported.

A London brewery truck bound for Montreal, turned over on the highway immediately west of the city limits yesterday, the contents of the vehicle being strewn about the highway. Traffic was disrupted practically all afternoon forcing Motorcycle Jack Whitty and Sam Ervine to re-route traffic for a considerable length of time. No injuries were sustained and only minor damage reported to the truck. The drivers with the assistance of a local battery of garagemen and tow truck righted the large transport and it continued its journey easterly.

MIDNIGHT MASS AT ST. MICHAELS

Church Crowded to Capacity With Monsignor Nicholson Celebrant

St. Michael's Church was thronged with parishioners and visitors on Christmas Eve when Solemn High Mass was celebrated at midnight. The sermon for the occasion was delivered by Father Macfadzean, S. J. of Regis College, Toronto, and a most inspiring one.

Preceding the celebration of Mass a procession of members of the Holy Angels' Sodality, singing very sweetly, fascinating hymns, moved from the crib in an artistically designed Bethlehem scene, before the Blessed Virgin's altar. At the conclusion of the procession Mr. R. Brown sang "Holy Night."

Rt. Rev. J. P. Nicholson, V.G., was celebrant at Solemn High Mass, assisted by Rev. C. B. Macfadden, and Rev. Father MacMahon as subdeacon. The altar was brilliantly decorated with flowers and candles.

The music was beautifully sung by St. Michael's choir under the direction of Mrs. James Grant with Miss Cornwall at the organ. The Mass chosen was "Stella Maris" for the Cornwall and choir was never heard to better advantage. Violin accompaniment by Mr. Ross Hunter added to the charm of the music. At the offertory a mixed quartet sang "Adeste Fideles" and the music during Holy Communion

Father Macmillan preached an eloquent sermon on devotion to our Blessed Lord. He pointed out that our Divine Lord was not dead nor merely a figure in history, but he is alive and with us today, active in the world, active in the church and active in our souls. Father Macmillan strongly recommended the hearers to study our Blessed Lord's life, words and doings as recorded in the gospel. By careful reading of the gospel we learn that our Blessed Lord was a democratic leader, a man of the people. He was a workman, He knew the trials of the poor, having experienced hard work, shortage of money, appointment and sorrow.

Christ was a powerful leader; even as a helpless child in the crib He was still, as God, all powerful. As He hung on the cross suffering, apparently helpless, even then He was all powerful. Sometimes He let His power flash out in miracles, as on one week-end when he performed four miracles, the calming of the tempest, the curing of a possessed man, of the poor woman who touched the fringe of His cloak, and the raising of the daughter of Jairus from the dead. Thus in the space of a few hours He showed His power over nature, over the devil, over sickness, and over death. The same power was vested in Him at His Holy Communion.

Compassionate Leader.

He is a compassionate leader, never too hard on those who try to do their best, no matter how low they may have sunk. He receives all who come to Him, the friend who betrays and Him, the criminal executed at His side. All manner of sinners are received, found mercy and no one received a word of reproach.

Finally, He loves us, the most remarkable of all His miracles, for we know only too well that there is very little in us to love. Yet He loved us, proving His love by suffering and dying for us, for "greater love hath no man than to lay down his life for his friends."

Love begets love. There ought to be a return of love on our part. Words are not enough and our love ought to break out into deeds, action, service and sacrifice.

At the conclusion of the sermon Monsignor Nicholson expressed the wish that Christmas would bring peace and happiness to those present, to their families and all citizens of the fair city of Belleville.

As the congregation left the church, French Christmas carols were played by Mrs. Grant with violin obbligato by Mr. Ross Hunter.

GERMAN GOLF DATES

Cologne, Germany (CP)— Bad Ems has been chosen as course for the German golf championships next year, the amateur to be played Aug. 8-12, the open Aug. 14-15 and the women's championship Aug. 10-12.

Your Christmas Cheque is an appropriate gift it enables you to make a deposit on a DELANEYS FUR COAT and as Delaneys Christmas Fur Sale continues until December 31st, the cheque saves you many dollars on a purchase.

DELANEY EXCLUSIVE FURRIERS

17 Campbell St. Established 32 Years Phone 797

MOTOR VEHICLES SLOWED TO WALK

Sleet Storm Quite General Over Eastern Part of Province

Transportation was slowed down to a walk over the holiday throughout Eastern Ontario, motorists driving their vehicles with caution while pedestrians in Belleville were seen walking the same way owing to the icy conditions of streets and sidewalks.

A number of motor accidents were reported in Belleville, only one of which was serious, however. Fender and body damage was the major damage reported as vehicles skidded into each other and bounced around like the proverbial rubber balls. A. C. Storms, Moscow View, and Joseph Wade, R.R. No. 7, Belleville, at different intervals on Christmas Eve, skidded on the slippery road and crashed into the guard rail fence on the bay bridge road. Five guard rail posts in all were broken, but no person sustained personal injuries.

The Public Works Department of the city of Belleville was pressed into service and all hills and dangerous intersections were sanded or had cinders strewn about to provide better traction. Geo. Oser, Ann Street, reported a hit and run driver on Christmas and in the vicinity of Station Street. A large truck struck a motor car driven by Mr. Oser and failed to remain at the scene of the accident.

The highway from Kingston to Belleville was reported to be in a very treacherous condition, though no major accidents were reported. Reports were to the effect that 14 cars were in the ditch between these two points, none resulting in personal injuries being reported to occupants. It took the Kingston-Belleville bus two hours and a half to make the scheduled trip last night, however.

The continued rains and rapid freezing caused the roads and highways to assume a glass-like slippery surface, that proved a handicap in the locomotion of motorists, the vehicles slipping and sliding sideways without the drivers being able to control their vehicles once the skidding went into effect. No fatalities were reported.

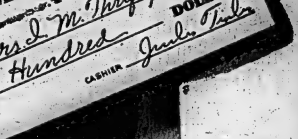
BOBBY LOCKE IN FORM

Johannesburg (CP)—Sports writers are predicting big things for Bobby Locke, young South African golfer. In a recent match on the Kensington course he went around in nine under par.

CAMISOLES COMING BACK

New York (CP)—Owing to sheerness of spring blouse materials, it is expected the camisole, or corset-cover, will be popular in 1937.

PLAYED WITH "W. G."



Cardiff, Wales (CP) — W. Graveney Coughlin, one of the few surviving cricketers who played with the immortal W. G. Grace, is dead here, aged 86. He was vice-president of the Glamorgan County Cricket Club.

SOCCER MEDALS STOLEN

Tottenham, England (CP)— W. Alsford, clever halfback with Tottenham Hotspurs in the English football league, second division, had all his soccer medals when thieves raided his home recently.

COMPETE IN AUSTRALIA

Sydney, Australia (CP)—Jack Metcalfe and Ralph Flanagan, United States Olympic swimmers, will compete in the Australian National championships here in January.

Feature
3.10
7.40
9.50

MORE TREATS
Smart Tuneful REVUE
in Technicolor.
BELLE LAYE NEWS PLAYERS.
Funny KARTUNE

STARTING TUESDAY

. . . The greatest motion picture triumph in the history of the Belle Theatre

Errol Flynn Olivia de Haviland

MAKE UP A PARTY!

HOLIDAY PRE-VIEW PRESENTATION

"BANJO ON MY KNEE"

A Comedy-Drama With Music.

THREE OTHER TREATS!

HATS! BALLOONS! NOISEMAKERS! FAVORS FOR ALL

CAPITOL

Two Great Shows

MONDAY & TUESDAY

BENNETT MARIE WILSON Present KOMOLKA

Heroic adventures of the Coast Guard

JOHN WAYNE

News — Cartoon — Novelty — Musical Comedy

CAPITOL

Interesting Pre-Christmas Concerts Held at Point Anne

Point Anne, Dec. 16—The Sunday School of St. John's Church held their annual Christmas concert on Monday evening, Dec. 21 in the church. The church looked lovely in its Christmas dress. The main part of the program was the story of Bethlehem in Scripture and song. The story was read from the Bible by George Hall, the reading interwoven the messages of Scripture carols were sung with Olive Hall presiding at the piano. The other pupils taking part were:

Mary: Dorothy Hall.
Joseph: Glenn Reid.
Shepherd: Sweeney and Iona Maracle in Action Song, "Away in a Manger."
Shepherds: Donald and Norman Green and Morris Vollick.
Angel: Dorothy Long.
Three Kings: Verne Green, Jack Bailey, Jean Green, Ruth and Allan Hall and Doris MacDonald sang, "We Three Kings of Orient Are."
The Bethlehem story was presented by recitations and a number of solos by members of the Sunday School. Following the program the pupils were rewarded with candy and treats.

Point Anne Public School

The principal Mr. H. O. Wallson and teachers Misses Kerr, Burke, Sproule and pupils of our school deserve great credit for the splendid way in which they rendered the concert held in the school on Monday, Dec. 23. The program was as follows:

Opening: Carols by the whole school.
Recitation: Jimmie Logue.
Song: "Merry Christmas Bells," Four girls (Primary room).
Exercise: Five Boys (Primary room).
Santa Claus Song: Children (Primary room).
Recitation: Leonard Scott.
Part Song: Girls (Primary).
Flag Drill: Boys (Primary).
Song: Five Children.
Dialogue: "Coming It," Nelson Burshaw, Carl Bolus.
Dialogue: Christopher Price Talks Hold." Girls of Senior room.
Solo: Stella Callaghan.
Piano Duet: Hilda Callaghan and Owen Bennett.
Song: Senior Girls.
Dialogue: Wealthy Goodman and Chris Reid.
Dialogue: Lawrence Mosher and Ruth Hall.
Cowboy Song: Deryl Hrank.
Recitation: Lillie Mills.
Song: "Little Jack Frost Was Busy."
Song: Allen Insley.
Dialogue: "Face Powder", Dorothy Wilson, Gordon Mosservey and Glen Reid.
Duet: Allen and Ruth Insley.
Recitation: Glen Reid.
Duet: Lillian Sager and Betty Dunlaop.
Recitation: Kenwood Green.
Song: "Old Christmas Time", Seven Little Misses (Primary room).
Tap Dance: Jessie Logue.
Recitation: Donald Hall.
Song: "It is Coming" Second Class.
Recitation: Jimmie MacKay.
Doll Lullaby: Second Class Girls.
Song: "Santa Claus is Coming to Town"-Second Class.
Doll Drill: Second Class.
Recitation: Part of Second Class.
Song: "Santa Claus Express," Whole Class.

On Monday afternoon each room had their treat and school is closed now until January 6th.

Unless Prevented

Mr. Harry Wagar was in his usual good form as chairman on Tuesday evening, when he presided over the capacity at the Christmas concert held in the United Church. The program was as follows:

Opening Chorus: The Sunday School, "Angels We Have Heard."
Chairman's Address.
Dialogue: Mildred and Nelson Burshaw.
Recitation: Keith Anderson.
Dialogue: Ruth MacDonald and Ella McConnell, "The Second Story."
Recitation: Miss Gladys Hill.
Carol: "Silent Night," Congregation.
Recitation: Miss Ethel Wakey.
Dialogue: Geneva Pringle, Wealthy Goodman, Ellen Insley, Geraldine Smith, Evelyn White-head, Betty Winters, "The New Scholar."
Recitation: Jimmie Logue.
Piano Solo: Rita Reid.
Dialogue: Keith Lloyd, Lawrence Redwood, Evelyn Whitehead, Ida McCormick, Betty Winters, Lorne Mosier, Wallace Anderson and Carl Bolus, "From Trade to Tourist."
Quartet: Misses Jennie, Violet, Gladys, Avalina Hill.
Recitation: Laura Sills.
Chorus: "Santa Claus Express," Dell Drill.
Recitation: Ralph Sedore.
Piano Duet: Misses Mabel and Gladys Hill.
Piano Duet: Betty Dorrister and Lillian Sager.
Recitation: Nelson Burshaw.
Chorus: "Santa Claus is Coming to Town."
Recitation: Lawrence Mosher.
Doll Lullaby.
Recitation: Sir Roy.
Piano Duet: Misses Hill.
Music Selection: Members, Snyder and Mitchell.
Song: Small Girls.
Recitation: Jimmie MacKay.

Following the distribution of gifts and candy, the National Anthem was sung and the gathering dispersed.

Centennial Assembly

Much credit is due Mrs. Leslie Wilson and assistants for the labor expended on the splendid concert which was held in the Orange Hall on Wednesday, Dec. 23. Program: Mabel Hill, pianist.

Opening Carol: "While Shepherds Watched Their Flocks."
Scripture Story: Miss Margaretta Sills.
Recitation: Phyllis Sweet.
Song: Primary Class "The Star Royal".
Recitation: Carl Howard.
Song: Five Girls.
Recitation: Mrs. De Rasha.
Star Drill: Miss Ellis' Class.
Piano Solo: Betty Dorrister.
Recitation: Verna Hill.
Chorus: Boys and Girls.
Recitation: Fay Howard.
Carol and Offering.
Dialogue: Three Girls.
Recitation: Laverne Sweet.
Song: Miss Ellis' Class.
Recitation: Hide Ryan.
Song: Three Boys, "Three Kings of Orient."
Solo: Miss Morgan.
Recitation: Edmond Ellis.
Letter Drill: Ten Children, "Jesus Saves."
Recitation: Miss Margaretta Sills.
Musical Selection: Misses Ellis and Wilson, Miss Margaretta Sills.
Recitation: Miss Wilson.
Recitation: Miss Edythe Insley.
Song: Mrs. Wilson's Class "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear."
Dialogue: Misses Hill.
Senator Jer. J. O. Kleinstuber, Pasiay.
Closing: "God Be With Us 'Til We Meet Again."
Prayer.

After the program the treat was distributed to the members of the Sunday School. Mrs. Wilson's offerings acted as chairman in a very capable manner.

Mr. and Mrs. Earle MacDonald and Kingston, are spending two weeks' holidays at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. MacDonald.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Insley of Trenton spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. William Insley's.

Mrs. Nelson Burshaw spent a few days last week at the home of Mr. Fred Alyea of Carrying Place.

Misses Mabel, Jennie, Violet and Gladys Hill and Mr. Bob Shannon spent a recent Sunday in Cobourg.

Mr. Elmo is wearing a broad smile. Its a daughter, Shirley Ann. Congratulations.

Little Miss Bella Brown of Trenton, is spending holidays with Mrs. Walter Hill.

JULIUS COHEN IS FREED BY JURY

Montreal, Dec. 24—(CP)—Declared innocent of one murder charge, Julius Cohen waited in fail today while crown officials considered the position of two other capital counts arising from the August 17 fire at the Montreal Island lithuanian home.

After his acquittal on the first charge last night, Crown Counsel Josef Jean Sabourin told the King's jury he would not suggest to Quebec's Attorney-General the other two be nolle prossed. There was no word on the proposal from Hon. Maurice Duplessis, Premier and Attorney-General.

Cohen's acquittal came at the end of the eighth day of his trial on the charge of murdering Fireman Francois Beaulieu, one of the three killed in the night fire. The verdict was brought into court amid tense silence by Foreman Percy Cohen and a group of rejoicing friends.

The portly, dark-eyed prisoner himself, lawyer Louis Philip H.C., on both cheeks, tears running unchecked, left the dock as friends raised in the dock as friends engulfed him in a joyful revival, and with the embracing still going on, he was ordered back to the cells.

The jury filed into the court-room just 25 minutes after the hearing of Chief Justice R. A. Greenshields. The jurymen filed in with their faces from the witness stand, though the prisoner made a dramatic protest, cries of innocence from the cells for three days before the trial's end.

Besides the murder charges, a charge of arson still remained against him today. The so-cover of the destroyed store, Rosario Vidal, also was charged with arson, but he was acquitted before Cohen's trial opened.

Madoc Sunday Schools Hold Christmas Concerts

Madoc—Trinity United Church Sunday School held their annual Christmas concert in the church auditorium with a fine attendance. Mr. Richard Wallace, superintendent, acted as chairman. The program commenced with a chorus, "Glory to God in the Highest." The primary class sang "Away in a Manger," Ethel Foster gave a song, and Jude Foster gave a song, and Jude Foster gave a recitation. Other recitations were: "Christmas Bells," Jean Fleming and Alma Gordon; Song, "Ten Little Sun Flowers"—members of Mrs Whytock's class; Recitation, "Mabel Hill's Prayer," Recitation, Jessie Jack; Song, Gladie Tunstill; Song, Sylvia Abbott Drill, members of Mrs. Broad's class; Tableau, by the senior and junior girls; The national anthem and the arrival of Santa Claus (Harold Foster). The Sunday School of St. Peters Sunday School Concert was held in the Parish Hall. The usual Presbyterian Christmas Tree Service, which

FRANKFORD

Franck Lodge Elects Officers

S. M. Nicolson is Worshipful Master For Coming Year

Frankford—At the regular meeting of Frank Lodge A. F. and A. M. No. 127 held on Monday night, December 21st, the following officers were elected for the year 1931:

W. M.—S. M. Nicolson.
I. P. M.—Perry Rowe.
J. W.—Harold Terry.
Treasurer—J. B. Ford.
Secretary—Geo. D. Wright.
Assistant Secretary—J. A. Stickle.
Chaplain—J. M. Hendrick.
T. O.—C. W. Dickson.
Tyler—Peter McKee.
Auditors—W. F. Ketcheson and O. E. Sine.

The installation will take place on Monday evening, December 28th.

The Frankford Public School Christmas Concert held on Tuesday afternoon, December 22nd, in the auditorium of the School was one of the best ever held and the citizens turned out in large numbers. Each Class was in attendance and there was a gift for everyone on the Sunday's second tree. The program was as follows:

Chorus: "Sing, Sing for the Holly" Second Class.
Recitation: "Welcome" — Donald Davis (Jr.).
Monologue: "Santa's Parley"—Hugh McPherson.
Musical Selection: Junior Rhythm Band (mostly Primary Class.
Address of Welcome—Councillor Freddy Spencer, Trenton.
Exercise: "The Guiding Star"—Five Second Class Boys.
Song: "French Dolls"—Third Class Girls.
Play: "The Christmas Crazy Card"—4 Second: 1 Third.
Chorus: "A Snowflake"—Junior Room.
Playlet: "Sister's Beau"—Third Class. Jean—Kathleen Conway; Douglas Miller; Mr. Endicott—Ernest Place.
Recitation: "A Conundrum"—Ronald Ketcheson (Second).
Song: "Merry Xmas Day"—Junior Room.
Exercise: "Merry's Stocking"—Jean Howard (Third).
Musical Recitation: "Topsy Turvy"—Twelve Pupils of Third Class.
Play: "Sprite Hawley's Christmas"—Fourth Class. Sprite Hawley—Jack Lord; Mrs. Hawley—Joan Munn; Nora Hawley—Phyllis Davis; Bridget—Jean Ketcheson; Kate Hawley—Betty Waddell; Rev. Williams—Harry Terry; Mrs. Green—Mary Hector; Jennie Bass—Corinne Lawrence; Ben Bass—Lorne Mosier.
Recitation: "A Little Boy's Lament"—Vincent Murray (Third).
Play: Recitation: "Timothy's Corner"—Third Class. Jimmy Corner—Harold Terry; Peter Brent—Ingbill—Leo Murphy; Rex Brent—Donald Tripp; Simon Pinkerton—Jack Conway; John Weddell—Nate Green—Ernest Hurley; Mrs. Johnson—Jean Ketcheson; Bob Stebbins—Muriel Courtney; Penny Post—Kenneth Edwards; Police Officer—Marjorie Green; Polly Pry—Erma Smith; Mrs. Pinkerton—Mary Hector.
Exercise: "The Christmas Month" Fourth Class.
God Save the King.

Mr. W. L. Simmons is home from Toronto for the holidays.

Miss Marybelle Rogers of Stirling is spending the holidays at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rogers.

Mr. J. M. Bell is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Bell of Campbellford.

Mr. and Mrs. George Pollard, Jr., of Madoc, were visitors in the village on Monday.

The teaching staff of the Continuation and Public Schools have left for their holidays. Miss A. Harpell is at her home in Fort Stewart; Mr. and Mrs. Landon will spend their vacation around Perth.

Miss Townsend left on Wednesday morning for her home in Campbellford.

Miss G. Pryce and Miss L. Broatch are with their parents at Brighton and Hillier.

Mrs. Claude Wyatt is a patient in Belleville General Hospital.

Cecil Reid, while hunting last week, along with C. Devon, C. D. Powell and W. Foster, shot a twelve-pound jack rabbit. They were hunting on the Wellman farm which is about three miles from Frankford.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Sprague spent Christmas in Toronto.

Mrs. Geo. Rogers of Peterboro spent a few days in town last week.

Mrs. Brock Thompson of Bowmanville, was the guest of Miss Kathleen Macaulay for a few days last week.

The following were winners of proficiency prizes awarded at the close of the Home Economics and Agriculture Course which has been operating for the past month in the Community Hall. Prizes in clothing presented by Miss Scott to Miss Eleanor MacKenzie; prize in Household Science presented by Mrs. Zavitz to Miss Mary Rose Corrigan. Boys presented with chee pins by Reeve D. R. Ketcheson were: Don McLaren, Donald Gordon, Ivan Vanderwan, Herman Crowe, Harold Mayhos, Ernest Carr, Ed McDonald and Harold Conley.

REVENUE IS UP IN POSTAL DEPT.

$40,309,000 Handled During Year An Increase of $1,708,000

Ottawa, Dec. 24.—(CP)—An increase of $1,708,000 in the gross revenue of the Post Office Department for the 12 months ending November 30 was announced today by Hon. J. S. Elliott, Postmaster General.

The year's total of $40,309,000 was given credit to the largest revenue years, he said, and a fair barometer of the improvement in business of all kinds during the year.

That figure compared to $38,601,-000 for the preceding 12 months. The November total was $3,346,000 against $3,344,000 for November 1929.

A detailed statement of the 12 months ending November 30 shows $27,712,000 accounted for by the sale of stamps, stamped envelopes and postcards, another $9,741,000 is listed as postage paid in cash.

The sum of $2,770,000 from mail put through postage meter machines, $2,324,000 from drop letters, $1,767,000 from newspapers mailed by publishers, $1,000,000 from third class ("printed matter), and $32,731 from gold bullion.

Postage paid on money order and postal notes have become an increasingly important item for the postal revenue. Money orders alone brought in $1,000,000 and postal notes $906,000 from postal notes.

Postage paid on parcels coming into Canada from other countries provided $417,540 more, most of this coming from the United States. Ultimately balanced against this is $90,000 paid for postage on parcels sent other countries.

For carrying correspondence of Canada's overseas forces, or part of it, en route to still other countries, the department received $189,000.

STALLED TRUCK IS HIT BY BUS

Eight Passengers And Driver More or Less Injured

Windsor, Ont., Dec. 24 (CP)—Eight passengers and the driver of a Windsor-bound bus were more or less injured today when the bus rammed the rear end of a Pere Marquette express truck on No. 2 highway a quarter mile east of Pillette Road. All those in the bus were taken to the Windsor Hotel-Dieu for emergency ambulance and private autos to hospitals.

Mrs. Annie Brown, 69, of (55 Pearl Street South) Hamilton, appeared to be the most seriously injured of the passengers. She was suffering head injuries but her condition was reported conscious. The driver, Alfred Barnier, 27, of Windsor, was also badly injured, suffering from lacerations about the face, shock and leg injuries.

The bus was driven north from London as a second section, to accommodate the Christmas week traffic of folk who were homeward bound for Christmas. It was the first trip on the pass-engers had boarded the bus at Thamesville, leaving that in which they had travelled from Toronto and his homeward journey to Farndale, Mich.

The stalled Talbodeau was was composed of a tractor, trailer and semi-trailer. The driver explained his stop by saying he had been driving about 50 feet in length and 30 miles with steering gear trouble. It had pulled up on the highway because of motor trouble.

Many of those taken to hospital were found suffering comparatively slight cuts and abrasions and it was believed possible several will be able to leave after a few hours' treatment. Mrs. Brown and Barnier, however, were under observation pending efforts to determine the full extent of their injuries.

SERVING MOOSE STEAK IN JAIL

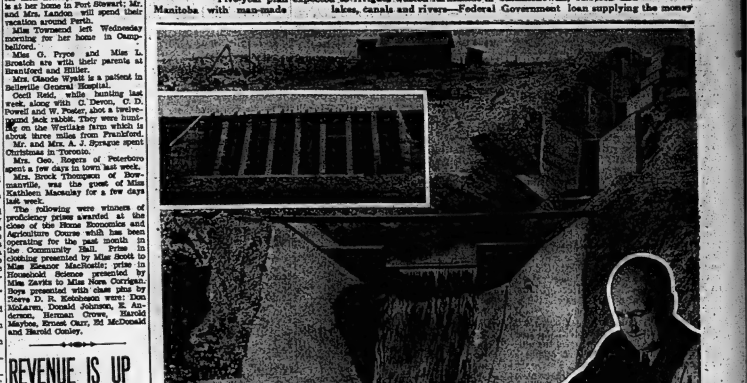
Men In Lock-up Enjoy Unusual Meal

MONCTON, N.B. (CP)— They serve moose-steak to prisoners in the city jail here—if the prisoners like that meat that the chef is the cooking.

A Moncton resident returned from a hunting trip with three pounds of meaty venison. His wife refused to cook it for him on the ground he was drunk, and he left home, still clutching the venison. Later he confronted a short time later agreed with the wife's diagnosis of his condition and he landed in the cells.

The following morning, a sober man, he remembered the meat and, accordingly at his three pounds of moose steak, he presented the remainder with him in his plight, a fellow-prisoner volunteered to act as cook and everybody joined in the celebration.

SS RIVER TRIPS



North Sydney (CP) — Captain Clibborne of the coal-carrying steamer Lord Strathcona, who has retired and is returning to his home in England, has made 825 trips on the St. Lawrence River with Cape Breton coal.

FOX MEN'S ANNUAL

Charlottetown, (CP)—Directors of the Canadian National Silver Fox Breeders' Association will hold their annual meeting here January 20th. Eighteen board members are from Prince Edward Island and serve represent other provinces in the Dominion.

Prairies Waging War on Drought

Five-year plan expected to irrigate wasted farmlands in Saskatchewan, Alberta and Manitoba with man-made lakes, canals and rivers—Federal Government loan supplying the money

The type of irrigation canal which the United States Government has found invaluable in turning desert-like wastes in central Oregon into farmland capable of supporting new communities, is shown above. ABOVE is the LIFT: Is W. L. Jacobson of Regina, secretary of the Saskatchewan Water Development Committee and one of the front line men in Canada's battle against drought in the prairie provinces. The new dam at Val Marie, Sask., part of the committee's development and which is expected will irrigate 6,000 acres or dry land, is seen in-set.

By Terry Rowe
Central Press Canadian Correspondent

Regina, Dec. 26.—Three Canadian provinces in a few months will enter the third year of what is probably the greatest peace-time combat the Dominion of Canada ever has waged.

The provinces—Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

The war—a battle against drought. And as all Canada contributes one way or another to the prairie provinces, designed to rescue disaster-facing thousands who have failed in the past few years to wrest even bare sustenance from the land, the Dominion's five-year plan is beginning to show results.

Winter snows are filling man-made reservoirs often a life-giving moisture for parched lands. Drought-ridden farmers in southern sections of the battlefield are looking forward with renewed optimism to the time when they can secure abundant crops and prosperity.

Have $5,000,000 From Ottawa

In Regina, centre of the area handled by the Dominion's staff of engineers, draftsmen, agricultural experts, hydrologists and land surveyors is studying and planning further methods of prevention, including more extensive moisture and restoring strength and body to dried-out farm lands.

Supporting this staff is a $5,000,000 federal grant, drawn up under the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act. Assisting are universally soil and technical agricultural experts and officials of federal and provincial governments.

Already about $1,560,000 has been spent and on the prairies today are deep dugouts, stock-watering dams and large concrete and steel dam ramparts that will dam up surface waters in the spring and create artificial lakes where often there were dried-out ravines and sloughs.

More than 1,000 "small" projects will have been completed when the season ends, rehabilitation officials estimate. Other measures include schemes such as small dams across ravines and coulees, irrigation ditches dug into sloughs and prairie "sinks", and ploughs designed to collect snow water on individual farms.

Must Provide Fodder

Experts decided their first step in the drought battle lay in providing fodder for livestock. Hence the man-made reservoirs. If the farmer has livestock, he can live and above keep himself provided with necessaries. Many will be able to survive drought years and stay on the land until irrigating's experts say. It follows that governments must have to spend practically nothing as on relief, but as a loan. Hence the heavy burden of relief would be partially lifted.

In Saskatchewan more than 500 minor irrigation schemes are either under way or have been completed. They provide moisture for five to 100 acres of land. Manitoba and Alberta farm dugouts completed and already about 200. Direct financial assistance for these will exceed $100,000, based on an allowance of 25 cents per cubic foot of earth excavated, 24 cents for rock excavated, or utilised and 300 per cent. "coverage" for all other materials used.

At Val Marie, Sask., is one of the most extensive major projects undertaken. It is a dam 3,900 feet long and 30 feet high with a cement spillway 100 feet wide. Six eight heavy cement and steel flood gates are each 10 feet wide. The dam has a storage capacity designed to irrigate 6,000 acres of land. Its total cost will be at least $130,000.

Create Artificial Lake

When it fills with water it will create a valley lake three miles long and a mile wide. The lake, fed by depleted waters of the Frenchman river, and moisture drained in spring from surrounding hills and coulees, a criss-cross of ditches will carry water to fodder fields. Some of it will travel 14 miles through irrigation ditches.

Another major effort is at Eastend, Sask., where a $75,000 dam is being built to irrigate 3,500 acres of wind-blown soil. It is in what is called the official call the Maple Creek district. Thirty miles from the Saskatchewan-Alberta border, whose surrounding district in 1928 reached 2,500,000 bushels of wheat and in 1926 sold an estimated 30,000.

While drought-relief measures progress, however, their action is retarded in part by a vast migratory movement which has swept the prairies in its grip. Government officials are watching the problem, but farm families continue to join the trek to greener districts.

Thousands—approximately enough to populate an average-sized prairie city—have deserted their farms. Behind them they have left crumbling buildings, rusting farm implements, mortgages and dried-out wells. This land quickly turns to a wind-swept, thistle-covered acreage that makes rehabilitation efforts all the more difficult.

Many Farms Vacant

Figures from the 1926 census, for instance, show that Dauphin, Manitoba, district has 1,251 vacant or abandoned farms in a total of 4,-304 that are occupied; Kindersley, Sask., area has 1,266 unoccupied farms out of 7,196 occupied, and in Vegreville district, Alberta, 318 farms among 4,626 that are still supporting agriculturists.

The migration, in some instances has been approved and even recommended by agricultural experts who believe the lands in dried-out areas should be abandoned and used as pasture lands. Particularly, government departments of agriculture have vigorously opposed the movement, pointing to the fact that during drought periods are rarely rent. The farmer in these regions, they claim, should store up reserves for lean years.

Though relief problems grow and the drought area is spreading in many areas, officials are optimistic concerning the five-year plan will not only defeat the present dry spell but will also provide safeguards against recurrent, devastating periods. When will "good times" return? As soon as the prairies again receive the abundant moisture of pre-drought years say the optimists.

In the meantime they're fighting on, and Sir Bangalore Jones of Manitoba knows he will have faith.

INDIA DEBATES BIRTH CONTROL

Women's Conference Hears Indian Opposition to Birth Control Subjects

LONDON (CP)—The women's editor of "Overseas" writes:

One of the main problems in India, as we all know is connected with social progress and development, is the fact of the rapidly-increasing population. No organization or group of workers is able to catch up and get level with this problem.

It is all the more significant therefore that birth control is one of the subjects that received attention at the recent meeting of the All-India Women's Conference held in Travancore a few months ago. It proved the most controversial topic of the whole session, but there was little opposition on religious grounds from either Hindus or Mohammedan delegates.

The report of the All-India Women's Conference makes good interesting reading, and the dissatisfaction with the present standard qualifications for women in India works echoes of suffragette days here in the Old Country, when we were protesting against our political position. These days women are not, in point of fact, of course, our "freedom" is of such origin and quality that we cannot fail to sympathize with Indian women in their fight for satisfactory conditions.

DRAGGED RIVER FOR DUMMY MAN

Police Fail to See Funny Side of Latest New Glasgow Practical Joke

NEW GLASGOW, N.S. (CP) — New Glasgow police and residents of the town have visions of this latest fad in practical jokes.

It all started early in the evening when Clifford Cameron of nearby Stellarton came to a friend's home and told him that Bridge-and plunge drowned out of sight. A search was instituted.

Police were called, a crowd collected and for two hours the river was dragged. Finally the body was searched for the body—but the body could not be found.

Then a policeman on the bank looked up in the dim light and saw the form hanging from the bottom of the bridge. Verdict of suicide by drowning changed quickly to suicide by hanging.

The key to the joke was that when the "body" was hauled back over the rail of the bridge. The body was a large can, loose, a wooden frame covered by an old coat, the legs a pair of trousers. Behind them they have left crumbling buildings, rusting farm implements, mortgages and dried-out wells. This land quickly turns to a wind-swept, thistle-covered acreage that makes rehabilitation efforts all the more difficult.

Many Farms Vacant

Figures from the 1926 census, for instance, show that Dauphin, Manitoba, district has 1,251 vacant or abandoned farms in a total of 4,-304 that are occupied; Kindersley, Sask., area has 1,266 unoccupied farms out of 7,196 occupied, and in Vegreville district, Alberta, 318 farms among 4,626 that are still supporting agriculturists.

The migration, in some instances has been approved and even recommended by agricultural experts who believe the lands in dried-out areas should be abandoned and used as pasture lands. Particularly, government departments of agriculture have vigorously opposed the movement, pointing to the fact that during drought periods are rarely rent. The farmer in these regions, they claim, should store up reserves for lean years.

Though relief problems grow and the drought area is spreading in many areas, officials are optimistic concerning the five-year plan will not only defeat the present dry spell but will also provide safeguards against recurrent, devastating periods. When will "good times" return? As soon as the prairies again receive the abundant moisture of pre-drought years say the optimists.

In the meantime they're fighting on, and Sir Bangalore Jones of Manitoba knows he will have faith.

"GRANDPAS TO SHOW FOOTBALL PROWESS

Ancients Driving Kinks from Legs That Haven't Kicked a Ball in Years

LONDON (CP)—Loud will be the cheers as "grandpa," goes puffing down the wing or limping through the centre with the ball at the feet of grandfathers—yes, and some great-grandfathers, too—in a game shortly. It is not known if major league clubs will "scout" the game.

The Dockland Settlement and Malvern College Mission teams in the Poplar Town are making ready for the game, which will be played on Christmas Day.

The best to ignore what was said when the "body" was hauled back over the rail of the bridge. The body was a large can, loose, a wooden frame covered by an old coat, the legs a pair of trousers.

Behind them they have left crumbling buildings, rusting farm implements, mortgages and dried-out wells. This land quickly turns to a wind-swept, thistle-covered acreage that makes rehabilitation efforts all the more difficult.

Many Farms Vacant

Figures from the 1926 census, for instance, show that Dauphin, Manitoba, district has 1,251 vacant or abandoned farms in a total of 4,-304 that are occupied; Kindersley, Sask., area has 1,266 unoccupied farms out of 7,196 occupied, and in Vegreville district, Alberta, 318 farms among 4,626 that are still supporting agriculturists.

The migration, in some instances has been approved and even recommended by agricultural experts who believe the lands in dried-out areas should be abandoned and used as pasture lands. Particularly, government departments of agriculture have vigorously opposed the movement, pointing to the fact that during drought periods are rarely rent. The farmer in these regions, they claim, should store up reserves for lean years.

Though relief problems grow and the drought area is spreading in many areas, officials are optimistic concerning the five-year plan will not only defeat the present dry spell but will also provide safeguards against recurrent, devastating periods. When will "good times" return? As soon as the prairies again receive the abundant moisture of pre-drought years say the optimists.

In the meantime they're fighting on, and Sir Bangalore Jones of Manitoba knows he will have faith.

THE ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER

THE DAILY ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER is published every afternoon (Sunday and holidays excepted) at The Ontario Intelligencer Building, 186 Front Street, Belleville.

W. H. MORTON, PUBLISHER

PEACE OR STRIFE

While the Christian world was celebrating one of its two greatest festivals; the Birth of Christ, known to the world as The Prince of Peace, will all the richness of the Gospel inspiration and the enrichments of the forms of celebration which have grown up in the nineteen centuries since that memorable event, serious thought was being given by diplomats to the international situation in Europe over intervention in Spain with a direct notification to the German Chancellor Adolf Hitler that the forwarding of an expedition to Spain to assist the rebels would be considered by Britain and France as a grave act which might have dire complications. Early today nothing as yet had come from Hitler's retreat where he has been for the past few days, as to what his stand will be. Some entertain fears that there may be a sudden coup, while others look to the economic situation as a deterrent, particularly as Hitler might prefer the offer of economic assistance at a time of raw material and food shortage in the Reich.

There the situation stands. Germany it is said is virtually in the dark that the fate of the Reich and Europe rests with the next few hours and that the decision of peace or war may be for Hitler to say.

It is the fate of dictators that they have not the benefit of general advice such as democracy has. Hitler is said to have been running counter to the attitude of the German military staff which has seen opposed his idea of sending German divisions into Spain to help General Franco because Germany is not ready for war. But the final decision rests on Hitler, not on the multitude of counsel as with the German and French governments. That there is the fate too that a dictator may not see wisely, great as may be the initial strength in the dictatorship. If a dictator sees danger of loss of power to himself he may do something to embroil others and take up the attention of the people.

Meanwhile there is hope that Hitler will see the risk of precipitating an explosion of the nations if he sends troops to aid Fascism, for it would likely mean war.

Such thoughts the Christian world would banish at this season but international entanglements do not regard the wishes of the people. Meanwhile there is the hope that the situation will solve itself with refusal of Hitler to agree to the appeal of General Franco for help.

CHRISTMAS IN SPAIN

Poor Spain, rent with war horrors, spent Christmas in a state of terrorism which is the very antithesis of the principle embodied in the Christmas glad tidings to men of goodwill. Such a reign of hate grips that land that it seems to have exceeded in horrors any internecine wars of the past, because two groups of thought are involved. Yet in spite of these the Spaniards will deserve a better fate would no doubt have gladly turned from war thoughts could they have been able at this season.

In their own way in keeping with the demands of the times of terror, no doubt Christmas was celebrated by many in Spain.

WEEK OF ELECTION CAMPAIGN

Next week Belleville will have an election on its hands. Nominations on Monday will start the busiest week for aspirants for office and the supporters of various proposals which will come before the voters for decision.

In the past the election has for years taken place a month earlier than it will this year but this year's date is no guide for future years in all likelihood the first Monday in December will in 1937 and henceforth be the voting date, as this clears the elections off the calendar before the rush of the Christmas season.

A HEALTHY SIGN

The amount of travel on the railways this season has been very large. Trains ran in sections to carry the large crowds of those travelling from one place to another for the great festivities. This is a healthy sign that the recovery has made good progress. It indicates the same tendency as the increased sales reported by companies and businesses during the past few weeks.

SANTA IS DEFENDED

Michigan City, Indiana, parents have declared war on teachers who spoke in a way said to have destroyed the faith of scholars in Santa Claus. The parents have shown no hesitation in saying what they think of those who for the pure imagination with which the Santa Claus thought is developed in the child's mind have given the children the crude stone of a fact which is not a fact at all, because there is a Santa spirit throughout that part of the world which treasures Santa. Modernist Gazette declares that such intellectual teachers ought to return all the gifts they have received from children.

SIDELIGHTS

THE HOME FORUM

Discussing the events of the day, home people and general news topics as revealed by the home newspaper, under the evening lamp—and sometimes Grave and Gay. — Supervised by The Lamplighter

BELLS ACROSS THE SNOW

When winter rules with rigor our wide
Canadian land,
And summer yields the sceptre to his all-conquering hand;
When nothing but a world of white is seen
where-or we go,
We still have something to atone—the bells across the snow. .

Tho' voiceless is the streamlet, and no more the robins sing
To give us hope and courage—dear harbingers of spring!
Although the storm clouds gather, and tempests round us blow,
Above the din we hear again—the bells across the snow.

We hear their merry music through the city's rush and roar,
Their pealing cheers the lonely road along the pine-clad shore,
And the aged, sitting dreaming, by the firelight's ruddy glow,
Catch echoes of the days gone by, in—the bells across the snow.

—Helen B. Anderson

* * *

VOTERS WILL HAVE AN ALL DAY JOB with the many ballots in Belleville coming municipal election, possibly ten. First the voter will be asked his opinion on the advisability of forming a utilities commission, which will combine electric, water and gas under one management, but will not fuse the funds as some folks think. Another ballot calls for an opinion on the advisability of a City Manager form of government for Belleville. Still another ballot deals with the proposal of a civic grant to the band. Another ballot suggests the advisability of a smaller council, numerically, and another ballot applies the shrinking treatment to the Board of Education which has been working along under the old fashioned ward system with a small army of representatives. The proposed sale of the gas plant may or may not be voted upon according to the state the negotiations are in when voting day arrives. Then there will be a ballot for Mayor, also for Councillors, another for the Hydro Electric Commission and possibly one or more for Public School Trustee.

* * *

ALEXANDER WOOLLCOTT, ERSTWHILE "TOWN CRIER" OF THE AIR WAVES capitalized upon his reputation as a journalist and author by permitting thousands of form letters to be sent through the mails urging people in the United States to give Seagram's Pedigree Whiskey for Christmas. And so the "Town Crier" solved the problem of his own Christmas liquor.

* * *

'TWAS THE DAY AFTER CHRISTMAS AND ALL THROUGH THE HOUSE very little was stirring—everybody had that surfeited feeling which follows the feast—but enough was left, more, perhaps, of everything, and leaning back on pleasant memories of glorious meals, fine fellowship and the meeting of old friends which always distinguishes the Christmas season, just a few days ago we were thinking with amazement that Christmas was very near, now we realize that Christmas is very far away, so far in the distance as not to be worth more than a passing thought. Much may happen before another Christmas but let us hope and pray that the good will outweigh the evil and that right and justice to all will be the prevailing motif of life during the coming year. Christmas has done us all good. If there were any unreconstructed Old Scrooges they were driven into hiding and all enjoyed the blessings which only the Christmas Spirit of giving can bring. God Bless us all every one.

* * *

GOVERNOR ALF LANDON OF KANSAS, Republican candidate for President of the U.S.A., was a recent guest of President Roosevelt at the White House. Newspaper men were curious to know what the two presidential antagonists talked about, but all the information they got was that the conversation was mainly about fishing and children. Big men do not nurse ill feeling. They know that Roosevelt the popular idol of today may be the Forgotten Man of tomorrow—while Alf Landon, when the cycle turns again may be the preferred man, idol of the masses.

* * *

THE CAD

Bill—"What has happened to George he is not in the nudists' camp now?"

Harry—"He got expelled for having

FAILING ENGINE GIVEN AS CAUSE

Six Killed All Officials And Employees of Air Line

Dallas, Tex., Dec. 24 (AP)—A failing right engine after "interference by two other planes" in an attempted landing was advanced today by Braniff airline officials as possible explanation for the crash of their twin-motored ship which killed six occupants yesterday.

Victims of the test flight were all officials and employees of the line.

The ship fell and burst into flames in a corn field near Love Field, municipal airport.

Dead victims were Tom Walbridge, 38, operations manager; Sterling Perry, 37, maintenance superintendent; W. T. Chambers, 34, crew chief and Pascal Pierron, 30, Hubert Deane, 26, and Fred Sleeper 38, mechanics.

The charred bodies were removed after firemen used chemicals to quench the blaze.

Joe Mason, cement worker, witnessed the crash from a nearby building project. He ran to the burning wreckage in time to hear a man pleading:

"My God, Mister, please pull me out—I'm burning to death."

"I grabbed his belt and tugged," Mason said, "but he was caught at the knees. I heard another man back in the cabin groaning. Four of the men must have been killed instantly."

Little Benny's Note Book

THE WEAKLY NEWS

Weather. Ladies with nothing on their chest but skin looking as warm as everybody elts.

RUSSETTY PACES

Mr. Skinny Martin is trying to increase his weight by sleeping every chance he gets, such as between shakings when his father tries to get him up in the morning, while Mr. Sid Simkins is trying to reduce by not eating anything more solid than froot and lettuce between meals.

INTRESTING FACES ABOUT INTRESTING PEOPLE

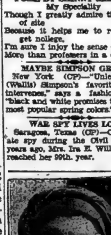
Grasce Magee has a nervise habbit of pushing the pushers of chewing gum slot machines when he goes pass them, without axtally expecting anything to come out free of charge, and so far he has never been disappointed.

Leroy Shooster has a uncle who can make his voice sound as if it's coming from the next room or down the celler, but outside of that he's kind of dum.

Shorty Judge is the shortest fellow around, but he can use the longest.

SONG BY SKINNY MARTIN

My Speciality



Though I greatly admire the sense of olls
Because it helps me to reed and get rolleys,
I'm sure I injoy the sense of taist More than professors in a college.

MAYBE SIMPSON GREEN

New York (CP)—"Unless Mrs. (Wallis) Simpson's favorite green intervenes," says a fashion note, "black and white promises to be the most popular spring colors."

WAR SPY LIVES LONG

Saragosa, Texas (CP)—Confederate spy during the Civil War, 70 years ago, Mrs. Ira E. Williams has reached her 90th year.

COST ONE LIFE

Mrs. William H. Hardness, Jr., shown as she arrived in San Francisco from China, with a baby panda, a bear-like animal she captured near the border of Tibet. Mrs. Hardness traveled almost 600 miles to get it, and when she attempted to take it from the country Chinese authorities were asked $1,000 in order to get it out of China. Finally they relented and Mrs. Hardness who believes the panda to be the only one ever captured alive in Western Asia, plans to present it to the Bronx Zoo in New York. Mrs. Hardness' husband died in China last spring while searching for specimens.

LOOKING BACKWARD

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

December 26, 1916.

There will be no municipal election in Belleville for the year 1917, the council having been elected by acclamation. This is the first time in many years that there has not been a contest for municipal honors. On nomination day Mayor Ketcheson and the retiring members of the school board were elected by acclamation. Twenty-eight were nominated for aldermen, but only nine qualified which is the required number to form the council. Seven members of the year's council qualified, namely, Aldermen Woodley, Smith, Deacon, Flaxh, St. Charles, Whalen and Parks. The two new members are ex-Aldermen Hanley, Dr. O. A. Marshall and A. Robinson.

Mr. E. Kidd of the Ritchie Company spent Christmas at Peterborough.

Messrs. W. R. Wims and J. P. Wims of Montreal spent Christmas here.

Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Wotten spent Christmas with his parents at Peterborough.

Miss Anna Allore of Deseronto spent Christmas here with friends.

Mr. Arthur Wessels, wife and family of Rochester, N.Y., are spending the Christmas holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Wessels, Lewis street.

30 YEARS AGO

December 26, 1906.

Mr. Charles Good of Toronto, formerly of Belleville, spent Christmas with friends in the city.

Mr. Harvey Harte of Madoc spent Christmas Day here.

Mr. William Wallbridge, barrister, Toronto, spent Christmas here with relatives.

Mr. Arthur Lingham was home from Montreal to spend Christmas.

Mr. Fred Foster of Chicago is spending the Christmas holidays here with relatives.

Mr. Fred Duckworth of Toronto and Belleville boy, spent Christmas here with relatives.

Mr. James J. Langley of Niagara Falls, N.Y., formerly of Belleville, is here to spend the holidays.

Messrs. Charles and Edward Hubbard of Toronto are visiting their parents here.

Miss "Jane" Spangenberg was home from Toronto to spend Christmas with her parents.

Miss Mary Macdonald and Mr. James Macdonald of Montreal, formerly of Belleville, spent Christmas with relatives here.

Mr. J. Craig of Kingston is the guest of Mr. "Jack" Maclean at Queen Alexandra's Manse, George Street.

Mr. A. McAllister, Collector of Indian Revenue here, spent Christmas Day with relatives at Odessa.

Mr. J. G. Hampton of Deseronto spent Christmas Day with his father and relatives at their home on Foster Avenue.

Messrs. Leo and Lester Riggs are home from Woodstock College to spend the Christmas vacation.

Messrs. Ben. Day and W. C. McLean are home from Montreal to spend the Christmas vacation.

Mr John Martin of the Post Office Department, Ottawa, is here to spend Christmas at his old home.

50 YEARS AGO

Dec. 26th, 1886

Ice rinks are drawing large

Miss Nellie Clute, the Cricket, driven ashore by an 80-mile gale, Marooned on Guadalupe Island, 200 miles south of San Diego, Calif., in the 81-foot cruiser of Film Cameraman William Disle, the rescued from the craft by a tuna-fishing boat detachment. The Cricket, insured for $24,000, was a total loss.

SIX RESCUED FROM YACHT WRECKED BY 80-MILE-HOUR GALE

and the rescued were returned to San Diego by coast guard cutter, their fishing cruise rudely interrupted.

—Central Press Canadian Photo.

skirmish of skaters.

Mr. George Vib Cole grocery at Carrington was damaged by fire yesterday.

Good ice skating at Vermilyea's pond. Come this evening and enjoy yourself.

All instruments belonging to the 12th Battalion Band are to be returned into store at City Pavilion on or before Jan. 1st.

Christmas Day, as far as the weather was concerned, was all that could be desired; clear and crisp as a new bank note. Services were held in the Anglican Church, St. Michael's Church and Bridge Street Methodist Church. The roads are not of the best for sleighing, yet quite a number of citizens availed themselves of the holiday and engaged livery outfits to enjoy a spin in the country, others skated. Nearly family re-unions and merry making brightened and cheered many homes.

BUTTONS GO NUTTY

New York (CP)—Peach stones, nuts and acorns, as well as shells of all descriptions, are among newer notes in dress and coat buttons.

Personals

Mrs. Cathcart Doyle, Metro. St. Jr., spent Christmas with her son, Leo D. Doyle, of Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Miles, of Detroit, are spending the holiday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ackerman.

Miss Charlotte Dickerson, Brockville, is spending the Christmas holiday with her sister, Mrs. A. G. Davis, 343 Metro. St. Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Miles, of Detroit, Que., are spending the holiday with Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Moore, Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Boyce of Adolescent, Mrs. Boyce and Mrs. Smith's Falls, and Miss A. Gray were Christmas guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Mumby, Metro. St. Jr.

Miss Aletha Chapman of Windsor, is spending the holidays with her parents.

Lieut.-Col. and Mrs. E. Grebble spent Christmas at Oshawa, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dingle.

Dr. and Mrs. S. Richardson, Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. C. Richardson, Oriental, and Mrs. R. Mumby, Metro. St., Tweed, spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Morton, 91 Victoria Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen Herrity and Mr. Myron Herrity spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Percy Herrity, at Moira.

Mr. Roy Black of Lindsay spent Christmas with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Black, 24 Hillside Ave.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd and family, of Lindsay, visited their parents on Chebucto Street over the holiday.

Mr. Wm. Donahue is very ill at his home on Church Street.

Miss Laura Hodges of Toronto, is spending the Christmas holidays at her home, Metro. St.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Sleeter of Toronto are spending their Christmas holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sleeter, Front St.

Mr. and Mrs. John Walbridge, Windsor, are spending the Christmas holidays at the home of the former's father, Mr. Arthur R. Wallbridge, Queen Street.

Mr. Medina of Windsor is spending the Christmas holiday at his home, George Street.

Mr. Ralph Ashton, Detroit, is spending the holiday week-end at his home here.

Mr. Arthur Gross, of Toronto, is spending the holiday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Gross, Cedar Street.

Christmas guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Bailey, Donald Street, included: Mr. and Mrs. Orbon Bailey and family, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bailey and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bailey and family, of Tweedsmuir Mr. and Mrs. Bert Bailey, of Madoc, and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Bailey and family of Lake.

Friends in the city will be sorry to learn that Mr. Jas. Bell, 228 Logan Ave., Toronto, fell on the ice on the corner of Gerrard and Logan Ave, breaking both bones of the right wrist.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Collins and son, Shirley Anne, Station Street, are spending the Christmas holiday in Montreal.

Miss Cathleen Callaghan, Toronto, spent Christmas in the city.

Miss Ruby Collingwood, Campbell Street, spent the holiday today for an extended visit in England.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ingersoll of Jeffersville, N.Y., are spending the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Ackley, mother. Mrs. George Ackley, 14 West Metro. St.

Mr. Clare Countryman, Queen's University, and Mr. and Mrs. Trevor Hopkins and daughter Jocelyne, of Toronto, are guests with Mrs. F. Countryman, John Street.

Mrs. A. Taubman and daughters Linda, Florence and Hinda, Toronto, are spending Christmas week-end with relatives in the city.

Mr. Frank Dolan, Montreal, is spending Christmas week-end in the city.

Mrs. L. A. Russell, Ottawa, is spending the Christmas holiday with the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ned Ridley.

Miss Annie Orgil, Kingston, spent Christmas at her home, Bleecker Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Harker, Toronto, spent Christmas with their parents in this city.

Mr. R. E. Fairfield returned on Thursday from Kingston General Hospital where he underwent an operation and is convalescing at his home, Highland Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Ned Ridley, Montreal, are visiting their parents for the Christmas week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hopkins, daughter Ann and Mr. Lloyd Hall spent Christmas with their daughter, Mrs. H. E. Ashley, 14 West Metro Street.

Mr. Ray C. Rosbury, Detroit, Mich., is visiting at the home of his brother, Mr. Wallace Rosbury, and Mrs. Rosbury, Foster Avenue.

Dr. DeVan's Pills

A reliable feminine hygiene regulator, on sale in Canada for over thirty years. Price five dollars. For sale at

SPECIAL SALES AGENCY

NEW LOW Rail Fares NEW YEAR'S

ONE AND A QUARTER FARE FOR THE ROUND TRIP

Good going December 31st and January 1st, 1927, Returning to reach original starting point not later than midnight Monday, Jan. 3, 1927.

SAME LOW RATE ONE AND A THIRD FARE FOR THE ROUND TRIP

Good going December 31st, 1926, and January 1st, 1927, Returning to reach original starting point not later than midnight Tuesday, Jan. 4, 1927.

Full information from any C.N.R. Agent

CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAYS

CANADIAN PACIFIC

CHURCHES FILLED CHRISTMAS DAY

Anglican Churches Hold Their Services Also on Christmas Eve

Large congregations attended the Christmas Festival services at the Church of St. Thomas. At 11.30 o'clock Christmas Day there was a choral celebration of the Holy Communion, the Vicar, the Rev. A. Beauchamp Payne being the celebrant. The musical portions of the Communion Office were beautifully rendered by the choir under the direction of Prof. Harold Wesley. Christmas Day there were two celebrations of the Holy Communion at 8 o'clock A. M., and at 11 o'clock A. M., there was a choral celebration of the Holy Communion At the services the vicar made very brief addresses wishing his parishioners a happy Christmastide.

The interior of the church was beautifully decorated with evergreens, holly and lilies, the altar was adorned with a mass of beautiful flowers.

The Christmas music will be repeated at the Church of St. Thomas today and at Evensong carols will be sung and musical selections will be rendered by the choir.

Christmas carols were sung by the congregation of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church on Christmas Day service held at eleven o'clock. Rev. Mr. Ferguson preached on the subject of the "Infinite Morning". Mr. V. R. Smith directed the music and presided at the organ during the service.

The service was well attended.

Christ Church

Following the presentation of Christmas carols by the church choir Holy Communion was celebrated at Christ Church on Christmas Eve, the rector, Rev. G. G. Wright being the celebrant assisted by Rev. F. C. Besser, Rectin. A capacity congregation were present to celebrate the most important church service of the season. Rev. Wright delivering a short but impressive address to the congregation during the service.

Christ Church was suitably decorated with an arch of evergreens in front of the altar. The font and the altar was adorned with beautiful floral displays. The choir, under the direction of Geo. A. Taylor, rendered splendid Christmas carols from the loft previous to the celebrating of Holy Communion at midnight Christmas Eve.

On Christmas Day a celebration of the Holy Communion was held at St. George's Church at 8:30 a.m. and another celebration at Christ Church at 10:30 a.m. Subsequent Christmas services will be held in Christ Church at both services on Sunday.

Service was conducted Christmas morning at 10:30 o'clock at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church by the minister, the Rev. W. J. Walker, who took for his sermon a subject entitled "Stories From Bethlehem". Christmas hymns were enjoyed by the congregation.

At Emmanuel Church Christmas morning Bishop Marshall conducted a celebration of the Holy Communion, assisted by Rev. Canon Bedford-Jones. The hymns were in keeping with Christmastide.

Candlelight Carol Service at Bridge St.

Under the direction of Mr. V. F. Hubbs and Miss Ethel Gilfillan the choirs will repeat the Christmas music as the programme:

1. Anthem—The Prince of Peace.
2. Carols—When O, Shepherd Men (Medley French), The Night and the Shepherds (Bohemian), I Saw Three Ships (Irish), Behold, I Bring to Make Hasts Isabella (French).
3. Solos—Holy Night (Adolph Adam), Douglas Browning (with chorus); O Thou That Tellest (Handel), Miss Marjorie Hall; The Holy City (Adams), Mrs. George H. Stocks.
4. Carols.

Candlelight processional and recessional hymns.

Obituary

MRS. ELIZABETH GORDON JONES

Colonel W. N. Ponton has been informed that Mrs. Elizabeth Gordon Jones, formerly superintendent of the Belleville Hospital died on the 17th. of November last at el Pueblo, Colorado. Her death will be regretted by many friends in Belleville. As Miss Gordon she was the first to suggest the formation of the Canadian Red Cross and after she went to Pueblo she was the heroine of the terrible cloudburst that swept that city, she organizing and administering relief and rescue.

C.N.R. TRAINS RUN IN MANY SECTIONS

Traffic on the Canadian National Railways during the festive season was the busiest in a good many years and probably when a complete check is made, the heaviest on record. Regular trains in and out of Belleville, especially through trains, operated in two sections and each train was loaded to capacity. Railway officials at the Belleville terminal stated that Train No. 15 on Thursday afternoon was run in four sections, while Train No. 5, also run west in four sections. Train No. 14 operating east on Christmas Day was composed of two sections. Traffic conditions on the highways were partly responsible for numbers taking the train but the number attending and administering relief was the principal reason many used the train for Christmas. Many Bellevillians used this means of expedition to visit friends and relatives in other sections of the province and Dominion.

The Royal Bank of Canada Shows Increased Profits

Total Assets Up $55,000,000— Deposits by the Public Increased $71,000,000— Liquid Assets 66.07% of Liabilities to the Public

The Annual Balance Sheet and Profit and Loss Account for the year ending November 30, 1926, being issued to-day by the Royal Bank of Canada to its shareholders, reflects a very substantial growth in practically all departments of the bank's business. Features of the statement are improved earnings, and striking increases in deposits and liquid assets. Total assets are shown at $855,588,457, an increase of approximately $55,000,000 during the year.

Public Deposits Increase $71,000,000

Shareholders will doubtless note with satisfaction the high esteem in which the bank is held as evidenced by the unusually large increase in deposits by the public, the total now being $643,000,000, an increase during the year of $71,000,000. This interesting item in the bank deposits are higher than in any previous Annual Balance Sheet, with the exception of that for November 30, 1920. Deposits by Dominion and Provincial Governments are down $14,000,000. A noteworthy development is the increase in non-interest bearing deposits from $194,000,000 to $210,000,000. This is, of course, accommodation for mainly by the discontinuance of interest on current accounts, which also explains the reduction in interest-bearing accounts of $46,000,000.

Current Loans Reduced

Ordinary loans show a reduction of $32,000,000. Current loans in Canada are shown at $179,872,978, a decrease of $41,000,000, while advances outside of Canada increased by $7,000,000. It is understood that the decrease in Canada is due principally to the liquidation of wheat loans, brought about by the sale and export of the 1925 crop surplus over which had accumulated during the last few years.

Call and short loans in Canada are practically unchanged at $27,164,218. All loans outside of Canada decreased $5,000,000 and are now $14,594,000.

Strong Liquid Position

As might be expected under existing conditions, the liquid position is exceptionally strong. Total liquid assets being $513,200,279, an increase during the year of $40,000,000. Of this amount $179,200,000 is represented by cash on hand or on deposit with the Bank of Canada and other banks, while $267,820,640 is represented by Dominion and Provincial Government securities. The outstanding change in liquid assets is an increase in the holdings of Government securities of $63,000,000 and an increase of $18,000,000 in other bonds, debentures and stocks. The increase under this heading is understood to be for investment purposes, either in short-term, high-grade securities or bonds. Total liquid assets are 66.07% of liabilities to the public, which is, of course, a reflection of present-day policy of ultimate rather than of deliberate policy.

Profits Show Healthy Increase

Lower yields on Government securities and the smaller volume of commercial loans naturally had an adverse effect on income, but this has apparently been more than offset by the reduction in interest paid on deposits, increased operating efficiency and improved earnings in other directions. Profits for the year, as shown by the figures presented, are $5,000,000 in excess of last year's, after the deduction of Dominion and Provincial taxes. The net profits for the year is the basis of uniformity in bank statements, net profits are shown after the taxes have been deducted. Net profits amount to $5,000,000,241.94 as compared with $4,794,241.94 a year ago.

Donations Appreciated By Fire Department

Public acknowledgment is made by Fire Chief William Lynch and members of the local fire department for the generous donations sent to the chief relieving the needy cases of the city during the Christmas period. The following donors contributed: W. R. McCrory, $25.00; W.H.Morton, $15.00; H. Ackerman, $500; R. Templeton, $10.00; Belleville Municipal Band $40.00.

To the staff and manager of the Capitol Theatre who gave the use of individuals of the city who contributed special thanks are made.

FIREMEN HAVE ONE RUN OVER HOLIDAY

Only one run was registered by the local fire department during the Christmas holiday, a call to 32 Station Street where a chimney fire occurred was attended by the force at 9 o'clock this morning.

600 CHILDREN GET CHRISTMAS PRESENTS

"We don't think a child or a family in Belleville should be forgotten" declared Fire Chief William Lynch today commenting upon the distribution of Christmas gifts over the holidays.

Records of the department revealed that 110 families and a total of 600 children in Belleville had been cared for by the department which worked until early Friday evening in the task of distributing the various packages to the needy families.

ENGLISH FOOTBALL RESULTS

London, Dec. 26 (CP)—Results of football games in the old country today follow:

English League—Division I.
Bolton Wanderers 2, Brentford 2.
Charlton A. 1, Grimsby Town 0.
Chelsea 2, Leeds United 0.
Derby County 1, W. Bromwich A. 0.
Everton 1, Sheffield United 0.
Huddersfield T 4, Preston N. E. 2.
Manchester C. 3, Birmingham 1.
Manchester U. 3, Liverpool 1.
Stoke City 1, Liverpool 1.
Sunderland 2, Sheffield Wed. 1.
Wolverhampton 2, Manchester 1.

English League—Division II.
Aston Villa 4, Swansea Town 0.
Barnsley 1, Newcastle United 0.
Blackburn Rovers 3, Bury 2.
Blackpool 6, Leicester City 2.
Bradford City 2, Bradford 3.
Chesterfield 3, Southampton 0.
Coventry City 1, Doncaster Rov. 1.
Leeds United 1, Notts County 1.
Plymouth Argyle 0, Fulham 2.
Portsmouth 3, Norwich City 0.
Tottenham Hot. 2, West Ham U. 2.
Southern League—Southern Div.
Aberdare 3, Aldershot 1.
Brighton 4, Gillingham 2.
Bristol Rovers 1, Swindon Town 1.
Cardiff City 2, Walsall 2.
Clapton Orient 2, Millwall Athletic 2.
Exeter City 1, Notts County 2.
Northampton T. 6, Crystal P. 0.
Queen's Park R. 5, Bristol City 0.
Reading 3, Torquay United 1.
Southend United 1, Luton Town 0.
Watford 2, Newport County 0.
Northern Section—Division III.
Barrow 3, Mansfield Town 2.
Carlisle U. 3, Tranmere Rovers 1.
Chesterfield 3, Rochdale United 1.
Gateshead 2, Rotherham United 1.
Hartlepools United 4, Southport 0.
Rott City 1, Port Vale 1.
Lincoln City 3, Accrington Ste. 3.
New Brighton 0, Oldham A. 2.
Rochdale 2, Crewe Alexandra 0.
Wrexham 2, Darlington 0.

Scottish League—Division I.
York City 4, Halifax Town 0.
Scottish League—Division II.
Arbroath 1, Hamilton Academ. 2.
Celtic 4, Alloa Rovers 0.
Dumbarton 2, Ayr U. 1.
Dunfermline 2, Queen's Park 2.
Falkirk 3, Aberdeen 1.
Hibernians 1, Raiths 3.
Motherwell 2, St. Johnstone 2.
Nithsdale Wnds 4, Kilmarnock 0.
St. Mirren 2, Hearts 2.
Scottish League—Division of South 1.
Scottish League—Division II.
Airdrieonians 3, Cowdenbeath 2.
Alloa 2, Dundee United 0.
Ayr United 3, Morton 1.
Ayr United 3, Morton 1.
Edinburgh City 1, Leith A. 4.
Hills 29'r'r'r

HOW JOAN LOVED THRU

—by—

ANNE FORESTER

CHAPTER XI.

The Unexpected Caller.

Mark left the city the next morning to try an out-of-town case. It was a slight relief to get away. That drive with Joan last night had been insanely upsetting. He had been attracted all evening, even Thelma had noticed it. This short interval of work in new scenes would serve to put his thoughts in order, he told himself, and bring back the old calm and sane proportion to things. He took a long telephoned farewell of Thelma and ordered a dozen orchids sent to her.

He guessed by Joan was shortsmoot curt; a brief nod and briefer smile underlined in between the directions he was leaving with Miss Hastings. He left with a disturbing memory of her shadowed eyes and the hurt proud droop of her lips.

He would have been even more disturbed could he had seen Thelma's face when a maid brought his orchids into her bedroom. She looked down at the crisp lavender petals and her lips twisted slightly when from her small glistening teeth. Thelma's voice had read from Mark's lingering farewell and these flowers, unmistakably, were his talk. It was a clumsy masculine gesture of defense. He was fleeing from the thought of Joan's consideration of Joan.

A spasm of jealousy convulsed Thelma's face. She dashed the orchids violently on the floor, walked deliberately across them, left the petals of her coral satin mules grinding their beauty into the rug. Then she stopped before the mirror and surveyed the picture she made, wrapped in its heavy brocaded negligee, then her eyes narrowed in sudden intensity.

All day the office was achingly empty to Joan. Mark's absence had hurt her. She tried to reason with herself, to tell herself that she was imagining things, that she had passed the point of calm analysis. She was simply in a state of overwork, dreamy—unable to concentrate.

The conclusion she was told herself severely as she walked home that evening, she must pull herself together. She forced herself to stop and think about dinner. Bread —and there was still a little meat in the stuff. She would make an oyster stew, that would be good for them.

When bought the things in the market near the house. Gilda was not in sight as she came through the apartment door—perhaps she had not returned from the day's work. Joan carried her bundles out into the kitchen and dropped them on the table. She had just turned on her coal and was running a comb through her hair when Gilda came bang. Gilda—no doubt she had forgotten her key—banged on the door, opened the front door and found herself confronting the fur-swathed figure of Thelma Havens.

There was a poignant moment when neither spoke. Then Thelma broke the silence first. "I want to talk to you, alone."

Joan had the nervous impulse to slam the door—to lock this woman out of her life. But she controlled it, she drew herself together and stepped back.

"Certainly . . . won't you come in?"

Thelma followed her and sat down in the threadbare armchair, her heavy fabric coat falling open to delicately about the place. In the modern brown and green apartment her sculptured face and frock seemed more startlingly incongruous. Joan had quietly seated herself in the straight-backed chair opposite. Thelma's stinging words came up to fasten on her slim figure.

There is no use of my pretending this is a friendly visit, Miss Ormond. I am going to be blunt. It will come to that anyway in the long run finally. Briefly, I have come to tell you this once and have to rely on your good sense and stop working for Mark Havens. Moreover I don't want you to see him again."

There was nothing in Joan's level gray eyes to give Thelma an inkling of the girl's thoughts.

Thelma shrugged. "I see you're not going to make this easy for either or us. Very well—then I'll have to be brutal. I don't propose, Miss Ormond, to let you break up my home twice."

There was a chill little silence. Joan heard Thelma's words in a daze. Mark's face, his voice, pleaded by the curious sensation that cobwebs were closing about her. Her skin was crawling with the feel of them, loathsome disgusting cobwebs which would bind to blinding cords the moment she began to struggle. And the more she struggle the cords led back to Thelma's white hands.

She must shake off this unnatural lethargy . . . she must speak . . . she muttered finally, "I don't understand . . . A voice hoarse, strangely unlike her own.

The cruel silky voice of Thelma purred. "I see you're going to force me to details. I mean that I know who you are—and what you were to Hugh Reed."

CHAPTER XI.

Joan Decides.

The anger came to Joan's relief and enabled her to break through those cloying cobwebs.

"You are very assiduous, Mrs. Sewell. Will you explain?"

Thelma arched her high, thin brows. "Certainly, if you've got nowhere. I had you looked up in Dorrerville in the beginning, and I found that you had been notoriously friendly with Hugh—though he was my husband at the time. You admit that, I suppose?"

Joan's head was lowered angrily, her eyes were nearly black, startling in her white face. Her voice was husky with the terrible restraint she put upon it.

"That is a lie and you know it! You and Hugh had separated before I ever laid eyes on him. I should not even know he was married until—until one night, then I ran away from town—to get away from him."

"And wrote a letter to him begging him to come down here and join you and take an apartment," went on Thelma's relentless voice. "A man named Elmer Parcher let me have that letter. He is ready to give testimony that he saw you and you were waiting for Hugh to join you here . . ."

Joan's heart had gone sick within her. So Elmer Parchers agile had been in this farce! Thelma must have bribed her as the woman who had been with Hugh . . . how sordid, ridiculous as the charge was, it would take on color from that mad letter she had written Hugh when she was desperate with loneliness. Elmer Parcher would gladly be a witness against her—and Mark—how could Mark defend her? He would be even want to, engaged to Thelma.

"Oh—how can you!" The cry was wrung from Joan's lips.

"Because I intend to see that you stay away from Mark Havens! Don't little vamping cat—I've seen how you worked on his sympathy! You're too good to cut the ground from under my feet. Mark was with you on Thanksgiving night—you gave me some trumpery excuse, but I've found the truth! You drummed up your reason to get him—because of New Year's Eve— and last night you were together, while you kept me from my mother to lie; I followed you in my car . . ."

Thelma's voice had a cold, steely little quality in it which matched the cold glare of her stonelike eyes. She was little letter—I will file a new charge against you, naming Mark Havens' office and take good care not to see him again!"

Joan had risen. She stood there about her. "Think it over, Joan Ormond—and remember that I can make life threats!" She was gone at last, closing the door softly after her . . . shutting Joan in with a cold sense of horror.

The girl continued to sit motionless, lost in her own bitter thoughts. She became aware finally that somebody was speaking and she looked up at the door which before her. Gilda's apathy was swept away, her eyes were blazing, her lips a thin, hard line.

"That woman! That sneaking bully! Who's there in the dressing room—I heard her. At first I was going to come out, and then—well, I thought I'd listen. Joan—you are not let her tell you what to do!"

Joan looked at Gilda blankly. "It was true—that letter. I did write it to Hugh. I was in love with him . . ."

"Joan, you love Mark Havens, don't you? And he's a decent sort. He wouldn't do that to you!"

Joan's voice came in a strangely tired monotone. "I don't know. I don't understand; It isn't that I'm afraid. I don't you see—he loves her. Love is control. He—he loves her—if I told him, it would only bore him—embarrass him. He loves her—don't you see? No—" with a sudden passionate cry, "I can't do it! It's true, what she said, I'll have to stop seeing him. I've known it for a long time—ever since she came and pressed her breast as though the pain there was unbearable.

She rose and groped blindly for her coat and put it on. Gilda's arms went around her. In reply to her mute question, Joan shook her head; she smiled at Gilda through the tears. "I'm going to walk—I have to be alone—to think."

Joan remembered little of that bitter walk. She had said that she had to think, but now she found that consecutive thought would not come. She would only feel and suffer. It had started to rain again, snowy flecks that were reflected in the wet asphalt like glistening stones. Joan's mind took recognition of this, but under that crust her thoughts churned on. Mark had seemed strangely at the office when he said good-bye. Had Thelma dropped down on Mark's desk and said she was gone and yet not know how to miss her?

Oddly enough, though that hurt, it helped, too. It bolstered her pride; it made her bruised spirit something to lean upon. As she had told Gloria—love was queer. It didn't seem asking much of Mark that he be worthy. Gold-blooded, cruel as Thelma was, Mark loved her.

There could be but one possible end. Argue about it to herself—evade it and torture herself as she would come to it. Why not be brave—end it in a clean-cut and absolute sword-stroke?

Joan turned with a sudden air of desperate decision and walked in the direction of the office.

CHAPTER XI.

Thrust.

The elevator man looked at Joan queerly as he took her up to the startled floor and the office. Joan had opened the outer door with her key and let herself into the office she realized why. Her own reflection leaped out of the mirror as she passed—her face was chalky, her eyes were dark and enormous by contrast, even her lips had lost color and were a pale, thin line.

She pulled the cover from her typewriter and put a piece of paper in the carriage. All the sentences she were slow and precise as the movements of a sleep-walker. Her fingers struck the right keys unerringly and some cool and detached corner of her mind marveled at this.

"I am leaving to take a position which gives me a better salary and easier hours."

That wouldn't do. She must write more convincingly. It must sound believable. She hesitated a moment, and added—

"Of course I'm grateful for the kindnesses you've shown me, but I feel that I can't afford to overlook this opportunity for bettering myself."

The cold sufficiency of the words turned her slightly sick. Such a statement they were—she knew herself fighting against the picture of Mark's face when he should read them. But it was the only way she could herself desperately—the clean-cutting sword-stroke. Leave no path open for future meetings—let him despise her.

Joan placed the note on Mark's desk in his private office, but when she would leave he left as quickly as she came she found herself held with a heart-breaking fascination. Right here Mark had stood that rainy Thanksgiving day. That had been the beginning of her love—or had it? That very first meeting in Mark's apartment, when he had looked at her with scorn and she had felt that strange, defiant attraction of him . . .

And Thelma had won! Thelma would always have Mark near—she would see his face, hear his voice for her . . .

In this revolutionary mood which came from Joan's lips steadied her. This was not the way to go through life. She was not a weak creature with the self-pity and the hysteria which women indulged in. She would go away from Hugh—that had been the unthinking gesture of an impulsive girl. Now she was a woman. She had left her with a cold, dead ache in her heart, but her mind was quiet. For a moment she bent and kissed the spot on the arm of the chair where his hand had rested—then she was in the elevator. She was thanking the man in a strange dazed tone. There was a sudden low growl of an automobile horn, the screech of hastily jammed on brakes; then the car passed with the blur of a frightened white face behind the wheel, so close that the draught of it fanned Joan's cheek. Instinctively she had stepped off the curb directly by the path.

The first hot flush of fright was swallowed in an indifferent recklessness. She had escaped death—that act easy way. A moment of painful oblivion . . . Joan shook that dissension off as if Mark's voice had commanded her. She, that was cowardly. Mark would want her to do the brave . . .

She took one look at her when Joan returned, but with strange and unaccustomed tact. The redhead only made a cup of strong, hot tea and brought it to Joan, who drank it obediently. Then she went to bed and pretend to fall asleep as soon as the door closed on Gilda. But in the dark wide-eyed, staring into the dark shadows, she kept crying softly into her pillow with a quiet despair for which wrung Gilda's heart.

There is no use worrying about poverty, it allows no time for self-indulgence. It is a cruel but competent taskmaster, by the presence of Gilda and the cost of her business course, Joan had little left for salary. Aside from last week's salary—Joan's Christmas check money, which she had hastily stored in a drawer for emergencies.

Early the next day, pale cheeked rouged to the eyebrows in Gilda's cynical color, Joan set out to hunt work. It brought her a humiliating lesson in time when she had just come to Mark's office. Then she knew a difference. Though the period in Mark's office had not been long, it had served to give her poise, to give her the feeling of shorthand, and — in the business world—that was important, sometimes work out,—because she could feel nothing but indifference about a position, Miss Hastings seemed real or worth striving for in the stone cold world which had assailed her, she found a place with unbelievable speed.

In two days she was a filing clerk in a large insurance office. Though the salary was less than she had been getting, it would do. Gilda spoke of getting more work and more . . . they would manage, Joan told herself wearily.

GILDA PAYS HER DEBT

CHAPTER 54

The days went by, each one a link in a grey chain which seemed to Joan to be dragging at her ankles. At first her heart had fantastically leaped with each ring of the telephone, thinking it might be Mark. Now she was coming to regard the telephone with the grey indifference she had felt for most things.

On the first day of her absence Miss Hastings had called up, and Joan gave her the same fiction which she had written Mark. There was little moment of silence, then the old woman's voice had come, cold, displeased, disapproving. Joan thought you would do it differently Thelma said.

That hurt. Joan had never realized how much she had liked Miss Hastings until the old woman's voice was cruel—ungrateful, was not the least part of the pain of her business.

Joan clung to the little common places of life, the apartment to clean, dresses to be brushed and pressed, meals to prepare and to go to the Lewises, and thereby roused Mrs. Lewis from her chair. But nothing was real. Only at life, at night in the dark—that I couldn't stand it any longer!"

Mark—have this woman leave this office—" Thelma flung at the her. His eyes were fastened on mask.

Mark did not seem to have heard her. His eyes were fastened on Gilda, deep eyes, with a strange flame burning far down in them. His voice seemed to have changed, was

"So—that was why—that note, Mark—I demand that you put her out!"

Gilda wheeled on her. "You, you are afraid to have me stay! Afraid to have me tell him what a sneak you are—a . . ."

"Thelma." it was impossible to read Mark's expression, "did it occur like this?"

Thelma's eyes met Mark's, hard, glistening eyes. "You darling to question me? My actions are my own affair . . ."

"Not in this case. I must insist that you answer me."

It consider your attitude an insult. I warn you that I shall take drastic measures to . . ."

Mark would have spoken, but Gilda's voice overrode him and the molten fire of her anger swept away her enforced calm.

"Can't you see what you are—you're coming out in your true colors! Well, take your measures, you wretch. I should have realized the sort of thing I was dealing with. I stepped out of my own class."

"Stop that, Thelma!" Mark's voice was like a whip.

Thelma realized that she was going too far, but her rage made her deaf to caution. All of her life she had given way to her temper, and it was too late to learn to curb it now. Her wilful love for the man was curdling into hate.

"I'm through with you!" The words were like the crack of a whip. Both had forgotten Gilda, who stood motionless, looking with fascinated eyes from one to the other as the storm she had raised.

"You—you think I'd marry you after this!" Thelma was viciously tugging at one finger of her left glove. "I'm a darn sight better than that, quick as the flick of a snake's tongue, she was flashing a revenging ring in Mark's face.

Mark and Thelma stared as though fascinated at the speck of red which appeared on Mark's finger. Then with a sudden gesture a little angry gasp she was gone.

Mark turned, a revenged fury . . . the door still vibrating with its vicious slam . . .

CHAPTER 55

JOAN COMES HOME

The stillness which followed Thelma's departure was nerve-wracking. Gilda was standing, her lips parted breathing; her knuckles were white where they pressed the back of a chair to steady herself. Her eyes were fixed on the man with a look of stunned horror.

Mark moved stiffly, like one awakening from a deep, drugged sleep. He spoke with labored courtesy, "I—remember . . . would you mind leaving . . . now . . ."

He had sat down heavily in his chair when Gilda had gone from the room with unseeing eyes when the slender girl silently slipped into the hall.

Gilda crept home with cold feet and a heart that pounded with fear. What had she done? she whispered to herself. Enough was it was there watching, she seemed to see Mark sitting in terrible stillness . . .

Joan looked up as Gilda entered. She had the ring Thelma had flung at Mark clutched in a corner, where it glittered fiercely in the light standing from the window.

Then at the memory of Thelma's face distorted with rage, Gilda opened it in a hard, defiant line. "Thelma's engaged to Mark—I heard her. "I don't care. I'm glad I did it—I'm glad I did it!"

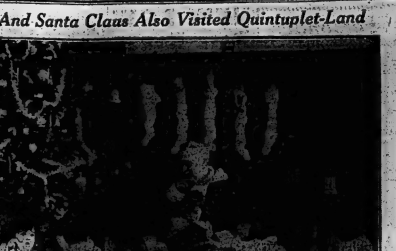
But Gilda was afraid to tell Joan what had happened when the other girl had come from the office that evening she was strangely subdued and quiet. Something in her life had she been less engaged with her own painful thoughts. She settled down to her typewriter, and Gilda, after aimlessly pacing the room, finally succumbed to nervous as a cat tonight. Think I'll go out in a movie—I'll be back soon."

Joan shook her head. "I'll stay home—I want to finish this, if I can. I'll be all right, Gilda."

It was painful to have Gilda away. The thoughtful kindness, the long, crept in, no matter how she tried to keep them in their way. This grey waste in which her soul and mind dwelling—would it always be this way? Joan wondered. Had Mark's love its poignant sharpness—becoming on a strange magic by which to learn to care for other things and again?

Joan jumped nervously as the bell sounded harshly through the apartment. It was too early for Gilda to return—probably . . . Tom, coming to drive or making some message from Donny in excuse for a call. Joan sighed a little as she got up from her chair to answer it.

But at the sight of Mark Havens standing in the hall she took one step backward, her eyes clinging to his, one hand pressed to her throat, as though she were stifling. Mark made no attempt to come in. His voice was almost expressionless, though his eyes seemed fixed on it. "Joan, I have to talk to you about in here—I have the car—"



Joan felt as though she were in a smothering sensation, as though the floor were slipping from her. In her a sort of stunned deliberation she put on her hat and coat and went down to the car with him.

There was no conversation between them as they drove through streets slipped by. It did not occur to Joan that Mark might suicide had come about. The fact that he was here was enough. She huddled in one corner of the car, eyes closed, face lifted to the cold, fresh air coming in the open window. Her mind seemed curiously blank, unoccupied. Only if this was all there was to life, if such moments were to be spent like this—out in the clear, cold night with Mark beside her.

They turned suddenly into the park, the shadowy trees went flying past, and presently against the grey sky Joan saw, stopped, turned off the motor . . . a moment of utter silence rushed in as the engine died, then, growing all about them, little, intimate sounds . . . the

COPYRIGHT, 1936, CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

And Santa Claus Also Visited Quintuplet-Land

Christmas morning at the Dr. Dafoe hospital near Callander, Ont., shows a scene similar to that in many another Canadian home to through the shrubbery, a whisper to the fir trees . . .

Mark was bending close, looking at her, his eyes searching and compelling through the dark. He reached out and gathered her very tenderly in his arms.

"Joan—you love me, don't you? Oh, my dear, I've loved you and unconsciously fought my love for you . . ."

Joan felt her heart and spirit melting into Mark's with that kiss. It seemed a long time before she remembered to ask softly, "What about Thelma?"

Mark's arms held her tighter. "An old woman, Joan—a woman I've wakened to the living reality . . ."

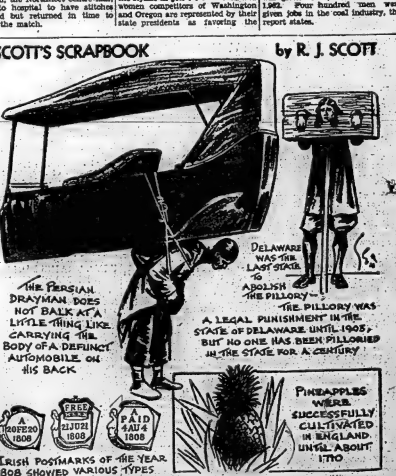
Mark recited briefly what had happened, but Joan dreamily followed her own thoughts. Words . . . what did they matter? She had known it was all right with that first deep look into Mark's eyes. Thelma—a name. It couldn't touch her. There was room for no other thought in Joan's brimming heart, only that she had come at last to the arms where she belonged—she had come home.

THE END

ASSERTS MARRIAGE NO GOOD FOR POET

BELGRADE (CP)—Several years ago Dimitrije Tervirkoh-Politmat, attained prominence by his passionate love affair dedicated to the woman who became his wife. Now a book of his verse is published in warning to all fellow poets against mental bliss.

"A poet should never marry," he told an interviewer. "Neither he nor his wife ever find harmony and happiness. The poetic temperament is apparently unfitted for the married state."



His wife recently left him.

QUICK WORK

LONDON (CP)—When his chin was cut during a Kent Football League game at Tunbridge Wells, Arthur Wilson, Sevenoaks player went to hospital to have stitches inserted and returned in time to finish the match.

SCOTT'S SCRAPBOOK

by R. J. SCOTT

SYMIE REBELS WANT SHOWDOWN

American Colleys May Take Low in Class Handle

By CHARLES CRUMICHIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Clinical examination of the styrofoam breed of American collies by the United States association among the oldest of canine clubs in 1886 and national amateur may remove the threat of a civil war in Bunker Hill.

The United States Golf Association asked for data as to the circumstances and ultimate effect of all styrofoam laid in the tournament which produced the stymie's cause celebre when Johnny Fischer uncorked a great rally stemming for a stymie at the 34th hole to defeat Jock McLean of Scotland in the final.

The answers are being assimilated by a body which holds in highest respect the traditions of the ancient game and which seldom meddles with the rules that are faithfully guarded by the Royal and Ancient Britain. Only with the greatest travail is a golf law ever amended.

However, stymie abolitionists are likely to have a showdown at the January meeting of the U.S.G.A., which must decided whether (1) the stymie is essential to the continued well-being of golf or (2) it is an undesirable part of the game and should be removed or (3) corrective measures should be taken in the way of a compromise.

Local as well as sectional differences exist in the big controversy. The Pacific Northwest, a stronghold of stymie partisans, has the support of Portland—Oregon Senior Golf Association. "Members of our association," writes the secretary, Roscoe P. Hurst, "are almost entirely opposed to the keeping the stymie in golf . . ."

Men and women competitors of Washington and Oregon are represented in the state presidents as favoring

COPYRIGHT, 1936, CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

FUSILIERS BECOME MACHINE GUN UNIT

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP) — The Saint John Fusiliers, retaining their traditional identity and colors, have become the machine-gun battalion of the New Brunswick militia brigade. They are now a five-company unit under the modern Canadian plan of militia. The new functions include anti-tank, armored car patrol and anti-aircraft courses.

Lieutenant-Colonel Gordon G. K. Holder is commanding officer of the famous regiment perpetuating the Ancient Britain. Only with the greatest travail is a golf law ever amended.

Other infantry battalions in the province will be rifle units of the brigade, with a possibility of the Saint John unit becoming anti-tank gunning. The absorbed Fusiliers are expected to total about 350 and thanks under the peace time establishment.

FEWER JOBLESS

Halifax (CP)—November on Nova Scotia's relief rolls during September dropped nearly 2,000 as compared with the same months last year, the provincial Department of Labor reports. Total for the month was given as 13,566, a decrease of 1,982. Four hundred men were given jobs in the coal industry, the report states.

Here they are with the genial doctor literally surrounded by love. Left to right are Cecile, Marie, Dr. Dafoe, Emilie and Annette.

—except for five quintuplets sisters—as the fomous Dionne five crowd around their Christmas tree to see what Santa Claus left them stymie.

Here they are with the genial doctor literally surrounded by love. Left to right are Cecile, Marie, Dr. Dafoe, Emilie and Annette.

Making the transcontinental hop in the Sky Coach, Mark made 24 golfers, pros and amateurs, unanimously indicated at a season end trip dinned that they opposed the stymie rule as it now stands. 36 moved to extinguish the stymie from the rules. But the Main Golf Association a week ago voted to retain the stymie as long as the U.S.G.A. did.

AUTO FINANCE

AUTO LOANS REFINANCING

On terms best at rates suited to you. Phone, write or call at our office. Terms may be arranged to suit your convenience. Our rates are low. Our service prompt. Deal with confidence at one of the following offices:

HAIG BROS. LTD.
128 FRONT STREET, BELLEVILLE

CAMPBELL AUTO
FINANCE CO. LTD.

DENTIST

DR. ROBT. H. EMPSON
DENTIST
Phone 490 Office: 204½ Front St. 37-52

LAND SURVEYOR

FRASER AYLESWORTH
Ontario Land Surveyor, Registered Professional Civil Engineer, Land Surveyor, Architect, Etc. Office: Trenton, Ont.
P. O. Box 69 Phone 6
Residence: 6 — P. O. BOX 69
RESIDENCE: 6 — P. O. BOX 69
PHONE: MADOC, CONF.

STOCKS & BONDS

HOGAN AND CRAWFORD, MEMBERS of Toronto Stock Exchange, Private Wires, Branch Manager, C. H. Hogan, Belleville. 243-tf

Business Directory

MINERAL BATHS

The "Health Institute" specializes in Mineral Baths, Colonic Irrigation, with Oil Massage for Arthritis, Neuritis, Rheumatism, Sciatica, Eczema, Nervous Disorders, Diabetes, Kidney Troubles, Obesity, Constipation, Etc. Phone 1121, 211 Front St., Belleville.

CHIROPRACTOR

Dr. A. WYATT, Ph.G., CHIROPRACTOR and Drugless Therapist. Radiation and Electrical Therapy. Mechanical examination of hands and stomach. Consultation at office by appointment. Chiropractic adjustments, Infra-red, Ultra-violet, Galvanic, Faradic, Sinusoidal treatments. Phone 1121, Belleville, Ontario.

DR. R. and VERA B. PITCHER, D.C. Graduates of the Canadian Chiropractic College, Toronto. Chiropractic and Therapeutic Ultra-violet. Hours: 2 to 5 p.m. Graduate of Chiropractic of Toronto and Registered with Province of Ontario. 24 Bleecker St., Cor. Phone 1276.

INSURANCE

The Strength of Fire Losses Has Not Thrown Others Out—Be protected with us. Fire Insurance.
SANDY SURROWS

HOWARD FROST
LIFE AND FIRE INSURANCE
261 FRONT ST. PHONE 129

HALL & EARLE

Insurance Brokers, Fire, Automobile, Accident and Plate Glass.
Phone 1196 Phone 1196-y

LEGAL

WALLBRIDGE, GAMBLIN AND GO (Successors to the late F. B. Wallbridge) Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, Money to loan. Dominion Bank Building, Belleville. Ontario. Bridge Street, Bellev'lle Ontario.

MALCOLM WRIGHT, BARRISTER, Solicitor, Notary Public, Etc. Office, Campbell St., Madoc.

R.V.WILLS, BARRISTER, SOLICITOR Notary Public, Etc. 12 Bridge St. E., Belleville, Telephone 94. Money to loan on mortgages.

FORSTER, PAYNE AND ARNOTT, BARRISTERS, Solicitors and Notaries Public, Chas. F. Payne, K.C., Wm. J. Arnott, K.C. Offices: 219 Front St., Belleville, Ont.

FOSTER AND GRAHAM, BARRISTERS, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Conveyancers, Etc. Offices: 36 Bridge St. East, Belleville. Money to Loan at lowest rates. Solicitors for the Bank of Montreal. Wallace W. Foster, K.C., J. E. Graham. Telephone 65.

DONHAM AND BUTLER, S. G. Donham, K.C., Q.C., Solicitor, Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public and Conveyancer. Offices, Coffee's Court House Building, Belleville, Ont. Phone 288.

MAY WED KING LEOPOLD

A recent photo of Princess Piedros Louise, 20, niece of King Christian of Denmark. It has been reported that her engagement to King Leopold of the Belgians will soon be announced.
—Central Press Canadian Photo

WANTED

WEEKLY INCOME: FULL OR part time sell superb Red Tag Nursery stock. Thirteen hundred varieties. Big demand to replace trees and plants killed since 1932. Samples free. Splendid sales help. Dominion Nurseries, Montreal.

MALE HELP WANTED

A LESSON FROM THE DEPRESSION—Be "A Civil Servant—Postal, Customs Examiner, Clerk, Stenographer, etc. Free booklet "How to Get a Government Job." M.C.C. Civil Service School, Toronto (10). 51-c-tf

FOR SALE

TRAM: BLACK PERCHERONS rising four and six, sired, true and good every way. Weight 3100 lbs. also good Holstein bull, registered, T. B. tested. Harold Johnston, Miller, Ont. c34, 36

ELECTRIC 7-TUBE RADIO. Must be sold immediately. Apply 31 Victoria Ave. c23-3t

TO LET

HALF HOUSE, 56 OCTAVIA ST., all modern conveniences, also half house, 214 Station St. Apply R. S. Graham, or phone 84. d10, 12, 15, 17, 18, 22, 24, 26, 30, 31.

SEMI-SETTING ROOM, SUITABLE for married couple or two men. Apply 29 Victoria Ave. c23-3t

TO LET OR FOR SALE

SIX ROOM BRICK HOUSE, hardwood floors, furnace, garage, garden: immediate possession; 261 Bleecker Ave. Apply 31 Grove St. Phone 3136. c16-dtf

DUKE OF WINDSOR

Continued from page 1

"For this day is born to you a Saviour, who is Christ the Lord, in the City of David.

About the time when Edward was taking of the birth of the Christ Jesus a child was born across Europe, in London's Bolgrave Square, the sister-in-law, the Duchess of Kent, was born to a daughter, sixth in line to the throne.

And suddenly," Edward concluded, "there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly army, praising God and saying:

"Glory to God in the highest; and on earth peace, good-will towards men."

Edward turned his boyish face to the head pillars of the church. His voice trembled. In several of the twenty verses of the lesson, his own name, David—which he prefers to Edward—and the name of his mother, Mary, were sprinkled.

It was Edward's first public appearance in Vienna since he came over two weeks ago to seek sanction at the Ennsfeld Castle of the Baron and Baroness Eugene de Rothschild.

Edward spoke his listeners recalled the statement of the venerable Archbishop of Canterbury, in which he called the former King's contemplated marriage to Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson "unthinkable." The Archbishop of York in a bitter summary of Edward's departure from the Throne inferred that "no man of honour" would have taken the course Edward chose.

Edward walked to the pulpit, carrying a small prayer book, after Sir Walford Selby, the British Minister, had read the words of the first lesson to the Christmas story. The service was conducted by the Church's English rector, Rev. Mr. Grimes, who made no reference to Edward's presence or his journey from England on Christmas Day. Assisting in the service was the Rev. Wardleigh, rector of the Episcopal Church of America.

Among those present included the American Minister to Austria, Gwynn S. Messersmith, and Miss Messersmith, who were guests at a small luncheon given by Sir Walford in honor at the British Legation after the services. Many who heard Edward tell the Christmas story of the Bible in the manger remarked that he had driven 30 miles from Ennsfeld Castle through a raging snowstorm to participate in services of the Church of England, when he headed for the 11 months' hunt in monarch. Many automobiles were encountered by the sleets which kept most of the people indoors.

Rev. Mr. Grimes took the text his Christmas sermon from "Peace and Goodwill"—from a passage of the lesson read by Edward. At the conclusion of the service, Edward lobed to the singing of "God Rest Ye Merry."

The luncheon at the Legation was replete with British and English fare, including turkey and plum pudding. There were no formal toasts or speeches until a messenger entered to inform Edward that a daughter had been born to the Duchess of Kent.

The party arose and drank to the infant Princess' health, after for which Edward hurried back to Ennsfeld Castle.

MAY PLAY AT GUILDFORD

Guildford, England (CP) — If Guildford arranges an adequate guarantee, Surrey County Cricket Club will meet Hampshire in the first-class game here in 1938. It will be the first time in years that Surrey has played a home match away from The Oval.

DEATHS

REEVES—At Belleville on Thursday afternoon, December 23rd, 1937, Mrs. Orra Reeves, widow of John Reeves, in her 87th year.
The funeral will take place from her late residence, 172 Misty Street, on Monday afternoon, December 27th. Service in the home at 2 o'clock.
Interment Belleville cemetery.

(Picton papers please copy). c26-1t

GEEN'S
DRUG STORE
Open Sunday

INSULATION

ARTHUR A. SILLS CO.
CONTRACTOR & DISTRIBUTOR
285-287 Coleman St. Phone 1384
D2-tf

AUCTION SALE

The undersigned Auctioneer has received instructions to sell by public auction on the Premises, Department of the Bell Obsess Company, Lot 1, Concession 11, Rawdon Twp., on Friday, December 29th, 1937, commencing at one o'clock, the following:

Milk Vat
Sharples Whey Separator 4000
Sweet Whey Tank 1,000 lbs.
Wooden Whey Tank 10,000 lbs.
Galvanized Water Tank and Pump
2 cans Scales
Weigh Can
Lenders
Some Cheese Boxes
Rakes
Pipeing
Fork
Sample Bottles
Vat Cover
Hoops
Coal Stoves
2 Presses
Curd Mills
At the same time and place, the Building, a frame one with a steel roof, in good condition, will be offered for sale.
Terms—Cash.

HENRY WALLACE,
Auctioneer.
d23, 24, 26

PERSONAL

PRIVATE HOME KINDERGARTEN Ideal play and study. The Canadian Kindergarten Training Institute, Toronto (10). 52-4-c-tf

Women, worry won't help. Drugol for all cases of menstrual disorders will Free booklet this week at Gallinger's and Seldon's Drug Stores. c47-1m

MEN! GET VIGOR AT ONCE! Scientific new discovery banishes weakness and nervousness and restores manhood. Send for free booklet. Write today. Enclose 10c coin or stamp. Call, write or phone the Drugoil. 2c16-dtf

STAPLEY'S EXPRESS & BUS SERVICE
Belleville — Madoc — Bancroft
Leaves Belleville for Madoc 3.00 p.m.; arrives 4.30 p.m.
Leaves Belleville for Madoc 8.30 p.m.; arrives Madoc 6.30 p.m.
Leaves Madoc for Belleville, 8.30 a.m.; arrives 10.30 a.m.
Leaves Madoc for Belleville, 2.30 p.m.; arrives 10.30 p.m.
Daily Except Sunday Phone 1310
A12-SEM/U

LOST

BROWN SPANIEL PUP, ANSWERS to name of "Ginger". Finder kindly phone 1960. c26-1t

LOST

THURSDAY AFTERNOON, PARcel containing lady's agent ring with small stone. Finder kindly return to this office and receive reward. c26-1t

A DAILY LETTER TO THE LOVED ONES FAR AWAY

•

300

Peppy News Letters about people they know in the old Home Town and District.—

SEND THEM
The Ontario Intelligencer
The HOME TOWN PAPER
Phone 99

WE PAY CASH FOR DELIVERED CREAM
Deliver Your Cream To Our Convenient Downtown Plant
Where A Personal service is given
CITIZENS' DAIRY
Coleman Street
D2-13-3, T

FINKLE
ELECTRIC WIRING
NEON SIGNS
MOTOR REPAIRS
144 Front St. Phone 3068

BAY OF QUINTE FIRE INS. CO.
Policyholders call for
1937 CALENDAR.
NEW OFFICE—Bell Block, Robertson Block, 219 Front St.—Phone 3644.
C. W. BURR Agent.

NOTICE
to
INCOME TAX VOTERS
MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS

Take Notice—THAT as provided by 1936 Provincial Statutes, Chapter 40 all persons British subjects and of the full age of twenty-one years whose names do not appear on the Municipal Voters List as tenants or owners of property and who have paid Provincial Income Tax for an amount of not less than Fifteen ($15.00) dollars shall be entitled to have their names placed on the Municipal Voters List for the then current year providing they apply at the office of the City Clerk, producing a receipt showing that said Provincial Income Tax has been paid, when they shall receive a Certificate which shall entitle them to vote at the Municipal Elections.

J. WILFRED HOLMES,
City Clerk.
d5, 12, 19, 26

NOTICE
ADVANCE POLL
MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS
Railway Employees and Commercial Travellers

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that by authority of the Railway Employees and Commercial Travellers Act, a poll will be opened at the residence of Thomas Morris, 204 Station Street, from nine o'clock a.m. to six o'clock p.m. on Thursday, December 31st, 1936, and Friday and Saturday, January 1st and 2nd, 1937, for the receiving of the vote of all duly qualified Railway Employees or Commercial Travellers who by reason of their employment will be absent from the City on the regular day of holding the annual municipal elections, viz. Monday, January 4th, 1937.

J. WILFRED HOLMES,
Returning Officer.
d22, 26, 30

WIFE OF KAI-SHEK

(Continued from page one)

In Shanghai a Government spokesman said Chang was remaining in Sian and that a statement concerning his future was expected to be issued in a few hours.

It had been thought at first Marshal Chang was being brought to Nanking as the Generalissimo's personal prisoner. But when the premier's plane settled heavily to the ground at the military airport three miles outside the city's walls, the young marshal and Dr. Soong were not aboard.

Fears for Marshal

It was understood that Chang had left the plane at Loyang. Hopes were growing, however, that Chang would be taken before a council of high government officials to explain his capture of Chiang and his demands for inclusion of communists in the government and war with Japan.

Shortly before the plane bearing the premier and his wife landed at the military airdrome, it circled the Mingkwo airfield in salute to officials gathered there through a misunderstanding to welcome him.

The officials hurried to the military airdrome where Chiang sat in his plane, smilingly awaiting their arrival.

Telephoned Dr. Kung

The Generalissimo heralded his own arrival in Nanking from Loyang. There the party halted briefly, and Chiang telephoned Dr. Kung: "We are on our way!"

His captivity had marked one of the most dangerous threats to Chinese unity since he rose to power as head of the powerful Nationalist party.

One report had said Chiang's "unconditional" release had been based on these points:

1 Retirement of Chang from all official posts and at least temporary exile.

2 Transfer of his troops to the command of General Yen Hsi-Shan, pacification commissioner for Shansi and adjacent provinces.

3 Payment of a large sum of money to Chang for "expenses of his army."

The Nanking office assuring no outlined terms had been made with Chang and that he had been shown "the error of his ways."

The spokesman said no financial settlement had been involved "other than the expenses of emissaries to and from Sian-Fu.

CANADIANS

Continued from page 1

father, brothers and sisters. But their five-months-old baby brother, Olivo, almost stole the show. The family was more than 12 pounds heavier than in their presents.

Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario enjoyed his first Christmas with Peter and Patricia and Miss Stephens, adopted children. With Peter, the Premier shouldered an axe and chopped down a Christmas tree at the back end of their Lorneville Township Elgin County farm.

Near the brick Cenic, snarled child collection played hosts at lonely outposts, to settlers and Eskimos. On the prairies where the mercury in temperatures are considered mild, it was "mild" November and December was weather, but at Montreal it was 10 above.

Transportation was being pressed in two Western Ontario deaths. Mrs. Ethel Wilson, of Quinn, Middlesex County, was struck and killed by an automobile while walking in the village of Windsor. Robert Chester Thrasher, 73, Sandwich West Township, was found in a ditch near a small hotel. Friends took him there and he died without consciousness near his back porch. He died shortly afterwards.

Vandalism Investigated

At Geraldtown, east of Port William, fire disrupted Christmas Mass in St. Theresa Roman Catholic Church and sent a Fire Marshal's Department investigator to probe reports the blaze had been started by incendiaries who threw a boisterful of burning wood chips into the building.

Toronto took stock of its most serious accidental toll since counting two, unidentified dead, 20 hurt, 11 arrested in more than 100 motor accidents. Police sought five hit-run drivers besides attackers of a policeman and four citizens.

Motor accidents through the rest of Ontario were numerous. At London County, Norman Bedard died in a two-car crash. Bus drivers worked in relays and so did train crews. Toronto's Union Station accommodated 15,000 over the holidays.

In Toronto, too, all long distance telephoning records were broken and more than 350 operators were kept busy handling 25 per cent more calls than last year. Postal institutions throughout the province regulations were relaxed and privileges given special fare.

265 KILLED

Continued from page 1

President Roosevelt had 15 members of his family in the White House, but Mrs. Roosevelt was absent with their son, Franklin, Jr., who is recovering from a tonsil operation and a throat abscess infection. The presidential mansion was decked with thousands of gifts from citizens.

The president and his family attended the morning church service.

General sunny weather throughout the country, except for rain in a few sections, was largely responsible for the great number of motor accidents, fatalities. Cars were out in numbers approximating summer travel.

Traffic Accidents Heavy

All other means of transportation were crowded, the airlines, particularly, doing a capacity business.

Every group of travelers achieved two Christmases. The eastbound Philippine clipper of Pan-American Airways crossed the international date line between Midway and Wake Islands, carrying the crews and passengers back from Christmas Day to Christmas Eve, and so into Christmas again.

Carefully in the number of traffic fatalities over the holiday—36 Illinois had 28, Michigan and Ohio 16 and Indiana 15—with its great concentration of motor vehicles, recorded only one traffic fatality.

Six persons were slain in Kentucky, a car skidded when it overturned into a filling station's fuel pumps, setting them fire. A bystander was burned to death. In Michigan a baby smothered in its crib.

BRITISH OFFER

Continued from page 1

The British feeling was that the reported economic offer would loom larger in the Nazi mind than even an overwhelming Fascist victory in Spain.

In Berlin, Hitler's own newspaper, Voelkischer Beobachter, referred to Franco-British "entente cordiale" and talk of a "Franco-British demarche in Berlin."

Conference in Paris?

In German foreign office spokesmen denied "any knowledge" of conferences at Berchtesgaden, Munich or Nuremberg during the holidays, or elsewhere over the rumored recommendation of stronger German action in Spain.

General William Faupel, German Chief Nationalist envoy from Spain, was reported to have suggested granting the demand for 50,000 additional troops which General Francisco Franco was said to have made.

Fraupel was reported to have warned Germany that, if additional troops were not sent at once to aid the Spanish Fascists, she would be compelled to consider it an out and out attack on the Spanish government and go to the Socialists's aid.

Russia Is Encouraged

Russia was said to be encouraged by the firmer Anglo-French stand on behalf of non-intervention.

Reliable sources in Paris time were urging France and Britain to take a stronger attitude in backing up the work of the international non-intervention committee.

The other most interested European party, Italy, seemingly content with the Spanish situation, was recently improved relations with Britain and France in the Mediterranean, remained apparently aloof from the crisis.

ARTHUR BRISBANE

Continued from page 1

cr's family. He telegraphed Brisbane's daughter, Mrs. Sarah Brisbane McCrary:

"Mrs. Roosevelt and I extend our sincere sympathy and wish you to know that our thoughts are with you in the loss of your father. I had known him for many years and took great delight, whenever I had the opportunity, of exploring with him the teaching of history and the philosophy of our civilization."

Associated with Hearst

Brisbane had been associated through most of his career with William Randolph Hearst, both in newspaper and real estate enterprises. Hearst eulogized his long friend and associate as "the greatest journalist of his day."

Brisbane's success in mirroring acts or his thoughts successfully in words which "made millions" also made his syndicated column, "Today," one of the daily pages in "the Week" in the weeklies, of wide appeal.

He was a native of Buffalo, N.Y. He worked on The Sun and as managing editor of The New York World before taking over The New York Journal, owned by Hearst, in 1897.

Besides his widow, who is the former Phoebe Cary of New York, Brisbane is survived by five children: a son, Howard, and four daughters, Mrs. McCrary, Emily, Alice and Elinor Brisbane.

JOHN M. HODGINS
(Pupil of Peter C. Kennedy)
TEACHER OF
PIANO - ORGAN - THEORY
Exponent of "KENNEDY METHOD" for Children.
Phone 1953 J Week Ends Only, Friday to Tuesday
D26-7t

SUNDAY in the CHURCHES

THE UNITED CHURCH OF CANADA

BRIDGE STREET UNITED CHURCH
REV. J. SEMPLE, B.A., S.T.B., TH.D., MINISTER
11.00 a.m.
DIVINE WORSHIP
7.00 p.m.
CANDLE-LIGHT CAROL SERVICE (Special Request)
2.30 p.m.—Sunday School.
Plan to Spend the Last Sunday Night of the Old Year in Church
MR. V. F. HUNT, Organist.

JOHN STREET UNITED CHURCH
MINISTER — MUSIC
Rev. Robert Hall, B.D. SUNDAY SCHOOL — Miss Gertrude Riggs
Morning Worship in St. Thomas Parish House, conducted by Principal Bert Howard.
2.30 p.m.—Sunday School, St. Andrew's Church.

HOLLOWAY STREET UNITED CHURCH
Pastor—Rev. R. E. Newman. Organist—Earl Haley
11.00 a.m.—NEW YEAR'S MESSAGE.
2.30 p.m.—Sunday School.
7.00 p.m.—A NEW YEAR'S MESSAGE.

TABERNACLE UNITED CHURCH
REV. I. B. NAYLOR, MINISTER.
11.00 a.m.—Theme: "IF CHRISTMAS HAD NEVER COME"
2.30 p.m.—Sunday School. Bible Classes.
7.00 p.m.—Theme: "FACING A NEW YEAR"
Mrs. J. F. Bradley, Choir Leader. Mrs. M. P. Daly, Organist

CHURCH OF ENGLAND
CHURCH OF ST. THOMAS
Sunday After Christmas. Rev. A. Beauchamp Payne, Vicar
"8 a.m. Holy Communion; 11 a.m. Holy Communion (choral)! 2.30 p.m. Children's Service; 7 p.m. Shortened Evensong, Carols and Organ numbers by Prof. Wheatley.

CHRIST CHURCH
REV. G. O. WRIGHT, L. TH., RECTOR
"FIRST SUNDAY AFTER CHRISTMAS."
8.00 a.m.—Holy Communion.
11.00 a.m.—Morning Prayer, Sermon, "Ye Know".
Anthem—"And the Glory" (Handel)
2.30 p.m.—Children's Service.
7.00 p.m.—Annual Carol Service. "The Christmas Story in Reading and Carols."

REV. N. HAYES, Rector of Stone

THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church
REV. W. J. WALKER, B.A., B.D., Minister
11.00 a.m.—WONDERFUL, COUNSELLOR
2.45 a.m.—Sabbath School and Bible Class.
7.00 p.m.—THE SECRET PLACE
Special Music at Both Services.
JOHN M. HODGINS, Director of Music

THE BAPTIST CHURCH
Victoria Ave. Baptist Church
REV. ALEXANDER GRANT SINCLAIR, Minister.
Harold Campbell, B.A., Organist. Rex Greene, Choirmaster
11.00 a.m.—Morning Worship. Christmas Music and Sermon.
Subject: "DON'T TAKE THE STAR DOWN"
2.00 p.m.—Sunday School.
7.00 p.m.—Christmas Story in Drama and Song. Pageant entitled: "The Shepherd Who Came Late."
NEW YEAR'S EVE, Thursday, 11.00 p.m. B.Y.P.U. Watch Night Service.
A Cordial Invitation to Everyone.

ALLIANCE TABERNACLE
ALLIANCE TABERNACLE
Metta Street West. REV. GUY A. STOKES, Pastor
Sunday School and Adult Bible Class.
11.00 a.m.—MORNING WORSHIP.
7.00 p.m.—EVANGELISTIC SERVICE.
A Warm Welcome Awaits You. COME.

GOSPEL HALL
BETHEL HALL
Corner CHURCH and STATION STREETS
EVENING SERVICE, 7.00 p.m.
SPEAKER — MR. FRED PEZE
2.30 p.m.—Sunday School
Wednesday, 8.00 p.m.—Prayer Meeting

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SOCIETY
(CLOSED, Tuesday, 27th) Front Street
Service, 11.00 a.m.; Sunday School 11.00 a.m.
Subject:—CHRISTIAN SCIENCE.
Wednesday meeting abroad Wednesday at each month at 8 p.m. which includes testimonies of healing through Christian Science

REGULAR BAPTIST CHURCH
107 FRONT STREET (Opposite Upper Bridge)
PASTOR— J. SCOTT.
10 a.m.—BIBLE SCHOOL. 11.00 a.m.—MORNING WORSHIP
7.00 P.M.
EVENING WORSHIP
We invite you to attend these services. Christmas Messages and Christmas Music will be brought throughout the day. Come!

RUGBY— BOXING— WRESTLING—

SPORTS Of All SORTS

HOCKEY— BADMINTON— BOWLING—

Red Wings Lead Section But High Scoring Line Broken When H. Lewis Breaks Nose

Draw With Chicago 1-1 With Palangio Scoring For Mawks

BARRY TIES UP GAME

Maroons to Open up Play In Feature at Canadiens

Santa Claus brought Detroit Red Wings leadership of the National Hockey League's American division last night, but Lady Luck dealt them a jolting blow at the same time. They tied the Chicago Black Hawks 1-1 at Detroit in the only Christmas game scheduled, when Herbie Lewis came out of the frame with a broken nose, victim of a high sou scoring line of Lewis, Larry Aurie and Marty Barry.

Doctors will examine the wingman's nose today before estimating how long he will be out of action. When Lewis tangled with the Hawks' defence in the last minute of overtime, Marty Barry was the victor in the winger's nose.

Manager Jack Adams juggled his forward lines today to cover up the gaping hole in the high-flying Detroit scoring attack. Lewis, all other seven National League clubs, will see action again over the week-end.

Bruins play Maple Leafs in Toronto tonight after taking a 6-3 trimming at Boston Tuesday. Maroons meet New York Americans at Montreal. Sunday afternoon Chicago Blacks a home stand against Montreal Canadiens, Canadiens journey to Toronto while Hawks move on to New York for a game with Rangers.

Justice Acquitted

Languishing in the American section today, Detroit obtained Pete Palangio from St. Louis Flyers of the American league. Palangio started to bolster the scoring average. The former Detroit Jr. Day Trumpet-ranger had an impressive sharpshooting record in the senior circuit, and justified his selection in some measure last night by scoring the Hawks' only goal. He counted early in the second period and beat goalie Norm Smith cleanly from 12 feet out.

Marty Barry tied the count early in the third on a double assist from Doake McDonald and Scotty Bowman. This was the situation in the overtime produced no more goals. "Baby" Brumelow of Detroit and Chicago's Glen Brydson went off the ice with ten minute misconduct penalties in the second period for indulging in a corner after Johnny Gottselig crashed into the boards.

Tommy Gorman says his Maroons are going to cut loose in a drive for goals and points, following a week's layoff by return to action of all seven regulars next night. The Montreal manager promised last night "it will be a different team next night, irrespective of the score." If the opposing team plays defensive, Gorman said he will put five forwards on the ice to open up the play. Gorman told correspondents:

Recall Goalie.

Maroons announced last night they had recalled goalie Billy Beveridge from Syracuse, Stars of International - American League, Owned by Maroons, Beveridge will likely stay with the Montreal club for the balance of the season, it was stated, when the veteran Alec Connell from time to time. Connell, however, will guard Montreal's net this week-end.

Carl Voss, Maroons centre iced alongside Wentworth Bruneteau, is ready for play again, and so is Russ Blinco, high-scoring forward. Defenseman Hooper Gardiner, out of action with an old knee injury, is the sole remaining casualty.

Maroons can climb out of the Canadian section cellar by trailing Americs tonight, provided Ralphs take Toronto. If that happens Maroons will be in a second-place tie with Americs and Leafs, five points behind Canadiens.

Rangers are crowding Red Wings closely in other division, and they can pass them this week-end if the Stanley Cup champions lose to Montreal Maroons while Rangers defeat the Hawks.

HOCKEY'S BIG SEVEN

Marty Barry, play-making centreman of Detroit's world champion Red Wings, moved into a third place with the National Canadian Norman Gagnon in the National Hockey League scoring race with a goal last night in Detroit's 1-1 tie with Chicago Black Hawks. Barry's upward move leaves a five-way tie for fourth place. Larry Aurie, a teammate, still held top spot among the snipers although he was kept pointless against the Hawks. Gagnon, a specialist play, is gain ground as all other teams were blue.

The leaders:

	G.	A.	P.
Aurie, Detroit	10	7	17
Schriner, Americans	9	7	16
Gagnon, Canadiens	5	10	15
Barry, Detroit	4	11	15
Lewis, Detroit	9	6	15
Jackson, Toronto	7	7	14
Petrick, Rangers	6	8	14
Chapman, Americans	2	12	14

Jesse Owens Ready To Turn Professional

Havana, Dec. 26 (AP)—Jesse Owens, Ohio's "flying antelope," scheduled to help open Cuba's first international sports week today.

In his first appearance, Owens was to sprint 100 yards against a race between the Harvard nine of a football game between two Cuban teams. Owens brought down the horses when he was introduced at a baseball game yesterday. He runs for pleasure, proceedings to closer him for ten minutes.

HARD WORK TO STAY ON TOP

Rowing Crew Will Have to Have Added Incentive

New York, Dec. 26 (AP)—Al Ulbrickson, coach of the University of Washington's world champion crew is finding out that getting on top isn't half as hard as staying there.

With the same Varsity sweepingsters available for the 1937 season, the veteran silver-thatched coach shouldn't have a worry in the world but he has a worrying look on his face.

He has confidence in his brawny boys, has a clear picture of their strong point, but Al really is afraid of precedent.

"I be pointed out in an interesting letter which popped up today, crew-philosophy Ulbrickson pal Amerigan Olympic crews and 'I can't see how these fellows of mine will be any exceptions."

They have realized so many of their rowing ambitions in the year it is almost impossible for them to have the drive and the exhilaration of the past year no matter how hard they try," says Coach Ulbrickson.

Of course, that will be our job to hold anything like this to a minimum. We'll keep going and to make them forget their accomplishments of the past season."

Besides his mental fret, Al has a mechanical problem, too. Ulbrickson must find a boy to replace Bob Brocks, who handled the ropes in the Washington boat, likewise has completed his college career.

"The lack of an experienced coxswain will be a greater burden on the men rowing in the boats so that they will have to be better than last year to have as good a crew as we had last season," Ulbrickson pointed out.

Veteran Reinsman Predicts Greyhound Will Break Record

Indianapolis, Dec. 26 (AP)—Sep Palin, veteran reinsman and trainer of Grand Circuit harness horses, predicted today that Greyhound, the big gray gelding he has developed, would break a 14-year-old trotting record next year.

Greyhound was one of the best two-year-olds of the 1936 season and in 1935 took the Hambletonian and Kentucky Futurities, trotting to a record of 2:00 flat, the world's mark for a gelding of his age.

Fourteen years ago at Lexington, Ky., Peter Manning established the championship trotting record of 1:56¾, and since that time—at least until Greyhound came along—the mark has stood practically unchallenged.

"Without a doubt Greyhound will break that record, said Palin. "He'll top it if he's sound and there's every indication he will be."

During the year just ending, Palin's brilliant Greyhound set five mile in two minutes or faster. In winning the progression stake at the Goshen, N.Y., Grand Circuit, Greyhound established a new world's record for a three-heat race, trotting the trio in 2:01, 2:00¾ and 2:00, an average of a shade faster than 2:00½.

Then at Springfield, Ill., he trotted in 2:02 and 1:57¾, the latter a new world's record for a harness horse, either trotter or pacer.

N. H. L. LEADERS

Canadian Section.

Standings and games: Montreal won 9, lost 6, drew 2; points 20.

Goals—Gagnon, Canadiens, 9 goals, 7 assists, 16 points.

Goals—Aurie, Detroit, 10.

Assists—Barry, Detroit, 11.

Penalties — Seibert, Chicago, 32 minutes.

Shutouts—Karakas, Chicago, 2.

United States Section.

Standing—Detroit, won 8, lost 4, drew 4; 20 points.

Points—Aurie, Detroit, 10 goals, 7 assists, 17 points.

Goals—Aurie, Detroit, 10.

Assists—Barry, Detroit, 11.

Penalties — Seibert, Chicago 32 minutes.

Shutouts—Karakas, Chicago, 2.

HURLING HONORS IN NATIONAL TO HUBBELL, DEAN

Laurels From Group Pitching Corps Goes to Chicago Staff

MUNGO EARNS TITLE

Had Greatest Number of Strikeouts For Season

New York, Dec. 26 (AP)—Individual pitching honors of the National League for 1936 went to southpaw Carl Hubbell of the New York Giants and Dizzy Dean of St. Louis Cardinals, while the laurel for group performance was captured by the Chicago Cubs mound staff.

The release of the official figures today merely confirmed the knowledge of baseballers that the screwballing Hubbell had the lowest earned run average went to "Diz" Dean. With a record of only 3.64 earned runs per nine-inning game, Carl was the National League's best pitcher time in his career.

His honors didn't stop there. He scored 26 victories against six defeats and thus became the seventh pitcher in 24 years to win the top laurels both earned run average and won and lost percentage. Hubbell's record was set with an unfinished streak of 16 consecutive wins.

Washington's world champion crew is finding out that getting on top isn't half as hard as staying there.

"Old Diz", working in 51 games for a total of 315 innings, saw more duty than any other moundsman. The smaking part of it is he posted the earned run average of 3.64 figure behind Hubbell. He pitched 26 games, winning 18 against 11 defeats and shade Hubbell by three games. But Dean's 18 wins for the lowly Cardinals is a percentage of only .540 as compared with Hubbell's .818.

The Chicago Cubs, Brooklyn Dodgers' tremendously right handed staff, were the class of the league's batters going down, but he also leaned the most walks, 114, and threw the wild pitches to finish one behind "Wild Bill" Hallahan of Cincinnati Reds.

Bucky Walter, the Phillies' converted third baseman, was the pitcher who pitched four shutouts during the season, but he also suffered more defeats than any other hurlers, 21 losses. The other shutouts artists were Cy Blanton, Pittsburgh; Larry French, Los Warnake and Van Mungo, Brooklyn; Claude Passeau, Pirates and Al Smith of the Giants.

HAPPY HABITANTS LEADING PARADE

Cecil Hart, Manager, Smiles as He Looks at Maroons in Cellar

Montreal, Dec. 26 (CP)—Take a look at the National League standings and see where Cecil Hart smiles serenely across the Montreal hockey scene at the incomprehensible figure of Tommy Gorman.

The figure reveal Montreal Canadiens, Cecil Hart's Habitants, in the Canadian section lead by five points and seven ahead of Gorman's luckless Maroons, once Stanley Cup holders, last season's section champions but a sorry figure in the section cellar.

Figures don't lie, so you're told, and they don't in this case. But to Maroon supporters and Gorman himself this condition must seem a little muddled, for weren't Canadiens the team who, after losing to a record of 2:00 flat, the world's mark for a gelding of his age.

Fourteen years ago at Lexington, Ky., Peter Manning established the championship trotting record of 1:56¾, and since that time—at least until Greyhound came along—the mark has stood practically unchallenged.

"Without a doubt Greyhound will break that record, said Palin. "He'll top it if he's sound and there's every indication he will be."

During the year just ending, Palin's brilliant Greyhound set five mile in two minutes or faster. In winning the progression stake at the Goshen, N.Y., Grand Circuit, Greyhound established a new world's record for a three-heat race, trotting the trio in 2:01, 2:00¾ and 2:00, an average of a shade faster than 2:00½.

Then at Springfield, Ill., he trotted in 2:02 and 1:57¾, the latter a new world's record for a harness horse, either trotter or pacer.

N. H. L. LEADERS

Canadian Section.

Standings and games: Montreal won 9, lost 6, drew 2; points 20.

Goals—Gagnon, Canadiens, 9 goals, 7 assists, 16 points.

Goals—Aurie, Detroit, 10.

Assists—Barry, Detroit, 11.

Penalties — Seibert, Chicago 32 minutes.

Shutouts—Karakas, Chicago, 2.

United States Section.

Standing—Detroit, won 8, lost 4, drew 4; 20 points.

Points—Aurie, Detroit, 10 goals, 7 assists, 17 points.

Goals—Aurie, Detroit, 10.

Assists—Barry, Detroit, 11.

Penalties — Seibert, Chicago 32 minutes.

Shutouts—Karakas, Chicago, 2.

NOW—

That the Hustle and Bustle of Christmas is behind you — you can turn your thoughts to that much needed

OVERCOAT

That you have been putting off buying, maybe in the vain hope that Santa would put it under the tree.

Use that Christmas cheque to good advantage by BUYING NOW!

QUICK AND ROBERTSON

Sport Callings

By Ken Colling

What, no boxing day? This setting down to write after getting on the outside of a turkey drum-stick and all the trimmings is not adequate what it is going to be. A few headache pills and a cold lowed by would be quite adequate here goes for the self-imposed punishment of atonement.

"The forgotten men of football"—that's the new name we've attached the Belleville Checks, Boy Brown, rugby magazine from Kentucky has come out with the suggestion that Sarnia and the Ruling Powers of the Interprovincial Union, leaving the Hamilton Cubs in a position to enjoy a grandstand view of the finish of the O.R.F.U. Now in his proposed senior "S" set up, Mr. Brown suggests the Sarnia Wanderers, Windsor, London, St. Thomas, Hamilton Cubs, Dehawa, Toronto Lindsay and Cobourg, leaving the Belleville Checks high and dry and out in the cold. How Mr. Brown expects places like Lindsay and Cobourg to finance a senior "S" football club and travel such distances as to Windsor and Sarnia, we find it hard to accept. It might be possible that Peterborough or Oshawa could make senior football a paying proposition, but only providing their cities were split up in the Dominion.

Although the weather conditions were anything but acceptable to motorists, and citizens in general yesterday, the air was in perfect conditions that prevailed was right up the alley of children by whom Santa Claus left a new pair of skates. In all parts of the city young Belleville could be seen trying to show their mastery on the ice. Even the big Bay was not free from the youngsters, and those that were not Marcons were those that were Canadiens.

His honors didn't stop there. He scored 26 victories against six defeats and thus became the seventh pitcher in 24 years to win the top laurels both earned run average and won and lost percentage. Hubbell's record was set with an unfinished streak of 16 consecutive wins.

"Old Diz", working in 51 games for a total of 315 innings, saw more duty than any other moundsman. The smaking part of it is he posted the earned run average of 3.64 figure behind Hubbell. He pitched 26 games, winning 18 against 11 defeats and shade Hubbell by three games. But Dean's 18 wins for the lowly Cardinals is a percentage of only .540 as compared with Hubbell's .818.

The Chicago Cubs, Brooklyn Dodgers' tremendously right handed staff, were the class of the league's batters going down, but he also leaned the most walks, 114, and threw the wild pitches to finish one behind "Wild Bill" Hallahan of Cincinnati Reds.

Bucky Walter, the Phillies' converted third baseman, was the pitcher who pitched four shutouts during the season, but he also suffered more defeats than any other hurlers, 21 losses. The other shutouts artists were Cy Blanton, Pittsburgh; Larry French, Los Warnake and Van Mungo, Brooklyn; Claude Passeau, Pirates and Al Smith of the Giants.

HAPPY HABITANTS LEADING PARADE

Cecil Hart, Manager, Smiles as He Looks at Maroons in Cellar

Montreal, Dec. 26 (CP)—Take a look at the National League standings and see where Cecil Hart smiles serenely across the Montreal hockey scene at the incomprehensible figure of Tommy Gorman.

The figure reveal Montreal Canadiens, Cecil Hart's Habitants, in the Canadian section lead by five points and seven ahead of Gorman's luckless Maroons, once Stanley Cup holders, last season's section champions but a sorry figure in the section cellar.

Figures don't lie, so you're told, and they don't in this case. But to Maroon supporters and Gorman himself this condition must seem a little muddled, for weren't Canadiens the team who, after losing to a record of 2:00 flat, the world's mark for a gelding of his age.

Fourteen years ago at Lexington, Ky., Peter Manning established the championship trotting record of 1:56¾, and since that time—at least until Greyhound came along—the mark has stood practically unchallenged.

"Without a doubt Greyhound will break that record, said Palin. "He'll top it if he's sound and there's every indication he will be."

During the year just ending, Palin's brilliant Greyhound set five mile in two minutes or faster. In winning the progression stake at the Goshen, N.Y., Grand Circuit, Greyhound established a new world's record for a three-heat race, trotting the trio in 2:01, 2:00¾ and 2:00, an average of a shade faster than 2:00½.

Then at Springfield, Ill., he trotted in 2:02 and 1:57¾, the latter a new world's record for a harness horse, either trotter or pacer.

N. H. L. LEADERS

Canadian Section.

Standings and games: Montreal won 9, lost 6, drew 2; points 20.

Goals—Gagnon, Canadiens, 9 goals, 7 assists, 16 points.

Goals—Aurie, Detroit, 10.

Assists—Barry, Detroit, 11.

Penalties — Seibert, Chicago 32 minutes.

Shutouts—Karakas, Chicago, 2.

United States Section.

Standing—Detroit, won 8, lost 4, drew 4; 20 points.

Points—Aurie, Detroit, 10 goals, 7 assists, 17 points.

Goals—Aurie, Detroit, 10.

Assists—Barry, Detroit, 11.

Penalties — Seibert, Chicago 32 minutes.

Shutouts—Karakas, Chicago, 2.

Sports Roundup

New York, Dec. 26 (AP) — Mike Jacobs, the fight promoter, does his level best to satisfy all men . . . before letting Joe Louis fight he demanded one thing: that Mr. Louis be beaten the man who beats him must fight for Uncle Mike and nobody else. . . . Until Mike devises a better way to take care of himself, this one will have to do. . . . Add comebacks: Frank Carideo, a failure as head coach at Missouri, is in addat Missouri State . . . he did a great job down there with the backs. . . . Two pleasant words were arguing about the Reds and Cards' . . .

"They're in cahoots, those fox" roared he. "Yeah, so are Eleanor Holm Jarrett and Avery Brundage! W'eeowcated the other. Eddie Shore of Boston Bruins is probably the best all-round player in the National Hockey League . . . but the tougher the crowd is the better he goes, and boy, can he go. . . .

Scoop: The New York Yachti Club's dooy man is named Sam . . . and a wrong 'un, too . . . Sam's last name is Goddard. . . . H. O. Salzinger points out that if the great Dean Hall is ever to be any longer be something out of Ring Lardner, Jr. . . . most of his stories are prompted by Pepper Martin, Leo Durocher and Dizzy Dean, stars of the Cubes government's advice on their big sports week was Harvey Harman, Rutgers football coach . . . Harman's going down there to officiate in the Villanova-Manhattan ball game. . . . Odds on the Rose Bowl game are 9-10 and take your pick.

Story: Texas Christian's great passer, Sammy Baugh, came back from his bucket and a broken leg and called . . . "All right," said the guy who was to get it, "let's see you throw that leg." . . . Baugh did . . . To which the slinger replied, "Well, I'll be damned. It's cured."

There's no figuring it.

Pitt is generally recognized as football champion of the East, but it does not hold the Pittsburgh city title, and Schenley High, with two games, is national champ, but is just next best in the Big Three. . . . Duke also has another promising heavyweight coming up . . . His name is Johnny Mazuranic, and he scored 23 points in his last 25 fights. . . . Harold Anderfuhrer, Duke's 200-pound halfward before his New American's Cup coach is built . . . and that's from a guy who once rode the Staten Island ferry. It's the upkeep on yachts not the building of that counts.

HOCKEY RESULTS

National League.

Chicago..... 2 Detroit 1

International-American League.

Springfield..... 1 Providence 1

Pacific Coast League.

Oakland ..... 3 Vancouver 2

American Association.

Kansas City ..	3	St. Paul 1
Minneapolis ..	5	Milwaukee 2
Eastern U. S. Association.
Providence ..	3	Springfield 2
New York	5	Baltimore 2
Big Six League.
Kitchener	2	Stratford 1
		Exhibition.
Preston Jrs.....	4	Wallaceburg Jrs. 1
Atlantic City..	4	Canadiens 2

Track Meet to Open Sport's Week Festival

New Orleans, Dec. 26 (AP)—United States Olympic stars came here today for the Sugar Bowl track meet contain-under the auspices of the A.A.U. designed to rival the Mardi Gras.

Mayor Robert Maestri, New Orleans welcomed Glenn Cunningham, the famous miler; Helen Stephens, the fast girl sprinter; Jesse Owens, Dan Ronnan and Don Lash, also star miler running, and Ken McArthur, the steeplechase king.

The weather for the mile was expected to be in danger when Cunningham, San Romani and Lash step to the starting mark.

Coach Jimmy Phelan took his Washington Huskies out in a private polo field at Santa Barbara for complete privacy, and held a lengthy drill. It included plenty of blocking and ball-carrying.

Over at San Bernadino, Coach Jock Sutherland ordered a similar workout.

He didn't have to warn the Panthers to put aside post-Christmas lethargy. His boys are to intent on the New Year's Day game as they were the day they left Pittsburgh earlier this month.

Rose Bowl Squads Down to Hard Work

Pasadena, Calif., Dec. 26 (AP)—Rival Rose Bowl squads, Pittsburgh and Washington, bore down today in one of the hardest practice sessions of their training schedules.

Coach Jimmy Phelan took his Washington Huskies out in a private polo field at Santa Barbara for complete privacy, and held a lengthy drill. It included plenty of blocking and ball-carrying.

Over at San Bernadino, Coach Jock Sutherland ordered a similar workout.

He didn't have to warn the Panthers to put aside post-Christmas lethargy. His boys are to intent on the New Year's Day game as they were the day they left Pittsburgh earlier this month.

FLIERS STILL UNBEATEN

St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 26 (CP)—St. Louis Flyers remained unbeaten in the American Hockey Association leadership today after playing a 4-4 tie with Minneapolis Millers here last night. Furpar, Hansen, Mackinnon and Shillington scored for Flyers; Candrizzati, Davis, Leapi and Blake netted for Millers.

AT THE ARENA

Public Skating Tonight

NEXT WEEK:

Public Skating Daily, each Afternoon and Evening

PLACING CREDIT WHERE IT'S DUE LOOK AT LITTLE

Review of Star Performances In 1936 Sport Recalls Play for Canadian Open Golf Title

By ELMER DULMAGE

Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—For sheer magic in Canadian sport this year, for the highest point of achievement reached by any competitor, you may take W. Lawson Little's golf exploit at the St. Andrews course near Toronto and not be wrong.

It was Olympic year and all that but no Canadian behaved at home or abroad quite as sensationally as Little did in winning the Canadian open. If you look coldly at the figures and luck, you'll see why the burly San Francisco golfer's performance brought such a rave from the experts.

In 72 holes of medal play over 6,700 yards, Little scored 69-68-66-69—272. Aside from all the rich color that attached to the long-hitting major triumph by Little since he retired as amateur champion of the United States in 1935, the occasion was a rare one.

On all counts it was the best bit of golf played anywhere in 1936 and when compared with the star-studded squadron of top-notch U.S. professionals at Little's heels. Over a three-day stretch, the San Francisco boy was invincible. His golf was miraculous.

This was perfection in sport that hasn't approached by any other athletes, greatest of whom were Phil Edwards, Johnny Loaring and Bobwic McPhee in track; Charlie Conacher, Eddie Shore and Sweeney Schriner in hockey; Hugh Sterling, Arnie Morrison, Bobby Coulter, Dean Oerlling, Pete Hanson and others in football; Jimmy McFarrin in the ring; Frank Amyot in his canoe.

The fact that Little had "flopped" in tournament play since winning as an amateur and was by no means a second Bobby Jones in open competition was merely an added attraction when he went to work on those links. Even he has never had played such golf in an open championship. Nor had any other man.

Four sub-70 rounds in a national event is a dream of every golfer—Jones, Hagen, Sarazen, Cotton, Whitcombe, Manero, Revolta and the lot of them. When Little released the dream, at the same time he showed his kid to succeed Jones as the best golfer on earth, he toppled the list of good works in Canada.

SCOTT'S SCRAPBOOK

by R. J. SCOTT

COPYRIGHT, 1936, CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION 12-26

Red Tickets on Tide

The best hockey player of the year was either Conacher or Shore and perhaps Syd Boy Liddle lost the decision that night in Toronto when, greatly annoyed at a decision given Toronto Leafs a goal, he shot the puck at a referee and earned a 10-minute misconduct penalty. It was a playoff game between the Bruins and Leafs, Boston going ahead 4-2 in the second period after there didn't seem much chance for Toronto until Shore was punished, replied that what he finally returned the Bruins were beaten. Conacher had led the season's most dazzling rally and put out the Bruins.

Another dominant figure in the National Hockey League was David (Sweeney) Schriner of New York Americans, a sophomore from Calgary. Willis Schriner was adjudged the outstanding rookie of the previous season, a great hockey player was indeed if he fulfills future.

Business-like and shrewd, Schriner is no puck-carrier like Harvey Jackson or Shore. He can't stickhandle like Liddel or Conacher or shoot like Conacher. But within striking distance of goal he was master. He led the league's scorers last season and left all the top rank players way behind in the scoring belief that Sweeney is one of the best right runner hockey has had.

The track stars—Bysarde, Leonard, Meredith, Lee Orr, Bill Pius, Larry O'Connor—made a fine stand at the Berlin Olympics without winning a first place. Bysarde was one of the best athletes there, taking third and fourth place with 6,870 and 6,550 to score for the third time in the games.

Loyola University of Western Ontario student, placed second in the 400-metre hurdles final and came back to get sixth in the 400-metre flat race. Pritz was fifth in the 200-metre final and fifth in the 400-metre final. O'Connor, fifth in the 5,000 metres, Meredith, Canada's boys were running against the fastest men in the world.

Canadian interest in the making when he equalled and broke Canadian records in the 100 metres and preliminaries. McPhee failed in Berlin, but with Canadian records in Australia, boy still is a great prospect. He and Orr are likely to become International stars.

NATIONAL LEAGUE STANDINGS

	W.	L.	T.
Canadiens	9	6	2
Toronto	8	7	3
Americans	8	7	3
Maroons	8	8	2
Ottawa, United States Section.
Detroit	8	4	4
Rangers	7	5	4
Chicago	6	5	4
Boston	3	8	4
Chicago	2	9	4

5-1 WIN FOR WICHITA

Wichita, Kan., Dec. 26 (AP)—The Wichita Skyhawks walloped Tulsa Oilers 5-1 in an American Hockey Association game here last night. Paspka, with two, Campbell, Goodman and Vasicek scored for the Hawks. Marcelle snared the lone Oiler counter.

GREYHOUNDS WIN

Local Greyhounds came from behind last night to score a victory over St. Paul Saints in an American Hockey Association game. Mackinnon, Rockburn and Wassle scored for Greyhounds with Dahlstrom getting St. Paul's tally.

BACK FROM SPAIN — AND GLAD OF IT!

Both from different parts of the United States and both back from war torn Spain, the young man in the upper photo and the young woman in the lower are greeted upon their return to America. He is Carl Fabiani, Bronx boy flier, is embracing his father at NYC. Pal-here he is with Italian troops in Ethiopia and later went to Spain, where he joined Gen. Franco's rebels. The young woman, dancer, Noni Nissenfeld, is here greeted by her mother as she arrived at San Francisco. Miss Nissenfeld left Barcelona after her dancing partner was drafted into the Loyalist forces. She carried back with her war memories including a, snapshot of her wounded husband and a bullet wound on her leg.

Change of Heart .

By JANE OSBORN

"Madge dear!"

"Walter!"

That was the way they began. After a separation of four months Madge had written to Walter and told him that she would be glad to receive him call that Saturday afternoon, and she had anticipated the little interview under the grape arbor beside her father's country house with a uneasiness that somehow seemed to leave her now that she actually saw the slender young man approach her with outstretched hands.

"I wanted to tell you, Walter—dear," she said permitting him to take her hands gently in his as they sat down together on the bench under the arbor, "that I've changed my mind entirely—about what is got ought to do. I didn't let you know because I wanted to be sure, and I wanted to surprise you, I—"

"But Madge, dear," said the young man, "you were perhaps entirely right. I've been thinking things over myself, I realize that conditions are not what they were when our mothers were young. My cousin has been spending the summer with us—Martha Stone—I know you'd like her and I have told her all about you. She believes as you do—that in these days a girl has the right to choose—whether she wants to devote herself to domestic matters or follow some career that she's really better suited for."

Madge looked up amazed but the young man continued. "The fact is, Madge—dear— that Martha somehow got the matter so I understood it. Martha has wonderful ideas—I know you also will be great friends. She herself was "that if she ever marries she will continue her music teaching."

Madge just sat and looked at Walter and felt the gentle pressure of his hands on hers without a bit of the thrill that she had expected. Six months ago when they saw each other for the last time they had come to a serious disagreement. They were making plans for an autumn wedding, and Madge had declared that she never intended to do any sort of housework. She had got her appointment as a high school teacher and she liked the work. Walter had insisted—Walter who was worthy quite mild of manner had actually become quite angry. The engagement had not been actually broken but Madge had gone off to visit an aunt and had arranged between themselves not even to write for six months. They would think matters over in the meantime.

So Madge had gone to visit her aunt—Still wearing her engagement ring she met a nephew of her aunt's husband—Tom Bradford—and before many weeks had passed she had told Tom of her antipathies.

"I don't blame your Walter in the least," Tom had said "I never want to marry a girl who wouldn't take an interest in her own home. If a girl didn't care enough for me to be willing to do that I wouldn't think she cared enough for me to marry me."

After that Madge registered in a school of domestic science and before another week had passed she was deeply interested in cooking, housekeeping, household administration and was taking a course in dressmaking besides.

And here she was—Madge with Walter—waiting to tell him her great surprise—and Walter was in no mood to listen to her.

"So you see you really have my cousin Martha to thank," Walter was saying. "She showed me how absurd it would be for you—when you might be earning several thousand dollars a year even to start with—to be wasting your time on housework."

She even suggested taking apartments—Then we would both be quite free and we could get meals out and not bother keeping any maid. Martha has wonderful ideas—you and Martha must meet her. Now you must tell me what you wanted to tell me about," said Walter.

Madge had slipped the ring from her finger that she had worn faithfully for six months of her absence. "I've been thinking things over Walter, I really am a great deal of you. But I was thinking that perhaps after all we oughtn't to be married. We might not have disagreed this way we did unless we were a little unsettled—"

Walter released the hand he had been holding—very gently, without apparently any emotion. "Well, of course," he said, "it is better to find that out now than later. My cousin Martha has such good ideas about marriage. She says she thinks most of the divorces nowadays are due to the fact that people don't really—"Walter went on but Madge did not hear him. She was thinking of Tom that evening she met her aunt's. He had held her hand in a close grasp for a minute, then raising it impulsively to his lips he had kissed it and let it drop.

"Of course I want you to marry your Walter if he can make you happy," he said. "But he can't possibly love you not more than I do."

"I think perhaps I could make you happier than I could you," Madge told Walter. "And of course there's your cousin Martha." He was wondering as he fingered the ring whether it would be too small for Martha.

WOMAN DOCTOR STUCK OFF

London (CP)—Convicted of intent to procure miscarriage of women, the name of a Harley Street woman physician was struck from the Medical Register.

FAILED TO BLOW UP

Trinidad (CP)—Mrs. J. L. Hoose and a lot of spectators held their breaths when her car slid down an icy hill and collided with a truck loaded with dynamite. But there was no explosion. Experts say dynamite only rarely explodes on impact.

DEFENDED HIS WIFE

London (CP)—Pleading his wife, charged with shoplifting, had a marital history and asking she be bound over not to enter public houses to drink cheap wine, a solicitor obtained the woman's release on probation.

Radio Programs

SATURDAY

6.28—Breakfast Club—WJZ
7.30—Metropolitan Opera Co.—WJZ
8.30—Weekend Revue—WEAF
8.30—Kaltenmeyer's Kindergarten—WHAM
8.30—News—CFRB
7.15—Sportcast, Ted Husing—WABC
7.30—Concert Band, Ed. D'Anna, cond.—WABC
8.00—Ed. Wynn, comedian—WJZ
8.05—Waller O'Keefe, m.c. Revue
8.05—Steve Cochran, tenor—WEAF
8.05—Workshop, drama—WABC
8.30—Football Review; Ray Perez's Orch.—WABC
9.00—Hockey game, Toronto Leafs vs. Boston Bruins—CFRB
8.05—Na'l Barn Dance—WJZ
8.05—Floyd Gibbons, Vincent Lopez Orch. WABC
9.30—Chateau; Smith Ballew—WEAF
10.00—Your Hit parade—WABC
10.05—Barn Dance Frolic—WLS
10.30—Irvin S. Cobb's Fadcast Plantation—WEAF
11.05—Na'l Barn Dance—WJW
11.15—Benny Goodman's Orch.—CFRB

SUNDAY

11.30—Joe Rines Dress Rehearsal—WJZ
11.30—Major Bowes Family—WJR
12.00—Pageant of Youth; Johnny Johnson's Orch.—WJZ
12.30—Radio City Concert—NBC; WJZ; WLW
12.30—Salt Lake City Tabernacle—WABC
1.00—"Radio Key"—WJZ
2.00—Pittsburgh Symph. Orch.—WABC
3.30—Grand Hotel, starring Anne Seymour—WEAF
4.00—Sunday Vespers—WJZ.
5.00—"We, the People"; Phillip H. Lord—WJW
5.30—Smilin' Ed. McConnell—WEAF
5.30—Guy Lombardo's Orch.—WJW
5.30—Stoopnagle and Budd—WJZ
6.00—Joe Penner comedian—WABC
6.30—Rudolf and His Violin—WABC
7.00—Jack Benny—WEAF
7.30—Phil Baker, comedian, —WABC
7.30—Fireside Recitals — WEAF
7.30—Robt. L. Ripley—WJZ
8.00—Good Will Hour—WEAF
8.00—"Open House" starring Nelson Eddy—WABC
8.30—Eddie Cantor—WABC
9.00—Sunday Evening Hour — WABC
9.00—Manhattan Merry-go-Round —WEAF
9.05—Waller Winchell—WJZ
9.15—Paul Whiteman's Musical Varieties—WJZ
9.30—Album of Familiar Music —WEAF
10.00—Concert—WEAF
10.00—Community Singing—WABC
12.00—Ernest Lopez, orchestra—WABC

MONDAY

9.00—Breakfast Club—WJZ
10.00—Sally and Bob—WABC
10.45—Ed. MacHugh, Gospel Singer—WJZ
11.45—Dr. Allan Roy DaFoe—WABC
2.00—Al Pearce's Gang—WABC
4.00—Hour of Charm; Phil Spitalny's All Girl Orch—WEAF
5.30—Singing Lady—WJZ
7.00—Amos 'n' Andy—WEAF
7.15—Uncle Ezra—WJZ
8.00—Fibber McGee and Molly—WEAF
8.00—Horace Heidt's Brigadiers—WABC
8.00—Helen Hayes in 'Hamlet'—WJZ
8.30—Margaret Speaks, sop.—WEAF
8.30—Pick and Pat—WABC
8.30—Melodiana—WJZ
9.00—Radio Theatre—WABC
9.00—Greater Ministries—WJZ
9.00—Warden Lawes in "20,000 Years in Sing Sing"—WEAF
9.30—Richard Himber's Orch.—WEAF
9.30—Jack Pearl—WJZ
10.00—WAYNE King's Orchestra —WABC
10.00—Children's Christmas Party—WEAF
10.30—Musical Toast; Jerry Cooper, bar—WEAF
11.00—Christmas Carols—WJZ
11.30—Ray Noble's Orch.—WEAF

TUESDAY

9.00—Breakfast Club—WJZ.
11.45— Ed. MacHugh, Gospel Singer—WJZ.
2.30—Music Guild—WJZ
3.00—Singing Lady—WJZ.
3.00—Al Pearce's Gang—WABC
3.30—Singing Lady—WJZ.
7.00—Amos 'n' Andy—WEAF
7.00—Easy Aces, sketch—WJZ
7.30—Lum & Abner Sketch—WLW
8.00—Log Cabin Ranch—WJZ
8.00—Hammerstein Music Hall.
8.00—Leo Reisman's Orch.—WEAF
8.30—Wayne King's Orch.—WEAF
8.30—Edgar A. Guest—WJZ
9.00—Al Jolson M.C. Victor Young's Orch.—WABC
9.00—Fred Waring's Orch. —WABC
9.00—Wm. Bendix and the Lads: —WJZ
9.00—Sidewalk Interviews—WEAF
9.30—Fred Astaire and Charles Butterworth and Johnny Green's Orchestra—WEAF.
9.30—Georgie Stoll's Orch. and Benny Goodman's Orch. —WABC
11.00—Christmas Carols—WJZ

MR. AND MRS.— By Briggs

BRINGING UP FATHER— By Georgia McM:

TILLIE THE TOILER— By Russ Westover

TODDY— By George [illegible]

TARZAN AND THE LEOPARD MEN (Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service)

BORN TO THRONE PRINCESS HOLDS LOVE OF PEOPLE

From Babyhood Golden-Haired Elizabeth Was Trained for Appointed Task

By CHARLES NORMAN

Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON (AP)—On the 12th anniversary of the birth of Princess Elizabeth, heir-presumptive to the throne, in the Glamis Castle nursery at 17 Bruton Street, the town residence of her maternal grandfather, the Earl of Strathmore.

But passengers from a fairy tale world were there in person April 21, 1926—years of the realm, princes of the royal blood, and a solemn portal commoner, the Home Secretary, whose presence was required if the birth of a royal child who might some day be the sovereign.

Outside in the street ordinary denizens of London gathered in groups to discuss the event, for even without knowing whether the child of the Duke and Duchess of York was a boy or a girl it was realized that some day the little children of the royal family might be on the throne.

George V was King then and next to him the most popular figure in the Empire was the Prince of Wales, but the Prince had shown himself a laggard as regards marriage, and apparent heir to the throne was next in line for the crown was his brother, the Duke of York, and after him, his children. Thus from the moment of her birth Princess Elizabeth was listed in the line for the succession. Only the advent of a baby brother could break her sovereign destiny. She was destined under prophetic circumstances in the private chapel of Buckingham Palace.

Dressed in a long lace robe which had adorned the persons of George V, and Edward VIII on a similar occasion, the baby was baptized Elizabeth Alexandra Mary.

"After three years," whispered the good citizens of London and of the County of Portsmouth, "the Duke and Duchess of York's family. Guns boomed and beacon fires burned on the hills and the people saw in the advent of this child a possible future ruler.

From the time Elizabeth as "Lilibet" first found its own self-reliant feet her carriage in a drive around Windsor Great Park was the signal for the appearance in person, when fair weather permitted, of the subject's self-conferred name, she had confidently heard the one born to the purple and ermine of sovereignty, and had done with childish charm and unconscious regality. Her sister's birth in 1930 was another event of her life that she remembered.

Taken to Glamis Castle, the Duchess, now Queen Elizabeth as the consort of George VI, took the Princess with three ponies she got to her Scottish home, Glamis Castle. There the little child started the horsemanship that she has on the Scottish people from whom her mother springs and which she excelled by the devotion held only equalled by the devotion of that in fears from the people of the Empire at large.

Princess Elizabeth, now ten years old, is a philatelist and her collection of stamps may some day rival that of her grandsire, George V. She likes horses and dogs and has her own pony, and her letters are written on stationery with the royal crest.

On her seventh birthday King George and Queen Mary attended a party in her honor at Windsor Castle; the birthday cake was made by the King's own chef. After this birthday she requested that no more dolls be given her.

She has been a bridesmaid at the wedding of the Duke of Gloucester and Lady Alice Montagu-Douglas-Scott and the wedding of the Duchess of Kent and Princess Marina of Greece. During the Jubilee Princess Elizabeth was a prominent and constantly cheered figure.

Elizabeth is a delighted Princess, a slender child, thrilled by the pomp and pageantry of her ancestry and her family's heritage before cheering crowds. Her blue eyes and fair tures reflect the fixation with the royal family, and her reasonableness for her father in whom she marked than it is to her mother's.

In recent years she has lost two inches of age, she has shot up fast and turned long-legged until today she is like a slender flower of a girl. Indeed, so pretty a picture does she make among the flowers of her own garden as the royal lodge in Windsor Great Park that her father often photographed her there—a flower of a Princess among natural blossoms.

Reading, writing and arithmetic, French and dancing and knitting and attendance at state functions have been her lot. She loves to see soldiers and she loves the pomp of the guard at the palace, trooping of the colors, and all the pomp and pageantry of royal life. She likes to take her dog for a walk.

TEARS BRING WELCOME

Slough, England (CP) — Asking with tears in her eyes to be allowed to marry and marry the English man she loved, Ella Maurer, 52, a German, was sentenced to one day in jail last week. Magistrate Wilde cut penalties, but she will not be deported.

GROWS GRASS FOR WHEAT

Pawnee City, Neb. (CP) — This year, Mrs. M. Warner's 640-acre farm produced 11,000 bushels of wheat but in 1937 it will grow nothing but grass to save it from erosion.

WORLD'S OLDEST NOTARIAN

Judge Amos Miller, 92, attorney for more than half a century at Hillsboro, Ill., is the world's oldest Notarian. He joined the organization in 1890 as a charter member of the Hillsboro unit. In 1927, during his presidency of the local group, he was sent as a delegate to the Notary International convention in Ghent, Belgium.

—Central Press Canadian Photo.

TWO CANADIANS PEN PLAY TRIED OUT IN LONDON

Halifax and Vancouver Playwrights Receive Support in London for Stage Production "Family Hold Back."

LONDON (CP)—"Family Hold Back," a play by two Canadians, Frank G. Davison of Vancouver, and John Mitchell of Halifax, has been tried out here at the Aldwych Theatre by Miss Marie Lohr, eminent London actress-manageress.

The play, scenes of which are laid in Spain and the Canary Islands, where Mr. Davison has lived, was written in Nova Scotia last summer.

Miss Lohr, who toured Canada several years ago with four productions from the Globe Theatre which she then managed, is at present featured in "Call It a Day" with Owen Nares and Fay Compton, currently the play with the longest consecutive run here.

The production of "Family Hold Back" is under the auspices of the Repertory Society, who have sponsored a number of recent London productions.

John Mitchell, a member of one of Halifax's oldest families, is a graduate of Dalhousie University and has won considerable recognition for his published work, including "Songs" and "Other Songs" written under the pen-name John Hanlon. He was formerly on the staff of the Halifax Herald and was an enthusiastic worker in the Theatre Arts Guild of Halifax which produced his pantomime "Cinderella." Several of his short stories have appeared in Canadian publications.

Born in Rantspord, N.S., the son of Captain Hiram Caulfield Davison, F. C. Davison moved to Vancouver in his early youth. He was educated at McGill and Harvard Universities; served on the secretariat of the League of Nations at Geneva during its early years; was a member of the staff of the Paris Herald and managing editor of the Forum Magazine, New York, under the pseudonym of Pierre Coalfleet. He has published a number of novels, one of which, "Solo," has a Nova Scotian background.

In the production of "Family Hold Back" Miss Lohr's principal support consists of Miss Margaret Churchill, leading woman of "The Dominant Sex," during its lengthy London engagement and prominent in British films; Miss Margaret Rawlings, leading woman for Sir Seymour Hicks, and in the Korda film "Things to Come" and highly praised in the Shakespearian play at the Old Vic and the Open Air Theatre in Regent's Park; Miss Patricia Hayes, now playing in "Night Must Fall"; Bernard Lee, supported by Miss Constance Cummings in "Young Madam Conti" at the Savoy Theatre; and H. O. Shalders, now stationed at Halifax, N.S., as an officer in the Royal Navy, and now a prominent West End actor.

BULL HOLDS UP ISLAND TRAFFIC

Sangre Grande, Trinidad (CP) —It took a cow-brown bull to untangle a traffic jam on the Sangre Grande-Matura road for a bull had escaped from a nearby field.

The bull held up pedestrians for several hours as it stood in the middle of the narrow road, challenging anyone to advance. James Coates of Matura, accepted the challenge and received three broken ribs and a number of bruises. Finally someone thought of the lasso and the animal recaptured and led back to his field.

PAINTED FUNNEL FOOLS BIG BIRD

Dashed to Death When Mistook Redpolls of Lips for Real Sheaf of Wheat

SAINT JOHN (CP)—Maybe long weeks on the open sea had sharpened the imagination of the sailor. Or maybe the story is true. It concerns a hungry bird and a ship with a painted funnel.

The ship was the Sheaf Spear, in Saint John Harbor after a rough ocean trip. She carried on her funnel the insignia of the line, a sheaf of wheat, painted a golden color.

The sailor's story is best told in his own words: "We were way out in mid-Atlantic on one of our voyages—1,000 miles from the nearest land. Suddenly a speck appeared in the sky; it was a huge bird steering a course straight as an arrow for the ship.

"High above she flew. Now she was on our port side, now on the starboard. She must have caught sight of our funnel markings just then, for down she swooped in a power-dive and made straight for the sheaf of wheat. In the sun's glow, that sheaf must have had the allure of ripe-golden wheat swaying in the breeze."

The ship's cook contributed the climax with well-rehearsed surprise. "Boy," he ejaculated, "dat bird done banged herself against the funnel with might force. He fall close to the galley. My, my, dat was too bad."

LOCKED HORNS IN DEATH GRIP

Hunters Just Miss Last Round of Ferocious Struggle in Forest.

GLENGARRY, N.S. (CP)—Mute evidence of a titanic struggle that ended in death for both combatants, two buck deer have been found in the woods near here, their horns locked in an unbreakable grip.

Found by a party of Stellarton, N.S., hunters, the deer apparently started to death as they lay on the ground, unable to regain their footing or to shake loose their antlers. Torn-up ground in the vicinity gave evidence of their futile struggle.

Each deer, if dressed, would weigh around 350 pounds, the hunters said. Each had 14 antler points, one with a 50-inch spread and the other with 18. According to Chief Ranger H. F. Chabassol of Westville, they had been dead four or five days when discovered.

CHANGE DEMANDED BY FRENCH WOMEN

PARIS (CP) — Feminists have launched a campaign to free the French married woman from the restrictions imposed on her by French law.

French women in general have no rights and the French married woman has practically no legal rights whatever. Her signature is not valid on any legal document without her husband's authorization she cannot run a business, rent an apartment, have a bank account, get a passport or take out insurance on her life.

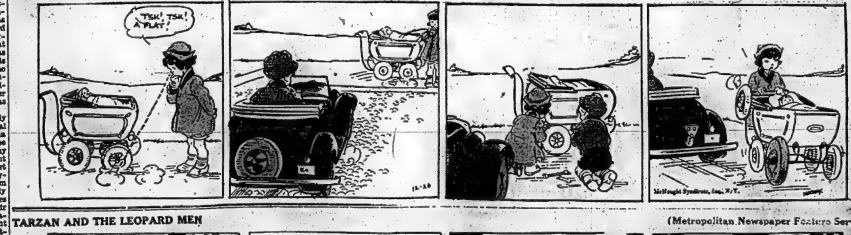
A married actress, for example, must have her husband's authorization before she makes any engagement. He can, if he chooses, forbid her appearance in a particular scene which he does not like. Evidence of a wife's unfaithfulness is a legal ground for divorce but the wife can obtain a divorce against her husband's wishes only if it can be proved that he committed adultery in their own home.

Madame Kraemer Black, French lawyer and one of the leaders in the campaign for legal rights for married women, said that "children and idiots have more legal rights under English law than some married French women under French law."

Among the examples which feminists use in their campaign for right for women is the following: A wife whose husband had left her for another woman was working to support herself when she was persuaded to accept aid in a divorce scandal. She obtained her husband's signature on one of the divorce company.

The court awarded her a life alimony compensation for her injuries, but she lives in a public institution because the gaunty (quite legally) is paid to her husband and he (quite legally) spends it all himself.

MR. AND MRS.— By Briggs



BRINGING UP FATHER— By George McManus

TILLIE THE TOILER— By Russ Westover

TODDY— By George [illegible]

TARZAN AND THE LEOPARD MEN (Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service)

THE WEATHER
Northerly winds; fair; moderately cold tonight. Tuesday — Easterly winds; partly cloudy; not much change in temperature; probably followed by some light snow.

The Ontario Intelligencer

BELLEVILLE ONTARIO, MONDAY, DECEMBER 28, 1936

TEMPERATURES
Today
Max. 36 Year Ago Min. 19
Max. 12 Min. 3 Below

HILL, ARNOTT, ARMSTRONG, MIKEL NOMINATED

Germany May Avoid Possibility of War without Banning Volunteers

Twenty - Six Nominated For Aldermanic Seats; 3 for Commissioner

Interest at Low Ebb at Nominations at City Hall Today

Nominated

4 NOMINEES SPEAK

Necessity of Economy, City Management Issue, And Other Problems Discussed

Four named as candidates for Mayoralty of Belleville in addition to proposed as candidates for the third two aldermanic seats, three nominated for the Hydro Commissionership and thirteen nominated for seven public school trustee positions were the sum of the civic nominations as the city hall today. Two wards gave trustee acclamations.

FOR MAYOR

Mayor Harry Hill—Proposed, by H. J. Clarke, seconded by R. W. Greenleaf.

Ald. Harold J. Armstrong—proposed by Harry Hill, seconded by Chas. L. Hyde.

Ald. R. D. Arnott—proposed by O. E. Thompson, seconded by E. T. Wright.

W. C. Mikel, K.C.—proposed by Harold Kennedy, seconded by John Exley.

FOR ALDERMEN

Ward One—Ald. Sam Bell, proposed by C. E. Thompson, seconded by C. E. Clapp.

R. D. Reid, proposed by G. O. Barrager, seconded by C. B. Thompson.

Harold Armstrong, proposed by R. D. Arnott, seconded by C. O. Barrager.

Thos. Wills, proposed by R. D. Arnott, seconded by G. C. Barrager.

Ward Two—Ald. Charlotte Bell, proposed by G. B. Barlow, seconded by A. Kennedy.

Ald. R. Reid, proposed by R. D. Arnott, seconded by H. J. Armstrong.

G. A. Bennett, proposed by W. H. Painter, seconded by Mrs. Charlotte Harold Salesse, proposed by J. Bell, seconded by W. A. Woodley.

Wm. Harvey, proposed by R. D. Arnott, seconded by G. A. Reid.

Ward Three—Ald. Ernest W. A. Woodley, seconded by Geo. Reid.

Ald. Cushing, proposed by J. W. Barlow, seconded by W. A. Woodley

Ald. Geo. Reid, proposed by W. A. Woodley, seconded by Geo. Reid.

Thos. Cushing, proposed by J. W. Barlow, seconded by W. A. Woodley

Ward Four—Ald. Chas. Hyde, proposed by Thos. Ousbine, seconded by I. Stephenson.

(Continued on page seven)

KING REPRIEVES 3 FROM DEATH

Communists Sentenced to Life Imprisonment

London, Dec. 28.—(CP Cable)—Three men under sentence of death were reprieved by King George during the Christmas holidays, the first reprieves of the new reign.

They were those convicted of being connected to life imprisonment were John Thomas, a professional chemist's assistant convicted in Glamorgan of the murder of a housekeeper's assistant, Jeanette Roper; Arthur Smith North, convicted at Hull of the murder of Ellis Mayer; and Albert Edward Batty of Sheffield, sentenced for the murder of Rosa Blackburn.

Reprieves are signed by the King. Prior to Queen Victoria's reign the Sovereign had to sign the death warrant. Victoria signed only one of these before the formality was abolished.

THURLOW REEVE IS ACCLAIMED

Wesley Gray Will Be Candidate For Warden's Chair

Wesley Gray, Reeve of Thurlow, and candidate for the wardenship of Hastings County this year was elected Reeve of that municipality today by acclamation, when nomination papers were filed at Canniffton, a large number of the electors being present. Reeve Robson was also given an acclamation for Deputy Reeve, it is not likely there will be a contest for the wardenship this year now nominated for the three councils of Thurlow Township.

Thurlow Township

Reeve—Wesley Gray (acc.)

Deputy Reeve — Ronald Robson, (acc.)

Council — George McDonald, Harry Harrison, Bruce Martin, William Hamilton, Gordon Jinnah (by Means, (Three to be elected.)

DRIVING RECORD AT CHRISTMAS IS CALLED DISGRACE

'Negation of Everything For Which Christmas Stands' —Roebuck

HOPE FOR NEW YEAR'S

Never Drive Car After Tasting Liquor, He Advises

Toronto, Dec. 28 (CP)—Commenting on the number of motor accidents during the Christmas season, Attorney-General Roebuck said today the "record of bad driving over Christmas has been a disgrace, a blot upon our city and province and a negation of everything for which Christmas stands."

"In marked contrast to the general peace and kindness has been the death, injury, suffering and loss brought about by reckless and intoxicated drivers," he said.

"Christmas affords no excuse for taking needless risks with lives and well-being of others. Christmas has now passed but the New Year follows day with its accompanying festivities is at hand. Will the day be marred by accidents and other traffic disasters? I hope not."

The attorney-general urged all motorists never to drive a car "after tasting liquor of any kind, however small the quantity, and under no circumstances to allow gaiety to find expression in fast or careless driving."

CLIMBER DANGLES FROM END OF ROPE

William Christie Loses Footing on Mountain Climb

Glencoe, Argyllshire, Dec. 28 (AP) Hope was virtually abandoned today for the life of William Christie, dangling head downward on a rope the last peak of a 3,000-foot mountain.

Dawn disclosed the 25-year-old mountain climber still suspended by his feet far down the side of a cliff after an all night race by rescuers to reach him.

Christie was discovered he had not shifted his position during the night and they feared he was dead.

They reached the lofty, windswept pinnacle from which Christie fell yesterday but the task of reaching him promised to be slow and hazardous.

Christie slipped in the snow and plunged down the cliff. He was some three hours before darkness fell, the others went for help. Urgent appeals were sent to expert mountaineers in Edinburgh and Glasgow, 100 miles away.

BROADCAST BY DUKE OF KENT

Speaks to South Australia on Occasion of Centenary

London, Dec. 28 (CP)—The Duke of Kent, in an Empire broadcast today on the occasion of the centenary of South Australia, read a message from King George wishing the state ever-increasing prosperity and happiness.

The queen and I retain the happiest memories of our visit to South Australia and I welcome this opportunity of greeting its people again," the message read.

The Australian people always follow, with close interest the fortunes of the royal family," said Canberra, a large number of the electors being present. Reeve Robson was also given an acclamation for Deputy Reeve, it is not likely there will be a contest for the wardenship this year now nominated for the three councils of Thurlow Township.

Thurlow Township

Reeve—Wesley Gray (acc.)

Deputy Reeve — Ronald Robson, (acc.)

Council — George McDonald, Harry Harrison, Bruce Martin, William Hamilton, Gordon Jinnah (by Means, (Three to be elected.)

NEWS BRIEFS AND ODDITIES

Ely, England, Dec. 28 (AP)—The Bishop of Ely decided 25 years ago that two things he would never allow in his cathedral were "noise" and "relics."

The Bishop feels the "present must wear hats" rule is being carried too far. On at least one occasion, he said, "a girl, in avoid rebuff, borrowed the boy friend's hat before entering the church."

London, Dec. 28 (CP-Havas)—Condition of Queen Mary, suffering from a slight cold, is "stationary," it was announced today. Last night it was announced the queen was resting well, recovering rapidly and would resume normal activities within the next two days.

Tacoma, Wash., Dec. 28 (CP)—A new clam bed has been found on the Nisqually flats, Puget Sound. However, lovers of clam chowder are not reaping the harvest.

Reason: The clams are embedded in solid rock, it was established. Geologists estimate the petrified bivalves are several million years old.

Soqrel, Hungary, Dec. 28 (AP)—A peasant cart pulled up to the main square of this village. Man and his wife, 81, both half starved were helped out and left in the square.

Police helped them to the Alms House. The poor couple, who had celebrated their 75th wedding anniversary were left in the city by their children who were no longer willing to care for them.

The same day a 96-year-old man was left in the square under the same circumstances.

Wanzleben, Germany, Dec. 28 (AP)—Germany's one-time popular sparrows have been marked for extinction. Tens of thousands of them have been killed, with more to follow.

Germany was forced to forbid the use of lead shot because of its pollution, and cannot afford to have sparrows eating up the seed.

Sudbury, Ont., Dec. 28 (CP)—Sixteen girls, representing 16 countries in which they were born, will take part in the annual Christmas drill at the Laurentene public school here recently. They represented Canada, United States, Ukraine, England, Wales, Canada, Wales, Finland, Russia, Switzerland, Germany, Poland, Lithuania, Scotland, France, Belgium.

St. Catharines, Ont., Dec. 28 (CP)—A public thief who returned 75 cents as change of a $5 bill stole his farmer's gift of $10 from the victim was Roger Whitten, a needy man of Welland, police said today and later found it had been returned to his former friend of five dollars he had, however, it contained only 75 cents.

GERMANY COVETS LOST COLONIES

Total Area Lost About Six Times That of Germany Itself

Germany's former overseas colonies, all lost in the Great War, have a total area of about 1,127,000 square miles, about six times that of Germany itself, and now contain an estimated population of 13,253,000.

Scattered over Africa, and in the islands of the Pacific, nearly all these lands now are held as League of Nations mandates by the British Empire—including three of the dominions—France and Belgium and Japan. An exception is Kiaochow, in Shantung, China, returned to China when surrendered in 1922 after having been seven years in Japan's possession.

The former German colonies which figure most importantly in the present discussions of their possible restoration to the Reich are these for which the mandates are held by Britain and France.

The Japanese government has repeatedly declared it has no interest in obtaining any of the former German islands in the equatorial Pacific now in Nippon's possession.

A list of Germany's lost colonies follows:

German East Africa, 378,000 square miles, now Tanganyika Territory, Ruanda, Urundi, mandate, and Kionga Triangle, Portuguese East Africa.

German Southwest Africa, 322,400 square miles, mandate of Union of South Africa.

German West Africa, 308,000 square miles, British and French mandate.

(Continued on page seven)

BRITAIN FAVORS 6-POWER PATROL TO ISOLATE WAR

Coastal Force of Big Powers Would Keep Out Arms

CARRY OBSERVERS

Duce Tires of Spanish Adventure Says Report

LONDON, Dec. 28.— (AP)— A six-power naval patrol, designed to keep volunteers and arms out of Spain, is under consideration by British officials, informed sources asserted today.

Germany, Russia, Italy and Portugal may be invited to join Great Britain and France in forming the coastal patrol, it was said.

Ships of the fleet would carry foreign observers as a guarantee of impartiality in boarding shipments of munitions and men in either side in the Spanish civil war, reliable persons declared.

Authorities in both quarters the plan was described as scrapping all previous efforts of the International non-intervention committee and making a new start to isolate the Spanish conflict.

Answer to Nonn Sought

London, Dec. 28. (CP Cable)— Great Britain today requested the governments of Germany, Italy, Russia and Portugal to make immediate replies to the Anglo-French plan for the sending of volunteers to Spain.

These notes presented in almost identical form by the two great democracies, urge that a ban should immediately be placed on volunteers. No particular method of applying the ban is suggested, except that it should be made effective.

Both the British and French Governments hold that unless a check is placed on the flow of men and munitions, Spain will risk becoming the battleground of Europe. With a view to preventing it, it is felt here, and non-intervention made effective, there will be some hope of a settlement in Spain.

German Concerned

Germany is chiefly concerned in the ban of volunteers. Premier Mussolini has declared he is withdrawing

(Continued on page seven)

PONTIFF SPENDS RESTLESS NIGHT

Attendants State Holy Father Suffered Excruciating Pain

Vatican City, Dec. 28 (AP)—Pope Pius, departing of his recovery after a slight hemorrhage in his paralyzed left leg, was reported today to have had a difficult night. In this condition I cannot be the Pope; it is against nature.

Dr. Amanti Milani, chief physician to Pope Pius XII, announced in a bulletin check of the Holy Father's condition today after a night of restless pain and sleeplessness, the excruciating pain.

Dr. Milani kept close watch on the Pope throughout the restless night. During the afternoon several times after reliable reports said the portal paralysis had spread from the legs reaching the left arm and hand.

Two doctors and a hospital attendant kept constant watch by Holy Father's side. The left leg was said to be particularly painful to the touch and was swollen in marked degree.

Even during the spasms of suffering, reports said, the aged Pontiff showed staunch good cheer, and between the attacks was able to carry on a long conversation.

The fact the 79-year-old Pope was able to take only slight nourishment added to his extreme weakness.

Newspaper Advert'g Found to be Best

Detroit, Michigan, Dec. 28—"The Leonard Refrigerator Company will increase its advertising appropriation for 1937 by 50 per cent over its 1936 budget," said the company's president, Walter Jeffrey, advertising manager. The bulk of Leonard Advertising will be devoted to newspaper space, it was stated. "We have found," said Mr. Jeffrey, "newspaper advertising definitely attracts prospective buyers into our rooms, linking the local dealer with the product in a manner that is impossible in other ways."

Mountain Climber Loses His Life

Glencoe, Argyllshire, Scotland, Dec. 28 (AP)—The body of William Christie, which had dangled head down from a rope near the peak of a 3,000-foot mountain for more than 24 hours, was recovered today by fire mountain climbers.

When the body was brought to the foot of the mountain just at midnight, Christie's parents, who probably had been killed instantly when he fell.

The mountain climbers risked their lives in repeated attempts to reach the body of the 25-year-old climber, which was suspended by the feet.

UNEMPLOYMENT SHOWS INCREASE

Welfare Council Makes Statement After a Survey

Ottawa, Dec. 28 (CP)—Despite undoubted advances in employment during the past year was not sufficient to break a large number of persons dependent upon relief in Canada is larger at the end of December than at the end of 1935, The Canadian Welfare Council stated today in its annual survey of relief conditions.

The economic recovery in evidence during the past year was not sufficient to break through the relief lines and was not accompanied by a betterment in the source of unemployment.

The council came to the "relief and conclusion" that unemployment will be as high as the year's end will show an increase of six to eight per cent. for Canada as a whole over the number on relief at this time. Further increases may be expected, it is said, dependent upon a long and severe winter drought areas.

The total might run even to 12 per cent. above last year's total if all those added now through special winter works programs and other schemes were included. It is added.

The council's estimates are based on information collected by members of its staff in actual visits to every province since Oct. 1.

Business Is Better

"With the business index in Canada, showing a December movement of more than 50 per cent. above 1932, with employment figures up over 30 per cent, there can be only grave realization that we are as far away as the line of national relief totals when these show only about 38 to 39 per cent. inclusive of the needy of the corresponding period in the depths of the depression," the statement continued.

"Somewhere, we do not know where, there is a high water line of broken, discouraged men and women, many of them in the younger groups, who with their dependents are living on relief totals of less than 50 per month for those on relief to have increased by 50 per cent. during the past three years."

Many socially dependent and unemployable persons have remained under direct municipal responsibility because of the lack of adequate provincial and municipal welfare services, the council held, the council declared.

Hitler Likely to Avoid Losing British Sympathy By Warring on Madrid

May Permit Volunteers to Depart For Battle-front

AVOID ACTUAL WAR

Informed German Sources Say Germany May Consider Ships

Berlin, Dec. 28 (AP)—Germany will avoid war measures against Socialist Spain that probably will permit volunteers to continue to aid for the battlefront, and may consider withdrawing vessels with certain persons in authority said today.

These reports, implying the actual decision is up to Chancellor Hitler, nevertheless outlined the probable course for the United Reich to follow in the near future.—ed.

Hitler's dealings with Spain Germany will skirt as closely as possible showing the edge of war, without actually getting into war.

To Avoid War.

1. Without specifically admitting it, Germany probably will continue quietly to permit, or even encourage, the sailing of volunteers for Spain. She will send no whole divisions of the German army there, however, for that would mean war.

2. Germany will avoid an actual armed rescue of the seized freighter Palos, now held by the Spanish government at Bilbao as a contraband carrier. Instead, Hitler will station a formidable part of the Reich's fleet at San Sebastian, or some other near-by port, and will not meet and convoy any German vessel bound for Fascist Spain.

Informed German sources said the Reich felt a Franco-British Christmas note, urging a cessation of volunteer enlistments in Spain, had come too late.

German "Warning" Unheeded.

Hitler will in all likelihood point out, it was stated, that as early as August 26 he and Italy warned volunteer enlistments on either side be stopped. This warning, it is said, was unheeded.

On December 19, qualified sources continued, Joachim von Ribbentrop, German Ambassador to London, offered Germany's support for a British proposal to halt the influx of volunteers. Britain refused. It is demand that financial assistance to the Spanish Red Leftist Loyalists cease.

Nevertheless, the Germans again declared, Soviet Russian collectivism is behind the Spanish war, continued.

Definite Plan Seen.

Hitler, among his inner circle of advisers, often has repeated that Germany has come to some arrangement with Britain—cost what it may.

Hence, although the volunteers may not continue to flow from Germany to Spain, informed persons believed Hitler had no desire to risk further British sympathies for good by going to war on Madrid with regular troops and warships.

A patriotic announcement on naval plans, growing out of the Palos incident, is expected soon.

(Continued on page seven)

Turn to Religion is Appeal By Archbishop of Canterbury

Says Nation Must Consecrate Itself to Service of God

NO MENTION OF DUKE

London, Dec. 28.— (CP Cable)— An appeal to turn from the past to the future was made by the Primate who was before the people of Great Britain today.

The appeal was made by the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Most Reverend Cosmo Gordon Lang, in a broadcast address last night which has declared the Coronation "will be a herald of its full meaning unless the nation is consecrated itself to the service of God".

The Archbishop, who previously has declared the social evils in which Edward VIII moved, made no mention of the Duke or Windsor in his address.

He told his audience, however: "Even our national history the past year can never be forgotten but its memory must be made to serve the future. Let us look upon all that has happened as a call to re-establish and resettle the foundations of our national life."

Now, he continued, we must find our way out the vast community of Russia and bring it into relationship with the rest of the world, whether Atheis mand the doctrine of class warfare, that is antiChristian.

"We must be vigilant to prevent the divisions that sever our own people. In other countries the menace is less open and subtle, but more insidious. Others, even in the name of religion idols of race and class, and sacrifice their conscience and their reason to the service of Christ."

Declaring a "solemn recal to religion" the Archbishop said that at present God was not so much the dimmer as "crowded out".

A slackening and scorning of the old standard of morality was visible in the loosening of the ties of marriage and weakening of the life-long vows. The Archbishop declared, however, he was convinced of the instinct of religion and sound morality in the common heart.

QUINTS GET BIG CHRISTMAS MAIL

800 Letters Received Christmas Day — Gain in Weight

Callender, Ont., Dec. 2 (CP)—The Dionne quintuplets celebrated their 21-months birthday today by enjoying tomato soup, unaware that their fan mail was on a par with most other moving picture stars.

The famous sisters who have starred in two talkies have received hundreds of letters daily during the Christmas period.

Christmas Day was "hops" for fan mail and between the quins and their medical mentor, Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, they received 800 letters. Some notes were from youngsters who proposed marriage to the girls and others to Dr. Dafoe from hopeful men who offered words of advice as to just how the children should be cared for.

During the last month, four of the five gained in weight and three of them added ½-inch in height. Annette, eldest of the quints, also failed to add to her poundage was still heavyweight at 29 pounds, ½-pound heavier than Cecile and Yvonne. Marie, lightest of the quints, gained ¼-pound as did three of her sisters, to scale 24½. Although it was too cold for the children to play outside, they showed no signs of being bored as a result of their party for the rest of the Dionnes Christmas Day and kept busy with nurse busy watching their play-room antics. Their diet has been changed but slightly, consisting of milk, milk, cereals, biscuits, meats, eggs, vegetables, soups, fruits and various purees.

Total Weight 137 Pounds.

Annette and Cecile led the height parade at 23½ inches, ½-inch taller than Emilie and Yvonne. Marie who the Yvonne remained unchanged was measured at 22½ inches. The quints' weight gained steadily in weight and height, Dr. Dafoe having kept close watch on them. Without tiny bodies, twisted and shapeless limbs.

	Lb.	Oz. Gain
Annette	29	8
Cecile	29	8
Yvonne	29	8
Emilie	26	8
Marie	24	8
Totals	137	32

Coming Events

REGULAR MEETING OF BELLEville Chapter No. 35, O.E.S., will be held Wednesday, December 30, Oddfellows' Temple. Members please note change in date. d28-11

GOODBYE '36, HELLO '37, QUINTE Inn, New Year's Eve. Everyone is coming. Club Quinte with Harold Mason and his orchestra. Don't miss it. d28, 30

EUCHRE AND BINGO, LIBERAL Rooms, tonight, Voucher prizes, Admission 25c plus tax. Ladies' social Bingo, 10.30. d28-11

TUESDAY NIGHT, CONSERVAtive Club weekly euchre. Voucher prizes. Admission 25c plus tax. Ladies' euchre Thursday afternoon. d28-omir

TONIGHT—AJAMAA EUCHRE — Twenty tables or more, $1.75 in voucher prizes. Lottery door prizes. Ladies Tuesday afternoon. d28-1

THE TWENTY-FOURTH ANNUAL Ball Feed, Wheat' St. Debating Club, Thursday, K. o'clock. Come and "Jake" the new candidates speak. d28-1

NEW YEARS DANCE IN SHANnonville Hall. Music supplied by the Stardusters under the auspices L.O.L. Music by Cy Liddle and his Rhythm Devils. Door prize. Admission 25c. d28, 30

City and District News

MISS MATTIE YOUNG HILLIER, BREAKS ARM

Crashing heavily to the ground, when she slipped on the icy roadway on Saturday, Miss Mattie Young, aged and esteemed resident of Hillier, sustained a fractured arm and minor injuries.

Medical aid was hastily summoned and the injured lady given treatment.

MINIATURE CAR ERECTED ON STAGE

Perhaps one of most novel effects seen in the many Christmas entertainments which held the attention of the people of Belleville and vicinity during the days preceding the holiday occurred in the Town Hall in Wellington when the members of a local lodge erected erected a miniature street-car on the stage. The car which was complete in every detail including the overhead advertising, provided the setting for the playlet, with members of the cast taking their places inside the car. Motorman and conductor wore the conventional uniforms with a piano Christmas Tree being one of the "stops" of the story.

FIRE CAUSED BY GNAWING OF RATS

There are some sad tales in the home of Mr. J. L. Ross, promiment Prince Edward citizen, this week. Whether it was their inherent curiosity or just the fact they needed a new diet will never be known, but suffice it to say their gnawing teeth set fire to a roll of wool of mattress reposing on a shelf in the linen closet, with somewhat disastrous results.

The resultant fire caused considerable damage to the Ross domicile located in which was a set of china valued at one hundred dollars.

ACCIDENTS BEFORE AND AFTER WEDDING

Icy streets and a motor accident nearly prevented Miss Dorothy Dundon of Detroit from attending the ceremony at which she became the bride and another accident a few hours after he had been married, again nearly disrupted the happy occasion.

Dundon motored here to marry Miss Rose Dorothy Cameron of London. He smashed into a street car, suffered slight injuries and wrecked the car. Repairs effected, he continued on to Drive and the wedding ceremony was performed.

The bride and groom piled back into the car and started on their trip. They car crashed into another and the two narrowly escaped injury. But still undaunted and discouraged, the couple waited for repairs to their car and again started for Detroit.

It Pays to Shop at the Rexall Store.

BRITEN with "BRITEN"

The new tooth paste

LARGE SIZE TUBE

29c

McKeown's DRUG STORE

POLICE COURT

Harry Reid, 19-year-old Coe Hill youth, appeared before Magistrate J. L. Lloyd in today's police court, charged with two counts of stealing money from the pockets of his coat. The accused man pleaded guilty and was remanded in custody for sentence.

There are other investigations pending in these cases, and I would ask for a week's enlargement," requested Jr. C. Newman, K.C., County Crown Attorney. The request was granted. Reid was apprehended by Provincial Constable Dymond, of Madoc.

George Shapley, local youth, who was found guilty of the theft of $43.20 from his employer, when he appeared in police court, today was given a two years' suspended sentence after making restitution. The Captain of the Salvation Army appeared and gave character evidence and asked for leniency on behalf of the accused youth.

His Worship agreed to a suspended sentence providing the accused promised to regularly attend Divine Service at the local Salvation Army Citadel and left the matter in the hands of the Captain.

Shirley Cassels, Detroit motorist, appeared charged with reckless driving. The accused pleaded not guilty and was allowed his liberty to appear in the next regular court, bail being supplied by a local friend of the accused. The case arose out of a motor accident near Desoronto when an automobile driven by Cassels allegedly struck a cyclist last Thursday.

Three teen-aged youths appeared charged with shoplifting and theft. The trio pleaded guilty as charged and received a suspended sentence during until they attain the age of twenty-one years, when they too should be held in check and therefore should be called upon to pay, personally, the costs of the court," stated His Worship. The lads' parents were thanked and told to assist them in the providing of finances towards the payment of the costs, the court giving the lads' four months on which to earn the assessed costs.

Two domestic cases of a private nature were heard in a subsequent court, that was held in camera.

POLICE BLOTTER

City streets and the highways were treacherous for motor and pedestrian travel over the week-end and Monday, records compiled, when reported in the Belleville area, although a number of minor motor crashes were investigated, nothing blamed on the glass-like slipperiness of the roads.

A car driven by Wm. Nightingale, R.R. No. 7, Belleville, collided with another automobile, being driven in the opposite direction by W. A. Hendrick, Foxboro, on Dundas street. There was considerable property damage to both vehicles, but the matter of damages was settled between the two motorists involved when police investigated fatalities.

Owing to the condition of the icy pavement, the driver of one car lost control of the motor crashes over the week-end.

Three smaller accidents that resulted in fender and bumper damage only, were reported to police and all matters quickly settled.

Early Sunday morning local police were called to the vicinity of the Belleville and Trenton Railway Station where complaints were received that persons were seen taking coal from the cars and that a quantity had been spotted on a nearby siding. Investigation revealed that a thief, operating a hand-sled abandoned near the scene and on which was found a bag of coal that had been taken from the coal car. No sign of the robbers was to be seen by the police, although descriptions of two men answering the description were given the evening were given by railway officials.

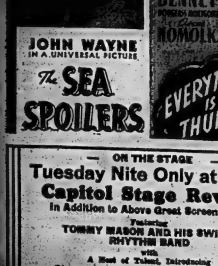
On Saturday afternoon local police apprehended a local man who appeared to be trying to start an automobile on East Bridge Street. Upon being questioned the man stated he was going to "chase the devil". The man was taken to the police station and subsequently examined by Drs. Blakelee and Morgan, with the result he was removed to a mental institution in Kingston yesterday. While in the police cell block the inmate destroyed part of the wash-basin in the men's cell block.

SOLD OUT AGAIN!

NO LAURA SECORDS FOR SALE UNTIL MONDAY EVENING.

THEY MUST BE GOOD!

DOLAN



THE DRUGGIST

CAPITOL

Two Great Hits NOW PLAYING

TROUBLE AHEAD!

WHEN SMUGGLERS STEAL A COAST GUARDSMAN'S SWEETHEART!

JOHN WAYNE IN A UNIVERSAL PICTURE

The SEA SPOILERS

EVERYTHING IS THUNDER.

SLOT MACHINE IS TAKEN FROM STORE

Gaining entrance by means of removing a pane of glass from the front door, burglars entered the confectionery operated by W. E. May, Front Road, and removed the slot machine from the building sometime early Sunday morning. The machine was later found at the rear of the store, having been moved and the cash box and money missing.

Shortly after 2.00 a.m. Sunday Mr. May's attention was drawn and upon investigations found his occasion booth, situated near his home, had been robbed. Provincial Constable Wm. McBrien was notified and subsequent investigation revealed entrance had been made by the removal of a pane of glass from the front door, the rubbers apparently reaching in and unlocking the door from the inside after removing the glass. A large carton of groceries and a smaller carton of mixed tobacco were found piled and on the floor as though having been prepared by the robbers, that Mr. May's sudden appearance doubtlessly frightened the burglars away. However, only after they had rifled the cash box in the damaged slot machine, that was found abandoned outside.

NEW QUEENS HOTEL

NEW YEAR'S DAY DINNER

75c

From 8lx to Eight o'Clock

THERE WILL BE NO DINNER AT NOON

NEW QUEENS HOTEL

Young Worshippers' League Holds Recognition Service

Members Congratulated by Rev. L. R. Naylor on Regular Attendance

BOOKS PRESENTED

The Young Worshippers League of Tabernacle United church held its annual recognition service on Sunday morning, Rev. L. R. Naylor congratulating the young people who had so regularly attended church during the past year. Special mention was made of the perfect record of the following boys and girls: Corinne Walmsley, Roger Cornell, Barbara Cornell, Phyllis Goodfellow, Gordon Bateman, Jean Redfern, Dorothy Peate, Betty Shorey, Jean Shorey, Roy Wheldover, Helen Wedden and May Dafoe.

Books were then presented by the minister assisted by Roy Windover to all those who had attended the objective in church attendance:— Stanley Peate, Gertrude Peate, Betty Shorey, Jean Shorey, Mary Redfern, Jean Redfern, Betty Patchett, Alice Galpin, Gwen Galpin, Marion James, Helen Wedden, May Dafoe, Ethel Arnold, Helen Arnold, Owen Thoms, Irene Michaud, Dorothy Wannamaker, Myrla Galpin, Jessie Bateman, Marie Emmerson, Robert Robson, Helen Mason, Jean Wannamaker, Maud Patchett, Helen Taylor, Peggy Doolittle, Shirley Taylor, Betty Greenleaf, Lela Bateman, Shirley Griffin, Barbara Cornell, Pearl Dafoe, Douglas McBride, Bruce McBride, Fred Edmunson, Roy Windover, Grant Blakely, Clarence Blakely, Donald Cherrie, Max Turner, Bobby Taylor, Billy Taylor, Edgar Goodfellow, Donald Joss, Bobby Stewart, John Griffin, Stanley Griffin, Gordon Griffin, George Wennerstrom, Gerald Thoms, Stewart Lowe, Murray Locke, Douglas Locke, Corinne Walmsley, Clarke James, Edna Johnston.

THE WEATHER

Toronto, Dec. 28 (CP)—A fairly deep disturbance, centred over the Grand Peninsula, is moving rapidly eastward having caused strong winds with rain in Ontario eastward to the Maritime Provinces and snow and rain in Newfoundland. High pressure and cold weather have spread over Ontario and Western districts from Northwest and the weather continues cold in the Western Provinces with light snow occuring in the districts of Alberta and Saskatchewan.

Lake Superior: Northerly winds; fair and cold today and Tuesday winds; partly cloudy and moderately cold; probably some light snow.

Western Provinces: Mostly cloudy and moderately cold today and Tuesday with some light snow, chiefly in southerly districts.

Temperatures:

	8 High	Lowest
	A.M.	Day Night
Dawson	16	16
Ft. Simpson	30b	30b
Victoria	36	40
Edmonton	2	4
Winnipeg	6b	6b
S. S. Marie	24	28
Toronto	30	52
Ottawa	30	52
Quebec	40	46
St. John	40	46
Halifax	46	40
Detroit	28	54
New York	40	54
Miami	72	76
Los Angeles	48	56
Bermuda	64	72

London: Temperature 32.

Paris: Temperature 30.

CAPITOL

The Biggest and Best Vaudeville Event Ever Presented

Sing Song and Medley of Fun, Novelties, Noise Makers for Everyone

New YEARS EVE JAMBOREE

Tickets Now on Sale

Sold only to Capacity

35c including tax

Obituary

LATE MRS. SARAH J. HOUGH

The funeral of Mrs. Sarah Jane Hough, wife of Mr. Oliver Hough, Detroit, Mich., took place Saturday afternoon from the Belleville Funeral Company Funeral Home, Cemetery Street. The service in the chapel was conducted by the Rev. Frankford cemetery was conducted by the Rev. R. E. Newman, Rector of Holloway Street United church.

The bearers were all nephews of the late Mrs. Hough and were as follows: Messrs. Earl Bush, Vernon Bush, Maxwell Bush, John R. Bush, Harold Spafford and John Spafford.

LATE MRS. FRANCES E. BUSH (Continued)

Sunday afternoon the funeral of Mrs. Frances Ella Bush, widow of Robert Bush, took place from her late residence on Frankford Ave. Rev. J. F. Lake, Pastor of the Bridge Street Methodist church, conducted the service in the home and at the graveside in Frankford cemetery.

The bearers were all sons of the late Mrs. Bush and were as follows: Messrs. Earl Bush, Vernon Bush, Maxwell Bush, Gerald Bush, William Bush and Keith Bush.

WOLFE SISTERS MADOC NATIVES

Women Who Died in Amsterdam, N.Y., Have Relatives Hereabouts

The two aged sisters who, although possessing a substantial bank account, died of starvation and neglect in Amsterdam, N.Y., on the day before Christmas, were born near Madoc.

The three sisters died within three days of each other, the younger one because no help had been called for her when she became ill, the other because she lay down and starved to death when her sister died.

The sisters, Josetta Lahargey Wolfe, 80, and Augusta, 86, were born on a homestead in Madoc. A nephew, Charles Lahargey of Peterborough, who was named heir to Augusta's $1,800 bank account, left on Christmas Day to attend to funeral arrangements.

Augusta had, apparently, been accustomed to looking after her older sister, Josetta, who was, doctors claimed, mentally unbalanced. When Augusta became ill and retired to her bed, Josetta did not summon aid. Instead she, too, went to bed. Three days after the death came Augusta. Josetta was dead. She had starved to death.

Four other relatives of the sisters are still living, two of them in Ontario. Mrs. Thomas O'Shaughnessy of Bancroft and Miss Betty Lahargey, 20, of Peterborough, are nieces, and Mrs. A. Gannon of Carthage, N.Y., and Agatha Lahargey of Detroit are sisters.

The aged couple had been living together in Amsterdam for several years. Their death was discovered when neighbors became alarmed at not seeing them for several days. Police broke down the door of their house and a Coroner's investigation was launched.

Josetta, the investigation revealed, had been married to a man named Wolfe, and born him a son whom she had not seen for fifteen years.

Early in October of this year, Charles Lahargey received a letter from Amsterdam, revealing that the younger sister was not well. Her illness, however, was not considered serious.

TWENTY-SIX

(Continued from page one)

"For two years I have been able and happy to serve you as alderman. Now if you desire to elect me to a higher office I welcome the opportunity to serve. I don't intend to make any speech, because I want you, the electors, to be the judge and jury of my past actions. With all the belief I have in Belleville, my task of being able to serve as MAYOR will be greatly lightened," declared Alderman Arnott.

Mr. Mikel Speaks

Ex-Mayor W. C. Mikel, K.C., injected a shade of humor into his address when he politely requested the other candidates to step aside and give him an acclamation this year. He extended his congratulations to the next council for the good work that has been performed during the year and expressed the hope that the incoming council would follow in some rule of economy. This was necessary, he added, owing to the present burden that rests being carried by the present generation.

Pointing to Belleville as the one city where almost everything had been provided, numbering He sixty miles of pavement, of good roads, of a good city hall, of bridges, school, parks and ther improvements as testimonies, Mr. Mikel declared that the next generating would have considerable work to do in the province which has made all these improvements possible.

Turning to the question of city management, which will be one of the issues of the present election, Mr. Mikel intimated that Belleville was not quite ready yet for this until it could be shown under what conditions the manager would work, and until citizens generally had found more information upon it.

"I've taken issue with those who favor a manager city on considerable ideal, not because I am opposed to it on general principles, but because I don't know what his duties will be and don't know what he will be paid, or how he is appointed his duties. I do not find these duties have been defined as to say any city by-law, nor any ruling upon them, even by the Ontario Municipal Board, where you could look for it. The salary should also be known. Every city manager appointed is called upon to incur any more obligations for the city, unless he is going to cost, and what we are going to get out of it. Other cities have tried out the manager system, but over a period of years they have not, also to crystallize his ideas into certain forms. If we could obtain this information, then we should be prepared for a manager whose duties could be clearly confined to a by-law," he said.

Opposes Council Reduction

The suggested reduction in numbers to six councillors in council was not favorable, in the opinion of the speaker.

"Reduce this council to six aldermen and you are going to put four men in absolute control of the money of 16,000 people. Four would be a majority rule in a council of six aldermen; they would have absolute rule of the city. I am satisfied that the present council is a little too large, but if it is down to that number, then I believe it would be a happy compromise," suggested Mr. Mikel.

With the need for a better city, but not a bigger one, remarked also the need for the appreciation of the advantages enjoyed by Belleville as her unique location on the Bay of Quinte, described by the speaker as the best bay in the world, and one that should be used to the limit in a happy, healthy spirit, particularly sailing and aquatics that have in the past brought many thousands advertising for the city and district, declared the speaker.

Armstrong Refers to Economy

Alderman Harold Armstrong who declared his intention of not being nominated for the Mayoralty late in the short time previous during his absence from the city hall pointed to the economical policy of the city council of the past year, that the best possible one under the present circumstances. "It has not," he pointed out "been an easy year for a popular one for your council. We were faced with the necessity of reducing cost, and by way of providing expenditures, and through this we have had some criticism, particularly in the manner of providing work. Yet, our financial situation at present is good, and we have been able to meet all our obligations. We made no capital investments that year, but we have tried to give work at the same time, and guard our public funds," stated Alderman Armstrong.

As the final note of the morning's brief addresses by the Mayoralty candidates, ex-Alderman Woodley, chairman, speaking from his experience of years of finance administration in previous councils, pointed out that at the present time Belleville had more money in its sinking fund than the law required. "Yet all our indebtedness has been taken care of," he added.

"If you have money to invest see what you can buy Belleville bonds at. Today you can't buy at par; they are asking two, three and even five per cent. If we can carry on as we have been doing for the next four or five years we'll be all right," stated the ex-alderman.

for Home Comfort and Economy Use

Conger Fuels

Pure Hard ANTHRACITE
Genuine POCAHONTAS
LaSalle Canadian
By-product COKE

Conger Lehigh Coal Co.

40 Bridge St. E. LIMITED Phone 148

A. B. GRIBBLE, Manager

I.D.A. Bronchial SYRUP

QUICKLY EFFECTIVE FOR STUBBORN COUGHS

Large Size 49c

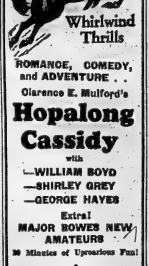
at

I. D. A. Drug Stores

The GREATEST Picture in History of the Belle Theatre

SEE IT FROM THE START at 1.30: 7.15: 9.10

TOMORROW to THURSDAY



BELLE

Daily 2.30: 7.00: 9.10

BELLE

Wednesday Morning

DECEMBER 30, 10.00 a.m.

ROMANCE, COMEDY, and ADVENTURE . . .

Clarence E. Mulford's

Hopalong Cassidy

with

—WILLIAM BOYD

—SHIRLEY GREY

—GEORGE HAYES

Extra!

MAJOR BOWES NEW AMATEURS

30 Minutes of Uproarious Fun!

Comedy — Cartoons

Children 10c; Adults 27c

Hurry! LAST DAY

Shirley TEMPLE STOWAWAY

Join the throngs who have made it the talk of the town!

with Robert Young • Alice Faye

SMART REVUE • LATE NEWS • BETTY BOOP

ON THE STAGE

Tuesday Nite Only at 8.40

Capitol Stage Revue

In Addition to Above Great Screen Show.

Featuring

TOMMY MARON AND HIS SWING RHYTHM BAND

with

A Host of Talent, Introducing

Singers — Tap Dancers — Comedy

NOT AN AMATEUR SHOW. No Increase in Prices

Auction Sale

Haines Shoe House

220 FRONT STREET

Wednesday, Dec. 30

at 2.00 p.m.

- 2 8-ft. Show Cases
- Benches, Chairs
- Window Display Stands
- Stepladders
- Fitting Stools
- Shoe Racks

ALL IN GOOD CONDITION

CASH and CARRY

N. MONTGOMERY,

Auctioneer

Country 'Cub'

By Farley Faulkner

Story of Aspiring Reporter Who Makes Sacrifice So That Nine-Year Old Boy May Not Lose Faith in His Mother.

Hugh's telegraph editor was barking short, breath-taking sentences over the long distance telephone.

"It's your big chance." Get out to Bonboro and dig up the facts. Your experience will be waiting for you at the telegraph office. It's a honeh and a half, some of our newspapers have slept through the investigation. Confidentially it looks like a death pact to me. That may result in a clean 'sweep' for the new city council government we've said."

Hanging up the receiver Hugh tried to swallow and couldn't. His mouth felt unconscionably dry. Not since he had lost his mother five years ago had so many conflicting emotions swept through him. This was the chance his chief had said. Still could not only keep him employed. The chance to make that "cub" tag and with his spurs as a senior reporter. Make a name for a medium ambition. And yet . . . something about this assignment frightened him.

Bumping along the country road towards Bonboro ten minutes later Hugh found his thoughts interrupted by the taxi driver.

"Whatta in the air this time? Everything is cleaned up all the way east, ain't it? That guy what drank the poison was sweet on that married dame when they was just kids. They tell me the pair hadn't seen hide nor hair of each other for twenty years and then they have to bump smack into each other and fall in love all over again. Some Bonboro of all places. Well, he little himself, he always was that what-I says. Nothin' goin' to bring him back to life again so they might just as well stop their jawin' on it."

Hugh wished that taxi drivers would learn to speak only when spoken to. His cognac driver had been out on a call or he wouldn't have been exposed to this type of "chatty" conversation. Or, if he was riding down somewhere at night, or any other time for that matter, was he entitled to his own thoughts and might how he was drawing up a mental picture of the tragedy that had struck deep into the heart of the quiet little city and that he must warm any help, verbal or otherwise from this green corner.

Hugh knew the village gossips would still be discussing the scandal of the week for days to come, even though innocent people would suffer as a result of their short sighted tales. Then scandal mongers were a crude lot, but they were just a bunch, perhaps. But Hugh played hunches. "Never pass up a hunch, Hugh," his father had told you may be wrong, but there is always that tenth time," his chief had said.

Get to the bit. That was it. Hugh loved his job. Had a way with words and the advice of a playwright who had declared, "My boy, unless books and all that sort of thing may be all right, but there is only one training school for a writer. Learn to grasp the drama of the Rovers and Smiths. Get on a 'sheet' as a cub. Life can be tasted in your own district. You won't find it in Alphabetical detail, tall, or in your public library either, for that matter. Remember this, boy: a good writer paints a word picture with true colors. So stick to your ideals. Love them if you can and your writing will ring true. If you fail in that, keep a wholesome outlook, develop a sense of humor and write for your right to breathe the pure air of heaven."

So Hugh had written something about "cool climbing into sky" and "girders taking wings" as a temporary answer to the challenge that New York flung out to him. But realizing there were years of hard work ahead before he could hope to be "tops" in the "Big City" and that perhaps, never, he'd had a chance to grow with his intimate slice of that perilous climb. But he was proceeding to Bonboro now and the driver was shooting above the notes of a quivering six cylinder motor with, "Say, boy, what will you be wanting me to stay?"

Hugh took out at the Rosboro House and forget that you brought me here. I don't want Carthy of the "Sun" shadowing me in this gay metropolis," grinned Hugh.

"I gets you, Mr. Morgan," replied the taxi driver. And Hugh noted the yellow frame structure that was the Bonboro House, feeling somewhat elated over the fact that at twenty-three he rated a "Mr." and that the taxi driver was old enough to be his father.

First beams of the morning sun reached through the window to Hugh's room the following day and brought with it high hopes and young reporter anxious to land a berth on the "flying squadron" of a newspaper

THE ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER

THE DAILY ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER is published every afternoon (Sunday and holidays excepted) at The Ontario Intelligencer Building, 128 Front Street, Belleville, Ontario.

W. E. HORTON, PUBLISHER.

SIDELIGHTS ON THE HOME FORUM

Edited by the friends of the day, from items and personal paper topics as furnished by the home newspaper and the evening home with the compliments of Grace and Guy, Announcements by The Intelligencer Staff.

WHEAT PRICE RISE

With the rise in the price of wheat at 128 5-8 last week, a record for many years has been established, one of the real bright signs for the farmers of the West, out there where the grain grows.

One of the factors towards the rise was the news from abroad of a scarcity of foods, particularly wheat, in which the shortage runs into millions of bushels.

"How this rise in wheat will affect the west can only be conjectured because the prairie provinces have suffered long from the depression. How it will affect the rest of Canada will be in a different manner. The entire country will of course profit from the emergence of the West out of the depression and by the effect upon the prices of other grains and products for which the other parts of Canada are noted.

ADVERTISING, SELLING TO PLAY BIG ROLE

A note of warning to businessmen who would pull profits from prosperity is sounded by Roger W. Babson, economist and statistician, in the Rotarian Magazine.

"To my way of thinking", he says, "advertising and selling are going to play a tremendous part in the coming boom. Your sales department should be drilled into a 'prosperity psychology'. The minute the low point of the depression is reached, and the turn towards better times comes, I become bullish on advertising. This bullishness develops into a white heat as business reaches the peak. Right now it is the normal zone that all the constructive forces of your organization should work and work in harmony."

Mr. Babson further urges that businessmen consider three important factors: Credits should be kept in order at all times. As prosperity proceeds there will be increased demand for skilled workers and executives; so investment in your present now should pay handsome dividends. Doing business in the prosperous days ahead without sound accounting and finance methods would be like fighting a fire with gasoline. If you must borrow, at least be free from debt one day of each year. Practical research in your business may mean the difference between profits and just breaking even.

"Strange as this may sound, less than 10 percent of the businessmen of the United States profited from the pulled profits from the great 1929 boom! Remember this," warns Mr. Babson, "Whereas depression hits everybody, prosperity is always selective. Profit-taking are going to be out to all that enter the Big Tent of good times. In a period of business expansion you must work just as hard to secure profits as in a period of depression you must work hard to avert losses.

"Only four times during my 35 years of studying business conditions has the Babson chart, on which I have spent over a million dollars of research, gone into 'abnormal line' on its way upward. The first of these was in 1902-12, the second in 1915, and the third was 14 years ago, in 1922. The fourth is now coming on.

"At the start of this impending boom," he says in conclusion, "you will have a new set of books to open. This is the time when old methods which have served you some—only scratch. The way to eliminate competition is not to meet it but to keep ahead of it."

TRAGEDIES AT CHRISTMASTIDE

The toll of death in accidents over the Christmas recess was the saddest note which could be struck at this season and time of the greatest happiness. In the United States it is reported that over 500 deaths took place during the festive season in accidents. So many of the people on account of the mild weather conditions took to the highways.

How much of this total was due to carelessness is not known. Many accidents were probably due to the unusual weather conditions. But it is a known fact that when people are on pleasure bent there is more than the usual lack of care, because they are absorbed in thoughts of the season.

Such tragedies shock the public because of the contrast between the stark facts of life and the inward and outward joy and happiness which this season is rightly expected to bring to society and to individual men, women and children. Grief suffered at such a time is most poignant. It seems so bitter in a time of general rejoicing.

The proud he tamed; the penitent he cheered; nor to rebuke the rich offender, feared; his preaching much, but more his practice wrought, a living sermon of the truths he taught.—Dryden.

We ought to judge of preachers, not only from what they do say, but from what they do not say.—Emmons.

EVENTS OVER THE HOLIDAY OF OUTSTANDING IMPORTANCE included the death of Arthur Brisbane, chief editorial writer for the Hearst newspapers; the death of the wife of Lionel Barrymore in Hollywood; the release of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, military chief for the Chinese Nationalist Government; after being kidnapped and held prisoner by rebellious Marshal Chang Hsueh-Liang; also contradictory rumors, alarming and otherwise, as to the intentions of Hitler and Mussolini in regard to the Spanish situation and the danger of international complications. Many motor accidents featured the holiday season on account of the icy roads.

• • •

ARTHUR BRISBANE'S PEN OR TYPEWRITER SPOKE TO MORE PEOPLE DAILY than that of any other writer of his day and generation. As chief editorial writer for the Hearst newspapers he had a vast audience for the Hearst newspapers cover the United States from coast to coast and Brisbane's writings were published in all. His Column "Today," comment on the day's news, was also syndicated to hundreds of other newspapers outside the Hearst chain, enlarging his daily audience to many millions of readers. Brisbane's paycheck is said to have been the 6d quarter of a million dollars annually. As an editorial writer he was probably the pioneer in the new school of editorial writing for which considerable comment on the news rather than dissertations upon politics and policies. He's remembered in the craft as a brilliant reporter and his report of the Dreyfus trial in France, between John L. Sullivan and Charlie Mitchell, which went over one hundred rounds, fought in the rain on wet muddy turf, London Prize Ring Rules, and enough plug ugliies present to start a dozen riots, is still remembered by the very old timers. Brisbane was a close friend of the "Boston Strong Boy" in his prime and when "Sullivan" was invited to the Prince of Wales Sporting Club in London to strut his stuff before the swanky sporting lords of the realm, Brisbane accompanied him, but was stopped at the door of the exclusive club and told he could not enter. "Jawn L." swung into action right there and announced if his friend was not acceptable neither was he, and turned to leave. Consternation in the ranks of the toffs who were waiting anxiously at the door to meet the greatest pugilist of his day, hurried conferences and the rule was lifted and Brisbane passed through the sacred portals and got what he was after, "a peach of a story". Brisbane's writings were distinguished for his plain language, and his brevity. He was not one of the writers of "fancy" writing but his stuff was always easy to read and understandable by everybody.

• • •

LIONEL BARRYMORE, BELOVED STAR OF THE SCREEN, lost his wife by death on Christmas Eve. Influenza was the cause of death. His former wife, Doris Rankin, took Lionel's famous part of "Old Scrooge" in Dickens Christmas Carol, a radio feature every Christmas night. After the broadcast John Barrymore with the very feelingly of his brother Lionel who he said was looked up to by the entire Barrymore family for counsel and guidance and was everything to him, his brother and friend, and at times even his bank account.

• • •

CHINA'S GREAT SENSATION OF THE KIDNAPPING OF ONE GENERAL BY ANOTHER, and held for ransom, ended just as spectacularly when the kidnapped general's wife flew to the palace of the kidnapper and offered rich ransom for her husband. Then the whole party including the kidnapper flew back to the national capital where the ransom was to be paid and the warring forces assimilated in the national forces besides arranging for a jaunt abroad of the erstwhile kidnapper ostensibly to study foreign military methods. It is interesting to note that right in the centre of the kidnapping and ransom mues was an Australian newspaper man, W. H. Donald, who has been acting as adviser to the Chinese government for some time. It was probably due to him that the kidnapped general was able to return to his home in one piece. Donald's first leap into fame came when as editor of a newspaper in China he was ordered by the proprietor to change the policy of the paper overnight to pro-Japanese. Donald published his boss's orders on the Front Page and resigned. This so placed the Chinese nationalists that he was at once taken into the government service as adviser, and since has wielded a strong influence in Chinese national affairs.

Letters to the Editor

CITY MANAGER

Reply to Alderman Jennings To the Editor:

Alderman Jennings took up about a column in your issue of the 23rd. inst. stated to be a reply to my letter on the above subject. He mistreated much of the material that had been before the public for years, but did not answer my two principal objections to the by-law namely that the by-law does not state the salary to be paid to the City Manager nor the duties to be performed by him.

In the case of Municipal officials such as City Clerk, Treasurer, Assessor, Tax Collector and others the duties are set out in the Municipal Act, and do not require to be recorded in a by-law. In the case of other Municipal offices as to which the statute does not enumerate the duties, the by-law should always contain a list of the duties the officer is to perform.

Alderman Jennings states that a great deal of time has been put upon this matter by the Committee of the Council. One would think, therefore, that there should be no difficulty in agreeing on the question of the salary or the duties of the City Manager. It is not creditable to the Aldermen to express his opinion as to the salary and the duties, such matters should be decided upon by the council and included in the by-law. Also I believe it is clear what burden he is asked to assume and what benefits he may receive for the salary in return.

It might be well to elect Alderman Jennings again to the City Council so that he could peruse this matter further, and another year have a by-law prepared that would include the salary and duties. Likewise, so that the ratepayers would not be asked to vote on a "blank cheque" by-law.

Most men have been taught to be cautious. It is better "to make haste slowly" and "foresight is a lot better than hind sight".

W. C. BIRCH.

City Management

That those who do not know, or have but a vague idea of what City Management is and does, may have an opportunity given them to learn of its workings and benefits, the following instead of a letter to be submitted by the Local Committee to investigate City Management. This committee was appointed early in the year by Mayor Hill. However, the year it has presented much matter and believes its aim has been carried out, that the government should be run on an unprejudiced spirit, withholding nothing that would assist the public in making a proper decision. The article below appeared in The Municipal Review of Canada.

— Burton F. Jennings.

The article follows:

THE COUNCIL-MANAGER PLAN OF CITY GOVERNMENT

By CLARENCE E. RIDLEY

Member of "City Manager" and "Council-Manager"

In any corner of the world, anyone who reads about municipal government knows the words "city manager" because they have now been translated into German, French, or Chinese, for use in international words. To the American mind, the title "manager" has the converse "politician" and implies that political and partisan influences are eliminated in the local government administration. Though the words "city manager" are unknown to the native in the United States and is not patterned upon any foreign system of municipal government. In many foreign countries the appointment of chief administrative officer must be confirmed by the central government before he can be invested in office, for instance, and the council is little more than an advisory body except as regards the appropriation of funds. The city manager plan—though it does not eliminate politics in the United States, as school boards, part boards, and other similar public bodies as well as private corporations, have for many years been entrusted to the administration of their affairs to appointed superintendents or manager. This plan is a form of government by commission, by named "the council-manager plan" to emphasize the responsibility of the elected council which appoints the manager.

In one way the council-manager plan represents a radical change in American city government—government—a recognition of the fact that certain technical functions of local government, which are characterized by specially trained men—in contrast to the idea dating back to the time of President Jackson, that anyone is qualified to hold public office. Prior to the year 1900 the only type of city government in the United States was the so-called weak-mayor-council plan, under which cities generally had numerous boards and commissions, and many department heads were appointed by the council or elected by the mayor. The commission plan, which started in Galveston, Texas, in 1901, had a brief vogue in the first decade of this century. Under this plan three or five commissioners are elected to serve as the legislative body and also as heads of administrative departments. This result in log-rolling, diffusion of power, and shifting of responsibility.

The rapid growth in the technical character of municipal activities during the next two decades emphasized the need of centralized management and a trained, administrative staff which both the city improvement and commission plan failed to provide, mainly for the reason that it cannot be expected that the average candidate running for election as city commissioner can be a good executive as well as a good vote-getter.

First Adoption of the System

The council-manager plan was first adopted in 1908, when Sumner, unwieldy, bicameral council of the little city of Staunton, Virginia, was overthrown after investigating the hiring of a general manager and delegated to him the direction of all administrative affairs. This was shortly after the inauguration of "time and motion" studies in the efficiency movement in business which was then sweeping the research movement in government—the whole process which is now termed as "rationalism". In about the same time, Richard S. Childs, a New York business man and secretary of the Short Ballot Organization, drafted a council-manager charter for Dayton, Ohio, in New York, which did not become effective, however, until 1914. The acceptance of this new form of city government during the following years was contemporary with the decline in the commission plan, the example of about eighteen cities have adopted the council-manager plan during the period 1920-1930 and over 1930 seven counties in three states have adopted the council-manager plan. The plan is now in effect in 442 cities and 7 counties; 13 cities in Canada; 2 in the Province of provinces, 2 in Ireland, and 1 in Puerto Rico. About 1 in 5 cities over 10,000 population in the United States are council-manager cities, and 1 in 3 cities between 10,000 and 25,000 population. Of the 100 cities over 100,000, 37 cities and counties under the manager plan are found in 36 states. Those in which the plan has been most widely adopted are Michigan, with 44 manager cities; Texas, 39; California, 34; Virginia, 34; Oklahoma, 30; and Virginia, 28. In the quarter century of the manager plan there have been but five that have adopted the plan by vote of the people and subsequently left the same method.

It should be stated that not all cities are free to adopt any one of the three chief forms of city government—commission, council-elected and decentralized types); the commission plan; and council-manager plan—as the 900 cities of over 10,000 population in the United States have all of the commission-governed cities and 3.8 per cent. have the town meeting plan. Other cities, including New York City and Atlanta, Georgia, have the mayor-council federal plan. The town meeting plan is found only in the New England States in the form of city government is prescribed by state laws and is subject to little variation from state to state, the provisions of which are: (1) Power is given to vote to make the plan effective. (2) A committee of citizens shall draft and adopt their own charters without action of the legislature. (3) Certain other state laws. The drafted charter must be passed by the state legislature and then it is submitted to the voters for adoption. In a few states the legislature has given home-rule cities power to adopt the manager plan

Main Features of Council-Manager Government

Briefly, the main features of council-manager government are as follows: A small council elected at large on a non-partisan ballot determines all municipal policies and appoints one person, usually called a city manager. The qualifications of the manager are based on his training for the office, and the city manager is in charge of carrying out the policies which it determines. The mayor, who is usually elected by the council from its own number, does not interfere with the administrative functions of the manager, nor do individual members of the council. It is definitely understood that the manager deals with the council as a whole, that the council deals with administration only in a formal manner through ordinances and resolutions, and that administrative functions are at no times delegated to committees or individual members of the council. Since the council is responsible to the public for every act of the city manager, the success of this form of government depends to a large extent upon the maintenance of a frank relationship and mutual understanding between the manager and council. Respect on the part of each for the prerogatives of the other is essential to the success of the plan.

In addition to the heads of the administrative branch, is appointed by the council as whole, the city manager has the authority provides, that he be selected solely on the basis of his executive and experience. The exercise of all administrative authority is conferred upon the city manager, who alone is accountable to the council for the proper discharge of his duties. He is charged with information which enables it to determine municipal policies, and with carrying out policies of policy if the council so desires, and executive head of the administration of the council. The manager is careful, however, to make clear to the council that there is the responsibility of deciding upon the course to be followed in matters of policy. The city manager then expects the council to determine the policies with the city manager keeping officials of the limelight as much as possible, for he does not like publicity, but he manages all of them. In smaller cities, on the other hand, the manager is in the limelight. The function of the council is legislative and that of the manager is administrative.

The chief function of the city manager is to serve as the responsible co-ordinator of men and activities. The manager handles even in smaller villages and towns does not personally direct the affairs of the police and fire departments, but he manages all of them. In smaller cities, on the other hand, the manager is in competition re-then the management, and he frequently directs the work of these positions, such as city engineer, waterworks superintendent, finance commissioner, and the city planning commission.

The city council is usually of a high type which seeks to appoint the best city manager available regardless of politics. As indicated by the action of 63 or 71 per cent. of the council-manager cities that were effective during the years 1920 to 1936 inclusive. The council has a clear concept of employee, the new manager invariably informs all department heads that politics, if any they will be given opportunity to prove their worth. Accordingly, politics, political activities. His procedure is to establish a unified system of administrative procedures and techniques such as budgeting, accounting, purchasing, personnel methods. Council-manager cities have few council committees, particularly as compared with the much smaller than under the mayor-council plan. Department heads in the ceremonial head of the city government, but the manager has the appointment, except, perhaps, a few commissions, and in no case does the council appoint the manager.

The City Manager's Working Day

If the manager's working day consists of eight hours, a short day for a city manager, he usually does not leave appointments for the next day. He spends two hours interviewing citizens, who call at his office, inspecting outside municipal activities; one and one-half hours planning present and future activities and future program; one hour in conference with department heads or attending meetings of civic bodies; two hours in preparing official reports; and forty minutes handling correspondence. As the size of the city increases there is a marked decrease in the amount of time spent in outside inspections, a slight increase in the amount of time spent in planning reports, and a marked increase in the amount of time devoted to conferences.

City managers as a group of officials are doubt appreciate better than most other officials the importance of keeping the public fully informed of municipal affairs. Many of the attractive, readable, and municipal reports of American cities are published by councilmanager cities. Also the reports of the manager to the council, and distributed to the public by various means, such as the radio, budget hearings, talks before citizen groups, leaflets issued with the water bills, motion pictures and open house days in the city hall. Many city managers use cities in reporting municipal affairs to the public. Complaints of citizens are handled promptly and followed up to see that the citizen is satisfied. Every effort to wash their dirty linen is handled. While the manager, because of his responsibility to the press frequently, he urges that the council be given proper credit for its achievements. He knows that the manager be not continually quoted in the press, but is careful not to be the publicity informant for the council or any of its members. He guards against giving news that continually presents him as the center of municipal events or proposals that either have not yet been decided upon or may be changed or abandoned.

The Profession of City Manager

City managers now recognize themselves, as constituting a new profession of public administrators. A number of leading universities provide special training for city management, certain civil functions are fairly well established; and selective procedures has been developed. Their professional organization, the International City Managers' Association, established in 1914, aids in the improvement of city manager administration. In general, provides extension training courses for managers in service, has a monthly journal, "Public Management," devoted, to the consideration of municipal problems, "The Municipal Year Book," and other helpful services.

Nearly fifteen hundred men have held or are now holding city manager positions. The average age at which managers are first appointed is 37, though the range is from 24 to 70. About two-thirds of all managers attended college. A study of the experience of managers prior to their first appointment shows that three-fourths held other governmental positions at some time prior to becoming manager, and public service was the predominant occupation of 43 per cent. Almost one-half began in two cases directly from some public position; one in five from private engineering, and one in four from the professions or business. For the period 1920 to 1934 two-thirds of the managers appointed came directly from other governmental positions.

There have been 20 promotions of city managers in the profession; of the cities putting the manager plan into effect since 1924 over four-fifths appointed experienced outof-town men, as heads of their agencies. The average length of service of all managers holding office at the close of 1934 was five years and nine months, including all cities served, and nearly one-fifth of the managers have been in the service ten years or more.

The annual turnover of managers averages about 15 per cent, but is much greater in some communities than in others. For example, of the eighty-two who left city manager positions in 1934 five were appointed to administrative positions in the federal government, two were appointed to executive positions with state planning boards, one state director of finance, one assistant of a state highway department, one assistant city manager, one city auditor, two with state departments, one city clerk, one engineer for a school district, and one became a mayor. One manager was appointed secretary of a state municipal league, another is with a municipal research bureau. Another manager of one of the larger cities was recently appointed assistant director of the United States Bureau of the Budget.

The spread of the council-manager plan since 1914 is indicative of the new attitude toward municipal affairs in the United States, and there is a distinct recognition of the demand for trained executive ability which the planning and directing of the intricate programme of modern municipal administration requires. The profession of city managership has contributed not only to the science and art of public administration generally, but also to the expansion and unity of local government.

LOOKING BACKWARD

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FILES OF BY-GONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

December, 26th., 1918

Mr. and Mrs. M. Wade of Belleville are Christmas with his parents at Brighton.

The Rev. A. M. Wigle is spending this week with friends at Toronto.

Mr. J. M. Anderson of Kingston, spent Christmas here with his sister, Mrs. Gordon Peck.

Mr. Byron Hudson of Hamilton, spent Christmas here with his mother, Mrs. Charles Hudson, William street.

Mr. C. H. Skinner of Rochester, N.Y., spent Christmas Day, here with his parents.

Mr. Frank Doyle returned to New York yesterday after spending Christmas here with his old home.

Mrs. S. L. May and young son are spending the holiday season with their daughter, Mrs. H. J. Whitton, Clear street.

30 YEARS AGO

December 26th, 1908

Mr. George Brown of Battle Creek, Mich., is visiting his old home in Belleville.

Mr. W. J. Hunt is in Toronto, where he is attending the production of "The Messiah".

Messrs. Dan Baker of Montreal, and Nelson Baker of Lanark, are visiting relatives in the city.

Mr. Harry Mayo is home from Montreal on a visit.

Mr. Percy Wright and wife of Boston spent Christmas here with relatives.

Mr. Fred Burrows is spending the Christmas week with his wife and parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Burrows.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Spry of Niagara Falls, spent Christmas here with relatives in the city.

Terry Dolan is home from St. Michael's College, Toronto, to spend the Christmas vacation.

Mr. Thomas Hinds after an absence of ten years in Chicago, is visiting his aged parents at Deseronto and friends at Belleville.

Mr. Edward B. Bowlby of Mount Forest, made a visit.

Mr. C. B. Scantlebury, is paying Belleville a visit after an absence of forty-eight years.

40 YEARS AGO

December 26th., 1898

Ald. J. W. Johnson was declared Mayor of the city for the year 1899 by acclamation at the municipal nominations today.

The following were declared elected as aldermen: Foster Ward—Charles Ponton, Richard Reid, E. Ballochy, James Mackie, Jr., James Richards, Samuel Ward—Alexander Wills, Jr., Alexander Mercer, James Gordon, Curtis Bogart, J. M. Machar, Centre Ward—Thomas Bowen, Baldwin Ward—John Ketcheson, Robert Reid, Victoria Ward—Ald. Johnson, Ald. J. E. Walmsley, John Harry, S. D. Hay, P. Millar, and William H. Lott (All by acclamation.) Mayor Jacobs, Ald. Wills, Ald. Jacobs, I. O. Frost, S. B. Harris, F. Lauderdale, Ald. F. M. Ketcheson, Jacob Fralick, Murney Ward—W. Latimer, William Parker, W. B. Baldwin, J. Grills, A. Robinson, F. W. Brewer.

Mrs. Reuben Hunter of Waterloo, Que., son of Mr. Charles F. Bunnier, was found dead yesterday.

Mr. Lionel Parker of Chicago, Ill., is home on a visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Parker and Mrs. Parker, George Street.

With new comfortable quarters Midland, and Mr. James Walbridge, student of Mr. George Walbridge, were home for Christmas.

50 YEARS AGO

December 26th, 1888

The municipal elections day, all the saloons and bars are closed by law.

There is no contest for the office of Mayor today; Mr. Wm. Vanderwater, the present Mayor, was elected by acclamation.

The Mayor and Council met in their new chamber in the City Hall for the first time last evening with Mayor Henry Corby in the chair. Routine business was transacted.

Business is now at a standstill today; the elections were the all absorbing attraction.

The ladies of the Roman Catholic congregation at Marmora presented a beautiful fur coat to the Rev. Father O'Brien on Christmas morning.

Arrival at the G.T.R. depot here contains 1258 volumes.

Shirley Temple who is appearing at the Bella tonight only with Robert Young, Alice Faye, Claire Dodd and Arthur Treacher in her greatest picture, "Stowaway".

Children's Colds
Often treated with VICK'S VAPORUB
Now WHITE STRIPE

Personals

MARRIAGE NOTICE

On Saturday, December the 26th, in St. Thomas' Church, Belleville, by the Rev. A. Macnaughton Farrar, Vicar, Thomas E. Dakin, Esq., of Dr. and Mrs. T. E. Dakin, Bedford, England, to Evelyn Isabel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Bull, 365, Charles Street. c26-1

Miss Rita MacDonald of Hamilton, is spending the Christmas holidays with her mother, Mrs. J. J. MacDonald.

Mr. D. Windover spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Windover, of Albert Street, Belleville.

Miss Annie Fleming and Miss Louise Fleming spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Alf Symons and Family, Steadeis Street.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Flint are spending the week in Toronto, Hamilton and Oakville.

Mr. Charles Greenwood, Toronto, spent Christmas the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rochester, Cedarmere Street.

Mrs. Jessie Hamilton, Kingston is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Cecil Graham, and Mr. Graham.

Miss Jane Wilson, Gebraltain daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Wilson, Victoria Street, is spending a few days in the city the guest of Miss Phillips Burrows.

Miss Ruby Milburn of Toronto spent Christmas and the week-end with her sister and Mrs. Milburn and Mrs. H. W. Rosh, Charles Street.

Miss Cecelia Proctor, Ottawa, is the guest of Miss Frances Stapells, Victoria Avenue.

Miss Marjorie Lynch, Sudbury, spent the Christmas holiday week and the week-end at the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lynch.

Mr. Les. Tice, Kirkland Lake, spent Christmas in the city. Mrs. Tice and little daughter Barbara returned with him to take up residence there.

Miss Gwen Wilkes, nurse-in-training at Mimico Hospital, spent Christmas with her brother, Mrs. Sheppard Wilkes, Dundonald Street.

Miss Kay Truesdell, nurse-in-training at Hotel Dieu, Kingston, spent Christmas with her mother, Mrs. J. M. Truesdell.

Miss Ellen Ozerbitwskie, Toronto, spent the holiday week-end the guest of Miss Ethel Mitchell, Ann Street.

Miss Mabel Gibson, Toronto, spent Christmas at her home in the city.

Miss Fay Wells and Miss Vera Street are holidaying in Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Delaney spent Christmas in Peterborough.

Mrs. Harry Gilbert has left for Copper Cliff to reside.

Mr. Frank Goddard, Victoria, B.C., is spending the Christmas season with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Goddard, Pinnacle Street.

Miss Esther Marsh spent the week-end in Ottawa.

Miss Ethel Wheeler, Toronto, was home for the Christmas holiday.

Miss Frances Lazier entertained at an afternoon tea yesterday in honor of Miss Grace Hall, a bride to be. The tea table, at which Mrs. Reginald Rose presided, was charmingly arranged with red roses and red candles.

Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Coxy, Sarnia, Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Somerville, Toronto, Miss Myrtle Chambers, New York, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Hamilton and Mr. Edward Fraser, Toronto, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Hemmesey, Ann Street.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Gibson have returned home to Detroit, after spending the holiday with Mrs. A. Gibson, Hillcrest Avenue, and other relatives.

Miss Mary Richard Snell spent Christmas and the week-end in Toronto, with their nieces, Mrs. J. Mitchell, Mrs. Kirkpatrick, and Mrs. Macleod, of Lindsay.

Mrs. Jean Hartford and Miss Clara Adams, Toronto, are visiting their parents, 3rd Sidney, and relatives in the city.

Constable Stanley Whitehead of the York Township Police Force, and family, were guests of Mrs. A. Keegan, 33 Donald Street, over the Christmas holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Dale, Marmora, spent the week-end in the city.

Mrs. Bruce Reeves is spending the Christmas holidays in Toronto visiting her son, Mr. Jack Reeves.

Mr. Bert Gaiber, Toronto, was home for Christmas and the week-end.

Dr. DeVan's Pills
A reliable tonic-laxative hygienic regulator for girls and women over thirty. Take five dollars. Put safe at
LUNDY'S DRUG STORE

Miss Bessie Vandervelzer, Toronto, was home for the Christmas holiday.

Mrs. (Dr.) A. D. Livingstone, O.B.E., of Ottawa, was a visitor in the city during the week-end, at the home of her sister, Mrs. Percy E. Gilbert.

The condition of Mr. Jas. Varley who is a patient at Christie Street Hospital continues to show progress.

Miss Jean Galway, Toronto, spent Christmas at her home in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. John Calhoun and granddaughter, of Syracuse, N.Y., are spending the holiday with Mr. Calhoun's sister, Mrs. Jno. Lafferty of Frankford.

The five children and six grandchildren of Rev. Orford and Mrs. Dixon spent Christmas Day with them at Wexford Place, Cambridge Road. The party included Mr. and Mrs. James N. S. Dixon with Margaret Ann, Toronto; Mr. S. Clark Dixon, formerly of the Royal Bank, Belleville, now of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bruce with Yvonne, Ottawa, Pat, at home, and Mrs. Wm. C. Wallace with Jean, Norma, Donnie and Grant, Ivanhoe. Mr. Wallace is visiting in California at present, but expects to be home early in January.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray Wilson announced at a delightful Christmas party at their home, Lisle, in honor of their daughter Jessie and Mr. Wm. Edward Wilson, College Street, Belleville. Early Christmas Eve the guests began to arrive and all were accounted. The spacious rooms were decorated with evergreens, candles and Christmas streamers. After the arrival of the bridal party, the Christmas tree was decorated, Santa Claus not only remembered the bride and her groom with a donor, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wilson, also remembered many handsome and useful presents. From the arrival of Santa Claus early on the morning following the departure of the last guest, late on Boxing Day, a continual stream of visitors was kept busy bringing presents to an old-fashioned country Christmas. The oldest members of the party enjoyed reminiscences, games and dancing, while the younger people were delighted by Mr. and Mrs. Wilson. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Page of carols and the voting of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson an ideal host and hostess.

Weddings

PRESTON—McMULLEN

A very pretty wedding ceremony took place at Bawden United Church Parsonage, Picton, on Saturday morning, December 26th, when Miss Agnes Elizabeth McMullen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McMullen, Bethel, became the bride of Mr. Ernest Preston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Preston, Bethel. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Wm. Wallace, of the first Methodist Church, Picton.

The bride wore a gown of navy blue velvet trimmed with ermine and lines with net trimming, a royal blue velvet turban and navy fur accessories.

The young couple were unattended during the ceremony they left on a wedding trip to visit relatives in Toronto and Detroit, returning to reside in Bawden.

BENDELL—STEPHENS

On Saturday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, a quiet but pretty wedding took place at United Church Parsonage, Deseronto, when Annetta Elizabeth, daughter of Mrs. A. P. Stephens, Deseronto, became the bride of Mr. Morley James, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Bendell, Belleville. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Wallis. The bride looked charming in a dark brown velvet with fur accessories.

The bride and groom were attended by Mrs. Harold Lee, sister of the bride, and Mr. Wilfred Bendell, brother of the groom.

The groom's gift to the bride was a silver clock and to the bridesmaid a fur. Out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. W. Wood, Mrs. Harold Lee and Harold Smith, Belleville, Mrs. A. P. Stephens.

Following the ceremony a buffet luncheon was served at the home of the bride's mother to a number of guests. Later the bride and groom left amid showers of confetti for a motor trip to Buffalo, the bride travelling in cornation blue with black accessories. On their return they will reside in Toronto.

CHRISTMAS REPORT

S. S. No. 1 Tyendinaga

Senior Room: (Pupils Writing) Annetta Goodfellow 77; Douglas Stewart 72; Kenneth Seeley 68; Everett John 67.

Senior Fourth: Blake Cook 79; Elmer Cook 78; Ruth Stewart 77; Dorothy 47.

Junior Fourth: Billy Clarke 86; Kathryn Mills 84; Donald Bardy 84.

Third Class: Gerald Lois 72; Charles Mayall 70; Beatrice Smart 67; Ruby Wood 66; Vivian Hoy 64; Dave Barnhart 61; Catherine Brant 60; Douglas Bardy 56; Bernard Barnhart 56; Ruth Spencer 54; Irene Bardy 54; Evelyn Brant 53; Vera Smith 51.

Junior 3rd Room: Ila Coulsell, teacher. Junior Room: Ila Coulsell 96; Dorothy Hoy 94; Ruth Mills 93; Arthur Mills 92; Lois Wood 91; Clarence Wood 90; Marcia Irene, Ash, Vernon Brant, Teddy Mills, Elmer Hill, Ila Marie Hoy.

First Class: Carl Fuller, Gordon Hoy, Doris Shillington, Ruth Mills, Lloyd Mills, Royce Cook.

Primer: Jessie Donald Howard, Joyce Barnhart, Catherine Hill, Lorraine Mayall, Ivan Marion, Wilson Bardy, Joe Barnhart.

Jr. Primer: Joyce Brant, Shirley Marion, Harold Joyce, Mary Sneed Vivian, Mary Mayall, Lloyd Green, Rodney Green Eileen Hill, Donald Rupert.

Beginners: Sharon Marcia, Lorraine Marcia, Bruce Pringle, Jimmy Kelly.

H. Jean Cooke, Editor, teacher.

Public Meeting
City Hall, Belleville
TO-NIGHT

BEGINNING at 7.30 p.m.

Addressed by

DR. HORACE L. BRITTAIN

of TORONTO
Director of Citizens' Research Bureau of Canada

who will speak on

"Municipal Administration Under the City Manager System"

The Belleville Municipal Band under the direction of Lieut. Fred Jobson will play both before and after the Address.

This Meeting has been specially arranged for the General Public by the committee investigating City Management and an urgent invitation to attend is extended.

TRENTON and DISTRICT

Trenton, Dec. 23.—(Special)—A slow dazzling rain, that rose as it fell turned the streets and sidewalks of the town into a slippery surface yesterday. While walking on Dundas street, Mrs. Geo. Campbell Wannamaker R. R. 1, of Consecon, fell to the pavement fracturing her right ankle. Doctors were busy treating other accidents caused by the treacherous footing. Mrs. Nathan Dowsley suffered concussion of the brain when she fell on the icy sidewalk. She was taken to the hospital where she remained under observation.

Trenton's Christmas Tree

Trenton was thronged with people on Christmas Eve. Their faces lit up with excitement when the chief executive told them that they would date at a local cafe, and that the evening's festivities were made happy by the civic generosity.

Trenton's Christmas Tree

Two hundred kiddies packed Canterbury Hall on King street and received their annual Yuletide gifts from the Canadian Legion Branch 109, Ladies' Auxiliary. Comrade Gerda Lalirash) made the presentations and greeted each child with a cheery word. An enjoyable program was supplied. Those in the program were: Instrumental, Misses Jorgan and Bonter; recitation, Miss Davidson; piano solo, Master Peter Smith; comic songs, Mrs. Sania and Mrs. Charles Baker; duets and dances were given by Mayor and Mrs. Cory and the Rev. R. Y. Smith of St. Andrew's Anglican Church. Those in charge of the unbefitting were—Mr. Gerda (chairman); F. P. McInnes, S. Donaldson and George Jordan.

Annual Santa Claus Parade Is Interesting Event at Tweed

Tweed—The annual Santa Claus parade was held on Wednesday afternoon. The committees in charge were—Finance: T. N. Hepburn, chairman, Mrs. Rex. Greer, Trey bell Wannamaker R. R. 1, of Consecon, fell to the pavement fracturing her right ankle. Doctors were busy treating other accidents caused by the treacherous footing. Mrs. Nathan Dowsley suffered concussion of the brain when she fell on the icy sidewalk. She was taken to the hospital where she remained under observation.

Trenton's Christmas Tree

Trenton was thronged with people on Christmas Eve. Their faces lit up with excitement when the chief executive told them that they would date at a local cafe, and that the evening's festivities were made happy by the civic generosity.

Trenton's Christmas Tree

Two hundred kiddies packed Canterbury Hall on King street and received their annual Yuletide gifts from the Canadian Legion Branch 109, Ladies' Auxiliary. Comrade Gerda Lalirash) made the presentations and greeted each child with a cheery word. An enjoyable program was supplied. Those in the program were: Instrumental, Misses Jorgan and Bonter; recitation, Miss Davidson; piano solo, Master Peter Smith; comic songs, Mrs. Sania and Mrs. Charles Baker; duets and dances were given by Mayor and Mrs. Cory and the Rev. R. Y. Smith of St. Andrew's Anglican Church. Those in charge of the unbefitting were—Mr. Gerda (chairman); F. P. McInnes, S. Donaldson and George Jordan.

Library Corner

The following periodicals will be received at the Public Library, beginning January 1st:

By Subscription—

Canadian Magazine, Atlantic Monthly, Boy's Own Paper, Building (in October), Canadian Bird Life, Canadian Forum, Canadian Geographical Journal, Canadian Horticulturist, Canadian Poultry Magazine, Canadian Poultry Review, Canadian Printer, Canadian Publicity Magazine

"KING of HEARTS"

By Edna Robb Webster

CHAPTER I.

The snow was thick and white in the air, like a possumer veil that settled down one instant to be lifted by the wind the instant after. Then it swirled in spirals and sank with smothering lightness upon everything with a final knowing finality, before the wind picked it up again and whirled it in circles toward the elevated station with loads lowered and was propelled through the dim gray light, shivered in the sudden blasts of sharp air and hurried to the shelter of their cozy nests.

Most of the snow, which had been sold and white in the air the previous moment, became cold, hard and harsh beneath hundreds of hurrying feet with a kind of sighing, swishing sound, for the hour was the rush hour of the day, the hour of exodus from the wind and a more perfect timing of the elevated trains.

Just another of our pleasant Christmas Eves, thought Dorothy Lorrimer, sauntering through the shelter doorway of a not-too-generous table d'hote restaurant, and looking out upon the scene. She would have to be content with a quiet evening at home, as she usually supplies. She was like a crimson orchid amidst snow, rare, gorgeous, exotic, against the white. Poised and proud like an orchid, too; modest and retiring and yet sensitive to a harsh touch. That was why she had become a success as girls at Dunning's without experience. Hey luminous beauty characterized every part of her, made it character. She looked the way women wished they could look—the glove-gray carpeted salon, wanted to look—the dull, dark, rich velvet clothes adaptable. She was stunning in a sophisticated gown, or dress in a demure manner for the shining black hair, drawn severely back of her face, and the soft curls at each side to a graceful swirl at the nape of her white neck—as few women ever can, since the clothes usually appear to be both dignified and demure. Dorothy's clothes would have been too daring, where they not balanced delightfully by the quality which lay on her cheeks when the lids were lowered. In one of these moments she looked like a child, her dark had settled there. But it never remained long, and anyone who fascinated gaze when you talked with Dorothy.

Lynn's mother had lived in the genteel atmosphere of a Louisiana plantation until after Lynn was considered south one winter—as Suzanne of Lorraine—and Lynn had the hybrid flower that was Marian, to transplant into his own bleak country. Marian, with her cold, pale beauty, had been too dazzling, where they were accustomed to the warm glow

DEATHS

THOMPSON—In Ottawa on Sunday, December 27, 1936, J. Colin Thompson, beloved son of Dr. and Dr. T. J. Thompson of Glebe Road, Trenton, Ontario.
The funeral will take place from the C. N. R. North Station on arrival of 2.10 p.m. train from Ottawa on Wednesday, December 30th. Interment Belleville cemetery. c28-1i

AUTO FINANCE

AUTO LOANS REFINANCING
At terms and in sums which are with that suitable to your requirements. Your application is given prompt care for borrowing. Only the utmost privacy and fair dealing with the largest company of its kind in Canada.
HAIG BROS. LTD.
180 FRONT STREET
BELLEVILLE
CAMPBELL AUTO
FINANCE CO. LTD.

DENTIST

DR. ROBT. H. EMPSON
DENTIST
X-Ray
Phone 468 3014 Front St.
Phone 2-J

LAND SURVEYOR

FRASER AYLESWORTH
Ontario Land Surveyor and Resident Provincial Land Surveyor for Prince Edward County. Office: Picton, Ontario. Phone 7, P. O. BOX 99, MADOC, ONT. c28-1i

STOCKS & BONDS

HUGHAN AND CRAWFORD MORTGAGE CORPORATION LIMITED
Phone 1-W. Wills Bench Building. 81-tf

Business Directory

MINERAL BATHS

The "Health Institute" specializes in Mineral Baths Colonic treatments, with Electric, Hydro, Massage, Manipulation, Infra Red, Ultra Violet, Galvanic, Faradic, Sinusoidal, Short Wave, Diathermy, Vibration, Inhalation, Nebulizer, Steam Cabinet, Sitz, Spinal and foot applications, Medical Gymnastics, Remedial exercises, Reducing and Weight Building Diets, Nebulizer, phone 1000.

CHIROPRACTOR

R. A. WYATT, D.C., CHIROPRACTOR and Drugless Therapeutic Specialist. Graduate and practical. Modern methods of Chiropractic, Electro-therapy, Colonic irrigation, Ionization, Spinal and foot adjustments. Consultation and examination free. Office hours 9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 5 p.m. Phone 1000. Belleville, phone 1000.

DOMINION OPTICAL

E. S. and VERA A. PITCHER, R.C. Graduate Optometrists. Visual Examinations and Treatments. Glasses Fitted and Repaired. Contact Lenses. Violet Ray Treatments. Registered Physiotherapist. Consultation at Toronto and Napanee offices by appointment. 370 Bridge St. E., Belleville, Ont. Phone 1374.

INSURANCE

The Gospel of Fire Loss Half the Furnace when you're protected with our Fire Insurance.
SANDY BURROWS and HOWARD FROST
LIFE AND FIRE INSURANCE
191 FRONT ST. PHONE 128

HALL & EARLE

General Insurance, Accidents and Fire Insurance
218 Front St. Phone 1154-w

LEGAL

WALLBRIDGE, CARSCOM AND CO. (Successors to Wallbridge & Wallbridge). Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, etc. Solicitors for Bank of Nova Scotia. Corner Front and Bridge Streets. Corner Front and Bridge Streets. Belleville, Ontario.

MALCOLM WRIGHT, BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, Notary Public, Etc. Office, Campbell St., Stirling.

T.V.WILLS, BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, Notary Public, Etc. Office, Bridge St., Belleville, Telephone 74. Money to loan on mortgages.

FOSTER, PAYNE AND ARNOTT, BARRISTERS, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Etc. A. Payne, K.C., E. D. Arnott, Solicitors for Bank of Montreal.

FOSTER AND GRAHAM, BARRISTERS, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Conveyancers, etc. Solicitors for Dominion Bank. Office, Campbell Block, Belleville. Telephone 1. C.C. A. S. H. Graham, Q.C., Counsel.

DONHAM AND BUTLER, K. C., Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, etc. Solicitors for Canadian Bank of Commerce. Offices, Corner Front and Bridge Streets, Belleville, Ont. Phone 588.

BOY MAKES GOOD AT FIRST ASKING

Christmas brought joy at least to one of the ranks of the unemployed, a well-dressed youngster walked into the Intelligencer office on Coleman Place and was looking for a job. A few minutes later a field crop manager of a prominent manufacturing concern walked in looking for salesmen. A deal was consummated and the youngster started on his new job. So good did he make on his initial entry that he made sufficient money to cover his holiday expenses. This morning the field crop manager required of the Bureau if any more Belleville youngsters of this boy's type were available.

WANTED

SEVERAL CORDS HARD BODY wood in exchange for new and used battery radios. Apply Model Radio Shop, 229 Front St. c28-2i

COOK GENERAL, NO ONE WITHout experience or references need apply. Apply Mrs. S. McMillan, 215 Charles St. c28-2i

PRACTICAL NURSE WOULD like position nurse or mine housekeeper. Phone 547. c27-3i

FOR SALE

COOK STOVE IN GOOD CONDITION. Very cheap for quick sale. Apply 25 Victoria Ave. c28-3i

BOYS' TUBE SKATES AND hockey. Size 9½ and 10½. Pair $1.50. 173 Front St. c28-1i

1 USED BABY ELECTRIC WASHer. First class condition. $19.50. Apply Miller Radio Shop, 229 Front St. c28-1i

TO LET

FIVE ROOMED HOUSE, CONVENiences, also garden. Apply 167 Mary Street.

THREE ROOM APARTMENT FOR small family, private entrance and newly heated. 330½ Front St. Apply 330 Front St. c28-3i

5 ROOMED BUNGALOW, GARage, garden, $10 per month. Apply 89 Carleton Street. Phone 1578. c28-1i

TO LET OR FOR SALE

SIX ROOM BRICK HOUSE, hardwood floors, modern conveniences, garden. Immediate possession. 261 Bleecker Ave. Apply Grove St. Phone 3318J. d14-tf

ATTENTION BUTCHERS! FARMERS!! Highest Cash Prices Paid for HIDES by H. YANOVER & SONS
129 S. John St. Phone 1479
c28-3i, 27-5-7

LOST

DARK STRIPED PERSIAN CAT. Reward if returned to 40 North Front Street or Phone 864J. c28-3i

LOST

GARAGE KEYSETTE AND BLACK covered book in envelope. Liberal reward. Leave in Box "G" Ontario Intelligencer. c28-2i

LOST

BLACK PERSIAN KITTEN, "NIGger", from apartment on Front Street. Finder kindly return to 322 Front Street. Liberal reward. c28-1i

LOST

LIGHT BAND COLLIE PUP, FOUR months old. Answers to name of Bruce. Finder please return to 259 Albert. Phone 1947W. c28-1i

Business Liners

Gainsborough Rose said by Mrs. Thurman, Millbur. 2c/4 Bridge St. Optimists. A practical gift for the New Year. c28-3i

PERSONAL

Women, worry won't help. Drugs for all cases of menstrual disorders will. Free booklet. Dr. Boyd's Lutheran's and Seldon's Drug Stores. c37-1m

MENI GET YOUR NEW OVERcoat before Christmas. Large certain assortment. Come here to select your cloth. It not delighted, bake your money back. Phone 1000. Opian the druggist. M18-tf

HITLER LIKELY TO AVOID

(Continued from page one)

In shaping a policy to aid General Franco's cause, the insurgent dictator-designate in Spain, without openly antagonizing Soviet Russia, will helm Faupel, the German Charge d'Affairs to Fascist Spain, is credited with a major task.

With true Prussian devotion to duty, Faupel will decided to be his own courier and bring important information personally to Hitler.

His decision was made, it was disclosed, after a German Luftpaxe plane carrying an estensive report to Berlin on the Spanish situation crashed near Amecy, in the Alps on Dec. 4.

Since his recent arrival here, General Faupel has been in almost continuous conference with the German general staff officers. He is known to be stressed the death of non-commissioned officers in Franco's insurgent army.

CARDS OF THANKS

Mr. and Mrs. Varley, Christie Street Hotel, Toronto, desire to express my grateful thanks to all his friends in Belleville and district, including the manager and staff of the Stewart-Warner Alemite Corporation for their kindly assistance and wishes for Christmas and the New Year. c28-1i

INSULATION

ARTHUR A. SILLS CO.
CONTRACTOR & DISTRIBUTOR
282-287 Clarence St. Phone 1242
12c-tf

GERMANY COVETS

(Continued from page one)

Togoland, West Africa, 34,430 square miles, British and French mandate.

Many Islands Included.

Caroline, Marshall and Marianne Islands, in the equatorial Pacific, more than 1,000 islands included in a total area of 718 square miles, held by Japan under League mandate although Japan is no longer a League member.

New Guinea, part of a large island north of Australia, 93,000 square miles, Australian mandate.

German Samoa, in the Pacific 4,200 square miles, New Zealand mandate.

Nauru Island, in the Pacific, eight square miles, British mandate.

Kiaochow, 200 square miles, which Germany leased from China in 1897, was captured by Japan in 1914 and ceded to Japan by China in May of 1919. It was returned to China, however, as result of a Sino-Japanese agreement concluded in Washington 1922.

European Territory Lost.

In Europe Germany lost by the Treaty of Versailles:

Alsace-Lorraine, ceded to France. Most of the provinces of West Prussia and Posen, ceded to Poland. Upper Silesia, ceded to Poland

Part of Upper Silesia, ceded to Czechoslovakia.

Eupen and Malmedy, ceded to Belgium.

Part of Schleswig, ceded to Denmark.

Danzig, made a free state under protection of the League of Nations.

Memel, turned over to the League of Nations but annexed by Lithuania in 1923.

The Saar Basin, administered by a commission of five appointed by the League of Nations until it was returned to Germany in 1935 as the result of a plebiscite of its population. Germany regained control by a favor of reunion with the Reich.

The Saar is the only one of these territories restored to Germany.

ENGLISH FOOTBALL RESULTS

London, Dec. 28—(CP Cable)—English League results of games played today resulted as follows:

Reading 1, Leagues Div. 3
Bolton Wanderers 0; Manchester United 4

Chelsea 1; Stoke City 0
Derby County 3; Everton 1
Huddersfield Town 6; Wolverhampton Wanderers, 0
Liverpool 1; West Bromwich Albion 1
Manchester City 1; Grimsby Town 0
Middlesbrough 4; Leeds United 2
Portsmouth 0; Charlton Athletic 1
Sheffield United 3; Arsenal 3
Sheffield Wednesday 0; Brentford 2
Sunderland 4; Birmingham 0
English League—Division II.
Aston Villa 4, Barnsley 0
Barnsley 1, Leicester City 2
Blackpool 3, Fulham 0
Bradford City 2, Notts Forest 1.
Bury 1, Sheffield United 0.
Doncaster Rovers 2, Burnley 0.
Norwich City 1, Newcastle U. 6.
Southampton 1, Coventry City 1.
Swansea Town 0, Plymouth Arg. 1.
Tottenham Hot. 3, Blackburn R. 1.
West Ham United 1, Bradford 0.
Division III. South—Section.
Bournemouth 2, Mansfield 7. 1.
Darlington 0, Gateshead 2.
Hartlepools Utd. 1, Chester 0.
Hartlepools U. 2, York City 0.
Gillingham Athletic 3, Carlisle U. 1.
Port Vale 1, Accrington Stanley 1.
Rotherham U. 3, Lincoln City 1.
Southport 1, Wrexham 0.
Stockport Co. 3, New Brighton 1.
Tranmere Rovers 2, Crewe Alexandra 1.
Wrexham vs Hull City unplayed.
DIV. III—Southern Section
Aldershot 1; Millwall 2
Bournemouth and Boscombe Utd 0
Bristol Rovers 0; Gillingham 3
Cardiff City 0; Swindon Town 2
Clapton Orient 3; Walsall 2
Crystal Palace 1; Bristol City 0
Exeter City 2; Southend Utd 1
Newport County 1; Northampton Town 3
Reading 2; Luton Town 1
Swindon Town 1; Reading 2
Watford 1; Brighton 0

Munich, Dec. 28 (AP)—General Erich Von Ludendorff's periodical "Am Heiligen Quell Deutsch Kraft," has declared something ought to be done about the story that Columbus discovered America in 1492.

As a matter of fact, the periodical states, Columbus got his hands on several Viking maps and "discovered" America nearly five centuries after the Vikings had found "Vinland—later called Vermont.

We take this opportunity of wishing our clients and friends the Compliments of the Season, and a Happy and Prosperous New Year.
JAMIESON BONE & CO.
INSURANCE — REAL ESTATE

IMPERIALS HOLD CHRISTMAS TREE

81 Children of The Veterans Made Happy by Fine Gifts

In a review of the work performed this year in bringing Christmas cheer to children and their parents, war veterans of the city by members of the Belleville Imperial Veterans' Club, it was reported by the executive of the organization that at the annual Christmas party held in the armouries a total of 81 children received Christmas packages containing toys and goodies.

Following their admission to the party each child was presented with a bag of soft drink and hot mince pie. Community singing was enjoyed by those present, after which presentation of toys was made, which included also a bag of candies, an orange, an apple, a bag of nuts, chocolate bar and games.

Results of the turkey draw and goose raffle which was conducted by Mayor Harry Hill resulted in the following winners being presented: Mrs. Brown, Campbell Street; goose, Jacob Bargman, Moira Street; duck, Mrs. Wright, General Hospital; turkey, James Wright, Hatch Street; goose, Floyd Martin, Church Street; duck, Dr. R. W. Tennent, city.

The special thanks donated by Dr. R. W. Tennent to the largest family present was won by Mrs. A. G. Jaffs, who was accompanied by her eight children, all under the age of fourteen.

An expression of appreciation for the donations received from local sources is made by officials of the Veterans' Club.

Nominated

(Quintmad from page one)

Isaac Stephenson, proposed by R. B. Foley, seconded by H. J. Armstrong.

G. C. Barager, proposed by J. W. Barlow, seconded by H. J. Armstrong.

E. J. Baldrey, proposed by R. Monteith, seconded by W. Thompson.

Frank B. Foley, proposed by H. Hill, seconded by Wm. Harvey.

G. H. Thomas proposed by H. Hill, seconded by W. A. Woodley.

R. W. Gibson proposed by H. Hill, seconded by C. L. Hyde.

F. F. Dawson proposed by H. Hill, seconded by C. E. Thompson.

C. E. Clapp, proposed by Geo. Reid, seconded by W. Thompson.

J. W. Barlow, proposed by Thos. Cushing, seconded by C. G. Barager.

B. F. Jennings, proposed by H. Hill, seconded by Wm. Harvey.

Lands Leslie proposed by H. Hill, seconded by B. F. Jennings.

Geo. Reid proposed by C. L. Hyde, seconded by H. J. Armstrong

H. H. Corporon proposed by R. D. Arnott, second by F. M. Burd.

Urias Lemoine, proposed by R. L. Hall, seconded by C. G. Barager.

FOR HYDRO COMMISSION

H. H. Corporon proposed by C. E. Clapp, seconded by C. A. Reid.

Geo. R. Reid proposed by J. W. Barlow, seconded by C. E. Thompson.

FOR SCHOOL TRUSTEES FOSTER WARD

Harry Rollins, proposed by H. J. Allin, seconded by R. Moncrieff

Rev. L. A. Hutchinson proposed by C. L. Hyde, seconded by O. F. Lent.

Ketcheson Ward

F. C. McGuire, proposed by C. L. Hyde, seconded by O. F. Lent.

Y. H. Graves, proposed by H. J. Allin, seconded by O. F. Lent.

Mrs. Alice Legge, proposed by H. Hill, seconded by Thos. Cushing.

Bleecker Ward

H. J. Allin, proposed by R. Monteith, seconded by C. L. Hyde.

Dr. J. Kinnear, proposed by Thos. Cushing, seconded by H. Hill.

Bleecker Ward

David Harrison, proposed by W. Harvey, seconded by C. A. Reid.

G. F. Lent, proposed by J. W. Barlow, seconded by C. E. Clapp.

Coleman Ward

W. J. Ellerson (acrd), proposed by H. J. Allin, seconded by R. Moncrieff.

Murney Ward

E. A. Geen, proposed by R. J. Jennings, seconded by A. Moncrieff

E. Zeleh, proposed by L. Lewis, seconded by G. C. Barager.

ONLY ONE FIRE RUN OVER THE HOLIDAY

With the exception of a minor blaze which was confined to a chimney on Christmas night, fire demon left Belleville practically unmolested over the holiday season. Both fire stations report a dearth of alarms during the festive week. This being due to the fact that people in general stayed within the confines of their homes during the general celebration, station Fire Chief Wm. Lynch today.

Livestock

Toronto, Dec. 28 (CP)—The cattle division of the Toronto Livestock Market turned fairly active after a dull opening today. Prices were strong on best grades of butcher cattle and about steady on other killers. Calves were 50 cents higher. Sheep and lambs sold around previous levels. The hog market was unsettled by early afternoon. There was no calling over from Thursday.

Receipts reported by the Dominion Livestock Branch were: Cattle 2,140; calves 280; hogs 980; sheep and lambs 870.

Choice weighty steers brought $8.75 to $8.90 with top reaching $9.25. Other weighty steers sold between $4.75 and $5.60. Choice butchers were strong at $5.25 to $5.50 with common to medium from $3.25 to $5. Butcher cows were firm at $3.50 to $3.75 and some sold up to $4. Plain cows ranged down to $2.50.

Good bulls went at $3.25 to $3.50 and choice heavy feeders to $3. Fed calves sold slowly between $5 and $7.50. Stockers were in demand.

Choice veal calves traded from $8.50 to $9 with common lightweights as low as $6. Heavy Westerns ranged from $4.50 to $6.

Indications pointed to a close about steady on the hog division. Prices previous close for off fruit, Saturday was $8.75.

Lamb ewe and wether lambs, including one car of Westerns, were priced at $9 and other grades ranged down to $8.50. Sheep brought $2 to $4.50 cwt. A few Western yearlings sold at $6.50.

Montreal, Dec. 28 (CP)— Light offerings, accompanied with limited demand, sent cattle prices up as much as $1 today. Other sections held unchanged for the most part.

Cattle 796; Medium good to good steers $6.50 to $6.75; medium $5.50 to $5.75, common $3.50 to $4.50; good heifers $5.50 to $6.25; medium $3.50 to $4.50; common $3 to $3.50. Good cows $3.50 to $3.75, medium $2.50 to $3, common cows down to $2. Canners and cutters $2.20 to $3; butcher bulls $3.25 to $4.

Mrs. W. Davidson Dies At Husband's Funeral

Death, striking dramatically twice in the same family in the course of two days, cast a cloud of gloom over the district of the Davidson family, who reside near Consecon Lake.

Wellington Davidson, seventy-nine year old resident of the community passed away at his home on Tuesday of last week. The funeral arrangements were completed and the last rites were to be held on Thursday. Then suddenly a deeper sense of gloom to the stricken household came the news of the death of Mrs. Wellington Davidson on Thursday, as she was preparing to attend the funeral of her husband. Mrs. Wellington Davidson was seventy-four years of age and was survived with her husband by their late residence near Consecon Lake for a long number of years, and by one brother. The funeral was held on Saturday. Both interments were made in Wellington cemetery.

Highways Dangerous In This District

The slippery, glazilis condition of the highways and sidewalks constituted a dangerous menace to pedestrians and motorists in Christian Night and Boxing Day morning, according to reports. The difference being between Picton and Belleville was in a particularly dangerous condition. The latter city being in the ditch at one time, he said.

Indications pointed to Belleville in an effort to rescue a fellow traveller from the ditch, and was forced to wait until an early hour in the morning before the boat was taken from their slippery predicament.

A number of Belleville and vicinity residents who spent the holidays out of town were forced to remain over longer than they intended to, when the heavy rains which fell Saturday night rendered the roads and highways sufficiently for them to make the return journey in safety.

PUBLIC MEETING TO DISCUSS CIVIC AFFAIRS

A public meeting will be held in the City Hall this evening beginning at eight o'clock for the discussion of municipal administration, its defects and possible improvements. The meeting will be addressed by Dr. Horace L. Brittain, of the Bureau of Research Bureau of Canada, who has long been a student of municipal affairs, administration and an advocate of advanced methods and efficiency in civic affairs. The meeting will be in charge of the committee of City Council appointed to look into the working of the City Manager system and report back with a view to its adoption by Belleville.

APPEAL TRIBUNAL NOW IN SESSION

In spite of the fact that nomination day is being held in a large number of the municipalities throughout the province, the appeal against the equalization of municipal assessment remained unchanged in the County Buildings under the supervision of Judge George E. Deroche.

It is expected that the next two days will see the conclusion of the taking of evidence from both appellants and respondents. It was not known when the decision of the tribunal will be handed down.

UNLISTED MINES

Unlisted mines furnished by A. H. Ketcheson and Co. today at 3.30.

Albany 90-89
Alberta 25-28
Beechhill 100-120
Cimfpat 14-16
Davis Gold 3-5
Dardis 25-40
Can. Exploration 18-20
Forty Four 23½
Faulkenham 37-42
Gold Eagle 5-6
Lapa Cadillac 139-183
Office Cadillac 40-43
Hudson Patricia 9-11
Lamaque 775-825
Lorlch Gold 60-64
Madsen Red Lake 139-147
McKenzy Web 644
Mosher 45-49
Moneta 52-55
Orland Ed Mar 4-5
Old Diamond 41-44
Pan Orlando 100-106
Rice Lake 4-5
Rahill 10-11
Robso 11-13
Smelters Gold 9½-10½
Sturgeon River 45-49
Skookum 25-A
Sickerlver 12-15
Shenango 22-26
Sigma 500A
Stone Hedge Extension 13A
Thom. Cad. 212-215
Wendy 4
Wilson Red Lake 10A

WALL STREET

New York, Dec. 28 (AP)—Stocks ran into another quiet session today and closed market issues had been given an early lift of fractions to two or more points.

While some of the oils, rails, airplanes and specialties were encouraged to hold moderate gains, the downward drift elsewhere helped to offset the gainers. Near the fourth hour prices were ragged.

Commodities were in play away from securities with export copper and cotton both higher, sugar, cocoa and rubber leaping to new recovery peaks. Cotton and silk also exhibited strength. Foods were slightly uneven. European currencies were mixed.

Mcintyre yielded fractionally among the golds. Consolidated Mining, National Nickel, Distillers Corp-Seagrams, Hiram Walker and Canadian Pacific were among those forced to a shade better. On the curb, Lake Shore Mines, Ltd., declared a special gold dollars were even at 100.05¼ cents.

Ahead during the greater part of the proceedings were Standard Oils of New Jersey, Standard Brands, Oil, Amerada, Shell Union, Pure Oil, Socony Vacuum, Atlantic Refining, Stroke Prod. and New Haven Pfd.

TORONTO MINES

Toronto, Dec. 28—(CP)—Gold stocks were in the spotlight on the Toronto mining exchange this afternoon and Hollinger, Dome and Preston moved through the million share level by mid-day. Several issues made new peaks including Macassa, Pickle Crow, Sladen Canadian Malartic, Siscoe, Siscoe and Premier.

Broke featured the penny list, trading in heavy volume at a gain of several cents and other strong features included Lamaque, Bralorne, Kirkland and Sladecona.

Base metals were quiet on the whole and barely firm and parrow recessions predominated in the oils.

TORONTO INDUSTRIALS

Toronto, Dec. 28—(CP)—Trading tempo was quiet on the Industrial section of Toronto Exchange today with the price tone firm to strong. There was little or no accumulation of stocks and prices were extended. Christmas holiday and sellers also were out of the market. Side news on the opening for a majority of the Interlisted leaders with action good in some of the stocks.

Canadian Car, Foundry common traded in volume at a steady price Steel of Canada common and Dominion Steel and coal were a little stronger, C.P.R. was in demand at a fractional advance. Power Corp. common featured the Utilities with a gain of more than two points. Distillers common also advanced to a new high at 5 3-8.

Stock Markets

Quotations furnished by Biggar Parmenter & Co., E. W. Wills, branch manager. Quotations at 2.25.

MINES

Arno 14
Alax 40
Armfield 80
Anglo Hur. 650
Base Metals 27 1-2
Beattie 130
Bobjo 19
Big Missouri 38
Bagamac 8
Bralorne 790
Brz $ 1-3
Buffalo Ank 13
Castle Tr 143
Can. Malar 195
Central Pat. 400
Chemical Research 130
Chromium 150
Coast Copper 875
Chibogg 107
Dentonia 186
Dome 50
Falconbridge 280
Falconbridge 11 1-2
Gold's Lake 90
Goldale 43
Gunnar 104
Greene St. 41
Hardrock 215
Hasta Gold 388
Hollinger 13 2-8
Howey 61
Hudson Bay 33 3-4
J. M. Cons. 43
Kirk. Lake 56
Lake Shore 57 5-8
Lebel 16 1-2
Little L. Fr. 745
Macassa 800
Man. R. 1 1-2
McIntyre 36 3-4
Mining Corp 140
McMillan 16
MacWilkin 78
Mining Corp. 313
Noranda 74
Pickle Crow 1100
Parker 410
Preston 1000
Pend. Or. 300
Pickle 70
Pioneer 510
Premier 605
Prov. Ali 1-35
Read Auth. 470
Red Lake G-F. 160
Reno 120
Royalite 48
San Antonio 236
Sherritt G 300
Sigma 680
Stadacona 80
St. Anthony 20 1-8
Std. Beath 600
Sud. Basin 2 3-4
Sullivan 217
Sylvanite 346
Teck 24
W. Hughes 530
Yor. Can. Oil 227
Toburn 375
Venture 900
W. Amulet 300
Wayside
Wr. Hargreaves 770
Ymir 37
Beidell 155
Francoeur 112
Glenora 25
May Spiral 31
Moneta 168
No. Pacific 18
McLeod 475
Shawkey 79
Sudan 244

Toronto.

Bell Telephone 160.
B. A. Oil 22¼.
Brewing Corporation 21¼.
Brazilian Traction 18.
Canada Bud 85½.
Canada Cement 134½.
Canada Dredge 44½.
Can. Industrial Alcohol 7¼.
C.P.R. 14¾.
Canada Malting 34½.
Canada Vinegar 30.
Canada Oils 20¼.
Cockshutt Plow 11¼.
Cons. Bakeries 21.
Can. Steamship 7.
Dominion Stores 10½.
Distillers Seagrams 37½.
Fanny Farmer 22.
Ford "A" 21½.
Gypsum 31½.
Goodyear 90.
Imperial Oil 20¾.
Inter. Nickel 64.
Inter. Petroleum 34.
Imperial Tobacco 13½.
Loblaw 31.
Massey Harris 7¼.
Mont. Power 33¼.
MacKay Preferred 12.
Power Corporation 30.
Steel of Canada 64½.
Supertest 8.
Shawinigan 36½.
Walkers 91½.
Walkers Pfd. 19½.
Walkers "A" 19.

NEW YORK

American Can 114 1-2
American T. and T. 165 1-4
Amer. Por. Power 8 1-4
American Locomotive 25 1-4
Anaconda 54.
Auburn 19 1-4
Bethlehem Steel 74 3-4
Case 146 3-4
Chrysler 117.
General Electric 52 1-4
General Motors 66 3-4
Int. Auto Elec 40 1-2
Int. Nickel 64 1-4
North American 20 1-2
Montgomery Ward 54 3-4
Phillips Pet. 50 1-2
Radio 11
Simmons 44
Standard Oil of N.J. 82 3-4
Standard Brands 13 1-4
Stewart Warner 18 1-8
U. S. Smelters 98 3-4
U. S. Steel 77 1-4
United Aircraft 27 7-8
Vanadium 32 1-2
Westinghouse 145 1-4

Produce Markets

(By United Farmers Co-Operative Company)

Toronto, Ontario, December:

Buying Prices
United Farmers' Co-operative Co. today were paying the following prices for Toronto delivery:
Eggs—Prices to producers, cases returned basis, delivered Toronto:
A-large	38
A-medium	36c
Pullets	31c
"B"	31c
"C"	27c
Churning Cream, No. 1 lb	36c
Churning Cream, No. 2 lb	34c
Butter lb. No. 1	32c
Butter lb. No. 2	30c

(Quotations in Cents)

Young Chickens—

	Dressed Sel.
Over 6 lbs	17
5 to 6 lbs.	16
4½ to 5 lbs.	15
3½ to 4 lbs.	13
2½ to 3 lbs.	12
1¾ to 2½ lbs.	11
1½ to 1¾ lbs.	10

Dressed, Milled A. Sel. A

Hens

Over 5 lbs.	15 14
4 to 5 lbs.	13 11
3 to 4 lbs.	12 11
Old roosters	9 11

Milled Grain grade poultry 2c more than "A". "C" grade as former than "B"

Sel. A.

Young Turkeys—

8 to 10 lbs	20
10 to 14 lbs	21
Over 12 pounds	22
Young Geese—
Over 8 lbs.	13

Other Fowl—

Young ducks, white 4 to 8 lb	16c
Over 5 lbs.	15c

(Colored chickings, 8c less.)

Selling Prices

United Farmers' Co-operative Co. yesterday were offering produce to retail dealers at the following prices:

Butter—No. 1 Creamery prints 31c
No. 1 22, No. 2, 27c.

Eggs—

A-large	32c
"B"	30c
"C"	26c

Potatoes—New Ontario bag f.o.b. at shipping point $1.75

HAY AND STRAW

No. 2 timothy, $12 to $13 per ton; No. 3 timothy, $8 to $10; oats and wheat straw $6 to $7. Above prices f.o.b. Toronto.

Livestock Quotations

(Toronto)

Steers, up to 1,000 lbs.

Good	$5.00 $6.25
Do., medium	4.25 4.75
Do., common	3.25 4.00
Steers, over 1,000 lbs.
Choice	5.00 5.25
Do., good	5.25 5.75
Do., medium	4.75 5.25
Do., common	4.00 4.75
Heifers, good and choice	5.00 5.50
Do., medium	4.25 4.75
Do., common	3.25 4.25
Fed Calves, good and choice	7.50 9.00
Do., good	6.50 7.25
Do., medium	5.50 6.50
Do., common	3.00 3.50
Do., medium	2.75 3.00
Do., common	2.25 2.50
Bulls, good	3.00 3.25
Do., fair	2.50 2.75
Stockers and feeder steers, good	3.75 4.00
Do., common to medium	2.50 3.50
Milkers and Springers	80.00 110.00
Calves, good	9.00 10.50
Do., common to medium	5.00 8.00
Sheep, ewes	3.00 4.00
Do., bucks	2.00 2.50
Lambs, good	8.25 8.50
Do., common	6.00 8.00
Hogs, f. o. b. cars	8.25
Do., off trucks	8.50
Do., fed and watered	8.75
Good ewe and wether lambs	9.00 9.25
Do., medium	8.50 8.75
Bucks	6.00 8.50
Do., Culls	4.00 5.50
Sheep, good light	3.50 4.50
Do., heavies	2.00 4.00
Do., culls	1.50 2.50

Grain Markets

Closing quotations on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange as furnished by A. H. Ketcheson and Co. to-day:

	High	Low	Close
Wheat—
December	137¼	137¼	137¼
May	139¾	139	139¼
July	111¾	111¾	111¾
Oats—
December	53¾	53⅝	53¾
May	53⅞	51⅝	51⅝
July	51⅞	50⅝	50¾
Barley—
December	88¾	87½	88
May	77¾	76¾	77¼
July	73¾	71¾	73¾
Rye—
December	113	109	111
May	114½	111	113⅝
July	114¾	111¾	109¾

HOG QUOTATIONS

Toronto, Dec. 28—(CP)—Four points above and higher hogs prices today. Other markets were steady.

Livestocks gained 10 cents at Brantford and advances of 25 and 40 cents were noted at Chatham, Hull and Stratford.

Dividends: Barrie 8c; Brantford $6.25; Kitchener $5; London $8.10; Peterboro $8; Chatham $8.25; Stratford $8.40; Chatham $8.

Breadcrumbs: Barrie $10.50; Brantford $10.50; Hull $11.50; London $12.85; Peterboro $12.50; Stratford $11; Chatham $12.45.

RUGBY— BOXING— WRESTLING—

SPORTS Of All SORTS

HOCKEY— BADMINTON— BOWLING—

Canadiens Confuse Critics Remaining at Top of Section Defeating Red Wings by 5-2

Habitants Seven Points up on Three Teams Tied For Second

RANGER ON TOP

Bruins Defeat Toronto 2-1 in Last Few Minutes of Play

(By A. E. Fulford)
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

About this time Montreal Canadiens should have started slipping. The veterans should have shown the effects of their early season spurt instead, the happy Habitants give more indication than ever before that they intend making the race for the National Hockey League playoffs a runaway affair.

The Canadien Old Boys Association got together again in Detroit last night and when they had finished the meeting Red Wings had absorbed their second beating of the season. The world champions had nothing to match the accurate passing and shooting of the Montrealers and ended up on the wrong end of a 5-2 score.

Canadiens' win gave them a seven-point lead in the Canadian section over Montreal Maroons, New York Americans and Toronto Maple Leafs, tied with 15 points. Maroons owned things up among the tie by defeating Americans 3-1 in Montreal Saturday while Boston Bruins were whipping Leafs 3-1 at Toronto.

Rangers on Top

New York Rangers went on top in the United States division with a 1-0 victory over Chicago Black Hawks at New York last night. The win gave them a half game advantage over Detroit and left Hawks still deep in the cellar, eight points behind Bruins.

Charley Joliat-Morenz-Gagnon line again did most of the scoring as Detroit as they have often before this season. Gagnon, Marty Joliat had two goals and an assist, Johnny Gottselig one of each and Howie Morenz was credited with helping on one counter. Cooper, Manders, Jackson, Carson, and a youngster, Dissy Dutkin, completed the Hablsbud scoring list.

The Montrealers completely bottled up Detroit's high scoring trio of Herb Lewis, Larry Aurie and Marty Barry, Gordon Pettinger and Modere Beaupre, Detroit goalie, let Red Wings, who shook off the Habitant bombardment long enough to beat Wilf Cude, Detroit's new shead for five minutes in the first period after Pettinger opened the scoring but when Joliat tied it up Canadiens took command.

Overtime Goal Won

Stew Evans' goal while Allan Shields was serving a penalty won the overtime contest in Montreal for Maroons. Jimmy Ward, Bob Gracie and Dave Trottier scored the other goals for Tommy Gorman's team while Lorne Carr got two for Americ's and Eddie Wiseman, the other.

Sweeney Schriner, the League's leading scorer last season, went into a tie with Larry Aurie and Johnny Gagnon for current scoring honors by assisting on one of the Carr goals. In the second period a free-for-all fights threatened when Nels Stewart and Cy Wentworth, tangled but it ended with their getting majors and Gus Marker and Harold Cotton drawing minors and misconducts.

A holiday crowd of 14,546 turned out for the game in Toronto. Art Ross had threatened Bruins would play defensive hockey as he said, Leafs had done in Boston Tuesday. But Bill Thoms scored for Toronto in the second minute and Bruins had to keep the play open.

Griffiths Scores Winner

They tied the score in the second when Leroy Goldsworthy scored on a pass from Bill Hollett during a power play started when Jack Shill was penalized for tripping Eddie Shore. Ray Getliffe won the game for Bruins late in the third when Walter Broda came far out of the Leaf net and Getliffe shot over his shoulder, Leafs were without Red Horner, ill with influenza.

The first penalty to any defender in the game was imposed on Mike Karakas of Hawks in the game at New York. He tripped a Ranger player and watched Tommy Cook guard his net for two minutes and Bleep Rangers from scoring.

Lilla Mac Colville was the hero of the piece, scoring the line goal of the night while the Rangers and the Hawk were in the penalty box in the second period.

CANADIAN SKATING CHAMPION TEAMS UP WITH MARIEL VINSON

This internationally famous ice-skating couple, Marilyn Vinson of Boston and Guy Owen of Ottawa, thrilled members of St. Moritz Skating club and their guests at Oakland ice rink, California. Owen and Miss Vinson are seen here whirling through their dance. Owen is Canadian National Amateur champion, and a member of Minto Figure Skating club of Ottawa. Miss Vinson is senior amateur champion of United States.

—Central Press Canadian Photo.

Sports Roundup

(By Scotty Reston)

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Primo Carnera, palsbelo prodigal of the prize ring, may be back on Broadway. The native Italian hills on a strange and unexplained mission. An ingenious if heartless, New York theatrical manager has proposed using De Prosen in a dancing act, with African female pygmies as the chorus. . . . The victory was injected by football coach Bernie Bierman's making the Minnesota sports fan sick. . . . Until the goalposts were again running wild, there was little complaint about Dave Macmillan's mediocre record with the Minnesota basketball team. . . . But now the fans are yelling for his job, even before the big ten season is really started. . . . Macmillan's big ten record is 27 won and 71 lost.

It took an auto accident to make Oil Goble drop his gloom. . . . He's shooting pool and thinking about how smiling like a kid at Christmastime . . . He's glad to be alive, Dad's all . . . Jack Dempsey's Doctor Kane has told his ball players to have their wives and sweethearts at home this spring and he's not kidding . . . Rumor around here is that "body" Grimes will appoint Jess Haines, veteran Cardinals pitcher, as his successor . . . Joe, Tenes, Washington featherweight, actually trains with a punching bag. . . . He's barkeep in a Capital restaurant . . . Strengthens his muscles by jigging a shaker.

Carl Hubbell's young brother Dog is making good on the pitching staff of the House of David team in California. . . . and Vince Di Maggio, brother of Joe, who was recently bought by Boston Braves, is painting spots on hobby horses in a coast toy house . . . Heard about a gent who got a cork tennis court for Christmas? . . . Same gent says cork tennis court cost about $80,000. . . . Why not buy one for your collection, what's left of the Christmas Fund?

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press

Detroit's Larry Aurie went scoreless over the weekend and gave up undisputed possession of the National Hockey League scoring championship. Johnny Gagnon of Canadiens, picking up a goal and assist, and Americans' Dave Schriner moved alongside Aurie with 17 points each. Meanwhile, Herb Lewis moved of Canadiens and young Eddie Wiseman of Americans made their debut in the list of the first seven, four others for the last three places.

	G	A	Pts
Gagnon, Canadiens	11	6	17
Aurie, Detroit	7	10	17
Schriner, Americans	9	8	17
Barry, Detroit	4	11	15
Lewis, Detroit	3	6	9
H. Jackson, Toronto	7	7	14
Wiseman, Americans	5	9	14
Patrick, Rangers	5	9	14
Thompson, Americans	5	9	14
Morenz, Canadiens	3	12	14

BIG SPLASHES

Winner of second place in the New York Metropolitan Swimming championship last year, Johanna Kruger stands a gilded chance of going that record one better this year and winning the coveted title. She is shown practicing flying starts at the pool of the Women's Swimming Association in New York.

—Central Press Canadian Photo.

OWENS WILL OUTPOSE HORSE IN FIRST PRO. APPEARANCE

Another amateur turned professional has gained his highest honors when he returns from the Olympic games victorious, and having done this wants to capitalize on his track ability. His first professional appearance will be in Hawkins Cube, here he will race against a horse for 100 metres. Owens is seen here getting a start by a blaring start on the cinder track. He expects a fast start will give him an edge over his race-horse rivals which the horse will be unable to pick up in the sprint distance. How they compare can be noted.

—Central Press Canadian Photo.

JOCKEY RICHARDS AND HIS WIFE FIND MUTUAL INTERESTS

Harry Richards, one of the leading jockeys of the United States and Mrs. Richards are galloping horses, as does one of the few women Richards owns and trains her own horses and one of the few women holding training licenses. She is the former Daisy Parsons, daughter of Jim Parsons, noted western turfman.

—Central Press Canadian Photo.

SYRACUSE STARS LIKELY TO LOSE DORAN TO LEAFS

Toronto Farm Hand Going Great Guns in Int.-Am. Loop

STARS WELL IN FRONT

Jean Pusie Fined $100 For Hitting The Referee

By The Canadian Press

Eddie Powers, pep-talk specialist of the International-American Hockey League was well satisfied with the Christmas present his Syracuse Stars presented him. The gift, hastily tied in the form of two points came after Santa Claus made his regular visit but served to keep Stars well in front of the loop's western section.

But the ambitious coach who has driven what looked like a mediocre outfit at season opening to championship aspirations, wondered how long he'd be allowed to keep some of his most valuable players. The men in question are property of Toronto Maple Leafs, National League parent team, which may need more strength to reach the playoffs.

One of the prize packets Powers figured he might lose if he continued as his present pace was young Basil Doran, rookie from South Porcupine, Ont. Doran produced the winning goal in Syracuse's best Cleveland Indians 3-2 Sunday night. On Saturday night he took a 5-3 licking at the hands of Philadelphia Ramblers.

Hornets Lead Twice

The .500 weekend batting average would not have looked so good to Coach Red Ink (it not been for the double walloping absorbed by Pittsburgh Hornets. The second-place squad in the west group lost to Springfield Indians, Eastern section leaders, 6-3 and to New Haven Eagles 5-0.

Actually it was Coach Normie Himes who had most reason to be jubilant over his team's showing for Pittsburgh entertaining Hornets. Eagles earned a scoreless tie with Cleveland to pick up three points. But they remained in the eastern division basement, two points behind Providence Reds. Cleveland Indians in their only start against Philadelphia Ramblers.

Boys around the circuit didn't play Lindsay games but they covered clear of any sadness. A $100 fine slapped against the eccentric Jean Pusie, Providence defenseman, for battling with referee Billy Coutu in Reds' home game with Rangers netted Christmas night, seemed to keep the players in their places. The Frenchman will also be on the carpet here for a couple of games and President Maurice Podoloff says the penalty will serve as an example.

N. H. L. STARS

By The Canadian Press

Stew Evans, Maroons, whose overtime goal Tuesday brought Montreal a 3-2 victory over New York Americans.

Lorne Carr, Americans, who fired two goals in the second period to overcome Montreal Canadiens' lead.

Ray Getliffe, Boston; who beat Toronto Leafs, 2-1, with a third period goal.

Art Jackson, Canadiens, whose two goals and assist led the Frenchmen to a 4-2 triumph over Detroit Red Wings.

Dave Kerr, Rangers, who goal-tended New York to a 1-0 victory over Chicago Black Hawks.

Lilla Colville, Rangers whose first goal of the season provided the winning margin.

LEAGUE LEADERS

By The Canadian Press
Canadian Section

Standing—Canadiens, won 10, lost 6, tied 3, points 23.
Points — Schriner, Americans; Gagnon, Canadiens, 17 points each.
Goals—Gagnon, Canadiens, 11.
Assists — Morenz, Canadiens; Chapman, Americans, 13 each.
Penalties—Shields, Americans, 21 minutes.
Shutouts—Worters, Americans, 2.

United States Section

Standing—Rangers won 9, lost 6, tied 4, points 22.
Points—Aurie, Detroit, 10 points.
Assists—Barry, Detroit, 11.
Penalties—Seibert, Chicago 34 minutes.
Shutouts — Karakas Chicago, Kerr, Rangers, 3 each.

FLYERS WIN AGAIN

St. Louis, Dec. 28.—(AP)—St. Louis Flyers defeated 6s, Paul's Saints 3-1 here last night to break the modern world's hockey record for consecutive games without a loss. It was their 19th game with not a reverse, beating the 18-game mark hung up by Montreal Canadiens.

Burns and Hansen scored for Flyers and McGlove for Saints.

NOW—

That the Hustle and Bustle of Christmas is behind you — you can turn your thoughts to that much needed

OVERCOAT

That you have been putting off buying, maybe in the vain hope that Santa would put it under the tree.

Use that Christmas cheque to good advantage by BUYING NOW!

QUICK AND ROBERTSON

Sport Callings

By Ken Colling

Stone said it was only a flash in the pan, others said wait until the season gets well under way, but regardless, Les Canadiens are playing stronger than ever. Not only are they leading Bun N.H.L. section in the matter of points scored but the Joliat-Morenz gang stepped into Detroit and shellacked the Red Wings 5 to 3 last evening, which is no easy accomplishment at any time. The veteran line of Morenz, Gagnon and Joliat was responsible for three of the Frenchmen's five counters, proving there's life in the old dogs yet. The sensational comeback of Morenz this season about serves the theory, he was far from satisfied in either Chicago or New York despite rumors to the contrary. The Rangers zoned out the luckless Blackhawks 1-0 last night to move into sole possession of first place in the Yankee section. On Saturday night the Rovers won 2 to 1 over Toronto as the Maroons took a 4 to 2 verdict from the Americans. Incidentally Mac Colville was the lone marksman in the Hawk-Ranger game, getting a pair from Hollet late in the middle stanza.

Unless the weatherman does a right-about-face and provides some colder and more seasonable weather the clubs in the local O.H.A. group will be faced with a shortage of that much-needed frozen surface, known as ice, something very essential in the playing of ice hockey. The recent mild spells have wrought havoc with the manufacturers of ice in Belleville, Peterboro and Trenton, where none bcast of a desired artificial ice plant, but all of whom are represented in the O.H.A. Manager Bobby Hewitson of Belleville and intermediate practices for every night this week in hope of evening up the rink needs for the opening of the season one week from tonight. Trenton Golden Hawks, defending intermediate club comes to town. Doubtless some of the old stand-bys Norm Johnson, Ken Davis, Bowen, Barney York and Roy Smith will be included in the Trenton lineup, with possibly Joe Gould getting a release from the K.C.A.F. and doning a Trenton uniform for the season. Incidentally Allan Lamont, who starred for the Trenton Juniors some years back, is trying out for a position with the "Flyers" and looks better each time out, they say.

It must burn Connie Smythe and company to see a player like Charlie Sands, who was cut loose by the Leafs, return to Toronto in the livery of another club and star, as he did on Saturday night. If the Leafs had some of the players they cast aside, into the so-called rubbish, today doubtless they would have more than one 15 playing points to their credit.

The Kimberley "Dynamiters, Allan Cup champions who are at present touring Europe, won two games over the week end. The Kimberley squad downed the Berlin, Germany squad 4 to 1 on Saturday and won 4 to 2 over the German Canadians on the Sabbath. Incidentally the "Dynamiters" are going to endeavour wrestling the world's amateur title away from the Englishmen next month. Remember, the one the Canadian Olympic team failed to get last February? In the meantime they are playing more and better hockey than ever, it would, however Quoting the Peterboro scribe, he says: "Local delegates to the O.H.A. meeting last week in Belleville were told by the scribe there that "Toots" Shelway, pro amateur world coach Trenton "Golden" this winter. . . . Of course We were the only scribe present at this meeting and hadn't any such statement being made by us, of course the Peterboro scribe could have been beneath the table and could have relayed such information to himself, which he apparently practices at various intervals, that is judging from the contradictory stories and retractions he sometimes makes. At any rate, long before the O.H.A. meeting we told of Hickey meeting an offer from Frank Foyston but complete arrangements were not accepted until a few days B.C. (Before Christmas). At no time was Hickey personally approached regarding the coaching of the Pilots, although we understood some indirect suggestions pertaining to the questions had been opened.

This comes from Peterboro speaks for itself: "Next month the annual central cup of baseball activity in Central Ontario will go floating about. We expect a real ball team here next season." The believed Ernie Gibbard will bolster his Napanee gang quite a bit, but nothing is known about the Kingston or Belleville squads and the Oshawa players break the ice with the Kem: "We hear that the General Motors Baseball is thinking of bringing another ball player from Stratford, Middlesex, in the near future. Whether the latter has ever catcher who last spring received a trial with the local Braves and made a very good impression. He has caught Biddie before".

Percy "Moon" Chase, former local baseball pitcher and hockey player in the days of Cobourg, has hung up his hockey paraphernalia and will devote his time to golf and curling in the O.H.A. C.O.R. referee this winter.....The Peterboro scribe must have liked the fact they had no material to ice an intermediate "A" team this winter, but the scribe from the Lifelock City "puff puffs" this by saying they have "much worthier as Archie Weir, Ellis, Gardner, Wilkinson and Mick McKee" all balling for the two rear-guard positions alone.....Thursday night saw the annual get-together and presentation of prizes and awards by the Belleville Bach Club and Athletic Club in their club rooms. . . .Basketball call on tonight with a doubleheader in the city league at the armouries.

LEAGUE STANDINGS

NATIONAL LEAGUE

	P	W	L	T	P
Canadiens	18	10	6	2	22
Toronto	16	7	8	1	15
Maroons	17	7	8	1	15
Americans	18	6	9	2	18
United States Section
Rangers	19	17	8	3	31
Detroit	17	8	5	4	20
Boston	16	9	6	1	19
Chicago	17	3	9	5	11

New Haven, Conn., Dec. 28 (CP) —Official International-American Hockey League standings:

Eastern Division	W	L	T	P
	12	7	2	26
Springfield	11	8	2	24
Philadelphia	8	7	4	20
Providence	8	10	2	18
New Haven	7	8	3	17
Western Division
Syracuse	13	7	3	29
Pittsburgh	8	7	2	18
Cleveland	2	9	3	7

DAILY SHORT STORY

Men Who Love

By Bertha Leah Cross

The woman stood at the edge of the wood, in the dying light of day, her head lifted whitening like the bells of the mountains and the gilded orange that arose from behind it. Her figure was slender and straight and might have been a high priestess at her devotions so still was she. With a sigh, her head dropped to the stony cavern of the woods, and she passed slowly, down the faint path which stretched way into the blackness where the pine trunks suggested closely together for companionship.

"Tim! Tim!" she said aloud. "He's been late a lot lately." A shadow seemed to fall on her heart; a sudden weight as she thought that perhaps he was already growing tired of these nightly trysts.

He hates mother; he won't come to the house and his mother hates me. It's all so impossible and absurd. Tim and I are both victims of our passions."

Her thoughts raved over the seeming impasse. But her conclusions always revealed the solution if only Tim would see it.

"His father and mother have each other. He's not really needed at home . . . I'm the 'rest' of mine." She sighed. "I guess it's just because I've never been really in love before . . . Men are that way when women are fools like me!"

"Oh, why can't he do things right?" she said aloud. "And why does he never consider me and my wishes!"

Her thoughts swept back to their last interview on the problem. Their words were pelted on her memory.

"I can't marry you and your mother, too!" Your duty is to me, to be to yourself and to me . . . to the man you say you love. We should come first . . . our plans and ours together."

"But you don't understand, Tim. Mother's sick and all alone but for me. She's helpless with that arthritis. It hurts her so. She can't even dress herself alone. It would be inhuman for me to leave her. Oh, if only you would . . ."

"Let's not talk about it any more". Tim his cardinal way had started the subject and pulled her into demanding silence.

"I'll never come there to live with her, Carrie," as she still hung back. "So, we'll have to make the best of things till you get ready to come to me . . . Love me!" changing the subject abruptly. "Going to be time to me?"

She capitulated. The evening ended as the many others had.

After another month of waiting and of thinking, she saw a spark of light coming down the dark path, by her door. Footsteps approaching. The cigarette was tossed carelessly aside.

"Tim!" she cried, throwing herself into his arms. "I thought you weren't coming . . . I am afraid in these dark woods!"

He laughed carelessly, drawing her up to him with a caressing arm.

"Sorry, Carrie. You see, we were having good fun down at Tom's and I lost track of time." His careless words struck her like a blow in the face. "Lost track of time," she mentally repeated. "How little he cares about seeing me!"

Her silence seemed to vex him. He pulled her down beside him on the pine needles, and locked at her reproachfully.

"Here I come a mile to see you and all you do is sulk!" Then he repeated impatience again, and the tension was eased. She yielded herself to his love making with sweet ardor.

"I love you, Tim!" she whispered, her hand against his smooth cheek. "Oh, I love you so! If anything were to part us, I should die. I want to be married, Tim, and have things right. I want to be your wife and maybe have children . . ."

His kisses were hard and demanding on her lips. He drew her close to him and caressed her more passionately.

"Well, then if you love me, prove it! You know I'm ready when you say the word. I'm not afraid on this bachelor love making myself. I'm ready when you are."

"But mother . . ."

"There you are!" savagely. "Back at the same old stand. She's always in your thoughts. I'm sick and tired of hearing "mother, mother, she'll do fine."

He pulled her to her feet.

"I'll never marry a woman who doesn't put me first!" he said. "And that's my last word. I'll never go to see her. I'm sick of it as a hunted dog. What are you going to do about it?"

She stood facing him suddenly angry.

"You're cruel!" she sobbed. "You're hard and ruthless and unfeeling. You know I can't leave that poor woman alone and helpless. You're selfish and your love is nothing but passion!"

"All right!" quietly. "You've had your say. I'm through. Good bye, and you need never come here again to see me. I'm done."

Flinging aside her suddenly desperate hands; ignoring her broken cry: "I didn't mean it!" he strode off into the woods which opened and received him.

"Oh! Oh, Tim!"

Like a haunted wild creature of the woods, the woman fled across the field. Her eyes, wide and desperate, were fixed on the beckoning finger of light that streamed out from the corner room downstairs . . . her mother's room.

. . . .

Mrs. and Mrs. W. Smith and son, Thomas, visited relatives in Trenton on Wednesday.

Miss Alice Henry was the handsome cedar chest in the drawing conducted by Mr. Paul's A.Y.P.A.

Mrs. D. Kerr, of Ivanhoe, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. O. J. Leonard.

Miss Betty Wright of Toronto, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Wright, Deloro.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. McKechnie and daughter, Dorothy, of Toronto, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Neal.

Misses Louise and Georgina Kourt of Toronto, are visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Kourt.

The annual Community Christmas Tree was held at Deloro Hall on Thursday evening.

Master Billie Curtis is confined to his home through illness.

Mr. Ernest Schofield of Toronto, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Schofield.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Smith and son, Thomas, visited relatives in Trenton on Wednesday.

Mr. Hugh Phillips of Toronto, is spending a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Phillips.

Mr. Gordon Burns of Toronto, is spending Christmas holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Burns.

Miss Iva Phillips of Toronto, spent Christmas holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Phillips.

Mr. Leonard Jones of Crookston, visited friends in town on Christmas Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Burns of Peterboro, spent the Christmas holidays with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Burns.

Miss Ida Gillen of Campbellford, spent Christmas at her home in town.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Lawrence and son of Oshawa, and Mrs. and Mrs. W. Lavender and son, Ivan, spent Christmas with relatives at Glanmire.

Miss Rita Deacon of Hastings, is spending the Christmas holidays at her home here.

Miss Marjorie Henderson spent Christmas with relatives in Glanmire.

Mr. Warren Leatch spent Christmas at his home in Kitchener.

CENTRE

Centre—Mrs. Minnie Chase and brother spent the tea hour and evening on Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. Manus Moy.

Mr. and Mrs. Elgin Bedyon and Margaret spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Russell.

Mr. Washington Howell and sister-in-law attended the Christmas concert at Massanga on Friday last.

Mr. and Mrs. Ridley Anderson were guests for dinner at Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nightingale's on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Morley Moy spent the tea hour and evening on Saturday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sadnor and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rutt were callers on Monday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Robbs.

GRANDMOTHERS HAVE CLUB

Juneau, City, Alas. (CP)—Meeting once a month to discuss their grandchildren and show their pet tricks, a "Doting Grandmothers' club" here reports increasing membership.

FELL INTO THE SEA

Southampton, England (CP)—Running to welcome her brother off a ship from Palestine, Mrs. H. Mills fell from the wharf into the sea but was rescued unhurt.

By Briggs

By George McM

By Russ Westover

By George Marrow

Marmora and District

Marmora—Miss Mary Murray of Toronto, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Murray over Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. G. McWilliams left Thursday for Port Colborne where they spent Christmas with the latter's mother, Mrs. Skinner.

Mr. Arthur Meehan is spending Christmas with his mother in Niagara Falls.

Mr. Howard Hiscokr of Ottawa, is spending Christmas with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Hiscokr.

Mr. Wm. Richardson of Deloro, is spending Christmas at his home in Toronto.

Mr. Vincent Lynch of Falconbridge, is spending Christmas at his home here.

Miss Marjory Bonter and Mr. M. Bonter of Belleville, spent Christmas at their home here.

Mr. Douglas Marvin of Hamilton, is spending Christmas with his mother, Mrs F. N. Marvi.

Miss Anna Shannon of Ottawa, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Shannon for Christmas holidays.

Miss Teresa Sullivan of Toronto, is spending the Christmas holidays at her home here.

Mr. Clinton McGee of Stirling, visited friends in towns over the holiday.

Mr. Charles Brady of Sudbury, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Brady.

Mr. Bernard Callery of Windsor, is spending Christmas with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. Callery of Deloro.

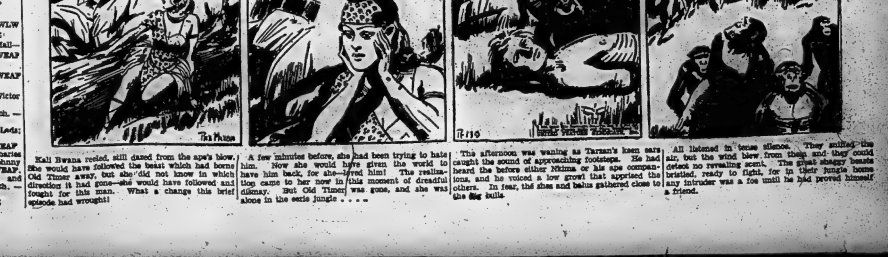
Miss Rose Sheridan of Peterboro, visited her father, Mr. James Sheridan over Christmas.

Mr. William Townsend of Deloro, is spending the Christmas holidays at his home in Toronto.

Miss Frances Crawford of Toronto, spent Christmas with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. H. Crawford.

Misses Jean and Eleanor Reg-

Radio Programs



(Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service)

MONDAY

8.00—Breakfast Club—WJZ
10.00—Betty and Bob—WABC
11.45—Ed. MacHugh, Gospel Singer—WJZ.
11.45—Dr. Allen Roy Deloe—WABC
3.00—Al Pearce's Gang—WABC
4.00—Court of Chimes; Paul Sullaney's All Girl Orch—WEAF
5.30—Singing Lady—WJZ
7.00—Amos 'n' Andy—WEAF
7.15—Uncle Ezra—WEAF
7.30—Vic and Sade; Molly—WEAF
8.00—Horace Heidt's Brigadiers—WABC
8.00—Helen Hayes in 'Sambi'—WJZ
8.30—Margaret Speaks, sop.—WEAF
8.30—Flotsam and Jetsam—WABC
9.00—Maidenlane—WJZ
9.00—Radio Theatre.—WABC
9.00—Orazio Frugone—WJZ
9.00—Wardan Lawes in "20,000 Years in Sing Sing"—WEAF
9.30—Michael Bimboo's Orch.—WEAF
9.30—Jack Pearl—WJZ
10.00—Wayne King's Orchestra —WABC
10.00—Children's Christmas Party—WEAF
10.30—Musical Toast; Jerry Cooper, bar.—WEAF
11.00—Christmas Carols—WJZ
11.30—Ray Noble's Orch.—WEAF

TUESDAY

8.00—Breakfast Club—WJZ.
11.45—Ed. MacHugh, Gospel Singer—WJZ.
2.30—Music Guild—WJZ
3.00—Marine Band—WJZ
3.00—Mario's Gang—WABC
5.30—Singing Lady—WJZ
7.00—Amos 'n' Andy—WEAF
7.00—Easy Aces, sketch—WJZ
7.30—Lum & Abner Sketch—WLW
8.00—Log Cabin Ranch—WJZ
8.00—Hammerstein Music Hall—
8.00—Ray Reinman's Orch.—WEAF WABC.
8.30—Wayne King's Orch.—WEAF
8.30—Edgar A. Guest—WJZ
8.30—Al Jolson, Victor Young's Orch.—WABC
9.00—Fred Waring's Orch. —WABC
9.00—Ben Bernie and the Lads; —WJZ
9.00—Sidewalk Interviews—WEAF
9.30—Fred Astaire and Charles Butterworth and Johnny Green's Orchestra—WEAF.
9.30—George Stoll's Orch. and Benny Goodman's Orch. —WABC
11.00—Christmas Carols—WJZ

Kali Bwana recled, still dazed from the ape's blow. She would have followed the beast which had borne Old Timer away, but she did not know in which direction it had gone—she would have followed and fought for this man. What a change this brief episode had wrought!

A few minutes before, she had been trying to hate him. Now she would have given the world to have him back, for she—hated him! The realization came to her now in this moment of dreadful climax. But Old Timer was gone, and she was alone in the eerie jungle . . . .

The afternoon was waning as Tarzan's keen ears caught the sound of approaching footsteps. He had heard the before either Mbima or his ape companions, and he voiced a low growl that apprised the others. In fear, the shes and bulus gathered close to the Big Bulls.

All listened in tense silence. They sniffed the air, but the wind blew from them and they could detect no revealing scent. The great shaggy beasts bristled, ready to fight, for in their jungle home any intruder was a foe until he had proved himself a friend.

NECK ENTANGLED IN HORSE'S TAIL CAUSE OF DEATH

Winchester Lad Playing in Barn With Horse at Time

BRAKEMAN KILLED

Flood Waters Due to Heavy Rain Cause Some Damage

By The Canadian Press

Eight week-end fatalities, four resulting from the plunge of a diesel car off Bonaventure wharf bound for Canada's Christmas week death toll in the province.

The Bonaventure tragedy, confusion of an Algoma Central Railway brakeman under an avalanche, the strangulation of a child entangled in a horse's tail, two deaths after fatal accidents and 10 earlier deaths accounted for the list.

Meanwhile the rain, which swept away the anticipated white Christmas, added to traffic hazards and sent the province's rivers roaring to spring-flood heights.

Mrs. Arthur Trimble, 61, and her 19-year-old daughter, Arvilla, of Bonaventure, were carried in the bottom of Lake Ontario in the Bonaventure death plunge with Everette Berry, 35, of Kirby and 37-year old Oswald Bannon, of Orono. It was believed Bannon, unfamiliar with the area, attempted to turn the car around on the beach when they were returning from a Christmas party early Sunday and headed for the wharf instead of the road.

Brakeman Killed

Jack Hilderley, 50-year-old brakeman "killed near Sault Ste. Marie under long of snow and ice as he investigated a fill which a section man reported had settled after heavy rain.

Mrs. William Wrisser, 32, died in Kitchener hospital yesterday after receiving a fractured neck in a skiing accident Saturday afternoon.

Fred Cain of Toronto was killed on a car on a downtown street Saturday night.

Ten year old Douglas Harper of Three Hill, near Wimbledon in Kazan, Canada's war dead last night with his neck entangled in a horse's tail. The lad's father said he believed the boy entered the barn and, while playing with the horse, tied the tail about his neck. He said a neighbor that when the animal swung the boy was pulled off balance and hanged.

Flood waters roared down the Grand River today and Brantford was flooded in that Wellington county village. Galt, Preston and Brantford, also on the Grand, reported no damage when the ice went out.

At Walkerton in Bruce County anxiety was felt for a bridge over the Saugeen River.

CARTOONIST AND ARTIST, DIES

Clive Wood, With King Features Syndicate For Many Years

New York, Dec. 28—(CP)— Clive Wood, artist and newspaper cartoonist, who put humor into words and laughing gas at his subject, died yesterday of pneumonia.

Wood's work had appeared in many magazines and periodicals, but he was known particularly for his cartoons in the Evening World and New York Tribune. At the time of his death he was on editorial cartoonists for the King Features Syndicate. His work published in about 75 newspapers.

He was born in Kent, N.Y., a son of Arthur James Wood and Meeda Anna Weaver Wood. His mother was Clive Raymonde Weed, but he was married under his father's name. While he was a member of the staff of "The Sun" he used to speculate with Don Marquis as to socials on that paper, as to the possible significance of the middle initial.

Marquis once wrote a short poem, "Weed" in which he described a weed "who makes no claim to blossom, scorns the flowers and is somehow healthy in a room," and continued:

"And when the scythe shall reach
There are a few who know him well will say
"Thank God, by God, he was a
Lonie friend—
I'd rather have him back than all this hay!"

Weed entered the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts in Philadelphia, as a student in 1902. There he became a member of the late Thomas Pollock Anshutz.

FAMOUS RIFLE SHOT DIES

Carleton Place, Ont., Dec. 28.—(CP)—Hugh McMorran, one of the Ottawa Valley's most widely-known hunters and a famous rifle shot, died last night at the age of 73.

McFadden, a hunter here for 40 years, qualified four times for the Canadian Bisley team but joined only once. That time, in 1911, he won the Short-and-Dominion Grey medal for high aggregate score at the famous range.

WAR FEARED IF HITLER ORDERS MORE TROOPS TO SPAIN.

Diplomatic Europe waited breathlessly today on questions as Chancellor Adolf Hitler of Germany's decision whether General Franco's request for an additional 600 more German troops to aid him in his fight on Spanish loyalists, strongholds, and Spain's new war-time ruler has further participation in the Spanish civil strife will precipitate a general war. Hitler must and ready to send to Spain. German long range guns like the one shown, may be shattering Madrid and German troops (INSLOW) be goose-stepping through Burgos, Spanish Fascist headquarters. Should Hitler (LEFT), so decide, Britain and France have warned Berlin that their attitude toward Germany must inevitably stiffen.

Critically Priceless Art and Accessories Consulted.

While controversy raged in Stockholm, speaking and considering the Archbishopric of Canterbury and York for Dr. Geijer denunciations of the Duke of Windsor's marriage, former King Edward VIII read from the pulpit of a Austrian church the Christmas story of "Goodwill to men."

Some say in the fact a leading reason that the former monarch to the church projects, who are pictured as they left the accession of King George VI following his brother's abdication.

Christmas Press—Canadian Photo.

Others aboard the plane were: A. L. Markwell, Los Angeles planning broker; Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Ford, Jr., San Marino, Cal. (Ford is a son of the president of the Grace Line Steamship Company); John Korn, believed to be from Mr. Ford's staff; H. S. Teague, Los Angeles; Mrs. W. J. Hamilton; M. Hare; A. Novak; Miss R. Valentine; Miss Mildred McLean, bank; and stewardess Yvonne Trago, Burbank.

The air line prepared to send a squadron of planes aloft at daybreak and search by land with a caravan of automobiles. John Klinck, operating field manager, said the search would be confined within a 40-mile radius of the Union air terminal.

PLANE MISSING WITH 12 ABOARD

Disappeared Mysteriously in Heavy Storm Sunday Night

Burbank, Calif., Dec. 28—(AP)—A missing United Airlines plane with 13 persons aboard was sought today, the third large plane to vanish in the west this month.

A western air express transport with seven occupants has not been sought since Dec. 15 in Utah and only rendered the bodies of two pilots were found in the snow-covered wreckage of their Northwest Airlines plane in North Idaho mountains.

The United Airlines plane, carrying nine passengers and a crew of three, disappeared mysteriously in a storm the night within a few miles of its Burbank destination on a flight from San Francisco.

Pilot Edward Hinn, only a minute before he was scheduled to land at Union air terminal asked by radio beam to direct him to the field. Then silence blotted out the big airliner. The plane at that time had only enough gasoline to keep in the air three hours longer.

Passengers on Plane

Others aboard the plane were:

A. L. Markwell, Los Angeles planning broker; Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Ford, Jr., San Marino, Cal. (Ford is a son of the president of the Grace Line Steamship Company); John Korn, believed to be from Mr. Ford's staff; H. S. Teague, Los Angeles; Mrs. W. J. Hamilton; M. Hare; A. Novak; Miss R. Valentine; Miss Mildred McLean, bank; and stewardess Yvonne Trago, Burbank.

The air line prepared to send a squadron of planes aloft at daybreak and search by land with a caravan of automobiles. John Klinck, operating field manager, said the search would be confined within a 40-mile radius of the Union air terminal.

European Crisis At-a-Glance

London—Great Britain held growing hopes Spain's refusal to free the German steamship Palos would be settled through diplomatic channels.

Paris — Basque Nationalists, through the Spanish Embassy, held firm in their refusal to release the Palos, accused as carrying war contraband.

Berlin—Germany gave the Spanish Government until tonight to free the Palos before taking action. Warships were reported in Spanish waters.

STEAL SAFE WEIGHING TON

Nyirdroom, South Africa (CP) Burglars stole a safe weighing a ton and containing $200 in cash, the firm's books and other valuables from a garage here, removing it to a waiting truck.

$18,000 RANSOM DEMANDED AFTER BOY IS KIDNAPPED

Stubble-bearded Man Enters Home And Snatches Child

GIRL TERRIFIED

Police Throw Net Around Tacoma Area And Search Abductor

Tacoma, Wash., Dec. 26—(AP)—A stubble-bearded man who snatched brown-eyed Charles Mattson, 10, from his home and flung down a note demanding $18,000 ransom was sought by a swiftly mobilized Pacific Northwest force today as the first major kidnapper of 1936.

State, county and city police threw a net around the Tacoma area, checking every train and bus for the abductor.

Alone, the masked kidnapper broke into the $50,000 mansion of Dr. W. W. Mattson, prominent Tacoma physician, last night, terrified Mrs. Mattson, 34, and her friend, Alice Chatfield, and seized the boy. His three line ransom note on the floor before he fled.

He entered and escaped through a French window of the living room.

Carrying Charles, he dashed over a steep terrain around the waterfront 300 feet below as the girls screamed.

They told police the roughly dressed man appeared at the window with his face masked and demanded entry. Refused it, he smashed the glass in the window and opened the lock.

The girls and William Mattson, 16, were in the living room with Charles. William, asleep in an upstairs bedroom, was awakened by the girls' screams and notified police.

The Mattson home is only a few miles from that of Bruno Hauptmann, father of little George Weyerhaeuser, whose $200,000 kidnap-slaying in 1933, was the last one of note in the United States. The lumber fortune heir was never found, although after the ransom was paid and he was released, he is now are serving long prison terms.

Dr. and Mrs. Mattson were visiting friends in the neighborhood when the kidnapper pounced.

DEFENDERS HOLD STRONG POSITIONS

Madrid Forces Told Insurgents in Check After Long Battle

Madrid, Dec. 28 (CP-Havas) — Government defenders held new strong positions in and around Madrid today after furious all-day battling.

Government lines thrust forward about two miles in the Usera section south of the capital across the Manzanares after a slashing offensive by an international brigade and government militiamen which sent the roll of artillery and the clatter of small arm fire re-echoing across Madrid throughout Sunday.

The foreign volunteers who have mobilized an iron-clad defense of Madrid's strategic northwestern University city, tightened their ring around the Fascist-held clinical hospital after capturing a convoy heading for the hospital, which is under a fierce insurgent counter-attack in the Casa de Campo.

Fascist contingents smashed upon the militiamen's positions in the western sector, near the former royal palace, but were hammered back by the militiamen. Both sides in letter were hand-pressed for some time.

Government forces in the southern new positions in advance of Madrid province, northwest of Madrid province, was officially announced. The Fascist attack in the Western Casa de Campo area was heckled with the Socialist thrust to the south.

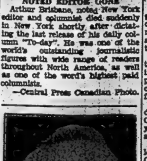
LAKE CAPTAIN DIES

Owen Sound, Ont., Dec. 28.—(CP)—Father of four lake captains, Captain Joseph Norman McKay, took his life in the sinking of the Hibon in December Bay Nov. 21 but the father, who had been ill for some time, was never informed of that disaster.

Captain John McKay was 82 years old and led a colorful life. Born in Scotland, he took to the sea at the age of 12 and became master of a trading vessel two years later.

TELEVISION IS SEEN AS COMING NEARER

Atlantic City, N.J., Dec. 28.—The magnetron, an unconventional radio tube which for the first time places television on a practical footing for broadcasting, was displayed last night at the meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.



Radio engineers have been trying for years to cut down the wide band of wavelength which it was necessary to use in transmitting successful television images. While radio broadcasting requires only a small band, television requires a wide spectrum and thus restricts the number of stations possible.

NOTED EDITOR GONE

Arthur Brisbane, noted New York editor and columnist died suddenly in New York shortly after dictating the last release of his daily column "To-day." He was one of the world's outstanding journalistic figures with wide range of readers throughout North America, as well as one of the world's highest paid columnists.

—Central Press Canadian Photo.

HOME FOR CHRISTMAS

Hon. Raoul Dandurand, Montreal Senator and former Liberal leader in the chamber, came home to Canada for his Christmas holiday. Mr. Dandurand was president of the sixth assembly of the League of Nations.

—Central Press Canadian Photo.

NO BANNING OF COUNTY COUNCILS

No Designs on "Little Parliaments" Says Hon. D. A. Croll

LONDON, Ont., Dec. 28.—(CP) —The Ontario Government, for one, has no designs on the province's "Little Parliaments" despite recent utterances at County Council gatherings in Western Ontario, Authority for this assurance is Hon. David Croll, Minister of Municipal affairs.

At Sarnia early this month, Milton MacVicar M.L.A., East Lambton, warned Lambton councillors a move to abolish county councils was "a real threat" in some sections of the province and was supported by weekly newspapers.

A week later at London, County Clerk Jeffrey, after attending court of the Middlesex Council to purported resolution to abolish sojourn in the East Hastings by election campaign, anent over-governmental. "Some people think so," he said —and it is growing—the County Council system is going to suffer," declared Clerk Stuart, "In Ontario, the Legislature is supreme and they will not abolish county councils. I fear the axe will fall on county councils."

These remarks, when drawn to the attention of Mr. Croll brought the reply his department "is planning no legislation" that would abolish county councils.

Contracted Acreage To be Heavy This Year

At least there is some prosperity round the corner, we think the farmers of Prince Edward County for a prominent canning factory executive of long experience in connexion with a representative of the Ontario Intelligencer today stated that the larger acreage contracted over for a period of ten years will mark the New Year's canning activities.

Sea-troners and those that have been in disuse for a number of years will spring into activity during the coming season, all over the county, while in the village of Wellington, a factory which has been closed for a long period of time will resume operations this year, canning a large acreage of peas and corn and tomatoes. Other factories in the village report substantial increase in the contracted acreage of canning crops.

KILLED BY WATER JET

Lydon (CP)—Henry Jennings, 42 year old riveter, was killed when a jet of water issuing from a pipe at a pressure of 250 pounds to the inch struck him. Accidental death was the coroner's verdict.

BIRMINGHAM SCRAPPING TRAMS

Birmingham, England — Motor-buses will supersede street cars on three more routes serving suburbs, five other tram lines having already given place to oil or trolley buses.

Germany's Ultimatum to Release Vessel Refused By Spanish Government

Decision of Backing Insurgents up to Hitler

GIVEN DAY OF GRACE

Italy Joins in Demands of Britain And France Reports State

London, Dec. 28 (AP)—Hope grew today in the foreign offices of Europe's great powers for diplomatic solution to the threatened spread of the Spanish civil war through German intervention.

The continent formed its attention on snow-covered Berchtesgaden in Bavaria where Chancellor Hitler pondered problems, which may decide the question of peace or war for Europe.

London circles pointed out the decision Hitler must make in the Christmas retreat might go far beyond any question of going to the aid of the Spanish Fascists.

In effect, these sources said Hitler faced the alternative of leading Germany back to western co-operation for peace or committing his country to complete isolation.

Firm refusal of the Spanish Socialist government to heed a German ultimatum to free the captured steamer Palos in the face of threats of "reprisals" was believed to have placed the immediate decision of backing the insurgents to the limit up to Hitler.

Adding to the gravity of the question were the reported demands of the Fascist leader, General Franco, for 60,000 German troops to aid his drive on Madrid.

But France and England hoped offers to aid Germany's colonial and economic needs in return for non-intervention would weigh heavily.

Refuse to Release Vessel

In the face of the German warning to free the Palos, interned in Bilbao Harbor as a carrier of contraband of war, the Spanish Socialists answered, through the Ensenada radio:

"There is no question of releasing the Palos."

Germany gave Spain another days of grace before determining what action she would take.

Movement of German warships in Spanish waters was reported but the Nazi Foreign Office remained non-committal.

Resumption of normal routine in the German Capital, however, led to hopes there might soon be some hint as to what orders had been dispatched to the German Chancellor.

Hitler apparently was in no hurry to communicate any decision he might have reached to Europe's waiting capitals, leading to the belief delay was increasing the chance for a favorable settlement.

One highly placed official who always travels with Hitler indicated the question of intervention might be delayed "until Jan. 10 or 11."

Unofficial reports from Rome that Italy would co-operate in the Franco-British demand, that German naval movement of vitality for aid to Spain was considered a favorable omen.

GOVT PREPARES TO OPEN HOUSE

Majority of Cabinet Ministers Remain in Ottawa Over Holiday

Ottawa, Dec. 28 (CP)— Reports a cabinet meeting would be held today or tomorrow heralded a spell holiday period of increased activity for the government preparing for the opening of Parliament Jan. 14.

A majority of cabinet members remained in the capital over the holidays and Prime Minister Mackenzie King took only a few days at his country home in the Gatineau hills.

Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture, was understood to be busy not only with organization of his department but with a substitute for the Natural Products Marketing Act passed by the former government of R. B. Bennett. This Act is before the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council and is expected to take little chance of passing a test of constitutionality.

No action was expected on a recommendation from organization in Montreal an investigation be launched into workings of small loan companies. The suggestions were examined attentively last year by the Senate Banking Committee and may be subjected to further scrutiny next session by the same body.

It was expected fate of the Benedict "New Deal" statutes now before the Privy Council will be known before Parliament meets. include the Marketing Act.

Parliament will have to take early action to ratify the government's steps in accepting abdication of the Throne by King Edward and the subsequent accession of his younger brother, George VI.

$5,000 IN A NAME?

There's something in a name as that Mrs. Isabel Smith (ABOVE) of Youngstown, Ohio, won the $5,000 baby naming contest conducted by Amos 'n' Andy, famous radio comedians. She named Amos' baby "Arabadella."

—Central Press Canadian Photo.

DAY OF GRACE TO RELEASE VESSEL

London Says Three War Ships Arrive Off Bilbao

Berlin, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Germany gave Socialist Spain four days today to free the captured freighter Palos, interned in Bilbao harbor as a carrier of contraband of war.

What action would be taken if the Spanish Government remained firm in its refusal to release the vessel was not known.

Although unnamed reprisals were hinted if the warning were not complied with quickly.

The extension of the German warning to include Soviet ships after an official spokesman had declared:

"We are awaiting the Madrid Government's next move."

Earlier it was announced "necessary measures for obtaining the release of the steamer have been taken."

Officials declined to comment on the possibility of German warships being in the Bilbao region.

(Three German warships were said to be stationed on the northern coast of Spain and other vessels were reported in the Mediterranean. London reports of German warships had arrived off Bilbao).

FOUR FOUND DEAD IN SUNKEN AUTO

By Mistake Driver Sped Out on Pier And Car Sinks in 12 Feet Water

Bowmanville, Dec. 28. — Four people were drowned early Sunday morning when their car plunged off the pier in the Bowmanville Harbor.

Trapped 12 feet below the surface, the four fought frantically to escape before the icy waters flooded in. The position of their bodies when the car was recovered revealed evidence of a desperate struggle.

The four, two young men, a married woman and her 19-year-old daughter, had been returning from a happy Christmas dance and party in Oshawa.

The driver had apparently attempted to turn the car around near the Bowmanville beach. Unacquainted with the area he is believed to have swung his machine to the left instead and sped out over the pier.

The dead: Mrs. Arthur Trimble, 52, of Bowmanville;
Arvilla Trimble, 19, her daughter;
Everette Berry, 29, of Kirby, and
Oswald Bannon, 37, of Orono, driver.

The tracks of the car, leading on to the pier, were responsible for discovery of the tragedy this morning.

Youthful Jack Hall of Bowmanville, riding his bicycle along the lake front, noticed the tracks of the car leading to the edge of the pier, and there was no evidence of a car driving away. Dismounting from his bicycle, Hall found oil floating on the surface of the water.

He notified Chief Constable Sidney Tamlyn, who, with the aid of provincial Officer W. E. Smith and Frank Christie, started dragging operations.

The car was found within a few minutes and two derricks were employed to bring the car to shore.

The windshield and the steering wheel had been smashed. Mrs. Trimble's body was found hanging from the right-hand door of the machine, as if she had struggled to open it. The others were found grouped together at another door in the car.

Constance Bennett in the Drama of Thunder" now playing the Capital Theatre with 2nd hit "Sea Spoilers"

THE WEATHER
Fresh to strong easterly winds; cloudy with drizzle; light temperature; clear or rain in west portion tonight. Wednesday: Southeast winds; cloudy and comparatively mild with occasional rain.

The Ontario Intelligencer

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 29, 1936

TEMPERATURES

	Max.	Min.
Today	37	15
Year ago	18	15
Weather: Fair.

MADRID ORDERS GERMAN BOAT RELEASED

Gaoler Roe, Lennox Co., Hurled into Salmon R. in Car-Transport Crash

ABDICATION OF KING EDWARD IS NEWS HIGHLIGHT

Sequence of Important Events Transpire in 1936

SPANISH WAR

Overwhelming Victory for President Roosevelt A Triumph

Not since Great War days has the world been such a sequence of important events as in 1936. Topping them all was the abdication of King Edward VIII and the accession of his brother, the Duke of York, as King George VI.

Gradual alignment of Fascist countries against Communism was a significant political development. A world-wide drive for rearmament served to heighten the international tension thus created.

Outbreak of civil war in Spain, with Fascist and Socialist factions ranged against each other, and German recognition of the demilitarized Rhineland zone, were two outstanding events of the year. The Spanish strife accentuated the growing cleavage between Fascist and Communist ideologies.

With the short reign of Edward VIII came to a sensational end, the romance which he voluntarily forsook the throne to wed Mrs. Simpson, twice divorced, in order to marry an American divorcee. Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson. It was the first monetary abdication in Britain's history.

Bill Passed In Two Hours.

In two dramatic hours on Dec. 11 parliament passed the Abdication Act providing for giving effect to the abdication of Edward and the succession of his brother. Edward delivered a farewell broadcast message to the empire that night, then left England for the continent.

George VI was the third king to rule over the empire within the year. Beloved George V was on the throne when the year began. He died early in a short illness at Sandringham House on January 20. Prince of Wales, he became Edward VIII. His reign lasted 327 days, the shortest in Britain for four centuries.

Spain's fratricidal strife began in July. Five months later it was continuing unabated, with the Fascist insurgents at the gates of Madrid but unable to penetrate the stout government defence. Despite efforts of an international non-intervention committee, charges were rife that Germany, Italy and Portugal were aiding the insurgents and that Russia was assisting the government.

Germany and Japan in November signed an anti-Communist agreement. Italy was expected to follow suit soon month had reached an accord. Italy and Japan had a similar agreement, the former recognizing the Manchukuoan administration in exchange for Japanese recognition of the Ethiopian conquest.

Overthrow Clauses

With France and Soviet Russia already bound by a military alliance it appeared as if the world was dividing into Fascist and anti-Fascist blocs.

Germany continued to overthrow the clauses of the Versailles Peace Treaty until only the section dealing with colonies remained in effect. In March German troops marched into the demilitarized Rhineland zone, violating not only the Versailles but also the Locarno Treaty. In November Germany denounced the clause internationalizing the Kiel Canal.

Italy captured Addis Ababa, capital of Ethiopia, in May and claimed she had conquered that country. Emperor Haile Selassie fled to England. King Victor Emmanuel was proclaimed Emperor of the newly-won territory.

(Continued on Page 8)

Hangman's Rope Breaks, Condemned Man Lives

Shanghai, Dec. 29 (AP)—Local British authorities wanted to know today whether corpulent Atma Singh had been hanged.

As Singh, a British Indian and former local police officer, plunged through the scaffold trapdoor for murder, the rope parted. He suffered a brain concussion but was expected to recover.

Perplexed officials appealed to the British Embassy for an answer to the question whether Singh was hanged or has he been hanged? The Embassy is looking it up.

Qualified

Up to two o'clock this afternoon the following had qualified at the city hall for various municipal offices:

Mayor:
R. D. Arnott.

Aldermen:
E. J. Baldwe.
Clifford Faregar.
Thos. Cushing.
Burton Jennings.

For Hydro Commissioner:
Geo. A. Reid.

For School Trustee:
Ratchison Ward: Parry McGuire.

BRITAIN, ITALY REACH ACCORD ON MANY ISSUES

Italy Abandons Designs on Spanish Balearic Islands

BROADCAST ISSUE

Paris, Dec. 29 (CP)—Agreement between Britain and Italy on a wide range of questions outstanding between the two countries was reported by the Havas News Agency today in a dispatch from London.

The Havas News Agency said, was considered a major diplomatic achievement for Britain, Chiefly Italy once more toward the Franco-British axis.

The dispatch quoted informed circles as emphasizing the conversations in connection with the accord had enabled Rome and London to reach an understanding on a new political question not mentioned in the official text, publication of which was expected shortly.

Among these, the agency said, Italy's agreement to abandon any designs she might have had on the Spanish Balearic Islands in the Mediterranean.

Cease Anti-British Broadcasts.

Italy also has agreed to cease her anti-British broadcasts from the radio station at Bari, Italy, the London dispatch added. Pro-propaganda, broadcast throughout British possession in the Near East, has been of a particularly virulent character.

The Havas Agency dispatch said the negotiations also were viewed as continuing Premier Mussolini's withdrawal from Spain; which would offer a powerful argument for accepting Italy's claims to equal powers of international control over Foreign volunteers entering the Spanish conflict.

British financial circles, the dispatch said, indicated that as a result of the understanding London hailed the Italian Empire loan of a loan totalling $60,000,000 lire ($47,000,000) floated by the Italian Societa Finanziara Marittime.

No Conflict Over Mediterranean.

The Havas dispatch mentioned in its final form stipulates that the interests of the two countries in the Mediterranean are not in conflict, and accords to Italy full liberty of communications, the Agency continued.

Agreement was also reached, though not specified in the text, Havas said, on respect for the interests of each power in the eastern Mediterranean, and a reunion of Anglo-anti-British propaganda in the levant and near east.

Italy also unofficially promised not to object to Egypt's application for entry into the League of Nations and to accept Egypt's appropriation of the regime of "capitulating" (a form of extra-territoriality), the dispatch declared.

Italy and League.

Certain assurances concerning cooperation with the signatories of the Locarno agreements governing the Dardanelles, and the 1935 Anglo-American-French London Naval Treaty, were also offered by Italy, Havas added.

Negotiations would be opened later to secure adherence to these treaties by the Fascist government, it was said.

Italy also agreed informally to abandon her hostility to the League of Nations and resume an attitude of cooperation with Geneva, the dispatch went on.

In the past, Britain made no promise not to enlarge its fortifications at Malta and Cyprus, nor did it engage itself to extend a ban to Italy, the agency said.

It was considered certain in British financial circles, however, Havas added, that a credit for the exploitation of Ethiopia would be forthcoming as soon as the League of Nations had found an acceptable formula for recognizing the annexation of the territory.

SPANISH GOV'T ORDERS RELEASE OF STEAMER PALOS

Order Issued Following Arrival of German Warship

WAR MATERIAL HELD

Germany Claims No War Material Carried On Palos

Paris, Dec. 29 (CP-Havas)—Spanish government authorities at Bilbao today ordered the release of the captured German freighter Palos, heralding an amicable settlement of an international incident which has caused grave concern in Europe.

Berlin, Dec. 29 (AP)—The curt demand of a German cruiser and a threat to halt and search the ships of any nation heading for Bilbao won freedom today for the interned German freighter Palos.

The Palos, sequestered by Basque authorities at Bilbao last week, was liberated "upon demand of the cruiser Koenigsberg," an official announcement said, and part of her cargo and one unidentified Spanish passenger were retained by two Basques.

German Vessels To Scene.

Additional German naval vessels were ordered to the Bay of Biscay to free the Spaniard and the rest of the cargo.

The cruiser Koeln and one torpedo boat, dispatched toward Spain to protect German shipping soon after the Palos was captured, were due in the bay today.

Berlin authorities expressed confidence their protest would lend further effective emphasis to the Reich's demand for unconditional release to the Palos passenger and the remainder of the cargo.

(The Basques, at Bilbao, announced they were holding the Spaniard as a hostage to be held for arms, and part of the cargo because it was "contraband", bound for the Spanish Fascists).

Threat To Search.

The German threat to search warships of any nation which might be steaming for Bilbao was added to a previous decision for torpedo boat patrols for Odessan vessels in the bay after the expiration of a Berlin 24-hour limit on the vessels' visitee.

The time limit expired last night. Pending final settlement of the issue arising from the Palos seizure, a spokesman said, these "measures" would remain in force.

In other words, the commanders of the Koeln and Koenigsberg left Kiel Monday, within their own discretion, search any merchantmen of Spain, controlled by colored lights, and escort them both into Bilbao.

If it was not expected here, however, that such drastic steps would be taken by the two warships, probable the German demands would be fully met by the Basques. One Wilhelmshaven spokesman declared, concerning the arrested Spaniard:

Problem of Guest.

"As the seizure of the Palos occurred outside Spanish waters and our Spanish guest was stopped clearly on German (inaudible) on the deck of the Palos), we cannot permit him to leave the Palos" (inaudible).

"If they have anything against this man, let them make a request for his extradition."

The exact manner in which the Palos was released was not entirely clarified. The propaganda ministry put the time of release at noon, and said the vessel had proceeded on her voyage.

CRAZY WEATHER

Los Angeles, Dec. 29 (AP)—Snow in Death Valley, hub of Hollywood climaxed the weather man's crazy year in California here today. A weekend storm began clearing today.

Property damage of $500,000 and gains in farm and forest lands were experienced by Southern California during a series of atmospheric difficulties.

A lightning bolt last night struck 18-year-old Roy Keefer's steel-tipped umbrella and hurled him against a tree at Santa Monica, inflicting serious injuries.

Snow fell on the Mojave Desert and on the edges of Death Valley, below sea level.

FOUR DROWN WHEN CAR PLUNGES INTO LAKE ONTARIO

Four persons were drowned when this automobile plunged off a pier into Lake Ontario at Bowmanville, Ont., two days after Christmas. The victims were Mrs. Arthur Trimble, Bowmanville; Avrils Trimble, Bowmanville; Yvonette Bevy, Kirby; and Conrad Barnes, Orono. Unfamiliar with the locality the driver, Mr. Barnes, apparently had driven on to the pier by mistake and plunged into the harbor while attempting to turn the machine around. Tire marks on the pier and oil bubbles on the water gave first clue to the tragedy. The death machine is shown being raised from the water, the bodies having all fallen forward into the front seat.

—Central Press Canadian Photo.

Rebates Paid to Taxpayers; One City's Experience with City Managership System

Dr. Horace L. Brittain, Expert on Municipal Problems Tells Rotary Club

PUBLIC SPIRIT NEEDED

Management System Called Ordinary Business Principle

Belleville Rotary Club members listened with deep interest to an address upon the need of efficiency in municipal administration, given by Dr. Horace L. Brittain, Director of the Citizens' Research Bureau of Ontario, a very lively talk on the eve of municipal elections. Dr. Brittain was introduced by Past President J. O. Herity, who eulogized the guest speaker as one to whom he holds the degree of Doctor of Philosophy from the University of Massachusetts.

President Joe Shorit occupied the chair, the attendance was large and gathering was given a Yuletide atmosphere by gaily decorated Christmas trees and colored lights, singing of Christmas songs including a solo from Jamie Bankier. Reports were received from the committees in charge of Christmas cheer distribution. Mayor Harry Hill reporting that thirty-one baskets were distributed where they would do the most good, and acknowledging assistance from outside the Rotary Club in cash and goods. Twenty-two crippled children were given remembrance on Christmas Day with gifts, and altogether the occasion was one of profit and pleasure for all concerned.

President Leslie Logan, of the Kiwanis Club, was present as the guest of Rotary and in response to congratulations upon his election to that position brought greetings and assurances of co-operation in all service undertakings from the Kiwanis club.

Cash Rebates to Tax-Payers

Comparing the organization municipal corporations with that of private corporations, Dr. Brittain stated that the municipal corporation was the more important and should have even closer supervision and efficient business methods than the private corporation proved its efficiency by its dividends, while it was hard to check the efficiency of

(Continued on Page 3)

NON-INTERVENTION THREAT IS SEEN

Second-Hand U.S. Planes May be Shipped from U.S. to Madrid

Washington, Dec. 29 (AP) — A threat to European efforts against intervention in the Spanish civil war was seen today by diplomatic quarters in the United States State Department's granting of licenses to export $2,777,000 of second-hand airplanes and engines to the Madrid Socialist government.

The licenses were issued yesterday to Robert Cuse, president of the Vimalert Company, Ltd., of Jersey City, N.J., after he insisted on his right under the neutrality law to make such shipments.

Although the munitions embargo provisions of the Neutrality Act do not apply to civil conflicts like that in Spain, the State Department has sought to prevent by moral suasion alone the dispatch of war implements to either side.

It had no choice, however, but to grant the licenses when Cuse applied.

Speculation arose immediately in diplomatic circles as to the possible effect on the attempts of European powers to tighten the non-intervention restrictions by which they hoped to prevent a general war flaring up from the Spanish crisis.

Police Investigate Mysterious Shooting

Brantford, Ont., Dec. 29 (CP)—James Bullock, Sr., Brantford, was taken to the hospital early today suffering from what doctors believe is a bullet wound in his lower abdomen. His condition is serious but he is not in any immediate danger.

Doctors said he told them twice that he had been shot. He did not say where the shooting had taken place or who had done it. He had been home an hour and a half before the ambulance was summoned to take him to hospital and was lying on a bed in his underwear.

Four doctors attended him. They could not find the bullet which, they believed, was lodged somewhere in the body. Police are investigating.

7 SHOTS FIRED AT GARAGEMEN BY FOUR THUGS

Proprietor and Owner Badly Injured at Plattsville, Ont.

BATTERED WITH GUNS

Armed Men Escape Without Booty as Result of Hold-up

Plattsville, Ont., Dec. 29 (CP)—Melvin Lachman, 44, garage proprietor, and his helper, William Love, were badly injured, early today by four things who fired seven shots at them in attempting to rob Lachman's garage.

Lachman was shot through the right arm and battered over the head with a revolver, as the robbers invaded the Oxford County community, fifteen miles northeast of Woodstock. Love was struck across the face and head with the butt of a revolver During the struggle seven shots were fired, but it was not known that Lachman was the only one that found its mark.

The hold-up men escaped scotfree, leaving behind a car, stolen in a car, stolen by provincial police who searched western Ontario highways near Galt and Woodstock throughout the night.

Awakened By Burglar Alarm

Lachman and Love were sleeping in the proprietor's home next to the garage when, about 2.15 a.m., they were awakened by the ringing of a burglar alarm system. Pulling on old clothes, they each grabbed light rifles and ran toward the garage. In their eagerness to surprise the thieves they failed to notice two men near the door.

These men, both armed with revolvers, pounced on Love and Lachman and in a wild melee several shots were fired. According to Love, who is the badly hurt than the others, the fight lasted only a few minutes but in the confusion he managed to get his best of the struggle when the four thugs suddenly appeared from inside the building.

One of these struck Lachman over the head with a revolver, and another the weapon in two. The blow felled Lachman and Love, blood streaming down his face, broke away and ran for help. By the time assistance arrived, the men escaped in a car which was parked nearby.

Dr. Ray Hall, Plattsville storekeeper, told of being awakened by the shots, but by the time he got outside the fight was over.

Lachman was unconscious, his face a mass of blood. He revived a moment later and I discovered he was shot.

Brantford, Dec. 29 (CP)—Police from Woodstock and Ingersoll were today to investigate a possibility that James Bullock, Sr., in hospital with a bullet wound in the lower abdomen, was shot by one of four men involved in the attempted hold-up of a garage early today at Plattsville, Ont.

Bullock was taken to hospital here with a wound in the lower abdomen which doctors said might have been caused by a bullet. The man, found in his home, undressed except for his underclothes, told police that automatics he had been shot twice, but no one wound was found.

He did not explain details of the shooting.

No News from Adolf Hitler May be Good News Express

Presence of German Soldiers in Spain Bad for Germany

RECALL OF TROOPS

London, Dec. 29 (CP-Havas)—Commenting on Chancellor Hitler's New Year message, the French and British notes concerning Spanish non-intervention, the Morning Post said today that "even if German soldiers were able to secure the (insurgent) Junta's victory, their presence in Spain would create a delicate situation which might result in the long run in Germany being the loser." It is hoped that this aspect of the situation is deterring Hitler from plunging deeper into the civil war.

"No word from Hitler," the Daily Express commented. "No news may be good news. Europe is glad that Europe since he lost his brother Mussolini. German troops may be withdrawn.

"The speculation, tempered with caution, is that the chances of a favorable reply from Hitler are good," the Daily Herald said.

The Manchester Guardian said "If Germany were to dispatch 60,000 men, or indeed any considerable force beyond the 10,000 or 20,000 men there now, Spain's civil war would collapse without any doubt. But it would be hoped that any step between Berlin and Paris but also between Berlin and London.

Hurled Bodily Into River As Car Rolls Down Bank; Crawls Out of Icy Water

W. H. Roe, Napanee, Pulls Self Dazedly to Shore

GIVEN AID AT FARM

Impact with Transport Forces Lighter Vehicle over Embankment

Miraculously escaping death in the icy waters of the Salmon River when hurled from his automobile as it hurtled end over end after colliding with a large transport at Hilltown early today, W. H. Roe, governor of the Lennox County gaol, Napanee, crawled out of the river and staggered to the highway in a dazed condition shortly after 5 a.m.

Mr. Roe was proceeding easterly in his automobile when a large truck, driven westerly by Emil Lafleur and owned by the Ottawa Fruit Centre of Ottawa, collided head-on with Mr. Roe's car.

The force of the impact swerved the car in a manner that caused the lighter vehicle to skid and strike a telephone pole, breaking the pole off at the base. After striking the pole the automobile turned over three times, rolling down the embankment, plunging into the river and coming to rest on the bottom in about 10 feet of water.

Mr. Roe was hurled from the car and pitched head foremost into the icy waters of the river. Although dazed he managed to pull himself to shore and after resting exhausted for a few minutes, where he was found and taken to the nearby home of Robert Little to receive first aid.

Shaken Up and Bruised.

Motorcycle Patrolman Sam Irvine investigated and reported Mr. Roe was badly shaken up and had sustained severe bruises and slight lacerations. Efforts of Viriam's garage and truck driver Lafleur failed to look four hours to retrieve the automobile from the depths. It lay from the highway at the bottom of the hill. The vehicle came to rest on its roof from the edge of the river.

Mr. Roe was awarded the Distinguished Conduct Medal during the Great War for his conspicuous presence of mind during his early hour ordeal today, his presence of mind and decisiveness doubtless saved him from more serious injuries if not instant death.

LOYALISTS TAKE CEMETERY

Madrid, Dec. 29 (AP)—The War Office announced today Loyalist troops had captured a cemetery at Teruel and Mount Manzorro, on the Aragon front, in fierce conquest domination of the Saragossa Valley.

Despite the bitter cold prevailing cold, the reports said, the militiamen took their objective in the mid-afternoon northeast of Madrid after slight resistance from the insurgents.

HON. GROTE STERLING WEDS

Ottawa, Dec. 29 (CP)—Marriage of Hon. Grote Stirling, former Minister of National Defence and member of the House of Commons for Yale, B.C., was solemnized at Clifton, England, today, according to cabled advices reaching here. The bridegroom's brother was the Hon. Jean Gradey in Clifton Parish Church, with the Dean of Bristol officiating.

Prank Valley, Okla., Dec. 29 — (CP)—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Zeck have a large number of children to whom they have given a nickname for their daughter born Christmas Day.

They already have nicknames for their two sons Tommy and Minnie. But they can't decide on a short name for their baby girl. Their daughter's name, Her full name is Appendicitis. The boys are Tonsilitis and Measlesitis.

WARRIOR PASSES

Brilliant German soldier and outstanding leader during the great war, Gen. Hans von Seeckt, died unexpectedly at his home in Berlin. The general, who put down a communist uprising in 1920, and who recently completed reorganization of the reichswehr, was 70 years of age.

NEWS BRIEFS AND ODDITIES

Vatican City, Dec. 29 (CP-Havas)—Fraulein Adda Pepa Pius had been received deeply today by Pope Pius and informed that Jean Cardinal Verdier, Archbishop of Paris, had made a pilgrimage to Lisieux to pray at the shrine of Ste. Therese.

Fort Perry, Ont., Dec. 28 (CP)—Known to many in Central Ontario as a yearly summer resort this Scugog Lake port over Lindsay has become a thriving agricultural centre. At the annual Christmas fair last week tons of poultry changed hands. Cheques were awarded for the best birds and there were also classes in horses.

Guelph, Ont., Dec. 29 (CP)—Aleyalus, Guelph's pet gray squirrel, is faster and fleeter than ever. If he can talk, he undoubtedly had his spirited say today about the fine Christmas he had.

He gets his feed by scratching on the doors of Farmerette Street homes until he is given crumbs or nuts. This year he got more than ever before for Christmas than in the past year, residents estimate.

Kansas City, Dec. 29 (CP)—Sergt. Clarence Hall, Kansas City, and James Simpson answered a Wichita advertisement for the hand of F. E. Coleman.

After learned a skunk had crawled into a mattress roll in the cellar, plunging up the ends, Coleman tied the mattress at the back yard and emptied their contents into it.

Simpson unplugged one end, Hall carried the mattress and—bet tipping mad.

Hall at the station Lieut. John Hall and three men of the crash fallen officers from a distance. You stay away, this stadium smells bad enough now."

Coming Events

THE TWENTY-FOURTH ANNUAL Bun Feed, Wiarf St. Debating Club, Thursday, 8 o'clock. Come and hear the new candidates speak. (28-3)

MOOSE EUCHRE, BINGO AND Dance, Wednesday, December 30, 8.15 in euchre prizes, two voucher prizes, Chris. Xmas. Dancing till one. Commodores playing. Admission 25c. Don't forget New Eve, 9 till one. Admission 25c. (28-3)

FIGHT FOR REEVE ON IN STIRLING

W. C. West, Present Reeve and Ex- Warden to be Opposed by T. Cranston

Stirling, Dec. 27. — (Special) — After a period of comparative political calm, having placed years, councillors and school trustees, in office by the acclamation route, it appears that this year Stirling will have a real fight on test for the various offices in its municipal administration.

The two nominated for the township are well known for their past records on the local council, Reeve W. C. West retiring from five successful years in office, has signified his intention of again seek re-election and will be opposed by ex-Councillor T. Cranston for the first time in his municipal career. On all previous occasions, Mr. West has been elected by acclamation and his record on that office has been a most successful one. His opponent in the field, Ex-Councillor Thos. Cranston has been active in the Stirling Council for the past few years and in that time, while serving to serve the community to the best of his ability, has not gained the experience in municipal affairs. Only in the past few hours to consider the nomination, he indicated that he was definitely in the field and would have the support of all those present in a brief and hurried meeting of nominations for the Village Council included the following names, from one of which indicated any attention of withdrawing from the field, Thos. Cranston, Wm. Ketcheson, Clarence E. Rollins, W. O. West, Frank Shaver, Jas. Wilson, Thomas and Walter Jeffery. Nominations for the Hydro Commission included Mr. O. H. Baker, retiring Commissioner, Mr. Walter Jeffery and Mr. Frank Shaver.

Two Nominated For Board

For the Stirling Board of Education two names were added to those of the three retiring veterans who were elected by acclamation, Mr. Love—Mr. P. T. Ward, who has served on the Board for more than forty-two years, Dr. H. H. Alger and Mr. Harry Bailey, both members of long standing. The two new names added were Dr. E. A. Carleton and Mr. Ross Bailey.

From the indications given at the meeting which was one of the most interesting in years it is definitely believed that all will remain in the field, and the campaign promises to end seeking office for the first time and considerable excitement in the district with the exception of Dr. E. A. Carleton, who is well known in the district, and the Council. Since first coming to Stirling several years ago, Dr. Carleton has shown keen interest in all local affairs, Mr. R. Munro is partner in the Munro Bros. lumber business of Stirling, while Mr. Jeffrey and Mr. Shaver are both prominent businessmen of the town, the latter being the proprietor of the Bagley Grinding Mills and also a lumber mill. All are expected to remain in the field.

Earlier in the evening, financial statements of the Village Council and the local Board of Education were presented and among those present and the chairmen of the various commissions in the Council of last year adopted the following briefly regarding the functioning of their particular branch of the work. Mr. O. N. Baker retiring Hydro Commissioner set forth very clearly an explicit report of the year's work of the Commission and amongst other matters of value in relation to the merits of his past records.

Mr. Frank Lapp, who for the past twenty-five years has occupied the position of Town Clerk officiated as Chairman for the evening, and the meeting was brought to a close with the singing of the National Anthem.

It Pays to Skip at the Rexall Store.

AFTER CHRISTMAS—

Bisma Rex

CORRECTS DIGESTIVE TROUBLES GAS, PAIN, BLOATING.

75c

McKeown's DRUG STORE

THE SATURDAY EVENING POST

NOW 5¢ a copy

Wherever Magazines Are Sold

REBATES PAID TO TAXPAYERS

(Continued From Page 1)

municipal administration where dividends were represented in service. Also, the operation under the city manager system saved somewhere near $50,000 rebates were made to the ratepayers, but this is the only case on record where such a thing happened and it has not repealed. Some cities make profits from public utilities large enough to reduce the tax rate, but that suggests reducing the price of service rather than building up a surplus to apply on other, civic expenses. Then there were certain cities where public utilities and resources produced more than enough money to obviate the necessity of other taxes—tax-free communities.

Many Civic Services

Multiplicity of public services in recent years was dwelt upon by the speaker, who pointed to the many civic services which are now taken as a matter of course, from the time a man gets up in the morning and turns on the civic tap, the electric light, sidewalks, street cars, civic owned playgrounds in the school building, which is regularly inspected for fire hazards and the many civic services which make life comfortable.

Speaking of city manager system of municipal administration, Dr. Carrothers said: "The system under which was nothing more than the application of business principles to the citizens as stockholders, electing a council which was a board of directors, which in turn selected and pointing a business manager whose remuneration is based on every part of the municipal machine worked smoothly.

"Stale" the City

Many cities had adopted the city manager plan, but in many instances a small percentage had abandoned it. In this connection, in one city the politicians had caught the citizens napping and stole the city as Chicago, which is a victim of such system.

Cincinnati, once the most corrupt, politician-ridden city turned into a partisan branch of the state, and most efficient cities in the United States through the vigilance and watchfulness of a citizens' organization which established the city manager system and kept constant and close supervision over the city government.

Efficiency in Citizens

Efficiency in civic government must be based on efficiency of the citizens who must take an active interest in the affairs of the city and insist on businesslike administration. A small council, a city manager, and a civic organization produces good and efficient government.

Growth of Manager System

In 1908 there was one city manager city in America, in 1915 there were 84, in 1925 there were 371, and in 1935 the total had risen to 418 in Canada, the United States, and Ireland.

Dr. Brittain described the working of the city manager form of municipal business efficiency, and also in a nutshell is merely one man over many departments and no job for many men over many departments and no single head understanding the work of all departments. Necessary to application of business principles to municipal government.

Throughout the address of Dr. Brittain he made many close allusions and his talk was most interesting as well as instructive. Notary appreciation was moved by E. F. Riley who commented upon the need, of efficiency in municipal management and the advantage of such organizations as that which Dr. Brittain was affiliated in finding and exposing the weak points in municipal administration.

BUSINESS WORLD WANTS WELL TRAINED WORKERS

Many Successful Business People Look Back With Pride to Training in Belleville.

The courses at Ontario Business College are extremely interesting and include instruction in the following subjects: — Accountancy, Arithmetic, Auditing, Banking, Bookkeeping, Business Correspondence, Commercial Law, Ethics of Business, Filing, Office Practice, Penmanship, Shorthand, Spelling and Typewriting.

Students are prepared for positions as accountants, bookkeepers, secretaries, office clerks, stenographers and typists. Beginning in this way with the thorough O.B.C. training, many hundreds of graduates have quickly risen to high executive positions. These former students from all over the continent attribute their success to the efficient business training they received while at Ontario Business College in Belleville.

The winter term starts Monday, January 4th and evening classes will be resumed Tuesday, January 5th.

Weddings

MESSERVY-REID

A quiet marriage was solemnized at the Baptist parsonage on Saturday, Dec. 26th, when Estelle Reid of Frankford, became the bride of Lionel Walter Messervy of Belleville. The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Alan Sayers. Rev. A. O. Sindair officiated. Mr. and Mrs. Messervy will make their home in Belleville.

O.B.C. WINTER TERM

STARTS MONDAY, JAN. 4th. for the regular courses (day attendence)

Evening Classes will be resumed TUESDAY, JAN. 5. For information, or to register, please call at the College Office

ONTARIO BUSINESS COLLEGE, Limited. 275 Front St., Belleville, Ont.

Telephones 124 - 542 I. L. MOORE, Principal

DSB-51tf

CAROL SERVICE AT CHRIST CHURCH

Impressive Choral Work as Choir Takes Part in Special Service

The annual carol service was held at Christ Church last Sunday evening at which a large congregation was present in spite of the bad weather. The choir under direction of C. N. Mayhoe entered in two sections, the men and ladies singing "God Rest You, Merry Gentlemen" proceeding to the chancel. After the singing of the carol the vicar of the choir sang "I Saw Three Ships," an ancient English carol, in procession alternately singing the verses with the men who were in the chancel. The effect was very fine and marked the Christmas season beautifully.

The service opened with a short office by the rector followed by the story of the Nativity, read by Mr. Keeling, carols. Besides the well known carols the following were sung, "All my Heart this Night Rejoices," (German carol), "See amid the Winter Snow," "Unto us a Boy is Born," (Monk's carol), "The Shawm," "Good King Wenceslas", (Carol for St. Stephen's Day), "I dyne at Mayden's," (14th Century English carol, arranged by Terry), "In Dulci Jubilo", (of German origin arranged from Oxford carol book), and the time carols came to an end by a small group of eight boys and girls singing from the centre of the chancel. Sung entirely unaccompanied the effect and balance were very fine, the choir was particularly most worthy of mention owing to its fine tonal quality. The rector, Rev. G. G. Wright gave a short address on the early uses of carols and their history.

Obituary

MRS. BEETHAM O. ARMSTRONG (Oshawa)

There passed away in Bowmanville Hospital, Tuesday, December 27, 1936, Ethel Mae Soule, beloved wife of Beetham O. Armstrong, Oshawa, after an illness of about two weeks.

She was born in Kingston, April 13, 1906, and has lived in Oshawa for the past fourteen years. Previous to her marriage eleven years ago, she was an employee of General Motors of Canada.

Besides her husband, she is survived by six sisters, Mrs. Gladys Kathleen, Shirley, Myrna, Ronald and Kenneth, and one sister, Margaret Soule, of Belleville. Also surviving are her parents, Mrs. Lorne Soule of Belleville, an uncle, Thos. M. Bonar, Kingston, and three brothers, William F. Soule, Wakerton, N.Y., Garnett A. Soule, Ottawa, and Joseph H. Soule of Point Anne.

The funeral will be conducted by Rev. A. M. Irwin of King Street United Church, Oshawa, and will be held from the family residence, 114 Agnes Street on Wednesday, December 30, 1936 at 2 p.m., with interment in the Union cemetery.

MRS. BLANCHE STORTIS

After a brief illness the death occurred at the Belleville General Hospital on Tuesday, Dec. 29th, of Mrs. Blanche Stortis, late resident of 274 George Street, Toronto, the widow of James Stortis.

The late Mrs. Stortis, who was in her 56th year, was born at Cobourg, her parents being the late Mr. and Mrs. James Cannift, who were of Dublin, Ireland origin. At present the village of Cannifton was named after the Cannift family. For some years she resided at Corbyville, but the greater part of her life was passed in Belleville, in religion she was a member of the Tabernacle United Church and by all who knew her she was most highly esteemed.

Surviving her are four daughters, Mrs. Harry Pomeroy, Belleville; Mrs. Edward Lynch, Belleville; Mrs. Webster, Belleville, and Miss Ada Stortis, Toronto; two sons, Douglas Stortis, and Lyle Stortis, both of Belleville; two sisters, Mrs. J. O. Frost, Edmonton, Alberta, and Mrs. L. Leavens, Toronto, also her brother, T. Cannift, Woodstock, Ont.

The funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this paper.

CHARLES DURAND (Trenton)

Charles Durand, a former resident of Belleville, passed away suddenly at his residence in Trenton, on Saturday, Dec. 26th. He had been in his usual health.

The late Mr. Durand, prior to leaving Belleville about twenty years ago, was employed for some years at the Allen coal yard. During his residence here he was a member of St. Michael's Church and well respected by all who knew him. Old friends here will regret to learn of his death.

Surviving him are his widow and several sons and daughters at Toronto and Windsor.

The funeral took place at Toronto.

MRS. FRANCES A. REID

After an illness of two months' duration Mrs. Frances Ann Reid, widow of W. C. Reid, passed away at the family residence, 179 Dunda Street East, on Sunday, Dec. 28th.

The late Mrs. Reid, who was in her 82nd year, was born in Madoc Township, her parents being the late Mr. and Mrs. John Reid. All her life was passed in this district, the greater part being lived in Belleville, where she was highly esteemed by all who knew her. Mrs. Reid possessed many fine traits of character and in religion she was a faithful member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

Surviving her since her passing is one son, the Rev. W. Harold Reid, M.A., of Belleville. A son, Arnold Reid, died in the year 1910, Mrs. Reid was the last surviving member of a family of seven.

The funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this paper.

LATE MRS. OREA REEVES

The funeral of Mrs. Orea Reeves, widow of John Reeves, took place from her late residence, 213 Mary Street, Monday afternoon. The service in the home and at the graveside in Belleville Cemetery was conducted by the Rev. Dr. Semple, pastor of Bridge Street United Church.

The bearers were Messrs. Harry Morgan S. J. Harris, Fred Croft, J. Canning, William Harvey and S. Lemmon.

BELLE

Tomorrow Morning DECEMBER 30, 10.00 a.m.

Whirlwind Thrills

ROMANCE, COMEDY, and ADVENTURE . .

Clarence E. Mulford's

Hopalong Cassidy

with

—WILLIAM BOYD

—SHIRLEY GREY

—GEORGE HAYES,

Extra!

MAJOR BOWES NEW AMATEURS

20 Minutes of Uproarious Fun!

Comedy — Cartoons

Children 10c; Adults 27c

Greet 1937 . . . With a Laugh

Celebrate New Year's Eve!

Plan NOW to attend our New Year's Eve Jamboree . . . Real Entertainment for all the family.

— ON THE SCREEN —

JOEL McCREA BARBARA STANWYCK

in a comedy with music

"BANJO ON MY KNEE"

Plus: SELECTED FEATURETTES

Hats — Balloons — Noisemakers

YOU'LL LIKE IT AT THE

BELLE

Starting 11.30 p.m. We'll Expect You!

Where Happiness Costs So Little

NEW QUEENS HOTEL

NEW YEAR'S DAY DINNER

75c

From Six to Eight o'Clock

THERE WILL BE NO DINNER AT NOON

NEW QUEENS HOTEL

APPEAL FOR FUNDS MADE FOR BAND

Fred Jobson, Bandmaster, Asks Taxpayers to Support By-Law

In a stirring plea for electors of this city to support the by-law which is to be voted upon at the coming civic election, which, if carried, will grant the Belleville Municipal Band the sum of $1300 with which to carry on during the coming year, Bandmaster Fred Jobson placed the matter of the Band squarely before his audience at the City Hall last evening.

The meeting was largely followed the address of Dr. Horace L. Brittain, on city management at which the speaker dwelt briefly but forcibly with municipal questions.

Drawing attention to the absolute need for support, Bandmaster Jobson pointed out that, unlesssuch a body municipally replaced a band and had long ago recognized this need, the band would be lost and that the duty of the municipality lay in its support.

"Belleville has a band at the present time with a personnel which is equal to any of any similar city its size in Canada, and it may be said that it is generally acknowledged that of any other city the size of Belleville in Ontario," declared Mr. Jobson.

Stressing the local organization from the year 1872, it was pointed out that it had remained as a unit through all that time, although Power's Rifle Band was only one musical organization from Belleville that had brought world wide advertising to this city through the world tour made by it. It was pointed out:

"During all these years you have supported the band well, and it has been only through the years of depression that the grants formerly given us have been discontinued, continued the leader. "Now we are asking for your support, for we cannot without your support it will not be possible for us to continue."

Pal in Band Fund

Neither the bandmaster nor the members themselves will receive any sum of this $1,300 grant, it was declared. The money will be put into the band fund for the maintenance (and in any undertaking. The men will be able to get just a little of what is due when they do forth out on the road and we'll give you music in Belleville that can't be maintained in any other place of size in Canada," assured Leader Jobson.

CLARE'S TAXI

4 — HEATED CARS — 4

24-Hour Service

Phone 196

Clare Drives With Care

DSB-51-52-1-2-3-4-5-6-7-8

CAPITOL Ends TODAY STAGE AND SCREEN SHOW

ON THE SCREEN

Constance Bennett in "Everything is Thunder" JOHN WAYNE in "SEA SPOILERS"

ON THE STAGE

Tonight Only at 8.45 Capitol Stage-Revue Featuring TOMMY MASON and his Rhythm Band also SINGERS, DANCERS, COMEDIANS

No Increase in Prices

2 Days Only — Wed. & Thurs. - 2 Ace Hits

The Sensational and Brief Romance of a Gunman on Parole.

IF YOU'VE GOT 'EM IN JAIL . .

DON'T TURN 'EM LOOSE

With LEWIS STONE JAMES BLEASON BRUCE CABOT LOUISE LATIMER BETTY GRABLE

Directed by Ben Stoloff, Assistant Robert Tait

ADDED ATTRACTION ON THE SAME SHOW

THE FASTEST RACING DRAMA SINCE "BROADWAY BILL"

DOWN the STRETCH

Warner Bros.' Tribute of Thoroughbred Turf to Thoroughbred Turfite, With PATRICIA ELLIS • MICKEY ROONEY • DENNIS MOORE

CAPITOL

The BIGGEST and MERRIEST FROLIC EVER PRESENTED

New YEARS EVE JAMBOREE

Tickets Now on Sale

Sold only to Capacity

35c Including tax

BELLE

Daily at 2.30; 7.00; 9.15

Today Wednesday Thursday

UNMATCHED FOR SPECTACLE! ROMANCE! SUSPENSE!

THUNDERING HOOFBEATS of HISTORY

AN IMMORTAL EPIC THAT SWEEPS ACROSS THE SCREEN TO GREATER GLORY!

A panorama of dynamic drama and burning romance!

Errol FLYNN IN "The Charge of the LIGHT BRIGADE" with OLIVIA De HAVILLAND PATRIC KNOWLES and a superb cast of notables

Prices at 2.30: 7.00: 9.15

"Definitely the Best Picture of the year." — PHOTOPLAY

"As Great as 'Bengal Lancers'" — ROLY YOUNG

"It's the Best Picture of the Year" — SOMERLAND

Centralized Control Advantage Of City Managership Speaker Tells Electors at Civic Meeting

W. L. Britain, Toronto, Gives Concise Picture Of Duties

BAND IN ATTENDANCE

BAND IN ATTENDANCE

Financial Standing of Belleville Praised By Speaker

Interest aroused by the fact that tax-payers will be given an opportunity at this coming municipal election to decide their desire by ballot as to whether Belleville will in future be governed by city manager plan, was evidenced by the large attendance at the City Hall last evening on the occasion of the visit of Dr. Horace L. Brittain, Toronto, economist, professor of municipal government and director of the Ontario Research Foundation. Dr. Brittain brought to Belleville interesting data and concise explanation of municipal administration under the city manager system, both being gained through a lifetime study of municipal politics.

Clearly indicating that no form of government could survive without the help of the people, he stressed the well-known speaker pointed out that nevertheless only under a centralized system of management were the best results obtained.

Sketched Progress

Deftly he sketched the progress of various forms of government which from the distant past has gradually evolved from historical days of one or from five to thirty heads of departments in single municipalities to that of the growing form of council-manager as applied today.

In introducing the speaker of the evening, Alderman Burton F. Jeffrey, chairman of the committee which has for weeks been engaged in research on city council management, pointed out the recent strong thoughts had been given this matter. He declared the growing sentiment among residents was that some form of government for Belleville and vicinity called for a committee had been made up for its particular study.

Citizens have joined and acted in formation received from every point in Canada and the United States on this matter, but even now it cannot be said that the committee is prepared to put it to a vote of the people in the form of a bylaw, we are not compelled to vote on it. Your committee believed and still believes, however that it is the best form of government," declared Alderman Jeffrey.

Previous to Dr. Britain's address, Mayor Harry Hill who opened the meeting, welcomed the visitors from near by points and paid especial tribute to the work the Belleville Municipal Band had made to be present. "They were not expected to be here, but when this morning," enlightened Mayor Hill. Responding to the request the mayor, several of the concert numbers were offered at the opening.

Duties for Service

In opening his address Dr. Britain pointed out that a municipal corporation after all exists only for service to the people it represented. It produced collectively what could not be done individually. It was established for the common benefit of the people. The first speaker pointed to the inconvenience that would be suffered if residents were to be robbed of this convenient city service for only one day. Lack of water, lack of sewage, lack of police and hospital service, even of sidewalks and roads would make the place an undesirable one in which to live, it was clearly revealed.

"Over this corporation, however, we have managers of the various services and utilities who see that things are kept running smoothly, that we are returned the service for which we pay," continued, Dr. Britain. "However, a city of 36 municipality does not at all differ from a private corporation. In a corporation there are a number of shholders. They appoint a board, and from that board is appointed a general manager. The corporation that have been carried out by a municipality as a rule more often time been carried out by a corporation or by private citizens. The majority stockholders of the municipality in which they live. They pay this through taxes almost every thing they consume, be it city or country. There must, however, be administration."

Personnel Needs Improved

The backbone of municipal administration constituted the speaker was the permanent heads of which ever they represent. In this Canada has been fortunate. Where she has not been subjected to the changing fortunes, which it was declared, are often witnessed in other countries, the United States, for example, where politics often play a large part in removals and appointments. "Fortunately this party goes out, he goes out," it was explained.

The second point in successful administration lies in the matter of members of any appointed membership confining itself strictly to the matters of their duties. If the members of committees are not confined, then the job should not be had. In fact, as stated above, councils in various municipalities have in the past, to a singularity lax, particularly as it is applied to wasteful effort through over-government.

"As one example," pointed out Dr. Britain, "I was a ware of time for heads of the various elected committees to be hanging around their city hall. It has often been asked why should an alderman get paid pay. Lots of them should be paid to stay away from the city hall."

An executive exists for the third element of a corporation set up, continued the speaker. A private corporation has only one manager with a staff of executives responsible for results. He lays out the work and sees that it is done. A good selling director does not bother himself with details of departments under him."

Years, that a city manager when hired will get down to work and fire all those under him at the start are grounded," declared the speaker. He will not do this until he is thoroughly convinced, that heads he employs are suitable for the work and are unable to carry results. In this manner is efficient government given, and costs to the municipality reduced.

Must Have Authority

"In appointing a city manager he is to be given authority commensurate with his position," Mayor Hill declared Dr. Britain, coming to new angles of the matter, are bordered with too many departments. If a private manufacturing or business concern were to try and operate with from three to thirty heads of departments it could not remain in business with a corporation, that were similarly managed. A private concern must be efficient or die. The same is true shown, applies to a city.

"But it is harder for a municipality to go broke. It can hunder along year after year. It can fail to collect its taxes, it can fail to establish a reserve. When trouble does come the council, which has the people, are left holding the bag.

Municipalities can not be kind hearted enough to fail to collect its taxes, declared Dr. Britain, pointing to the fact, that the best time to collect taxes is when they are near the time they fall due as possible. As one stiffen the matter of accepting taxes in installments was now being worked out more equitably.

Considerable credit to the past management of the city of Belleville was given by Dr. Britain, who pointed out that this city is one of the few with a reserve in the bank. The city, also, was observed to undertake permanent forward this year after having been static as regards improvements for the past three years.

Where are certain sign posts, which show the growth or the decline of cities, and it is shown that Belleville, though she has been practically stationary for the past three years, this year she shows her own from the more forward. This fact is on the move forward. This encouragement will undoubtedly come time," added Dr. Britain amid applause.

Controllers Control

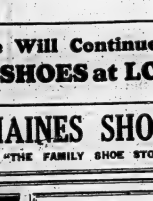
Unified control of administration of the various municipalities shown up in interesting manner with those of others not so governed, in the matter of tax collection, declared the speaker. Where it is only one advantage. Others of advantage of unified control of all service departments, except that of the police department which is under separate management. In this manner, it was shown, all departments are working with a central head. This would result centralized purchasing for the various departments, which was declared a science in itself and which can be managed more efficiently with changes in personnel, which has been so often shown.

"The city government is a packages of confidence Britain in summing up. "No doctor can prescribe medicine without first the workability of city managership can be established upon the people. Reform in Cincinnati some years ago was not brought about by the people who have a city manager, but by the setting up of a permanent organization which has so knit the people and town together that every year it can be depended on twenty-four hours. City managership can be sustained only by the people who have a city manager. You can't set up any government that you put in run itself, and there is no such thing as a perpetual motion machine in municipal affairs.

"Irrespective of the results of this election, you and other cities will have just as good a government as you're willing to work for," concluded Dr. Britain.

In his vote of thanks to the speaker of the evening, Alderman Laurie Lewis declaring, that running the whole gamut of municipality administration as he had done, Dr. Britain had brought Belleville something new and unusual. "Belleville people, who have missed something they had every right to hear. Frankly, after hearing some of the greatest men in the business and financial worlds of this country and in many other communities favorably upon city managership, I found myself favoring it also. I have had my doubts, I have had my explanation and I have not changed my mind upon it.

Yes, Thank You— COME IN and SEE US!



We Have Safely Moved to Our New Location

214 Front St.

NEXT TO MOFFE'S JEWELLERY STORE

We Will Continue to Sell GOOD SHOES at LOW PRICES

The HAINES SHOE HOUSE "THE FAMILY SHOE STORE"

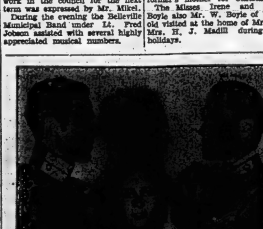
BELGIAN MINISTER

Pictured as he arrived in New York on his way to Ottawa, is Baron Robert de Silvercruys who will succeed his father as first Belgian minister to Canada.

—Central Press Canadian Photo.

Good Financial Condition

"Through the good offices of Mr. E.V. Illsey we have been fortunate in securing Dr. Britain for this talk, and if the rest of Belleville had had any inkling of what we were going to hear we would have needed the Arena to hold them.



"Now you have the material, all you have to do is vote," invited Alderman Lewis.

Seconding Alderman Lewis' vote of thanks, ex-Mayor W. C. Mikel, K.C., pointed to the extremely favorable report Dr. Britain has given upon the financial standing of Belleville at the present time. "That is something, that we with be pleased to take home with us".

"The city manager form of government is no panacea for the ills of any city. Its success as well as the success of any government depends upon the people— It's not necessary to have a city manager for a place the size of Belleville to make it a success; its the citizens themselves who always in the past have done so."

The wish that Alderman Burton Jennings and Alderman Laurie Lewis would continue their good work in the council for the next term was expressed by Mr. Mikel.

During the evening the Belleville Municipal Band under Lt. Fred Thompson contributed highly appreciated musical numbers.

That catching his sweetheart in his brother's arms, Errol Flynn (right) was the cause of the fatal charge in the Light Brigade, is blender, is outlined by the plot of "The Charge of the Light Brigade," Jow of the Reds screen, fea tering charming Olivia De Havilland, Errol Flynn and Patric Knowles.

Frankford and District

FRANKFORD, — The regular meeting of the W.M.S. with the President, Mrs. Gerald W. Dickson presiding, was held on Thursday evening in the United Church. In the absence of the Secretary Mrs. C. D. Powell read the minutes of the previous meeting as well as the yearly report. The Treasurer's Secretary's report for the year as carried on by Mrs. Hadley and Mrs. A. Ford was given by Mrs. Hadley. The report of the Association Halpe's Secretary was received also.

The following officers for 1937 were elected—President, Mrs. G. W. Dickson; 1st vice-president, Mrs. F. E. Bonisteel; Recording Secretary, Mrs. B. Bush; Treasurer, Mrs. Ross Nicholson; Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. Lane; Secretary of Christian Stewardship and Finance Mrs. J. M. Dafoe; Stranger's Secretary, Mrs. A. Hadley; Supply Secretary, Mrs. Welbourn; Superintendent of Mission Bands, Mrs. Landon; Temperance Secretary, Mrs. J. Rose; Missionary Monthly Secretary, Mrs. Wilbur; Literature Peace Secretary, Mrs. W. E. Windover. Mrs. Dickson was appointed representative to the Society Board and Mrs. Lane was elected Assistant Secretary for the winter months. The Finance Committee consists of Mrs. Morrow, Mrs. Bonisteel, Mrs. Nicholson Mrs. Dafoe and Mrs. Powell. Auditors, Mrs. Dafoe and Mrs. Hadley.

Mrs. G. Weaver is spending a few weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Harry Mainds, Oshawa.

Miss R. Harrison of Toronto, spent Christmas at her home in the village.

Mr. Hubert Turley of Campbellford, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Turley on Christmas Day.

Miss Jessie Dickson of Campbellford, spent Christmas at her home in town.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Herrington of Richmond Hill, were guests of the former's mother for Christmas.

The Misses Irene and Edith Boyle also Mr. W. Boyle of Thornhill visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Madill during the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Southworth also Miss T. Lowery of Campbellford, spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Ford.

The Misses Jean and Monica Dickson, who are attending Whitby Ladies' College are spending the holidays at their home in the village.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Thompson and family of Belleville, spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. G. Chapman, Stockdale.

Mr. and Mrs. Herb Lyons of Oshawa, were home for Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Cooper of Bloomfield, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Laird for Christmas holiday.

Mr. R. D. Simmons of Perth, spent Christmas with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Simmons.

Mr. Hiah Hearns is a patient in Belleville General Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Patrick Jr., of Campbellford, were in town for Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. Murney spent Christmas day in Trenton, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Cooper.

Mr. Thos. Latta, R.A. of Toronto, is spending the holidays with his mother, Mrs. M. Latta.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Sickle were guests of the former's parents at Johnstown for Christmas dinner.

Little Benny's Note Book

Ma was pushing crooked things and pulling straight things around and pop was smoking and thinking in his private chair, saying he may not know much, my dear, but I feel very much agrieved. When we celebrated our fifth wedding anniversity the other day I never knew I could ever truthfully say that you neglected me," he said.

Willyum Potts how can you sit there and say such a thing even in semmy fun? ma said, and pop said, I haven't been more serious about it thawt my lumbago was coming on me.

But how, what, for and fore sakes? ma said, and pop said, Another year is drawing to a close and I'm another one is drawing to a begining and I haven't been good for it. I'm going to make a New Year resolution to do something I've never failed before in all these years. Can it be that you're growing tired of me? pop said.

Now Willyum how can you be so awful? ma said, as a matter of fact I did make up my mind to ask pop if I could go to see my folks sometimes and you always said yes so sweetly and then after nothing of the kind and secretly, that this year I decided to change my mind and still 3 better folks than you by just even mentioning the subject, she said, and pop said, That's all right my dear I would prefer you not to, but I must say it's rather ruff on me, sitting there hopefully and expectantly nite after nite awaiting the decision that never comes.

Now Willyum my lands for goodness sakes, I never knew that you'm sure I'll be glad to ask you if you want to, ma said, and pop said, Then why dont you?

I will, I am, I mean are you going to take pop's word for it and to stop smoking for land sakes? ma said, and pop said, Well, I don't know.

O, such a man, ma said.

Meaning pop.

LEAD SHORT-LIVED

Portland, Ore., Dec 28.—(AP)—Portland Rosebuds scored a 2-1 victory over Vancouver Lions in the Pacific Coast Hockey League here last night. Murray Bannerman of Vancouver the lead late in the second period but Gordon Canadey and Ronnie Martin fired Portland goals in the third within two Lions were in the penalty box.

MARMORA

Marmora—Mr. Raymond Lovelace of Kirkland Lake is spending Christmas holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Lovelace, Deloro.

Mr. Crawford O'Connor of Vermilion Bay is spending Christmas week at his home here.

Miss Madeline Reynolds of Toronto is spending Christmas holidays with her parents Mr. and Mrs. W. Reynolds.

Miss M. McCarthy of the Separate School staff is spending the Christmas holidays at her home in Millbrook.

Mr. Arnold Jones spent Christmas day at his home in Norwood.

Miss Helen Whytock of Madoc is spending a few days in town with Miss Grace Hamilton.

Miss Anne Caffrey of Toronto is spending Christmas week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. Caffrey, Deloro.

Miss Dorothy Gray of Belleville spent Christmas with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. Gray, Deloro.

Miss Doreen Crosby of Toronto spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. T. Coonan, Deloro.

Miss Eileen Connor of Belleville spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. J. J. McCann, Deloro.

Mr. Donald Auger of Montreal has returned home and spent Christmas with his parents Mr. and Mrs. G. Auger.

Misses Mary Ann and Margaret Flynn of Peterboro are spending Christmas holidays with their parents Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Flynn.

Miss Olive Attract of Belleville is spending a few days with relatives in town.

Miss Mary Pagnet left Sunday for Cumberland where she will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. P. Mackane for a week.

Mr. Lawrence Ashton of Deloro is spending the Christmas holidays at his home here.

Miss Rose Auger of Trenton spent Christmas with her parents Mr. and Mrs. O. Auger.

J. Mitchell and Frances spend Christmas with relatives in Tweed.

Miss Rita Quinlan of Toronto spent Christmas with her parents Mr. and Mrs. D. Quinlan.

Mrs. W. Pr. G. Martin spent Christmas in Kingston.

Miss Alice Cross of Belleville spent Christmas with her parents Mr. and Mrs. J. Cross.

Pte. and Mrs. A. W. Tales and family spent Christmas week end with relatives at Preston.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pack of Madoc Township visited the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. Cross on Christmas Day.

Miss Simmons, Hills of Malone spent Christmas with his son Mr. Alonzo Ellis.

Mr. and Mrs F. Vincent of Havelock visited relatives at Deloro on Christmas Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Bedore and children, Rosalene, Donna, Joseph and Minnie Mae, spent Christmas day at Brighton were Christmas day guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Bedore.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald McMurry visited relatives at Hoard's Station on Christmas day.

Mr. W. L. Riggs spent the Christmas day and the week end in Toronto.

Mr. Gordon Bronson of Madoc Township was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Bedore on Christmas day.

Earl Benny of Malabar is visiting his parents Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Benny.

Mr. J. H. English spent Christmas with friends in Toronto.

Mrs Chloe Gaffney of Belleville spent Christmas with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Lloyd, Deloro.

Mrs Rose Manitie of Toronto spent Christmas with her parents Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Buskard, Deloro.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Buskard, Mrs. Burnett and daughter Lola, visited Mr. and Mrs. Fred Young on Christmas Day.

Mr. W. Hall of Detroit is visiting relatives in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Armstrong spent Christmas with relatives in Peterboro.

Mr. Stanley Lowe spent Christmas Day with Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Sutton of Cavan Township.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tinsley and family of Belleville spent Christmas Day with the former's father, Mr. J. Fletcher.

Mrs. Dorothy Lemmon of Toronto is spending holidays at her home here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Donovan of Toronto spent Christmas with Mrs. Ralph Bowen.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Tisdell of Toronto spent Christmas with the former's brother, Mr. Sweet.

Mrs. C. Nichol and son Claud visited relatives in Madoc on Christmas Day.

Mr. Thomas Wallace of Peterboro visited friends here on Christmas Day.

Mr. J. Lough of Cherry Valley is visiting relatives here during the Christmas holidays.

Mr. John Langman of Aurora visited friends in town over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Sheridan of Burlington visited the latter's brother-in-law, Mr. Flannigan of Picton is spending Christmas holidays with his parents Mr. and Mrs. J. Pinnegan.

Mr. J. Flinnegan of Perth is spending Christmas holidays at his home here.

Miss Beatrice Lee of Toronto is spending Christmas holidays with her parents Mr. and Mrs. P. Lee.

Bridgen, Ont., Dec. 28 (CP)—Pending Christmas holidays with his head coach for the 46 years he has lived in Western Ontario his team went through 17,460 yards of snow.

DOMINION

Prices Effective December 31st to January 2nd

Special Agnew
CATSUP - 2 16-oz. Bots. 25

Special Singapore Sliced
PINEAPPLE - 2 Tins .19

Special Standard Quality Cut
WAX OR GREEN BEANS 2 Tins .19

Special Standard Quality
WHITE CORN 2 Tins .19

Clover
WHITE HONEY 4-lb. Tin .49

Special Special Blend
BLACK TEA - ½-lb. Pkg. .39

Special Pack Combination
BAYSIDE OLIVES 11-oz. Jar .25

Fancy
TABLE FIGS - - lb. .21

Richmello Coffee

Freshly ground in the store to suit your individual method of preparation

1-lb. Tin .27

Welch's
GRAPE JUICE Med. Bot. .24

Canadian MILD CHEESE lb. .19

LIBBY'S
TOMATO JUICE 3 20-oz. Tins .25

Clark's
PORK & BEANS 2 16-oz. Tins .10

GOOD GRAVY!

Put extra flavour and body goodness into ... OXO CUBES

Tins of 4-10¢ Tins of 10-23¢

NAVEL ORANGES 2 doz. 35c

SEEDLESS Grapefruit 6 for 25c

POINT ANNE

Point Anne—Mr. H. A. Scotlan went to Hull to spend the Christmas holiday.

Mr. Harold son of Mr. and Mrs. Abelald is very ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Leeman Bradshaw and son of Cobourg spent Christmas at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Akey, also at Mrs. Ethel Bradshaw's, Front Road.

Mrs. E. Wilson entertained her son, Mr. Leslie Wilson and family also her daughter Mrs. Ryan of Belleville on Christmas Eve.

Mr. Frank Tinsley spent the holiday in Trenton at the home of Miss Gladys Butland.

Mr. and Mrs. George Cummings, Belleville spent the holiday at Daly Cummings.

Miss Violet Hill spent Christmas night at the home of Mr. Arnold Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dostaler called on friends in the village on Saturday.

Miss Ellen Meshker and Lawrence spent Christmas Day at William Howard's.

Mr. Reg. Marsole of Hamilton holidayed at the home of his father Reg. Watson, Marsole.

Mr. Joseph Stolte received word of the death of his sister Mrs. Mina Armstrong of Oshawa on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Akey and Milton spent Christmas evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Akey, Point Anne.

Mrs. G. Rilch and family spent Christmas night at William Bayley's.

DEATHS

REID—At Belleville, Ontario, on Monday, Dec. 23rd, 1935, Ann Reid, widow of W. C. Reid and beloved mother of the late W. Ringold Reid, M.A., in her 84th year.

The funeral will take place from the late residence, 14 Bridge East, Belleville, on Wednesday, Dec. 25th, Service in the home at o'clock p.m.

Interment Belleville cemetery.

FRESH

SMILER N' CHUCKLES CHOCOLATES for NEW YEAR'S

Sorry we could not supply the demand for Christmas, but now replenished in the Belleville confectionery. Assortments arrived this week. Use the parcel.

GEORGE Pauley DRUGGIST

THE ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER

THE DAILY ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER is published every afternoon (Sunday and holidays excepted) at The Ontario Intelligencer Building, 102 Front Street, Belleville.

W. H. MORTON, PUBLISHER

DEATH OF BRISBANE

Death of Arthur Brisbane, most highly-paid news writer ended one of the most interesting and striking of careers. His $260,000 salary was largely built up on a syndicated column. He was a tireless writer and every day wrote at least eight hundred to one thousand words.

Brisbane had been held up for years before the budding newspaperman as one of the most successful in the writing craft. He began on newspaper work at the age of nineteen years. After work on the New York Sun and World he went to New York Journal for $3,000 though he had received $15,000 on the World. The explanation was that the Journal offered him a greater opportunity for experimenting with his journalistic ideas. Without restriction he scored immediate success. He dedicated his editorial and usually had 1,200 to 1,500 words ready in half an hour. Sometimes he made corrections to his secretary while they were on the ferry crossing the Hudson River. Once before a holiday he turned out thirty-nine editorials in three hours so that the newspaper would have enough to last during his vacation.

He kept alert on the latest news, even when he was travelling, the Pullman Company being charged with securing copies of latest issues of newspapers in the districts through which he was passing.

He covered a vast field. Two hundred newspapers used his column "Today," a column of pointed comment on world events. In 1,200 weekly newspapers he chatted to the entire rural population in a column "The Week." For the Sunday Hearst papers he wrote a full page of editorial observations. He was read by between thirty and forty million persons daily.

His style was brisk-paced and simple, and he kept his finger on the pulse of the nation writing his editorials to keep them up-to-the-minute and got them to the papers just within "the dead-line."

"RESEARCH HOUSE"

One of the most fascinating of occupations is dreaming over a new house, what it will contain, how it will be like. Almost everyone at some time or other would like to think of having a house built for his or her own ideals.

The Dominion Housing Act and the Hme Improvement Loan have made possible for many either a new home or the renovation of an old home so that it may be completely modernized and to all intents and purposes a new house.

Under the Dominion Housing Act a "research house" is being constructed in Montreal which will be open from May first onward.

Design and material specifications for this house have been examined by the Director of Housing. The scheme is carried out in co-operation with the National Employment Commission.

The principle in this home is the staggered principle, with four half floors, connected by four sets of stairs comprised of eight steps each.

In Montreal there is a demand for even eight-roomed houses. There is little demand for the minimum house.

In this research house sections will be left exposed so as to show how the house is built. This will also enable students of architecture to study in the "research house."

Were some such house in every centre, there is no doubt that it would possess an interest for every home lover, for the thought of a home built to suit one's self is still most interesting.

THE ORIENTAL WAY

A pleasing end even to the strain of a great crisis is the Chinese way of ending difficulty. Young Marshal Chang, kidnapper of the great Chiang Kai-Shek, was brought captive to Nanking when the dictator was freed and Chang demanded death for what he had done. Chiang said "No," he himself was largely to blame because he did not go about with his usual bodyguard. And yet a few days ago the west was looking for an Oriental way which might embrace the world!

Such an interlude with a sense of humor, conscious or not, would be welcomed in the western world where the Hitlers, Stalins and the Mussolinis are desperately in earnest. If they had time for the little courtesies it would relieve the world's nerves a bit.

The fear is often held up before the western world that some day China will threaten the world. If the Chinese can show such a unique attitude towards a serious situation, what cannot they do if they go about it. It looks as if China is not the easy bone for another power to pick that it looked to be some time ago. Chiang Kai-Shek appears to be one of the greatest of men on the political map of the world. If he is spared, China may become something of a great force even in his generation. With his unusual gifts as statesman, he possesses the art of innate courtesy and philosophy of the Oriental.

SIDELIGHTS ON THE HOME FORUM

Discussing the events of the day, home gossip and general items topical as revealed by the home newspaper—under the evening lamp—and sometimes Grave and Gay. -- Supervised by The Lamplighter

A SEASONAL SOLILOQUY

To give or not to give — that is the question:
Whether 'tis nobler in the mind to settle
With clamorous creditors who long have dunned me,
Or turn a deaf ear still unto their pleading
And spend my all for presents? To creep—to sneak
With bated breath beneath the friendly desk
When comes the harsh collector's knock-ing,
And bribe the boy to say I'm out of town,
Or disappoint expectant relatives
By discarding all the old traditions
Which make calamity of Christmas time
To men of scanty means? But there's the snub,
The freezing glance, the epithet of miser,
The sickening dread of something worse to come,
Whene'er I circulate among my kin,
Which makes me rather choose familiar ills
Than fly to others that I know not of.
Yes, the ancient debts must stand.

Pittsburg Chronicle, 1886

* * *

IT IS BUT NATURAL THAT LABOR LEADERS SHOULD TAKE A DEEP INTEREST in municipal administration, and the following from the pen of W. G. Lee, former National President of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, should interest railwaymen of Belleville as well as all classes of citizens. Says Mr. Lee:

"I have personally investigated how the city manager plan has worked out in Dayton. I have asked railroad men about it. I don't see how any working man can oppose the plan after investigating it. I see nothing undemocratic in having the city manager selected by the commissioners. A city manager doesn't rule anybody. He doesn't pass any laws. He doesn't determine any public policies. I'M FOR THE CITY MANAGER PLAN BECAUSE IT MAKES POSSIBLE THE ELIMINATION OF POLITICS FROM PUBLIC BUSINESS AND THAT MEANS BETTER GOVERNMENT AND LOWER TAXES."

* * *

THE MOST SMELLY RED HERRING BEING DRAWN ACROSS THE TRAIL to obscure the merits of city manager civic government is the one which admits that the system is good for other places but is not needed here.

* * *

NO CORPORATION, PRIVATE OR PUBLIC, IS ORGANIZED WITH THE IDEA OF PROFIT the sole object. Service comes first, for without services there can be no profit, said Dr. Horace Brittain, municipal expert, addressing Belleville Rotary Club.

* * *

AN INTELLIGENT CITIZENRY, taking a deep interest in municipal administration, and electing a Mayor and small council from the very best material available, for staggered terms of two and three years, as a board of management to appoint and supervise a business manager for the city and see that he delivers the goods as capable of producing the most democratic and efficient civic administration possible—Dr. Horace Brittain.

* * *

PEOPLE WHO TALK OF RUSHING INTO CITY MANAGERSHIP in the face of a rising tax rate would hesitate to grab a life preserver on a sinking ship - - - perhaps.

* * *

READERS OF THIS NEWSPAPER WILL HAVE AN OPPORTUNITY during the next few days of becoming acquainted with the workings of the city manager plan of civic administration. The City Council appointed a committee some months ago to look into the merits of the system with a view to promoting efficiency in local government. The committee looked into the matter and are sold one hundred per cent on the idea. The question is submitted to the electors for their mandate along with several other progressive measures which the council think should have the earnest consideration of the electors. Such is democratic government.

Andrew M. Kennedy

SOLICITS YOUR VOTE AND INFLUENCE FOR THE OFFICE OF ALDERMAN

LOOKING BACKWARD

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

December 29th, 1916

In only two of the nine northern townships of Hastings County namely Carlow and Faraday, will elections be held this year.

Mr. James A. Hayes of Toronto is visiting friends in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cross of Wallaceburg, Ont., are spending holidays with Mr. Cross' sisters, Mrs. Edgar Shorey, Everett St., and Mrs. William Stonebridge, Point Anne.

Miss Daisy Dean of New York City is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Bogart, Bridge Street East.

Mr. and Mrs. George Moxam and family have returned to their home at Montreal after spending Christmas with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Moxam, Sr., Commercial Street, and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Moxam have returned to their home at Syracuse, New York.

Lieut. Gerald M. Ponton and Sergt. Major Henry Hutton Fenton spent Christmas with Col. Ponton at Sidney Cottage, Trent Road.

30 YEARS AGO

December 29th, 1906

Dr. Perry G. Goldsmith and Mrs. Goldsmith of Toronto are spending a few days in the city.

Miss Worrell of Toronto is spending the Christmas holidays with her parents here.

Mr. F. C. Bird, formerly of Stirling, now of Vancouver, B. C. was in the city today.

Mr. Oscar W. Leslie of New York City is visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. N. Lesler, Commercial Street.

Dr. and Mrs. W. H. T. Peake of Winnipeg, are visiting Mrs. Peake's parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. Lesler, Commercial Street.

Dr. McCullough of this city attended a dinner given at Toronto last evening by the graduates in arts at Toronto University.

At a meeting of Quinte Encampment No. 19, I. O. O. F. the following officers were elected: Chief Patriarch, O. S. Hicks; High Priest, H. A. Phillips; Sen. Warden, C. Boyle; Scribe A. Middleton; Fin. Scribe, R. H. Ketcheson; Treasurer, G. N. Brown; Jun. Warden, R. Duffin; Hall Trustee, P. M. Clarke.

40 YEARS AGO

December 29th, 1896

For some time it has been known that Mr. W. D. Robb, who has been locomotive foreman at the C. T. R. shops here for about fifteen years, was to be transferred to another position. He has now been notified that he has been appointed Master Mechanic for the G. T. R. west of Toronto. His many friends in this city will be pleased to learn that Mr. Robb has been promoted to this responsible position and the Intelligencer joins them in wishing him every success in his new field of labor. Mr. Robb's successor here is Mr. W. E. Ball of Toronto, and he arrived today to assume his new duties.

Mr. J. W. Reid left today for Hamilton where he intends to reside.

Mr. John Wiskett is home from Toronto on a visit to his parents.

Mr. James Maitland of Bannockburn was in the city today.

Mr. R. J. Thompson of Queensboro was a visitor in town today.

50 YEARS AGO

December 29th, 1886

In the Provincial elections yesterday, the Hon. Oliver Mowat and the Liberal Party were returned to power over the Conservative Party led by Mr. W. R. Meredith. In West Hastings Mr. G. W. Ostrom, Conservative, defeated Mr. C. G. Ellis, Liberal; in North Hastings, Mr. A. F. Wood, Conservative, defeated Dr. O. W. Faulkner, Liberal Reeve of Stirling; in East Hastings, Mr. W. F. Hudson, Conservative, defeated Mr. Harford Ashley Liberal. The majorities are not yet known.

There was no interest manifested in the nominations for school trustees anywhere and all candidates were returned by acclamation as follows: Public School:- Foster Ward, John Macfarlane; Sanderson Ward, S. A. Moore; Ketcheson Ward, William Johnson. This is the seventh time Mr. Johnson has been returned by acclamation. Bleecker Ward, William Tennant; Bleecker Ward, A. McGinnis; Coleman Ward, S. T. Harris; Murney Ward, Irvine Diamond. Separate School:- Foster Ward, P. Meagher; Samson Ward, R. Trudach; Ketcheson Ward, Frank Dolan; Baldwin Ward Dr. Murphy (new); Bleecker Ward, John Cavanagh (new); Coleman Ward, James St. Charles (new); Murney Ward, Thomas Hanley. A vote of thanks was tendered to the retiring members, Messrs. S. O'Toole, S. Wade and Joseph

BEAUTY AND HER BEASTS — FOR AMERICAN FILMS

Pictured with her dogs as she arrived in New York is Baroness Cedric Rolenburg, of Vienna, who soon will be seen on the American stage. She plays in American films under her stage name, Lili Dede. Her baroness' husband was killed in the recent crash of a Dutch airliner near Croydon, England.

LOBLAWS

OFFER A FINE SELECTION OF

STORE HOLIDAY HOURS

STORE CLOSED ALL DAY FRIDAY, JANUARY 1st. Open Saturday at 8 a.m. Until 11 p.m.

TURKEYS

FOR YOUR NEW YEAR'S DINNER

Gov't. Grade "A"

Finest Selection and Desired Weights at Very Reasonable Prices

CHOICE ROASTING

CHICKENS

At Very Reasonable Prices

"QUALITY-FIRST"

PRIME BEEF Roasts

Special—MEATY BLADE Roasts lb. 12c

Special—THICK SHORT RIB Roasts lb. 13c

Special—Boneless and Rolled PRIME RIB Roasts lb. 19c

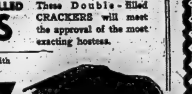
These Meat Specials are on Sale Dec. 30, 31, and Jan. 2.

Fruits & Vegetables

Special—Curiosds of the finest California Seedless Navel ORANGES Real Good Size Doz. 29c

We also have a fine selection of other sizes attractively priced.

TEXAS SEEDLESS—Real Good Size GRAPEFRUIT 3 for 14c



Fruits and Vegetables on Sale Dec. 30, 31 and Jan. 2.

FOR THE PARTY

A BOX of LOBLAWS DOUBLE-FILLED CRACKERS

These Double-Filled CRACKERS will meet the approval of the most exacting hostess.

We can still supply the New Year's party with LOBLAWS FAMOUS Christmas CAKE lb. 37c

At Loblaws popular low price

ANNUAL STOCK-BALANCING SALE

WATCH FOR THE YELLOW TICKETS! They denote Special Values "Specials" May Not be Alike in all stores this week.

This week, in addition to the "Specials" listed, we are offering many lines not advertised at greatly reduced prices. Each year, on account of the holiday rush, our shelves become overstocked with some seasonable lines. Our merchandising policy demands that all goods must be disposed of on a quick turnover basis, this ensures our shelves always being stocked with only the freshest of foods.

Special—OLD ENGLISH—PASTE Floor Wax ½-lb. Tin 26c 1-lb. Tin 51c

Special—Sterilised NAVY TOILET TISSUE Roll 6c

Special—INGERSOLL MALTED, RIDEAU PLAIN or PIMENTO CHEESE ½-lb. pkg. 14c

Special—AUSTRALIAN SLICED or HALVES PEACHES 16-oz. Tin 13c

Special—FLORIDA GOLD Grapefruit Juice 2 No. 2 Tall Tins 29c

Special—BROWN LABEL SALADA TEA Black or Mixed ½-lb. Pkg. 31c

These Grocery Specials on Sale Dec. 29 to Jan. 6.

LOBLAW GROCETERIAS CO. LIMITED

WALKER STORES, LIMITED

Great News for the Thrifty

A Great Clearance Sale of Women's Winter Coats

Any Coat in Stock

$12.00

REGULAR VALUES 19.75, 25.00, 29.50

SEE WINDOW SHOWING

WALKER STORES LIMITED

Eldorado and District

CHRISTMAS CONCERTS

Eldorado, Dec. 23—The Union United Church Sunday School held their annual Christmas tree entertainment on Friday evening, Dec. 18th, a splendid programme was given by the children of Hickey's School under the leadership of Miss M. Mutton.

The school rooms of Beat's S. S. No 14 were crowded to capacity evening with parents and friends of the children, who put on a splendid evening's entertainment under the leadership of their teacher Mr. Walter Mann. The school room was beautifully decorated for the occasion. Rev. W. J. Fletcher acted as chairman and opened the programme with a Christmas story about "St. Christopher."

The programme was as follows: Chorus: "Silent Night," by the School.

Recitation: "A Welcome," by Don Campbell.

Dialogue; "A Story Hour," by Norma Boyle and Helen Tate.

Recitation: "A Greeting," by Bill O'Brien.

Recitation: "After Christmas," by Ralph Whyte.

Dialogue: "The New System," by Irene Whyte, Joyce Sanford, Bessie McCready.

Recitation: "How They Say It," by Ellen Sandford.

Duet: "Santa Claus Express," by Harry and Irene Whyte.

Recitation: "Christmas Night," by Shirley Andrew.

Dialogue: "Wanted Two Handy Men," by Fred Wright, Ken Campbell, Ellen Sandford, Raymond Goodchild.

Monologue: "Christmas Giving," by Doris Andrew.

Recitation: "A Merry Christmas" by Glenn Davis.

Chorus: "St. Nicholas Era," by the School.

Recitation: "Why I Am Here," by Evelyn Shaw.

Dialogue: "A changeable Dress," by Verna McCann, Karla Carman, Don Campbell, Bill O'Brien, Marion O'Brien, Irene Whyte and Don Andrew.

Recitation: "Why" by Don Chalmers.

Recitation: "The Bells I Want," by Marion Sandford.

Recitation: "The Polar Bear at the Zoo," by Helen Tate.

Dialogue: "Grandmother Will Decide," by Doris Andrew, Clayton McMinn, Harry Whyte, Irene Whyte.

Solo: "Toy Maker's Dream," by Helen Tate.

Monologue: "Peter Says a Prayer," by Ken Campbell.

Recitation: "The True Christmas Spirit," by Raymond Goodchild.

Recitation: "Where," by Keith Whyte.

Recitation: "The Little Figure," by Bill O'Brien.

Duet: "Santa Claus," by Doris Andrew and Irene Whyte.

Pantomime: "The Tale the Fire Told," by Verna McCann, Ellen Sandford, Karla Carman, Marion Sandford, Evelyn Shaw, Harry Whyte, Clayton McCann, Raymond Goodchild, Bessie McCann, Doris Andrew and Irene Whyte.

Chorus: "Jolly Santa Claus" by the School.

At the conclusion of the program Santa Claus appeared and presented the girls from a well filled tree to the children.

On Tuesday evening, Dec. 22nd, the Eldorado United Sunday school held their annual Christmas entertainment in the Orange Hall, Eldorado.

The main feature of the program being a play "Closed Lips" in three acts, which was presented by the young people of Queensboro S.S. No. 8, A.; it was a decided success and was enjoyed by all. Rev. W. G. Fletcher acted as chairman.

The casts of the play was as follows:

Mrs. Radcliffe: Mrs. Allen Dimmock.

Terry Radcliffe: Miss Mildred Gallagher.

Mammy Jenny: Mrs. Harry Dimmick.

Patricia Stone: (Pat) Miss V. Bonter.

Wille Stone: Charles West.

Jeff: Tom Lynn.

Star Shirley: Peggy Groves.

Bart Clay: Albert Sager.

Lieutenant Bertram Sager.

John Clay: Allen Diamond.

Between the acts of the play selections were given by the children of the Sunday School, also two dance duets were given by Misses June and Phyllis Stroke.

At the close Santa arrived to unload the Christmas tree and distribute the gifts. A dainty lunch was served by the Queensboro young people.

On Wednesday evening Cooper United Church held their annual Sunday School entertainment. A large crowd was in attendance. The hall was decorated in keeping with the occasion and presented a very cheerful appearance. The big tree was also prettily decorated and surrounding it were mysterious parcels of all shapes.

Rev. W. G. Fletcher acted as chairman. The programme consisted of choruses, solos, dialogues, and recitations. The main feature being a three act play "No Room in the Inn," which was well presented by the young people and was in keeping with the Christmas season.

Mr. Russel Whyte accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Andrew motored to Camden East on Wednesday. Mr. Wm. Hannah returned home with them, and intends spending the winter here with his daughter Mrs. Wm. Andrews.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Nelson had two little daughters of Durban, Man., are spending the Christmas holidays with their parents Mr. and Mrs. Albert Harvey, also Miss F. Harvey of Nickely Hospital, Peterborough is holidaying at her home here.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Lough are spending Christmas with their daughter, Mrs. Herb Fox of Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Bronson and Mr. Harold Holmes are spending Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. C. Holmes at Bellville.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Strobe and family spent Christmas day at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Bronson of Springbrook.

Mr. Wm. Holmes and Miss Annie Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Holmes Mr. and Mrs. John Holmes and Clifford Holmes of Stirling were entertained on Christmas day at the home of Mrs. J. Fitzgerald.

Doctor and Mrs. F. J. Nickle and family spent Christmas at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nickle of Madoc.

Miss Ruth Andrew is spending the holiday at her home here.

Rev. W. G. Fletcher is spending the holiday with his parents at Odessa.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pigden and family spent Christmas at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Pigden.

Among those who spent Christmas under the parental roof of Mr. and Mrs. John Chambers were Mr. and Mrs. R. Carman, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hansen, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Chambers and Ralph, Mr. K. Chambers and Miss Evelyn Chambers.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Gordon and family of Marmora spent Christmas at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Wannamaker, Eldorado.

Miss Annie Holmes who has been leader of the "Band of Hope," mission band for a number of years, was quite taken by surprise on Monday evening when she found herself the cover of a lovely tea set, a gift from the members of the mission band with the following address:

Eldorado, Ont., Dec. 22, 1936.

Dear Miss Holmes:

At this happy festive season of the year, when every one is gay and filled with Christmas greetings, we, your members of the Eldorado Mission Band would like in some way to express our thanks to one, who for six years has been faithful to your duties and also Christian example. As our dear leader we will miss you very much, and we trust you will find time to attend our sessions often this coming year. We would ask you on behalf of Eldorado Mission Band to accept this tea set and when you use it, think of it being your memories of the good times we with spent together.

Signed on behalf of the Mission Band: Gloria McGee, president; Doris Andrew, Shirley Farmer, Irene Whyte, Ann Mickle and Enrie Andrew.

Friends and relatives of this district were very sorry to hear of the passing of Mrs. Alex. Finlayson of Bannockburn, who passed away in Belleville General Hospital on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Chambers and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cromerford and Claude, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Blakley and Albert spent Christmas day with Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Blakley.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Chambers, Elmer and Harold and Mr. and Mrs. Harry McCoy and Don Sheridan spent Christmas in Deseronto at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert McKenzie.

Mr. and Mrs. John Chambers and Evelyn took dinner on Christmas day with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hansen.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Carman spent dinner hour on Christmas day at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. Carman.

Misses Muriel and Helen Mutton are spending the holiday under the parental roof at Brighton.

Mr. Walter Mann and Miss Meryex, local teachers are spending the vacation at their respective homes in Trenton.

Mr. Jos. Carman is spending the holiday season in Port Hope.

Mr. Earl Armstrong of Madoc, spent Christmas day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. K. Arkell, Eldorado.

Miss Anna Belle of Bannockburn is enjoying the vacation at her home in Port Hope.

Miss Mildred Gurley of Moore's School, Queensboro, is holidaying with her parents Mr. and Mrs. J. Gawley.

Mr. and Mrs. Blake McCoy and family of Colborne spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Bert McCoy.

Miss Jean McCoy is holidaying with Mr. and Mrs. Raymond McConnell of Stirling.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert McCoy are spending Christmas with the former's mother, Mrs. S. McCoy in Madoc.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Chambers and Ralph spent Thursday and Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. Fox.

Mr. Arthur McCreary is slowly improving from his recent operation in Belleville General Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Wells of Marmora township spent Christmas at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Robinson.

Mr. Harold Chambers spent Christmas at the home of his sister, Mr. Frank Chambers of Corbyville.

Messrs. Donald and Albert Wannamaker are holidaying with friends near Bellevile.

HONOR ROLL

FOXBORO SCHOOL REPORT

Section No. 5, Sidney

Sr. IV—Doris Dafoe 84½; Bobbie Bond 83; Eugene Kelly 75; Marion Dafoe 74; Joyce Hollinger 71; Ralph Jamieson 71.

Jr. IV—Kenneth McCaughen 82; Billy Read 81; Ralph Bell 79; Joan Ketcheson 78; Jack Spencer 77; Betty Kelly 75; Roy Jamieson 71; Beatrice Priest 70; Jack Bond 69; Glen Bamber 68; Joyce Bell 64; Ruth Lambert 64.

Sr. III—Hazel Dafoe 78; Billy Covell 76; Hilda Knight 72; Elgin Vanwart 71; Marie McCollough 69.

Jr. III—Gloria Pringle 82; Arthur Reid 82; Glen Priest 80; Madeline Kelly 75; Carl Spencer 72; Rita McDonell 70; Ruby Hollinger 68; Carnodd Peacock 66; Rhea McCullough 67; Beatrice Day 67; Betty Hodgens 67; Kenneth Baker 67; Horace Moorman 59.

Evelyn L. McInroy, teacher.

Junior Room

Class II—Ruth Longwell 84½; Dorothy Read 81; Doris Bond 79; Jimmie Tanner 72; Beatrice Baker 69.

Class I Sr.—Phyllis Dafoe 93; Vincent McDonell 91; Bernice McCaughen 76; Earle Grey 71; Billie Kelly 73.

Class I Jr.—Jack Bond 76; Percy Priest 74; Billie Walt 73; Leroy McDonell 68; Bobbie Ketcheson 67.

Primer A—Jack Stewart, Phyllis Bartlett, Earle Latchford, Andy Marie McCullough, Keitha Threadgen.

Primer B—Stella Gay, Loretta McDonell, Howard Ketcheson, Bruce Chaabo, Roy Tanner, Douglas Dalins, Wilson Forsythe.

Wanda Gay, teacher.

ELDORADO

Eldorado—Madoc Township Council met on Tuesday, December 15th, all members were present. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

A summary of expenditures under By-law No. 24 was read.

Miller-Carnell—That this statement be accepted.—Carried.

Moorcroft-Miller—That the following be paid: Walter Whytock, $11.66 (statute labor); Chris. Parks, $1.37; per William Herrington $10.85; per Robert Herrington, $3.54; George West, $16.20 (charity), per Mrs. James Pine; R. McCoy, $100.94, (charity), per James Pine, $97.94; per J. Johnson $3.00.—Carried.

Sager-Moorcroft—That the following be paid: C. Comerford, balance of salary, $13.00; Wm. J. Holmes, sewer inspector $34.75; George A. Ketcheson, sheep valuer, $30.00.—Carried.

Nickle-Miller—That the following be paid—W. H. McBain, $48.00; share of court costs, Toronto Hospital for Incurables $91.50, per Wm. Hunter, Joseph Wilson $1.00 for school fair judges; T. H. Rupert account $2.65; Municipal World account $1.62; George Hill, sheep killed by dogs $5.00; Wm. Empey, sheep killed by dogs $3.00; Ed. Brown; gravel, $3.80; Frank Taylor gravel $4.00; Wm. Miller, $1.40; Robert Miller, gravel $3.00; James Caskey, cedar $5.00; Woodfred Blakey, material and labor for culverts $14.00; Fred Fitzgerald, 200 feet lumber $1.00; G. G. Reid & Son, cement, wire and nails $15.38; Arthur Bird, hauling gravel $6.00; Frank Dafoe account $4.30; Charles Pigden, statute labor paid in taxes, $4.90; Orphan Asylum, gravel $3.10; Charles Martin, Work on culvert, $3.50; Clayton Blackburn, culvert, material and labor $6.40, Frank Dafoe 32 feet culvert $32.28.—Carried.

Gawley-Sager—That the following be paid—Joseph Rollins for statute labor paid in taxes, $4.00; Archie Long statute labor paid in taxes, $4.00; E. Rollins, jr. dog tax refund $1.00.—Carried.

Miller-Sager—That the following be paid: David Blakley $110.00 (on sale of gravel pit); Mrs. Ethel Earl Burnside $340.70 (balance of salary $220.00, postage $15.00, stationery and supplies $5.70); Dr. F. J. Nickle, salary, $200.00; Fred Campbell $40.50, Galance of salary $45.00, caretaking $8.00, wood $3.50).—Carried.

Moorcroft-Gawley—That the following be paid—James A. Nickle, salary and expenses as patient representing phone calls $7.00 (charity); Dr. F. W. Nickle, fees for indigent patients, $200.50, (charity); Ed. Carnation, per James Pine, $23.00 (Charity).—Carried.

Miller-Sager—That council go into committee of the whole to consider by-laws with Reeve in chair.—Carried.

A by-law setting a penalty and rate of interest on overdue taxes was introduced and finally passed.

A by-law appointing a school attendance officer was introduced and finally passed. P. A. Comerford was appointed.

A by-law appointing a member of the Board of Health was introduced and finally passed. Councillor A. Harris was appointed.

A by-law defining pleasure places and appointing Deputy Returning officers, for holding municipal elections was introduced and finally passed.

Polling places and Deputy Returning officers are as follows—No. 1 Town Hall, Eldorado, D.R.O.: No. 2 Cooper United Church, D.R.O.: No. 3 Queensboro S. S. No. 2 McCoy's School, Joseph Hayton, D.R.O.: No. 4 Town Hall, Albert Sager, D.R.O.: No. 5 Mrs. O'Hara's School, Ford Tumelty, D.R.O.

Council resumed.

The minutes of the meeting were read and on motion of Sager and Gawley, approved.

Council adjourned sine die.

Earl Burnside, Township Clerk.

QUEENSBORO

Queensboro—On Monday, December 14th, Queensboro Sunday School Christmas Concert was given by the pupils of Miss V. Bonter in the Orange Hall. There was a large attendance and the following programme presided over by Mr. Ernest Walker acting as chairman:

Opening Chorus.

Chorus—Christmas Echoes.

Recitation—Bernice Sager.

Recitation—Miss Clara's Victory, Recitation—Jimmie Gordon.

Recitation—Albert Sager.

Recitation—Joyce Groves.

Recitation—Carl Gordon.

Chorus—Over the Christmas Express.

Recitation—Mary McComber.

Recitation—Marion Cromerford.

Recitation—Dorothy Leslie.

Drill—Bride of Nations—Maid Dola.

Recitation—Frances Alexander.

Recitation—Willie Franklin.

Recitation—Ruth Longwell.

Dialogue—The Five Fifteen."

Recitation—Lorraine Gordon.

Pantomime—"Comrades of the World.'

Recitation—Helen Alexander.

Song—Misses Annie Lalonde, Constance Gordon and Alexander.

Recitation—Georgina Delyea.

Play—Misses Vera Bonter and Marion Love.

God Save the King.

The musical numbers also rendered two solos. After the close of the concert the evening was spent in dancing.

SHANNONVILLE

Shannonville—The schools are closed and the children are enjoying their freedom by skating, coasting and other sports.

The United Church, S. S. held their Christmas tree on Tuesday evening in the hall. The proceeds amounted to $21.

Miss Phyllis Mills spent a couple of days with friends in Deseronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mark and Miss Maggie Bernard and Mr. and Mrs. McFarlane and Miss Mary and Wilbert of Deseronto, spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Christmas Day with Mrs. Thos. Toppings.

Mr. Charles Baker of St. Catharines and Miss Edna Burtt of Belleville spent the Christmas holidays at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Burtt.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Vivian and family and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Vivian and Tommy were among those to spend Christmas with Mr. Tom Vivian and Mrs. C. Kroil, 2nd line.

Mr. Wm. Barber has returned home to Toronto after spending the holiday here with his mother, Mrs. Minnie Barber.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Richards and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Young and little son, of Oshawa, are spending a few days here, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Moore.

Mr. and Mrs. Alda Dies of Montreal and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Terryberry, of Vancouver, are spending Christmas holidays here, guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Dies.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Mills are spending a few days with friends in Belleville.

Mrs. Basil McFarlane was called to Toronto suddenly owing to the death of her cousin, Mrs. Mills.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Costello, 2nd line, spent the tea hour on Christmas night at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herb Houston.

Friends regret to learn that Master Billy Clark had the misfortune to fall on the ice on Saturday breaking a bone in his wrist.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Purtz and family spent Christmas Day guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herb Houston.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Herman and daughter Marion of Tweed, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Murray, of Frankford spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Herman.

Mr. Russell McFarlane is holidaying with friends in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. James Toppings and family spent Christmas in Belleville guests of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Wright.

CARMEL

Carmel—The Christmas tree with concert was held in this church on Tuesday evening, December 22 was well attended. The splendid program well rendered by the Junior and Senior classes. The superintendent Mr. W. J. Peterson acted as chairman for the evening. Two beautiful loaded Christmas trees were relieved of their burdens at the end of the programme, when all the good toys and candies were received their gifts from Santa. The program concluded with a prayer a close by all singing the National Anthem.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Sullivan and family, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace and family spent Christmas Day with Frank Hodgins and family spent Christmas at Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Sills.

Christmas guests at Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Simmons were Mr. and Mrs. Irs Simmons of Foxboro, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Simmons and Mr. Byron and Mr. and Mrs.' I. D. Simmons of Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Horton and family spent Christmas with the latter's sister, Mrs. James Hamilton of Plainfield.

Mr. Arnold Scott and Shirley spent Christmas with the former's mother at Ardern.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralfone and Bernice of Belleville, spent Christmas under the parental roof.

Mr. George Moffet of Hamilton spent the week-end, arriving on Saturday. George found the roads a little icy for a motorcycle.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Scott spent Christmas at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. Bedford.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Sullivan and Clayton, spent Christmas at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Earl Pearsall, Prince Edward County.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Reynolds, spent Christmas with his brother, Mr. Frank Reynolds and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Carney and Clare of Moneymore, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Davis and family of Thomasburg, spent Christmas at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Sullivan.

Mr. Geo. Moffat of Hamilton, visited on Sunday and Monday last with friends and relatives on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Reynolds and family were Christmas guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hanna, Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Simmons were guests for Christmas at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Howes.

Miss Marcella Stapley of Madoc Jct., is visiting her cousin, Miss Bernice Sullivan during Christmas holidays.

Mrs. Herb. Howes is confined to her bed with a severe attack of neuritis.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Brintnell spent Christmas at Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stapley's near Madoc Jct.

Mr. Arnold Scott received word his mother at Arden is very ill.

Many of the Christmas visitors found it very difficult motoring in their respective localities owing to the roads.

It kept Mr. Simpson busy with his snow plough on the roads.

LATTA

LATTA—Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Horton and family, Miss Annie Hamilton and Mr. Stanley Hamilton spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hamilton.

Mr. and Mrs. Denyes and family spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Denyes.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hall entertained the latter's brother, Mr. Lawson and Miss Jacklin on Mrs.

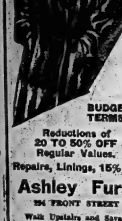
NELLIE SMITH

DRESS UP for NEW YEAR'S

You can afford a brand new frock at the prices the Nellie Smith Gown Shop is quoting right now on its smartest daytime, cocktail, dinner and dance frocks. What better way to spend that Christmas cheque than on a charming new frock . . . with all the chic of the Nellie Smith styling and the quality that goes with the Nellie Smith name. Brilliant "high" shades, black and blue for daytime . . . white, pastels and jewel tones for evening. . . All sizes in the collection.

DRESSES—SPECIALLY PRICED $15.00 to $49.50

Nellie Smith,



Kresge Bldg. (Upstairs) Belleville

CORONATION AND ABDICATI ON BOTH ARE PROFITABLE

Contrary to fears of manufacturers that abdication of former King Edward VIII would render valueless huge stores of statuettes made in readiness for the coronation, the demand has increased since the former monarch quit the throne, to a point where new supplies are being rushed to fill demands of souvenir hunters. Professor Sisidore Wolfe Weiss is working on a coronation bust of King George in the uniform of a British admiral.

ASHLEY'S JANUARY SALE of FINE FURS

BUDGET TERMS

Reductions of 20 TO 50% OFF Regular Values.

Repairs, Linings, 15% off

Ashley Furs

194 FRONT STREET

Walk Upstairs and Save.

Flowering Bulbs

Just Arrived from Holland

GLOXINIA and BEGONIAS

In Many Colors and Varieties.

Plant Now for Early Bloom

BISHOP'S SEED STORE

272 Front St. Phone 352

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

"ATMENTS" MAGNETIC KIDNEY BELT

WORKS WHILE YOU SLEEP. THE FASTER

Lewis Stone, Jimmie Gleason an d Bruce Cabot in the human drama of Tom Tom 'Em Loose' with 2nd feature "Down the Stretch", at the Capitol Wednesday and Thursday.

Attend Older Boys' Parliament

With enough legislation to keep the Federal House busy for many days delegates to the sixteenth Older Boys' Parliament arrived in Toronto on Saturday for their opening sessions. Some of the principals are seen above. At top, Provincial Secretary Dwight Kellerman, right, greets Premier Mitchell Hepburn. Below, Prime Minister Kennedy, left, and Leader of the Opposition Ross, right, are interrupted in a pre-session huddle by the cameraman. Lower right shows Mr. Oray Rivers of Bolton, who was elected Speaker of the House.

"KING of HEARTS"

By Edna Robb Webster

That week before her departure was a busy one. Lunch-hour shopping, evening alternations with Mrs. Tilney's assistance and last-minute packing. A few new clothes were imperative. Nothing she possessed was adequate for formal dining and was adapting for the cruise, and the cafeteria was a contest of hurried palaces demanding quick service.

CHAPTER VII

All day the scenery changed continually, with each hour promising different weather. Sudden showers in early flowers burst into prominence against the red clay roads and hillsides. Dark green of lofty pines dotted the mountain slopes with silvery contrast. Tall corn bowed from cabin doorways with stolid indifference at the train's passing. It was no longer a curiosity but somehow had blundered into and surrounded their attention.

The city stations grew more strange, their occupants more foreign, their scenery less familiar. Everything seemed to mellow and relax in the warmth of the sunshine. Lynn was absorbed with every new detail. Cotton bales piled beside the boxes of coal beside railroad tracks. Late in the day the thread yellow carpeting of the Mississippi River flowed beside them. Its sluggish surface of brownish-red seemed to accumulate, like the face of a poker player.

Blackbird chanting melody and strumming banjos floated into the open windows from cabins along the shore. In one place a large company of negroes was assembled for a funeral. Their solemn funeral services and their high-pitched shouting and singing carried on the soft breeze with the repeated phrases of a spiritual. Green leaves against the blue sky and white sand incredibly thin.

Lynn prepared for sleep that night, knowing that the morning would find her at the Mississippi Delta. Would she be there? Would the week change her entire future, her fortune, perhaps her whole life? Or would it be only a delightful interlude, before she returned to the monotony of Mrs. Kline's to spend the rest of her days in quiet obscurity? Or, if she married Mrs. mother's old home and her mother's youthful surroundings, a life of ease and luxury. Excitement mounted within her like the unbearable staring of a child confronted by superhuman forces.

At last she had arrived and the train was still. An extra hour on the train was climaxed by the delightful and smothering greeting of relatives.

"I'll just give me your baggage check. I'll have Sam claim your trunks," Zola suggested. "We'll wait in the car."

Lynn produced her one check, wondering what she would be expected to have packed in more than one trunk for a week's visit, and followed the chauffeur sedately toward the baggage room. His languor suggested a considerable wait, but the man was quickly enough with Dot's smallest check. Then he turned and delightfully:

"The carnival would have been a complete failure without you," she declared, adoring Lynn with her eyes. "Every designer since I saw you last year, I've been dyin' to have you here, and this was the most perfect time for it. You bet you couldn't have come for two whole days. Tonight is the parade, last Thursday, but today and tomorrow are the big important days. Tonight is the pageant of Proteus and then the ball. Tomorrow's the big day with the parade of Rex and the grand ball in the evenin'."

"I'll tell the queen be crownedd" asked Lynn, absorbing her cousin's enthusiasm together with the balmy brilliance of the sunshine. Both were delightfully exhilarating. It did not seem possible that she had left Chicago thirty hours before. It was long distance, while people here had not known what it was like to be anywhere.

"Oh, no, mornin' the papers will announce the names of the queen and her court and you'll have just before we ride in the parade. I'm so glad Jack is to be His Majesty shivered him bronzed. Tall silver candlesticks with blue tapers stood guard on the polished highboy and on the gilded desk beside the rose windows. There were silver stars scattered on the pale blue walls. Deep-piled dark blue carpet covered the floor onto which Lynn walked as if she were moving in a dream. At last, she was here, in her mother's room, with which she had been so familiar before she ever saw it. No detail had been changed.

Chapter VIII.

"We're goin' back to town for lunch, soon," Dodi informed her. "I'll give you time to freshen up a bit if you wish. You look perfectly grand as you are, but the stuffy old train always makes one feel so dishable. If there is anything at all that you want, let us know, won't you? I'm so glad you're here," she added with happy sincerity.

"And I'm so glad to be here!" Lynn echoed, still gazing about the spacious room, as if she were trying to adjust herself to its climate and familiarity. "How very beautiful it is!"

"Not half so beautiful as you—sis'" Dodi admired. "Gosh, but I'm more beautiful girl in this city, and her competitions even. I can't imagine that tricky little eyelash of yours, honey. How do you do it?"

"I don't. It just is and always has been. When I was a little girl, I used to ask my mother if I was beginning to turn gray, I thought it was distinguished to have that touch of age," she laughed.

"I'm jeneh as it can be, and so are you. Walk into the crowd and you, darlin', they'll fall on you like a ton of bricks," Dodi complimented. "I'm the gal big for a new girl."

"You frightened me," Lynn declared.

"Oh, they're quite harmless," Dodi rushed her eyes with disinterest. "Don't shock your cousin, child." Zola admonished her and took Lynn's hand fondly. "I'm so very happy that you came, dear. We have missed you so much."

Lynn thought of her mother as she looked at her cousin. Surely there so confidently in that beautiful room. What a contrast to the waiter's faded beauty and prosaic, silly lined face was Zola's well-preserved, expensive and sophisticated She appeared so little older than her daughter that Lynn felt like a child between sisters. The same lustrous hair and shining eyes, the same smooth complexion and flawless pearl. She yearned for her mother's presence and tenderness and wondered if her love had been worth that terrible price. It was hard to believe that she was not so sure she wished to discover it.

Dodi rambled on blithely, oblivious of the thoughts which crowded into her quiet mind. "I'll show you to next, with the bath between so our mothers shared it. Come in the room at all, and don't hesitate anything you want. The bell is here," indicating a wall button beside the bed, "and Lulu will do anything in the world for you. She sleeps in the dressing ball and one in my room but I don't suppose you'll be callin' me tonight, eh?" Her cousin shook her head. "Perhaps—after tonight."

Lynn was amused at Dodi's insistence that this visit would involve romance. Everyone she encountered, the same thing. Suanita had been so sure that Lynn would need her help with Jack, and now Dodi was sure. Her complacence scoffed at the idea, as the same time it annoyed and with a little wistful yearning. She thanked her departing cousin for their kindness and turned to her bags which had followed her from the train. Perhaps Jack would change to a fresh house before going downtown.

As she arranged her toilet articles on one of the dressing tables and absorbed the luxurious comfort of her surroundings, she visioned her mother in the same room, years before. She had left this room, to go into a life of poverty, to die in a small city, wistfully, to go into a life of poverty, to die in a small city, struggle with poverty for the man she loved! It seemed incredible. A great love to have been strong enough for that. Such unselfish devotion could be so potent. Would she ever know such a love? Would she ever live a full life? Was it a man who could so change her entire destiny? She thought that there might be like that for her—when to came, dominating and superceding all else.

But that experience must be never far away, now. She was to meet her wealthier student companions, but her host none of the luxurious splendor which permeated this house, none of the atmosphere which breathed in the very air of it. They mounted the thick-carpeted stairs to the wider upper hall from which doors opened on all sides. Zola guided Lynn toward one of these, an affectionate hand upon her arm.

"And this is your room, darling—once your mother's. I thought you'd like that, having Marian's room, being selfish."

Lynn's eyes filled quickly with tears of gratitude and grief, gratitude for her aunt's kind intention, and grief that it was not her mother who had returned to this charming place after so many years of absence. It was such a beautiful room, so chaste and lovely as a young maiden, all blue and silver-white.

Mists of blue-dotted net draped the wide white-sashed windows which framed a vista of yellow jasmine and glossy magnolia foliage. A white cloud of silver and organdy spied the wide Colonial bed and a pair of quaint dressing tables with ruffled skirts of blue taffeta, their mirrors illuminated by lights having the same year I'm the queen. As if her father had not provided that special arrangement for her please. It was a precedent in carnival history, but the Colonel was known for his ability to gratify his dear denis, both social and commercial.

"You'll adore Jack," she added confidently.

"Your fiance?"

"Well—good-naturedly," her soft voice drawled. "But you see we're gone about together ever since he came to the city from Detroit and naturally each other with our rallies, so we have a lot in common before long. Our marriage is as established as the traditions of the city or the Mardi Gras itself. I don't think it will be half as exciting."

Suddenly Lynn became aware of one of the famous old families here, of Zola's position as a debutante and Lynn marveled that life could be so orderly and circumspect for some people while others, she knew from one hour to the next what her future might be. Which was the happier, she wondered.

Finally Sam returned and assured Zola with hardwicked respect.

"Yes, ma'am, Mrs. Merchon, de young lady's trunk will be fetched out 'bout two o'clock."

X

The chaos and luxury and comfort of the great house folded Lynn into its embrace, as Dodi and Zola had done at the station, and made her feel as if at some time she had been a part of it. No doubt, it was the memory of her mother's stories which had described to her so accurately every detail.

The same room-draped live oaks—the little older in Dodi's adolescable age, veiled the stately white house in glamorous mystery. Even the fluted white columns of the front entrance, reaching from the broad terrace to the third story balcony, gleamed in the golden moonlight and coincidented the somber impression of the bearded oaks. The big car hummed softly as it rounded the gravel driveway, swung between the trees and came to a halt before the portico.

As the same moment Sam opened the door of the car, the wide white house door with its gleaming brass knocker, opened. A formal maid in grimly-haired colored servant in black frock and white teeth flashed with a genial smile of welcome to the guests of Mr. Merchon and Miss Merry in her luggage.

They entered a central hall into whose vast expanse the gleaming mahogany stair rail descended like a cascade. Soft warm light, which flowed into the rich tones of Oriental rugs and polished mahogany tables. Twice-during Lynn's year at Mervin-Heath School she had been in magnificent homes and seen her wealthier student companions, but her host none of the luxurious splendor which permeated this house, none of the atmosphere which breathed in the very air of it. They mounted the thick-carpeted stairs to the wider upper hall from which doors opened on all sides. Zola guided Lynn toward one of these, an affectionate hand upon her arm.

"And this is your room, darling—once your mother's. I thought you'd like that, having Marian's room, being selfish."

Lynn's eyes filled quickly with tears of gratitude and grief; gratitude for her aunt's kind intention, and grief that it was not her mother who had returned to this charming place after so many years of absence. It was such a beautiful room, so chaste and lovely as a young maiden, all blue and silver-white.

Mists of blue-dotted net draped the wide white-sashed windows which framed a vista of yellow jasmine and glossy magnolia foliage. A white cloud of silver and organdy spied the wide Colonial bed and a pair of quaint dressing tables with ruffled skirts of blue taffeta, their mirrors illuminated by lights having

Safe Speedy Relief
NEURITIS
Let us prove you can get what comes of your pain. This is convincing! Try it
T-R-C's
Sold on $1 on all druggists

"If you want to fill your heart with joy," visit your Red & white Store, where a wonderful display of enticing foods are ready for your inspection, especially selected for the New Year's festivities

BEE HIVE Syrup 2 lb. Tin 19c

RED and WHITE BRAND Sparkling Ginger Ale BOTTS FOR 15c
An Attractive Beverage Glass and Large Size G. Ale

RED and WHITE BRAND Jelly Powder DEALS 4 pkgs. and Glass Tumbler 25c

THE POPULAR CEREAL KELLOGG'S BRAN FLAKES LARGE Package 10c

LIBBY'S NEW DEEP BROWN OVEN BAKED BEANS 2 tins 23c

RED and WHITE BRAND Tomato or Vegetable Soup 3 tins 25c

RED and WHITE BRAND Orange Pekoe Black Tea 1-2 lb. 29c

EXTRA SPECIAL BULK SOAP CHIPS 2 lbs. 15c

GREETABIN FRESH Cream SANDWICH BISCUITS lb. 15c

GOLD MEDAL BRAND Finest Quality Mincemeat 2 lbs. 25c

LAWLAGON'S For household cleaning 2 — 11c

P & G Soap White Naptha For the laundry 10 bars 35c

Lux Soap The beauty soap for toilet and bath 3 — 19c

WHEEN'S Carbolic Soap Made in England 3 for 14c

Gillett's LYE "Eats dirt" 2 tins 23c

Red and White SALT Free running —in the popular round package 5c

AUNT JEMIMA READY-MIX FOR PANCAKES 17c Pkg.

MAPLESYRUP Gold Colony 16 oz. Jug 27

QUALITY ALWAYS HIGHER THAN PRICE

CHRISTIAN STREET

Christian Street—Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Calnan spent Tuesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Victor Bongard of Crofton.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Noxon entertained a number of their friends on Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Fred and Richard Clarke and Miss Amelia Clarke of Foxboro spent Wednesday with their sister, Mrs. P. W. Roblin and family.

Several ladies attended Dunce's Women's Institute meeting on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Stanley Weston.

Mr. P. W. Bovaird of Crofton, spent several days last week with his son, Mr. Arthur Bovay and family.

Mrs. Annie Taylor of Trenton, spent Monday with her sister, Mrs. Jas. Noxon.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Calnan spent Monday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Werden and family.

Lillie Ronald Stewart was able to return from Prince Edward County Hospital.

Mrs. D. W. Allison has left to spend the winter with her daughter, Mrs. H. N. Petterley of Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Allison of Redneersville, spent Friday with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Gay-ton and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Calnan spent Wednesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Green.

Quite a few from the neighborhood attended the social evening, at Allisonville on Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Roblin and children spent Sunday evening with guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Yeo-mans.

Mr. and Mrs. Burton Hobson entertained Mr. Frank Hyatt, Miss Doris Hyatt and Mr. Ivan Hyatt of Picton, also Mr. and Mrs. George Hobson and Miss Jamie Pierson on Christmas Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Warren, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Warren and Mrs. Warren were Christmas guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wartin Noble.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lewitt and two sons spent Christmas Day with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Tibbs.

Cleveland, Dec. 26 (CP)—A robber fired point blank at the heart of conductor Isaac P. Dyer, 58, on a street car here and the bullet Dyer picked the bullet out of his shirt pocket.

It went through a package of tickets he was carrying in his shirt pocket.

SCHOHARIE

Schoharie—Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Love, Mr. Ronald Love and Miss Lola Love of Whitby motored down last week to visit Mrs. Love's daughter Mrs. Norman Leavitt and Mr. Leavitt. Miss Lillie Love remained over for a time with Mr. and Mrs. Leavitt.

Mr. and Mrs. John Shaw entertained Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Stone and Barbara, also Mr. and Mrs. John Holland, Mrs. Mary Barrett and Miss Margaret Mulholland of Picton and Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Wells of Bloomfield on Christmas Day.

The sympathy of the community is extended to Mrs. Mildred Benson in the loss of a loving father, Mr. John Thompson, who passed away suddenly at his home in Picton on Tuesday last.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Walters and Homer and Homer were Christmas guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Yeomans.

Mr. and Mrs. Burton Hobson entertained Mr. Frank Hyatt, Miss Doris Hyatt and Mr. Ivan Hyatt of Picton, also Mr. and Mrs. George Hobson and Miss Jamie Pierson on Christmas Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Warren, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Warren and Mrs. Warren were Christmas guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wartin Noble.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lewitt and two sons spent Christmas Day with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Tibbs.

A CHALLENGE to CANADIAN MOTHERS

Of course, you want to guard your child from the dangers that chest-colds bring. Yet modern science the unwanted complications of these treacherous seconds.

At the first sign of cold, rub PENETRO on your child's chest and back. If the cold is severe, rub it over the throat and nose, too. The old fashioned soothing base of sterile mutton-suet—now enriched with the concentrated medication to which a million users attribute the quick relief to the congested areas and inflamed tissues. And the aromatic vapor released by PENETRO medicated heat penetrates and tender coughs.

Safe for children of all ages, and equally suitable for adults. PENETRO is your greatest aid in the treatment of colds.

Price 25¢.

PENETRO

THE SALVE WITH A BASE OF OLD FASHIONED MUTTON SUET

Every mother needs a copy of our booklet on colds. Write for it today.

"My nerves are better"
writes Mrs. P. M. Peterson, R. R. No. 2 Stroud, Ontario.
"When I was 14 years old I took six bottles of your Vegetable Compound. Now I am taking it again for my daughter and it is helping me a lot. I am in good spirits and do my work every day. My mother used to take your medicine and always recommended it."
26 out of 100 Women Report Benefit
LYDIA E PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

Buy Your FUR COAT
DURING OUR Year End Fur Sale
DEC. 29 to JAN. 2
Whatever You Do, Don't Buy Your New Coat Until You Have Been to Woodleys Furriers
373 FRONT STREET

Personals

Mr. H. Malcolm Wilson, University of Manitoba, Winnipeg, spending his holidays with his parents, Col. H. R. and Mrs. Wilson, Trent Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Rose, Peterborough, spent the week-end with the latter's father, Dr. J. J. Robertson.

Miss Marian Fisher of Ottawa, is spending the holiday season with the latter's parents, Mr. A. H. Fisher, William Street.

Mr. Earl Bawden has returned to Sudbury after spending the Christmas holidays with his parents.

Miss Gwendolyn Thompson, Toronto, spent the Christmas holiday period the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Thompson, Rear Moira Street.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Middleton, and daughter Jean spent the week-end in Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Clay and son Allan, Oshawa, were week-end guests of Mrs. Clay's aunt, Mrs. Denyse. Mrs. Clay and Allen are remaining for the week.

Mrs. Jean Maldrey, Aurora, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bennett, Burnham Street.

Rev. and Mrs. H. Farnsworth have returned to the city after spending Christmas with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Campney, 47 Mc Campney, Ottawa.

Mrs. R. Van Ostrom, who spent the Christmas holidays with her mother, Mrs. John Fitzgerald, Meyer Avenue, has returned to her home.

Mr. Don Pindall has returned to Timmins, Ontario, after spending a week at his home, 34 Gordon Street.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Bell spent Christmas Day with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bennett, Burnham Street.

Mr. and Mrs. I. D. Simmons, of 1618 Queen Mary Rd., Montreal, requested home Friday after spending Christmas with the former's parents at Carnal.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Venters, 84 Chatham Street, spent the week-end with the latter's mother, Mrs. J. Bean, West Moira Street.

Mr. John Charlesworth, Strachan Street, spent Christmas with friends at Cobourg.

Mr. J. B. Boyle, assistant manager of the Canadian Industrial Alcohol Co., who fell on the icy pavement on Christmas Eve, was able to return to his duties. The fall resulted in torn shoulder ligaments.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Mulligan of Welland, Ontario, and their two boys, Gerard and Joseph, have returned to their home after a very pleasant visit with Mrs. N. A. Patterson, 197 Albert Street, and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Mulligan and Anna, 23 Bowell Street.

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon of Peterborough, during the holiday week-end included their daughter, Miss Betty Gordon of Belleville, Mr. and Mrs. R. Osborne with their family, the Misses Mary and Rita and Felix and Will, of Trenton, also George O'Brien of Belleville. Master Harold Fahey, of Marysville.

Mrs. James B. Willard, who has been ill at the home of her niece, Mrs. J. Roe, has been removed to Belleville General Hospital. Her condition is very critical.

The results of fall term examinations of junior students in Agriculture at Kemptville Agricultural School show that the following from this district were successful: A. Bluff, Bloomfield, 81 per cent; F. Doran, Trenton, 79 per cent; T. Smith, Hillier, 87 per cent; A. E. Smith, Hillier, 87 per cent; A. M. Walker, Picton, 87 per cent; A. M. Bonter, Bloomfield, 81 per cent; R. B. Doughty, Madoc, 76 per cent.

Miss Caroline Storie of Picton spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Mulligan.

Miss Helen Symons of the staff of the Belleville Hydro Office was the victim of an unusual and painful accident while at work last Tuesday. The nib of a pen she was using broke off and pierced her left eye-ball. She is making satisfactory progress.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Mott and daughter spent the Christmas holidays with their parents on Charles Street and Foster Avenue. They returned to their home in Sudbury on Monday.

R. Clare Mott left on Tuesday for Falconbridge, Ont., after making a short visit with his parents, 174 Charles Street.

At the home of Mrs. George Morgan, 295 Charles Street, an enjoyable miscellaneous shower was held last evening in honor of Miss Alma Hunt and Mr. Frank Easton, about fifty friends were present. Decorations were carried out in pink. Little Misses Grace Barker and Joyce Harris, dressed in pink, carried in the basket of gifts. The hosts of honor made suitable replies thanking their friends for their good wishes and gifts. A program of music was arranged by Mrs. Kenneth Clemenger, chorus and hymns of the Evangel Temple being sung by those present. Miss Mabel Hill, Miss Alma, provided music during the evening and solos were given by Misses Lillian Hunt and Mrs. Kenneth Clemenger. Benediction brought the party to a close.

Weddings

ARMSTRONG—BERTRAM

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Moore Bertram, Front Mills, on Saturday, Dec. 26, at 3.30 p.m., when Rev. D. Craig united in marriage Mildred Adeline Bertram, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Bertram, Parham, to Mr. Fred H. Armstrong, son of Mrs. Armstrong and the late John Armstrong, Deseronto.

After the ceremony a dainty luncheon was served. Later Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong left by motor for Toronto and Lakefield for Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Sprung spent Friday and Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Wilson, Bloomfield, and Norrine Fredrick of Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Kibley, Harold and family and Mrs. Kibley, Dorcas and Carman of Wallbridge spent Christmas Day with Mr. and Mrs. Parker's.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Parliament spent Christmas with the latter's mother, Mrs. Sidney and Mrs. Cecil Wood of Rochester, N.Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Evelyn Wood and family of Belleville, Mr. and Mrs. Hedon Anderson and family of Victoria Road and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Berry and Wayne of Wellington.

Mr. Geo. Bittaker spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. F. Bittaker in Camden East and Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Parliament, Mr. and Mrs. Gregson and Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson and family of Bronte also Mr. and Mrs. Loral Wannamaker and Mrs. Jessie Wannamaker of Belleville spent the Christmas dinner hour with Mr. and Mrs. Hartford Parliament.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson and Annie Blair spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Ben Anderson.

Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Hamilton and family spent Christmas Day with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hamilton and family of Napanee.

Mr. and Mrs. Selden Way and Sandra of Rochester, N.Y., and Mr. and Mrs. James Way and family of Bowerman's also Miss B. Way of Belleville and Miss Audrey Way were Christmas guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Sprague and family.

Miss Joyce Keeble and friend of Belleville spent Christmas with her parents Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Keeble and family.

Stirling and District

Stirling—The mild weather and calms of the week-end encouraged curling fir from a constant pastime in the district, and many visitors found it necessary to remain longer than they intended because a glassy ice-covered pavement was before them. Having planned to return to their homes after spending the day with friends and relatives, they refused to change their plans until after starting they found progress almost impossible. Many cars came to rest in the ditch and had to have their turn to be pulled out by the garage towing trucks and derricks that had a record day. No serious accidents were reported within the district, but a provincial wide check proved that Christmas of 1936 was the blackest on record from the standpoint of highway accidents. At one time on Christmas Day, more than a half-dozen cars failed to navigate Front Street on their own power. Keeping pace with other young men of the town to push a skidding car, Mr. E. Nicholson suffered a badly wrenched back when his fingers became entangled in the chains on one of the rear wheels of the car he was pushing and were badly torn and lacerated. A carload of visitors returning home after spending the day visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Bonter left the road just south of the village on the Frankford highway and turned completely over. None of the occupants received anything more serious than a bad shaking up. Expert drivers of the district say that the slippery pavement is a more dangerous proposition. No one ventured out or down unless it was absolutely necessary and then drove with extreme caution at a low rate of speed.

Annual Christmas Concerts Greatly Enjoyed

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church

The regular Sunday School Christmas entertainment of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church took place in the Sunday School rooms on December 21st. Rev. J. A. Kofford officiated as chairman for the evening. Mrs. Ruth Eggleston, Sunday School Superintendent, welcomed the large number in attendance. A carefully arranged program given by the pupils of the school under the direction of Mrs. Duncan Montgomery, Mrs. Harpey Hollite, Mrs. Lewis Bonter with Mrs. J. A. Goffree at the piano was greatly enjoyed.

The numbers presented were as follows:—Opening Chorus by entire school; Recitation by Barbara Wilson; Song by Marilyn Eggleston; Song by Bobbie Kofford; a playlet entitled "Little Bill, Margaret Wilson, Don Conley, Dora Rodgers, Simon Smeltzer, Margaret Hyde, Mary Agnes Fox and Doreen Fox. These very young artists proved a careful training as they presented their parts in a commendable manner; A Recitation by Shirley Montgomery; Recitation by Dora Rodgers; Duet, Marilyn and Bobbie Hall; Tulloch, Sybil McLaughlin, Mary Agnes Fox, Doreen Fox, Margaret Wilson, Bobbie Kofford, Don Conley, Dora Rodgers, Simon Smeltzer, Margaret Hyde, Eileen Gibson and Marilyn Eggleston; Recitation by Marybelle Rodgers; a Song by Mary Agnes and Doreen Fox; Recitation by Ronald Jandrews; Song by Helen Tulloch, Isabel and Margaret Gay; Piano Solo by Miss Lillian Mathews; Solo by Miss Helen McGill; Song by Girls' Chorus; Piano Solo by Helen Pitchett. Piano Solo by Dorothy Gay; Recitation by Shirley Ormiston. During the course of the program several Christmas carols were sung which were beautifully illustrated, on the screen by a series of lantern slides. Numerous presents from the Christmas Tree for Santa Claus were received throughout the evening and at the conclusion of the program, which climaxed a very pleasant evening.

St. John's Anglican Church

A happy crowd of children and adults gathered in St. John's Parish Hall on December 21st for the annual Christmas entertainment. The splendid programme recitation, dialogues and songs by the children, the choir group and solos by Mrs. Lanigan's and Mrs. Alger's classes, Mrs. Dorothy Gay by Miss Hamilton's of the Junior Auxiliary, Mrs. Mc Connell's class and Mrs. Ella Alger and Mrs. Ella directed the musical numbers and Mrs. Mc Connell efficiently presided at the piano. The splendid Christmas tree gaily decorated with coloured lights was the centre of attraction. At the conclusion of the interesting programme Santa Claus made his usual appearance and was assisted by a number of helpers, both in the distribution of gifts to all the children of the Sunday School.

St. Paul's United Church

St. Paul's Sunday School held their annual Christmas entertainment for the pupils on December 21st in Canadian Legion Hall and in spite of very large attendance thoroughly enjoyed the fine programme arranged by those taking part. Rev. W. J. Scott acted as chairman and the following numbers were presented with Mrs. R. Moore presiding at the piano for the musical numbers and carols. Orchestra selection followed by a hymn and prayer; Address of Welcome by Miss Eleanor Wells; Chorus, Junior Girls Miss John-son's Class; Recitation, Lorraine Basdeo, Douglas Leary, Benny Johnson, Roy Parliament, Ronald Patterson; Solo, Ida Mathison; Recitation, Gwendolyn Shore; Piano Solo, Marion Tulloch; a play, "The Spirit of Christmas" by Miss Mabery's Class; Recitation by Audrey Scott; Orchestra Selection; Address by Superintendent F. T. Hubbs; Dialogue, "A New Christmas" by Mr. Wagar's Class; Duet by Mrs. and John Munro; Recitation by Irene Bradshaw; Solo by Miss Elizabeth Matheson; Mr. Elgie's Class; Orchestra Selection; a Comic John, Mrs. Langing's Class; Pictures on the screen, "Snowfall" and "Twas the Night Before Christmas." This part of the program closed with the singing of the National Anthem, followed by the arrival of St. Nicholas. The distribution of the many gifts from the tree climaxed a very happy and successful event.

Newlyweds Are Entertained by Friends

A very pleasant dinner party was given to staff of R. O. Bailey's garage and a few friends at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Mason in honour of Mr. and Mrs. Bailey (Nee Dallace Mae Marion Bailey). During the evening Mr. and Mrs. Bailey were presented with a beautiful modernistic floor lamp of indirect lighting by the on behalf of the staff and fellow workers of Mr. Baker. Both Mr. and Mrs. Baker made a fitting response to the address read by Mr. Jack Bailey, who made the presentation. Later in the evening the members of the Stirling Citizens' Band gave the honoured couple a rousing serenade which could be heard in every part of the village.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. H. Hulin and Bobbie: Mr. James Hulin, Miss Mary Hulin and Miss Bessie Hulin spent Christmas Day visiting at the home of Mrs. Hulin's mother, Mrs. H. Wannamaker, Tyrone Valley.

Mr. Birt Osborne of Napanee, spent Christmas at his home here.

Mr. Osborne until a few weeks ago resided in Toronto, where he served on the staff of the Star Weekly Journal. He was recently transferred to Napanee.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Mason, Benny and Bessie spent Christmas Day quietly at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bateman, Springbrook.

Miss Dorothy Church of Toronto, spent the Christmas holidays visiting friends and relatives in Belleville and Stirling.

Mr. Arthur Gould of O.A.C., Guelph, is spending the Christmas vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Gould.

Mr. John Munro of O.A.C., Guelph, is spending the Christmas holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Munro, Thurso street.

Mrs. Mary Morrison and daughter of Toronto, spent the Christmas holiday at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton McCrea.

Mr. Clinton McCrea of Picton, spent the holiday week end visiting at his home here.

Messrs. Ray Mallory, Wm. Sutherland and Ernest Hall, all of Fargey all of the O.A.C. Guelph, are spending the Christmas holidays at their respective homes in Stirling and district.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Martin of Toronto, spent Christmas at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Martin.

Miss Ruth Kingston of Queen's University, Kingston, is spending the holiday season at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Marlow.

Mr. Gerald Sprentall of Queen's University, Kingston is spending the Christmas holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sprentall.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Walt and Billie of Toronto spent the Christmas week end at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Wait.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Bird and family spent Christmas at the home of Mrs. Bird's mother, Mrs. Annie Hagerman, Bridge St.

Mr. and Mrs. Evans and Rove and Mrs. Ross Bird, Stirling, spent last week end visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hooper's daughter, Mrs. Keith Wickens.

Among the Christmas visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Grills were Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Mac-Donald, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. A. Jones of Carrying Place, and Mr. M. Sine and family of Minto, Mr. and Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Sine are sisters.

Mrs. Arthur Duncan and Mr. J. William Dermidy returned to Stirling on Christmas Day following the Christmas holidays visiting at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Dermidy, Toronto. They also visited at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. William Dermidy, Duncan, brothers of Arthur Duncan. Mr. and Mrs. George Bennett and Harry, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hulin, Mrs. G. W. Hockey and Mrs. Ernest Hockey were Christmas guests of Mrs. Hockey's daughter, Mrs. Jessie Bowen, both of Frankford. Mrs. Hockey celebrated her 91st year celebrated her ninety-fourth birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Juby returned to their home in Toronto on Christmas Day following a visit at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Juby.

Miss Pearl Belshaw spent Christmas Day visiting at the home of her brother, Mr. Robt. Belshaw, Thurlow Road.

Mr. Alex. Park returned to Stirling on Saturday after spending the Christmas with relatives and friends in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Macklin spent Christmas with relatives in Cobourg, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Bishop spent Christmas Day visiting relatives and friend in Trenton, Ont.

Dr. Frank Weaver and Mrs. Weaver of Lockport, N.Y., returned home Saturday night, after spending the Christmas holiday by visiting at the home of Dr. Weaver's sister, Mrs. Annie Bailey, and other relatives in the district.

Miss Patricia Shea of Trenton, is spending two weeks vacation at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Shea on the Frankford road.

Miss Agnes Stout of Peterboro, is visiting with relatives and friends in the home of her father, Mr. James, Mill street.

Christmas guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Holden included Mr. and Mrs. J. Hagerman and Ruth of Belleville. Mr. and Mrs. A. McCauley of Consecon and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Holden and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Hagerman, Mr. and Mrs. Burt and Roy and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wickens were Christmas guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Wilson and Sandford spent Christmas Day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hammond, Ridge Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Terry and family and Mr. Richard Benson of Murray spent Christmas Day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Fryer.

Among the Christmas visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Carlisle were Mr. and Mrs. George Demaray, Public opinion should restrain the sad tide of carelessness of pedestrians and motorists, but we seldom, if ever, read of the sad results of the carelessness of "open-faced" sneezers.

Nevertheless, the "open-faced" sneezer is more dangerous than the careless motorist. A person is guilty of criminal negligence who is careless and lacks consideration for others; who, without any thought, sends the whirlwind particles of material from his nose and throat all around him.

A man who strikes another is guilty of assault. Public opinion with, as expressed in the law, does not allow of such assaults, and requires that the person who commits one be punished. A far more dangerous assault is committed by the careless sneezer, Public opinion should restrain and stop it.

Disease germs pass out in the sneezes of the nose and mouth. A sneeze casts a germ-laden spray for ten feet. If the sneezer covers his nose and mouth with a handkerchief, the danger is practically ended, but a desire to sneeze is too sudden to allow of using the handkerchief, the head can at least be lowered and the spray directed to the floor, not into other people's faces.

In addition to those actually ill, many persons carry disease germs in their nose and throat. People with colds sometimes go to about their business. For these reasons, the sneeze may be the means of spreading disease, and, for these reasons also, an end should be put to the "open-faced" sneezer.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brown and Verna spent Christmas with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brown, Colborne. Others included Mr. and Mrs. Reg. Parks, Mrs. Ida Brown and Mrs. Bessie Brown all of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Ward

Nearly twenty young men, members of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Bible Class were the guests of their President, Mr. Thos. Ward at a dinner given at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Ward. Among those present were Mr. F. T. Ward and Mr. Tom Moore, members of the Men's Session and the following members of the class: Messrs. Harold Baker, Lorne and James Johnson; Ernie Cain, Lorne Anderson, George Tulloch, Bill Dermidy, James Ward, Ross Scott, Roy Judd and Arthur Anderson. The kindly gesture on the part of the President and his parents in providing such a splendid dinner was greatly appreciated by the class.

Carlisle and Marlene and Mr. John Carlisle of Rockport. Miss Nina Carlisle and Mr. Cecil Beeds and children of Stirling.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brown and Verna spent Christmas with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brown, Colborne. Others included Mr. and Mrs. Reg. Parks, Mrs. Ida Brown and Mrs. Bessie Brown all of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Ward

Nearly twenty young men, members of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Bible Class were the guests of their President, Mr. Thos. Ward at a dinner given at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Ward. Among those present were Mr. F. T. Ward and Mr. Tom Moore, members of the Men's Session and the following members of the class: Messrs. Harold Baker, Lorne and James Johnson; Ernie Cain, Lorne Anderson, George Tulloch, Bill

Lipson's
Year-End Specials

WOMEN'S FLANNELETTE
GOWNS
Women's good quality flannelette Nightgowns in pink or blue, with contrasting trim. Short sleeve style and fully cut.
39c

CLEARING
Jersey Rompers and Dresses
Children's Jersey Rompers and Dresses. Ages ½ to 6 years in shades of pink, green, blue or melon. Regular selling at $1.96.
63c

CANADIAN WHEELING
YARN
A special in Canadian Wheeling Yarn. All shades in stock, including popular heather shades.
19c Skein

FLANNELETTE
10c
PER YARD
Good quality, softly napped Flannelette that is always wanted in any household and makes up into so many different things. Plain shades of white or grey; also striped Blue, Pink and Grey .....

BALL WOOL
8c PER BALL
Needles are clicking! A new shipment of Ball Wool gives you the opportunity to knit for the whole family at a saving. Your color assortment is too numerous to be mentioned here ....

FINE TROUSERS
Men's Fine Trouser Special. All wool Worsted and Tweed Trousers in plain shades of grey, blue or brown, as well as a large assortment of pin stripes and checks. Complete size range in stock.
2.95

Work Pants
Great quality cottonade Work Pants for Men. In shades of grey. A well known pant that is fully cut and gives satisfactory wear. Complete size range
88c

Overalls
Denim 8th Overalls for Men! Good quality 6-oz. Denim makes this Overall a remarkable buy at a remarkably low price. All sizes in stock.
1.49

Contest Winners
1st. PRIZE—$25.00 IN MERCHANDISE
Mrs. P. Reynolds ..... West Huntingdon
2nd. PRIZE—$15.00 IN MERCHANDISE
Mrs. Fred Louis ..... Shannonville
3rd. PRIZE—$10.00 IN MERCHANDISE
Mrs. Fluke ..... Thomasburg

The Open-Faced Sneezer
Health Service of the Canadian Medical Association

We read almost daily in the papers of the sad results of carelessness

Laura Secords
FRESH AGAIN
for
NEW YEAR'S DOLAN
THE DRUGGIST
Phone 138

I.D.A. Bronchial
SYRUP
QUICKLY EFFECTIVE
FOR STUBBORN COUGHS
Large 3-oz. Bottle 49c
at
I. D. A.
Drug Stores

Just rub it in NOXACORN
DOES THE REST
NEW LOW PRICE 35c
On Sale at GREEN'S Drug Store

AUTO FINANCE

AUTO LOANS REFINANCING

Any car and any finance company. Cash advanced for any purpose. Payments arranged for balance. Only the highest appraisal given. Don't sell until you have inquired at this office. Quick service. Private offices.

HAIG BROS. LTD.
160 FRONT STREET
BELLEVILLE

CAMPBELL AUTO
FINANCE CO. LTD.

DENTIST

DR. ROST. H. ERBSON
DENTIST
X-ray
Phone 468 205½ Front St. 17-26tf

LAND SURVEYOR

FRASER AYLESWORTH
Ontario Land Surveyor and Engineer
Trenton, Land Surveyor, Real Estate, Insurance, Etc.
PHONE 7 P. O. BOX 49
MADOC, ONT.

STOCKS & BONDS

HOGAN AND CRAWFORD, MEMBERS of Toronto Stock Exchange
128 F. E. WEBB, Investment Broker 20-12

Business Directory

MINERAL BATHS

The "Health Builders" specialize in the Mineral Baths for Arthritis, Neuritis, Rheumatism, Sciatica, Lumbago, Colds, Nervousness, Insomnia, Obesity, Etc. Open 9 A. M. to 9 P. M. Sundays, Holidays 2 to 5 P. M. Reasonable Rates. 12tf

CHIROPRACTOR

B. A. WYATT, PH.C. CHIROPRACTOR and Drugless Therapeutic Specialist. Graduate of Canadian, American and European Chiropractic Schools. Electro Therapeutic Treatment. Modern Methods. Rolled and Foot adjustments. Multi-Vibration Massage. Special treatments avoids many operations. 301 Dominion street, Belleville. Phone 1078.

S. H. and VERA B. PITCHER, Sp.C. Graduate Chiropractors. Electro Therapy, Ultraviolet, Sinusoidal, Diathermy, Vibration and Infra-red Treatments. Office and Residence, 19 Victoria Ave. Phone 1078. Hours and Appointments. Wednesday and Saturday afternoons by appointment. Belleville, Ont. Phone 1078.

INSURANCE

The Thought of Fire Loss Shall Be Banished from Your Mind if You're protected with Fire Insurance

SANDY BURROWS and HOWARD FROST
LIFE AND FIRE INSURANCE
241 FRONT ST. PHONE 1720

HALL & EARLE

General Insurance, Fire, Automobile
Accident and Plate Glass
228 Front St. Phone 1134-w

LEGAL

WALLBRIDGE, CAMERON AND CO. Barristers, etc. 19 to 23 Bridge St. West, Belleville. Ont. Telephone 1. Solicitors for Bank of Montreal, Canada Permanent Mortgage Corporation, etc. 1-26

MALCOLM WRIGHT, BARRISTER, Solicitor, Notary Public, etc. Office, Campbellford, Ont. Telephone 74. Money to loan on mortgages. 1-26

PORTER, PATES AND ARNOTT, Barristers and Solicitors, Bonnell Building, Chas. A. Porter, K.C., R. D. Arnott, Office: 203 Front St., Belleville. 1-26

PORTON AND GRAHAM, BARRISTERS Solicitors, Notaries Public, Conveyancers, etc. Office: Campbell Block, Bridge St., Belleville. Money to loan on mortgages. W. S. Porton, K.C., M. B. Graham. 1-26

DORNAN AND BOYLE, B. G. Dornan, K.C., Q.C., Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, Conveyancers, etc. Belleville, Ont. Corner Bridge and Campbell Streets. Money to loan. Telephone 1. 1-26

ALLISONVILLE

Allisonville—Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Vances entertained on Christmas day, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Morden, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Wood and son, and Mr. Tom Vances.

Mr. and Mrs. Ewart Hanna and son, Douglas and Mr. and Mrs. F. Burkitt were dinner-hour guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Burkitt, Mountain View on Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. George Huffman and family spent Christmas, guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gladwin Hanna.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Burr were dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nellie Anderson, on Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd of Ottawa were guests at the home of Mrs. J. W. Boyd Saturday.

Miss Beatrice of Toronto is spending her holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. McPhail.

Mr. and Mrs. K. Vincent were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Pulford, Saturday.

Mr. C. L. McHenry was in Belleville Thursday.

Mr. J. Sprague was in this vicinity Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Hubbs and wee Vivian were the guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. McHenry on Christmas.

WANTED

AGENTS AND SALESMEN TO sell a guaranteed household product; good opportunity for workers. Box "D" Ontario Intelligencer. 22tf, 23tf, 25

USED BABY CARRIAGE IN GOOD condition. Write Box "A" Ontario Intelligencer. 22tf-15

EXPERIENCED MALE CLERK for fruit store. Apply Box "C" Ontario Intelligencer. 22tf-16

HOUSEKEEPER FOR SMALL family of adults. References required. Phone 567W. 22tf-11

ALIVE 5 OR 7 BRONZE HEN turkeys. Apply W. Turner, Brewers' Warehouse. 22tf-11

SEVERAL CORDS HARD BODY wood in exchange for new and used ballroom radios. Apply Miller Radio Shop, 229 Front St. 22tf-20

COOK GENERAL. NO ONE WITHout experience or references need apply. Apply Mrs. S. McMahon, 218 Charles St. 22tf-22

FRACTIONAL NURSE WOULD like position nurse or nurse housekeeper. Phone 537. 23tf-24

FOR SALE

BUICK 34—37 SEDAN, SEDAN-Delivery family privately owned and carefully driven and cared for. Colour, guaranteed throughout with radio and six artillery wheels. Motor completely checked and in A-1 mechanical condition. Sold with reliable warranty and on easy terms. Inspect by Box "F" Ontario Intelligencer. 22tf-11

GONNOR ELECTRIC WASHER and Northern Electric range. Both nearly new. Cheap for cash. Apply 11 Victoria Ave. 22tf-11

PRIVATE SALE HOUSEHOLD effects at 26 Culbertine Street. Owner leaving city. 22tf-15

50 YEARLING EWES, 100 FULLING Mill Cloth, 2 D. C. Bull, 2 S. Bull. Belleville. 22tf-20

TO LET

6 ROOMED BUNGALOW, GARage, garden, $10 per month. Apply 39 Catherine St. Phone 1078. 22tf-26

HALF HOUSE, 80 OCTAVIA ST., all modern conveniences, oil heat. Phone 2114, 214 Station St. Apply B. B. Graham, or phone 94. 21tf, 12, 15, 17, 19, 22, 24, 26, 29, 31.

FIVE ROOMED HOUSE, CONVEniences, also garden. Apply 161 Mary Street. 22tf-11

THREE ROOM APARTMENT FOR small family, private entrance and easily heated. 230½ Front St. Apply 220 Front St. 22tf-26

TO LET OR FOR SALE

SIX ROOM BRICK HOUSE, hardwood floors, furnace, garage, small garden. Possession December 1st. Apply 301 Bleecker Ave. Apply 31 Grove St. Phone 321M. 21tf-21tf

LOST

GARAGE REGISTER AND BLACK covered book in envelope. Liberal reward. Return to Box "G" Ontario Intelligencer. 22tf-31

LOST

GOLD REMINGTON TYPEWRITER pin. Finder please return to Ontario Intelligencer Office. 23tf-11

LOST

PR. HORN-RIMMED GLASSES in black case. Phone 528. Reward. 23tf-26

FOUND

IN FRONT OF METROPOLITAN Store, purse containing money. Owner may have same by identifying and paying for advertisement. Inquire Metropolitan Store. 23tf-15

Business Listers

Gainsborough Hose sold by Mrs. Harman, Millmer, 414 Pinnacle St. Phone 2413. A practical gift for the New Year. 22tf-31

LOST

GOLD REMINGTON TYPEWRITER pin. Finder please return to Ontario Intelligencer Office. 23tf-11

LOST

PR. HORN-RIMMED GLASSES in black case. Phone 528. Reward. 23tf-26

FOUND

IN FRONT OF METROPOLITAN Store, purse containing money. Owner may have same by identifying and paying for advertisement. Inquire Metropolitan Store. 23tf-15

DEATHS

REID—At Belleville, Ontario, on Monday, Dec. 24th, 1934, Annie Reid, widow of W. C. Reid and beloved mother of the late W. Harold Reid, M.A., in her 82nd year.

The funeral will take place from the late residence, 179 Dundas St. East, Belleville, on Wednesday, Dec. 26th, at 2.30 p.m. The burial will be from St. James' Church at 3 o'clock p.m.

Interment Belleville cemetery. 23tf-15

STORTTE—At the Belleville General Hospital on Tuesday, Dec. 25, 1934, Blanche Storrie, widow of James Storrie, and wife of 274 George Street, Belleville, in her 56th year.

The funeral will take place from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Howard Lynch, 264 Mills Street West on Thursday, Dec. 31st. Service in the home at 2.30 o'clock p.m. Interment Belleville cemetery. 23tf-11

STORTTE—At the Belleville General Hospital on Tuesday, Dec. 25, 1934, Blanche Storrie, widow of James Storrie, and wife of 274 George Street, Belleville, in her 56th year.

The funeral will take place from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Howard Lynch, 264 Mills Street West on Thursday, Dec. 31st. Service in the home at 2.30 o'clock p.m. Interment Belleville cemetery. 23tf-11

INSULATION

ARTHUR A. SILLS CO.
CONTRACTOR & DISTRIBUTOR
326-327 Coleman St. Phone 1842
22tf-26

WE PAY CASH FOR DEAD OR DISABLED HORSES
Deliver Your Orders to Our Telephone Collect
Where a Personal service is given
CITIZENS' DAIRY
Colemans Hired
15-1-15, tf

FINKLE ELECTRIC WIRING
NEON SIGNS
MOTOR REPAIRS
Phone 1039
144 Front St.

BAY OF QUINTE FIRE INS. CO.
"Policyholders Call for 1927 CALENDARS.
NEW OFFICE—Bank Canadian Bldg., 219 Front St.—Phone 961w.
G. W. BURR Agent.

FREE THEATRE TICKETS
Drawing for free theatre tickets held under the supervision of representatives of The Ontario Intelligencer resulted as follows. Lucky Winners can obtain tickets by calling at the office.

F. B. WESTFALL,
20 Dunbar Street

MRS. WILLIAM HYLAND
19 Everett Street

MRS. R. O'KELLY
54 East Bleecker Street

J. CROWSHAW
Point Anne

JERRY SCHAFTUR
190 Pine, Street

STEPHEN BROWN
213½ Coleman Street

MAIDA HAMILTON
288 Coleman Street

MRS. A. RAWSON
96 Cedar Street

WESLEY SEMPLE
190 Bridge St. East

V.K. BOSLEY
219 Bleecker Street

PERSONAL

$10.00 REWARD

For any corn or callous that we cannot remove with the new scientific LLOYD'S THYMOLATED CORN SALVE. Order a jar of this WONDERFUL SALVE today. 40c. Sold by Dominion Stores Limited

Women, sorry won't help. Drugs for all cases of menstrual disorders will. Free booklet this week at Lattimore and Seldon's 227-3m

MEN! GET VIGOR AT ONCE! NEW Ostrex Tonic Tablets contain raw organ extracts from bulls' testes, also vitamins. One dose gives new pep and vitality. Get Ostrex today at druggists. Only one cent each. Call Drug Store, Dolan the Druggist. 2tf-12

We take this opportunity of wishing our clients and friends the Compliments of the Season, and a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

JAMIESON BONE & CO.
INSURANCE — REAL ESTATE

Rawdon and District

Rawdon—The annual Wallman's Sunday School entertainment was held on Monday evening, when her 31st at the church with a good attendance. The programme had been arranged by the Supt., Mr. Carl Clancy and the teachers of the Sunday School. Solos were given by Edgar Graham, Bobby Armstrong and Maurice Clancy. An instrumental number was rendered by Jinnie Armstrong of Stirling and Bobby Armstrong. Several Christmas readings were recited by Gerald Clancy, Cecil Mayhew, Jessie Dunham, Reggie Dunham, Ruth Clancy, Miss Carolyn Johnson and Miss Grace Raymond.

A special feature of the program was a pantomime given by Miss Lindsay Pollock assisted by Miss Mina Dracup and Mrs. John Heagle. At the close of the pantomime Jolly Old Santa Claus arrived and distributed gifts from the tree and every child present received a bag of candy. The package postal cards were presented with a goose and the evening's entertainment was closed by the National Anthem and the Mapah Benediction.

Mount Pleasant

On Tuesday evening, December 18th, the pupils of the Allan and Williams Schools under the guidance of their teachers staged their annual Christmas concert in Mount Pleasant Hall with a large attendance and the proceeds amounted to over twenty dollars.

The hall was decorated with festoons and garlands and presented a very Christmassy appearance and the two trees in the platform adorned with silver star glistening tinsel and scintillating electric lights. At the base of the tree a large assortment of gifts awaited the time for distribution when Santa arrived.

Miss J. E. Beckel presided and Miss Frances McKeown was pianist for the evening.

The concert opened with a massed chorus of forty-one pupils of the two schools entitled "Santa Claus Express". The Allan School delighted with its rocking song and Bell Summers gave a humorous reading. The pupils of the lower school rendered "Jingle Bells" in concert and the pupils of the Williams' School sang "Good Christian Men Rejoice". Eight girls staged a doll drill and this was followed by a dialogue of humorous character entitled "Good-bye" by Evelyn Mills and Ruth Clancy. The next number was in form of a chorus with the following impersonations —Love, Males Hay; Faith, Gladys Hay, Hope, Marjorie Pollock.

Eight Junior pupils of the Williams School delighted with an acrostic and dialogue. Pupils of Allan School rendered a dialogue "Days and Months" and Bell Summers depicted a "Tea-Party" and Marion Rose recited Miller's Prayer. A dialogue "Waiting a-la-mode" by Douglas and Billy McAdam brought forth much laughter. Six boys in overalls and straw hats and six girls with sidies' dresses, yellow and blue delighted with a drill entitled "Haymakers' Serenade". Miss Lindsay Pollock contributed a guitar solo and received an encore. A pantomime "There's a song in the Air", followed with Miss Mina Dracup and Miss Margaret Wilkie singing behind the curtain.

The juniors of the Williams School presented "I'd Rather Just be Me", a dialogue "Catching a Lunatic" and then a song "Come Down Ma Evening". Miss Lindsay Pollock gave an exhibition with their dolls and a "Christmas Lullaby" followed. Miss Dracup and Miss Margaret Milligan of the Allan School and Miss Doris Bannis of the Williams School with their pupils were rendered a vote of thanks for their splendid programme and all joined in wished everyone a Merry Christmas.

The closing chorus and the "National Anthem" brought a closing very pleasing program and at this juncture Old Santa in person arrived and distributed gifts from each child received a bag of goodies and the passenger people were the recipients of a turkey.

Miss Milligan presented each of her pupils with a school bag with "A.P.R." inscribed on a blue background. Miss Frances McKeown and Allan School presented their teacher with a cut glass bowl of stationery and a lovely picture.

Miss Bannis gave each pupil a gift according to their grades and received a nice assortment of handkerchiefs. Mrs. Chris Barry manipulated the curtain throughout the program. A large number of visitors were in attendance.

Rednal Sunday School

Bethel Sunday School held their annual Christmas concert in the church on Sunday evening which was a good attendance and the proceeds amounted to over twenty-one dollars. Donald Johnson, Harold McAdam 87.8.

Junior IV.: Harvey Couch 84.4. Senior III.: Gladys Summers 94.2.

Junior III.: Evelyn Melville 77; Eric Summers 71.4; Lois McAdam 66.6.

II.: Donald Spencer 74.3; Joyce Johnson 68.4; Marian Johnson 59.3.

Senior I to II.: Joan Hoard 78.

Junior I.: Bruce Melville 72; Keith Vaughan 60.6.

Senior Primer: Rosemary Preston.

Junior Primer: Jims Dunham, Jim Pollock, Leonard Mayhew.

Primer: Donald Johnson, Billy McAdam 67.8.

Reports of Williams School Rawdon

Senior IV.: Douglas McAdam 70.8; Donald Johnson, Harold McAdam 67.8.

Junior III.: Harvey Couch 54.4. Senior III.: Gladys Summers 94.2.

Junior III.: Evelyn Melville 77; Eric Summers 71.4; Lois McAdam 66.6.

II.: Donald Spencer 74.3; Joyce Johnson 68.4; Marian Johnson 59.3.

Senior I to II.: Joan Hoard 78.

Junior I.: Bruce Melville 72; Keith Johnson 60.6.

Senior Primer: Rosemary Preston.

Junior Primer: Jims Dunham, Jim Pollock, Leonard Mayhew.

Primer: Donald Johnson, Billy McAdam 67.8.

Reports of Allan School Rawdon

Senior IV.: Douglas McAdam 70.8; Donald Johnson, Harold McAdam 67.8.

Junior III.: Harvey Couch 54.4. Senior III.: Gladys Summers 94.2.

Junior III.: Evelyn Melville 77; Eric Summers 71.4; Lois McAdam 66.6.

II.: Donald Spencer 74.3; Joyce Johnson 68.4; Marian Johnson 59.3.

Senior I to II.: Joan Hoard 78.

Junior I.: Bruce Melville 72; Keith Johnson

DAILY SHORT STORY

The Last Stitch

By Rose Meredith

Rose Clemens sounds like the name of a pretty young girl—and indeed when Rose was a little younger, she was prettier than most of them. Today Rose Clemens, not so young and pretty, sat and sewed all day long. She only stopped for a cup of tea and a bit to eat, or to fit some customer of the village who wanted a new pattern. For Rose was the only dressmaker in Hillsdale and busy from morning until night.

She lived all alone in the cottage because all her family either married and moved to other houses, or, as in the case of her parents, had died. So Rose Clemens lived all alone in the small white house, no longer young, and not old, and although she had a host of friends and plenty of relatives, she was not resigned to single blessedness just at all!

This afternoon, she was sewing, as usual—making a new silk dress for Mrs. Cheeseman, who lived up on the hill in the large white house. Mrs. Cheeseman was very gracious and always most considerate of Rose Clemente. "You know we are expecting the new minister tonight," she said, just before she left. "My husband has invited him to stay a few days with us, until the manse is quite ready. He seems to be such a splendid man—I am hoping that he will fall in love with one of our girls and marry. A wife is such a great help to a minister, I believe." And Mrs. Cheeseman had hurried out to her car and the very smart chauffeur had driven away with a great air, and Rose Clemens had settled down to her sewing again. She wondered rather casually about the new minister, whom she had not as yet seen. He had preached twice at the church, but it was during the months she had been in the city nursing for Mrs. Cheeseman, so all she knew about him was that he was evidently very popular with everybody who had seen him or heard him, and his name was John Harry Jones.

As that happened to be the name of the only man Rose Clemens had ever wanted to marry, and had refused because he had been so wild and reckless, she was rather curious to see him. Of course he and Miss Jones had gone to the dogs long ago—at least people who claimed to know the Jones family after they had removed from the village, always said so.

The very first Sunday that the new minister preached, Rose Clemens, in a soft blue dress and hat, with a lovely pink rose at her breast, came up the church aisle to her pew.

Perhaps Rose had been thinking about the poor black sheep, Harry Jones, whom she had loved so long ago, and when she looked up with closed eyes, while the organ softly played the prelude, she prayed—for that poor lost Jones boy who had flung away so much, and who she told him that she did not love him!

Then the organ boomed out triumphantly and Rose lifted her head to see a tall man ascending the steps to the pulpit.

It was a long service—a glorious service—and, when it was over, Rose Clemens hastened down the aisle ahead of the choir and the tall man. Small house a little way down the street, where she got there, she went upstairs to her room, and took off her blue hat and knelt down and prayer a thanksgiving for the safe return of Harry Jones.

Then she changed her dress and made her preparations for dinner. Suddenly she noticed a group of women and girls passing before her gate, while the tall minister broke away from them with some pleasant word, and came around to her side door! Not to the front door—that would be too formal, for her old friend, Harry Jones, even if he was a reverend now!

He rapped at the screen door and then opened it and came right in. "I haven't forgotten old tricks, Rose," he told her, and there was an easy look in his eyes as she gave him both her hands.

"Harry Jones", she said with a smile in her lovely soft voice, "you have made me so happy—to come back to us this way!"

"I am glad, Rose," he said simply. "Am I too late?" he asked.

"No—dinner will be ready in five minutes, and—"

"Dinner!" interrupted the minister, placing his panama hat on a small table. "Rose Clemens, there is an importaant question that must be settled before either one of us eats today."

"Yes?" trembled Rose.

"I told in my sermon just how I went away, a reckless, foolish young man, but I did not tell of course that it was the contempt of the only girl I had ever loved that sent me away! I went to the city and got a real job, and when my people came later on, I lived with them, went to high school, then to college, and finally, to divinity school. This is my first parish. And the very first thing that I do, now that my first day here is passing, is to came to the only girl that I ever loved in all the world and ask her if she can learn to love me now!"

"Oh, Harry—Harry," she whispered, coming to him and grasping his coat lapel, "if you only knew the days—the years when I missed you—when I longed for you!"

PLAINFIELD

Plainfield—The first Christmas tree for the Plainfield pastoral charge was held at Zion Hill when the pupils of Maple Leaf public school under the direction of Miss Martha Trevorton and of Zion Hill public school under the leadership of Miss Marie Townsend contributed generously to the programme which consisted of the following numbers—a chorus "Good Santa Claus" by the children of the two school sections. Address of Welcome by Gwen Ray. A number of guitar instrumentals by the Laurean-Ketchison, Jack Ray, Pierce Martin and Glen Snider. A dialogue "Santa Claus", Song, Mary Emerson, recitation, Greta Martyn, two solos by Ray Hills, recitation, Ray Wood, a Maypole drill, a motion song, a vocal duet, number by Messrs. Jack Scantlebury, Glen Snider. Fred Scantlebury and Clifford Ray. Recitation, Irene Aikins, Recitation, Teddy Ray, piano solo, Mrs. H. K. Denyes, dialogue, "Too Much Borrowing", song, Keith Hicks, a quartette number by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Scantlebury, Mrs. Myron Hawley and Clifford Ray. Recitation, Jean Marshall. Several Christmas songs. Mr. H. K. Denyes, the Sunday School superintendent thanked all who had taken part and those who had so kindly given of their time and talent, also for the children and prepare the programme.

The Bethel Christmas tree was held in the church with the Rev. J. F. Everson as chairman, and Miss Mae Stevenson public school teacher, director of exercises, to whom much credit is due for the splendid program given which consisted of an opening and closing chorus by the members of the public and Sunday school, calisthenic exercise, recitation, Earl Wannamaker; dialogue, "Sagginville Uplift Society", Recitation, Doreen Carter; guitar duet, Audrey and Shirley Robson; dialogue "He Lived Them Modern", Drill by the members of the school. Recitation, Ruth Clarke; Dialogue, "Opal's Three Lovers", Recitation, Vernon Dickey; dialogue, "Squire Darley's Christmas", "Christmas on Sunset Slope"; Dialogue, "Henry's Last Order Wife"; Song of Gladness by several girls; recitation, Clifford Wannamaker; dialogue, "Hiring the School Ma'am", monologue. Shirley Robson.

The Plainfield Christmas tree was given in the Orange Hall on Wednesday evening. The first part of the programme was given by the children from the public school under the capable leadership of Miss Irene Murphy and consisted of an opening chorus. A playette by the Primary class under the direction of Mrs. Harry Harrison; recitation, by Garth McCreary; Lullaby song by four small girls; dialogue, Christmas Shopping, a song by Walter, Howard and Lorne Hilliott; a drill, "Merry Christmas" pantomime, "Silent Night, Holy Night", recitation, Mary-Jane Ostwalde, recitation song "A long, long way off", and a dialogue, "Squire Hawley's Christmas".

The latter part of the programme consisted of a pageant, setting forth a picture of the circumstances and conditions of the village of Bethlehem at the time when the babe was born. The white robed shepherds on the hills and , plains were all distinctly shown.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Weir and family of Hillier, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hall and family of Belleville, Mr. and Mrs. Addison Hall and family of Picton and Mr. and Mrs. Vanner and family of Belleville, were the guests on Christmas Day of Mr. Robert A. Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Emerson and family spent Christmas Day with Mr. and Mrs. George Collins.

Rev. J. F. and Mrs. Everson spend Christmas day with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Mason in Belleville.

Mr. Frank Hicks who has been confined to his bed and under the doctor's care for the past week is somewhat improved.

MOIRA

Moira—The sympathy of the community is extended to the relatives and friends of the late B. H. Morden.

On Friday evening, a number of young people of community gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Vanderwater. Mr. Henry Emerson was the chairman. After the reading of an appropriate address the boys of the charcoal gang presented them with a beautiful occasional chair, Mr. and Mrs. Vanderwater both thanked them present for their gift after which a social evening was spent together.

Mr. T. Hawkins and son of Zionbrook attended the funeral of the late B. H. Morden and are spending a few days with Mrs. Morton.

On Saturday evening the young men of the neighborhood wended their way to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Vanderwater and gave them a rousing charivari. They were invited inside and presented with a sum of money.

Monday evening was the occasion for the Annual Christmas Concert. Mr. Harold Mohl and Miss Ruth Emerson, the teachers of the public school spent much time in preparation for the event and deserve much praise for the fine entertainment.

Rev. H. A. Turner acted as chairman. The programme is as follows:—Words of Welcome, by Audrey Crane; opening chorus, Good King Wenceslas; recitation by Beverley Foster; song, "Playing Ball on the Stairs" by Edith, Connie Williams and Audrey Crane; recitation by Grace McInnis; dialogue, "Playing Politics"; recitation by Dorothy Thompson; duet by Betty Foster and John Mittat; school chorus, "The Flag Unfurled"; recitation by Edith Scott; Jr. Room chorus "There's a Jolly old Fellow"; Evergreen drill; recitation by David Scott; duet by Dorothy Thompson and Beverley Foster; recitation by June Williams; song by Rita Muriel Lou, Lois Mildred, Margaret Jane; recitation by Earl Thompson; Christmas carols; recitation by Mary Scott; dialogue, "Looking Around for a Wife"; song by Glen Morton and her Cummings; calisthenic exercise by Joyce Williams and Elmer Thompson; Closing Chorus, "Silent Night".

After this Santa Claus came up and presented all the children with bags of candy, oranges and many other interesting looking parcels. The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

YOUNG MAN FOUND SHOT TO DEATH

Ottawa, Dec. 28.—Colin Thompson, 26, son of Rev. T. J. Thompson, 26, son of Rev. T. J. Thompson, an Anglican Church, was found tonight shot to death in a lavatory of the Toronto General Trusts Building on Sparks Street.

Police said the young man appeared badly had shot himself through the roof of the mouth, but were puzzled by the fact two discharged shells were found in the pistol. The body was seated on a stool, leaning against one wall.

Thompson worked for Frank Rutherford, local representative of the Canadian Credit Men's Association. Rutherford said the youth's work had been satisfactory, and that there was no shortage in his accounts.

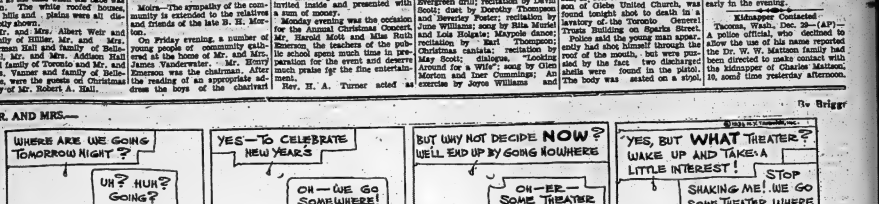
News of the death, which police said tentatively was a suicide, was with grief from Thomson's father, who was conducting an evening service at his church when a watchman found the body on his rounds.

Police said the man had died early in the evening.

Kidnapper Contacted

Tacoma, Wash., Dec. 28.—(AP)—A police official, who declined to allow the use of his name reported the Dr. W. W. Mattson family had been directed to make contact with the kidnapper of Charles Mattson, 18, aond time yesterday afternoon.

Radio Programs



TUESDAY

9.00—Breakfast Club—WJZ.
11.45—Wm. MacHugh, Gospel Singer—WJZ.
2.30—Music Guild—WJZ
3.00—Melody Lane—WJZ
3.00—Al. Pearce's Gang—WABC
3.30—Mirthmakers—WJZ
4.00—Amos 'n' Andy—WEAF
4.00—Ray Noble—WJZ
7.30—Lum & Abner Sketch—WLW
8.00—Log Cabin Ranch—WJZ.
8.00—Hammond Recital—WABC
8.00—Leo Reisman's Orch.—WEAF
8.30—Wayne King's Orch.—WEAF
8.30—Kaye-Smith Time—WJZ
8.30—Al Jolson M.C. Victor Young's Orch.—WABC
9.00—Fred Waring's Orch. —WABC
9.00—Ben Bernie and the Lads: WJZ
9.00—Sherlock Interviews—WEAF
9.30—Fred Astaire and Charles Butterworth and Johnny Green's Orchestra—WEAF
9.30—Georgie Stoll's Orch. and Benny Goodman's Orch. —WABC
11.00—Christmas Carols—WJZ

WEDNESDAY

9.00—Breakfast Club—WJZ
10.00—Betty and Bob—WABC
10.15—Modern Cinderella sketch—WJZ
11.45—Edward MacHugh, Gospel Singer—WJZ
1.30—Christmas Concert, Glee Clubs and Orch.—WJZ
4.00—Henry Busse's Orch.—WABC
6.45—Lowell Thomas—WJZ
7.00—Mary Ann, sketch—WJZ
7.01—Amos 'n Andy—WEAF
7.15—Uncle Ezra—WABC
7.30—Lum and Abner—WJZ
8.00—Fannie Brice—WJZ
8.00—One Man's Family—WEAF
8.00—Carnivals of America —WABC
8.30—Famous Actors' Guild—Ethel Barrymore—WJZ
8.30—Wayne King's Orch.—WEAF
9.30—Burns and Allen—WABC
9.30—Town Hall Tonight: Fred Allen—WEAF
9.00—Andre Kostelanetz' Orch. —WABC
9.30—Community Sing—Homer Rodeheaver—WJZ
10.00—"Good Busters" by Phillips Lord—WJZ
10.00—Your Hit Parade—WEAF
10.00—Special Christmas Program from Metropolitan Opera House —WJZ
10.30—Chicago City Opera Co. "Alice in Wonderland" —WJZ
11.00—Benny Goodman's Orch. —WABC
10.30—Rabbi Louis I. Mann "A Rabbi Looks at Christmas"—WJZ
11.00—Christmas Carols—WJZ

MR. AND MRS.—

By Brigg

BRINGING UP FATHER—

By Russ Westover

TILLIE THE TOILER—

By George Marrow

TOPSY—

TARZAN AND THE LEOPARD MEN

(Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service)

RUGBY— BOXING— WRESTLING—

SPORTS Of All SORTS

HOCKEY— BADMINTON— BOWLING—

Injury Jinx Rides Conacher

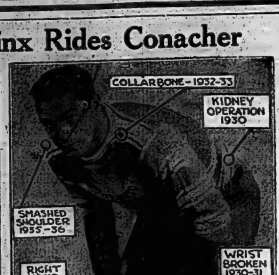
Big Toronto Right-Winger Qualifies as League's Hard-luck" Player

By PHIL WARWICK

Central Press Canadian Sports Writer

Toronto.—Charlie Conacher, probably the greatest right winger in the N. H. L. is also its most unlucky player. Annually Conacher goes out of action with injuries of one sort or another. This season he is out with an injured right hand.

Every "Chuck" steps on the ice he probably starts to wonder whether he will come through the game in one piece. Although he has one of the hardest shots in the league he also has just about the hardest luck of any player. During his years as a professional he has broken his wrist twice, injured a hand thrice, has had a kidney removed, smashed a shoulder and broke a collarbone. Aside from the injuries because of it he has been robbed of more scoring championships in the National Hockey league than any other player.



Started in His First Year

When he broke into big time hockey in the season of 1928-29 with Toronto Maple Leafs, his injury jinx started in earnest. In his first season he was out of action for a time with a blood-poisoned hand. He got this when a skate punctured his glove. The same season he had to undergo a serious operation for removal of one kidney. Few people know how close Conacher came on this occasion, to death's door.

The following season brought forth no better luck. During a game in Boston, against the Bruising Bruins, he limped and broke his wrist. This kept him out of action for three weeks, and at the end of the season he had collected a few big pelnts.

The 1931-32 season saw Conacher well on his way to scoring honors, when he injured his right hand during a game in Detroit. He crashed into the boards and fractured three small bones in the back of the hand. This put him on the bench for three weeks; incidentally it was in Detroit this season that pre-season game, that he received the greatest injury to his right hand.

In his fourth year as a professional, Charlie, as the figure show, led the league in scoring for the first few weeks, then came the injury lapse again. Things went fine until the Leafs journeyed to Chicago to play the Black Hawks and Conacher received a nasty collarbone when he crashed into the boards. This injury put him out of the game for a month and away went his great scoring record for the start of the season.

The Much Injured Mr. Conacher

Top Scorer in 1932-34

The 1932-34 season proved to be his best. He was only out of action for five games with an attack of boils. He was able to achieve his ambition, to lead the league in scoring, picking up 52 points.

The next year the Jinx was back again. He suffered a broken hand, according to Mr. Conacher himself, which kept him out of action for several games. By the look of the record this broken hand did not hinder his scoring ability to any great extent, because he again topped the league in scoring. He kicked the twine 36 times and assisted in 21 plays for a total of 57 scoring points. Not bad for a player who was out with a broken hand.

Last year when Conacher and "Sweeney" Schriner of New York Americans, were fighting it out for scoring honors, "Old Man Bad luck again hit him. This time he smashed his shoulder and was out of action for 13 days. Schriner won the honors; "Chuck" had to be satisfied with a tie for second place.

Again this year Conacher is out of action for several weeks due to an injured hand. Maybe it's a coincidence, but most of his injuries happen in the first couple of months of the season. Sometimes he runs another if he ever will be able to shake the jinx that persists in following him through his hockey sessions.

THE PUCK CATCHING MR. KERR OF NEW YORK RANGERS

Centering this circle is Davie Kerr talkative Scottish-born goal-tender of New York Rangers, whose specialty is snapping off sizzling drives with his hands. Well out from his citadel plays David figuring that this position permits the target for snipers. Kerr has had his ups and downs, but with a youthful and fast skating set of forwards and a his four-footed rival. His winning margin was variously estimated as from 15 to 30 yards.

The horse was Julio Macaw. Owens said he probably would have done better had he been trained as finely as he was for the Olympic games last summer.

Morenz-Joliat-Gagnon Line Second Highest Scoring Trio In National Hockey League

Veterans Putting Many Of the Younger Players To Shame

PLAY IN CHICAGO

Gorman of Maroons to Shake Up Lineup Tonight

No more striking indication is offered of the comeback heights the old men of Montreal are reaching than the fact they are one of the three top point-getting trios in the National Hockey League.

Howie Morenz, Aurel Joliat and Johnny Gagnon are now related cheers because they are veterans who are going along nicely. They are getting them because they are playing as effective hockey as the big time is witnessing these days.

Only one other front line in the N.H.L. ranks ahead of the Canadien trio—the Aurie-Barry-Lewis outfit from Detroit Red Wings. Sweeney Schriner, Art Chegman and Lorne Carr of New York Americans have scored as many points—54—as the Canadien veterans and the Red Wing stars are two points back.

Besides all that Black Cat Gagnon is the leading goal-getter of the league with 11 to his credit in the ten games the Montreelers have played.

Play In Chicago.

Cecil Hart, the Canadien manager who recalled the veterans this season, will take them into Chicago for a meeting with Black Hawks. Chicago fans will see a line that has scored 21 goals, five more than the whole Hawk team has been able to gather in the sixteen games it has played.

The contest is one of nine that will be played to holiday crowds before the week is out. Tonight there is also a meeting between the Rangers and Americans scheduled for Madison Square Garden and a clash between Montreal Maroons and Bruins in Boston.

Herbie Cain is normally a left wing with Tommy Gorman has found so much trouble keeping centres in shape this season that Cain will be converted into a pivot man for the Bruin match. He will take Cully Dahlstrom's place. Flimpy Ward and Baldy Northcott while Cain is given more rest. He has been fit most of the season.

Jerry Shannon, who was bought by Montreal from Boston and injured in his first game with the Montreelers at Toronto on Dec. 19, will move into Cain's place on a line with Bob Gracie and Gus Marker.

Sport Callings

By Ken Colling

Adverse weather conditions put a crimp in the hockey activities locally of lads and slowed local sporting activities down to the proverbial walk. The Redmen could not hold practice last night, the ice at the arena having been affected too greatly by the west and mild spell.

Any marked drop in the temperature, however, will permit the local squads to get down to some hard practice before the opening date of Jan. 6th. Of course while the league games are handled without ice facilities, the game holds good for all other clubs in the junior and intermediate groups, with the exception of the O.H.A.J.'s. "Fliers" who get in the odd game in the Kingston loop. Incidentally the "Fliers" meet the Kingston Garrison on Wednesday night in the second game of the league semi-finals. If the Kingston League is operated on the same plan as previous years, the "Fliers" enjoy a four goal lead to carry to the arena with them. Regardless, they should win in successive games.

Schedules have been drawn in most local hockey leagues with the exception of the Interscholastic loops. Last year Belleville boasted of a senior interscholastic league consisting of four senior school teams from this community, the O.S.D., Albert College, St. Michael's Academy and the Belleville Collegiate. This coming season, however, it is understood only Albert College and the Belleville Collegiate will sponsor senior hockey clubs in the Interscholastic group. The O.S.D. and St. Mikes will foster junior Interscholastic teams, however, Frank Cunningham especially being anxious to have a junior loop organized. Geo. Laughlin, at the B.C.I. & V.S. may toss in two junior squads and if Peterboro comes back with a junior team, a five teamed junior loop may result. Insofar as the junior grouping is concerned, however, there is a terrific field for a district senior Interscholastic group.

Sometime ago Principal Andolf, of the Picton Collegiate Institute, announced his charges were ready to rejoin the old Bay of Quinte Interscholastic Hockey League, along with the Belleville Collegiate, Albert College and Trenton Collegiate if the latter were at all interested. Whether or not the Napanee C.I. is interested in interscholastic hockey activities we are not prepared to say, but an interscholastic group embracing B.C.I., Albert College, Trenton, Picton and Napanee C.I. would doubtless prove a satisfactory loop and create some interesting interscholastic hockey for the benefit of the student body of the various schools. Already the Picton collegiate has engaged Earl Croft as hockey coach and are practicing regularly. A meeting of the Bay of Quinte group of the O.C.S.S.A.A. for hockey activities will be held in Picton shortly.

Elmer E. LaBarr, local harness horseman and owner of that crack pacer Royal McKillop, recently became established with a new harness men's organization in Western Ontario and is endeavoring to assist in the rejuvenation and general sponsoring of the lost art of harness racing in this district. Recently Mr. LaBarr was in Ogdensburg, N.Y., the home of Calumet Patchen, a six year old mare, that has broken more harness track records in the past four season's than any trotter, pacer or horse in Canada. Mr. LaBarr is owned by the Mc-Connville Bros., hotelmen of Ogdensburg and Mr. LaBarr has entered into negotiations to have that crack mare in a matched race in Belleville next summer, "what are the chances of making financial ends meet if I bring Calumet Patchen to Belleville for a race meet next summer, that is of course included on a full afternoon's program of harness racing," Mr. LaBarr asked us. "That's a pretty big order, but such a mare should have equal drawing qualities with such old timers as Day Spring, Anne Dale and Romana of the good old days of horse racing.

Sports Roundup

(By Scotty Reston)

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, Dec. 29.—(AP)—Fielding Yost, Michigan's beloved Athletic director, has faltered into the anti-climax of a great career. . . . Dan McGugin of Vanderbilt and "Jo" Huff of Illinois, his two best friends, have died in the past year. . . . A. A. Stagg, another crony, has escaped to the coast. . . . So wanders these men through one other generation as the current coaches meetings here, telling the young upstarts of the past. . . . Another dramatic figure at the meetings is young Tip Hanson, recently fired football coach at Syracuse. . . . Tip is making the rounds trying to scrape up a job, while a line forms on the right for his old post. . . . Gossip in the lobby now is that Fred Thomsen, Arkansas coach, has the edge. . . . J. C. Dolley of Texas is also interviewing candidates to succeed Jack Chevigny. . . .

Two coaches were discussing New York today. . . . "Whaddya think of Times Square?" asked one . . . "It's the only place in the world where you get fresh peanuts out of a penny machine," said the other . . . Dope is that D. K. Jessee, Football Coach at Trinity College will get the Syracuse Athletic Directorship. . . . Tip: The Giants will buy the Albany franchise for $52,500 within the next two days or forget Albany and dicker for the Toronto franchise.

PETE PALANGIO TAUGHT HOCKEY ON OPEN RINK

With North Bay Trappers When Games Played in Open Air

North Bay, Ont., Dec. 29 (CP)—North Bay, celebrating its first decade rink in nine years, today pointed with pride to its third contribution to the current list of coaching staff, Pete Palangio. The big Italian who left these parts just before the rink first burned in 1928, now wears Maroon Sleigh Blue and White.

Pete, whose goal-getting ability with St. Louis Flyers of the American Association and Montreal National League scouts, was among the first players to don the blue outfit. After he left to make a living from his favorite sport in the city he managed and played for the loop's players on open-air rinks—and cold, wintry nights.

A staunch son of the gateway to Northern Ontario's gold fields, Palangio returned every summer, and was always hopeful there soon would be a new rink to accommodate his youngsters. His dream along with that of many others came true this fall—a new modern ice palace was constructed, thanks to a community effort.

No longer can North Bay be listed as Canada's coldest town. Enthusiasts hope the day is not far distant when the name of North Bay Trappers will be feared in junior and senior circles throughout the Dominion, as it was a decade ago.

Game Kept Alive.

But during the rinkless span the game was kept alive, and emerging from northern blizzards as they battled with their mates in sub-zero weather came two big-time stars—Bob Gracie and Pep Kelly—two boys got additional schooling in Toronto junior ranks before they turned professional, but it was on open-air rinks here they got their start.

Like forty-odd others, Pete, Gracie and Kelly visit North Bay each summer. Palangio was a star member of the junior trappers when they bowed to Iroquois Falls Eskimos in the Northern Ontario finals. Both Bob and Pep had distinguished themselves here before going to Toronto.

Now the city which hopes to provide first skating facilities for the Dionne quintuplets, born twelve miles from here, intends to produce first-class material on a larger scale. Such stars as Duke Keats, Dr. Stan Brown, Porky Lirette, Gerry Lowery, Stan McCabe, Leo Bourgeault, Sparky Vail and Ernest Maracle were developed in North Bay when hockey was at its peak.

Tony Gingras Is Not Sold on Six-Man Hockey

Winnipeg, Dec. 29 (CP)—Anthony "Tony" Gingras, of Stanley Cup fame 20 years ago, would like to see any modern hockey team play just one game of seven-man hockey with the substitutes on the bench. Modern days couldn't stand the pace, he thinks.

The sturdy French-Canadian played in Stanley Cup competition for six years as right-winger for Winnipeg Victorias, 1901 world champions. His era was a "colorful" performer in 1898

Using his bone-made hockey stick, standing on "spring" strides over the rink he made himself, Gingras was in the thick of it then, as they fought for the puck, made from a lacrosse ball. "Condition," he said, "was everything in my day.

"Back in 1903 when Vics challenged 'the little iron men'—Montreal A.A.A.—we played steadily for 150 minutes before the police pulled off the ice Sunday morning. I believe it stands as the longest senior game on record in Canada.

"If we had seven-man play today there would be less free skating and more hockey; less one-man rushing with players having to work combination more. Stopping inside blue lines wasn't done 35 years ago. We had to move all the time or we lost possession."

Gingras isn't fond of the six-man game. He has seen the best teams playing and "I don't think any of them, pro or amateur, would beat our Vics, of 1901 or 1912."

HINDU BASKET STAR

A typical action photo of Wilmath Sidat-Singh, believed to be the only Hindu basketball player. He plays guard of forward for Syracuse University freshmen. He is 18 and a resident of New York city.—Central Press Canadian Photo.

At the Arena

PUBLIC SKATING TONIGHT

Wednesday Afternoon and Evening

Children FREE WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON—2 till 6

If You Just Didn't Score At Christmas . . . .

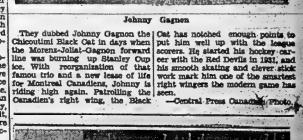
THAT IS IN THE MATTER of SHIRTS

Why not stock up now and have the pleasure of picking out just the shirt and pattern you want?

TIES That Catch the Eye with their Smartness and Beautiful Patterns. CHOOSE NOW!

Quick & Robertson

CORNSOT CLOTHING FOR MEN.



THE BLACK CAT AT PROWLS AGAIN

Johnny Gagnon

They dubbed Johnny Gagnon the Chicoutimi Black Cat in days when the Morenz-Joliat-Gagnon forward line was burning up Stanley Cup ice. With reorganization of that famous trio and a new lease of life for Montreal Canadiens, Johnny is riding high again. Latest star on Canadien's right wing, the Black Cat has notched enough points to put him well up with the league scorers. He started his hockey career with the Red Devils in 1931, and his smooth skating and clever stick work mark him one of the smartest right wingers the modern game has seen.

—Central Press Canadian Photo.

DRIVING—Proph gets to the wi re first in a driving finish at Tropical park. Zaca is second, Prairie Dog third.

Board Room Gossip

As supplied to Biggar and Cranford by Financial Service.

Red Lake Gold Shows

"Fine grade bottom level extended 80 feet. Heads holding close to .60 ounce", was the wire just received by the president of Red Lake Shore Mines from the mine manager, F. F. Mackie.

The high grade referred to in the wire, according to Dr. Brock, is being developed on a sub-level above the 500, and has given the first values found in the mine to date, the company report continues. This information indicates that the previously reported length of 160 feet has been extended to 180 feet by subsequent work.

"This important feature is that the latest advance proves the ore to be persistent for 120 feet beyond the point reached in the south drift on the 550-foot level."

The published figure of approximately 40 ounces represents an increase over the average of the first three months of operation and is in accordance with the optimistic promise of a step-up in the grade of ore going to the mill contained in the recently issued quarterly statement," the report concludes.

Kerr Malartic

Drifting to date on final level at 300 feet in No. 1 shaft area has disclosed ore structure for a length of 75 ft., according to advice from Toronto. Average width is reported to be about 7 ft., running 96. At the east end of the drift a raise has been put up and about 16 ft. with the last round of muck running nearly $30 per ton across 4 ft.,

Market Comment

The market is expected to hold steady for the balance of the year, with the majority of factors predicting a continuation of the rise in the early part of 1937. One group of securities that has been singled out for leadership for next year is "senior-ity" as this industry faces more promising prospects than at any time since the boom.

Those favoring newsprint securities point to the fact that the demand that has developed for the commodity in recent months makes it rather unlikely that the price will be reduced, but they feel that the price of newsprint should mount steadily, and in the meantime the senior securities should do better marketwise.

Street sentiment in Wall Street seems to have been building up to bullishness for some time and at the moment there is a strong enthusiasm over possibilities of oil securities in 1937 than perhaps any other group of stocks. Oils have been among the most active issues in recent sessions with half of the 10 leading stocks in last couple of days representing the oils. Prospects of a strong price zone for the products, coupled with a strong demand are main factors behind the advance. Considerable interest is shown in the trade by completion of an important well by Standard Oil of California.

The strength in Power Corporation is no doubt a belated recognition of the fact that this company has made very huge profits in the past few years. The directors will distribute a good portion of these profits to the shareholders in the form of dividends. It would not be surprising if the stock was placed on a regular $1.00 annual dividend basis.

On The Street

Developments surrounding the Gaspies are being followed with interest....Cockshutt Plow financial statement to appear shortly.... A moderate improvement only expected....Official utterances making it appear as though the Massey-Harris report will be considerably better than the one in 1935. This company is much concerned about their Bills Receivable, especially the one in the Province of Alberta. The debt legislation put through by the Alberta Legislature may have a reverse effect on the total amount owing to all implement companies in that area.

Barren's (The Trader)

Several tests experienced since the confirmation of the post-election rise in the market has weathered successfully. Money and earnings are two fundamental price moulders, are still powerful. Investment buying is much bigger than trading speculation. Splendid corporate reports for 1936 have yet to make their impress on sentiment. While certain groups throughout November and December have shown that speculative fashions are changing, many others indicate that the lasting tide of prosperity is far from being discounted.

Grain Markets

Closing quotations on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange as furnished by J. H. Ketchenson and Co. today.

Wheat	High	Low	Close
December	126	126⅞	127¼
May	129¼	127⅝	129⅛
July	126¼	125	125¼
Oats:
December	53¼	53⅛	53
May.....	53¾	51¾	51¾
July.....	50⅞	49⅞	49⅞
Barley:
December	88	88	88
May.....	76	74⅝	74⅝
July.....	71⅛	69⅜	70
Rye:
December	111	106¼	108¼
May	112¾	106	107¾
July.....	109¼	106¼	107¾

Ald. Safe, Domenico Announce Retirements

"Pressure of business and my private affairs have dictated in giving the position the attention it should have," declared Alderman Safe, in a statement to The Ontario Intelligencer this morning in which he declared his intention of withdrawing from the aldermanic field, "I do not feel that I can do the honors they have bestowed on me in the past and I wish to thank those who honored me this year, but I find it impossible to once again enter the field."

Alderman Frank Domenico also announced his retirement for the present at least, from the municipal field. Pressure of business and other social matters made it impossible for him to devote the necessary time to civic affairs. Mr. Domenico has been a member of the Council for four years and in that time as Chairman of Light has made many important improvements in this department. Alderman Domenico will be missed around the Council Board.

FIRE ORIGINATES IN PILE OF OLD RAGS

Fire, originating in a mysterious manner in a pile of old rags surrounding an engine in an old barn owned by Stanley Hall, resulted in an alarm being sent in to local fire headquarters at 2:20 o'clock this afternoon. Prompt application of chemicals by firemen in the building from the inside of the barn. A large amount of firewood was piled in the building but was not damaged.

The overheated stovepipe was the cause of a blaze at 342 Charles St., shortly after nine o'clock this morning. The flues through which the pipe passed became ignited resulting in considerable damage to walls and the roof. Prompt answered an alarm and extinguished the blaze before any damage resulted.

W. O'NEIL, ODESSA, CHARGED WITH THEFT

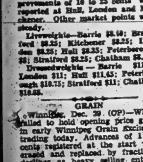
Seed grain thefts that have been prevalent throughout this district recently were brought home to one of its residents, when Otto Snider, Brinstown township farmer, complained of the loss of some $20.00 worth of seed buckwheat to the Odessa police.

Yesterday Provincial Constable Fred Barrett arrested Walter O'Neil of Odessa, at his home, on charges of theft of the seed grain. He is charged with stealing and entering Mr. Snider's barn and the theft of the seed grain. Accused was placed in the county jail at Napanee and will appear before Magistrate Jones at next session of police court for that county.

HOG QUOTATIONS

Toronto, Dec. 29 (CP)—Hogs prices advanced sharply at Harris'ay; Riverside paying 10 cents and Abattoirs 9 cents. Improvements of 10 to 25 cents were reported at Hall, Lesslie and Kitchener. Other market points were steady.

Riverside—Barrie $8.40; Brantford $8.25; Kitchener $8.25; London $8.25; Hall $8.35; Peterborough $8; Stratford $8.25; Chatham $8.



Dressed—Riverside — Barrie $11.30; London $11; Hall $11.45; Peterborough $10.75; Stratford $11; Chatham $10.85.

GRAIN

Winnipeg, Dec. 29 (CP)—Wheat rallied to hold opening price gains in early Winnipeg Grain Exchange trading today. Advances of 1-2 to 1 cents registered at the start were erased and replaced by fractional declines as heavy selling entered the pit.

Values near mid-session were unchanged to 1-2 cent lower, December at $1.27 1-2, May $1.27 3-8 and July $1.23 3-8.

Network of torrential rains in Argentina provided the early stimulant to the market.

FINANCE EXPERT DEAD

Prominent in financial and art circles, Frederick B. Hosmer died at his home in Toronto at the age of 67. Mr. Hosmer was financial editor of the Toronto Daily Star and first joined that paper in 1923. He later resigned to go into business, but returned to the paper in 1934. He was born in Winnipeg and was a student of theosophy.

—From Canadian Press Photo.

UNLISTED MINES

Unlisted mines furnished by A. H. Ketchenson and Co., today at 3.30.

Albany	90-95
Alberta & B.	50-60
Blackhall	100-130
Coniptan	13-14
Dupont Gold	36-42
Darwin	37-40
Can. Malartic	15-20
Forty Four	220A
Fauquhan Gold	6-8
Gold Belt	8-13
Laps. Cadillac	130-136
Lillooet	14-16
Gillies Lake	56-58
Hinde Dauch	8-11
Lamaque	775-825
Leitch Gold	89-92
Madsen Red Lake	130-136
McCarthy Web	41-45
Malartic	39-42
Martin McNeely	8A
Moffat Gold	8-11
Moffat Oil	8A
Okland	8&3
Old Diamond	41-44
Pandora Cadillac	100-108
Rim Lake	8A
Rahill	30A
Rober	11-12
Rockton Gold	2 1-2 to 10 1-2
Sturgeon River	45-49
Stadacona	26A
Schriber	12-18
Sherrigan	27-28
Sigma	500A
Sladac Extension	14A
Thom Lake	206-210
Wendigo	28-32
Willans	Lake 10A

TORONTO MINES

Toronto, Dec. 29—(CP)—Selected issues of the mining list, chiefly in the golds, moved ahead on lively trading volume today. Pow base metals were a bit heavy on the whole and the oils were firm but quiet, on Toronto Stock Exchange. Feud. Oroville featured the base metals with a gain of 26 cents to 4.15. Hudson Bay lost nearly a point.

Facing another week-end close down, from 1 p.m. Thursday December 31 to Monday January 4, the market was inclined to a slower trading tempo this afternoon following an active early session. Gainers were Hard Rock, Chibougamau, Frontier, Moneta, Sylvanite, Kirkland Lake and Francoeur.

WALL STREET

New York, Dec. 29.—(AP)—Timid Stock Market buyers picked up selected issues in today's proceedings but steered clear of many of the leaders.

In comparatively slow trading prices displayed slightly uneven terms, fear the fourth hour.

Some commodities, especially export copper, bounded up to new recovery peaks, while rubber, grain and cotton futures were inclined to react.

Dome Mines and Hiram Walker were laggard among Dominion stocks, while McKinney, Internationa Nickel, Canadian Pacific and Dis tillers Corp.-Seagrams crept a little higher.

Canadian Government Bonds were virtually even. Canadian dollars yielded 1-32 of a cent at 100.03 1-8 cents.

Some of the oils again edged forward. Among those were Standards of N.J., Californis and Indiana, Texas Corp., and Seaboard.

Others showing an upward tilt most of the session included Douglas Aircraft, North American Aviation Sears Roebuck, Woolworth, Deere and International Harvester.

TORONTO INDUSTRIALS

Toronto, Dec. 29.—(CP)— The implement shares displayed buoyancy on heavy trading in the Industrial section, Toronto Stock Exchange. Cockshutt Plow adding more than a point and the Massey-Harris issue adding fractions. Gains out-weighed the losses in the Steel, Utility and Food groups.

Trading was active in C.P.R. and a gain of nearly a point was registered. International Nickel and Ford A were higher at early trading and the Liquor and Oils were barely firm. Dominion Stores, the Loblaw Stocks and Consolidated Bakeries were gainers in the Foods.

Livestock

Toronto, Dec. 29.—(CP)—A 25-cent rise in lamb prices was the only notable change on the Toronto Livestock Market today. Cattle moved slowly at steady prices and calves and sheep traded at previous levels. The hog market was also steady. Early afternoon. Cattle unsettled by early afternoon. Cattle unsettled by early afternoon. Cattle holdover from Monday was 300 head.

Stock Markets

Quotations furnished by Biggar and Crawford, F. H. Wills, branch manager. Quotations at 2.30.

MINES

Acme	13
Ajax	60
Armfield	88
Ashley	2 1-2
Anglo Rur.	940
Base Metals	27
Beattie	130
Bobjo	19 1-2
Big Missouri	60
Bagamac	7 1-2
Bralorne	760
Brx	11
Buffalo Ank	11 1-2
Chatle Tr.	140
Can. Malar	186
Central Pat.	450
Chemical Research	135
Chromium	130
Coast Copper	700
Obiboug	196
Consturum	198
Dome	16 1-4
Eldorado	226
Falconbridge	11 1-2
God's Lake	93
Goldcrest	65
Gunnar	108
Greene St.	43
Hardrock	900
Home Oil	270
Hollinger	13 1-8
Howey	60
Hudson Bay	32 5-8
Int. Nick. Can.	41
Kirk. Lake	94
Lake Shore	17 1-2
Lebel	16 1-2
Little L. L.	780
Macassa	800
Man. R.	13
McIntyre	36 7-8
McKenzie	180
McMillan	18
McWatters	86
Mining Corp.	310
Noranda	74
Nipissing	266
O'Brien	1214
Parkhill	20
Paymaster	115
Pamour	400
Perron	213
Pend. Or.	420
Pickle Crow	796
Pioneer	18
Premier	435
Pros. Air	130
Read Auth.	476
Red Lake G. S.	136
Reno	118
Royalite	47½
San Antonio	232
Sherritt G.	260
Sisco	526
Stadacona	27
St. Anthony	26
Sudbury Basin	616
Sudbury Mines	3½
Sullivan	210
Sylvanite	361
Taub.	16
Teck Hughes	535
Tex. Can. Oil	226
Thom.	205
Ventures	296
Wallc Amulet	300
Wayside	64
Wright Hargreaves	775
Unit	38
Barnfield	107
Francoeur	113
Glenora	35
May Spiers	40
Moneta	175
McVilla	17
Rouyn Merg.	60
Shawkey	77
Siadon	213

TORONTO

Bell Telephone 156 3-4
B.A. Oil 22 5-8
Brewing Corp. 2 1-4
Brew. Trac. 17 3-4
Can. Bud. Brewery 8 1-4
Can. Cement 14
Can. Dredge 44 1-2
Can. Ind. Alcohol 7 1-4
C.P.R. 15
Can. Malting 34 1-2
Can. Vinegar 19 1-2
Canada Car 30 1-2
Cockshutt Plow 13 1-4
Cons. Bakeries 20 1-4
Con. Smelting 80
Dominion Stores 19 3-4
Dist. Seagrams 27
Fanny Farmer 17 1-8
Ford "A" 22 5-8
Gypsum 13 3-4
Goodyear 21
Imp. Oil 20 1-8
Int. Nickel 42 1-2
Inter. Pet 32 3-4
Imp. Tobacco 13 3-4
Lobaw 22 1-2
Massey Harris 7 3-4
Mont. Power 24 5-8
McColl-Frontenac 13
Power Corp. 29 1-2
Steel of Canada 34
Supertest 3-4
Standinian 28
Walker's 47
Walker's Pfd. 19 1-4
Walkerville Brewery 2

NEW YORK

American Can. 114 5-8
American T. and T. 134 3-4
Amer. For. Power 7
American Rachiator 26 1-4
Anaconda 23 1-2
Auburn 27 1-2
Bethlehem Steel 74 1-2
Case 139 1-2
Chrysler 116 3-4
General Electric 53 1-2
General Motors 65 1-8
Gen. Auto Line 39 1-2
Inter. Telephone 11 1-2
North American 26 5-8
Montgomery Ward 64 3-8
Phillips Pet. 51 1-2
Radio 10 7-8
Simmons 43 1-4
Standard Oil of N. J. 82 5-8
Standard Brands 13 1-8
Stewart-Warner 17 1-2
U. S. Smelters 84 1-2
U. S. Steel 77 1-2
United Aircraft 28 3-4
Vanadium 26
Westinghouse 143 7-8

Produce Markets

(By United Farmers Co-Operative Company)

Toronto, Ontario, December:—

Buying Prices

United Farmers' Co-operative Co. today were paying the following prices for Toronto delivery:

Eggs—Prices to producers, cases returned basis, delivered Toronto:

A-large	38
A-medium	36c
Pullets	30c
"B"	31c
"C"	18c
Churning Cream, No. 1 lb	39c
Churning Cream, No. 2 lb	36c
Butter lb., No. 1	30c
Butter lb, No. 2	29c

(Quotations in Cents)

Young Chickens—

	Dressed	Sel.
Over 5 lbs	17	14
4 to 5 lbs	16	13
3 to 4 lbs	12	11
Old roosters	9	11

All "A" grade poultry 3c lower than "A". "C" grade 3c lower than "B"

	Sel. A
Young Turkeys—
8 to 10 lbs	30
10 to 12 lbs	31
Over 13 pounds	32
Young Geese
Over 8 lbs	13
Other Geese	11
Young ducks, while 4 to 5 lb	14c
over 5 lbs	12c

(Colored ducklings, 3c less.)

Selling Prices

United Farmers' Co-operative Co. yesterday were offering produce to retail dealers at the following prices:

Butter—No. 1 Creamery prints No. 1 28, No. 2, 27c.

Eggs—

A-large	32c
"B"	30c
"C"	20c

Prices for new Ontario beef f.o.b. shipping point $1.25

HAY AND STRAW

No. 3 timothy, $19 to $11 per ton; No. 2 timothy, $9 to $10; oats and wheat straw $5 to $7. Above prices f.o.b. Toronto.

Livestock Quotations

(Toronto)

Steers, up to 1,200 lbs. good 45.00 $5.25
Do., medium 3.25 4.75
Do., common 2.25 3.25
Steers, over 1,000 lbs.
choice 6.00 6.25
Do., good 5.25 5.75
Do., medium 4.75 5.25
Do., common 4.25 4.50
Heifers, good, choice 5.00 5.25
Do., medium 4.25 4.75
Do., common 3.25 4.25
Cows, choice, export and
choice 7.00 8.00
Do., good 6.00 7.00
Do., medium 5.50 6.25
Cows, good 4.50 5.00
Do., medium 3.75 3.00
Do., common 2.25 2.50
Bulls, good, choice 5.00 5.25
Do., common 2.50 3.75
Stockers and feeder steers,
good 3.75 4.00
Do., common 3.25 3.50
Milkers and Springers 35.00 65.00
Calves, good choice veals 9.00 10.50
Do., common to medium 6.00 9.00
Grassers 3.00 4.50
Hogs, f.o.b. 8.25
Do. off trucks 8.75
Do. off cars 9.00
Good sheep and wether
lambs 9.00 9.25
Do., medium 8.50 8.75
Bucks 7.00 8.00
Do., Culls 5.00 6.00
Sheep, good light 3.50 4.50
Do., heavies 2.00 4.00
Do., culls, ... 1.50 2.50

BURR'S

Burrs—Master Kenneth Baker, Foxboro, is spending his holidays with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Fox.

Christmas Visitors Were:

Mr. and Mrs. Jolinne Moon spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Jack McBride and Mrs. Emma Alsworth, Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Noxon, Christine, Joan and Mrs. Ann D. Doolittle were with Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Morden, Mr. Thos. Vanooli, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Wood and Lee, were with Mr. and Mr. Kenneth Vanooli.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hubbs, Mt. Pleasant, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Carley and family, South Lakeside, were with Mr. and Mrs. Bride Hough.

Mr. and Mrs. George Huffman, Margaret and Floyd and Mr. George Dunbabbin were with Mr. and Mrs. Gladwin Harris.

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan, Bloomfield were with her parents Mr. and Mrs. E. Cooke.

Mr. and Mrs. O. Hubbs and Vera were with Mrs. O. L. McPaul.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Marvin dined with Mr. and Mrs. Ray Dunphy and spent the tea hour with Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Carter.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Burr and Ronald were with Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Wilson, Christmas Eve.

EATON'S IN 1937 FOR

LOW REGULAR PRICES BIG WEEKLY BARGAINS FINE FOODS ALWAYS

Meat Specials FOR THAT NEW YEAR'S HOLIDAY

Grade A
DUCKS ..... lb. 24c
Choice Roasting
CHICKENS ..... lb. 23c
Smoked Hams .. lb. 28c
Half or Whole
Short
Rib Roast ..... lb. 13c
Blade Roast ..... lb. 12c
Shoulder Roast .. lb. 10c
Chuck Roast ..... lb. 9c
Rib
Stewing Beef .... lb. 8c
Boneless
Pork Butts ..... lb. 19c
Sliced Breakfast
BACON ..... lb. 25c
Fresh or Smoked
FILLETS ..... 2 lbs. 29c
Silver Bright
SALMON ..... 2 lbs. 25c

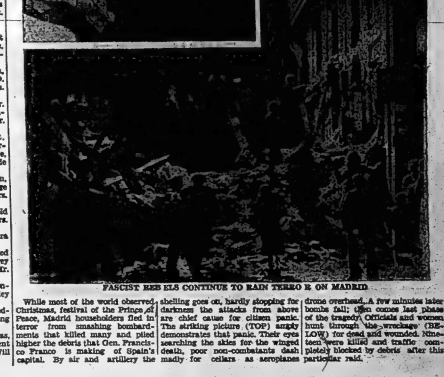
EXTRA SPECIAL
Libby's
PORK & BEANS
Large 28-ounce Tin
10c

Delicious With Your Poultry
CRANBERRY JELLY
By SHERIFFS
with Pectin 12-oz. jar 24c

KERN'S FAMOUS
MUSTARD 26c
¼-lb. tin

A Healthful Refreshing Drink.
HEALTH SALTS 35c
Eaton's. 1-lb. tin

HOLIDAY FRUITS and VEGETABLES
SEEDLESS
Grapefruit
6 for 25c
Navel Oranges
Good Size
Dozen 33c



More New Year's Suggestions
Eaton's Rich
Fruit Cake lb. 25c
Old Colonial
CHOCOLATES
lb. box . . 25c
Fruit and Nut
CHOCOLATES
lb. box . . 25c
Duchess Mixed
Candy 2 lbs. 25c
Robertson's Assorted
Chocolates lb. 29c
4 lbs. 75c
Canada Dry
Ginger Ale . . 1.85
1 doz. 12 oz. bts
Plus 2c on each bt.
Sage Poultry
DRESSING
shaker . . . 9c
CRACKERS
for Your New Year's Party
Box 35c
Pep up your festivities with tasty crackers in gay colors — complete with salt and serviette.
Quite inexpensive they are.

MORE SPECIALS for Your Value Laden Basket

SPECIAL DOMESTIC SHORTENING 13c
lb. Print
Tins 49c
Use that Christmas to over-indulge in delicious pastry.
Make baking easier—buy the pure fat of Canada's Domestic brand at an obvious good saving to you.

AT A REAL SAVING FAMILY
TEA
All Eaton Blends
lb. 39c
Keep that School Girl Complexion
PALMOLIVE SOAP . 3 cakes 14c
Lemonized Soda for Tub or Washer
OXYDOL SOAP . . . small pkg. 9c
White Swan Sterilized
TOILET TISSUE . . . 2 rolls 19c

EATON GROCETERIA

FASCIST REB ELS CONTINUE TO RAIN TERRO R ON MADRID

While most of the world observed Christmas, festival of the Prince of Peace, Madrid householders fled in terror from smashing bombardments that killed many and piled higher the debris that Gen. Francisco Franco is making of Spain's capital. By air and artillery the madly shelling goes on, hardly stopping for darkness the attacks from above are chief cause for citizen panic. The striking picture (TOP) amply demonstrates that panic. Their eyes teem were killed and traffic com- pletely blocked by debris after this drone overhead...A few minutes later bombs fell; then comes last phase of the tragedy. Officials and women hunt through the wreckage (BE- LOW) for dead and wounded. Nine-

THE CANADIAN PRESS NEWS DIARY OF 1936

January

1—Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia protests to League of Nations that Italy is using poison gas and dum-dum bullets in the Red Cross.

—Dishonored bill sent from Dunedin, N.Z., to search for Lincoln Ellsworth, United States Arctic explorer, missing, and Herbert Hollick-Kenyon, New Brunswick explorer, found safe.

2—Ice breaking up in Gulf of St. Lawrence, and ships are released after being held up for weeks.

—Fresh fighting reported between Italians and Ethiopians in Tembien area.

3—Sir Austen Chamberlain returned unopposed in Birmingham West by-election, succeeding his brother Neville.

—Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson granted decree absolute in Baltimore.

4—Canadian Minister of Agriculture, Dr. Ogilvie, dies suddenly at Ottawa.

—Sir Edward Wood, Viscount Halifax, G.C.S.I., G.B.E., Baron Eskdale, Baron Irwin, Viscount Irwin and Baronet of Kirby Underdale, created Knight of the Garter.

5—Lord Tweedsmuir (Queen Victoria's nephew) and Lord Cromer (Queen Alexandra's nephew) attend funeral of Princess Victoria.

6—Lincoln Ellsworth, United States explorer, and Ernest Lee Jahncke, Legion of Winnipeg, missing since Nov. 23, found safe at Little America base. Canada shows improvement in trade during 1935, with favorable trade balance for fiscal year.

7—King George V dies at Sandringham.

8—King Edward VIII takes oath of accession and receives pledge of fealty from Privy Council.

—Edward proclaimed King in London and Accession Council meets to sign Secretary Anthony Eden read proclamation. Dominion governments proclaim Edward King and Emperor, and other nations to greet of United States Minister to Rome carries Roosevelt Bonus bill into Senate, 76 to 19.

—Body of King George taken to Ile in state at Westminster Hall, and lying buried in Fond's Corner in Windsor Castle, Berkshire, on January 28, English countside, France.

9—Albert Sarraut, Premier of France, Laval as French Premier, Pierre Etienne Flandin as Minister of Foreign Affairs.

10—Dr. J. Lothian Imrahad Governor of Leeward Islands.

—Sir Stanley Baldwin, Conservative Party wins general election.

11—Sir Stanley Baldwin, Conservative will preside Canadian textile Export Group.

—King George buried in St. George's Chapel, Windsor, Berkshire, England, by snowstorm, 22 killed.

12—Dr. Eric Gerstenberg, Toronto, elected M.P. for Norwood, Ont.

13—Governor Bethlen of Hungary sworn in opening of Hindenburg Bridge over Danube, Budapest, connecting Monastery Air View-Mandal.

—Marshal Sir Cyril Newall, aeronautical leader, dies. Twenty bogus 600 Vote issued to check to locked trust in Alabama.

—Or—

February

1—Russell Knowles convicted at London, Ont., court in part in the killing of Jack Lalash. Sentence Thursday was expected at the time of Queen's Quebec meeting.

2—Russell—Lt.-Col. Tranter, Belgian expert, appointed to command Belgian troops in Rhine demilitarized zone.

3—Alberta Legislature passes bill to compel Social Credit members to resign seat and take. Lord Tweedsmuir and Lord Cromer to be entertained in London by Lambeth Ball.

4—Colonel A. G. Gerrans accepts in principle League resolution involving No. 2 Squadron's right of Rhine demilitarized zone.

5—British Houses turns down Labor motion favoring immediate economic reforms to study fairer division of raw materials and trade.

—Lord Tweedsmuir opens 18th Parliament of Canada.

6—Proposal by King George and Queen Elizabeth awarded to Dr. J. S. Colley, Saskatchewan Rhodes Scholar, and W. Stewart Wallace, Toronto. Russell Knowles found guilty of murder of John Lalash kidnapping in 1934. Sentenced to hang March 26.

—Canada's wheat crop in 1935 in Chicago says United States will have to rely on importation of open door policy in China.

7—Sir Jules—Lefilet Perrier, French Ambassador to Italy, and Pierre Laval, Premier, confer with Mussolini.

—Thirty-nine killed in film plant explosion at Rome, Italy.

—King Edward sends invectives at Parliament House, Westminster, to Presidency John Simon Col. Robert Gordon-Canning.

8—Sir Francis D. Carter-Cotton created as Toronto as Roman Catholic Archbishop Toronto.

—Finance Minister Dunning leaves C.P.R. for visit to Australia and New Zealand.

—Canadian Parliament declares for Canadian Parliament and elected reforms.

—Sir Samuel Hoare said to have proposed peace with League powers terms over Ethiopia.

—Sir—Earl—Byron Brownlow—Lord Perry Duke of Bedford—Lord Englefield—Australia Foreign Secretary Hoare into Commons—Lord Cecil—Lord Robert Cecil—Lord Lytton—Lord Lytton—Lord Lytton

THE WEATHER
Moderately strong winds; cloudy and mild with snow or rain today and early Tuesday, followed by northwesterly winds and becoming cold.

The Ontario Intelligencer

TEMPERATURES
Max. Min.
Today 36 29
Year ago 16 2

BELLEVILLE ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 30, 1936

EUROPE CHEERED ON ARMS BAN BY ROOSEVELT

Contests for Mayor and Aldermen; Trustees, Commissioner Acclaimed

Tension in Spanish Crisis Is Relieved by 3 Factors; Plane Export Ironed Out

Danger of World Conflagration Smoulders While War Lasts

PLAYING FOR TIME

Observers Believe France Beaten Whether Aided or Not

London, Dec. 30 (CP-Havas) — President Roosevelt's support of League legislative action to fill the peace machinery gap in the United States, by which parmits arms exports during the Ethiopian belligerency, has played an important part in relieving tension over the Spanish crisis.

Other factors tending to dispel the gloomy atmosphere over the international horizon are:

The release of the German freighter Palos de Bilbao.

A favorable reply from the Soviet Union on Anglo-French demands for an immediate halt in the flow of foreign volunteers to Spain.

Imminent signing of the Anglo-Italian agreement on Mediterranean questions.

Roosevelt's Support Helps.

News of President Roosevelt's support of a move to draft United States legislation to halt arms shipments to Spain arrived here shortly after the conference between Ray Atherton, Counsellor of the United States Embassy, and Sir George Mounsey, British Assistant Foreign Undersecretary.

Great Britain and other neutral powers look a grave view of the Washington Government's attempt to tie in licensing the export of more than $2,000,000 worth of airplanes for the Spanish Government.

The conference between Atherton and Sir George was understood to have been the first step in an effort to iron out the question before the session of the 27-power non-intervention committee.

Menace of Bloodshed Ends.

The decision of the United States Senate Foreign Relations Committee to London," the Morning Post said today. "We understand that Roosevelt's message on the subject may be made to Washington on behalf of the British Government. It should be pointed out that if American hearts supplying arms to Spain are to be the non-intervention committee will be brought to an end."

The News Chronicle, commenting on the release of the Palos, said the real moral of the situation is the necessity for ending quickly the state of affairs whereby a quarrel over a small merchant ship may become a menace to a world war."

The Manchester Guardian said if no reply were received to the messages sent Italy on the French and British notes by next week a reminder might be sent to the powers at Rome by the Paris and London governments.

The Issue With Hitler.

"The necessity cannot escape the attention of either Hitler or Mussolini — who are both playing for time by simply not sending a reply to the urgent Anglo-French plea — that they should help to make neutrality in this Spanish struggle real," the Guardian said.

"If at all it had pressed Hitler, so as to gain time, can agree to stop supplying Franco with arms, the people which would give him more than before transferred its support into practice. This would allow him to observe how the rebel offensive against Madrid was progressing and to assess further the prospects of civil war and to send a number more volunteers on the quiet.

"The view taken here of the prospects is almost unfavorable to the rebels as it was to the loyalists in November when the fall of Madrid seemed inevitable. It is conceivable that whether Hitler or Gen. Franco can win the war when if he does get further help from Germany. Rome observers are inclined to think he is beaten in any case."

AUTOS CRASH IN FOG

Windsor, Ont., Dec. 30—(CP)—Two automobiles crashed head-on on Highway No. 2 Highway early today, two miles east of St. Joachim. The four occupants of the cars were brought to hospital here suffering serious injuries. All were so badly shocked police were unable to question them. St. Joachim is 23 miles east of Windsor.

Those injured were:—I. Burgoyne Connery, 19, Chatham; Miss Helen Morley, 26, Chatham; Mrs. Gordon Dennis, 27, Oshawa and Mrs. Dennis, 24.

CHIEF CORONER GIVES ADVICE

Ask Motorists Not To Drive After Taking Liquor

Toronto, Dec. 30 (CP) — Chief Coroner Dr. M. M. Crawford today advised Toronto motorists to heed their New Year's resolutions with one that they would not drive after having taken liquor.

He urged care on the streets New Year's Eve, besides, pointing to the Christmas traffic toll of 159 persons injured, several of them fatally, in Toronto alone.

It is a scientific fact that liquor, even when taken lightly, slows down a driver's mental faculties and possibly to mean life or death in a traffic emergency, the chief coroner said.

PONTIFF REPORTED SOMEWHAT BETTER

Pain Diminishes as Blood Clot in Limb Disappears

Vatican City, Dec. 30 (AP)—Pope Pius, who has been in pain most virtually a sleepless night, was declared to have "improved somewhat" today.

Pain in the Pontiff's left leg diminished with the disappearance of a blood clot which had obstructed circulation in the paralyzed limb, reliable sources said.

Besides the slight improvement, concern was felt throughout the Vatican where it was feared the pain might come momentarily.

The damp mist which hung over the little city like a pall added to the sadness.

The Pontiff's general condition was said to be very grave. He suffered what was described as excruciating pain all through the night and went virtually sleepless.

A number of Italian soldiers given him by Dr. Amanti Milani, his official physician, were said to have caused the suffering in his swollen left leg to subside at 4 a.m. this.

The Pontiff frequently turned his eyes to a crucifix suspended over his bed as he admitted to the sick room said, and prayed.

It was disclosed that the Pope's dentist, Julios Cesare Zumini, was summoned some days ago to extract two teeth for the Holy Father when it was feared septic poisoning had set in.

The Pope is 79 years old.

HON. CHAS. MARCIL ILL

Ottawa, Dec. 30—(CP)— Hon. Charles Marcil, dean of the House of Commons, member for Bonaventure since 1900, was critically ill at his home here today following a major heart attack last night.

$28,000 RANSOM LIKELY PAID TO BOY'S KIDNAPPER

Intermediary Spends Time With Family Then Hurries Away

AD. IN NEWSPAPER

Mother Asks Holder of Child to Keep Him Warm

Tacoma, Wash., Dec. 30 (AP) — Lt. Col. Gus B. Appelman, frequently mentioned as the probable intermediary in the Charles Mattson kidnapping case, spent 40 minutes in Dr. W. W. Mattson's mansion today, then emerged hurriedly and sped away in a motor car on an undisclosed mission.

The secret and sudden departure, following the announcement last night by a family spokesman that negotiations with the kidnapper of the 10-year-old boy were almost complete, gave rise to rumors the $28,000 ransom demand had been met, or was to be met soon.

Increased activity around department of justice headquarters in an office building was evident and to observers it appeared there were developments.

During the night the Mattson home in which Charles was seized Sunday lay dark and silent.

Pray Clear Path.

Four clear paths lay open for the kidnapper to contact the prominent physician and collect the money.

But the boy's mother and grandmother were worried. Through the press last night they appealed to the kidnapper to "save the boy from harm. Keep him warm. He has had a severe cold."

The elderly grandmother Mrs. Charles said today:

"I don't think Charles will be able to stand being away from his mother much longer. They were very close."

Contacts offered to the kidnapper were:

The advertisement in the Seattle Times inviting him to contact Mr. Mattson. It said:

"Mabie: Please give us your address. Mom."

Denied Knowledge

Though members of the Mattson family denied knowledge of the ad the purported negotiator initially ignored said unqualifiedly the invitation was published by a man in contact with Charles' captor.

Appeal of Hydro May Not be Heard Until Mid-February

Toronto, Dec. 30.—(CP)—Attorney-General Roebuck said today Premier Hepburn and Counsel for Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission against the decision of the Supreme Court of Appeal in the Ottawa Valley Power Company case would not take place until the middle of February.

This was considered an indication an early session of the Ontario Legislature would not be held during January. Premier Hepburn had intimated a special session would be held about the time Privy Council make their decision in the case during January.

BRITAIN'S WAR-BIRDS LAY THEIR EGGS

A little known but highly important branch of British coastal defence is the arm of the Royal Air Force, equipped with aeroplanes that fire torpedoes from the air as the one at the RIGHT is doing. At the LEFT is a group of mechanics at the air force station at Gosport, Eng., attaching an aerial torpedo to one of the specially constructed planes. The torpedo, which weighs 1,500 pounds and are capable of inflicting enormous damage upon the largest ships.

Another Bull's Eye For Babson in 1937?

A year ago, Roger W. Babson said: "Business should be buzzing normal and heading into another period of prosperity by the end of 1936."

What happened? In spite of wars and elections, business has loomed steadily ahead and today, it stands at normal for the first time in seven years.

For fifteen years, Mr. Babson has given the country accurate views on coming business events. In 1929, he foretold the Stock Market crash almost to a day. In 1932, he foretold the end of the depression.

Again, as we approach the New Year, he tells the country what to expect in 1937. Can he hold his record of accuracy through another year of uncertainties?

Read what Mr. Babson says about business for next year. You will find his exclusive feature in this newspaper December 31, 1936

Hill and Arnott for Mayor 14 Qualify for Council Seats

Hydro Commissioner And Members of School Board Returned by Acclamation; Little Interest Exhibited as Election Date Nears

On Monday next electors of the city of Belleville, will have an opportunity of selecting their mayor and council for the ensuing twelve months. At the closing time for qualifications on Tuesday evening, two had signified their intention to run for the Chief Magistrate's chair, while fourteen citizens will seek seats around the Aldermanic Board. Mayor Harry Hill and Alderman R. D. Arnott qualified for the mayoralty contest while Harold Armstrong, J. W. Barlow, G. G. Bavagar, Thomas Bowen, W. J. Clapp, Laurie Lewis, G. E. Thompson, T. V. Tweddle, and S. R. Jennings of the present council qualified along with Isaac Simpson, H. R. Arundel, J. W. Harvey, A. M. Kennedy and E. J. Baldwin. Ex-Mayor George A. Reid was acclaimed as Hydro Commissioner. The School Trustees were elected by acclamation and were Foster Ward, Rev. L. S. Wight; Dawson Ward, Rev. Moncrieff; Ketcheson Ward, P. C. McGuire; Baldwin Ward, H. J. Allin; Bleecker Ward, G. F. Lent; Coleman Ward, W. J. Harrison; Murney Ward, Col. A. Geen.

Alderman Bateman, Safe and Domenico retired from the contest they not having the time to devote to city business owing to pressure of personal affairs.

These aldermen will be missed around the council board as all gave fine service to their city.

At the same time as the contests take place for mayor and aldermen, the citizens will have a chance to decide a number of questions, that if passed will be considered by the incoming council. The electors will be asked if they wish a City Manager, a Public Utilities Commission, a municipally elected Board of Education, a reduction in the number of aldermen and what they favor a grant to the Belleville Municipal Band. Only taxpayers will be allowed to vote on the last named by-law. Interest in the election does not seem to be as keen as in previous years, but it is expected that activity will increase as polling day nears. The meeting to discuss the affairs of the City and for the old council to give an account of their stewardship will be held on Friday evening. At that time all candidates for municipal office will be given the privilege to express their views.

GERMAN OFFICERS JOIN CONFERENCE WITH CHANCELLOR

Generals of 12 Army Corps in Berlin Simultaneously

REACTION TO DUCE

German Officers Said Not to Have Enthused Over Italian Pact

(By Wade Werner)
(Associated Press Foreign Staff)

Berlin, Dec. 30.—(AP)—Virtually every high ranking German army officer descended on Berlin today in an atmosphere unsurpassed with reports that Premier Mussolini had advised Chancellor Hitler to stop helping Gen. Francisco Franco in Spain.

With a decision on Germany's next move in Spain believed near at hand, numerous members of the army command who never have been enthusiastic about Premier Italian recognition of General Francisco Franco, Spanish insurgent leader, or about helping Franco's armies with German volunteers, reacted to the Mussolini speech with "I told you so," bitterness.

Spain Question Here

Some sections of military opinion which from the start doubted Mussolini was reliable as an ally were doubly doubtful today.

The commanding Generals of every German army corps—12 in all—were in Berlin simultaneously with Hitler, Marshal Werner Von Blomberg, the Defence Minister; German Hermann Goering, Air Minister; General Werner Von Fritsch, Army Chief of Staff; Foreign Minister Konstantin Von Neurath, Italian Ambassador Dino Alfieri; Schacht; and the Ambassador to London, Joachim Von Ribbentrop.

Absolute Divorce Bill In Isle of Man House

London, Dec. 30 (CP)—Leave has been given in the House of Keys, the legislature of the Isle of Man, to introduce a bill to enable the courts to pronounce decrees of absolute divorce.

At present divorce is granted in the Isle of Man only by special act of the legislature, which costs the petitioner from about £200 to £200 ($1,000). The position, therefore is similar to that which existed in England until the Matrimonial Causes Act of 1857.

The procedure now prevailing in the Isle of Man is said to operate very frequently. As far back as twenty years ago a divorce bill was passed by the House of Keys but it was rejected by the Legislative Council largely, it is understood, through the influence of the church.

The Isle of Man enjoys a large measure of self-government. It is not represented in the British House of Commons. However, the Lord Bishop of Sodor and Man has a seat in the House of Lords but no vote.

Duce Washes Hands of Spain, Advises Hitler to Withdraw

Report Says Mussolini Carries Great Weight With Hitler

BILBAO INCIDENT

Berlin, Dec. 30 (AP)—Chancellor Hitler has been advised by Premier Mussolini of Italy, informed quarters in close touch with Rome said today, to withdraw entirely from Spain as soon as possible.

The Italian representative having decided to wash his hands of Spanish affairs, the fate of Spain's insurgents and to have suggested Hitler follow suit.

Reports in the future policy toward Spanish Fascism was expected in informed circles to have great weight in any decision Hitler and his Reichswehr reach, as Franco-British demands for strict non-intervention in the Spanish civil war.

The chancellor, cutting short his Christmas holiday to return to the capital, called a conference of Nazi leaders including Baron Konstantin von Neurath, Minister of Foreign Affairs, and Joachim von Ribbentrop, Ambassador to London.

Fascism and Bolshevism Ended.

How far Germany will go to force the Spanish Socialist government to free a Spanish passenger and freight steamer from the assembly Palos while it was interned in Bilbao harbor may be settled at the conference.

A foreign office spokesman said reprisals of some sort following the ceiling the Quebec contracts invalid and ruled the Ottawa Valley Power could continue suit against the Commission, without consent of the Attorney-General, for non-performance of contract.

Drivers Must Stay Sober Roebuck Gives Warning; Police Leaves Cancelled

Excessive And Illegal Drinking Not to be Countenanced

NO EXCUSES TAKEN

Police to Patrol Highways Day And Night Over Holiday

Toronto, Dec. 30.—(CP)— With all leaves cancelled, the entire staff of Ontario Provincial Police will be on duty New Year's Eve and Day to enforce provisions of the Canada Control Act and endeavour to prevent high motor accident toll, Attorney-General Arthur Roebuck said today.

"Officers are warned to avoid excessive drinking, not to drive a car after drinking and not to consume liquor in illegal places," said the Attorney General.

"Magistrates will not take the holiday season as an excuse in liquor cases," he said. "Police will be on duty throughout the whole province and King's highways will be patrolled day and night over the holiday.

CALL LEGISLATURE IN TWO WEEKS

Premier Hepburn Decides to Fight Power Barons

St. Thomas, Ont., Dec. 30—(CP) An Ontario legislature session within two weeks, earliest in recent years, to fight the Quebec power contracts situation was a strong but not passed possible today to political observers pondering a statement by Premier Hepburn.

Mr. Justice W. R. Middleton in Toronto yesterday turned down an order compelling the Ontario Hydro Commission to expedite its appeal to the privy council from the Ontario Appeal Court's majority decision in the Ottawa Valley Power Company case. Forecast of the early appeal decision from Premier here last night.

"If the Privy Council is to hear the appeal from the Ottawa Valley Power Company decision at its January sittings," the Premier said "Then I shall consult my cabinet on the matter in Toronto, immediately after the New Year and recommend that the legislature be called together for a short session.

By a 3-2 decision last October the Ontario Court of Appeals upheld the ceiling the Quebec contracts invalid and ruled the Ottawa Valley Power could continue suit against the Commission, without consent of the Attorney-General, for non-performance of contract.

FRANK A. ROLPH IS TRANSFERRED

Resigns Presidency of Royal Bank to Become Board Chairman

Toronto, Dec. 30.—(CP)—Frank A. Rolph resigned today as President of the Imperial Bank of Canada and was elected chairman of the Board, General Manager A. E. Phipps became president and will continue also as general manager.

Announcement of the changes was made following a regular weekly meeting of the Bank's Board of Directors.

Mr. Rolph was elected president in 1930 upon the death of Brig.-General Hoyland. He had served on the Board since 1919. Born in Toronto, he began his career with the lithographing firm of Rolph-Clark-Stone Limited. He is a former president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

The new President, Mr. Phipps, has been general manager since 1934. He began his career with the bank at Brandon, Man., in 1901. President of the Canadian Bankers' Association in 1928 and 1929, he was elected to the bank's Board in 1929.

WAR CORRESPONDENT DIES

London, Dec. 30—(AP)—A. G. Macs, noted war correspondent and author of a number of adventure stories, died yesterday at his home at Herne Bay, Kent, in his 69. He ranged the battlefields of South Africa, Macedonia and Manchuria, covering the Boer War, trouble in the Balkans and the outbreak of war of 1904-5 for the London Daily News.

Quick, Watson, The Needle!

Atlantic City, N.J., Dec. 30.—Surgery for periodic drunkards and for delirium tremens was described to the American Association for the Advancement of Science by D. E. S. Cowles of New York.

The surgery is a virtually painless puncture with a needle of the spine every ten days to draw off spinal fluid. It is based partly on the fact, Dr. Cowles said that his tests showed alcohol can be found in the spinal fluid six weeks after an excessive drinker has taken his last drink.

Alcoholism, he said, is an irritation of the lining of the brain and of the lining of the nervous system.

Coming Events

IMPORTANT! PLEASE NOTE! "The Change of the Light Brigade" will be presented once only on Thursday evening. Performance begins at 8 p.m. Feature offering at 8.20 p.m. Two complete shows tonight. d30-1t

THE TWENTY-FOURTH ANNUAL Ham Social and Dance, Bowling Club, Thursday, 8 o'clock.—Doors close hear the new candidates speak. d28-3t

MOOSE EUCHRE, BINGO AND Dance, Wednesday, December 30, $15 in euchre prizes, two voucher door prizes. Cards 8.30. Dancing till one. Good music. Admission 35c. Admission 25c. Dance New Year's Eve, 9 till one. Admission 50c. d29-3t

GOODBYE '36. HELLO '37. QUINTE Inn, New Year's Eve. Everyone is coming. Orchestra by Tommie Mason and his orchestra. Don't miss it. d28, 30

NEW YEAR'S DANCE IN SHANnonville Hall, December 31st, under the auspices L.O.L. Music by Cy Liddles and his River Drivers. Door prize. Admission 35c d28, 30

TONIGHT AND SATURDAY night, dance in Johnstone's Ballroom, Frankford, comes Eastern Ontario's most delightful ballroom. Tommie Mason and his famous music will entertain you. d30, 31

City and District News

DRIVER NOT BLAMED FOR GIRL'S INJURY

Leaving the side of her mother and darting directly into the path of an oncoming automobile, Hilda Jane McMillan, aged four years of 134 South John St., was knocked to the pavement, suffering shock, contusion, and bruises when struck by an automobile driven by Joseph Gilbert, 232 Clarence St., Oshawa, on that Dundas St. early last night.

The injured child was taken to the office of Dr. C. S. Cronk where the received medical attention and later it was announced no serious injuries had resulted.

Mrs. McMillan, accompanied by her mother and her little daughter Joan, was attempting to cross Dundas St. and had stood on the curb in order to permit a west bound automobile to pass. As the vehicle passed by little Joan suddenly left the side of her mother and darted across the street, directly in the path of Mr. Fenbert's car, that was proceeding east. The right fender of the car struck the little girl knocking her down. Mr. Fenbert immediately stopped and rendered assistance and accompanied the girl and her mother to the surgeon's office. P. C. Thomson investigated and was informed by Mrs. McMillan no blame was attached the driver.

RIVER RAISES OWING TO RAINS

Swollen by water overflowing swamp lands through the north part of the county, the Moira River continued its steady rise today, running in swirling currents to wider openings in the bed of the river and river's mouth. During the past few days the break up of the former solid sheet of ice of the river has been steady and gradual. At the present time, these openings have been cut through which the water gains easy access.

CEMENT PREPARE TO HARVEST ICE

Though locations have been staked by the Belleville Cement with the customary shrubs and small green trees staked in the ice and marking the corners and borders, it will be some time yet before the men of the city are able to commence the first of the annual ice harvest in the Bay of Quinte, it was learned this year. Covered with average conditions, one of the heaviest crops on record will be harvested. Since late in the fall ice houses have been depleted and in many cases artificial refrigeration has been necessary to satisfy customers. The unprecedented heat for last summer led to an over consumption of ice.

PRE-CANCER LESIONS IN TUNGSTEN CURED

Atlantic City, N.J., Dec. 30.—Dr. Malcolm Wallace Chase, director of the Oral Surgery Metropolitan Hospital in New York City, reported to the American Association for the Advancement of Science yesterday that early cancer of the tongue, which may develop into cancer, can be successfully cured.

He said that cases of a precancerous nature, which is not yet a cancer but tends to develop into one if neglected, can be corrected by the elimination of the local irritation such as excessive use of tobacco in any form; decayed teeth with sharp edges, poorly fitted dentures and other causes of chronic irritation.

ARMED BANDIT SECURES $80

Fire One Shot Wounding Caretaker on Little Finger

North Bay, Ont., Dec. 30.—(AP)—A police bet is spread over this Northern Ontario district today in research for the armed bandit who robbed the office of Coleman and Frost, coal and wood dealers, last night. The man escaped with between $70 and $80 after firing one shot a Charles E. Coleman, wounding him.

Coleman told police the intruder wore a red handkerchief tied about his face. As the elderly proprietor was leaving the office with the day's receipts the bandit appeared with a gun. Coleman reached for the door and a heavy revolver bullet grazed his hand, grabbing a little finger.

The bandit bound Coleman's hands behind his back with cord and took the money from his pocket. He turned and escaped, leaving Coleman in the store, where two employees working in the coal yard later found him.

Police were given a rough description of the man and started an immediate search.

It Pays to Shop at the Rexall Store.

AFTER CHRISTMAS—
Bisma Rex
CORRECTS DIGESTIVE TROUBLES GAS, PAIN, BLOATING.
75c
McKeown's DRUG STORE

CLARE'S
TAXI
4 — HEATED CARS — 4
24-Hour Service
Phone
196
Clare Drives With Care

Andrew M. Kennedy

SOLICITS YOUR VOTE AND INFLUENCE FOR THE OFFICE OF

ALDERMAN

Coronation Functionaries Polishing Good Old English

London, Dec. 30—Officials whose task it will be to announce important personages at the coronation functions next May have started brushing up on "good old English" pronunciation, for there is quite a task.

To the Canadian it would be well nigh impossible, for, just by the way of example, how would you pronounce the name of Lord Enfrenn? Ah, ha, you would, would you? Well it is pronounced "Elvern."

Just a few of many examples are: St. John is really Sin-jun; Marjoribanks, Marchbanks; St. Maur, Seamore, Featherstonehaugh, is Fanshawe; and Brougham is Brum.

Niagara Falls probably would be Niffles.

Obituary

MRS. ROSE LAMORE (Trenton)

Trenton, Dec. 30 (Special)—Death came suddenly this Wednesday morning, Dec. 30th., to Mrs. Rose LaMorre, wife of Mr. Amadee LaMorre, butcher, at the family residence, Harmora Street, Trenton. To many friends her passing will come as a shock and regret.

The late Mrs. LaMorre was born at Campbellford, Ont., 73 years ago, her parents being Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Genereaux. For the past fifteen years she had been a resident of Trenton and by all who knew her she was held in esteem. In religion she was a member of St. Peter-in-Chains Roman Catholic Church.

Surviving to mourn her loss are her husband, Mr. Amadee LaMorre; four daughters, Phyllis, Mrs. Marie, Mrs. Arthur Kent, all of Trenton, all at home; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Genereaux; two sisters Miss Mary Genereaux and Mrs. A. Payette, both of Campbellford, Ont.; Messrs. Jasper Genereaux, William Genereaux, and Joseph Genereaux, all of Trenton, and John Genereaux of Quinte.

The funeral will take place Friday morning at Trenton.

MRS. EMILY BARNUM

After a brief illness Mrs. Emily Barnum, residence 61 Chatham St., passed away at the Belleville General Hospital on Tuesday, Dec. 29th.

The late Mrs. Barnum was the widow of Arthur Barnum and was born at Loyalist, Reg., 67 years ago, her parents being the late Mr. and Mrs. James Collip. For about forty years she was a resident of Belleville and by all who knew her she was most highly esteemed. Her passing is much regretted by many friends. In religion Mrs. Barnum was a member of Trinity Church of England and associated with St. Thomas' Church.

Surviving her are one daughter, Mrs. Helen LaRoche, Belleville; one son, James Barnum, Detroit, Mich.; three grandchildren, Mrs. Robert Chadwick, Belleville; Mrs. (Dr.) Basil Kosier, Kingston and Mrs. Peggy LaRoche, Belleville. Mrs. James Collip of Belleville is a sister-in-law of the late Mrs. Barnum.

The body of the late Mrs. Barnum is resting at the Tickell and Browne Funeral Home, Church St. The funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this paper.

DR. CHARLES F. THOMPSON
(Toronto)

Dr. Charles Franklin Thompson, veterinary surgeon, husband of Winnifred Bannatyne, passed away suddenly at Wellesley Hospital, Toronto, on Tuesday, December 29th, in his 46th year.

Interment will be made at Picton.

MORE SAND USED THAN PREVIOUSLY

This Will be Record Winter, Says Public Works Officially

"We'll probably set an all time record for sand consumption this season if this allpreness continues through the rest of the year", commented officials of the local department of public works this morning again engaged in spreading tons of sand on the city walks through the city. Due to the overnight thaw roads and walks again took on a glaze over which work bound residents slipped and slithered precariously. Since the beginning of the present season one of the heaviest jobs of the department has been that of making the streets and roads safe for both pedestrians and vehicular traffic.

Start the New Year Right by Treating the Family to Our Specials!
NEW YEAR'S
Turkey DINNER
75c
12 Noon to 9 p.m.
—OPEN ALL NIGHT NEW YEAR'S EVE—
BELMONT
RESTAURANT
220 Front Street

Starts at 11.45
COME AND ENJOY THE BIGGEST AND BEST FROLIC EVER PRESENTED IN OUR THEATRE

CAPITOL
NOW Playing
LOW PRICES
Matinee .. 27c
Evening .. 30c
"If you've got 'em Safe in jail.. DON'T TURN EM LOOSE
But Robert, free as the birds and bleak as a snake, is out on parole!
See this dramatic drama of his self-confessional and brief romance!
With
LEWIS STONE
JAMES GLEASON
BRUCE CABOT
LOUISE LATIMER
BETTY GRABLE
ADDED ATTRACTION ON THE SAME SHOW
THE FASTEST RACING DRAMA SINCE "BROADWAY BILL"!
DOWN the STRETCH
Warner Bros. Scandal of Thoroughbred Turfdom, with PATRICIA ELLIS · MICKEY ROONEY · DENNIS MOORE

HAPPY LANDING!

This Grand 2 ACE HIT SHOW ON OUR SCREEN.
HATS — NOISEMAKERS FAVOURS FOR ALL
MARSHALL · SCHILLY
MAKE WAY FOR A LADY
WITH
HARRIET MICHAEL · DOUGLAS CRAKAME
TICKETS NOW ON SALE
35c — Tax Included
CAPITOL

REV. MR. SINCLAIR GUEST SPEAKER

Writing Our Signatures is Subject of Address

Kiwanis members will enter the New Year with a renewed determination to further the aims and objects of the Club after listening to the splendid address given by Rev. A. G. Sinclair of Victoria Avenue Baptist Church, at their weekly luncheon in the Queens Hotel on Tuesday. The members were also put in a happy frame of mind, when Jack Trudeau, chairman of the Christmas Basket Fund, reported that 98 baskets were distributed at a total cost of $316.56, including a number of donations. Jack Trudeau thanked all the members, who in any way contributed their services in packing the baskets and the delivery of same.

Georga Lee announced that Rev. Bill Johnston of Toronto would be the chief speaker at the Installation banquet which will be held next Tuesday. A fine program has been arranged and as it will be Ladies' night, a large attendance is expected to witness the installation of Middle Ogan as the President for the ensuing year. James Bankier, a former Kiwanian, delighted with a solo at the luncheon. George Zalac was reported on the sick list and the members requested to make a visit at anytime.

The speaker was introduced by Ross Baker and Kiwanian appreciation was expressed by J. O. Herbert, Rev. Mr. Sinclair then left the members on "Writing our Signatures", explaining that anything that might be done as an individual or an organization was written across the pages, as etched in the memories that when the page of the New Year was turned, the signature written at the end of the year would be for influence and betterment for the community.

Letters to the Editor

Council—Sir Members

To the Editor,—

There are about 14,000 citizens in Belleville and land is assessed at about ten million dollars. The building trade is the largest trade and there is over ten million dollars worth of personal property in the city. It seems rather fantastic to place the whole in the control of about 25 men, when 14,000 are a majority vote. The inconvenience caused by too large a council is no comparison to the dangers resulting from too small a council.

Six members are not enough to give a fair cross-section representation of the different classes in the community, especially this so since the council have fallen into the practice of conducting the business of the city in the committee contrary to law. If the council is prepared to violate the law in such a matter of secret sessions one might deduce the conclusion that other violations could with safety be made, small council proposed four men in secret could vote away over considerable sums of money of the ratepayers.

Dr. N. L. Britain in his address at the City Hall Monday night strongly urged that the citizens should keep constant touch with the doings of the city council. This of course is not possible with the system of secret sessions. It is hoped however, that next year's council will conduct all the business of the city in the open, as the law requires.

It may be that ten members of the city council would afford a sufficient cross-section representation. No serious change can follow by the present size of the council beyond the fact that more discussion may take place, which after all, is not a bad thing.

W. C. Mikel.

Tolling of City Clock A Convenience in Case of Fire Alarm

Days when the town clock solemnly boomed the distinctive count of the various wards in the city while fire apparatus whirled through the streets to the scene of the fire, should be recalled in this city, in the opinion of Jack Roblin, veteran custodian of the city clock and one of the city's best known residents.

Citizens pointed out the local residents, are hampered at the present time when fire breaks out on the fact that the location of the blaze is known only to the few in the neighborhood where the fire occurs. In this manner considerable doubt, uncertainty, and at times anxiety on the part of worrying home owners is experienced.

"In the old days, no matter what part of the city the fire was in, the fire broke out you knew pretty well what ward it was in due to the fact the number of the ward the fire was in was given by the town clock. Each ward had a number, and immediately upon receipt of the alarm, the clock was put in operation.

"That system was worked for years and was always very popular with the people. Sometime since an effort was made to revive it, but the system proved to some of it. It should be started again."

Firemen Act When Family In Dire Need

The blue coats and the brass buttons of the Belleville Fire Department do not stand for the saving of life and property from the ravages of fire famous alone.

This morning while on a tour of inspection of the city, Fire Chief William Lynch stumbled across one of those cases of a hopeless battle against fate, which is being waged in the states, which are to be found in practically every city in this Dominion of ours.

It was but another human drama with dire poverty and squalid surroundings providing the setting and a young man, back to back against the figurative wall, in one of the periodical rebs.

Living with his young wife and two small children in two rooms which are practically devoid of furniture, this young man, he is only thirty years of age, is waging a desperate struggle for the past two years to keep the wolf from the door. With jobs at a premium in the city, he looked after anything that by means to keep his precious ones from starving. No work was too hard nor too menial. He accepted everything, no matter the hours, which ranged in a few cases to the depleted family coffers. He was willing to put in the required time to work on farms and other jobs, and in this manner lost his slightly toe hold.

Took Odd Jobs

Today he is working at odd jobs in an effort to keep the tiny family from the ravages of starvation. Day after day he tramps the streets looking for work. He is by no means a bonnet toil, but more often he comes home empty-handed.

Yesterday morning the Fire Chief, the little family were sleeping soundly. The wife and little brother and two pretty youngsters forgetful of the cares of the world a few minutes later, the city firefighters went into swift action. Wires were laid, a bed was available. Then characteristic of the man, when he was told of the fire, came the suggestion, that a bed of the department be given to the family. Mattresses were procured and the bed taken to the little home.

"There are several cases of this nature in the city," declared Chief Lynch this morning, "and we are only too willing to help them. But the public can assist us in this worthy work by telephoning us if there is any unused furniture or that is in need of repair. We will call for it immediately and repair it if necessary. We are only too willing to do so and know the public will respond as they have always done in things of this nature."

Turns on Side Rights Itself Goes on way

The recently slippery conditions of city streets and adjacent highways, especially the latter, as pavements, have played queer tricks upon many motorists and pedestrians during the past week. An example of how slippery the roads sometimes can be played was seen at the western entrance to the lower bridge early morning when a motor car literally overturned, but after the accident, no person was injured.

According to eye witnesses an old model Ford car was proceeding westerly across the bridge and as it reached the western ramp, the vehicle commenced to skid down the incline. The car turned around twice, struck the north curb, turned over on its side, skidding in that position for some 40 feet and as it reached the curb again, righted itself upon its four wheels and proceeded on westerly under its own power.

No occupants of the car in the vehicle by eye witnesses and apparently had not been injured as the vehicle proceeded on its journey up Murney hill and out of sight, as though nothing had happened.

POLICE BLOTTER

Following repeated complaints regarding breaking and thefts in the neighborhood of Marmora, Thomas Sopha, Marmora Township, was arrested by Provincial Constable Dymond, of Madoc Monday. Sopha was charged with breaking and entering a cottage at Crowe Lake, the theft of a goose and also of removing a boat from private property. Other minor charges are pending, the investigating officer stated today as Sopha was arraigned before a Justice of the Peace and remanded to the custody of the local fall until Thursday.

Friday of this week being New Year's Day there will be no session of local police court, the sittings being held on Thursday, Dec. 31, Dominion, K.C., County Crown Attorney, stated today.

No arrests were necessary in Belleville during the past 24 hours leaving the cell block empty for the nine transients, who applied at the night arrangement for the use of a warm night's lodging last night.

No covered car accident was attributed the cause of a slight motor accident that happened on Church St., yesterday when the city corporation truck, driven by Clifford Crooks, collided with a motor car driven by Frank Sparks, Belleville. Sergeant Booth investigated and found only fender damage had resulted and permitted the parties involving cars concerned to settle the matter amicably between themselves.

DELICIOUS SNACKS!

Hot Hamburgers
ALL KINDS OF Sandwiches and Pies
Deliously! Delectable! Prepared by Experts!
Just Call 1960
OPEN DAY and NIGHT — WE NEVER CLOSE
We Deliver
ANYWHERE in BELLEVILLE
DELICIOUS SNACKS and HAMBURGER BAR
218 FRONT STREET

CHURCH UNION PLAN IS TRIED

Anglican And Congregational Churches Will Work Out Experiment

LONDON, Dec. 30.—An interesting experiment between the Anglican and the Congregation Churches is to be made at the well-known Nonconformist church called the King's Weigh House, in Mayfair.

The church is to enter into communion with the Anglican Church. It will retain its present constitution and to a large degree its existing form of service.

Rev. Cuthbert P. Gliddon, vicar of St. James', Walthamstow, has accepted the position of priest-in-charge of the church in association with Rev. E. J. A. Rush, who has carried on the work for 4 1-2 years, and who is seeking Anglican ordination at the hands of the Bishop of London.

The appointment has the approval of the Bishops of London and Chelmsford, and, in addition, Mr. Gliddon has received promises of co-operation from leading Anglicans of widely differing outlook, while leading Nonconformists have declared their willingness to preach under the new arrangement.

The Sacraments will be administered only by priest whose orders are approved by the bishop of the diocese, but the church will be open to both Anglican and Nonconformist preachers.

The King's Weigh House became noteworthy some years ago when Rev. Dr. W. E. Orchard, its minister for 18 years, resigned and entered the Roman Catholic Church.

TODAY—Hurry, It Ends TOMORROW!
Fired by a Woman's Love
. . . and the deed they did will echoes as the most gallant in history.
Errol FLYNN
"The CHARGE OF THE LIGHT BRIGADE"
with
OLIVIA De HAVILLAND
Feature At 7.35 and 9.35
UNANIMOUSLY ACCLAIMED!
"One of the BEST pictures of the year." —Toronto Globe
"Certain to be included in any list of OUTSTANDING Films." —Telegram
BELLE
Daily 2.30, 7.00, 9.15
IMPORTANT! Please Note! "The Charge of the Light Brigade" will be presented once only on Thursday evening. Performances begins at 8.00 p.m. Feature offering at 8.30 p.m. Two complete shows Tonight, 7.00 and 9.15

NEW YEAR'S DAY—4-Star Laugh Hit, "LIBELED LADY"
The Brightest Spot in Belleville
TICKETS NOW ON SALE
NEW YEAR'S EVE.
A festival of fun, and frolic! Novelty and excitement!
Midnight Show
MAKE UP A PARTY!
BRILLIANT! HAPPY! Colorful Hats, Balloons, Noisemakers, Streamers
Starts 11.30 p.m.

Here's more help to PREVENT MANY COLDS

At The First Sneeze,
sniffle or any irritation in your nose

Quick! A Few Drops of Vicks Va-tro-nol up each nostril

It Spreads
its soothing healing vapor-action through nose and upper throat—
where 3 out of 4 colds start.

You get the tingle as Va-tro-nol spreads its vapor through the nostrils and in your nose and upper throat.
Va-tro-nol is specially designed to stimulate Nature's defenses in these areas. Used in time, Va-tro-nol helps to prevent many colds developing from developing . . . and to throw off head colds in the early stages.

Quickly relieves "Stuffy Head"

VICKS
VA-TRO-NOL

Personals

Fred. and Mrs. W. E. Wheatley are spending a few days in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Abbott Lent and children, of Port Hope, spent Christmas week-end with relatives in Bellevile with their parents and the former's brother, Foster Avenue.

Miss Lawrence Melville, Ottawa, is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. W. A. Tiers, 240 Bleecker Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Lent and daughter of Toronto, spent Christmas week-end with their parents in Bellevile and Prince Edward County and with the former's brother, Mr. and Mrs. Foster Avenue.

Miss Margaret Whitter of the Ontario Hospital Staff, Hamilton, is visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Whitter.

Miss Lenore Stafford entertained last evening in honor of Miss Grace Bone and Mr. Orell Morton.

Mr. Frank Cook, Detroit, is spending the Christmas season at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cook, 284 William Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Soule left today for Oshawa to attend the funeral of Mrs. Bert Armstrong, Mr. Soule's sister.

Mrs. William Wicks, Oshawa, is spending the holidays with her daughter, Mrs. T. Yerrow, Bleecker Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Edwards and family, Desoronto, spent Christmas the guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Kitchen, 315 Toronto Street.

Mr. Nelson Doe and two sons, of Detroit, Mich., spent Christmas holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Doe, Coleman Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Oden Fenn, Mr. and Mrs. George Fenn and their daughter Dorothy spent the Christmas holiday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Fenn, Foster Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. David Edwards of Toronto spent Christmas the guests of their daughter, Mrs. E. R. Kitchen.

Miss Nellie Burk, dietitian, Bellevile General Hospital, was recipient of a $15 prize in the recent Borvil contest.

Mr. A. W. Robertson of Lucerne, Que., spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Collins, George Street.

Miss Helen Ackerman entertained at the tea hour yesterday in honor of Miss Grace Bone, bride-to-be.

Mrs. Mabel L. Crane and son Wilfrid motored from Roselle Park, N.J., and are the guests of Mrs. Josephine Mittel, Coburg Street, for a few days

Mr. Robertson Collins and Mr. Jack Howe were hosts at a "not-out" party held at Johnstone's Academy last evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Yerrow, Kingston, spent the holiday week-end at the latter's home, Bleecker Avenue.

Mrs. M. Pearson and her infant daughter Marleen, of Toronto, are progressing favorably at Mrs. Pearson's former home Mrs Grace Richardson, daughter of Mrs. C. Richardson of this city.

The annual Christmas dance arranged by the Hospital Board for the nurses-in-training of Bellevile General Hospital was a gala event last evening. The affair took place in the Nurses' Residence which was bright with Yuletide decorations. A large Christmas tree was brilliantly lighted, added to the attractiveness of the scene. Miss F. McInnes, superintendent and Miss H. Collier, assistant superintendent, received the guests, about 100 in number being present. Music for dancing was provided by Mr. Charles Lind and Dainty refreshments were served at midnight.

Military Wedding At Wellington

Wallace-Greer Nuptials an Interesting Event at Church

An archway of green swords, the colorful uniforms of military officers and the pomp and pageantry which it all suggests, of the wedding will characterize one of the first military weddings ever held in the village of Wellington, Prince Edward County, at 3 o'clock this afternoon, when Jean, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest D. Greer, becomes the bride of Orson Wallace, son of the late John Wallace and Mrs. Wallace of Wellington. The groom is a prominent Wellington business man and a lieutenant in the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment.

The ceremony will be performed in the Untiach in Wellington, Church with the Rev. J. G. McKee officiating. Many prominent men in military circles will attend the function.

St. Thomas S. S. Pupils Entertained

Christmas treat for pupils of St. Thomas' Church Sunday School was held at the Parish House Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock when supper was served by the teachers at 5.30 o'clock, followed by an hour of games.

After supper views showing the story of "The Other Wise Man" with explanatory remarks by the Vicar, Rev. A. Beauchamp Proctor, Candles were distributed at the close of the program, which concluded with the joyful singing of the National Anthem.

Weddings

VANALSTINE—SWEETMAN

The marriage took place on Saturday evening, December 26th, at 8 o'clock, of Ruth Lillian May Sweetman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Sweetman, Consecon, to John Donald Van Alstine, only son of Mr. C. Van Alstine, and the late Mrs. Van Alstine, Picton. Rev. W. E. Clarke officiated.

The bride was attended by turquoise blue satin, made on princess lines with full skirt, short tight and veil and carried Johanna Hill roses. Miss Jean Sweetman was her sister's bridesmaid, and was dressed in tailored of deepy tone with small matching hat and carried Talisman roses.

Mr. Geo. Jordan was groomsman. A small reception was held after the ceremony, in Cole's dining room where a wedding supper was served, while was attractively carried out in Christmas colors.

Mr. and Mrs. Van Alstine left by motor for the Southern States, Mrs. Van Alstine wore navy wool dress with black coat with cape of squirrel, trimmed with fur and small black accessories. Upon their return in February they will reside in Trenton.

McMULLEN—SIMMONS

A pretty wedding took place at Stockdale United Church on Christmas Eve, when Ethel Simmons, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Simmons, Stockdale, became the bride of Mr. Neal McMullen, son of Mr. Emily McMullen and the late Mr. McMullen, Consecon. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. H. Shaw, Mr. Lorne Stanley, uncle of the bride, assisted by Rev. J. F. Clark, Frankford. The Church was artistically arranged with Christmas green and Christmas decorations.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore white bridal taffeta with veil caught with orange blossom matching jacket. Her embroidered veil was caught with orange blossom and fell to the hem. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and fern.

Miss Madeline Simmons, sister of the bride, who was maid of honour was attired in a fuschia red satin and crepe gown in princess style, with fuschia shade, hat, with veil also wore a black hat with rose veil.

Miss Dorothy Simmons, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and wore Hungarian green taffeta in similar style with small veiled black hat. Both attendants carried yellow roses and fern.

Little Misses Barbara Chase, Cobourg, cousin of the bride, and Shirley Greaves, Consecon, niece of the groom, were flower girls, wearing floor-length frocks of pale blue crepe trimmed with pink, and carrying nosegays of forget-me-nots.

Mr. N. McMullen, Otterville, twin brother of the groom, was groomsman and the ushers were Mr. Geo. Simmons and Mr. Charles Simmons, brothers of the bride.

Wedding music was played by Mr. Leslie Frost, organist of the church and during the signing of the register, Miss Dorothy Wilson sang "Oh, Promise Me."

A reception was held at the bride's home, Mrs. Simmons, mother of the bride, received, wearing a mid-length crepe dress, with corsage of roses. Mrs. Hallk, aunt of the bride, also received, and wore purple velvet with corsage of red roses.

The bride and groom left on a wedding trip to Racine, Wis., and upon their return will reside at Otterville, Ont.

KERR—ALLEN

Tweed.—At high noon on Saturday the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Allen, Tweed, of Nellie May Allen, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. I. D. Allen, Smithville, to George Arthur Kerr, B. A., son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Kerr, Tweed, Rev. L. Rev. Rev. L. Rev. Rev. L. Rev.

THE ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER

THE DAILY ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER is published every afternoon (Sunday and holidays excepted) at The Ontario Intelligencer Building, 160 Front Street, Belleville.

W. H. MORTON, PUBLISHER

SMALLER COUNCIL

One of the bylaws to be voted upon at the civic elections on Monday is that calling for the expression of opinion by the electors on the question of application to the Legislature for an act reducing the number of members of the Belleville City Council to six aldermen and a mayor. Today the council stands with a membership of fourteen aldermen and a mayor.

In the opinion of the Ontario Intelligencer, the reduction in the number of members to six aldermen with a mayor offers more effective work with the smaller council. The large council consumes time and men who give their services gratis to the city should be entitled to have their work discussed without prolonged debate which often gets farther from a decision than the briefer discussion. Business men—the type wanted in council—do not want to spend time unnecessarily. The business type of men no doubt would prefer a small board as likely to carry on more business in a comparatively short space of time.

A smaller council would no doubt have the result that it would be more easy to induce men to accept aldermanic positions.

Today there is a very real evidence of lack of interest in matters municipal. Does this mean little interest in the present six council? It must be remembered that some years ago, Belleville had twenty-one aldermen, surely too unwieldy a body.

It must not be forgotten that the business of Canada is run by a small cabinet, and that the Ontario Cabinet which surely handles a great deal of very important business has a cabinet smaller than the city council of Belleville.

What has been said in favor of reduction of the council goes largely for reduction of the Board of Education membership as suggested in a bylaw calling for the vote on the question of the creation of a municipal Board of Education.

IS A CHANGE COMING?

Italy is trying, they say, of the Spanish adventure. The country is getting something better than the uneasiness over a situation which should never have developed. Italy is coming to see the need of an understanding with Britain about the Mediterranean.

Perhaps it is even finding out that the adventure in Ethiopia was not worth the price.

Then there is the question of Germany. The German military staff have warned Hitler that there is no time to risk war as Germany is not ready. Is Germany wearying of the constant strain of keeping prepped up with military ideals, which proved dust in the mouth to the Germans of twenty years ago?

Are some of the nations seeing that racing for armament protection while it may safeguard and might be a spark to start off a war, is really a wrong policy, that it is not so good as peace. Do they realize that the cost of arming may allow any nation through pure military strength to override every human instinct and every national ideal of other nations?

Germany learned a lesson or did not pay. Then they treasured the thought that war might bring them back what they lost through the mistake of 1914. But nobody they have seen the fallacy of it. One fact stares them in the face—with the added military strength, all the references or longing for the rich Russian Ukraine and the hills of the Soviet, will likely get them nothing. Or may feel that they might fare far better, have more food and fat, though less guns to boom, if they went about their reinstatement in the world peaceably. War-talk has taught the others a lesson and built up a powerful engine which their opposition may very well use to offset any sinister plans. If nations with ambition can arm, others can arm too.

It looks as if no nation today which meditates one iota about war's danger would rush into it with flags flying and crowds cheering. Germany feels the pinch of lack of food and materials. She would be better off with less guns and more wheat grown through attention to agriculture.

Is there a change coming? Is rattling of sabres growing wearisome?

PURELY MECHANICAL WAR

That the time will come when fighting machines will do most of the dirty work in war, is the prediction of Major Christmas of the United States army.

War has always however had as its ambition the destruction of human life to bring about collapse of the enemy along with destruction of whatever man has produced.

It would be rather a more idealistic type of war if nations fought with robot engines of war alone (that is if they have to fight) leaving men, women and children out of the picture of desolation.

SIDELIGHTS

THE HOME FORUM

Discussing the events of the day, home needs and general news topics as revealed by the home newspaper—under the evening lamp—and over the Grate and Gas. — Supervised by The Lamplighter

BELLEVILLE CITY COUNCIL FOR 1936, in an effort to promote efficiency in municipal government, appointed a committee to investigate the city's present form of government which is rapidly being adopted by progressive communities in Canada and United States. This committee found that the city manager form of government took hold first in 1914 and has since grown in favor very rapidly. Believing that there is considerable merit in the city manager system over the present system of municipal government the committee recommended that the question be submitted to the electors at the municipal elections, and this was arranged for. Now it is up to the electors. If they are satisfied with the old system they can retain it. If they think the city would profit by a change they have only to say so. To bring the city manager system into force it will be necessary, once it is approved by the electors, to have a special act passed by the legislature. The nearest place to Belleville having experience in the manager municipal government is Chatham, and this newspaper wrote the editor of the newspaper there and asked for information as to the working of the system there, and here is the answer:

CHATHAM'S EXPERIENCE

For many years prior to the City of Chatham was "investigating" the Council-Manager form of government. It started when Galveston, Texas, after a memorable flood formed a Government by Commission. At that time Chatham had two newspapers, The News and The Planet — which have since amalgamated into the Chatham Daily News — and when I tell you that both papers at that time were strongly opposed to the Commission plan, you will realize that it must possess some merits, for in those days newspapers just looked for an opportunity to criticize and ridicule the form.

In 1922 the Council-Manager plan was adopted.

There has been no "experimenting" with the plan. It was adopted and has been retained ever since — and as far as anyone knows is likely to continue.

It reduced the representation on the city council.

It provides for the election of seven aldermen and a Mayor, by popular vote (not the ward system). The aldermen are elected at large. Two aldermen retire to the polls one year and four the next. The original plan provided for the election of the Mayor for two-year terms, but this was changed to one year by not being elected there was a small vote, so the plan was changed to provide for the election of Mayor for one year. This is the only reason for the change — to get out the vote and keep alive public interest in elections.

The Council and Mayor act as a "board of directors" controlling the policy of the city government, and having full control of the finances.

DUTIES OF CITY MANAGER

A city manager is appointed to do the detail work of management and to act as a buffer between the council. He has power to spend up to $200.00 between sessions of the council but has to give an account of all he has spent. He has charge of all city engineering and to avoid calling the council or committees for trifles.

The original plan calls for the elimination of council committees. Every alderman takes part in the discussion of all business. Council meetings are not a lot of work — especially the chairman — and it is conducive to eliminating local politics from the city's business. The City Manager investigates matters, investigates and reports on new undertakings, etc., and has to be prepared to answer all questions and reports to the council. If some complaint is made which requires immediate attention, he goes ahead and provides the remedy, and reports to the council. It may if he has time discuss it over the telephone with members of the council.

The Manager is in touch with all business of the city and since the office does not change it establishes confidence with the city's business men in addition to advise new members of the council as to what has been done and what is going to be done in the city.

YEARLY FINANCIAL BUDGET

He also prepares the City Financial Budget at the first of the year, bringing in a detailed statement of estimated receipts and expenditures. The council passes on this and strikes the tax rate.

The City Manager is usually the City Engineer, as in Chatham at the present time.

There is also a clerk-treasurer.

The City Manager does not alter tax collection.

In Chatham a couple of years ago a Mayor was elected who insisted upon having committees "within the City Manager system." Committees were appointed — although they are not necessary — and it hasn't affected the system much.

ENDORSED BY RATEPAYERS

In order to secure the Council-Manager system here it was necessary to have the City of Chatham Bill passed by the Legislature. There was no difficulty about this. Also the idea had to be approved by the ratepayers by bylaw. There was no difficulty about this for, as I say the newspaper of Chatham had been advocating it for years and the people were all prepared for it.

The City Manager plan guarantees expeditious attention to all details of city management. In former days if some witness wished his name finished out, he telephoned the city engineer. The engineer telephoned the chairman of the Board of Works. The chairman probably sent around to see it, and find out if the complainant voted for, him in the last election. The chairman called his committee together for a meeting and decided to recommend the finishing of the sewer to the council. At the next meeting of the council the chairman of the Board of Works brought in his report, recommending the work be done. The council adopted the report, and the chairman of the board of works got in touch with the Engineer and authorized him to go ahead with the work. While all this red tape was going on the ratepayer's cellar was probably flooded with water. Now he calls up the City Manager, the Manager sends a man around to finish the sewer and the thing is done.

This is only one instance to show the efficiency of the plan. One could write for days on it, and then not be finished. The big asset is that we have a City Manager who is in close, first-hand touch with the city's business every minute of the day. He can also act as Industrial Commissioner. He runs the city like a business instead of a political institution.

No power is taken away from the city representatives. The council is in control and directs the activities of the Manager.

LOOKING BACKWARD

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

Dec. 30th, 1916.

Mr. Russell Woodley, who is attending the Normal School at Peterboro, is home to spend the holidays with his parents.

Mr. Larmer Mason of the Intelligencer mechanical staff, left this morning for Toronto to spend several days.

Mr. William McKeown has resigned his position at the court house after eight years' service. His resignation will take effect at the end of this year.

Miss Katie McOmber of Toronto is visiting Mrs. Donnie Gunn at Bayside.

30 YEARS AGO

Dec. 30th, 1906.

Following are some timely rhymes:

Mayor Sulman: "Guess I'll be elected without much study,
Anyhow here's to a clean campaign."

Ald. Panter: "To head the poll is my dream so sweet,
Then—lay me asedam for old Frank Street."

Ald. Green: "Upon my word it gives me a shock,
To see the bum light in the city clock."

Ald. Patterson: "Will all my friends, thin or fat, Put in a good word for Ald. Parr"

Ald. Marsh: "I'll express my good wishes and I'll express my freight,
To all who will help keep down the tax rate."

Ald. Vermilyea: "It makes my temper somewhat sour,
When I see the street lights of 2 candle power."

City Clerk Mikel: "The best description of the Belleville Jail, is the usual number of private bills."

The man on the next block:
"The good old winter is here so they say,
And George Dulmage's white vest is laid away."

Ald. Stewart: "As sure as ever I wore a kilt,
The drill shed will some day be built."

Mr. R. Corby: "I'll be glad to give this old town so dear,
A fire library in the coming new year."

40 YEARS AGO

Dec. 30th, 1896.

The Rev. S. Daw of Hamilton, formerly Rector of Christ Church this city, was a visitor in the city yesterday.

Dr. H. H. Hawley of Trenton was in the city today.

Mr. W. J. Cooper is visiting his cousins at Peterboro.

Miss Sarah Templeton spent Christmas with friends at Peterboro.

Ald. N. B. Falkiner has returned home after a visit with friends at Toronto and Woodstock.

Mr. Clarence M. Sills will leave for England on Jan. 6th.

Mr. W. H. Scholes left today for Chicago where he will visit his brother, George Scholes, whom he has not seen for thirty-five years.

The members of the G. M. B. A. held their annual assembly last night and it was a most enjoyable affair.

50 YEARS AGO

Dec. 30th, 1886.

The employees of the dry goods firm of Messrs. Ritchie & Co., had a very pleasant social re-union last night, at the residence of Mr. J. P. Fullerton and in the midst of the festivities, Mr. W. B. Ardagh, who is leaving to have Belleville after being with the Ritchie Co. for three years, was presented with an address and a purse containing $20 in gold.

Sergt. Pettman, one of the police force, is off duty this week owing to illness.

The Christmas Tree entertainments in connection with Holloway Street Methodist Church were largely attended last evening. Mr. George Hart acted as Santa Claus.

In connection with the Conservative victories in the ridings in Hastings County as the result, Provincial Secretary Hardy has received a large torch light procession accompanied by a band last evening. Later speeches were made at the City Hall. Mr. R. Corby presided.

Rawdon and District

Rawdon.—On Monday, December 28th, the nominations for Rawdon Township were held at Harold hall with a fair attendance of ratepayers.

Mr. Lorne Bateman was chairman for the afternoon and the three nominations read the yearly financial statement.

Brief addresses were given by Canon G. W. Swayze, Messrs. John Johnson, Carl Casey, John Hackman, Ernest Brown, John Stiles, Dr. Carleton, M.O.H., Phil Carr and Harold Spencer.

It is presumed the Council will meet early in the new year to transact business.

The following salaries were paid: Mr. Harold Hackman, auditor, $55; Mr. G. B. Bedford, Deputy Reeve, $40; Mr. M. E. Shantz, Councillor, $40; Mr. Ed. Mortson, Councillor, $40; Mr. Elgin Jackman, $40; Mr. Lorne Bateman, $40; Mr. Chas. Clark, $285; Miss Evelyn Bailey, secretary, $15; Pogue Bros., $25; Mr. Arthur Wilson, fidelity bond for collector, $30.

Mr. Wm. Bateman, one-half $74.72 is Rawdon's share and was paid over to Mr. C. Baggett as follows: John Moore, Aug. 1 to Sept. 30, 1926, $45; Mr. Charles Bateman, $91.50; Geo. Thompkins, Aug. 28 to Sept. 1936, Belleville General Hospital, $28.20; Mrs. Verna Ryan and baby, Sept. 18 to Sept. 30, Belleville Hospital, $28.20. Jas. Wright, Sept. 8 to 17, 1936, Belleville General Hospital, $15.75.

Other items of business were: Secretary-treasurer, $50; auditor, $5, the used on boundary; Mr. Albert Bronson, $2 of dog refunded; tax to be written off tax bill; Dog Tax Collector, Mr. Florence Bateman's tax bill; Messrs. Andrew Hay and George Cook be paid $35.10 for services as Court of Revision regarding county equalization.

The treasurer was authorized to pay County call and school monies.

A Board of Health was appointed and the Council went into a committee on by-laws.

The following by-laws passed in regular order appointing Deputy Reeve, auditor and clerk for the ensuing year as follows:

Sub-Division No. 1.—Ridge Road and Rawdon-Tudor, Jno. Johnson, D.R.O.; Lindsay McGee, Poll Clerk.

Sub-Division No. 2.—Commonwealth—Corbon Linn, D.R.O.; Claude Poll Clerk.

Sub-Division No. 3.—Town Hall, Rawdon—Reginald McGee, D.R.O.; Richard Mahlkuhn, Poll Clerk.

Sub-Division No. 4.—Richard Bateman's Store—Samuel Elliott, D.R.O.; Lorne Hagerman, Poll Clerk.

Sub-Division No. 5.—Stirling Hall, Springbrook—Robert Mumby, D.R.O.; Fred Bateman, Poll Clerk.

Sub-Division No. 6.—Bell's Hotel—Percy Bateman, D.R.O.; Nathan Bronson, Poll Clerk.

Personals

Miss Lorna Matthews of Rawdon is spending the winter months in Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Haggerty and family, Bonarlaw, spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sine, "

Mr. Arthur Gould of the Ontario Agriculture College, Guelph, is holidaying with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Gould.

Mr. Oliver Sloper of Saskatchewan is holidaying with Mr. and Mrs. James Warren.

Mr. Ross Bailey of Toronto is holidaying this week with his parents Mr. and Mrs. George Bailey.

Mr. and Mrs. John Farrell and family were Christmas guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Will Hutcheon, Burnbrae.

Miss Grace Dayman is spending the Christmas holidays with her mother at Cobourne.

A miscellaneous shower was held in Springbrook hall in honour of Miss Gertrude Mumby, Mr. and Mrs. Burton Woodbeck and they were the recipients of many useful and lovely gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Sine were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Sadler, Frankford.

Miss Blanche Wright and the pupils of Sine School staged a splendid Christmas Concert on Monday evening and a fine program was presented with a good crowd in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. George Sine and family spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wilkins.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Warren and Mr. Edwin Warren, Kingston, Mr. Albert Warren, Bonarlaw, were Christmas and vacation guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Warren.

A large number of friends and relatives gathered at the home of Mr. Manley Shortt at the Gospel Hall. He leaves to mourn, one daughter, Mrs. W. J. Stiles, two sons, Mr. George Shortt, Sidney, and Mr. Mark Shortt, Councillor of Sidney, three grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Mr. Wendell Thompson of Toronto University is spending the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George E. Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Reid spent Christmas at the home of their son, Mr. Wilbur Reid, Campbellford.

Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Sine were Christmas guests of Mr. Ernest and Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Murphy.

Mr. Bill Sutherland of O.A.C., Guelph, is holidaying with his parents on the fourth concession.

Mr. and Mrs. Melbourne Cooper were given a miscellaneous shower at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Cooper on Monday evening. Rev. R. W. Foley read an appropriate address and the newlyweds received many lovely gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dracup entertained on Christmas Day: Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hendry and James, Frankford, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Burton and Burton and Mr. Albert Pinkle.

Mrs. M. Hayton and the pupils of the Fourth Line Rawdon held a very successful Christmas concert and tableau on Tuesday evening with a splendid attendance and Old Santa as an honored guest.

Dr. and Mrs. C. Green, New York, spent a few days with Rawdon friends.

Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Tucker and Mr. John Green, Springbrook Sunday School held their annual Christmas concert on Monday evening with Rev. R. W. Foley as chairman. The programme consisted of a ball-bearing, several vocal drills and dialogues, chorus recitations and a Cantata. A large number were in Cantata. A large number were in attendance and Santa arrived at the close and treated the children to candies.

The young people are anxiously awaiting the arrival of Jack Frost when the ponds will be frozen over sufficiently that they will be able to enjoy an evening of skating.

3RD THURLOW

3rd Thurlow—Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Greenley of Toronto, spent the Christmas holiday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Pound, also Mrs. Greenley and Miss Marcha Hargrace Pound and Miss Marcha Hargrace Pound spent a few days at their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Langabeer and children of Belleville, spent Wednesday of last week with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pound.

The Rev. and Mrs. Merrick and daughter Mary took Christmas dinner with Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Pound and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pound and family spent Christmas Day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Lawrence of Sidney, Miss Martha Hargrace and Miss Grace Pound of Trenton, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Greenley of Toronto and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Pound.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Copeland and children spent Christmas at Mr. Wes Rombough's, Kingston.

"THE MARKET THAT SETS THE PACE"

Phone 928

CICERI'S

Free Delivery

ALL SPECIALS GOOD UNTIL SATURDAY, JANUARY 2nd., 11 p.m.

Choice Quality Size 2½'s Large Tin Limited Quantity
Tomatoes 6 tins to a customer
10c EACH

Choice Quality GOLD MEDAL Sieve No. 4
PEAS tin 11c
Libby's 16 oz. tin

Pork & Beans 5 for 29c

Stuffed 5 oz.
OLIVES . . each 20c

Sweet Mixed 25 oz.
PICKLES . each 22c

SHERRIFF'S JELLY POWDERS . . . 3 for 14c
8 OZ. PAOK LAYER EATING FIGS . . . 10c
SINGAPORE PINEAPPLE 10c

PRINCESS SOAP
FLAKES with FREE package of CONCENTRATED SUPER SUDS 15c
Actual Value 25c

DEVON
Mincemeat 2 lbs. 25c

NEW CROP MIXED OR SEPARATE
NUTS As Low Prices.

CAPE COD FRESH IN ICEBURG
CRANBERRIES lb. 27c
LETTUCE Good Size 2 for 13c

CORN FED
Turkeys lb. 25c

FRESH KILLED FIRST QUALITY
GEESE lb. 19c

Maple-Leaf Boneless Smoked PICNIC STYLE SHOULDER
HAMS lb. 22c

SCHNEIDER'S SELECT
BREAKFAST BACON 35c

FRESH KILLED PORK
HAMS OR LOINS Whole or Half By the Piece 18c
Side Pork By the Piece lb. 15c
Butts of Pork lb. 16c
Short Rib Roast OR Blade Roast lb. 11c
Homemade SAUSAGE . . . . . 4 lbs. 25c
SLICED lb. 25c

NAVEL ORANGES
Sweet, Juicy and Thin Skinned
Med. Size doz. 25c Large Size doz. 33c Extra Large doz. 43c

Here is one of the ruined streets in San Vincente, San Salvador, after the earthquake in which it is feared 1,000 persons lost their lives. In the background is the volcano of Tecapa, internal eruption of which is believed to have caused the quake. The lower photograph shows children directing the disaster, whose paregia were killed during the disaster, sleeping on pallets spread on cobble stones in the stricken Central American city.

How's Babson On Prediction?

That's what everyone is asking. Is he bullish or bearish? Roger W. Babson has almost a hundred per cent record for getting it right so all the big, bother-some questions are readily answered.

This newspaper has secured exclusive use of Mr. Babson's business and financial forecast for 1937. Watch for it in this newspaper December 31, 1936.

Board Room Gossip

As suggested to Biggar and Crawford by Financial Service.

Stocks at New High—Bottom Level in High Grade.

The rise in Base stock to a new all time peak is another indication of the confidence in the Canadian mines; Sicco, as it is well known was the first straight gold produced in the province of Quebec. Buying in the stock is reported on pre-dominantly investment account on the 152c or bottom level which has been fairly steady. Present up trend in ore source it is learned that the ore on the bottom level is wider and richer. Under present production, it is said, will be at a record, a condition like this in the face of such a much higgrade development ore has been put through the mill during the month.

The year 1936 has been a most successful one for Sicco and the company will start the new year with better prospects that an important step-up in production may take place before long.

God's Lake

The office of God's Lake Mines reports today that the good ore, encountered some time ago in the drift on the third level is continuing with the grade running .30 oz. The length of this vein is now some 185 feet and the face of the drift is still in ore, according to the reports from the company office.

Mistake Corrected

At this time of the year, the majority of market commentators have a tendency to review operations. We present herewith a number of stocks with their opening 1936 prices which clearly indicate the gains that has transpired in the stock market in the past twelve months. Dealer-tran Traction opened the year at 10 3-4; Canadian Canners 8 1-2; Canada Cement 6 1-8; Canadian Locomotive 3 1-2; Consolidated Smelters the actual low of 1936; Dominion Bridge 32; Dryden 5; Foundation Co. 13 1-2; International Nickel 42 3-4; Lake of the Woods 18; Noranda 24; Power Corp. 7; Shawinigan 30; Steel of Canada 57 1-2; Wabasso Cotton 7-8; Bell, Can. Gen. 5 7-8; St. Lawrence Paper 2 1-2; and Steel of Canada 57 3-4.

The above gives one a definite idea of what has happened in the exceptional rise in the market being reflected in many other issues. The coming to life of Base stock is also released a considerable amount of "frozen" cash which has been diverted in many diverse ways. Retail sales in 1936 were the best since 1928 in good measure due to the advance in stock prices.

Work

Work 1937 will bring, no one can definitely say, but the opinions from all signs and indications, the trend of the market should continue until such time as normalcy is reached, which is far from the present mind that although conditions are definitely improving, we are still confronted with the unemployment problem, the consequent relief situation, and a railway problem. Taken all in all, the outlook today is brighter, and everyone is more confident, than at any time in the last six years.

Imperial Oil has been showing earnings slightly above that of a share and paying dividends of $1.25 a share annually. The hope is that the company's revenue will rise to an excess sufficient to cover the full dividend. Meanwhile, earnings are sufficiently large to allow payment of the annual 5 per cent bond interest for some years. The company's main producing subsidiary is International Petroleum.

Prices for crude oil are improving, and this should benefit both International Petroleum and Imperial Oil.

Sensational

The shares of the O'Brien Gold Mines sold for 34 cents a share in 1936—at the time of writing this note it is 413 Mdr. The gain is therefore 3,800 per cent. Some good steel-fortunes have been built up here but very few people bought in under the $1—level. Gossip on the Street is to the effect that the large shareholders have sold a portion of their holdings, so that the balance now owned does not cost them anything. A rather good course to follow. A well-known head of an important company has a profit of over seven figures in O'Brien.

On the Street

A federal government statistician estimated there are from $200,000,000 potential demand for farm income in Canada. The cause of the depression. . . . This is the time of the year when smart investors look over their holdings—they also scan the list to see what industries are bound to have higher earnings in 1937. . . . At the moment, Financial Service believes there are better days ahead of the newsprint and construction industries. . . . Some of the commoner stocks are worth looking into carefully.

$161,535,000 in Minerals Produced in Ontario in 1936

Nickel-Copper Production Over Eighty Million—Gold $79,135,000

GOLD-SILVER $79,135,000

Toronto, Dec. 30 (CP)—Mineral production in Ontario in 1936 has established a new record with estimated value of metalliferous mines reaching $161,535,000 compared to $142,282,000 in 1935, as announced here today by the Ontario Department of Mines says.

In point of value of mineral recovered the nickel-copper group of three companies was first with an approximate value of $80,700,000. Value of gold and silver production was $79,135,000 and this group increased 46 per cent. of total metal production. Approximately 7,600,000 tons of gold and silver ore were treated.

Mining of silver in the old silver-cobalt camps has declined greatly, the report said. Annual output for 1936 was about 3,110,000 ounces compared with 25,000,000 to 30,000,000 ounces produced from 1909 to 1912.

The report stated there was a increasing interest in the silver-cobalt group despite the decrease in production.

Arsenic Production.

"The metal cobalt with which silver is associated in these silver-cobalt arsenide ores, is of importance in the alloy, color and plating trades, and the demands of industry have given, hope to a large number of workers who lease idle mines and manage to produce important quantities of high-grade cobalt ore or concentrate. The silver-cobalt group will produce in silver, cobalt, oxides and arsenic oxide valued at $1,895,000."

Included in the metals is an output of chromite and molybdenite which has not yet bulked large in value. Chromite is now being mined west of Lake Nipigon, the report says.

The alloy ferro-chrome is manufactured in Sault Ste. Marie from this material and used in hard steel production. Molybdenum is also used in such processes and mining operations near Calabogie in Renfrew County are underway.

$2 Million In Dividends.

Returns to shareholders of Ontario mines were greater during 1936 than any previous year, it was reported. A survey covering the first seven months of this year for sixteen gold, three silver and two copper-nickel mining companies show that the total dividends will amount to more than $21,923,000. In 1935 the total was $20,440,000 paid by fourteen gold, three silver and two base metal companies. Grand total of dividends paid to the end of 1936 was $164,680,-996.

In non-metallic mines the main feature noted was the increase in graphite, gypsum, mica, natural gas and salt. The gross value of production value during 1936 of $6,258,-000, it was estimated.

Heavy Construction Groups.

Heavy construction group was the only section of the mining industry which showed difficulty in recovery. Total value for cement, lime, sand, gravel and stone was $17,600,000 for 1936. In 1935 production was estimated at $1,400,000.

UNLISTED MINES

Unlisted mines furnished by A. H. Ketcheson and Co. today at 3:30

Albany	91-96
Altona	23-5
Barkfield	100-120
Cunjiaz	11-14
Cappa Gold	37-41
Darwin	27-30
Can. Pardaps	19-20
Forty Four	23-5
Fairbanks	39-42
Gold Reig	37-41
Laps Cadillac	118-122
Gillies Lake	30-34
Hudson Patricia	8-10
Lamaque	800
Lorrain Gold	39-01
Madsen Red Lake	128-134
McCarthy Webb	45-47
Mosher	45-48
Melrose	45-49
Okland	63-66
Old Diamond	43-46
Pandora Cadillac	100-106
Rahill	30A
Rubec	10-13
Smellers Geld	9¼-10½
Simpson River	46-49
Stockton	28
Schreiber	12-15
Shenango	26-28
Sigma	300A
Sturgeon	12A
Thom. Cad.	205-210
Wendigo	29-32
Wilson Red Lake	10A

WALL STREET

New York, Dec. 30 (AP)—Crashing through a barrage of year-end "cash" tax selling, the Stock Market today pushed up fractions to two or more points.

Steels and rails were well out in front of the advance, but selected oils, coppers, utilities and specialties were in the vanguard.

Among Dominion stocks, quotations were about unchanged to fractionally higher in McIntyre, International Nickel and Canadian Pacific. Dominion Government bonds were inactive. Canadian dollars held even at 100.03¼ cents.

Interest on the upturn during most of the session were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, Ludlum, Superior, Chesapeake & Ohio, Santa Fe, Airline Pfd., Montgomery Ward, Sears, Standard Oil, General Motors, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, U.S. Industrial Alcohol, Deere, Consolidated Edison, Electric Power & Light, Consolidated Oil, Mid-Continent Petroleum, Standard Oil of N.J., Anaconda, Inspiration, Miami, New Mexico & Arizona Can., Continental Can, General Electric, Du Pont, Goodyear, Famsteam and North American.

TORONTO MINES

Toronto, Dec. 30—(CP)—Several gold stocks advanced to record high prices on the Toronto Exchange today this afternoon and the tone of the mining section especially was strong. Oil shares also perked up, particularly Calgary-Edmonton and Home Oil issues in the early trade. The base metals were steady.

Active in the Premier, Consma, O'Brien and East Malartic, and with accounts of O'Brien, they sold at new high prices. Macassa Mines Premier added about 20 cents each. O'Brien added a point, and Pickle Crow, also at a new high, added about 20.

TORONTO INDUSTRIALS

Toronto Dec. 30 (CP)—The industrial list Toronto Exchange today held a fairly steady course generally while a point or two later pushed higher by fractions. Volume over the board was even or a little better than in any previous session this week. Among base stocks, the Canadian Car and Foundry issues were strong with Amulet and Paintpec Oil changed hands in heavy volume and at fractional gains in the majority of cases.

The market will wind up for the year at one p.m. Thursday and will holiday till Monday, Jan. 4.

Brazilian, Smelters, C.P.R. Distillers-Seagrams and others were narrowly higher this afternoon.

Stock Markets

Quotations furnished by Biggar and Crawford, P. E. Wills, branch manager. Quotations at 2.30

MINES

Acme	13
Alba	43
Arnfield	66
Anglo Huro	600
Base Metals	23 1-2
Beattie	138
Bobjo	19
Big Missouri	64
Bagsmac	6 1-2
Brabazon	705
BRX	10
Buffalo Ank.	11 3-4
Castle Tr.	65
Can. Malar.	197
Central Pat.	400
Chemical Research	125
Chromium	140
Coast	650
Chibog	199
Consolidated	175
Dome	49
Eldorado	224
Falconbridge	11 1-3
God's Lake	90
Goldale	10
Gunnar	105
Graham	26 43
Hardrock	295
Home Oil	265
Hollinger	13 1-4
Howey	60
Hudson Bay	32 1-2
J. M. Consd.	45
Kirk. Lake	85
Lake Shore	37 1-4
Lebel	17
Little L. A.	740
Macassa	826
Man. R.	11 7-8
McIntyre	39
McKenzie	119
McMillan	41 3-4
McWatters	90
Mining Corp.	219
Noranda	74 1-4
Nipissing	8
O'Brien	13 3-8
Parkhill	22 1-2
Paymaster	116
Pamour	300
Perron	215
Pend Or.	400
Pickle Cr.	200
Pioneer	335
Premier	440
Prov. Air	125
Read Auth.	478
Red Lake Gold	6 .176
Reno	120
Reptile	67 1-2
San Antonio	240
Sherritt G.	278
Sicco	152
Stadacona	98
St. Anthony	21
Sud Beatn	590
Sullivan	310
Sylvanite	370
Tash	13
U. Hughes	535
Ter. Can. Oil	220
Vobona	41
Ventures	296
W. Amulet	302
Wr. Hargreave	770
Yuke	35
Bankfield	155
Prancoeur	119
Glenora	40
May Sipers	28
Morris	176
McVitie	17
McLeod	20
Shawkey	76
Sladen	214

TORONTO

Bell Telephone 136
B.A. Oil 22 3-4
Brewing Corp. 2 3-4
Brat. Tire 5
Can. Bud. Brewery 3
Can. Bread 11 1-4
Can Dredge 94
Can. Ind. Alcohol 7 1-4
C. P. R. 14 5-8
Can. Malting 34 1-2
Can. Vickers 11 1-2
Canada Car 20 5-8
Cockshutt. Plow 12 3-4
Cons. Bakeries 20 3-4
Con. Smelting 81
Dominion Bridge 39 3-4
Dist. Seagrams 27 1-4
Fanny Farmer 27
Ford "A" 22 5-8
Gypsum 13 5-8
Goodyear 27
Imp. Oil 20 1-2
Int. Nickel 42 3-8
Inter. Pet. 34
Imp. Tobacco 13 3-4
Loblaw A 91¼
Massey Harris 8
Mont. Power 33
McColl-Frontenac 13 1-2
Power Corp. 29 1-2
Steel of Canada 54
Supertest 34 1-2
Shawinigan 30 1-2
Walker's 47 1-2
Walkers Pfd. 118 1-4
Walkerville Brewery 2 3-8

NEW YORK

American Can 119 1-4
American T. and T. 165 3-4
Amer. Pow. Power 7 1-4
American Radiator 35 3-4
Anaconda 24 3-8
Auburn 28 3-4
Bethlehem Steel 77
Case 142 1-2
Chrysler 119
General Electric 55
General Motors 63 3-4
Elec. Auto Lite 49 1-2
Int. Harvester 113 1-4
North American 30 1-2
Montgomery Ward 54 1-2
Phillips Pet. 51 3-4
Radio 11 3-8
Simmons 14 1-4
Standard Oil of N.J. 89 3-4
Standard Brands 15 3-8
Stewart-Warner 17 3-4
U.S. Smelting 84 3-4
U.S. Steel 79
United Aircraft 37 7-8
Vanadium 30 1-2
Westinghouse 145 3-4

GRAIN

Winnipeg, Dec. 30—(CP)—Wheat prices moved fractionally higher in early trading on Winnipeg grain exchange today after a weak start. Moderate foreign demand for wheat prompted a quiet recovery movement.

Values near mid-session were 3-4 to 1-4 cent higher. December at $1.36 1-8, May $1.37 7-8 and July $1.35 3-4.

Produce Markets

(By United Farmers' Co-Operative Company)

Toronto, Ontario, December:—

Buying Prices

United Farmers' Co-operative Co. today were paying the following prices for Toronto delivery:

Eggs—Prices to producers, cases returned basis, delivered Toronto:

A-large	27
A-medium	25
Pullets	23
"B"	22
"C"	20
Churning Cream, No. 1 lb	36c
Churning Cream, No. 2 lb	34c
Butter lb. No. 1	26 1-2
Butter lb. No. 2	25 1-2

(Quotations in Cents)

Young Chickens—

	Dressed	Sel.
Over 6 lbs	16	14
5 to 6 lbs	16	14
4½ to 5 lbs	15	13
3½ to 4½ lb	13	12
2½ to 3½ lbs	12	11
1½ to 2½ lbs	12	11

Dressed, Milked A. 16c. A

Hens

Over 5 lbs	15	14
4 to 5 lbs	14	13
3 to 4 lbs	13	12
Old roosters	9	11

All first grade poultry is over than "A". "C" grade 3c lower than "B"

Sel. A.

Young Turkeys—

8 to 10 lbs	30
10 to 14 lbs	28
Over 14 pounds	21

Young Ducks—

Over 5 lbs	22

Other Fowl—

Young ducks, white 4 to 5 lb	15
over 5 lbs	16

(Colored ducklings, 3c less.)

Selling Prices

United Farmers' Co-operative Co. yesterday were offering produce to retail dealers at the following prices:

Butter—No. 1 Creamery prints No. 1, 36 1-2c, No. 2, 32c.

Eggs—

A-large	35
A-medium	33
"B"	30
"C"	27

Producers—New Ontario No. 1's, at shipping point $1.25

HAY AND STRAW

No. 2 timothy, $10 to $11 per ton; No. 3 timothy, $9 to $10; oats and wheat straw $6 to $7. Above prices f.o.b. Toronto.

Produce Prices on Montreal Market

Montreal, Dec. 30—Egg and butter prices showed a general firmness on Montreal open product markets yesterday.

Graded egg shipments in carlots or less were quoted at 34c a dozen for extras, 32c for No. 1 candled, 29c for A-large, 26c for A-medium, 26c Grade B and 22 1-2 for C. Receipts 813 cases.

Butter was quoted at 26 3-4c to 27 1-4c per pound for carlots of No. 1 of No. 1, while lots to retailers were 28c for solids and 28 1-2 for prints. Receipt 14 boxes.

Grain Markets

Closing quotations on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange as furnished by A. H. Ketcheson and Co. today:

Wheat—	High	Low	Close
December	129¼	127¼	129⅛
May	133¾	131⅞	133⅞
July	134½	132⅞	134¼
Oats—
December	52⅜	52	52⅜
May	52⅜	51½	52⅜
July	50⅝	50	50⅝
Barley—
December	91¼	88	91¼
May	91¾	89¼	91¾
July	71¾	70	71¾
Rye—
December	111½	110¾	111¼
May	112¾	111¾	112⅝
July	108¾	107	108

HOG QUOTATIONS

Toronto, Dec. 30—(CP)—Bacon hog prices were steady at reporting points today.

Liverswights: Brantford 18.25; Kitchener 18.25; London 18.25; Hull 18.35; Peterboro 18; Stratford 18.25.

Dressedweights: London $11; Hull $11.45; Peterboro $10.15; Stratford $11.

Livestock

Toronto, Dec. 30.— (CP)— A small run of cattle was cleaned up at steady prices on the Toronto Livestock Market today. Price were around previous levels on all market directions.

Receipts reported by the Dominion Livestock Branch were—Cattle 260; calves 130; hogs 750; sheep and lambs 160.

Good butcher cattle were from $5.25 to $5.50 and plain grades down to $3.75. Butcher cows sold from $3.50 to $3.75 with a few top reaching $4. Choice calves were brought $7 to $7.50 and medium $5 to $6. Some butcher bulls went between $3.25 and $3.50.

Choice veal calves ranged from $10 to $11 with common grades as low as $6.

Off truck bacon hogs closed at $8.65 to $8.75.

Good ewe and wether lambs were priced at $9.50 with other grades from $7 to $8.25. Sheep sold at $3 to $4.50 cwt.

R.E. ORR BECOMES SUPT OF C. N. R.

Asst. Supt. at Belleville Since 1927 Transferred to Stratford

Unofficial announcement is made and confirmed in the proper quarter of H. E. Orr, for the last ten years well known assistant superintendent here in the local division of the Canadian National Railways, to Stratford, where he will assume the superintendency of that district. Mr. Orr, who left yesterday to take over his new post will succeed C. J. McKeough, past superintendent. His former position on the local division will be filled by W. K. Rodgers at present chief despatcher of London, Ontario.

The promotion of Mr. Orr is but one of many that has been made in his lengthy career of railroading with the Canadian National Railways lines. Entering service in 1899 as a telegraph operator, he became operator, the following year he was transferred to Belleville in the same capacity. In August, 1905 Mr. Orr was appointed train despatcher on the local division, where he continued until 1916 when he was transferred to Lindsay as assistant superintendent. He remained on that position until 1927, when he was again transferred to Belleville as assistant superintendent.

Throughout his long personality Mr. Orr has gained a wide and intimate circle of friends both in the Canadian National Railway organization and outside. During his residency in Belleville he identified himself with many local clubs and fraternal societies. This evening Mr. Orr will be one of the principal guests at a farewell banquet which is being given the retiring superintendent, C. J. McKeough at Stratford by fellow workers of that division of the Canadian National Railways.

WEATHER CHANGE IS VERY ERRATIC

Scholars Wait For Colder Weather to Resume Open Air Skating

Drizzling rain and higher temperatures, which entered the district late last evening and continued throughout the night, ended temporarily hopes of out door enthusiasts for a day of skating and in the open on New Year's Day. Ilsted on the artificial rink at the Oak Hills district, where skaters had congregated by the score a week or so ago, the ice was found in bare hills remain. On the Bay of Quinte where the ice is usually firmest following an earlier thaw than the land, the same condition face experienced in many seasons, shimmering pools of water today covered the surface of the ice. Skates in the meantime have been relegated to the attic, however, for a drop in temperatures which will provide skating at least over the holidays.

ACCLAIMED

Ameliasburg Township

There will be no election in Ameliasburg township, as none of council being elected by acclamation. The result: Reeve, James Barber; Deputy Reeve, C. B. Bedford; councillors, Fred Russel, Clifford Peck and Jos. Weir.

Rawdon Township

All by acclamation.

Reeve: George E. Thompson; Deputy Reeve, C. B. Bedford; Councillors, Mark Shortt, W. J. Tanner and Arthur Bird.

Sidney Township

All by acclamation.

Reeve, Thomas Shiah; Deputy Reeve, C. H. Keichson; Councillors, Sam Gerow, C. F. P. Wilson, and Ben Bleecker.

BYRON O. LOTT AGAIN ACCLAIMED

For the sixth consecutive year, Mr. Byron O. Lott, well known Sidney Township resident, has been appointed a director of the Ontario Farmers' Co-operative Association. Lott was again given Mr. Lott by acclama tion.

Football Team To Tour Canada

Toronto, Dec. 30—(CP)—Captain Charlton Athletic, one of the strongest teams in the English Football League, will leave England May 1 for a tour of Canada and the United States, Charlton Club chief stated today the team's itinerary is not yet available.

PICTON YOUTH IS MISSING FROM HOME

Belleville police have received word from Picton that the disappearance from home of Robert Francis, aged 19 years and five feet, seven inches in height, weighs in the vicinity of 130 pounds and has a pimply complexion. When last seen he was wearing a wind-breaker, blue pants and brown-laced boots. Francis has been missing from his home in Picton since last night. Persons knowing of this boy's whereabouts are asked to communicate with the Belleville Police Department.

40-HOUR WEEK DEMANDED

Paris, Dec. 30—(CP)—Organized Paris food workers threatened a general strike today unless the government establishes a 40-hour working week.

Roger W. Babson

America's Business Prophet

Will 1937 Be A Year of Real Prosperity?

With startling accuracy, Roger W. Babson, once a year tells what's ahead in the business world for the next twelve months. For the past four years his forecasts have averaged more than 90% correct. In the 1937 forecast Mr. Babson answers with positive assurance over 50 puzzling questions about business, stocks, wages, living costs, and the like.

This popular feature will appear in the

Ontario Intelligencer

DECEMBER 31, 1937

FURRY FREAK IS SHOT NEAR CITY

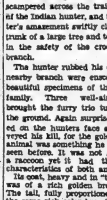
Animal Believed to be Cross Between Red Fox And Raccoon

A beautiful golden-brown animal scampered across the trail in front of the Indian hunter, and to the latter's amazement swiftly climbed the trunk of a large tree and took refuge in the safety of the crook of a branch.

The hunter rubbed his eyes. In a nearby branch were ensconced two beautiful specimens of the raccoon family. There well-aimed shots brought the furry trio tumbling to the ground. Again surprise registered on the hunters face as he surveyed his kill, for the golden-brown animal was something he had never seen before. It was not a fox nor a raccoon yet it had the natural characteristics of both animals.

The animal was about the size of a cat, that the animal was a cross between a red fox and a raccoon. "In all my years in the fur business, I have never seen a similar case" he said. "The pelt is one of the best I have ever seen in these parts and will likely prove to be valuable."

The animal was shot on the farm of Mr. Harry Smith, Belleville merchant, in Tyendinaga Township, by Mr. Bube Bannister.



Lewis Stone and Louise Latimer in "Double Trouble" the first and 1st "Down The Street" now at the Capitol.

Albert Student is Older Boys' Premier

Ken Moreland, student at Albert College, is Premier of the Older Boys' Parliament of Ontario, now meeting in Toronto. Ken has been a student at Albert College during the fall term in his second year Business Administration and Commerce Course. He comes from North Bay and is a good student.

As a debater he was recently honored at Albert College by the Judges Messrs. E. V. Illey, Rev. R. Hall and Mr. J. O. Hertly, who singled him out as the chief debater during such a debate of two teams on the question of dictatorship.

THE HIGH-LIGHT OF THE EVENING!

CANDY

from the

GUILD Restaurant

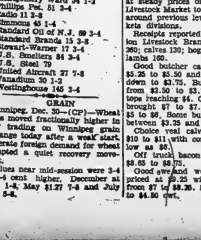
Have you tried our Cosmiliss Delicious Confections? A candy for every taste and every kind. Fit for a King!

TRY 'EM AND LOVE 'EM!

Homemade Mixtures
Assorted Chocolates
Peanuts and Cocoanut
Taffy, etc.

15c LB. and UP

TRY OUR Full Course DINNERS



Tasty and Wholesome

The Guild Restaurant

and CANDY STORE

246 FRONT STREET

(Formerly Mosers)

SARAH AND VIC LEA VE FOR HONEYMOON

Waving farewell to American friends on the deck of the liner that takes them to England and a honeymoon are Mr. and Mrs. Vic Oliver, also the former Sarah Churchill, daughter of Britain's Winston Churchill. Mrs. Churchill came to New York some weeks ago in a flurry of publicity, interested in a stage career—and Oliver. The oft-rumored wedding finally took place—with Churchill nowhere—and Mr. and Mrs. Oliver sail for England. They passed the bride's father in Southampton on his way to New York.

—Central Press Canadian Photo.

"KING of HEARTS"

By Edna Robb Webster

The service was so slow that Lynn reflected her usual lunch hour would have passed by the time she arrived, but those girls seemed to be oblivious of the passage of time while they talked over everything.

Lynn took the salad, which looked to her like a large scaley green lizard, wondering how to eat it, what part of it was edible. Carol observed her baffled glance and laughed delightedly. "I know its looks are deceiving, my dear, but it really is an epicurean delicacy! Just remove the skin off the leaves with—by the thick end into the centre and nibble the little white spot on the end," her small teeth demonstrating with the succulent morsel, "and lay the rest at aside. When you've finished the bowl, layer—what do you call it?"

"Just stack or leaves as big as a table of fodder," interposed Mary Kate.

"And the surplus—the jewel of the plant, I presume, the white heart of the artichoke, which is no longer than the end of your thumb, you marinate that in the same way—dip the thick end into the sauce, nibble off

AUTO FINANCE

AUTO LOANS REFINANCING

On terms and at rates which you will find suitable to your requirements. Your car is a quick and efficient asset for securing a loan for the owner user. Deal with confidence with the company that is a part of the Bell Organization.

HAIG-BROS. LTD.
126 FRONT STREET
BELLEVILLE
Representing
CAMPBELL AUTO FINANCE CO., LTD.

DENTIST

DR. ROST. H. EMPSON
DENTIST
X-Ray 3614 Front St.
Phone 468 17-26

LAND SURVEYOR

FRASER AYLESWORTH
Ontario Land Surveyor, Registered Professional City Engineer, land surveys, drainage and descriptions. No property attended to.
PHONE 1112 P.O. BOX 88
MADOC, ONT.

STOCKS & BONDS

HOGGAR AND CRAWFORD, MEMBERS of Toronto Stock Exchange, Phone 1728, P. E. Wills, branch manager. 85-tf

Business Directory

MINERAL BATHS

The "Health Institute" specializes in Mineral Baths (Hydrotherapy), with Oil Massage for Arthritis, Rheumatism, Neuritis, Sciatica, Lumbago, Nervous Disorders, Anaemia, etc. Mrs. R. F. Ritchie, dietitian in charge. Phone 1152, 121 William St., Belleville.

CHIROPRACTOR

R. A. WYATT, D.C., CHIROPRACTOR and Drugless Therapeutist. Graduate of Canadian Chiropractic College. Complete examination of bowels and hemorrhoids. Rectal diseases treated without surgery. Manipulative surgery with electric treatments for many complaints. 206 Coleman street, Belleville, phone 800.

R. H. and VERA S. PITCHER, D.C. Chiropractors and Drugless Therapeutists. Examination, Consultation, Diagnosis and Treatments Free. Chiropractic, Electro-Therapy, Colonic Irrigation of Months Standing. Office hours: Trial Treatment 4.30 to 5.30 p.m. 89 E. Belleville, Ont. Phone 1274.

INSURANCE

The thought of Fire Loss Half Its Terrors when you're insured with Fire Insurance.
SANDY BURROWS and HOWARD FROST
LIFE AND FIRE INSURANCE
321 FRONT ST. PHONE 1200

HALL & EARLE

Ontario Insurance, Fire, Automobile and Casualty. Phone 1151-w
278 Front St.

LEGAL

WALKER, CAMERON AND CO. (Successors to Walker, Wills & Walbridge), Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, Conveyancers. Solicitors Bank Building. Corner Front and Bridge streets. Belleville. Ontario.

MALCOLM WRIGHT, BARRISTER, Solicitor, Notary Public, Etc. Office, Campbell St., Belleville.

T.T. WILLS, BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, Notary Public, No. 13 Campbell St., Belleville, Telephone 94. Money to loan on mortgages. 219-tf

FORTER, PAYNE AND ARNOTT, BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS AND NOTARIES PUBLIC. A. Payne, K.C., R. D. Arnott, Hastings Block, 282 Pinnacle St., Belleville.

FOSTER AND GRAHAM, BARRISTERS, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Conveyancers, Solicitors for Belleville Public Schools, Bank of Montreal Chambers, Telephone 94. Walter Foster, K.C., and J. E. Graham. Office, Belleville.

DONOVAN AND BUTLER, B. C. Donovan, K.C., B.A., Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Notaries Public and Conveyancers. Campbell St., Belleville, Ont. Phone 23.

Sterility of Hormones Possibility of Future

New York, Dec. 30 (CP)—Birth control by dose of hormones appears a possibility o fthe near future, according to Dr. Raphael Kurzrok of Presbyterian Hospital-Columbia Medical Centre.

The results of recent experiments on animals and observations of human patients by himself and other research workers were disclosed by Dr. Kurzrok at the annual meeting of the Birth Control Clinical Research Bureau here yesterday.

Recent work with hormones, powerful substances produced in small quantities in various parts of the body, promises to yield methods by which women may be made temporarily sterile for a month at a time or more, Dr. Kurzrok said.

Temporary "hormonal sterility" already has been observed in women who took doses of certain hormones as treatment for ailments, Dr. Kurzrok said, and has been produced experimentally in rabbits and other animals.

WANTED

EXPERIENCED SINGLE NEEDLE operators at once. Apply Deacon Skirt Company, Belleville. 230-3t

GOOD RELIABLE HOUSEKEEPER. Phone 2115W. 230-tf

FEB. 1ST, 3 OR 4 ROOM HEATED apartment; hardwood floors. Phone 2277W. 230-2t

EXPERIENCED MALE CLERK for fruit store. Apply Box "C" Ontario Intelligencer. 228-3t

ALIVE 9 OR 10 BRONZE HEN turkeys. Apply W. Turner, Brewers' Warehouse. 229-2t

SEVERAL CORDS HARD BODY wood in exchange for new and used battery radios. Apply Miles' Radio Shop, 229 Front St. 228-3t

PRACTICAL NURSE WOULD like position nurse or nurse housekeeper. Phone 837. 228-3t

DEATHS

BARNUM—At the Belleville General Hospital on Tuesday, Dec. 29th, 1936, Emily Barnum, late residence, 92 Chatham Street, widow of Arthur Barnum, age 67 years.
The funeral will take place from the Tickell & Bowyer Funeral Home, 386 Church Street, Toronto, this afternoon, Dec. 31st, service in the chapel at 2 o'clock.
Interment Belleville cemetery. 230-1t

INSULATION

ARTHUR A. SILLS CO.
CONTRACTOR & DISTRIBUTOR
325-327 Coleman St. Phone 1184
D3-12

ATTENTION BUTCHERS! FARMERS! Highest Cash Prices Paid for HIDES by H. YANOVER & SONS
139 N. John St. Phone 1679
D28-30, J3-3-7-

STAPLEY'S EXPRESS & BUS SERVICE
Belleville — Madoc — Bancroft
Leaves Belleville for Bancroft 2.00 p.m.; arrives 6.30 p.m.
Leaves Belleville for Madoc 2.00 p.m.; arrives Madoc 6.30 p.m.
Leaves Bancroft for Belleville, 8.00 a.m.; arrives 11.30 a.m.
Leaves Madoc for Belleville, 9.00 a.m.; arrives 10.30 a.m.
Daily Except Sunday Phone 1340
A15-52-tf

NOTICE
ADVANCE POLL
MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS
Railway Employees and Commercial Travellers

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that by authority of the Railway Employees and Commercial Travellers' Act, a poll will be opened at the residence of Thomas Morris, 264 Station Street, Belleville, on Monday, the 4th day of January, 1937, at 9 o'clock a.m. to six o'clock p.m. on Thursday, December 31, 1936, and on Friday and Saturday, January 1st and 2nd, 1937, for the receiving of the vote of all duly qualified Railway Employees or Commercial Travellers, who by reason of their employment will be absent from the City on the regular day of holding the annual municipal elections, viz. Monday, January 4th, 1937.

J. WILFRED HOLMES,
Returning Officer.
230, 2t, 30

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Sealed tenders marked "Tender for Contract No. 36-158 Demolition of Carrying Place Bridge" will be received by the undersigned until 12 o'clock Noon on Saturday, January 9th, 1937.

Plans, specifications, information blanks, and forms of sealed tender envelopes may be obtained at the Port Hope Office or at the office of the undersigned.

A marked cheque for the sum of two hundred dollars must be furnished by the contractor when submitting tender, which cheque will be held by the Province as security for the satisfactory completion of the work.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

H. M. SMITH,
Deputy Minister of Highways.
Department of Highways, Ontario, Toronto, December 28th, 1936.
230-1t

LADY HOUSTON DIES IN LONDON

Widow of Shipping Magnate Known For Philanthropies

London, Dec. 30 (CP-Havas) Lady Houston, 70, widow of the shipping magnate, Sir Robert Houston, died last night after a brief illness at her residence at Hampstead.

One of the first five Dames Commanders of the British Empire and a militant suffragette, Lady Houston was well known for her philanthropic works and patriotic fervor which often took the form of violent attacks against the "inactivity" of the government in the "Saturday Review" which she published.

On the death of her husband in 1926 Lady Houston inherited an estate of about £7,000,000 ($35,000,000).

In 1931 she made a donation of £100,000 for the international Schneider trophy for speed flying and in 1935 offered £200,000 ($1,000,000) to the Chancellor of the Exchequer to help balance the budget. Neville Chamberlain, for the advancement of British aviation, Chamberlain refused the offer, explaining he lacked the authority to accept it.

Gift To Government.

The Treasury accepted, however a gift of £1,000,000 ($5,000,000) from Lady Houston which was tendered by the government without any specifications as to its use.

Business Liners

Gainsborough Hose sold by Mrs. Harman, Millbrae, 431½ Bridge St. Christmas. A practical gift for the New Year. 228-3t

PUBLIC MEETING

A public meeting will be held in the City Hall on Friday evening, January 1st, 1937, at 8 o'clock for the purpose of allowing candidates for municipal honours the privilege of discussing municipal affairs.

J. WILFRED HOLMES,
City Clerk.
230-2t

PERSONAL

Women, worry won't help. Drugs for all cases of menstrual disorders will. Free booklet this week at Lanthier's and Seldon's Drug Stores. 227-3m

MENI GIFT VOUCH AT ONCE: NEW Canadian Vitamin Tablets contain rare ester hormonators and fiber stimulants. Cost only $1.00 at drug stores. Do not confound under name Meni. Get genuine Meni. Sold by Dolan the Druggist. 231-1t

BUY! Through the WANT-ADS

We take this opportunity of wishing our clients and friends the Compliments of the Season, and a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

JAMIESON BONE & CO.
INSURANCE - INVESTMENTS

LORD TWEEDSMUIR LEARNS ABOUT MOVIES

The intimate glimpse of His Excellency, Governor-General and Mrs. Tweedsmuir on the Chrysler non-general of Canada, displays his interest in the technical side of seeing movies. Sound Cameraman Roy Tash of Montreal is showing the Governor-General and Lady Tweedsmuir how voice and features are incorporated on the same strip of film.
—Central Press Canadian Photo.

MASSASSAGA

Massasaga—Mrs. J. G. Anderson left on Wednesday for Alberta, where she will spend the Christmas holidays.

Mr. Jim Broad, Miss Hazle Broad also Mr. and Mrs. Asa Broad, attended the funeral of their brother-in-law, the late Mr. Clarke, Newlin-day, in Belleville.

Mrs. Stanley Wallbridge, Mrs. P. A. Lasier, Mr. J. A. E. Nightingale attended the funeral of the late Fred Graham, Belleville, on Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Simpson, Stedmerville, called at the home of Miss Bessie Wallbridge, on Thursday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Halon of Gardenville, and Mrs. Jay Osborne of London, spent Saturday with Mrs. W. P. Osborne and Mr. Ben Osborne.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Fraser and Howard spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. George Hunt, Bethel, recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Wallbridge, Richmond Hill, called on Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Wallbridge and Miss Bessie Wallbridge, Christmas Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hunt, Bethel, spent Thursday afternoon, with Mrs. W. Fraser.

Christmas was on Christmas Day were—Mr. and Mrs. Asa Broad, Miss Hazle Broad, Mr. Jim Broad and Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Adams and children with Mr. and Mrs. Bert Bury, Kotcheraw, Belbrook, Mr. and Mrs. William Jose with Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Boyle, Mr. and Mrs. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wallbridge and Marguerite, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wallbridge and Bobby of Belleville, with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Jose and Mrs. Mary Jose, Mrs. Fred of Belleville, with Mrs. Harry Jose, Miss Beatrice Jose, Redgerville, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Nightingale, with Miss Beatrice Wallbridge and Mrs. R. A. Lasier.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wallbridge of Belleville, Mr. Harry Allen and T. D. Wallbridge.

Miss Helen Wallbridge, nurse-in-training at Belleville Hospital, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Alder and Mrs. Asa Foster, Belleville, with Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wallbridge and sons, sons.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Gray, June and Jack, Mr. and Mrs. Art Girls, 2nd of Thurlow.

Mrs. D. R. Davidson and son, Mr. Morley Davidson, Belleville, Mr. and Mrs. Bell, Front Road; Mr. and Mrs. George Hunt and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hunt, William Whitehouse of Bethel, with Mr. and Mrs. Willis Fraser.

Mr. and Mrs. George Ackerman and Alma, and Mr. and Mrs. Ezrah Ackerman and Edith, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Ackerman, Smithfield, Lasty Mrs. Ackerman was well known for her philanthropic works and patriotic fervor which often took the form of violent attacks against the "inactivity" of the government in the "Saturday Review" which she published.

On the death of her husband in 1926 Lady Houston inherited an estate of about $7,000,000 ($35,000,000).

In 1931 she made a donation of $100,000 for the international Schneider trophy for speed flying and in 1935 offered $200,000 ($1,000,000) to the Chancellor of the Exchequer to help balance the budget. Neville Chamberlain, for the advancement of British aviation, Chamberlain refused the offer, explaining he lacked the authority to accept it.

Gift To Government.

The Treasury accepted, however a gift of $1,000,000 ($5,000,000) from Lady Houston which was tendered by the government without any specifications as to its use.

FOURTH SIDNEY

4th Sidney, Dec. 30—The Sunday School Christmas tree which was held at Hungerford on Dec. 22nd. was a decided success. The programme was one that young and old enjoyed. The proceeds were over $20. Santa Claus came as usual with all his presents for the children and some for the grown-ups as well.

Miss Reta Wood is spending her Christmas vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Wood.

Miss Margaret Johnson and brother Holden of Queen's University are spending their vacation with their parents, Rev. and Mrs. Johnston.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Holmes and son are spending a few days with their parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Jeffery spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. W. Harry, 3rd line.

Mrs. S. Ford entertained Mr. and Mrs. Ross Dafoe and family also her daughter Retina of Toronto on Christmas day.

Mr. Robert MacPherson, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Harris spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. S. Denyes, Mary and Joyce MacPherson, son of Odessa.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Vermilyea entertained a number of relatives from Madoc on Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Hannah and son Murney and Mr. Charlie May were Christmas guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. Richardson of Stirling.

UNION VALE

Union Vale—The Gore C. Telephone Company held their annual meeting at the residence of the home of the President, Mr. S. W. Tripp.

Mrs. Allen Pearsall was able to return home on Monday from Picton Hospital, after undergoing an operation for appendicitis.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Brown and Bobby of Black Creek, spent Christmas with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Tubbs.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Crowe and family spent Christmas Day with relatives at Frankford.

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Vincent and baby spent a day this week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Huff of Ashbridge's Bay.

Mrs. Viola Reynolds spent Christmas with her son, Mr. Dwight Reynolds and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sullivan and Marion of Gravelly, were Christmas Day guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pearsall and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fox, Mrs. Celia Walker and Clarence spent Christmas Day with Mr. and Mrs. Garfield Pearsall.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Gibson of Wellington, were Christmas Day visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Mrs. Andrew Wilson.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Goodfellow are spending a couple of weeks with friends in the North Country.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Martin were at home on Christmas Day when they entertained a large number of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Vincent, Bonnie, and Mr. Finley Vincent spent Christmas Day with Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Rongard of Rongard's Corners.

Mr. and Mrs. Clare Pearsall spent Christmas with her mother, Mrs. J. Van Cleaf at Picton.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Noble were Christmas Day guests with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Brumsell at Massassaga.

POINT ANNE

Point Anne—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sedore and Mae spent Christmas day in Napanee with Mr. Sedore's parents.

Joyce Scott spent Sunday and Monday in Belleville with her aunt Mrs. Albert Badgely.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Kelly of Tweed visited Mrs. Kelly's brother, Mr. Abelard, on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Duff spent Christmas at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Bennett.

The annual slippery collision of the roads made travelling very uncomfortable during the week and during the last few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hamilton spent the holiday and week end with Mrs. Swan's sister Mrs. J. R. MacDonald.

Little Rose Mary's Bursaway of Toronto is spending holidays at the home of Mr. Manson MacDonald.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Bowler and family are holidaying with Mr. Bowler's mother in Tweed.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Walsburg and son visited at the home of Mr. Steve Shepherd on Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Burshaw and family attended a family party at the home of Mrs. Burshaw's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Badgely, Cherrytree, on Christmas Day.

Mr. Bruce Hanley motored to Toronto for Christmas.

ARDEN

Arden, Dec. 30—Miss Lela Scott spent a few days last week with friends in Trenton.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Finley spent Christmas with the former's mother at Sydenham.

Misses Faye and Nadine Scott, Toronto, are spending the holidays with friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. John Steele and Miss Leona Steele spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Will Steele.

Mr. and Mrs. Derwood Scott spent Christmas with the latter's father Mr. Hutchcroft at Cardinal.

Mrs. Emma Alexander is visiting friends here after spending some time at Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Fisher and family and Mr. Earl Loyst visited friends at Ferndale on Sunday.

Mrs. N. Colsteer, Toronto, visited her daughter Nadine and Mr. and Mrs. E. Woodcock recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Thompson spent Christmas with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Monds.

Mr. Kenneth Alexander and Mr. Harold Newton spent Saturday with Bob Geo. Pringle, Jr., at Buck Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Garfield Scott and family spent Christmas Day recently with Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Gendron.

Mr. Gerald Akey, Hungerford, spent Christmas at his home here.

Mrs. Alice Rikely, Otter, and Mrs. Eva Jackson, Toronto, spent the holidays with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Simeon Loyst.

Mr. Stewart Gendron, O.P.R. brakeman had the misfortune of breaking his collar bone.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren 'Shaw, Perth, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Spanellis, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Clay spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Adam Akey.

The Christmas entertainment held here Dec. 23rd was attended and a good progra mprovided.

Mrs. Ann Scott who is ill is not improving as much as had been hoped for.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Alexander and family visited friends at Newburgh recently.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Loyst, Mrs. Alice Rikely, Mrs. Eva Jackson and Mr. Simeon Loyst spent Christmas at Mr. S. Loyst's.

Mrs. Gordon Steele, Mountain Grove, called on friends here Monday.

Misses Audrey Scott and Dorothy Alexander, Tweed, are spending their holidays with the latter's parents here.

Mr. Amos Hughes spent Tuesday in Kingston.

Miss N. Barker returned home after spending a few days in Smith's Falls. Her grandfather Mr. John Barker, Stirling, is seriously ill.

Messrs. John Kellar and Donald Thompson spent Christmas with Mr. M. E. Hay's.

Mr. Leigh Gendron, Trenton, spent the holidays at Mr. Will Scott's.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Clancy and family, Henderson, spent Christmas with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Loyst.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Johnston and family visited the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Woodcock at Henderson.

Mr. and Mrs. Derwood Scott spent with Mrs. Jas. Scott Sunday evening.

Mr. Harry Hayes visited friends at Mountain Grove recently.

A number of the young people spent an enjoyable time Saturday evening at Mr. Gerald Tye's Christmas tree.

Mrs. E. Pixley and son Jack are spending some time with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Jack Martin at Oshawa.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Scott spent Christmas with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Scott.

Mrs. M. E. Hays and Mrs. F. Wentworth visited Mrs. J. Mayes Sunday.

A number from here attended the Christmas entertainment at Mountain Grove Tuesday night and all report a good time.

Mr. Everett Scott called on Mr. Will Scott Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kellar and family are spending some time with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Porter, Beeton.

Mrs. Albert Mollray, Newburgh, spent Tuesday with Mrs. Ben Delair.

Mrs. Will Scott and Miss Lela Scott visited Mrs. Thos Kellar on Tuesday.

Mr. M. See called on friends in Toronto recently.

Mr. Harold Steele, Mountain Grove, spent Tuesday with friends here.

Mrs. Roy Green called on friends in Tamworth on Tuesday.

Mrs. Eveline Thompson visited Mrs. Minerva Hayes recently.

THURSDAY AT 206 FRONT ST.

LUCKIN'S

Phone 579 — We Deliver

OUR CREAMERY — WITH MEAT ORDERS

SECOND GRADE	BUTTER	FIRST GRADE
26c		27c
BOILING FOWL lb.		16c
GEESE lb.		18c
FRESH KILLED ROASTING CHICKENS lb.		18c to 22c
SWIFT'S JEWEL	SHORTENING 2 lbs.	25c
"Blue Brand" Beef Roasts lb.		12c to 14c
Ham or Sirloin Pork Roasts lb.		18c
Shoulder Pork Roasts	Any lb. Cut	14c
LAMB LEGS . .		lb. 22c
BONELESS ROLLED Any Size Cut	RIB ROAST	16c to 18c
Sirloin Steak		14c to 17c

Our Store will be Open TONIGHT Until 9.30 and THURSDAY NIGHT until 11.30 — and Luckin's Staff Wish You All A HAPPY AND PROSPEROUS YEAR DURING 1937.

SCOTT'S SCRAPBOOK

by R. J. SCOTT

RUGBY— BOXING— WRESTLING

SPORTS Of All SORTS

HOCKEY— BADMINTON— BOWLING—

Ranger and Amerk Players Stage Donnybrook in N. Y. Fifteen Penalties Being Given

Rangers Score 8-1 Win to be Safe at Top of Section

CHICAGO WINS

Defeat Canadiens 5-1 While Bruins Shutout Maroons 2-0

By A. L. FULFORD

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Back in the bad old days of Sprague Cleghorn, Billy Coutu, Red Joe Hall and the rest of the Stanley crew, who used to swing flails and clubs along the ice lanes a hockey player could sack an opponent with the same expectation of getting back into the game the same day as son.

But those days seem to have gone the way of seven-man hockey and 60-minute games. Not that the boys aren't now, the boys must stick to work, not play, and if you are screwball enough to swing at the man next in the mixup before you're out of the penalty box.

Perhaps that's a good idea but it's enough to draw tears from the old timers the way they tell it. Just the other night at the Garden, in a game with a few stinging.

Take the Rangers and New York last night. A bit of a scuffle between Frankie Boucher, the game's outstanding penalty collector, and Art Otton developed into a fist fight between several Rangers and Amerk can players. Before you could say Wilder Lamoreaux, referee Bill Stevenson had slapped on a penalty against two majors and five miscreants. That should be enough to halt a riot in its tracks.

Stewart Cleaves Up Game

But perhaps that wasn't thought he was at his summer occupation of smashing baseball, when he went to work on the boys with each man for himself. At any rate, he cleaned up the game, with Boucher, Ott and Ching left by 5-1 from Red Dutton's team giving them a 3-1 edge in the series with their fifth-city rivals.

The outbreak in New York after so much stick-less hockey in Boston was surprise enough for the fans in the night, but Coach Lester Patrick added another shock. Before it or now, Patrick actually trusted Montreal Canadiens 5-1 in Chicago for the third victory they have gained in 18 games.

Rangers' win strengthened their position atop the National States section and Boston, moved into a tie with Detroit for second place by plastering a 6-0 whitewashing on Tommy Gorman's Montreal Maroons before the season's largest crowd of the Boston season.

American Leagues Chicago defeated Gorman's first period on the fireworks broke out in the second. Art Jackson fought Ching Carden. Rochor ate Cotton tangled, several others mixed in the fray and the law came out on the ice to break it up. Time-outs rode the penalty box and then Cotton went to work.

15 Penalties in Game

Allan Shields had come off the penalty bench to join in the scrap and then came Jackson and Shields back to Stewart. The American defenceman was given a double penalty, Boucher and Cotton got one apiece for starting it and Babe Pratt and Lynn Patrick, of Rangers, and Teddy Graham and Hap Emms, of Amerks, were also intoxicated for joining in.

When Rangers had a man advantage Butch Keeling evened the score after the fight and he scored twice more in the first period when Lester Patrick's men opened up in the third. Cecil Dillon and Max Colville got the others. There were 15 penalties in all during the contest.

Perhaps it was the crowds that affected Chicago Hawks in their previous home games. They usually had 10,000 to 14,000 watching them and did nothing. Last night 16,500 were on hand. The Hawks must have thought it was a preview for they unloosed their best offensive of the season.

They outplayed the happy Habitants from start to finish in a hard, fast game. Olen Dutton got a goal in the first, Art Seibert added one in the second and Paul Thompson, Bill Kendall and Johnny Gottselig scored in the third. It was Kendall's last goal for Chicago. He was traded yesterday to Toronto for Pep Kelly. Gottselig's tally came in the third from Toe Blake's stick.

Bill Cowley was the hero of the piece in Boston. He was one of those adding, where the Bruins scored a 2-0 win to ensure an open game. Late in the first period, Cowley, playing his usual sharpshooter scored two goals to go ahead and Lorne Carr provided the lead with offensive hockey. Carr took added their tally goal in 12:15 middle frame.

There were only two penalties in the game and both went to Jack Portland, Bruin defenceman. Gorman announced before the contest started that Carr had a charley horse but been ill most of the season will not play again before next fall.

Leafs Trade 'Pep' Kelly For Kendall of Chicago

Toronto, Dec. 30—(CP)—Regis (Pep) Kelly, young right winger of Toronto Maple Leafs, has been traded to Chicago Black Hawks for Bill Kendall, also a right winger, announcing director Conny Smythe of the Leafs announced Tuesday. No cash was involved in the exchange.

Born in North Bay, Ont., Kelly is 24 years old. He helped Newmarket Redmen win the Memorial Cup in 1933 and the following spring starred for St. Michael's College when the Toronto students won the same title. The fleet forward, five of St. Michael's, Kelly, Art Jackson and Gordon Metcalfe, was signed by Leafs.

Kendall, also an outstanding junior player when he performed for Kenwood Millionaires of Winnipeg, turned professional in 1931 with St. Louis Flyers of the American Association. He moved to Wichita of the same league in 1932 and has played with the London Tecumsehs of the International League and the Hawks. He is 26.

Kendall will put on a Toronto uniform for the first time at Maple Leaf Thursday when the Leafs engage Maroons.

HOCKEY STANDINGS

NATIONAL LEAGUE

International Section
	P	W	L	T
Canadiens	18	9	7	2
Toronto	18	7	8	1
Maroons	18	8	8	2
Montreal	18	6	9	3
United States Section
Rangers	18	11	5	2
Detroit	17	8	6	3
Boston	17	8	6	3
Chicago	16	3	9	4

American Association

	P	W	L	T
St. Louis	16	9	7	0
Syracuse	6	4	2	0
Wichita	6	0	2	1
Tulsa	6	0	2	1
Kansas City	6	2	3	1
Minneapolis	6	2	3	1

(No points given for ties).

LEAGUE LEADERS

(By The Canadian Press)

Canadian Section

Standing: Canadiens, won 10, lost 7, tied 1, 21 points in 18.

Points: Schriner, Americans, 9 goals, 9 assists, 18 points.

Goals: Schriner, Americans, 11.

Assists: Chapman, Americans; Morris, Canadiens, 12 each.

Penalties: Shields, Americans, 4 minutes, 2 majors.

Shutouts: Worters, Americans, 3.

United States Section

Standing: Rangers, won 10, lost 5, tied 3, points 23.

Points: Boucher, Detroit; Dillon, Rangers, 19 each.

Assists: Barry, Detroit, 11.

Penalties: Boucher, Chicago, especially among the minors, is worthwhile and interesting; I wish you and your organization success and prosperity in the future," he said.

Hockey's Big Seven

(By The Canadian Press)

There wasn't a point scored by any of the first five in the National Hockey League scoring race last night and the only change in the Big Seven came when Boston's Bill Cowley scored two goals and advanced to a share of a seven-man tie for the last two places. Dave "Sweeney" Schriner of New York Americans held his one-point edge although going pointless against Montreal.

The Leaders:

	G	A	P
Schriner Americans	9	9	18
Gagnon, Canadiens	11	6	17
Jackson, Toronto	10	7	17
Jackson, Toronto	7	9	15
Barry, Detroit	4	11	15
Lewis, Detroit; Cowley, Boston; Patrick, M. Colville, Rangers; Chapman, Chapman, Americans; Morris, Canadiens, tied with 14 points each.

N. H. L. STARS

(By The Canadian Press)

Bill Cowley, Boston, who scored two goals to lead Bruins' offensive in a 2-0 triumph over Montreal Maroons.

Cecil "Tiny" Thompson, Boston, goaltending provided Bruins with a defensive edge and Thompson with his second shutout.

Butch Keeling, Rangers, who tried three times in vain during the walloped their city rivals, the Americans, 5-1.

Art Seibert and Johnny Gottselig, Chicago, who scored a goal and assisted each as Black Hawks defeated Canadiens, 5-1, their most convincing victory of the season.

RALPH B. MORDEN RESIGNS FROM "Y" FOR NEW POSITION

Acted as Physical Director For 10 Years And With Organization 15 Yrs.

VERY ACTIVE

Organized Swimming Club And Interested in Ki-Y Work

Ralph B. Morden, who for the past 15 years has been connected with the Y.M.C.A. as boys' secretary and more recently as physical director, has severed his connection with the organization and has accepted a position as sporting goods salesman with the Belleville Hardware Co. Ltd. Mr. Morden's decision came rather suddenly to the board that body thanked Mr. Morden for his untiring efforts during the past 15 years and although reluctantly accepting his decision, in turn presented Mr. Morden with a handsome Gladstone bag and purse as a token of their appreciation for his and his wife's efforts in the work of the Y.M.C.A. in this city. Mr. Morden has also acted as secretary of the Canada Life Insurance Company in this district.

During the past ten years Mr. Morden, as physical director of the Y.M.C.A., has been keenly interested in all branches of physical culture, especially among the younger boys, Jrs also was in charge of much of the activities of the Ki-Y league work, being interested in the organization of baseball and softball for the minors. Mr. Morden also took a keen interest in the aquatics and not only assisted in the sponsoring of the annual Y.M.C.A. water carnival, but organized a Belleville Swimming Club, which functioned successfully and was instrumental in presenting interesting aquatic meets.

Joins "Y" in 1921

His initial connexion with the Y.M.C.A. in 1921 was that of boys' work secretary, later assuming secretaryship after a lengthy study and training along those lines in Toronto. Ralph Morden is a Belleville lad, and was educated in the public and high school of this city. During the war he enlisted and saw service in the O.M.R., in returning he took up the good wishes and good will of a host of friends, and was elected to the Board of Directors of the local Y.M.C.A.

Following the presentation to Mr. Morden refreshments were served with Horace Clarke presiding over the Y.M.C.A. acting as toastmaster. Mr. Clarke extended the good wishes of the board and presented Mr. Morden with the leather bag as a signal honor on behalf of the Board of Directors. Mrs. Ralph Gagnon, chairman assisted him with the purse from the Association Board and the long service already mentioned the heads of the various units of the Y.M.C.A. were also present and added to the feeling of regret in the decision of Mr. Morden.

In replying to his hosts of the evening Mr. Morden stated he had spent many happy hours with the Y.M.C.A. and had been a member of the Association for 15 years previous to being employed for an active position. He said: "Boys work, especially among the minors, is worthwhile and interesting; I wish you and your organization success and prosperity in the future," he said.

HOCKEY RESULTS

National League

Chicago 5; Canadiens 1
Boston 2; Maroons 0
Rangers 5; Americans 1

American Association

Kansas City 1; Wichita 0
St. Paul 5; Minneapolis 1
Tulsa 3; Kansas City 2 (overtime)
Ottawa Emeralds 3; Hull Volants 1

Ottawa Junior League

Rideaus 11; St. Malachy's 3

O.H.A. Intermediate "A"

Brantford 5; Waterloo 3
Kitchener 6; Oak 4

O.H.A. Intermediate "B"

Port Perry 5; Pennion Falls 0
Orlhurst 7; St. Catharines 1
Cannington 6; Lindsay 4
Uxbridge 10; Danville, pond.
New Hamburg 4; Tavistock, pond.
Hearnline at Owen Sound, postponed.
Clinton at Milverton, postponed.

O.H.A. Junior "A"

Canada, 6; Native Sons 3
Young Rangers 5; Lions 1

O.H.A. Intermediate "B"

Stratford Majors at Guelph, postponed.

O.H.A. Junior "B"

Barrie 9; Midland 2
Bracebridge 4; Penetang 0
Kitchener 3; Galt 3
Listowel 9; Arthur 1
Clinton 3; Goderich 2
Exeter 5; Crediton 3
Palmerston 6; Drayton 3

U.S. Eastern Amateur

x-Pittsburgh 6; Atlantic City 3
x-Baltimore 6; New York 4

Season's Trophies Awarded to Respective Champions of Belleville Yachting Club

Social Evening With Entertainment is Held

MANY ADDRESSES

Frank Smith's Joke Won The Majority of Prizes

In a gala evening's entertainment that brought together all local yacht authorities, the Belleville Yacht Club held its annual distribution of prizes in its spacious club rooms on Front Street, last evening. A large list of prizes constituted the spoils of the evening that was followed by a social evening of entertainment and refreshments.

Commodore Maurice Callaghan occupied the chair and welcomed the large gathering on behalf of the club. During the inaugural speech Commodore Callaghan announced the club had recently changed its name to the Belleville Yacht Club, deleting thereby the word athletic for the time being.

Twelve fine large silver trophies adorned the Club's side and were distributed among the winners in the various events which took place on the bay during the season. Hockey trophies won by the Belleville Yacht Club hockey team and a softball cup won by their softball team were also presented. During the evening the Belleville Collegiate Institute school band, under the baton of Lieut. Bunting, rendered a number of fine military and popular airs that were highly appreciated by the audience. Quartette, accompanied by Leo B. Spiegel, rendered three vocal selections in their usual capable manner. The quartette consisted of Messrs. Morrison, Brown, Howard and Evans. William Nicholson gave a dance specialty while his brother, the brothers, Roy and George, brought rounds of applause for their efforts. The next roundup to prove the act of self-defence can be attained as a really safe, sane Fourth of July only nine years of age but have had considerable pyrotechnic experience will always prove an attraction wherever they appear. Fry and Gunn have given a delightful performance that was appreciated. Candidates, assisting the commodore, were present and after-seating the Commodore in recognition of their efforts, asked the usual support at the forthcoming municipal election.

Reviewed Activities

Commodore Callaghan in welcoming the guests, also welcomed the members and citizens in general, reviewed the activities of the Belleville Yacht Club since its inception. "We have the finest clubhouse in Canada," he said, and the finest athletic organization in this city. We sponsored hockey, basketball, softball from the 24th of May until Labor Day and not only assisted the citizens to our beautiful Bay of Quinte, but outsiders as well. This Yacht Club is only beginning to flourish. We have over twenty-five boats in the competition throughout the sailing season and more yachts are being built right this minute. The citizens of Belleville should appreciate the advantages of the beautiful Bay of Quinte and take it to their hearts more seriously. The Yacht Club is a community lies right along the shores of Quinte waters. What more beautiful sight or more thrilling sport could one desire than to see those white sails either underway or all stiff in a spanking breeze?" concluded Commodore Callaghan as he invited all citizens to either join the Club and enjoy its privileges or take in some summer sailing as a rejuvenation of sailing in order to enjoy the many advantages to be had from the beautiful Bay.

Following the commodore's address the presentation of prizes commenced and were distributed among the winners in the following order:

"A" Class—Ranna Cup—won by John, owned by Frank Smith.

Ladies' Commodore Cup—won by Dorothy, owned by A. Rumlow.

"B" Class—Ladies' Trophy—won by Rambler, owned by C. Cook.

Ladies' Consolation Cup—won by J. Romack, owned by D. Rowe.

"C" Class—Whaley Cup—won by Badger, owned by Leo Fleck.

The above trophies were for the series of races sailed by the Club during the regular weekly sailing events. The following special trophies won were challenge trophies and consisted of—

Mixed Centennial Cup Trophy—won by F. Smith's John.

George V Jubilee Annual Cup Challenge—won by F. Smith's John.

O.A. Payne Challenge Cup—won by F. Smith's John.

Dominion Day Cup—"A" Class—won by H. Senear's Anemone, owned by Senear.

Pinton Dominion Day Trophy—Class "B"—won by C. Rathbun's Dorothy, second consecutive victory.

Pinton Dominion Day Trophy—Class "C"—won by Flapjack, Badger.

Pinton Dominion Day Trophy—Class "C"—won by C. Elliott's Tess.

Other trophies won by the Yacht Club during the season were the Regatta Cup, for the winning of the Bay of Quinte Regatta Series, won by H. Burrows Cup and Chs. W. E. Rowsome Cup for Industrial Race. The latter Rowsome boon was by the "Sailors" in hockey last season. The Ladies' Commodore Cup Trophy was won by the Club softball team sponsored by the Club executive and membership members of the Club on its roster.

Following evening and refreshments concluded one of the most enjoyable events in the history of the Club which looks eagerly forward with renewed interest to its most successful season of sailing in 1937.

Sport Callings

By Ken Colling

With the O.H.A. hockey season knocking right at our door perhaps it would be a good idea to review and comment somewhat on the several changes in amateur hockey rules as adopted by the C.A.H.A. and adopted by the O.H.A. for 1937. With a very few exceptions the new and revised playing rules were adopted in their entirety. In junior and intermediate hockey circles body checking is taboo—or should be—and in the senior ranks, although permitted in pro hockey. The only body checking to be seen locally will be the old style of body checking in the defending team's own zone. Perhaps we are not quite as conversant to the new rules as we might like, but here goes for a whirl at 'em anyhow.

Practically speaking there are four new rules of importance to amateurs, the main one doubtless being the all-defence rule, which says—"not more than three players, including goal-keeper, of the defending side may stand in their defending zone before the attacking side carries the puck into that zone". A minor penalty is to be imposed on the fourth player entering the defending zone, but will not be imposed until after the play is completed and if a goal is scored by the attacking team, the penalty will be automatically revoked. The new rule on delayed penalties is also very gratifying at first also. It merely means that neither side shall have less than four players on the ice at one time. Subsequent penalties are late effect at the termination of the first original penalty, however, and continuous until all penalties are served in order.

Defending players should learn the rules so as not to be trapped in their own defending zone, especially, when short-handed through penalties. Offence has been making the most of the chance to move the puck into the centre zone so as to leave more than three defending players in the defending zone. This should be curtailed with discretion by the referee, however, but the defending forwards should strive to get out with the puck as soon as the puck is returned to the defending zone. Infractions of this rule call for minor penalties. A minor penalty and two minutes in the penalty box, a major penalty five, while a match penalty calls for the remainder of the game. Never the guilty player to return to the game for the remainder of the play, although a substitute may take his place after 20 minutes.

Returning to the delayed penalty rule—should "I" a third player is penalized, after two team-mates have been penalized, the penalty of the third player will not take commence until the penalty of one of the first two players expires, time has elapsed. The third penalized player must proceed to the penalty bench but immediately at the time of his penalty, but can be substituted for until the time of the penalty time of the third player commences. When both of the first two penalty imposed and a substitute is placed on the ice, none of the three players penalized may return to the ice until play has stopped or the substitute removed. This brings us to another phase—substituting on the fly"—substitutions may be used at any time, but the player on the ice must be off the ice before the substitute gets onto the ice for play. A minor penalty is imposed for substituting "on the fly" improperly although it takes as through the referees have to be in a very keen eye to work officiating hockey games this winter.

Now we come down to the specialty shot", another new rule adopted this year. In full it reads—"When a player is tripped or otherwise fouled and is prevented from having a clear shot on goal, having no other player to pass than the offending player, a penalty shot shall be awarded to the non-offending side. The penalty shot shall be taken from a spot 36 feet from the goal-line set in the centre of a circle ten feet in diameter marked on the ice. The penalty shot may be taken by any player of the non-offending side who is on the play at the time the shot is being taken. Should a pass be received from a penalty shot the puck shall be faced at mid-ice. Should a goal not be scored on a penalty shot the puck shall be faced off on the goal-line three feet from the nearest goal-post. Notwithstanding the award of the penalty shot, the offending player is elsewhere in these rules for the offence leading to the penalty shot, shall also be imposed.

The old major penalty of five minutes for deliberately injuring, charging, hooking, intentional cutting into boards, throwing a stick, fighting and others. A second major penalty calls for ten minutes. Misconduct is said to constitute a match foul and come under the head of personal offences are punished by fasting of ten feet to the side of the offending team's goal.

Aside from these changes the rules are very much the same as last year. Forward passing is all the rage now, but no over the line there is permitted. Also the puck must be held at any point, except into the opposing team's goal for a score. Then the referee must drop the puck. I remember the goal-crease rule—it is still in force—but the manner of throwing a stick inside the defending zone calls for an automatic penalty. Also the lowering of the offending team. Throwing the puck in the air, except for a pass for a major penalty, however, strikes me as rather new, no kicking of the puck if not in possession of your stick or if the stick is broken—naughty, naughty and of course the old unsportsmanlike conduct, no high sticks either, boys.

Manager Eddie Thomas announced today a Junior practice would be held on Thursday evening. An exhibition game will be played on Jan. 5th at Trenet, little time is left to make a team, so practice is the order. Thomas wants all aspiring juniors to be present Thursday night. There are plenty of positions open for competition, we understand, so let's see you there. The Intermediates worked out last night in preparation for their game tomorrow night, Trenton on Monday. It is understood a new goalkeeper, Ken Bowerman, from Belleville and it employed at the O.N.E. shops, will be in the nets tomorrow. We were unable to ascertain his name. Fred Hall will be in goal.

Major penalties; matched penalties and whatnots were handed out in the Rangers' game last night. Rangers went on a scoring rampage in the third period, trimming the Americans, 5 to 1. Referee Bill Stewart had a busy night trying to quell the gladiators, so pugnacious did they become in a hectic clash. Coach Conacher's Blackhawks broke out in a scoring spree in the first and shellacked the Canadiens 5 to 1 while the Maroons shortened a 2-0 to 0 whitewashing at the hands of the Bruins. Looks as though the N.H.L. pucksters were celebrating New Year's, a little early.

AMALGAMATE TWO CITY CAGE TEAMS

"Y" Team And Deacons Will Play Under One Head

The two local basketball teams entered in the K.O.A.B.A. amalgamated last night at a meeting in a general meeting held at the Y. M. C. A. when the Deacon A. C. juniors and the old Y.M.C.A. intermediates banded together as one organization for the ensuing season's activities on the basketball floor. The club will be known as the Deacon A. C. juvenile club of two season and will be under the control of the newly formed organization.

The Belleville intermediate basketball team this season will be known as the "Y" Deacons while the local junior club in the K.O.A.B.A. will flourish under the name of the Deacon A. C. juniors. The Y.M.C.A. representatives on the new executive will be T. E. Short, general secretary of the Y.M.C.A. and Vernon Weir. The intermediate team will have Arthur Cain, veteran basketball player as business manager and Ken Cochran, former Toronto Varsity cage star as playing-coach. The Deacon juniors will be managed by Wilbur Countryman and coached by Farley Faulkner.

If You Just Didn't Score At Christmas ....

THAT IS IN THE MATTER of SHIRTS

Why not stock up now and have the pleasure of picking out just the shirt and pattern you want?

TIES That Catch the Eye with their Individuality and Beautiful Patterns. CHOOSE NOW!

Quick & Robertson

CORRECT CLOTHING FOR MEN.

HOCKEY IS MINT FOR THE GARDEN

More Than 250,000 Fans Have Witnessed Games So Far.

New York, Dec. 30 (CP)—Hockey continues to qualify as the mint of Madison Square Garden.

With completion of the Sunday Ranger-American Pastoral League argument last night, more than 250,000 cash customers had witnessed ice battles in the sprawling arena so far this season.

Not counting the more than 15,000 pawnbrokers who looked on last night's wild presentation, the Rangers top the parade with 82,535 paid admissions for eight home contests. The Amerks are second with 71,300 for a similar number of battles and the Rovers of the Eastern Amateur League come third with 19 performances on hockey ice.

Where Lester Patrick's Rangers are just about even with last season's figures for the same schedule-stretch, the new orphan Amerk's are around 10,000 followers ahead.

If the three teams continue at their present dizzying pace the hair-attracting they should have pulled something like 1,750,000 into the Garden box offices when the spring thaw sets in.

Compared to other sports staged under the Garden's roof, the greatest game is in a class by itself. Boxing has averaged approximately 9,000 heads per show through 1936 with an average of the N.H.L. teams is about 10,000.

Four Syracuse Players Among First Eight

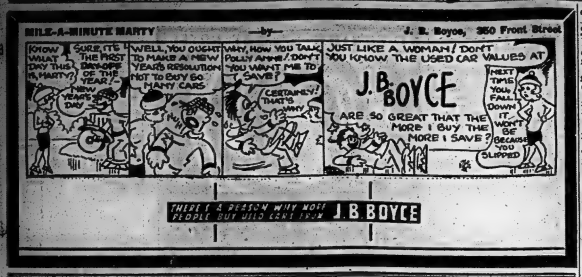
New Haven, Conn., Dec. 30 (AP)—Syracuse players today dominated the International-American Hockey League scoring race with official statistics showed four Syracuse players among the eight leading scorers.

Bill Jennings of the pack was the Jack Benny of the Stars, who posted his point total during the past week to 26. His syracuse teammate Art Mackie, was only two points behind in second place and Jack Keating of Providence held third place with 23 points.

With 22 infractions charged against him, Jack Church of Syracuse was top penalty earner in the league.

Sports Roundup

(By Scotty Reston)



(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Tom Story, Cent got up in bed coaches meeting and suggested the name committee make it illegal to throw more than one pass in each series of downs in the last five minutes of play. . . Perhaps he'd anybody had any question. . . Yeah what would you do when the other team played its 11-man line after you had thrown your pass? one coach asked. . . . Fred Thomsen, Arkansas coach . . . says they don't have any trouble with pass interference in the southwest conference because they train basketball officials for the fipld judge jobs.

BASEBALL'S VETERAN MANAGER IS 74

Connie Mack (seated), veteran leader of the Philadelphia Athletics, and his son Roy, vice-president of the Athletics, go over the thousands of telegrams and letters pouring into the former's office congratulating him on his 74th birthday. On Connie desk is a model of the white elephant made famous by his famous Athletics.

DAILY SHORT STORY—

Emergency Jim

By H. Louis Raybold

Jim went down to the station to see his two girls off—his sister Constance and her chum Madge—on their adventurous expedition to the big city, armed with two elegantly engraved diplomas of the local business college and unlimited expectations.

Jim was gloomy and took no pains to conceal the fact. Dutifully he kissed his sister, then seized Madge's little gloved hand. "Remember," he said hoarsely, "when the Fifth avenue high hats are chasing you, I'm still thinking about you back here holding down my little old job in Perkins' hardware and willing to come in an emergency—well, I'll be waiting."

This was merely an attempt to convey to her as well as a man could in the presence of his sister that he was hers to the death.

And now they had been here six months, rooming together in a tiny apartment.

Through employment agencies each had landed a small position and—a fact which seemed more important to each than the job—both had acquired an esprit de corps.

This had come about through a former acquaintance of Constance's in the boutique college, one George Farkins, who hearing from the folks back home that Constance was in the city for work, had got her address through them and hunted her up.

The second time he came he brought with him a friend, a smartly dressed, personable boy who looked Constance and afterward, just like his name which was Mortimer Paynter, Madge was smitten at once and by the third meeting was convinced not only that she was in love with him but that properly encouraged, he would return her sentiments.

But first there was that little matter of Paynter's employment, for, as the days passed, the young man in question, although friendly and always willing to take a fourth at their good times, failed to hint at any desire for a permanency, much less a wedding.

Yet it was Mortimer himself who gave the word which might have proved Madge's undoing. "I sure miss good home cooking," he remarked one night. "These sandwiches are the berries."

The next time he came Madge had made no only more sandwiches but a chocolate cake, one of those delicious, three-decker affairs with a generous topping of frosting. Mortimer sampled it freely, while Madge watched him gleefully. She was by nature a much better cook than Stenographer.

When he had gone she made a brave proposal, to Constance. "Let's invite the boys to Sunday dinner," she suggested eagerly. "I'm willing to do every bit of the cooking."

Constance was doubtful. "On a two-burner gas plate?"

"On one, if necessary!" retorted Madge. "Plank steak and all the fixings!"

So it was settled and the two young men were duly invited over the telephone.

Now it is no small matter to get up a large-sized meal in a small-sized apartment out of a very limited kitchenette. In fact, it was only by considerable planning, scrimping and self-denial that the thing was managed at all and by the time the Sunday selected for the affair had arrived, Madge was beginning to wonder if even winning the handsome Mortimer was worth the effort expended.

The meal, as a meal, was a tremendous success from start to finish. The steak was done to a turn and not a shade beyond; the vegetables were tender and decoratively fluted; the dessert made earlier in the day was frankly delicious. If Mortimer was less lively than usual, Madge was too concerned with her serving to notice.

Her manner was to come when, replete with the good things she had given him, Mortimer should expand and perhaps suggest that she cook for him, the rest of his days. Per Madge imagined that that was what she desired above all else.

Came the moment, Constance, insisting that Madge had done her share of the labor, was actually doing the dishes in the kitchen with George. Madge and Mort had the tiny sitting room to themselves.

"I've got something to tell you," said Mortimer solemnly.

"Yes?" encouraged Madge, her heart skipping a beat or two.

"I'm going back home to my father's office," he said. "All this"—he signified his surroundings with a wave of his hand—"and your dandy meals and all have made me—well, sort of hanker for a place of my own. There's a little girl upstairs there I used to know that you remind me of. I'm going back to her and I wanted you to be the first to know."

Two days later, Jim Brenton entered Perkins' hardware store with an expansive grin on his face. In his pocket was a bright letter from the girl he had loved since kindergarten days, and it said the words he most wanted to hear.

"Dear Jim,

"There was a man I thought I wanted to propose, but when he didn't I was glad after all, and it must have been because I love you, only it took an emergency or something to show me, and do you still feel the same?

"MADGE."

ELDORADO

Eldorado—Mr. and Mrs. Alex Gordon spent Christmas at Bancroft guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mac Magee.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack McAdams of Cooper spent an hour at Mr. Arthur Holland's Christmas evening.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. McCann and family spent Christmas at the home of Mr. Jack McAdams.

Mrs. John Hagerman returned to Toronto after spending Christmas at her home here.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. McCann and family spent Saturday at Mr. Manly Peet's.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Fox and Mrs. John Fitzgerald and Jack spent Saturday at Mr. Russel Fox's, Malone.

Miss Mary Stuart of Brampton is spending a few days at the home of Mrs. Fred Chambers.

Miss Ruth Andrews is the guest of the Misses Jean and Joyce Thompson, Orland.

Mr. Harold Chambers is spending Christmas vacation with Mr. Grenfell, Trumpour, Orland.

Mr. Leslie Wiltyle is spending a few days at the home of his brother, Mr. Russel Wiltyle.

The recent thaw has made the roads in this vicinity practically free of snow.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Blackburn and Glenn were visitors at Mr. Joe. Blackburn's on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Fox and Terry spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. McCrary.

A pleasing event took place on Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Harvey when their youngest granchild Roberta Leone, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Gray of Dauphin, Man., was baptized by Rev. W. G. Fletcher.

CARMEL

Carmel—Christmas trees seem to be the order of the day.

Mrs. M. Reid spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Paterson.

Mrs. Wanda Sine and family spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Murphy, Rawdon.

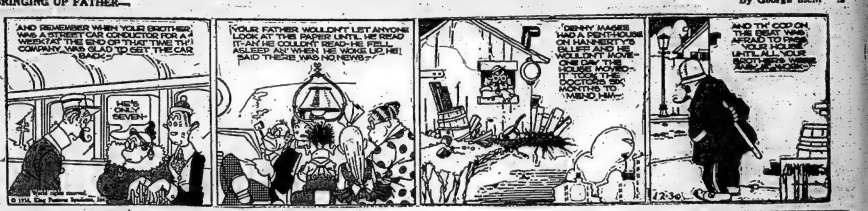
Mr. Earl Lidster spent Christmas with his parents Mr. and Mrs. W. Lidster.

Mr. A. Loucks spent one evening last week with Mr. Geo. Vanderwater.

Mrs. H. Monsane is much improved in health and also Mrs. W. Meyers.

Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Clarke spent Christmas Day with their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. H. Clarke, Belleville.

Mr. Geo. Vanderwater is ill.



TODDY—

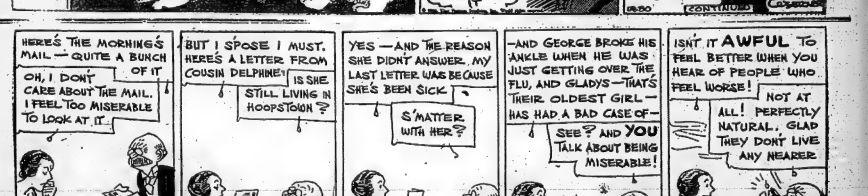
By George Marvore

BRINGING UP FATHER—

By George McM···

TILLIE THE TOILER—

By Russ Westover



Radio Programs

WEDNESDAY

8.00—Breakfast Club—WJZ
10.00—Betty and Bob—WABC
10.15—Modern Cinderella sketch—WGR.
11.45—Edward MacHugh, Gospel Singer—WJZ
1.30—Christmas Concert, Glee Clubs and Orch—WJZ
4.00—Henry Busse's Orch.—WEAF.
6.45—Lowell Thomas—WJZ
7.00—Ray Acea, sketch—WJZ
7.00—Gus n Andy—WEAF
7.15—Uncle Ezra—WEAF
7.30—Lum and Abner—WJZ
8.30—Famous Actors—WJZ
8.00—One Man's Family—WEAF
8.00—Cavalcade of America — WABC
8.30—Famous Actors' Guild; Ethel Barrymore—WJZ
8.30—Wayne King's Orch—WEAF
8.30—Horse an Hilton—WABC
9.00—Town Hall Tonight; Fred Allan—WEAF
9.00—Andre Kostelanetz Orch. — WABC
9.30—Community Homer Rodeheaver—WABC.
10.00—"Gang Busters" by Phillips Lord—WABC
10.00—Your Hit Parade—WEAF
10.00—Special Christmas Program from Montreal, Canada—WJZ
10.30—Chicago City Opera Co., "Alice in Wonderland" — WJZ
11.00—Benny Goodman's Orch. — WABC
11.30—Rabbi Louis I. Mann "A Rabbi Looks at Christmas"—WABC
11.00—Christmas Carols—WJZ

THURSDAY

8.00—Breakfast Club—WJZ
10.00—Betty and Bob—WABC
10.45—Christmas with the Communists—WJZ
11.45—Ed MacHugh, Gospel Singer—WJZ
1.45—Int'l B'cast from Bethlehem: Christmas Carols from yard of Church of the Nativity in Bethlehem—WABC
Int'l B'cast from Switzerland: Swiss-Italian singers—WABC
2.00—Metropolitan Opera Co., "Hansel and Gretel"—WJZ
3.00—Al Pearce's Gang—WABC
4.00—Eddy Duchin's Orch.—WEAF
5.00—Ceremonies at Lighting of Washington's Community Christmas Tree — WJZ, WABC
5.30—Singing Lady—WJZ
6.00—Int'l B'cast from Rome, Italy; Midnight Mass—WABC
6.30—Jim Hunter, News—OFRB
6.45—Lowell Thomas, news—WJZ
7.00—Int'l B'cast from London: Carols from Whitechapel—WABC
9.00—Amos n Andy—WBEN.
7.15—Sportcast, Ted Husing — WABC
7.30—Lum and Abner—WLW
8.00—Ruby Valley—WEAF
8.00—Band Wagon; Kate Smith — WABC
8.30—Guy Lombardo's Orch—WOR
9.00—Show Boat—WEAF
9.00—Major Bowes amateur hour —WJZ
10.00—Special Christmas Eve Program: Leopold Stokowski, conductor—WABC
10.00—Bob Burns—WEAF
10.30—March of Time—WABC
11.15—Chimes and Carillon Music—WABC
11.45—Around the World B'cast of "Holy Night"—WEAF

TARZAN AND THE LEOPARD MEN

(Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service)

Hurriedly, Old Timer began to unwind the copper wires which bound Tarzan. As he worked, his breast was filled with many emotions. First, there was the amazement inspired by Tarzan's friendship with the great apes and his ability to communicate with them.

And he marvelled when he learned how the Jungle Lord had saved him and Kali Bwana from the cannibal pygmies the night before. But through all these tangles of wonder and astonishment ran the thread of fear and concern for the girl, who was alone now.

When at last the wires were unwrinkled, Tarzan sprang up free. "We go now to the girl," he said calmly. "But I don't know just where she is." Old Timer declared; "when the ape was carrying me I couldn't always see where we were going. I may not be able to find her."

"I can," Tarzan replied; "it will follow Ga-yah's spoor. It is still fresh." The ebino man nodded, but he was not convinced. He thought it would be a slow process to pick out the footprints of the beast all the way back. By then, Kali Bwana might be no longer alive.

City and District News

EXCHANGE OF GOODS KEEPS CLERKS BUSY

"Business? Just exchanging trade-ins and ordinary purchases," although the business of present buying for those who were to celebrate Christmas still accounts for a fair volume of business," the manager at the head of one downtown department store today commenting upon the present busy week, holiday period.

"We're not kicking. We're probably not one of those in Canada" one, stocking periods on record. Business was always spectacular. Many Rose that are generally arranged are slow sellers were cleared out even before Christmas and we have had to restock. In many cases we were unable to get orders filled. Business must have been far above normal all over the country this year, according to reports from the big trade."

HEAVY SNOW NEEDED TO PROTECT CROPS

A silent prayer for a heavy fall of snow with which to cover up mulch and frost-bitten land is being sent up by farmers in the district at the present time, spokesmen over conditions which have left many slim grain crops and ruined pastures year.

With hard at present here, much danger is expected from ice and heaving by frosts. Winter conditions are not conducive to good growth of meager crops and the season which covers considerable sowed land threatens seed in the ground. If the conditions continue it may easily be smothered out, it is reported by one district expert.

MANY PHEASANTS FEED NEAR PUMP HOUSE

Gaudy as the most brilliantly dressed Christmas trees, flocks of pheasants apparently driven from cover by the melting snows by many by groves and meadows are observed wandering in the fields in the vicinity of the local water works pumping station at the present time. The birds which are reported decidedly tame by observers at the plant have shown a preference for the vicinity of the firing on the railway right of way, taking cover at night in the nearby marsh.

Bancroft Lumbermen Acquire Large Timber Limits at Bracebridge

How acreage of what is believed to be one of the largest privately owned timber sections in Ontario, limbed stands well known lumbermen of Bancroft, have acquired the timber holdings of the J. D. Shaw Lumber Company, Bracebridge, according to the current issue of Canada Lumberman.

The block includes the township of McClintock and part of Ryde and Monck and Lawrence, a total of nearly 200 square miles.

The limits are estimated to contain over 100 million feet of standing timber of which about seventy-five per cent is birch and maple.

During the season Rudolf and Son estimate their yearly cut at about 40,000,000 feet at Bancroft, and during the latest year 1937 may move headquarters to Huntsville. This last has not been decided definitely, however, owing to the fact that the mill owns a quota of approximately 13,000,000 feet in the present limits in Cardiff and Chandos Townships, according to an announcement.

Youths Seek Fortune In North Country

Married to the sun in their leather jackets, and ready to respond to a rosy red with the cold winds, Harold Bell, Lawrence Macdonald, two Prince Edward County youths left here through the city yesterday enroute to the north country where the hope to find the elusive pot of gold at the end of the rainbow of their hopes. Brimming over with confidence and optimism for they average twenty years of age, said they were hitch-hiking to the north country.

"We have money in our pockets but we will need that before we become established," they said, "we are travelling light, and will have to bolster our buckets our trunks are locked. We rode over to Belleville with a friend and he has promised to right now for Madoc, which we hope to reach in five hours steady travelling, that is unless we get a ride. From there we have to walk for Bancroft, where we might find work. We are not the least bit particular what the work is, we are willing to can use axes or picks and shovels, or both. If we don't find work we don't have any luck in Bancroft, then it's further north we go. Things are terribly quiet down, our city is full of them said, "and we don't want to feel old winter, so it's the north country for us. We have been told there is work up there for those who want to work and we are going to find out if it is the case."

The two young travellers looked the picture of health in their trim windbreakers, blue jeans and sturdy brogues and heavy boots.

"We have a friend in Trail we won't come back until Spring," they said, "even if we have to go to the North Pole to get a job."

And with a smile and a wave of the hand they picked up their small parcels and struck off down the highway whistling a tune of optimism, and with a carefree, jaunty air to their stride, as they headed for the land of their hopes.

CHRISTMAS TREE CLOSING IS SHORT

Christmas trees from local homes are already making their way to the city dumps in fair numbers, according to reports from the city garbage collectors, but as yet the volume has not been heavy enough to make an appreciable difference in the heavy loads of seasonal refuse now being carried. Annually the largest of the trees which are discarded after the New Years add to the labors of the city collection system. Carted to the dumps they are eagerly appropriated by the workers for firewood.

'CHICK' AND 'CHECK' AFFECT EGG SALES

So careful of your pronunciation, it may cost you money sometime, at least so thinks a lady vendor who proudly presided over a basket of eggs Tuesday morning in the inner mart.

A small crowd had gathered around the basket and were admiring the eggs, some of which measured two inches across the inches in length.

"Any fine fresh," someone inquired, "Certainly," said the lady. "Are they strictly fresh," another strolled up to the table. "This one is slightly cracked," he said picking up one of the largest of the basket. "Yes," replied the lady, "I found it on the hen house this morning when I picked it up."

"Shh," started the would-be-buyer, "I thought you said they were fresh," and without more ado he replaced his money and strode away.

After the lady vendor has decided to be more careful with her pronunciation, especially when saying the word "chick."

STREET SWEEPER REPLACES THE PLOW

Though ordinarily the season for heavy snowfalls is over and the city snow plow on city streets, today position were reversed and for the first time in many years in December the city sweeper took up the task of clearing the streets of its accumulation of dust and sand, the snow falling during the early Christmas holiday thaw. Through the downtown section particularly the sweeper was in active duty after has been especially noticeable during the present dry spell.

REBEL THUNDERBOLTS RAVAGE MADRID

Here is the latest picture of the air-bombings by Gen. Franco's rebels in Madrid, a scene typical in the Spanish capital, where the shelling has left behind the enormous damage to property can be estimated. The periodic

Queensboro and District

Queensboro—Children attending Queensboro United Sunday School enjoyed their annual Christmas Tree in the Church on Wednesday evening and presented their very interesting entertainment to a good crowd.

The pastor Rev. J. C. Lowrie acted as chairman and at the conclusion of the various numbers Santa Claus arrived with a treat for all the children.

Miss Nellie Metford of Brantford was a holiday guest of her sister, Mrs. Wm. Rhodes.

Mrs. J. C. Lowrie and Miss Jean of Belleville are spending the holidays at Cooper.

Miss Monica Barry of Toronto is spending this week with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Barry.

Mr. Stephen Ost has been spending a few days with his daughter, Mrs. H. Rollins at Cooper.

Mr. Howard Manchester is spending the holidays with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Groves at Stittsville, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Glover spent Christmas with relatives in Ottawa.

Miss Rose Murphy of Toronto is spending the holiday season with Miss Monica Barry.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Topley spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. John Bailey at Marmora.

Miss Mollie James left on Tuesday for Toronto where she will spend the winter months with her sister Mrs. Maloney in Buffalo.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Franklin, Willie and Betty were Christmas guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Clemens at Delora.

Mrs. Sara Moore of Toronto spent the past week with her daughter Mrs. W. Moore and other relatives here.

Miss Irene Alcorn, Belleville spent Christmas at the home of her mother, Mrs. Alex Lalor.

The L. O. B. A. play "Closed Lips" was given by Queensboro talent at Eldorado on Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Ford Tumelty, Sadie and Billie spent Christmas Day with Mr. and Mrs. Irvine Dafoe.

Misses Mary and Jean Moore, Toronto spent the Christmas holiday with their sister Mrs. Earl Burkside and other relatives.

Miss Vera Bonter is spending the holidays at her home at Marmora.

Mrs. John O'Rourke was Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bateman and Buryel, Mr. and Mrs. Beryl Carman and family also Mrs. N. Blackburn and family, all of Eldorado.

A family gathering numbering twenty five was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Groves on Christmas day. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Jas Groves and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Groves, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Phillips and family also Mr. and Mrs. Allan McCoy and family of Bennington and Mr. and Mrs. Percy Reynolds, Shirley and Stanley of West Huntingdon.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sager, Mr. Malcrm Sager and Miss Louise Worden of - Ottawa were holiday guests of Mr. and Mrs. B. Leslie.

Mr. and Mrs. Goldie Holmes entertained the following guests on Christmas day: Mr. and Mrs. Lynn, Mr. and Mrs. Will Lynn, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Jackman, Leslie and Gordon Mr. and Mrs. Fred Holmes and family of Bennington.

Mr. and Mrs. J. McClintock and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Koens and family of Eldorado were Christmas day guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton McMurray.

A Christmas service was held in St. Peter's Anglican Church on Christmas morning. The service also held in St. Henry's Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fitzgerald and family, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Fitzgerald and family of Remington, Mrs. Thos. Tanner and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fraser and Harold of Belleville were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Holmes on Christmas day.

Mr. Kenneth Sager of Ottawa spent the holiday at the home of his parents Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sager.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Tokley and family, Mr. and Mrs. Fred McCaw and family also Miss Dorothy McCaw of Actinolite were Christmas guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley McCaw.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Laird and family were guests of relatives in Tweed on Christmas Day.

Mrs. Joseph McCaw of Eldorado was the guest of her sister Miss Ida McCaw on Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Thompson and family spent Christmas Day with Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Moore.

Miss Mary Reynolds, Miss Helen Henry and Miss Hazel Genereaux of Belleville were holiday guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. Genereaux.

Born—Lynn—At Queensboro on Thursday, Dec. 24th, to Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Lynn, a son.

Miss Mary Tweed and Miss Hilda Sexsmith of Madoc were holiday guests at their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Johnson and baby were Christmas guests of her parents Mr. and Mrs. John Calvert at Eldorado.

Mr. and Mrs. Belcher, Miss Josephine also Mr. and Mrs. Ogden and children of Oshawa spent Christmas and Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. John Alexander, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Alexander, sr., were Christmas day guests of Mr. and Mrs. Senry Shaw at Eldorado.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Clark spent Christmas with relatives in Marmora.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Genereaux of Edwards, New York, spent the holiday tnd week end with relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Offitt and Jean of Eldorado spent Christmas with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Simon Clark.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rollins and family spent Christmas at a family gathering at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Will Rollins at Cooper.

Miss Emma Lynn, Reg. N. of Hamilton, Ont. spent three weeks at the home of her father Mr. John Henry Shaw of Eldorado.

HONOR ROLL

CANNIFTON AND CORBYVILLE SCHOOL

Sr. IV—Dorothy Massey, Muriel Lyons, Lloyd Cannons, Dorothy Hiscott, Ruth Farnham, Edward Bowers, Basil Cannons, James McCaffrey, Carl Sheffield, Iola Cone.

Jr. IV—Marion Chambers, Ronald Pound, Ernest Hansey, Ida Bryce, Claudia Farnham, Marjorie Hicks, Dorothy Moon, Wessels, Robert Cannons, Audrey Hearns, Gordon Beals.

Sr. III—Harold Lyons, Hilda Matthews, Beatrice Hansey, Jean Cawley, Leonard McCaffrey, Ronald Putman, Donald Tearne, Muriel Cannons, Dorothy Cannons, Audrey Johnson, Ronald Hiscott, Jean Van Allen, Hazel Wessels, Hazel Chamberlain.

Jr. III—Bill Cone, Helen Boyd, Cal. Carrison, Ellen Cannons, Marion Reid, Ann Thomas, Douglas Hopkins, Ray Farnham, Roy Boyce, Jean Milligan, Jack White, Norman Ives, Ewart Hansey, Frank Johnson, William Heathorne, Jack Carrison, George Matthews.

Sr. I—Mary Cowain, teacher.

Second—Jeanes Mumby, Douglas Lyons, Eleanor Cannons, Rose Pound, Carl Lakefield, Margaret White, Elmer Johnson, Cyril Lakefield.

First—Phyllis Tearne, Burton Mumby, Lloyd Cannons, Ronald Cockell, Harry Putman, Dorothy Boyce, Donald Pound.

Jr. First—Donald Williams, Angus Lennone, George Mumby, Ruth Corbett, Lillian Van Allen, Ivan Cannons, Gaman Hopkins, Jean Reid, Billie Stafford.

Jr. Primer—Marjorie Farnham, Jack Johnson, Ralph Lakefield, Milledge Davis Boyd, George Lywood, Maribeth Hodgets, Arthur Barry, Ronald Cockell, Dorothy Earl Denelle, Ila Latchford, Ronald Hopkins, Clarence Hansey.

H. L. Farnham, teacher.

CANNIFTON S. S. CONCERT

The annual Christmas Sunday School entertainments on the Canniffton charge were held on the night Christmas season and proved to be very successful. Canniffton Methodist and Carmel United Church Sunday Schools held their concerts on Thursday evening, Dec. 24th and St. Andrew's Sunday School on Friday evening, Dec. 25th and on Thursday evening Dec. 24th. All the entertainments were well attended and a splendid time was had by all during the proceedings. The programs given were the result of much careful planning and preparation by the committees in charge. The vocal selections, instrumentals and songs, were very well presented by the members of the different Sunday schools, and the younger members entered very enthusiastically into the spirit of the occasion. It seemed too that Santa had been especially kind to the Sunday scholars this year not only prettily decorated but heavily loaded with gifts for distribution to the members of the Sunday Schools. Also in keeping with the Christmas season, every Sunday School very kindly remembered the pastor and his family, with very appropriate and acceptable Christmas gifts, which were most gratefully received and highly appreciated. Thus once more another Christmas season passes, but fortunately not without bringing the best associations of good will and cheer linger with us.

Little Benny's Note Book

I was tawking to Mr. Riley the hooken ladder driver around at the fireboss about different subjects such as fishing, and Mr. Riley said, I never had the patience to fish with hooks and lines, but I always took a gun along, and sometimes I would get a mallard for good measure, I was glad I had my gun the day I collected my Happy Family, he said.

O, what was that? I said, and he said, I was out in a punt one day firing all cawz alive with one bullet, and I got them all, he said, and Mr. Riley said, The whole Happy Family, I said, and he said, Yes, I was fishing for gummies, and a sweet little fellow was just nibbling at my hook when a big pike filch swam up and gobbled the whole Happy Family at one mouth-ful presents of mind, I quickly hauled in the pike and went after the filch, and just as I had him, or at least his attention, a white bellied eel came up from the depths with its mouth open a foot, and down it went with the filch and all, Mr. Riley said.

Gosh, did you catch the sickers? I said, and he said, I was baiting my largest hook with that very Happy Family, and I was almost knocked down by a deffening rush of wind and water, and the punt swooped over the water, scooped up a mallard in the scramble for it, and by gum down went the sicker, filch, gummy and eel, and they swam off in a row away, but not fast enough to prevent me from grabbing the eel by the tail and the steering feathers, not enough to prevent me from getting a grip on its head with my teeth, and I bit it down. My next act was to tickle the filch in the gills with my left hand, and I cawffed up the sicker, and Mr. Riley said, I'll cawff up the gummy.

But where did the frog come from? I said, and Mr. Riley said, The gummy cawffed him up, much to my surprise, I suppose the gummy didn't want to be outdone by the other fish Mawney, and made a combination Marine and herd cage for the whole lot and called them my Happy Family he said.

And didn't they try to eat each other again? I said, and Mr. Riley said, Let's not spoil a nice romantic story by insisting on a happy ending.

Froberty meeming they did.

TORONTO'S NEWEST HOTEL

CONVENIENTLY LOCATED · SUPERB FURNISHED APARTMENTS · REASONABLE RENTALS · 2 MODERN RESTAURANTS

THE PALACE

Trenton and District

Trenton, Dec. 30.—(Special)—Occupying meeting of the 1936 council was held in the municipal hall, Dundas street last night. The monthly expenditures were approved and are: hardware and repairs, $1,340.17; direct relief $1,468.54; printing and by-law, $1,299.56. A by-law was passed bringing into effect the restriction of the establishment of trades in residential section. The by-law is an amendment of a by-law passed in 1921, that omitted grocery stores and butcher shops. Passing of the by-law was the result of a petition signed by fifty-five people in the residential area. No claim there are too many stores starting in the zone at present, a by-law was adopted permitting shooting galleries to operate in Trenton. A by-law to regulate the sale of Christmas trees on December 31st of each year, was also passed. The trees must be over 21 years of age and be recommended by the chief of forestry. All galleries must be subject for inspection by local authorities. The by-law will be in force between the hours of 7 a.m. to 11 p.m. Each delivery is permitted to have four guns with a 22 calibre. "Trenton has ash optimistic outlook for 1937," said Worship Mayor Cory and to date there are only two on the relief rolls and our bank overdraft is $22,000 less. We have two factories coming here and one plant which employs 230 men, when working at full capacity has added on the staff and will operate most all next year, concluded the Mayor.

Rotary Meeting

Rotarians openly discussed "What the Rotary Club can do to improve Trenton" at their regular meeting in the Dundas hotel last night. Norman Bower proposed the club help the handicapped and crippled children and suggested the churches and schools should submit a list of names of wanting children. His proposal was unanimously received and handed to Rotarian Dr. Ross Asis, George Shoniker, R. F. Mitchell, Dr. Ross Asis, Dr. Shoniker, J. Holmes, and A. E. Cuffe. A. E. Cuffe acted as songmaster during the meeting and led the singing in several lively tunes. Leslie Searle was the guest. It was decided that the annual Ladies' night be held on February.

Accident

While proceeding west on Dundas street a truck owned by Standard Brands and operated by James Hamilton, 24 Bleecker street, darted the south portion of the road and crashed against a hydro pole. Damage to the vehicle amounted to $600.00. The driver escaped with minor injuries. The pole was replaced. Trenton police investigated.

Regular Meeting

Regular meeting of the Chamberlain Association took place last night. The Secretary Arthur Blakey read the minutes of the last minute and they were adopted. A letter was stated that in the neighborhood of one hundred colored bulbs was stolen from the Christmas tree decorations during the Yuletide week. The present form of Christmas tree lighting system will undergo drastic changes for next year and it was suggested, that the trees be fitted with a fuse box so that they cannot be tampered with. The sum of $300.00 for the rehabilitation of the market square was paid over to the town and $10.00 was donated to the Red Cross Relief Society rendered in the past. Those present will strongly oppose the action on Boxing Day again next year, and the general feeling was that a great deal of enjoyment had been lost had they have closed. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hughes entertained the day equalled four days business in February, and could see no reason why Boxing Day should be made a holiday. All disagreed on closing at 10.00 p.m. on Saturday night. Annual meeting and election of officers will be held in January. Another preliminary hearing into a fire in William Evans' room at the Royal Hotel on December 14th, and the theft of $184.00 in cash and $83.00 in a cheque Frank Nolan, 51, of Montreal was committed for trial. The hearing took place yesterday afternoon before Magistrate Laird and was the result of an investigation by D. H. Saville of the Fire Marshal's Department and local police. Testifying on behalf of the Crown were—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stevenson, proprietors of the hotel and daughter, Grace, Barney McKenna, local taximan, fire chief Jesse Goodsell and fire engineer, Jesse Baker, Chief William Ash and Sgt. Walter Probert of the police department. William Evans' owner of the stolen money and the property, that the fire damaged. Nine exhibits were submitted by the Crown and included a broken lock off the trunk, and a written testimony taken from the accused on the night of the fire. Attorney S. O. Donnan, K.C., acted for the Crown while H. D. Graham K.C., was Nolan's attorney.

BEWARE OF STUBBORN COLDS USE PENETRO PENETRO FOR COUGHS, COLDS, USE PENETRO COUGH DROPS

BAYSIDE

Bayside—Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Bush and family spent Christmas day with Messrs. George, Harry and Burton Rush.

Miss Rhoda Hunt is spending the holiday with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bradford and family spent a few days last week with Mrs. A. Price.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Rush and family spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. R. Green of Springbrook.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Meggison spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. A. McGee of Shrigley.

Miss Margaret Bulman, Tweedsmuir, spent Christmas with her parents Mr. and Mrs. J. Bulman returned to Toronto Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Bradford are spending the holidays with her parents in London.

Miss Thelma Green is spending the holidays with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Hunt and family, Mr. John Harry and Miss Edith Harry spent Christmas Day with Mr. and Mrs. A. Pitcull of Smithfield.

Mrs Margaret Wesse is spending the holiday with friends in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. David Hall spent Christmas Day with Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hall, Glenora.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Ketcheson and family spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Alex Sanderock.

Mrs. Goldsmith spent Christmas with her daughter Mrs. Ketcheson.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jones and family spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Westfall.

HUFF'S ISLAND

Huff's Island—Mr. and Mrs. Alden Wallbridge, Richmond Hill spent the holiday week end with their parents Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Wallbridge.

Christmas visitors were: — Mr. and Mrs. Ross Wallbridge and son, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Kinnear, and Miss G. Allen all of Mr. L. Wallbridge's. Mr. Latimer at Mr. J. Hatfield's; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hall, Avondale, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hall, Mrs. R. Fahrnan and girls at Mr. G. Morris'; Mr. and Mrs. F. Morris at Mr. Jas. Morris'; Mr. J. Vanwart's; Mr. and Mrs. S. Black, Mr. and Mrs. W. Barber, Mr. and Mrs. R. Redner, Mr. and Mrs. D. Parliament and families at Mr. Black's (evening entertainer); Mrs. W. Barber, Miss A. Sayers, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Sayers at Mr. W. Barber's; Mr. and Mrs. C. Barber and Marilyn supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Sayers.

The icy roads on Christmas day caused many to proved some barrier to travel.

On Saturday evening a happy party took place at the home of Mr. C. Barber, when a presentation was made to Mr. and Mrs. Allan Wallbridge, in which the whole community participated. The early part of the evening was spent in social intercourse and card playing, after which a neat address was read by Mr. C. Barber and the young couple were presented with some pieces of furniture. Delightful refreshments were served and at a late hour the party dispersed, wishing the bride and groom all happiness and success.

Rev. J. K. Brownlie spent the dinner hour on Sunday at Mr. R. H. Walbridge's.

Messrs. Wm. Nightingale and M. Morley left on Monday for Guelph where they will take a short course at the O. A. C.

Miss Olive and Mr. Wm. Nightingale were supper guests of Miss Mabel and Mr. Donald Hatfield on Sunday.

SRD SIDNEY

3rd Sidney—Centenary Christmas Concert was well attended on Wednesday evening. Mr. Rossiter, the teacher, deserves much credit for the excellent programme prepared. Members of the C.G.I.T. with their capable leader, Miss Johnson, also the people of the neighborhood assisted with the program. The proceeds, over twenty-one dollars, goes to the Sunday School.

Miss Clara Adams of Toronto is spending the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Adams.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Westover, Douglas and Mr. Ronald Jones spent Christmas with Mrs. Jones' sister and Miss Vernie Mount.

Mrs. J. Craighead, Mrs. Morsat and Donnie and Mrs. Jack Sheppe spent the week guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Orr.

Mr. and Mrs. Selborne Westover, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Hall and baby Phyllis May spent Christmas Day with Mrs. Emily Tyler and Mr. and Mrs. Lenthlin Hall.

Miss Marjorie Kells of Actinolite Public School, is spending the holiday with her mother, Mrs. Henry Kells.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ketcheson spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Orr, on Sunday.

Mrs. Jean Hartford, Miss Pearl Nicholson and Miss Frances Hinchliffe spent the holiday week end after spending the holiday week-end with their respective parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Laughlin of Belleville spent Christmas Day with Mrs. Lenthlin's mother, Mrs. Kells.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Orr of Trenton spent a day last week with Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Adams.

Master Donald Hubble who has been attending an asthma clinic in Toronto, is spending the holidays at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Hubble. Donald's condition is fairly satisfactory.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hardcastle of Belleville, spent Christmas Day with Mrs. Hardcastle's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Adams, and family.

Mr. Percy Hubble of Campbellford is visiting Mr. and Mrs. S. Hubble.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Ray and family spent Christmas Day with Mr. and Mrs. Jas. R. Wallace and had dinner on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Wallace, Frankford, Belleville. Their sister, Miss Stella Wallace, Belleville, spent the week also attended these family gatherings.

The excellent program at Almeta Crawford Church on Thursday evening was enjoyed by a large crowd, and Miss Helen Card, the teacher, and those who assisted her in training the children are to be congratulated. The proceeds go to the Sunday School.

A DAILY LETTER TO THE LOVED ONES FAR AWAY.

300

Peppy News Letters about people they know in the old Home Town and District.

SEND THEM

The Ontario Intelligencer

The HOME TOWN PAPER

Phone 99

I.D.A. Bronchial SYRUP

QUICKLY EFFECTIVE FOR STUBBORN COUGHS

Bottle 49c

at

I. D. A. Drug Stores

Obituary

BAYSIDE BRIDGE, ALBERT EDWARD BROWN (Eldorado)

Eldorado (Special)—On Thursday, Dec. 24th, there passed peacefully away at his home in Eldorado, a hospital an aged and respected resident of this community in the person of Albert Edward Brown, after a month's illness. The late Mr. Brown was born September 14th, 1862 in Prince Edward County, her parents being the late Joseph and Mary. Fifty-four years ago she was united in marriage to Mr. Alex Fraser.

The late Mrs. Finlayson was of a kindly disposition, always had a bright smile for all and was specially fond of her home and family. Most of her life was spent in the vicinity.

The funeral was held from her late residence on Sunday afternoon at 2.30 to Eldorado United Church where her pastor Rev. Mr. Hedding of Bannockburn preached very appropriate sermon.

Mr. Alex Hunter and Mrs. A. Redding acted as pall bearers. "I'll go where you want me to go."

Those left to mourn her her husband, Alex Fraser and Mrs. A. Redding and three daughters, Mrs. Fred Orser of Bannockburn, Mrs. Frank Carter, Picton and Maud at home, also one sister survived by three sisters, Mrs. Jennie Bibbins, Mrs. Ann Cunningham of Ameliasburg and Mrs. Hannah Bibbins, Los Angeles, United States, also five grandchildren, and one great-grandchildren.

The bearers were Messrs Alex Hunter, Frank Chambers, Stanley Sandford, Aaron Sandford, Ernest Franks and Fred Carter (son-in-law). Interment was made in the Eldorado cemetery.

CORNWALL CONSTABLE MOVED TO BROCKVILLE

Brockville, Dec. 30.— (Special) announcement is made of the appointment of Provincial Constable W. J. Franks, who has been stationed in Cornwall for the past three years, to succeed Constable W. J. Carey, of Brockville, who is being promoted to be Chief of Police at Oshawa. Mr. Franks, who is an experienced officer, will assume his new duties on January 1st. It is to be succeeded at Cornwall by Constable A. R. Macleod, of Lancaster.

THE WEATHER
Partly cloudy today and Friday and probably colder today; westerly winds today, shifting to northwest on Friday.

The Ontario Intelligencer

TEMPERATURES
Max. Min.
Today 46 41
Year ago ..... 30 -10
Rain—.54 inch.
Weather, fair
Below zero

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 31, 1936

Happy New Year

Naval Building Barriers Lifted with New Year; Rearmament Race Likely

Treaty of 1922 And Pact of 1930 End With Year, 1936

BRITISH PLAN

Rebuilding of Hong Kong And Other Pacific Bases Probable

London, Dec. 31 (AP)—Great Britain will announce next month a new program of rebuilding her Hong Kong and other Pacific naval bases, informed sources said today.

The day on the eve of expiration of a 15-year attempt to restrict naval tonnage by limitation.

Foreign Secretary Eden will make the announcement in the House of Commons soon after it convenes on Jan. 13, these sources said.

Treaty Britain, it was stated, does not expect a Japanese reply to her proposal for renewal of Article XIX of the dying Washington Naval Treaty, which prohibits the maintenance of the status quo on Pacific fortifications.

The Washington treaty, signed in 1922, and the London treaty of 1930 expire at midnight Thursday.

Naval Barriers Lifted.

The dying days of the New Year, virtually all barriers to naval building would be lifted as the London Treaty, signed by Japan, Great Britain, the United States, and France, limiting numbers of ships of each class but said to be bound by their spirit, or agreement.

Shipyards hummed with preparations for strengthening the nations' naval arms, permitted after the treaties die at midnight.

The only hope for slowing down rearmament rested in the possibility other powers would sign, identical with Great Britain, the 1936 treaty, which also binds Japan to annual exchanges of information regarding new construction intentions.

80 British Ships Planned.

Japan's Fighting Ships forecast put Britain in the lead of a rearmament building with 80 warships under construction or planned, 28 ranked the others in this order: the United States, 24; Italy, 20; France, 43; Germany, 10; Japan, 34.

All that will remain in France after Sunday of the naval treaties is Part IV of the London pact of 1930 limiting rules of international law accepted by the five Washington powers — Great Britain, the United States, France, Italy and Japan — which govern the conduct of submarines during times of war.

That section remains in force without the limit. It was reaffirmed last November by the Washington powers and other maritime nations were invited to accept it — an invitation accepted thus far only by Germany.

Keels Laid New Year's Day

Great Britain on New Year's Day will lay down keels for two 35,000-ton battleships to supplement its world's largest tonnage of 1,222,184. Both ships—the Prince of Wales and the King George V—will mount 14-inch guns "regardless of what other nations do," an admiralty spokesman said.

He referred to a Jane's prediction that other new British battleships would carry 16-inch guns, despite the London agreement giving Japan until April 1 to decide whether to agree to a 14-inch limitation for battleships.

79 Cruisers Needed

Great Britain aims at 70 cruisers as a nucleus for its sea defence, setting the figure as a minimum requisite. Eight already have been asked on two other battleships and ten cruisers under consideration now.

Five other vessels—to be converted into anti-aircraft ships—have been retained by invoking the escalator clause of the London Treaty as well as 40,000 tons of over-age destroyers.

Personnel increase of 2,500 officers and men has been ordered by Britain for the navy's existing 92,000 and 902 men.

Japan and the United States similarly have invoked the escalator clause to retain over-age ships.

Race Costly to France

Paris, Dec. 31 (AP)—France found herself today in a race against Germany and Italy for the world's fourth naval power title, at a cost of more than 6500,000,000.

With the London Naval Limitation Treaty of 1930 and the Washington Five Power Treaty of 1922 (Continued on Page 12).

Piles 36 Bottles Upon One Match

Hastings, Mich., Dec. 31.—(CP) While .eager experts feverishly pile matches upon the necks of beer bottles in a great many American cities to see who will win the "mad match marathon", Elmer "Monk" White of Hastings scorns such trivial play and reverses the situation. He piles beer bottles upon a single match.

"I stick a match into a piece of cork and place it in the centre of the table," Elmer explained. "Then I break a yardstick in two and tie it together in the shape of a cross.

"The first four bottles are the hardest to balance—one on each end of the cross. Then you start in on piling them up.

"You put odd pieces of yardstick across the bottle necks to make room for the upper tiers."

Elmer's record is 36 bottles. He attributes his steady nerves to the fact he's a bachelor.

Pope Drafts New Year's Greetings To Sovereigns

Vatican City, Dec. 31 (AP) — Pope Pius XI was reported semi-officially today to have rallied and slept better last night than any time since his illness took a turn for the worse.

The aged Holy Father, after hearing mass, was said to have felt refreshed enough to begin drafting his New Year's greetings to sovereigns.

Despite the improvement shown in his sleep, he was reported in a losing battle with death at the dreary dawn of one of the saddest years-end in the history of the Catholic Church.

Frequent mild opiates eased the pain in his legs to bring sleep he has been missing for the past week. It was the first night of real relief and the reports his night's sleep was "better than last" is was said not to have had a great deal of it.

At dawn the Pontiff's attendants sadly shook their heads when asked if there was any improvement.

The easing of the Pontiff's pain was attributed in part to the disappearance of a blood clot from his left leg which was partially paralyzed.

Physicians were worried, however, that the clot might find the blood stream to the heart or brain where it probably would reach suddenly and fatally.

NO PAPER FRIDAY

Tomorrow (Friday) being New Year's Day, there will be no issue of the Ontario Intelligencer. The regular edition will be printed on Saturday as usual.

FRANCE MAY TRY TO ATTRACT ITALY TO TRIPLE ACCORD

French Opinion Opposed To German Establishment in Spain

NEW OFFENSIVE SEEN

Opinion Supports View That Germany Will Aid Offensive

Paris, Dec. 31 (AP)—France may seek a new protective arrangement in the Mediterranean unless Germany withdraws from the Spanish civil war, a foreign office official said today.

Germany will never allow Germany to establish herself in Spain and thus constitute a menace to France's southern border," the spokesman declared.

"We remain in close touch with Great Britain and she (Britain) is fully disposed to enter a general Mediterranean agreement to oust Germany refuses to quit sending volunteers to aid the Spanish insurgent cause.

Authoritative sources predicted Italy might be sought in a third party to the prospective accord.

Rome-Berlin Axis powers, important factors in the civil war, have full divisions of German troops," was predicted by mid-January by one Spanish Embassy spokesman.

His forecast was supported by usually well-informed French sources.

Stratford Farmer Perishes in Fire

Stratford, Ont., Dec. 31—(CP)—William A. Taylor, prominent farmer of the ninth concession, Mornington Township, was believed burned to death today when fire destroyed the barn on his farm.

A group of Mornington Township farmers, helpless to aid, stood by as the barn burned.

The tragedy struck the Taylor home suddenly shortly before six o'clock when the barn was discovered on fire.

Mrs. Wm. Bowen Taylor had retired to the barn between five and six o'clock to do the daily chores. Some time after she entered the building, neighbors noticed flames lighting up the horizon and rushed to the Taylor farm and gave the alarm.

A search of the whole area surrounding the barn failed to give any clue as to the whereabouts of Mrs. Taylor. Fire had spread with a height it was impossible to enter the barn.

It was generally believed Mr. Taylor had had some kind of an accident in the barn. Mrs. Taylor had taken ill and allowed the lantern which he used to fall.

All the cattle, horses, pigs, poultry and grain was lost.

A fifteen year old daughter, Lillian Taylor, was the only person at home at the time Mrs. Taylor and other members of the family were visiting with relatives at Cross Hill. It was learned Mr. Taylor had suffered a slight attack of influenza Wednesday, but this was not considered serious.

What You Get for Your Money When You 'Night-Club' at New Year's

Montreal, Dec. 31—(CP)—Take your lady friend out in Montreal this New Year's Eve and when the bubbles and hilarity have subsided, you'll probably have a headache and anywhere from $5 to $25 less than when you started, depending on your capacity, among other things.

So says the estimates for the gentleman and milady to bid good-bye to 1936 and hello to 1937 in this night-spot centre of Canada. Of course, if you're leaving the car in the garage and taxiing instead, add another $5 to the estimate.

For $35 you can have gold-braided doormen open the car door at the luxurious night clubs where headwaiters will bow around your table, where you will dance and get a turkey dinner to boot. That will take care of $15 under the heading of cover charge. Another $4 gets you a cold bottle of champagne and the careful can make $2 do for tips.

If you're still able at four o'clock in the morning of the first day of the New Year, you can sit in at breakfast dance for another $4. You have a little food there, a little dancing and what's left, of any of the champagne.

A fiver will just about cover the bill at a small east-end cabaret where you sit alone with your girl if the place is not too crowded, and with another couple if it is. You'll get a couple of drinks or something that definitely isn't champagne and an eyeful of a floor-show will complete the evening (and morning).

For anything between $9 and $17 your company would be welcomed at the Chanticlair Restaurant and Night Club. Your check depends on how much trimming you want with your fun and liquor.

And if your financial clothes are really fine, you'll be in another $3 to $5 for the reeking of an outfit. The cost depends on whether you want tails and toppers or just plain "tux."

Planes to Carry Passengers Across Atlantic in 1937?

Authorities Won't Say 'Yes' But Service Draws Nearer

COMPANIES BUSY

New York, Dec. 31 (CP)—A giant airplane drones over the British Isles' weather-beaten Croydon airfield in Gloucester or Newfoundland and flies between the United States and Britain hum with informed reports of flying conditions and results of scores of experiments.

Through these factors and behind official reticence commercial flying of the North Atlantic draws steadily nearer. Airplane authorities here will not say trans-Atlantic passengers will be carried through the skies in 1937. Neither will they say further testing and preparation will be necessary is not determined but they agree the time is not far off.

Close co-operation between Imperial Airways, Limited, the British firm that sends its planes throughout Europe and Asia and further south, and Pan American Airways, that sends the United States into the West Indies, South America and the Orient, is behind the Atlantic project.

Huge Planes Built

The British Company has built four huge new 18-ton planes that take 24 passengers. One of these, equipped with tanks for Atlantic-spanning flights flying at an altitude of 10,000 feet, can average 200 miles an hour and pilots seek out weaknesses, train personnel and gradually work into regular flights of 3,000 miles equal to the longest flight on the Atlantic route.

Pan American has its 31-ton Clipper ships flying more regularly than the Atlantic and in the meantime is participating in the collection of all-important data.

Radio problems have to be worked out, the weather maps charted and test survey flights made. It is pointed out the Pacific was flown for six months before passengers were carried.

Details of routes and terminals still remain far from definite as the New York correspondent for Reuters present insurmountable difficulties will be discovered as survey flights are made. It has not been decided yet, authorities said, whether experimental flights at present, such as across the Andes, that were at first branded as "impossible".

It would appear locations of other North American terminals is still not decided, nor has been reported what further research reveals. At Montreal and Botwood, however, it has been agreed upon, as the middle link of the service.

OPERATED FIRST MAIL BOAT

Detroit, Dec. 31 (CP)—Funeral services will be held at his home here Saturday for Joseph R. Conners, 63, native of Hamilton, Ont., and pioneer of the first mail boat on the Detroit River in 1901. Mr. Conners died Tuesday in hospital after a two-month illness.

GOV. HOFFMAN DENIES REPORT

Knows Nothing of Report That $21,650 Lindbergh Ransom Money Found

Trenton, N.J., Dec. 31 (AP) — A formal statement from Governor Harold G. Hoffman today said he knows "nothing about" a published report that a $21,650 "goldsack" cache of Lindbergh kidnap ransom money had been found by a New Jersey State Trooper.

Col. Mark O. Kimberling, State Police superintendent, said "I know nothing to this latest thing" and described the Lindbergh investigation as "complete."

Earlier, through William Conklin, his press aide, the governor had issued a terse "no comment" to the report published by the Philadelphia Record that a part of the ransom money had been found and Governor Hoffman was "on his way all" to day about the reputed new development in the case.

The governor's statement said:

"I know nothing about this story. It is undoubtedly another one of the long list of journalistic pipe dreams created by confusion and distorted to further mislead the public in its understanding of the Lindbergh case."

WILL IS SOUGHT OF LADY HOUSTON

Belief is Held That Document is at Jersey

London, Dec. 31—(CP-Havas)—The funeral of Lady Houston, eccentric millionairess who died Tuesday night at the age of 70, will take place Monday at St. Marylebo, London church, it was announced today.

Lt. H. Wrey, Lady Houston's brother-in-law, asked that no flowers be sent. He refused to comment further on reports that the will had not yet been found despite a thorough search of the deceased and Jersey residences of the wife-by-known publicity campaigner who left a fortune estimated at $33,000,000.

A servant at Byron cottage, Lady Houston's Jersey residence, said the place had been ransacked. It was considered the missing document was at Jersey. Two tin boxes filled with papers were taken from her house there by a solicitors' office in London for examination.

Dispute began as to whether the deceased had been legally domiciled in the Isle of Jersey, in which case the state would not be subject to the British government's death duties. The issue may go to court, it is, was, said.

'YOUNG MARSHAL' GIVEN TEN YEARS FOR REBELLION

Voluntary Surrender Cuts 15 Years Term to 10 Years

MAY BE PARDONED

Former Captive Sits at Trial of His Captor

Nanking, Dec. 31 (AP)—Marshal Chang Hsueh-Liang, it was learned authoritatively today, was sentenced to 15 years in prison for his rebellion against Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek by a military court that immediately reduced the punishment to ten years.

The court martial's act of clemency, it was said, was taken in view of the young marshal's voluntary surrender after he released Premier Chiang from captivity.

Informed sources indicated the government might issue a New Year's amnesty, granting a full pardon.

Chang, who enabled in an attempt to force war with Japan and Communist inclusion in the government, was tried behind closed doors under heavy military guard.

Presiding at the atonement of the strange crisis that threatened to embroil China in civil war was Generalissimo, who only a week ago was a captive of the man the tribunal today sentenced and said to have ordered to prison.

Jewish Refugee Will Find Refuge in Palestine

Montreal, Dec. 31 (CP)— Max Bluecher, young German-Jewish refugee, will leave here within a few days for a haven in Palestine, Rabbi Jesse Schwartz revealed yesterday.

Bluecher entered Canada from Nazi Rule some several months ago and was threatened with deportation to Germany, his native country, where he is said to have faced execution.

Representations were made to the Canadian government on Bluecher's behalf and he was finally granted a three-months stay ordering Jan. 5 pending the arrival of an immigration certificate for Palestine.

The certificate has been received at the head office of the Zionist organization of Canada here, said Rabbi Schwartz.

Hoffman Not Germane

Paris, Dec. 31 (CP-Havas)—After leaving for a moment in the direction of joint action with British and France, Italy has returned to close co-operation with France, it was reported in political quarters, here today on the basis of latest advices from Rome.

In conferences over the last two weeks between Galeazzo Ciano, Italian Foreign Minister, and Ulrich von Hassel, the German Ambassador to Rome, the Havas News Agency said it was believed, the Reich sharply reminded Italy of the conditions of the Berchtesgaden accord between Chancellor Hitler and Premier Mussolini, and let it be understood the Italo-German understanding could be carried on only by Germany if Italy is cut adrift from the Spanish Rebellion.

Hitler and Mec.

Neither Hitler nor Mussolini want to bind their hands," said Pertinax in the Echo de Paris. "It is not yet certain that the Fascist-Nazi pact

(Continued on Page 13)

Italy Demands Civilians Be Barred from Spain If Volunteers Banned

Also Urges Neutralization of Spanish Government Gold

'IMPOSSIBLE' IS VIEW

Italy Again by Side of Germany As Reports From Berlin And Rome

London, Dec. 31 (CP)—The Italian answer to the Franco-British plan for an end to the slaughter of Spaniards in the Spanish civil war was believed to represent substantially the views of Germany and Portugal as well, and to place well-nigh insurmountable obstacles in the path of general acceptance of the ban, the Havas News Agency reported today.

Although agreeing in principle, Rome stipulated two conditions which in the British and French view are impossible of fulfilment, the agency said.

Two Stipulations.

These were that measures to keep foreigners out of Spain be extended to include private individuals as well as soldiers, and that the Bank of Spain gold now on deposit in foreign countries be neutralized.

The message, which came after several days of consultation among Italian, German and Portuguese representatives, also stipulated, Havas said, that intervention problems be treated as one integral whole, through the non-intervention committee, and could be given first consideration. It expressed willingness to permit its nationals from going to Spain provided all other powers take similar steps, the agency added.

Suppression of Subscriptions.

Finally, according to Havas, it demanded suppression of foreign public or financial subscriptions to aid either of the Spanish belligerents, and advocated only the International Red Cross be permitted to collect money in the future, for purely humanitarian ends. This latter proposal met with favor from officials here, it was reported.

The non-intervention committee's sub-committees on "volunteers" and financial intervention will meet as the foreign office here tomorrow to scrutinize the Italian note in detail.

Italy and Germany

Paris, Dec. 31 (CP-Havas)—After leaning for a moment in the direction of joint action with British and France, Italy has returned to close co-operation with Germany, it was reported in political quarters, here today on the basis of latest advices from Rome.

In conferences over the last two weeks between Galeazzo Ciano, Italian Foreign Minister, and Ulrich von Hassel, the German Ambassador to Rome, the Havas News Agency said it was believed, the Reich sharply reminded Italy of the conditions of the Berchtesgaden accord between Chancellor Hitler and Premier Mussolini, and let it be understood the Italo-German understanding could be carried on only by Germany if Italy is cut adrift from the Spanish Rebellion.

Hitler and Mec.

Neither Hitler nor Mussolini want to bind their hands," said Pertinax in the Echo de Paris. "It is not yet certain that the Fascist-Nazi pact

(Continued on Page 13)

Chinese Bandits Slay British Policeman

Shanghai, Dec. 31.—(CP-Havas) — Sergeant Richard Slater, son of a retired British Army officer and for long a resident of British Columbia, was shot dead in a gun battle with Chinese robbers here today.

Sergeant Salter, who joined the Shanghai Municipal Police two years ago, was only 28 years old. He intercepted the robbers at the foot of a staircase in the building to which they had just carried out a hold-up.

Slater challenged them and shots were exchanged. He emptied his own pistol before falling riddled with bullets. The robbers escaped to the street where they were engaged by a police motor car and, in the ensuing gunfight, one Chinese watchman and one of the robbers were killed. Another was arrested.

Sergeant Slater was unmarried. He was born in India, the son of Lieut.-Col. A. S. Slater, Du Pont, for some years at Oak Bay, Victoria, B.C.

Train Air-Conditioning to be Greatly Extended

Montreal, Dec. 31—Air-conditioning of passenger train equipment on Canadian National Lines will be considerably extended before the opening of the next summer season it was stated today by officials of the National system. With approximately one hundred and twenty-five air-conditioned units now in operation, including pullman cars operating on Canadian National lines under contract. This service has been most popular with travel summer travellers alike. All experiments with air-condition equipment have been made and closely studied and the best features adapted for use in the system installed on Canadian National cars. The result has been that both the public and the railway car department officers have found the equipment entirely satisfactory in its operation.

Individual control of the fresh air supply is a feature in Canadian National air-conditioned sleeping cars.

TO SPEND WINTER ON LONELY ISLAND

Kingston, Ont., Dec. 31.—(CP)—Three men yesterday set out to spend the winter months on an island in Lake Ontario, off Prince Edward Point Traverse, Prince Edward County, Ray Lancaster and Morley Cole left for Main Duck Island where they will be the only two residents for the next five months.

They will care for stock kept on the island by Claude Cole of Cape Vincent and will also store ice for use of fishermen next summer.

Labor, Industry are Warned Not to Hazard Recovery

Labor Minister Rogers Appeals to Both Groups in New Year's Message

CONFIDENCE IN FUTURE

Ottawa, Dec. 31 (CP)—Industry to-day had before it a warning from Labor Minister Rogers that "it is necessary to state in the clearest terms that the right of association is a civil right, long established by law and usage."

The minister, issuing a New Year's message last night, cautioned against allowing a tide of industrial disputes to interfere with business recovery. The message, addressed to labor and industry jointly, emphasized that association of employees was a right.

He appealed to both groups to observe their larger obligations toward the nation, and urged careful establishment of machines in each industry to prevent direct handling of grievances during existence of industrial agreements.

"Canada has endured substantial progress in the last year made it possible to carry the upward in benefits new was established and that it is possible to predict the future course of recovery with greater confidence than at any time since 1930 because the accumulated evidence of improvement is visible everywhere.

"We are justified," he said, "in making our plans for coming year on the assumption that 1937 will bring greater industrial activity, more employment and higher returns for industrial and commercial undertakings throughout the Dominion."

Progressive Cut in Relief Aid Seen Beginning With April

Grants However Will Remain Unchanged For 3 Months

DOWNWARD REVISION

Ottawa, Dec. 31 (CP)—"Progressive reduction" of Dominion grants-in-aid for relief during the coming year, today in the wake of a pronouncement by Labor Minister Rogers that the federal administration and municipalities will be able to reduce relief expenditures," the minister said.

For three quarters in succession the grants have remained unchanged. They were increased 75 per cent last winter, reduced 25 per cent last April and reduced 10 per cent, last October. For 1936 they have been unchanged at a total of $2,940,653, monthly.

The downward revisions will be made after careful review of employment conditions throughout the nation, and the grants will be fixed in accordance with the varying degree of business betterment, the minister said.

"With the clear indication of an expanding business recovery during the coming year, there is reason to anticipate that the federal government's provincial governments and municipalities will be able to reduce relief expenditures," the minister said.

For three quarters in succession the grants have remained unchanged. They were increased 75 per cent last winter, reduced 25 per cent last April and reduced 10 per cent, last October. For 1936 they have been unchanged at a total of $2,940,653, monthly.

Coming Events

ON MONDAY, JANUARY 4, THE property owners will be asked for cash on a bond grant? This only means $1to tax on a thousand dollar assessment. Will you help support your band? d31-5t

NEW YEAR'S ENTERTAINMENT, St. Charles Hall, Read, Monday, January 4th. Acos Orchestra. Refreshments at midnight. Admission 50c. d31-1t

THE TWENTY-FOURTH ANNUAL Sun Feed, Whart St. Debating Club, Thursday, 4 o'clock. Come and hear the new candidates speak. d28-3t

NEW YEAR'S DANCE IN SHANNONVILLE Hall, December 31st, under the auspices L.O.L. No. 1, by Orangemen and Their Friends. Door prize. Admission 50c including tax. d31-1t

TONITE—EUCHRE 8.30;—BINGO 10.30—Asjmas Club, 294 Front Street. d31-1t

DANCE THE OLD YEAR OUT and the New Year in at the Moose 9-1. Admission 50c including tax. d31-1t

COUNCIL BIDS GOODBYE TO 1936

Last Business of Year is Wound up And Valedictory is Said

In his valedictory message to members of the city council who served under him during the past year, Mayor Harry Hill at the final meeting of city council held last evening, voiced a special note of appreciation for the assistance that had been given him in carrying on the business of the city over the twelve month period.

"I don't believe any council that was ever elected ever spent any more time on city business than this one. And I don't believe that as much legitimate business has ever been put through by any council previous to this one. Any man that gets into council these days knows that he is in for a lot of hard work, and hard work has certainly been ours in good measure during the year.

"I want to thank every alderman for the loyal support, for the help and assistance he has given me during the course of the year. The deliberations of the council have always been eminently enjoyable, even though they have meant hard work. Complete harmony has prevailed at all times. This would have been impossible unless we had all worked together for the common good of the city."

"Here we ever had any more meetings during the twelve months we have been together?" questioned Alderman Thos. Cushing.

"Not that I am aware, or that I ever heard of," replied Mayor Hill.

Alderman Cushing: "From some remarks that have been passed it seems that everything that was done, or the meetings that were held were held in camera.

"That's not so," rejoined Alderman Burton Jennings. "Our meetings have always been open to everyone, especially the press. Even our committee meetings have not been barred to the press. The remarks seem a bit unfair."

Less than an hour was occupied in winding up the affairs of council at the last meeting. Only routine matters which had been previously dealt with, and the passing of regular bills occupied the attention of council. Final adjournment was made shortly before nine o'clock.

Following some discussion upon the matter, it was agreed that the public meeting would be held at the city hall on Friday evening in spite of the unfavourable date.

It Pays to Shop at the Retail Store.

AFTER CHRISTMAS—
Bisma Rex
CORRECTS DIGESTIVE TROUBLES GAS, PAIN, BLOATING.
75c
McKeown's DRUG STORE

REVIEW OF YEAR SHOWS BOARD OF EDUCATION WORK

In Retrospect Board Enjoys Year of Economy, Purely "Routine One"

Members of the Belleville Board of Education were reserved in their deliberations and cautious in their spending during the past twelve months period, a brief resume of their activities will reveal. At the close of the present year it is expected that the Board will be well within its estimates, while savings are expected to be shown in almost every department, notably the Sites Buildings and Repairs department and the Supplies Committee department, annually called upon to furnish the greatest expenditures.

The past year will be marked off locally as a "routine one". Little outstanding accomplishments or achievements have been entered into the book of minutes, and for the most part, members have been devoted to the task of just guiding their affairs quietly, within their limits.

Mr. Geo. F. Ostrom, chairman, who has guided the destines of the Board during the past term has been rewarded with a singular acceptance of authority on the part of every member. He has been given loyal support in every project undertaken. His motto of Economy, which has been the watchword of every member, has also been rigidly adhered to and enforced. Mr. Ostrom will observe his tenth year of service as member and chairman at the end of the present year.

Whether a reduction in numbers of the Board will be asked for by the electorate of the city through their vote at the coming municipal election remains to be seen. In the opinion of many of the present members, the reduction would effect a loss of efficiency in its working; other members are as staunch in their support of statements that the body should retain its present status and numbers for best results. The subject is one that has been discussed repeatedly at regular meetings during the past year.

When the books are finally closed for the year, a review will show that the twelve month period has been one of harmony, unmarred by a lack of co-operation between the various chairmen, committees and members, or by acrimonious debate upon any matter which has come up. For this the thanks of Chairman Geo. Ostrom has been sincerely expressed.

Members who comprise the Board this year are:

Geo. F. Ostrom, chairman; H. J. Allin; Rev. Louis Wight; R. L. Brown; E. G. Burley; F. C. Cushing; H. B. Fetherly; Lt.-Col. E. A. Green; Perry McGuire; W. J. Harrison; Chas. L. Hyde; Geo. F. Lent; Reg. Moncrief; Mrs. M. W. Mott; Rev. A. B. Payne; Col. W. N. Ponton; G. W. Proctor; Rev. H. Reid; S. C. Sider; R. B. Risser; F. R. Wotten.

Chairman of the Standing Committees for the year are:—

Finance—J. Sider.

School Management—Rev. Harold Reid.

Sites, Buildings and Repairs—Chas. L. Hyde.

Supplies—H. J. Allin.

Collegiate—W. J. Harrison.

Queen Alexandra School—F. M. Bird.

King George School—H. B. Fetherly.

Queen Mary School—R. L. Brown.

Queen Victoria School—G. F. Lent.

Music Committee—F. R. Wotten.

Playgrounds Committee—Rev. A. B. Payne.

Auditorium Committee — R. R. Risser.

Athletics Committee—Percy McGuire.

Nurses' Committee—A. R. Proctor.

Letters to the Editor

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY

Belleville Ont., Dec. 29, 1936.

The Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer.

Dear Sir:

Again we make our annual appeal for funds to help carry on efficiently. We may state that we have many expenses which have to be met from the voluntary help of the general public—work which is carried on for prevention — which enables us to help families in need, and thus save the home and the child, thereby having to take court procedure to have the children made wards. We would earnestly appeal for your liberal support, and we are pleased to acknowledge the following donations:

A Friend	$5.00
Mr. C. Payne	2.00
No. 187	2.00
Mr. H. W. Ackerman	1.00
Mr. G. H. Lucy	1.00

(Kindly make cheques payable to Mr. H. Frost, Treasurer).

Thanking you on behalf of the Children's Aid Society.

I remain, yours sincerely,
T. D. Huston, Superintendent,
264½ Front Street,
Belleville, Ont.

Andrew M. Kennedy

SOLICITS YOUR VOTE AND INFLUENCE FOR THE OFFICE OF ALDERMAN

Vote Isaac Stephenson

for

ALDERMAN

1931-2

TO THE ELECTORS OF HURTINGDON TOWNSHIP:

As I will be unable to make a personal canvass I take this opportunity of soliciting your vote and influence for myself in the coming election for the Township Council.

Wishing all citizens of this Township a Very Happy and Prosperous New Year.

Matt. R. English

1931-31

O.B.C. WINTER TERM

STARTS MONDAY, JAN. 4th. for the regular courses (day attendance)

Evening Classes will be resumed TUESDAY, JAN. 5. For information, or to register, please call at the College Office

ONTARIO BUSINESS COLLEGE, Limited. 275 Front St., Belleville, Ont.

Telephones 124 - 542 I. L. MOORE, Principal

1930-31-32

New Year's Greetings

To our Patrons and the General Public. May the New Year Prove a Most Happy and Prosperous One.

BILL DICK and BILL

Bill Cook's Cigar Store

243 Front Street

YOU'LL LIKE IT AT THE BELLE

Gala NEW YEARS EVE REVUE

TONIGHT at 11.30 P.M.

MAKE UP A PARTY!

CELEBRATE

A Carnival of fun and Merrymaking as the old Year fades into the New! Brilliant! Happy! Colorful! Hats, Balloons, Noisemakers, Streamers.

The Screen presents a real entertainment for all the family!

Excitingly . . . Incomparably DIFFERENT!

Joel McCrea

Barbara Stanwyck

In a comedy-drama with music

BANJO ON MY KNEE

Film Selected Featurette

Prices (Tax Included) 50c

Tickets Now on Sale

CAPITOL New Year's Eve

Prices: 25c

NOW ON SALE

NEW YEAR'S EVE Frolic

TO-NIGHT at 11.45

Old Tyme Songs, Noise-Makers, Balloons, Hats —Favors for All, Fun for Everybody. Start the New Year off Right by Seeing this GRAND DOUBLE HIT SHOW!

SHE BROUGHT HIM DOWN TO EARTH!

He conquered the air-lines—but Cupid shot him down!

Secure New Year's Eve Tickets early Avoid Standing in line.

THE NEW UNIVERSAL PRESENTS

THE FLYING HOSTESS

with WILLIAM GARGAN JUDITH BARRETT

ANOTHER SWELL HIT ON GRAND HOLIDAY SHOW.

Neil MARSHALL and Ann SHIRLEY

MAKE WAY FOR A LADY

RKO RADIO PICTURES

GERTRUDE MICHAEL MARGOT GRAHAME

Directed by David Burton, Associate producer, Zion Myers.

ENDS TO-DAY

LEWIS STONE BRUCE CABOT in "DON'T TURN 'EM LOOSE"

PAT. ELLIS in "DOWN THE STRETCH"

LAST COMPLETE SHOW AT 8 O'CLOCK

VOTERS ATTENTION

Would you give 17c for the services of a band for one year.

That's all the property owner will contribute on a $2,000 assessment if he votes for the band grant.

This Is Your Band —Support It!

Start the New Year Right by Treating the Family to Our Special! NEW YEAR'S Turkey DINNER 75c

12 Noon to 9 p.m.

—OPEN ALL NIGHT NEW YEAR'S EVE—

BELMONT RESTAURANT

239 Front Street

1930-31

WISHING OUR CLIENTS AND FRIENDS A VERY Happy and Prosperous New Year

HAIG BROS. Limited

168 Front Street Phone 168

CLARE'S TAXI

4 — HEATED CARS — 4

24-Hour Service

Phone 196

Clare Drives With Care

1922-23-24-25-26-30-31

BELLE Starting TOMORROW New Year's Day

Daily 2.30; 7.10; 9.10

3 RECORD WEEKS LOEW'S THEATRE, TORONTO

You Can't Laugh Fast Enough to keep up with this Miracle Cast of Hilarity Stars!

JEAN HARLOW WILLIAM POWELL MYRNA LOY SPENCER TRACY in LIBELED Lady with WALTER CONNOLLY

A Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Picture

Evenings at 8.25; 7.30; 9.30

Prices Matinee Daily 25c

TONIGHT ONLY—DOUBLE SHOW—2.30 and 8.30

OLIVIA DE HAVILLAND in "THE CHARGE OF THE LIGHT BRIGADE"

Feature at 4.35 OTHER TIMES

Feature at 2.35

Bancroft Constable Goes to Bowmanville

Inspector Gardiner also announced that Provincial Constable W. J. Smith, now stationed at Bowmanville, had been transferred to the district headquarters at Belleville, while Provincial Constable Price Morris, formerly stationed at Bancroft, was to fill the vacancy left by Constable Smith at Bowmanville. No announcement as to who would take over the Bancroft detachment was made, however.

TORONTO 1936 TRAFFIC TOLL 63

Toronto, Dec. 31.—(CP)—Toronto's 1936 motor traffic death toll stood at 63 today following the death of Mrs. Jeanette Gloucester, 40-year-old domestic, injured by a hit-and-run motorist last night.

Police held William McKnight, 36, of Todmorden, on a charge of manslaughter.

BLUM TO APPEAL FOR PEACE

Paris, Dec. 31.—(AP)—Premier Blum will address a New Year's Eve appeal to Europe for peace.

Blum decided to broadcast his plea while the French Parliament was voting through a budget of 48,146,830,373 francs (62,247,000,000, 64 per cent. of which was devoted to war expenses.

Obituary

DONALD LUCAS (Tweed)

After being a patient at the Belleville General Hospital for two days, Donald Lucas, the three months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Lucas, Tweed, passed away at that institution on Wednesday evening.

LATE MRS. FRANCES A. REID

The funeral of Mrs. Frances Ann Reid, widow of W. C. Reid, took place Wednesday afternoon from her late residence, 178 Dundas Street East. Many friends were present at the impressive service which was conducted in the home by the Rev. W. J. Walker, Minister of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

Interment was made in the family plot in Belleville cemetery; the service at the graveside was conducted by the same minister.

The bearers were members of the Session of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church and were as follows: Messrs. C. A. Cameron, M.P., E. V. Illsley, I. L. Moore, A. B. Baird, D. L. Fleming and Vernon Weir.

LATE J. COLIN THOMPSON

The funeral of J. Colin Thompson, son of the Rev. T. J. Thompson, pastor of the Glebe United Church, Ottawa, and who was pastor of John Street Presbyterian Church, Belleville, many years ago, took place from the Canadian National Railway station, Belleville, shortly after two o'clock Wednesday afternoon to the Belleville cemetery where the committal service was conducted by the Rev. Robert Hall, pastor of John Street Church.

Old friends of the Rev. T. J. Thompson were present at the funeral and acted as pall bearers.

City and District News

LAST MINUTE RUSH TO SECURE LICENCES

The eve of New Year's today meant just one thing for hundreds of car owners in the district when, to-day suddenly licenses considered minded made a sudden and concentrated rush upon the office of the local issue in search of the needed plates.

In spite of the fact that extra help had been employed at the office to fill the long lines of waiting files of customers stood patiently in the corridors for hours to have their applications filled. During the earlier part of the week the trickle of customers had strengthened, reaching the peak today.

"As far as I know Monday is the dead line. We have had no notice of an extension, and we are prepared to say that there will be any. I don't believe any of the others have been so advised of any extension of time," stated Mr. S. H. Vermilyea, local issuer.

NO COLD WEATHER UNTIL WIND CHANGES

Spring-like zephyrs wafted past downtown corners and overcoats were discarded for the day as mild and sufficient weather with a west and temperatures soaring again to almost summery levels. Ushered in by a second heavy rain which persisted over the period intermittently during the night and early morning, southern Ontario was practically resulted in a further thawing of icy areas, again creating a slipperiness in some sections that was combatted for the most part by further applications of sand by department of public works employees, who also worked heroically during the night to clear the water which inundated street corners and intersections.

"We won't get colder weather until we get a change in the wind," commented weather sniffing older residents today. "If you've noticed, we've had almost continuous winds from the south and southeast since the first frost appeared."

LEAVE CANCELLED

All leave to Provincial Police officers in Ontario for New Year's Eve was cancelled, Superintendent Dennis announced today. The bulletin cancelling all leave was issued from headquarters of the Attorney General's office in Toronto, following previous motor accidents and other violations of the Liquor Control Act during the Christmas holiday period.

KIWANIS PRESIDENT DINES DIRECTORS

President over by President Frank Donnelson who also acted as host, the annual meeting and dinner of directors of the local Kiwanis Club was held in Dickens' Inn on Monday last evening. During the course of the dinner President Donnelson took the occasion to thank his assistants for the assistance they had given him during the past year in managing the affairs of the club and expressed the preference for retirement from office at the end of the present year due to the pressure of business. Brief replies were given by the directors present.

MRS. REID RETIRES FROM BANK SERVICE

Mrs. Beade Reid is retiring today from the service of the Canadian Bank of Commerce after a lengthy association with the former Bank of Nova Scotia and, more recent years, with the Canadian Bank of Commerce, as a practical institution of their esteem for Mrs. Reid's services, the Bank has given her six months' leave of absence on full salary and thereafter an annual pension.

The wide circle of friends and acquaintances which Mrs. Reid has made during her many years of banking service will miss her at her accustomed desk, but extend her every good wish for the future.

YOUTH RETURNS HOME

Robert Francis, 15 year old Picton youth who was reported missing from his home yesterday, returned home last evening, local police revealed today. It is believed the lad left home after being reprimanded by a parent. When he slipped during his 24 hours absence from his home was not revealed, owever.

lot.

A few vendors offered stoveswood at varying prices.

TRENTON and DISTRICT

Trenton, Dec. 31 (Special)— In the form of England hall on Dundas street Wednesday at the New Incident and Proctor Co., enjoyed a social evening last night. After the meal a short programme was rendered by the music of Lyle Hartman. Winners of a lucky number dance were Mrs. Blight, Miss Jessie Begin, H. Johnson.

Both-Dadswell

The marriage took place at 2.00 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon when Lucy Agnes Dadswell daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dadswell, North Trenton was united in marriage by Arthur Neal Both of the R.C.A.F., son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Both, Belleville, R.C.A.F. The wedding was solemnized in St. Peter-in-Chains rectory by Rev. Father Cecil O'Reilly officiating. The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore white chiffon velvet a wreath of orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lily of the valley. Miss Mary Dadswell sister of the bride acted as maid of honor and wore turquoise blue chiffon velvet with matching accessories and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Mr. Kenneth Wilson of the R.C.A.F. acted as groomsman. After a reception at the home of the bride the happy couple motored to the United States. They will live in Trenton on their return.

Annual Election of King Street Church W.A. Officers

Officers of the King Street Unitarian Church W.A. were elected for 1937 at a meeting in the church parlours. Mrs. W. J. Potts took the chair for the election. A bouquet of flowers was presented to Miss A. C. Twiddy the retiring president. Officers for 1937 are: Honourary president: Mrs. R. M. Ponton; Mrs. W. J. Potts, retiring President, Mrs. A. C. Twiddy; President, Mrs. P. G. Burrows; First Vice President, Mrs. G. Jordan; Second Vice President, Mrs. J. G. Stradbrook; Third Vice President, Mrs. R. H. Millikin; Secretary, Mrs. F. L. Reid; Recording Secretary, Miss D. Ponton; Treasurer, Mrs. N. Bower; Financial Secretary, Mrs. J. Cox; Conveners, Refreshments, Mrs. G. Mitchell; Flowers, Mrs. E. H. Smithurn; Piano Work, Mrs. E. L. Fraser; Aprons, Mrs. J. L. Cairns; Quilts, Miss Hall in charge; Parcels, Mrs. G. F. Wright; Devotional, Mrs. J. Potts; Social: Pianist, Mrs. J. F. Cox; Mrs. A. E. Rathbun and Miss I. Reddick.

THE WEATHER

Toronto, Dec. 31.—(CP)—Pressure is high over the Northwest Territories and Alberta, also to the eastward of Nova Scotia, while a low area centres over Manitoba bringing northeastward across James Bay. Moderate strong winds and gales with rain from Ontario eastward to the Maritimes Provinces. Light snowfalls have also occurred in the western provinces where the weather is unsettled. Extremely high temperatures have prevailed over the lake region and western Quebec but generally mild weather prevails over Ontario from the westward.

Lake Superior: Fair and cold, northwest winds; partly cloudy and colder tonight and Friday with light snowfalls or flurries.

Western provinces: Mostly fair and quite cold tonight and Friday; probably scattered snowflurries.

Station	8 a.m.	High Low day night
Dawson	48	Zero 08
Ft. Simpson	203	231 223
Victoria	30	40 38
Edmonton	103	6 103
Winnipeg	0	14 0
S. S. Marie	24	44 24
Toronto	45	45 44
Ottawa	44	46 44
Quebec	30	30 28
St. John	42	42 38
Halifax	34	38 28
Detroit	32	56 32
New York	46	46 40
Miami	72	78 72
Los Angeles	48	62 48
Bermuda	66	74 64

London—Cloudy: Temp. 44. Paris—Cloudy: Temp. 38.

Our NEW YEAR Message TO the Citizens of Belleville and Adjoining Counties is centred in the hope that we, in the course of our daily avocation, may do our part to help you make this New Year the Happiest and Most Prosperous you have yet experienced—this is the sincere wish of

THE HOUSTON CO. Limited

J. F. HOUSTON, President
F. E. HOUSTON, First Vice-President and Treasurer
R. E. HOUSTON, 2nd. Vice-Pres. and Sec. H. O. MARTIN, Gh. of Dir.

Another Bull's Eye For Babson in 1937?

A year ago, Roger W. Babson said: "Business should be hugging normal and heading into another period of prosperity by the end of 1936."

What has happened? In spite of wars and elections, business has boomed steadily ahead and today, it stands at normal for the first time in seven years!

For fifteen years, Mr. Babson has given the country accurate views on coming business trends. In 1929, he foretold the end of the Stock Market crash almost to a day. In 1933, he foretold the end of the depression.

Again, as we approach the New Year, he tells the country what to expect in 1937. Can he hold his record of accuracy through another year of prosperity?

Read what Mr. Babson says about business for next year. You will find his exclusive feature in this newspaper January 2, 1937.

41 YEARS TRUSTEE F.T. WARD RETIRES

Stirling Board of Education Member is Now 80 Years Old

Stirling, Dec. 31 (Special)—Somewhat of a record has been established in Stirling when this week Mr. F. T. Ward, for more than forty-one years an active member of the Stirling Board of Education retired from active service on that governing body. Though nominated for re-election Mr. Ward was not persuaded, celebrated his eightieth birthday, withdrew from the field in favor of the younger men whose names are to appear on the ballot. Never in his long career of public life within the community has Mr. Ward been defeated.

A thorough-going business man who has achieved success in his own private affairs he has brought to bear again and again by his fellow citizens to represent them on the governing board of its institutions of learning because of his sound principles and methodical thinking. Throughout the long years of office he has been called upon to work with many different types of manhood, and to deal with a wide and varied range of problems. With the keen insight of a youthful man, he has forever remained abreast of the rapid change of times and his judgment has always been highly respected by his associates on the board. For years the public life can boast of a finer record than that of retiring from service as a servant of the people, after more than forty years actually considered. Because of his interest in the work, retirement from having an active part in it is a sacrifice but for the fact that veterans who last September celebrated his seventy-eighth birthday. His will miss being in his accustomed place at the board meetings which he attended with marked regularity.

Native of England.

Mr. Ward who came to this part of Ontario as a boy from Southampton, England, settled first in Prince Edward County and worked for a time in Campbellford. He came to Stirling in 1878 and two years later established the business with which he still the driving force. He was elected to the local school board for the first time in 1895 and from that time has served continually.

Every member of that body who ever worked with him can speak only sincere words of praise for his sound thinking and just principles, and likewise the teachers who have been in charge of the schools during that time spoke highly of the cooperation which he gave them when problems arose which demanded careful study.

Though he ceases from this date to be an active member of the board he will be one of the most interested servers of its functioning as he attends to his private business affairs in his establishment in the heart of the business section og the town. For with the aid of the daily press he is always right up to the minute with the progress of the times in all matters. His services will be greatly missed from the office where he has so faithfully filled. But all Stirling join in wishing him continued good health and happiness for the future.

Marriage Rate High In England and Wales

London, Dec. 31 (CP)—Leaving out the years 1919 and 1920 which were affected by war conditions, the highest marriage rate in England and Wales was recorded during the third quarter of this year.

People married totalled 230,432, an increase of 6,000 over the preceding quarter and 9,362 more than in the corresponding quarter of 1935.

This corresponds to an annual rate of 21.2 per 1,000 of estimated mid-year population for 1935.

This quarter was also notable for the low mortality of infants under one year of age, this being 4.1 deaths per 1,000 registered live births, or six per 1,000 below the average for the 10 preceding third quarters.

COL. T. HIAM DIES, R.R. AUTHORITY

Associated With Baghdad Railway And With C.N.R.

Vancouver, Dec. 31.—(CP)—Col. T. A. Hiam, 56, former assistant to the president of the Canadian National Railways under the late Sir Henry Thornton and internationally known as a railroad authority, died in the hospital here last night of pneumonia. He was ill only a few days.

A native of Montreal, he entered the employ of the Grand Trunk Railway in 1901 and four years later was appointed chief clerk to the general manager of the Canadian Northern Railway in Eastern Canada. In 1907 he was transferred from Montreal to Toronto.

He served in the Great War as an officer with infantry units and with the Royal Engineers in France and Macedonia and, after the Armistice, was made Constantinople and a member of the Inter-Allied Railway Commission.

He became a director of the Anatolian section of the Baghdad Railway but returned to Canada in 1918. The next year he was made technical adviser to Canada to the League of Nations and in this connection visited every part of Europe.

In 1929, he became assistant to the President and Supervisor of the Canadian National Railways, Col. Hiam retired in 1932.

HON. CHARLES MARCIL CRITICALLY ILL

OTTAWA, Dec. 31.—(CP)—Condition of Hon. Charles Marcil 76-year-old Dean of the House of Commons, was critical today from a series of heart attacks. So low was he that reports circulated he had died.

Mr. Marcil has been confined to bed for almost two weeks. He has represented the constituency of Bonaventure for nearly 40 years and having first been elected in 1896.

Last rites of the Roman Catholic Church were administered Tuesday.

DIES DURING A DANCE

Campbellford, Ont., Dec. 31. (CP)—Reaction of an old-fashioned square dance proved too great for Wilfrid Hall, 76, here last night. The aged widower, retired for some years, died on completion of the reel.

FATALITY RATE LOW IN CITY

No Fatal Motor Accident On City Streets This Year

Another year, 1936, has all but passed into history without a fatal motor accident happening on the streets of the city of Belleville, it was announced by Chief Kidd today.

As a matter of fact only one motor fatality has occurred on Belleville streets in the last seven years, that being when a local citizen died as the result of an accident on Bleecker Avenue some years ago. This was not a collision, nor a case wherein a pedestrian was injured, but where the victim was the driver of the car, which skidded.

We have been very fortunate in the matter of motor fatalities in Belleville during 1936, hope motor operators will continue to drive their vehicles with caution," said Chief Kidd.

Three fatalities occurring from motor accidents in the city during the year 1936, however. The first being on C.P.R. accident when a drowned beneath the C.P.R. culvert near the bay bridge crossing at the height of last spring's flood period. The next fatality resulting from accidents was on the Bridge crossing when a local youth was killed when his car struck away with the wagon in which he was riding and directly into the path of a C.N.R. express train. The last death by accident was of recent date when R. H. Cook, Cannifton C.N.R. brakeman, died in the Belleville General Hospital as the result of injuries received when the caboose in which he was sleeping caught fire during the night, the injuries sustained proving fatal.

The fatality rate in Belleville is reported to be one of the lowest in the Dominion, according to population.

MANITOBA WARS UPON PARALYSIS

Province Plots Barricades Against Invasion of Dread Disease

Winnipeg, Dec. 31. (CP)—Officials of Manitoba's Department of Health today charted battlelines against the invasion of infantile paralysis epidemic the province has known since 1928, when 1,000 cases marked further invasion of the dread bacteria.

Scientists declare the disease are inspired by the solid support of a people who are determined to wage war against the threat of deformity or death to children and younger people.

First reported last June 15th, in southwestern Manitoba, outbreaks of infantile paralysis spread throughout the province with the heaviest incidence in the epidemic peak was reached in the week ending September 12th, when 61 cases were reported.

To date 631 cases and 36 deaths, with reports still incomplete, surpassed the province's worst epidemic year in 1928, when 642 cases and 46 deaths occurred. This year's high mortality from infantile paralysis cases is estimated at 7% compared with 150 in 1928.

Schools were thrown up quickly. Patients were isolated and known contacts quarantined. In those districts schools were closed and public gatherings forbidden. Quarantine regulations were relaxed into action and special investigators appointed by Dr. G. M. Weir, chief of the practising physicians. Convalescent serum was prepared quickly.

Many municipalities passed by-laws preventing ingress of individuals from infected areas.

"It is interesting to note that in Manitoba, the disease has tended to be rigidly enforced, no case of infantile paralysis occurred," said Dr. F. W. Jackson, assistant director of Health.

Municipalities offered free medicines of suspected cases and free treatment of those infected.

MAY SAVE 5 P. C. U. S. INCOME TAX

Canadians Paying Ten Per Cent May Pay Only Five

Ottawa, Dec. 31.—(CP)—Canadian investors, today looked forward to saving five per cent of the income tax they now pay the United States government under a treaty signed here from their American securities.

The agreement signed by Washington yesterday by Hon. Herbert Marler, Canadian Minister to the United States, and the Secretary of State Cordell Hull, the United States Treasury and 10 provinces Canadian individuals or corporations, not residents of the United States, will not have to pay more than five per cent of the income from American securities they hold. They have been paying 10 per cent.

Both countries agree not to charge more than the five-per-cent figure as income tax on earnings from investments by nations of one in securities of the other.

The agreement which must be ratified by the Canadian parliament and the United States Senate will be retroactive to last Jan. 1.

We Salute 1937!

May it trend low, our many friends and patrons, more kindly than ever in all the years that have gone before! May Health, Happiness and Prosperity be yours in full measure.

We Salute 1937

with the renewed resolve to constantly foster the high standards of Service, Satisfaction and Value which have won for us your friendship in the past.

ZELLERS
RETAILERS TO THRIFTY CANADIANS

GENOTAPH VERSE PUZZLES SUDBURY

Kipling's Words Not Used, Anonymous Lines on Memorial

Sudbury, Ont., Dec. 31 (CP)—Authorship of an inscription on the Sudbury, Ont., cenotaph, remained a mystery today and four members specially written for the monument by the late Rudyard Kipling remained in possession of Capt. John Ferry, provincial president of the Ontario command of the Canadian Legion.

Capt. Ferry explained today why the Kipling lines had not been inscribed on the monument and heretofore the veil from those that grace the memorial by saying they were written by one of Sudbury's "gifted citizens."

The Kipling lines which have not been used, but may be some time in the future:

"We, giving all, gained all;
"Neither lament us nor repine;
"Only, in all things remember,
"It is fear, not death, that alone."

The anonymous lines on the memorial read:

"They braced their belts about them
"And crossed in ships the sea;
"They fought and found six feet of ground
"And died for you and me."

Capt. Ferry explained:

"The Kipling epitaph was received too late to be inscribed on the Sudbury cenotaph when it was unveiled some years ago. In consequence the lines were inscribed on a bronze tablet one of its gifted citizens. This does not mean, however, that Sudbury will not eventually use the inscription but merely that the cenotaph has already been dedicated and cannot be changed."

Captain Ferry explained that Kipling had vested in him rights to the inscription.

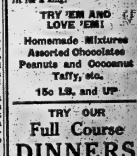
FIND WEED KILLER OR SPLIT ATOMS

150 Scientists Engaged in Every Form of Research in Science

Ottawa, Dec. 31 (CP)—Personnel of the National Research Council staff totals 150, divided into five main sections and these scientists engage throughout the year in every department of technical investigation from splitting atoms to inventing weed killers. Chief work performed is one of service to industry—the probing of special problems or making tests that may not be carried out in commercial laboratories.

The service of the council is at the disposal of industrial concerns that are willing to defray the cost of investigations; and this is an increasing source of revenue for the council to a reported 1936 total of $50,000.

Scholarships are granted annually, and in 1936 a total of 30 students, mature necessary for the carrying out of the tests. Studies have been initiated to determine the temperature and humidity necessary in the cold store to prevent "freezer burn" or "sun-cracking," with encouraging results.



In co-operation with industry, research into malting barley is conducted. The results are expected to provide a better basis for the selection of the most desirable types of barley for malting. Researches ordinarily are a combination ranging at the present time up to 25 cents a bushel for barley of malting quality. The advantages of this research to producers are considerable.

The council is making a comprehensive survey of the Herkimer or chemical flint, differs and is conducting experimental research in this field.

GIRL MISSING IN DETROIT

Detroit, Dec. 31.—(CP)—Police throughout Michigan today sought Lillian Marie Plain, 21-year-old daughter of the President of Ferry, J. Plain Motor Sales, Inc., of Detroit, missing since Tuesday. Miss Plain, junior at University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, left her home to "shop downtown and get the shows" police records said.

No trace of the car she was driving has been found nor any report of a purchase in any stores where she usually comes in the downtown district. The girl was home from college for Christmas holidays.

THE HIGH-LIGHT OF THE EVENING!

CANDY from the GUILD Restaurant

Have you tried our Canadian Delicious Confections? A. delicious taste and every bite fit for a king!

TRY 'EM AND LOVE 'EM!

Homemade Mixtures
Assorted Chocolates
Peanuts and Cocoanuts
Taffy, etc.

15c LB. and UP

TRY OUR Full Course DINNERS

Tasty and Wholesome

The Guild Restaurant

AND CANDY STORE
284 FRONT, STREET
(Formerly Moores)

ONE YEAR TERM FOR THEFT FROM SUMMER CAMPS

Thomas, Sopha, Marmora, Pleads Guilty to Four Charges

Thomas Sopha, Marmora, pleaded guilty to four charges of breaking, entering and theft in the vicinity of Marmora and Crowe Lake when he appeared before Magistrate J. D. Lloyd in today's local police court, sentence of one year determinate, with a further indeterminate sentence of six months, in the Ontario Reformatory, was imposed on the accused after he had pleaded guilty. He was charged with the theft of a gun, fishing tackle, a phonograph, a hoss, a goose and other minor articles, some of which were taken from cottages at Crowe Lake.

Sopha was the first offence for this young man, although I always found him to be a problem when it came to a question of telling the truth, giving his previous jail terms for similar offences" court made himself very popular up around the County jail and prison, enjoy his sojourns in that institution, I guess," stated Crown Attorney R. C. Donnan, K.C., as he commented on the case to the reporter.

"These are serious offences, and I must warn you that another repetition of this kind will result in a penalty being imposed. The Police Magistrate, he stated out concurrent sentences would be in the maximum term of one year definite and the further six months indefinite.

Chief Witness In City

Walter Woodside, Belleville, appeared charged with discharging fire arms within the city limits. The accused pleaded guilty and was given a suspended sentence, after receiving a severe reprimand from the Bench.

Remanded on Fraud Charge

George McIlroy, Stirling, appeared charged with fraud, resulting from the passing of an alleged worthless cheque. The accused asked for an adjournment in the case to seek an enlargement the last time this appeared under the charge on the grounds some relation "had died" asked Mr. Donnan. "Yes, sir," admitting the accused.

"Well, did the relation die?" asked the Crown, "No sir," was the reply. "I suppose you will be out on bail, custody until he is ready for his trial," asked Mr. Donnan of the Police Magistrate. The request was granted and bail was set at $1,000.

HEAVY OFFERING POULTRY TODAY

Geese Plentiful at 20c lb.— Few Buyers—Eggs at 30-30c

With a plentitude of geese, chickens and ducks and a noticeable shortage of buyers, the poultry market presented a sluggish appearance on the Belleville city market this morning, a representative gathering of vendors presented an attractive display of poultry for "dimmers" on the local mart.

One lady vendor remarked: "I have been here since seven o'clock and haven't had a bite to eat yet, and have been standing since then," which is a fair representation of the reaction of the poultry vendors.

A few turkeys put in an appearance, and at any early hour the price, which averaged in the vicinity of 27 cents the pound, brought few buyers forward.

Geese which were plentiful, and of fine quality, met an average price of from 19 to 20c a lb. found favor in the eyes of the few buyers and moved briskly at this price.

Chickens also were in evidence with a fine quality showing, from 20c to $1.30 each.

Ducks were offered at from $1.00 to $1.25. This price has prevailed since the beginning of the holiday period.

Eggs were also plentiful but prices fluctuated at intervals, and for business in the slow moving market. "A" extras were offered at from 30c to 33c with mediums moving well at from 30c to 30c per dozen. Pullets' eggs also were in evidence ranging from 25 cents.

Butter maintained the prices which have characterized this product for the past month. Two pound rolls sold well at 60c.

The outside market was practically devoid of poultry. Wood supplies provided the main attraction with quality of "Mary" selling at $1.50 for the hamper. Brown & Spies were offered at $2.00 a bushel

The Old Year

As we trace the record of the closing year these comes once again the grateful recollection of good will manifested towards our store and our staff by the people of Belleville and the surrounding county.

We cherish these associations and the friendships into which they have ripened during these seventeen years of happy business relationships, and we sincerely wish you a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

Dolan the Druggist

and STAFF

THE ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER

THE DAILY ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER is published every afternoon (Sunday and holidays excepted) at The Ontario Intelligencer Building, 302 Front Street, Belleville.

W. H. MORTON, PUBLISHER

HAPPY AND PROSPEROUS NEW YEAR

The whirligig of time has brought again the last day of the old year and New Year's Eve. Tonight the old familiar greeting and salutation "Happy New Year" and "The Compliments of the Season" will be heard in every clime, in every settlement, on every lip. It is not a mere formal phrase, but somehow the spirit of the season sways everyone at this time somewhat as the Christmas greeting does and everyone feels better for it.

With hopes and faith that the coming year will be rich in blessings and opportunities for all, the Ontario Intelligencer joins in the season's welcome and salutation for the happiest and most prosperous of years in the twelve months of 1937.

THE YEAR 1936

Tonight sad bells will mournfully toll the passing of the year 1936 and imperceptibly this year will become the new year with the same bells merrily chiming in glad refrain. The passage from one year to another is not very perceptible as between December 31st, 1936 and January 1st, 1937, except for the differences of yesterday and prospect and the change of attitude, for the tasks carried up to midnight tonight are borne over into the coming months.

But a whole year does make a change, though a day cannot work so vast a transformation. 1936 will go down in history for many things, an improved condition of trade and industry, better conditions for individuals and a more cheerful outlook in consequence, but it will also be remembered as the year in which the people of the earth passed through the most tense period. Britain has gone through a crisis the like of which she has never before in history been called upon to decide; three kings have been on the throne, King George Fifth, called by death, King Edward Eighth, ruling for less than eleven months and then retiring and King George Sixth ascending the throne.

In the world at large there has been not a single day when international problems have not pressed forward into the greatest prominence, no year has witnessed more sudden developments of international moment than this one. The Ethiopian campaign of Italy ended, Spain goes to civil war on top of the disregarding by Germany of the treaty demilitarizing the west bank of the Rhine. This latter is but an example of the crises through which the world has passed. New treaties and alliances of outstanding importance because of their relation to the possibility of the preservation of peace or the outbreak of war have been made. Armed almost to the teeth, some of the nations have been regarded as a threat to world peace, and other nations have strengthened themselves for self-protection and to prevent what they feared might become international conflict.

Outside of the Spanish situation, the world is at peace. Diplomacy of Britain has been directed toward a large measure of success, it would appear.

Whatever one thinks of world politics, the field of science keeps expanding and 1936 has contributed no small measure of progress in knowledge.

What the successor of 1936 will bring no one knows. There are hopes that it may see that rift in the clouded international skies for which the world is hoping and a turning towards greater ease and less tension in world affairs.

Business in Canada has expanded in this year. For example, agriculture and mining are two of the outstanding developments on which so much prosperity hinges. In mining alone in the metallic and non-metallic fields it is expected that production in Canada will in 1937 reach $440,000,000 with $500,000,000 the possibility in 1938 according to the Northern Miner. Mining production in 1936 has reached about $350,000,000. That is a hint of the way Canada is moving forward in every field of effort, a sign of the expansion of the nation.

FOR THE VOTERS

Electors of Belleville go to the polls a few days from now to cast their ballots for the election of mayor and aldermen and to vote on bylaws which have been discussed in the newspaper for some time.

It is hoped that every one who has a vote will cast that vote so that polling will be as large as it is possible to secure for a large vote for more likely to represent the viewpoint of the public rather than a small one.

In another column there is an interesting story told of the success of the city manageship as carried out in Chatham.

The mind itself must, like other things sometimes, be unbent, or else it will be either weakened or broken.—Sir Philip Sidney.

SIDELIGHTS

THE HOME FORUM

Discussion of the affairs of the day, home gossip and general news topics as revealed by the home newspaper—under the evening lamp—and comments Grave and Gay. — Supervised by The Lamplighter

A HANDFUL OF CITIZENS AT THE MUNICIPAL NOMINATION MEETING, mostly members of the City Council and other municipal bodies, and ex-members, nominating each other. One hundred citizens, more or less, at a meeting where a municipal expert explains the city manager system of municipal government. It is quite evident that the citizens of Belleville lack interest in municipal management, although from their remarks on the subject of taxation one would think that they would take a very active interest in nominations and elections and newer methods to promote efficiency in municipal management. Is it that they don't care? or is it that they think it is no use bothering? or are they just plain Re-Gusted? Whatever it is it is a bad state of affairs—for until the citizens wake up and take a deep and active interest in municipal management and those responsible for efficiency or otherwise there will be no incentive to improved efficiency.

* * *

LOOKING AT IT FROM ANOTHER LIGHT, perhaps the citizens are so well satisfied with the civic administration, and administrators that they are satisfied with things as they are, and have no protests under their skin screaming for utterance.

* * *

AS IT IS, AFTER THE SHOUTING AND TUMULT DIES, it simmers down to this—practically a continuance of last year's council—with fourteen candidates for thirteen seats, several new faces in the municipal ring and one of last year's aldermen facing Mayor Hill for the chief executive's seat. So no matter who's elected we will have practically the same council—a good lot of chaps willing to give of their time to serve the city.

* * *

A GREAT MANY QUESTIONS ARE BEING ASKED about the City Manager plan for more efficient civic administration. This shows that interest in the subject has been awakened, which is a good sign. Most of the questions are answered in the experience of Chatham, Ontario, which has had the city manager system since 1922, as described in another column of this issue.

* * *

ONE OF THE MOST PERSISTENT QUESTIONS ASKED is who will be appointed city manager. That's putting the cart before the horse. We haven't got the cart yet, much less the horse. The first question to be decided is whether the citizens are in favor of a change in civic government. If approved at the polls a bill will be prepared and presented in the Legislature, and this bill will practically form the charter authorizing the new form of administration and defining the form it will take. All that will take time, and in all probability another municipal election will roll around before any change can take place. Then the new council is constituted and in office, in conformance with the new system the council will fill the office of city manager. Undoubtedly the man selected for training and qualifications required stated. Universities have been conducting courses in municipal election will roll around before there should be no difficulty in securing the right man. One thing is certain the office would not be filled by reason of pull or local politics. The citizens can guard against that if they are alert and determined to secure a plain business administration.

* * *

THE CITY MANAGER SYSTEM IS SO SIMPLE IT would seem unnecessary to ask or answer questions regarding it. It consists simply of a small council headed by the mayor, and one manager over all departments instead of one manager over each department, and the city's business conducted on the same good business basis as any private business—producing service, not for profit, but profitable service for all citizens.

* * *

THE COMMITTEE APPOINTED BY THE CITY COUNCIL TO INVESTIGATE THE CITY MANAGER SYSTEM consisted of Aldermen Jennings, Barlow, Bateman, Cushing, Lewis. The committee found that the system was growing in popularity and was successful wherever tried—a marked improvement over the old system of headless administration.

* * *

IN 1908 there was only one city manager city, in 1915 there were 64, in 1929 there were 317 and in 1935 463— 445 cities and 8 counties.

* * *

WESTMOUNT, QUEBEC, HAS BEEN UNDER THE CITY MANAGER SYSTEM since 1913, and it is interesting to note that Westmount's first city manager was a Belleville boy who made a decided success of the system there.

LOOKING BACKWARD

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

Dec. 31st, 1916.

The following members of the Belleville Rifle Club competed in a "spoon" shoot at the armouries, last evening: C. J. Symons, 96; J. Douch 95; J. S. Peck 93; W. Andrews 93; O. D. Orriston 92; J. G. Wills 92; A. R. Symons 92; S. M. Dafoe 90; C. J. Wills 90; J. Woodley 86. The winners of the spoons were C. J. Symons and J. Douch.

A large audience witnessed the moving picture "The Birth of a Nation" at Griffin's Opera House last night.

A service will be held in St. Thomas' Church tonight (New Year's Eve) at 11.30 o'clock. There will be a celebration of the Holy Communion.

Mr. W. H. Ireland has been elected by acclamation Mayor of Trenton.

Miss Madie Post is home from the Normal School at Peterboro to spend the holidays.

Miss Mary Mims of Madoc is visiting relatives and friends in the city.

30 YEARS AGO

Dec. 31st, 1906.

Happy and prosperous New Year to all.

Messrs. Hugh and William Quinlan are home from Hamilton to spend the holidays.

Messrs. John Cullin of Winnipeg and James Cullin of Toronto are home for the holidays.

Mr. Harry Johnstone of Theodoma, Wash., is home on a visit to his parents at their home on Warham Street.

Mr. Frank Dolan of Port Arthur, is home to spend the holidays.

Mr. James Phillips of Montreal, formerly of Belleville, is here to spend a few days.

Mr. Harry Coon, ex purser on the steamer North King, now anactuary at Berlin, is being welcomed home by many friends.

Mr. Irwin Wallace is home from McGill University, Montreal, to spend the holidays.

Mr. Thomas Corbett, an old Belleville boy and his wife of Calgary, Alberta, are here on a visit to his mother.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Corbett and son, Frank, of Port Hope, are here to spend the holidays.

Mr. J. B. Harker is spending a few days with relatives at Toronto.

Foxboro and District

Foxboro, Dec. 31—Friends and neighbors are very much pleased to have Mr. Harold Stewart home from the hospital.

Owing to the icy condition of the roads on Christmas day many who usually left their homes were forced to remain until the following day.

Mrs. Bell of Sault Ste. Marie is visiting her friend Miss Ethel Gowsell.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gowsell of Kenora visited relatives for a few days.

Misses Lois Spencer and Betty Hodgen spent a few days in Belleville.

Mrs. Ed Clarke and Arthur are visiting relatives in Peterboro.

Miss Vera Walt spent Sunday with her friend Miss Lena Bates of Belleville.

Mr. Allan Gay of Peterboro Normal spent the holidays under the parental roof.

Sympathy is extended to Mr. Walt who had the misfortune to have his leg broken.

Some members of the Young People's Society visited the sick and shut-ins on Tuesday evening and sang carols thus hoping to bring a bit of cheer to the homes visited.

Those who were entertained in the village on Christmas day included Mr. and Mrs. George Ketcheson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Wannamaker, Mr. and Mrs. John Gowsell, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Prentice and family of Marmora, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Prentice and daughter of Armprior, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Prentice, Miss Ethel Gowsell and Miss A. Miller at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Priest.

Mr. and Mrs. Jamieson entertained company from Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Reg. Skinner at Mr. D. Ketcheson's.

Mr. James Elliott at Mr. S. A Scorton's.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Parks and James of Hay Bay, Mr. and Mrs. Elva Denyes, Percy and Garnet of Plainfield and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Wheatt at Mr. J. G. Sills.

Mrs. Belmore entertained her mother and brothers of Shannonville.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Hall at Mr. Brown's, Mrs. Mary Ann Killpatrick.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Kilpatrick and Mr. and Mrs. G. Sherry and Mrs. Ed. Mills and family visited.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Rose of Frankford and Mr. and Mrs. C. Snider and daughter, Mrs. Davis.

Christmas visitors were: Mr. and Mrs. Geider and Mr. and Mrs. E. Geider and daughters, and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Henderson of Prince Edward County, at Mr. Lorne Lockwells, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Crawford and family at Mr. Earl Marshman's, and among those who spent the day out of town were: Mr. and Mrs. Bert Hagerr and family of Belleville, Mr. and Mrs. Murney Reynolds and James in Frankford guests of Miss Maggie Gay and Mrs. Reid, Mr. and Mrs. G. Wilson and Leon and Mr. John Wilson at Mr. Frank Howes of Carlow, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gay and family in Stirling, Mr. and Mrs. Jos Simmons at Mr. W. Simmons' of Carmel, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Meads and Marion at Mr. A. McGee's of Stirling, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rodgers, Mr. Mrs. Yorke of Corbyville, Mr. Richard Yorke and Mrs. Shaw at Mr. Fred Griffin's of Belleville, Mr. and Mrs. Clare Pinkis and daughters and Mr. V. Longwell in Mr. H. Blakley's at Mr. H. Blakley's, Mr. and Mrs. R. Brown and Earl and Miss K. Alexander at Mr. A. Walt's for supper. Mr. and Mrs. Scott at Napanee, Mrs. L. Hagerman at her parents' in Cahaya, Mrs. Greenend at Bethel, Mrs. Embury at Mr. Fred Reynolds', Belleville, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Bell, Ralph and Joyce, supper at Mr. John Bell's, and Mr. and Mrs. Will Cooke and family at Oak Hills.

Mr. MacLaren Longwell of Port Hope spent the holidays at his home here.

Mrs. McPe of Toronto is visiting at Mr. C. Gowsell's.

Mr. Gowsell is visiting his sister Miss Marie Gowsell.

Mr. Wm. Gay is spending Christmas holidays at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stewart and Jackie returned home after spending a week with relatives in Hastings.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Monigomery and daughters of Stirling spent Friday night at Mr. W. Hodgen's.

40 YEARS AGO

Dec. 31st, 1896.

Mr. Charles H. Hopkins of Chicago, Ill., son of Belleville boy, son of Mr. William Hopkins of this city, was married at Chicago on the 15th inst.

Ice boating upon the bay is excellent.

The Belleville Amateur Minstrels will hold a rehearsal tomorrow evening.

The Rev. E. Roberts and the Rev. Dr. Carlisle will conduct the watch night service at Bridge Street Methodist Church tonight.

At the final meeting of the city council for the year 1896 which was held last night all the aldermen present made short addresses in which they spoke in the highest terms of the excellent and fair manner in which Mayor J. R. Walmsley had filled the Mayor's chair during his terms of office. The feeling of the meeting was put in the form of a motion which was moved by Ald. Wills and seconded by Ald. J. W. Johnson and which read as follows: "That council of 1896 at its last meeting desires to place upon record an expression of appreciation of the services rendered to the city by His Worship, Mayor Walmsley during the three years that he presided over its deliberations. He has served the city faithfully and zealously on behalf of the citizens, as their representatives, we tender him their thanks and ask Mayor Walmsley made a suitable reply thanking the aldermen for their kind words. Present at the meeting were the following: Mayor Walmsley, Aldermen, LaRocks, Doyle, Collins, Wills, Campion, Luscombe, Harris, Mackie, Chisholm, McDowell, Johnson, Hay, Panter and Lattimer.

50 YEARS AGO

Dec. 31st, 1886.

Happy New Year.

Services will be held in the Anglican Churches here tomorrow.

The new windows are being placed in Bridge Street Methodist Church.

Hardware merchants are selling many skates and the rinks are well patronized.

Mr. James Ceddis of Saginaw City, Mich., is home for the holidays and is visiting the scenes of his boyhood.

Watch night services will be held tonight at St. Michael's Church, Christ Church, Bridge Street Church and Holloway Street Church.

Lansdowne skating rink at the corner of Queen and Albert Sts. will be open tomorrow afternoon and evening. The rink is brilliantly lighted and there are warm rooms in which to rest. Admission 10 cents and 15 cents. Come and have a good time. (Advt.)

1936 PASSES QUIETLY AWAY

1937 ENTERS ROBUSTLY

Our firm offers its gratitude for business done, and the pleasure of serving this community.

WE WISH EVERYONE

Bigger and Better 1937

The New Percival Furniture Co.

302 Front St. BELLEVILLE Phone 2205

SHIRLEY TEAMS WITH "POP" TIME TO SAY HELLO TO 1937

Another year ends at midnight, and Shirley Temple was chosen to strike twelve. Yes, it's past her bed time, but then New Year's eve is a special occasion. —Central Press Canadian Photo.

At the first SNIFFLE
Quick! Use this specialized Vicks aid for nose and upper throat, where most colds start. Helps prevent colds.
VICKS VA-TRO-NOL

Personals

Miss Catherine Whalen, Reg. N. of St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto, spent Christmas with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Whalen.

Sergeant Harry Thompson of the Oshawa Provincial Police left today for Kingston to enter the Military Hospital for examination.

Misses Evelyn and Jean Thompson have returned to Toronto after spending the Christmas holidays with Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Davison, Foster Avenue.

Mr. Ralph Champagne, who has been spending the Christmas holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Champagne, Front Road, has returned to Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus and Miss Ella Mcclung have returned to Kingston after spending the Christmas holidays with Mr. and Mrs. F. A. McClung, and Mrs. McGinnis.

Miss Betty Davison, Reg. N. of Toronto, is spending the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Davison, Foster Avenue.

Miss Way, of Oshawa is visiting at Mrs. Gibson's, 34 Hillcrest Road.

Dr. Charles A. Sankey, Ph. D., St. Catharines, is spending a holiday week-end with Col. and Mrs. W. H. Fenton.

Messrs. Jos Resnick of Rochester, Frank Sparks, Belleville, Joe Nash of Berlin, spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Shannon, Bridge, Leslie.

Miss Bella Matthews of Toronto is spending a few days in town and is staying at Hotel Quinte.

Miss Miss Rita and Muriel Hodgson of Rochester, N.Y., and Miss Mary Hodgson of Kingston spent Christmas with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Shannon, Leslie.

Holiday guests of Mrs. C. B. Standley, Belleville, Ont., Bridge St., Mrs. F. J. Cannill of Edmonton; Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Morrison, Helen and Jean, of Windsor; Mrs. and Mrs. John Morrison of Sarnia; Miss Marjorie Beamish, city of Kingston, and Mr. Max Watters, of Toronto.

Thirty-five tables of euchre were in progress at the Moose Auditorium last night, under the auspices of the Ladies' first, Hazel Hammett; second, Mrs. D. Bowen; third, Geo. Aldine Hilton; fourth, Phyllis Bevad; fifth, Mrs. Bert Bean; lone hand first, Mr. Soderberg; second, Mrs. Smith; third, John Goodchild; fourth, Mrs. Bert Bean; fifth, Mr. Soderberg. The door prizes were won by Mrs. Hazel Hammett and Roy Goodcan. The Commodores played for dancing.

Roses Do Bloom On Christmas Eve

Belleville, December 31st 1936

The Editor Ontario Intelligencer,
Dear Sir,

In your last week's paper there were several articles printed about "Christmas Legends" one of which spoke of roses blooming on Christmas Eve. I believe, I only planned through it at the time laying it aside for perusal at leisure but I have mislaid it, I think it was Tuesday's issue, but I'm not sure.

I thought it would interest you to know that I can produce an actual eyewitness to such a sight living in this city. Over 30 years ago when I was a little girl we lived in a place called Inthora on the borders of Portland and Wards, noted for its old historic abbey. There were many old legends connected with the place, one in particular about the old Christmas night which I believe is Jan. 5th. Nevertheless I have always scorned at midnight.

My sceptic views with several others scoffing the idea but going for the fun, they carried lanterns as they had to go through dark woods to an old farm house where the tree was and gave enough time to reach the tree without a leaf or bug on it and as the hour of midnight chimed (Shelare it or not) the tree burst in to blossom. My mother said the child was dead, her spine and other frail she could not get away fast enough from the awe-inspiring sight, but before leaving she picked 3 sprays of the tree and brought home for us to see. As I write this if I can see again the 3 sprays with the little pink blossoms and feel again the awe and reverence with which we regarded them. My mother and older sister and brothers will remember this and vouch for the truth.

Mrs. John McGuire,
241 George St.

Sammy Is Saved

By DOROTHY DOUGLAS

Perhaps if the waters of the river had not seemed so wet and unbodily cold and the prospect of immediate rescue so remote Sammy might have considered jumping in—so gloomy was his mental state.

"No," decided Sammy, "I don't fancy foundering about in there and probably ruining the works of my watch." And with considerable action for his watch came the memory of the false bill he had given to him. He felt sick.

Her fleeting with another and much richer man on the evening of Saturday last was a part of the reason for Sammy's gloom. The other reason was that he had lost his very promising position because he was wanted in for a robbery.

And if Sammy had not been so depressed and gazing into the very depths of the earth, he would not have seen the small, dainty leaved pamphlet that some one must have dropped while strolling along the river side.

Sammy picked it up absently and then because any small trifle would have interested his weakened mental condition, he turned the pages as he walked along.

Then he read the words on one page that were destined to lead him to worlds of success and opulence, a longing to jump into cold rivers.

"The mental attitude we take toward anything determines to a greater or less degree the effect upon us." was what Sammy read and somehow it sank—deep into his brain. The false bill, the loss of all those many helpful ones by Trine but Sammy read no more for the sudden thought that came to him in argument with himself and knew that the depressing thoughts had been—knocked out at the first round.

"I'll like to see any girl or any blooming position either make me jump into that cold water." And in such a mental weakness to let things like that trouble a healthy mind. I was just a poor simpering fish. A true eclipse of a man for giving that girl, who was after money, a passing thought—fine wife she'd be if a fellow lost his coin. And as for the position, there are plenty more for an able man and I'm that all right."

It was in this state of renewed good comradeship with the world that he began to look for employ.

Nothing happening that could possibly form an excuse for speaking to Sammy was found to be the girl pass him.

Then for the second time within a quarter of an hour, Sammy called himself a poor fish, a book and every other name he could think of to soften the condition of the brain.

It was of course her book that he had picked up, but he was not then returning to retrace her steps in a second attempt to find it.

So when she drew near again Sammy held the small book well up in front of his eyes, seemingly deeply engrossed in its contents, but wondering, with swifter beating heart, what the girl would do. Would take to recover her treasure.

"Oh," she exclaimed suddenly and quite frankly when she saw her book in a stranger's hands. "That is my book you have. I lost it not fifteen minutes ago and have searched everywhere for it."

Sammy looked back at her and did a lot of quick thinking. "If I give it back to her now," ran in his thoughts, "that will be the end of the story and perhaps the end of my career—it will be thoughts of this we never again." But he said to her, "Is there any name in the book or which you can identify it?"

"Of course, my name is to it. Just look and see. Mary Elwood, 21 Green Lane."

Then I think it would be very much nicer, indeed, if I were to call around at 23 Green Lane and thank you for this afternoon and return your property. I have much to say or one to read such thoughtful stuff as this, in fact—" continued Sammy feeling that his discourse was not exactly averse to his idea, "I would like to tell her that one passage in this book has probably saved my life."

"No!" cried the fair one with pity in her lovely eyes.

"Yes," said Sammy, "but now I feel as if I could conquer the world. That is, I've added a bit consciously, "if I might be allowed to return this book in the afternoon. I have to jog into town now to get a crackerjack good position and I will need its helpful suggestions to show me the way."

"Oh," cried Mary delighted, "it is all too wonderful and I hope you will accomplish your ideals. Yes, she added softly with the twin of that other blush, "I would love to have my book returned this afternoon."

"Then there is no more about my ideals being realized," said Sammy and while their material bodies moved in different directions their souls certainly strolled along the river bank together.

MINTO

Minto—Miss Helen Clements of Toronto, is spending the holiday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Clements.

Miss Evelyn Cook is spending this week in Madoc, with her sister, Mrs. Kenneth Baldwin.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Hagerman entertained to tea on Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. P. Jeffrey and Bobby, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jeffrey and Helen.

Sympathy of the community is extended to Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Tucker and family in their sad bereavement.

Mr. and Mrs. George McMaster entertained on Christmas, Mr. and Mrs. Will Brown and Glen and Mrs. W. T. Brown of Madoc, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Bristol, Mr. Fred Cook and family, Mr. Eric Coppelle and Mr. and Mrs. Ken Bristol.

Miss Bessie Stout of Belleville, spent a few days this week with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stout.

Miss Lillie Wood of Melrose, is spending a few days with her aunt, Mrs. Percy Elliott.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dunkley took tea on Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dunkley.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Warren of Kingston spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Will Wright.

Mrs. Richard Clements and family spent Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Mumby.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Nickle and family of Malone, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. George McBride, Bridge St.

Miss Lela Johnston is visiting her cousin, Miss Edna Thrasher.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray Roys spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dunkley.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Donahue and boys were Christmas guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Donahue.

The Young People's Union held their reorganization meeting on Tuesday evening. The following people were elected—

President—Mrs. Pritchard—Rev. Mr. Lackey.

President—Ivan Sales.

Vice President—Lorne Hagerman.

Secretary—Annis Johnston.

Treasurer—Muriel Sine.

Literary Convener—Cecily Shea, assistant, Mrs. Albert Tweedy.

Missionary Convener—Miss Clemens, assistant, Laura Wright.

Literary Convener—Ida Vance, assistant, Ruth Coppelle.

Citizenship Convener—Ethel Hagerman, assistant, Bert McMaster.

Recreation Convener—Edna McMaster.

Press—Lela Johnston, assistant, Laura Wright.

Flower Committee—Evelyn Cook.

Auditors—Murray Johnston and Thomas Clements.

2ND THURLOW

2nd. Thurlow, Dec. 31—Mr. and Mrs. Ross Mitchell spent Christmas Day afternoon and evening with Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Mitchell.

Mrs. D. Aikins is spending a few days with her mother, Mrs. Barnhart, Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Milne spent Christmas with their daughter, Mrs. A. Prichard, Belleville.

Miss Irene Robinson spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Monerief, Omemee.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Mitchell and family spent Christmas with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gummer, Stirling.

Mr. Wm. Hanley is spending his holidays at his home, Read.

Miss Doris Aikins spent a few days with her aunt Mrs. Wm. A. Farley, Belleville.

Miss Laura Keene spent a few days with her friend, Miss Ruth McClelland.

Mr. Don Bowers has purchased a new radio for his home.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Milne and Mary, spent Christmas at Belleville with the latter's sister, Mrs. Chapelle.

Mrs. A. Barnum, Myrtle and Eugene and Miss M. Fargey spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. D. Aikins.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Keene spent Thursday afternoon and evening with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Holmes.

Mr. and Mrs. John Donaldson and family spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. A. Clare.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Mitchell and Carmel spent Christmas with the latter's sister, Mrs. Moncrief of Omemee. Mrs. Mitchell is remaining for a week.

Mr. Wm. Bennett spent Christmas with his son Mr. W. Bennett.

Miss Alice Cross spent a few days at Christmas with her parents at Delora.

Mr. and Mrs. McCabe and baby and Mr. Jones spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Keene.

Mr. Wm. Bennett took tea on Christmas evening with Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Aikins.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Haight and Lorraine spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. G. Chambers.

Mrs. Hutchinson spent a few days with her daughter Mrs. S. Grills over the Christmas holiday.

Mrs. E. Whalen, Toronto, spent Christmas with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. Whalen.

Miss Haggerty who had her tonsils removed in Kingston last week is able to be around again.

Miss Mary Hamilton has returned home after spending for the past two or three weeks with Miss P. Doctor who has very much improved.

Miss Haggerty and Miss P. Doctor spent Christmas day with the latter's brother, Mr. Bert Doctor.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Grills entertained Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Grills and Mr. and Mrs. W. Grills and family, Mr. and Mrs. A. Houston and Bertha, Mr. and Mrs. H. Towns-end, Mr. E. Huffman and Verna, Mr. and Mrs. Carman Clapp and Mr. and Mrs. W. Grills and family on Christmas day.

Judith Barrett and William Hall, featured in the romantic drama "Flying Hostess" starting New Year's Eve at the Capitol Theatre with Rod Hil "Make Way For a Lady".

Sunshine C.G.I.T. Group Presents Doll Show at Tabernacle Church

Marionettes Made by Girls Delight Interested Audience

Treasured dolls and toys left the shelter of their owners' homes yesterday to join in the annual Doll Show held by the Sunshine C.G.I.T. group, Tabernacle Church, under the leadership of Miss Marjorie Naylor. The show had an added feature, a marionette entertainment arranged by the girls under Miss Naylor's direction.

Seventy-three dolls made up the doll show and they were engaging examples of the designers' art. To stimulate interest in the exhibit, prizes were given for various entries including hand-made dolls' clothes and homemade toys. These were won as follows:

Character Doll—1st, Red Cross Nurse—Shirley Taylor; 2nd, Shirley Temple dollar—Joan Rymer.

Dolls' Wardrobe—Wylma Clarke.

Baby Doll—1st, Penelope Ayling; 2nd, Shirley Mook; 3rd, Irene Singer.

Doll Dressed by Girl over 12—Phyllis Barlow.

Best Dressed Doll—1st, Judith Collins, Trenton; 2nd, Jean Wannamaker.

Knitted Doll—Wilma Clarke.

Negro Dolls—1st, Phyllis Clapp; 2nd, Phyllis Clapp.

Biggest Doll in Show—Special prize—Phyllis Clapp.

Mercedes Model—1st, Teddy Wells; 2nd, George Wormwood.

Toys—1st, Teddy Wells; second, Clark Jones.

A midget doll house made by the girls a few years ago, and now the property of Lauraine Lewis, was greatly admired, as were the animals in the toys' exhibit, the fascinating collection of doll furniture and the Palace model.

After the visitors had viewed the dolls arranged in the church pavilions which were bright with Yuletide decorations, the Marionette performance was given.

The stage was designed and built by Miss Naylor and the Marionettes used in the little play were made by her. After having taught the girls to manipulate the Marionettes she showed them how to make the dolls and the result was a splendid collection of puppets. The heads of the dolls are modelled by the girls and the costume details are also the product of their resourcefulness.

Included in the Marionette show had a very professional air, with special lighting effects, a wardrobe in which the dolls are carefully hung to avoid the dread of puppeteers, wire-tangling.

The story of the Princess and the Swineherd was charmingly told by the Marionettes and the beautifully designed and executed dolls proved satisfying to the audience's conception of the characters in this fairy-tale-play tale. When all had ended happily individual bows were given by the Marionettes.

For the play the puppeteers and those giving the dialogue were as follows:

Mary Redfern—Princess (voice—Jean Wannamaker).

Gertrude Poste—Swineherd (voice—Ruth Coppelle).

Irene Michaud—Messenger (voice—Jean Wannamaker).

Dorothy Wenaas—First Maid in Waiting (voice—Jean Redfern).

Bernice Milne—Second Maid in Waiting (voice—Helen Weddon).

Betty Redfern—Emperor (voice—Ruth Balmer).

Clowns, dancers, Santa Claus, a little girl marionette and a beautiful fox dancer comprised the second part of the show. The clowns were made and operated by Mary Redfern and Irene Michaud.

Dancers—Helen Weddon and Betty Redfern.

Fox Dancer—Gertrude Poste.

Santa Claus—Marion James.

Reader—Catherine Bateman.

Belle
Home of Perfect Talkies
GREETINGS
MAY:
—the New Year bring to you and yours Health, Contentment, and Prosperity in an unlimited measure.
—it be a year during which your greatest desires will find expression in realities.
—it continue to afford us the opportunity to serve you in that same manner which has given us real pleasure in the past.
1937
A Happy New Year To All

The Good Gift

By ALICE ROUNDY

Autocue Morris young, well-born, wealthy, prettily blonde and extremely conventional, sat on a tuft of Buffalo grass grazing over the broad Montana plains. She was awaiting the coming of Eric Willoughby, a young ranchman of English descent, who was the only man in the world who dared to shorten her distinguished name to Nora. He had requested her to await him here in the shade of a wind-mill not far from the ranch-house. From his manner she believed that he was going to ask her to marry him. This she must do impossibly for because she was the only and adored child of one of the richest men in Billings. Her mother had long planned for her a brilliant marriage.

"But this is everything in life if one allows it to be," replied Autocue, dogmatically. "We are chained to convention."

"I have been interested in you since you were a little girl and have told me about you and said that he was going back to rescue you," Willoughby answered at his characteristic. "He said that you were like a flower blooming in the wild Arabian desert. The whole of you enchanted me. I was disgusted with your parents' prejudices and fears and culture. And unless you could be free, Miss Morris, you have no life of your own."

"Thoroughly Western point of view!" murmured Autocue, haughtily.

"Since you came," he continued, relentlessly, "I have seen that he was right about you."

At the sangfr of his words, his self-control broke. The mask slowly fell, the lizard skin crack from top to bottom.

"You cannot understand," she remarked plaintively, "why a man who loves me properly should put himself so disagreeable."

"I am not proposing to you," asserted Eric, sharply.

"Certainly you are. And the answer is very decidedly—No."

He smiled acridly.

"At least you have wire." he said, "and I sometimes have doubted that I do not. Why I have ever truly let my thoughts at present are occupied by a very different type of woman. Why I should ever fall for a safe, superbly dark—I prefer brunettes."

Since he loathed poetry, Autocue began to quote from a poem as Greek as the hills.

Eric, as if stung unendurably, sprang to his feet. He would not be tighten Polimino's cinch.

Eric saw that the horse's head and threw himself into the saddle. Surprised, Polimino reared to his full 18 hands and, terrified by his flesh, Eric sat like a rock, fearless as perfect control. Then, tired of her breath, Autocue thought him the handsomest, beautiful man.

The horse's feet once more on earth, Eric said fiercely, with a smile that was a command, unless little hands!

"A rancheman's wife must be up at dawn and put in a fourteen hour day. She must work, tenderly, tender her many children, mend them, feed the dogs and serve every stranger who comes to the house."

Then, with a lift of the rein and a touch of the spur, he sent Polimino forward in a swift gallop.

Autocue, Hilda Morris and Allan, returned so the house to find Mrs. Kinnear there. A middle-aged prosperous ranchman, with peculiarly steady eyes, he was returning from labor on the wide plains in a comfortable chair and watching a distant scene, his head thrown back, silver, pounding up straying cattle, as did Mrs. Kinnear, interested in a small airplane, surveying fences. His Mexican wife, not older than his host daughter, was observing in silence with him slavishly.

Sitting on his hair beside him, Autocue said soberly:

"Uncle Johnson, I want Aunty Pepita to teach me to cook and scrub, and feed the dogs and—and"

Her self-control failed in her perfect understanding.

"You mustn't mind anything that Eric says at present," he said, sociologly, "and I suggest that you put up by such ideals which you represent because they are like those which I had when I was about the first came out here. But he seems to have a new ideal in his whole life and he has been in danger of marrying at a low level" (with a flitting look at Mrs. Kinnear's wife). "But if he has begun to quarrel with you, he is over. You must remember that this is the West where—"

"I know, interrupted Autocue, impatiently. "But I prefer gentlemen, kind and courteous to my father, and I am going straight back there when I leave here."

Her uncle, with a kindly smile, left the matter with her.

And presently she was smiling at her contradictory self. She in her heart of heart's she knew that sooner or later, when he had won the right over himself, Eric would come back to her bearing the good gift. Meanwhile, she must make herself worthy of it and prepare for the time when she should be not Autocue but Mona.

CHARS
MODEL JE
A step-in model for the woman of slender proportions. Features special bandeau treatment, collapsible in side and front. Low-cut back. Wide, elastic panels at sides.
To all friends and Associates of this last year, a most Happy and Prosperous New Year and continued good luck for 1937.
may shorey bunnett
Belleville.
Kresge Bldg. (Upstairs)

PHILLIPSTON

Phillipston—Mr. Thomas Morrean left on Saturday for Toronto where he intends to spend the winter.

The Sunday School and Public School concert was held on Dec. 21 in the church. There was a splendid program which was enjoyed by a good attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Robson and family, Mrs. R. Hodgson and Mr. Clifford Hodgson of Leslie, spent Christmas Day with Mr. and Mrs. Wallington Phillips.

Mr. and Mrs. Earle Sayers spent Christmas with the latter's father, Mr. Jack Burnside and family of Madoc.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ketcheson and Ida and Mr. and Mrs. W. Carter and Doreen spent Christmas Day with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Carter of Trenton.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Davis, Melrose, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Morrow, Mr. and Mrs. Rollins, Joan and Fay and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Marshall, Joan and Arthur of Plainfield and Mr. and Mrs. Melbourne Ackerman of Consecon were guests on Wednesday of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Marshall.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ketcheson accompanied by the latter's sister, Mrs. R. Bishop of Belleville, Mr. Belleville, spent Christmas day with their parents Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Lidstone, Trenton.

Christmas day guests at the home of Mr. Blake Ellis were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sills and Mr. and Mrs. Clare Sills and family of Sidney Thurlow.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Chapman of Trenton spent the week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Bean and Mrs. L. Robson.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Robson and Douglas spent Christmas day with the latter's uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Reid of Stirling.

Miss Edith Sayers of Belleville is the guest of her sister Mrs. J. F. Ketcheson on Christmas day.

Mr. and Mrs. Burton Foster, Miss Ira, Mrs. Floyd White and Mr. and Mrs. W. Pearsall were dinner guests on Boxing Day of Mrs. George Dingwall on Christmas day.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Casey, Bryant and Willis spent Christmas with the former's sister Mr. and Mrs. H. Bedgley on Isle of Bidney.

Mrs. Fred Davis, Melrose, spent Christmas with her daughter Mrs. Earle Sayers.

Mr. and Mrs. Gean Marshall and Ross spent Sunday at Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Marshall's.

MELVILLE

Melville—Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Morton and Mrs. James Morton spent Christmas Day with Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Anderson, Belleville.

Christmas Guests

Mr. Jas. Wickson with Mr. and Mrs. Clark and Mr. and Mrs. E. Martin, Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Carley and Dorothy and Clarence with Mr. and Mrs. B. Hough, Bury's.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Root and boys with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Beoway, third concession.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Palmer, Douglas and Howard and Mr. Jas. Cane at Consecon.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Morton, Isabel Jean and Hilda and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Walbridge, Huff's Island.

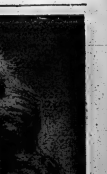
Mr. and Mrs. Obas. Kinnear, Howard and Gladys Ann and Mr. J. Morton with Mr. and Mrs Milton Wood, Ameliasburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Colin Hardy, Sybil and Billy and Mr. and Mrs. E. Mahood.

Mr. and Mrs. Warner Wood were at home on Christmas Day to a party of thirty. A very enjoyable time was spent.

Rev. R. A. McRae is confined to his bed at the time of writing. His many friends hope for a speedy recovery.

The funeral of Mr. W. E. Davidson was held at Melville Church on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. W. E. Davidson, who passed away suddenly on Thursday morning was buried on Saturday afternoon. Interment was made at Wellington.



I.D.A. Bronchial SYRUP
QUICKLY EFFECTIVE FOR STUBBORN COUGHS
Large 8-oz. 49c
Bottle
at
I. D. A. Drug Stores

Chicago - Montreal Train Derailed

Perry, Mich., Dec. 31 (AP)—The train crew and 97 passengers escaped injury this morning when the locomotive and six baggage, mail and express cars of a Grand Trunk Chicago-Montreal passenger train were derailed here. Nearly 1,000 feet of track was torn up. Two passenger coaches and seven sleepers remained on the rails.

Railroad officials said a pin on a drive wheel became loose, dropping a driving arm down to rip the rails from the tracks. The right-of-way was blocked for several hours.

Sidewalk Secrets
by "babette"
"Wonder if Langley's can re-lace a seasonal instrument?"

Lovely Myrna Loy, re-starred wit h William Powell, Jean Harlow and Cary Grant in "Libeled Lady" coming to the Belle tomorrow, Mon Kee's Tea Jy

Happy New Year

LIPSON'S FURNITURE HOUSE

"THE HOUSE OF QUALITY"

Nommations for Reeve And Councillors at Tweed

Tweed—Nominations for Reeve and four Councillors for the village of Tweed for the year 1937, were held on Monday evening, December 28th. At 8.00, Clerk C. D. Morden declared the hour for nominations closed and read the following list of candidates for the respective offices.

For Reeve—W. H. Sayers, Rd. Way, E. Myles and A. C. Blakely.

For Council—Rd. Way, E. Myles, J. W. Kingston, Jas. Kling, Jos Fobert, R. A. Grier, S. A. McCamey, J. L. Mearon, Dr. Wm. St. Paul.

For Public Utilities Commissioner—C. H. Kerr, S. B. Rollins, A. J. Moynes.

The Township Hall was crowded with ratepayers interested in municipal affairs gathered to receive from Reeve Sayers and his Council an account of the past year's business.

Clerk Morden, possibly anticipating the storm which came later, asked that the spirit of British fair play prevail and then noted that often in the past public men had been the target for abuse from some of the audience, who did not see eye to eye with them in their every day walks of life, and asked that each be given an opportunity to present his report and at the conclusion to answer any questions which might be put to him.

W. S. Gordon, chairman of the Parks Commission, presented a financial statement of operations during the year. Gross revenue from dances totalled $1,077.78 with a net profit of $386.71. Other receipts brought the total to $634.20 (including the dance). During the year $100 had been paid on the note owing to the bank, leaving an unpaid balance of $750 of an original $900.

Mr. Gordon recommended that pamphlets, setting forth the advantages of Tweed and district as a tourist resort, should be printed and circulated on the American side as well as in the province of Ontario. On this matter Clerk Morden also spoke, up to the Council and the Community Club.

T. M. Reilly, Chairman of the High School Board gave the financial report. Receipts totalled $18,970.42 and expenditures $18,-078.64, leaving a balance of $891.78. In 1936 the High School debenture payments will be completed, resulting in a reduction in the tax rate of five mills. This will result in a corresponding reduction in legislative grant which is based on the mill rate. Mr. Beatty spoke of the great need for an auditorium and gymnasium at the High School as anyone who attended the Commencement exercises can readily appreciate. He also stated that the drinking water at the school had been condemned as unsuitable and that some steps must be taken to provide a suitable supply. A similar fact was given concerning conditions at the Consolidated School. No epidemic of sickness had broken out but no one knew when it might do so.

W. H. Kerr, Chairman of the Public Utilities Commission, gave a report on Hydro, which he termed the town's greatest asset. The extra twelve debentures had been paid, leaving eight still outstanding. At the present rate of retiring these debentures, the payments would be completed by 1940. During the year reconstruction of a large part of the line from Queen Street to Tribute was paid to the efficiency of Hydro Manager, Mr. Way. Questions regarding reduction of rates brought the information that the local Commission had absolutely no authority regarding the setting of rates, being nothing more than a "rubber stamp" for the O.H.E.P.C.

W. H. Sayers, reeve for the past five years, and again nominated for the office, spoke on the wonderful existing among the members of the Council during the year. Relief payments had totalled $1,880.18 of which the province had paid two-thirds. Explaining the honorarium paid to the Reeve and Councillors, Reeve Sayers drew attention to the extra amount of work done by the Council during the year for which they felt it was only just they should receive some recognition. He spoke of the permanent resurfacing of two of the side streets of the village paid for with the annual grant received in advance in a lump sum from the County. No further grant will be received until one-half of the cost ($6,000) is repaid. The debenture debt for 1931 totalled $152,416.37. It has been reduced to $113,397.97. Of this balance $52,000 is self-sustaining—the Hydro and Waterworks receipts being more than sufficient to pay debentures taxed for—them.

The High School debentures will be retired in 1939. Up to 1940, the Consolidated School in 1941, the sidewalk in 1942, the waterworks in 1943 and the sewer in 1946. In 1940 by-law will show a big reduction in the mill rate.

Reeve Sayers explained that it was hoped to pay off relief debts even a higher wage than 30 cents an hour without raising the tax rate which is as high as the taxpayers can afford to pay. Referring to Clause 9 of the estimates for next year the Reeve said that he had been urged by many ratepayers to run for office for 1937 and that he had decided to do so, although he would like very much to retire. Several brief exchanges took place between Reeve Sayers and ex-Reeve S. B. Rollins during this report.

A. C. Blakely, also a nominee for the township was not present.

C. H. Kay, Councillor, and nominee for township signified his intention to run for the office of councillor. He spoke of the extension of the waterworks across the river, for which no debentures had been issued. It was carried as a capital expenditure, payment being made at the rate of $100 a month, the last payment falling due in December, 1937.

E. Myles, also nominated for both offices said that there had been steady improvement in the appearance of the village in the past few years, streets, sidewalks, new Hydro, waterworks, schools, churches, had all contributed much towards making Tweed a very desirable place in which to live. During the past year, Gordon Steel Works, J. Rathbone and P. Rathbone and Tweed Creamery had all experienced a marked revival of business. He named having the best year in his history. These all indicated that normal good times are returning. Special tribute was paid to Reeve Sayers who is "a whole-hearted hardworker" who had guided the affairs of the village through five years of the most serious conditions through which the country had ever passed. For this he deserved the hearty commendation of every taxpayer.

Napoleon King, Councillor for 1936, while glad of the experience obtained stated that he was seeking re-election.

J. W. Kingston, Councillor for several years, said that he would again be a candidate, and would always keep uppermost the best interests of the ratepayers.

Joe Fobert, S. A. McCamey and J. L. McGrevey were not present when called on. R. A. Grier asked for the support of the ratepayers should he decide to run for the Council.

Dr. W. A. Paul said that he was not a candidate for municipal honours. He felt that he should express his confidence in the council for 1936 by withdrawing his name; and that he could better serve the village by forwarding the aims of the Community Club, the Fish and Game Association and the Horticultural Society, all of which he was keenly interested.

A. J. Maynes, nominated for Public Utilities Commission, was absent.

Ex-Warden S. B. Rollins said that he was not satisfied with the class of pavement which had been constructed on Metcalfe and Church borne streets during the past year by the County. Mason and Stirling have vastly better main streets than Tweed, which according to the equalized assessment pays into the County annually $1,833 more than Stirling and $1,000 more than Madoc. Yet the streets of these places are better than ours. Councillor Way drew attention to the fact that the main street of Tweed is a provincial highway and in the course of time would be paved by the Department of Highways. Criticism of the activities of the Council for the past five years referred by the Ex-Warden drew spirited replies from Reeve Sayers and the Councillors with the audience joining in the hot debate. It was necessary for Clerk Morton to rap for order several times particularly when ex-Warden Rollins in the heat of the argument hurled the epithet "liar" at Reeve Sayers. A certain element of the crowd enjoyed this flare-up which unfortunately has become almost an annual occurrence, but others expressed their disapproval by walking out before the meeting was conducted.

Finally order was restored and the crowd dispersed.

MADOC

Madoc—Miss Morrigon spent a few days in Toronto this week.

Mr. Jack Pallis spent the week end at his home in Peterboro.

Miss Helen Ladbrook of Peterboro is spending a few days visiting Mrs. R. Fair and Mrs. T. Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Thurlow and little son of Belton are spending the holidays with Mrs. Barker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Boonhorn.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Murson of Pickering are visiting Mrs. Murson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McGhee.

Dr. and Mrs. W. Mackintosh of Kingston spent a few days with Mrs. William Mackintosh.

Charlie Hill of Toronto spent Sunday with his father, J. Hill.

Mr. Walter Rupert of Montreal spent a few days in Madoc visiting his mother Mrs. Jennie Rupert.

Miss Helen Whytock is visiting friends in Harmony.

Mrs. Cadman of Holloway is visiting Mr. Bert Connor and Miss Lillian Connor.

Mr. Archie Ashley and little son John of Wathy are spending a few days with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Ashley.

Mr. Carl Smith of Hamilton is visiting his parents Mr. and Mrs. John Smith.

Miss L. Hart of Belleville is spending the holidays at her home Madoc.

Miss McDermid is spending a few days at her home, Marlintown.

Mrs. E. West is visiting her daughter Mrs. Frazer Hall, Cow Bay, Peterboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Johnson spent the week end in Oshawa.

WALKER STORES, LIMITED

SATURDAY is CLEAN-UP DAY

Monday, January 4th is our Annual Inventory Day and we must radically reduce our stock by this Saturday night. To accomplish this, every department in the store will have super-values, Odd Lines, Slightly Soiled and Broken Lines of Fall and Winter Merchandise. And in almost every case the prices will be about

½ Regular Prices

Men's Wear, Women's Wear, Children's Wear, Yard Goods, Etc. and a Large Table of Remnants at Half Price.

Values that are Almost Unbelievable

ESPECIALLY NOTE—
ALL WOMEN'S WINTER COATS Regular Values to 29.50 ..... 12.00

WALKER STORES, LIMITED

Rat Hunt is Ended Up Hunter's Back

McGrath, Minn., Dec. 31 (CP)—The rat hunt of Jerome figuratively got under his skin literally get next to it before John Garrity Jr. caught the rodent.

Garrity valued neat traps and poison bait to entice the rat in his store. Then he "finished" it while in the basement. In the hole he made he burrowed under his skin and killed the rat in his back. Friends came to Garrity's assistance, belaboring him with boards. The rat was connected and the cadaver was over.

Thomasburg and District

Thomasburg—A large congregation attended the Christmas Festival service in Anglican Church at 9 a. m. on Christmas morning, when there was a celebration of the Holy Communion by the Rector, Rev. F. G. Scarlett. In this service the rector made a very brief address wishing his parishioners a happy Christmas season. The interior of the Church had been nicely decorated by the ladies for the occasion.

School closed on Tuesday for the Christmas holidays. During the afternoon a party was enjoyed and the distribution of gifts.

A number from here attended the funeral of the late Mrs. Wesley Morton at Mohr on Wednesday afternoon. The sympathy of a wide circle of friends is extended to Mrs. Morton and family in their bereavement.

Mrs. D. Elliott is a holiday guest at the home of her son and daughter, Elliott and family at Napanee.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Carleton, Misses Florence and Mildred Maynes of Stirling were Christmas Day guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Maynes.

Mr. Emerald Cass of Guelph Agricultural College is spending the Christmas holidays at the home of his mother Mrs. M. Cass.

Mr. F. Franklin is home from Christmas visit at his home in Picton.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Carter, and Mr. Russell Carter of Ottawa were guests on Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Ketchison of Tweed.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Elliott are Christmas holiday guests at the home of the latter's parents Mr. and Mrs. F. Overend at Napanee.

Mr. and Mrs. H. McTaggart and Miss Mabel McTaggart and Mr. Wallace McTaggart of Tweed and Mr. and Mrs. Percy McTaggart and boys were guests on Christmas Day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willard McTaggart.

Miss Myrtle Walker of Frankford is spending this week with her parents Mr. and Mrs. George Walker.

Mrs. Laura Prentice and friends of Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Southworth and Miss Mary of Belleville and Mr. and Mrs. Grandy Burley of Roslin were Christmas guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Harding.

Mr. Ernest Carter of Ottawa was a Christmas holiday guest at his home here.

Miss Irene Hall of Latta is spending the Christmas holidays the guest of her sister Mrs. Lewis Morton.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Fisher and family of Tweed and Mr. John Carleton were guests on Christmas Day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Carleton.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Morton spent Christmas with her parents Mr. and Mrs. R. Hall at Consecon.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Clapps and George of Sidney were Christmas Day visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Morton.

Mr. Ivan Mulberry is a holiday guest of relatives and friends in Tweed.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Beatty and children of Halifax and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Way and Bobbie of Peterboro spent Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Way.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Mullett of Moira and Mr. and Mrs. Melburn Mullett and son Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Emerson were guests on Christmas Day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Adams.

Rev. Forbes Sherry of Tweed is a Christmas Season visitor at the home of his brother Mr. William Sherry.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Priddle were guests on Christmas Day at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hicks at Carrying Place.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Harrison and daughter Gertrude, Mr. and Mrs. Blakely of Foxboro and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Blakely, Mr. Gerald and Mrs. Jas. Adams were Christmas guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Reid and Mr. J. H. Reid.

Dr. Henry Bateman of New York City, a former graduate of Queen's University are spending the Christmas holidays with their parents Mr. and Mrs. Bateman.

The Anglican Church Sunday School held their annual Christmas entertainment and tree in the Oddfellows' Hall on Tuesday evening, December 22nd with a good attendance. The Superintendent, Mrs. Bonser acted as chairman for the evening and a very interesting program was presented by the village and Consolidated School. At the close of the program, Col. Santa arrived and distributed the presents from the tree, and presentations were made to some of the teachers and pupils of the school.

On Wednesday evening, December 23rd, Thomasburg Church Sunday School presented their annual concert and tree in the Church. A very interesting program of drills, songs, recitations and a pageant was given and during the program Mr. Harry Lee, the Sunday School Superintendent and Bible Class teacher was presented with a chair. Santa Claus arrived and distributed the gifts to the youngsters and some of the older ones.

New Year CANDY SPECIALS

HOMEMADE MIXED DANDY
15c lb.
TWO POUNDS
25c

CLEARANCE of CHRISTMAS BOX
Chocolates and Creams
BEST MAKES
Reg. 50c for
40c
Reg. 75c for
65c

GUILD Restaurant
245 FRONT ST.
(Formerly Moores)

CRUISER ATTACKS SPANISH TOWN

14 Shells Pumped Into Hills Surrounding Village

Madrid, Dec. 30.—(AP)—The insurgent cruiser Velasco attacked the northern coastal port of Ojion, sending 14 shells into the Musel Hills surrounding the harbor, dispatches to the capital reported today.

Government planes took off quickly in response to the commandment. The warship left the harbor after turning machine guns on the defending ships, the report declared.

Government militiamen, meanwhile, were reported in a commonplace to have recaptured the village of Villaviciosa de la Canada in a surprise attack near Brunete, 18 miles west of Madrid.

(Reports from the insurgent high command asserted, in direct contradiction, that Socialist troops were repulsed with heavy losses in attacks both at Brunete and at Villanueva de la Canada.)

Near Aranjuez, 28 miles south of Madrid on the bank of the Tagus River, government reports said, six insurgent soldiers were killed in a clash between Fascist and Socialist troops.

The Madrid Defence Junta announced Socialist troops killed 5,000 Fascist infantrymen and drove back an insurgent column supported by four batalions of German soldiers in a southern offensive yesterday.

SCHOOL ARBITRATION BOARD

Toronto, Dec. 31 (CP)—The Secondary School Teachers' Federation of Ontario today adopted a resolution urging establishment of a board of reference to arbitrate differences between teachers and trustees.

The suggested Board would be composed of representatives of the Department of Education, the Trustees Association and the Teachers Federation.

BRITISH PLANE CRASHES

London, Dec. 31 (CP-Havas)—The crash on a Royal Air Force plane near Brackley, Northants, yesterday raised the score of serious accidents which have befallen British aviators this year to 54.

The observer in the plane, Sergt. S. J. Cover, was killed, and the pilot, Corp. Hobbs, injured.

The total of R.A.F. fliers killed this year with today's accident reached 86.

CLAIMS CANADIAN BIRTH

Detroit, Dec. 31 (CP)—Seventeen-year-old Tony Masseo, who claims he was born in London, Ontario, was confined in an immigration detention home here today after being rejected by Canadian Immigration officers at Windsor, Ontario, last night.

Canadian authorities turned Masseo over to the U.S. Immigration Department after he attempted to enter Canada.

EXPERIENCE OF CHATHAM WITH CITY MANAGER PLAN

BELLEVILLE CITY COUNCIL FOR 1936, in an effort to promote efficiency in municipal government, appointed a committee to investigate the city manager form of government which is rapidly being adopted by progressive communities in Canada and the United States. This aldermanic committee found that the city manager form of government took hold first in 1914 and has since grown in favor very rapidly. Only in the last year has considerable merit in the city manager system over the present system of municipal government the committee recommended the question be submitted to the electors at the municipal elections, and this was arranged for. Now it is up to the electors, they are satisfied with the old system they can retain it. If they think the city would profit by a change they have only to say so. To bring the city manager system into force it will be necessary, once it is approved by the electors, to have a special act passed by the legislature. The nearest place to Belleville having experienced city manager municipal government is Chatham, and this newspaper wrote the editor of the newspaper there asking for information as to the working of the system there, and here is the answer:

CHATHAM'S EXPERIENCE

"For many years prior to 1922 the City of Chatham was "investigating" the Council-Manager form of government. It started when Galveston, Texas, after a municipal disaster formed a Government by Commission. The Chatham Council had two newspapers, The News and The Planet — which have since been amalgamated into The Chatham Daily News — and both of these papers at that time were strong advocates of the Council-Manager plan. The Planet published in some months, for in those days newspapers just looked for an opportunity to get on opposite sides of the fence.

The Council-Manager system was adopted.

There has been no "experimenting" with the plan. It was put in force and has been in existence ever since — and as far as anyone knows is likely to continue.

It reduced the representation on the city council.

It provides for the election of seven aldermen and a Mayor, by popular vote (not the ward system). The aldermen are elected for two-year terms — three go to the polls one year and four the next. The original plan provided for the election of the Mayor for two-year terms, but it was found that when a Mayor was elected for two years he was apt to get "fat and lazy" and was changed to provide for the election of Mayor for one year terms. That was the only reason for the change — to get out the vote and keep alive public interest in elections.

The Council and Mayor act as a "board of directors" controlling the policy of the city government, and issuing instructions for officials.

DUTIES OF CITY MANAGER

A city manager is appointed to do the detail work of managing the city under instructions from the council. He has power to spend up to $200.00 between sessions of the council but has to give an account of how it is spent. There is merely to look after emergencies and to avoid calling the council or committees together.

The original plan calls for the elimination of council committees. Every alderman takes part in the discussion of all business. This relieves committees of a lot of work — especially the chairman — and it also helps to eliminate "local politics" from the city's business. The City Manager investigates complaints, investigates and reports on new undertakings, does all the work formerly done by committees and reports to the council. If some complaint is brought which requires immediate attention he can act and provides the remedy and reports on it later. He may if he has time discuss it over the telephone with members of the council.

The Manager is in touch with all business of the city and since the office does not change with each election is able to give the council the benefit of his experience and knowledge of the council as to what has been done, and what has to be next thing to do.

YEARLY FINANCIAL BUDGET

He also prepares the City Financial Budget at the first of the year, bringing in a detailed statement of estimated receipts and expenditures. The council passes on this and strikes the tax rate.

The City Manager appoints the City Engineer, as in Chatham at the present time.

There is also a clerk-treasurer.

The City Manager does not tax collection.

In Chatham a couple of years ago a Mayor was elected who insisted upon having a voice and vote in the City Manager's Committees, were appointed — although they are not necessary — and it hasn't affected the system much.

ENDORSED BY RATEPAYERS

In order to secure the Council-Manager system here it was necessary to have the City of Chatham Act passed by the Legislature. There was no difficulty about this. Also the idea had to be approved by the ratepayers by-law. That was the most difficult part of the job, for, as I say the newspapers of Chatham had been advocating it for years and the people were well prepared for it.

The City Manager plan guarantees expenditure attention to all details of city management. In former days if some citizen wished his sewer finished out, he telephoned the city engineer. The Engineer telephoned the Chairman of the Board of Works. The chairman probably goes around to see it, and find out if the complainant's voted for him in the last election. The chairman called his committee together for a meeting and decided to recommend the flushing of the sewer to the council. At the next meeting of the council the Chairman of the Board of Works brought in his report, recommending the work be done. The council considered the report, and the chairman of the board of works got in touch with the Engineer and authorized him to do the flushing with the result that still the red tape was going on the ratepayer's cellar was probably flooded with water. Now he calls up the City Manager and the Manager sends a man around to flush the sewer and the thing is done.

This is only one instance to show the efficiency of the plan. One could write for days on it, and then not be finished. The big asset is that we have a City Manager who is in close first-hand touch with the city's business every minute of the day. He can also act as Industrial Commissioner. That was the city Hall as business instead of a political institution.

No power is taken away from the city representatives. The council still in control and directs the actions of the Manager.

AUTO FINANCE

AUTO LOANS REFINANCING

On terms and at rates which you cannot afford to overlook. Repayments to suit your convenience. Your car is a good security—why not borrow from us and save? Let us help you financially on the occasion of the 10th Anniversary of the firm.

HAIG BROS. LTD.
180 FRONT STREET
BELLEVILLE

CAMPBELL AUTO
FINANCE CO. LTD.

DENTIST

DR. ROBT. H. EMPSON
DENTIST
Phone 42 X-Ray 894 Front St. 17-tfn

LAND SURVEYOR

FRASER AYLESWORTH
Ontario Land Surveyor and Registered Professional Civil Engineer. Land surveys, municipal drainage, roads and property adjustments.
PHONE 6 or BOX 6
MADOC, ONT.

STOCKS & BONDS

HODGAR AND CRAWFORD, MEMBERS of Toronto Stock Exchange, Phone 1726, 37 W. 10th, Brantford. 22-1-y

Business Directory

MINERAL BATHS

The Canada Packers' Sanatorium in Mineral Bath Centre, Belleville, Ontario, is open for the treatment of Rheumatism, Arthritis, Neuritis, Sciatica, Nervous Disorders, Anaemia, and Skin Diseases. Dr. J. H. Wilson, M.D., Physician in Charge. 121 Within 24 hours.

CHIROPRACTOR

B. A. WYATT, D.C., CHIROPRACTOR
Graduate of Canadian Chiropractic College, Toronto. Consultation and examination free. Chiropractic surgery with electric and mechanical therapeutics. Office hours, corner Bridge and Victoria streets, Belleville, phone 1965W.

E. R. and VERA S. FITCHER, D.C.
Chiropractors and Drugless Therapeutists. Adjustments, Electrotherapy, Diagnosis and Treatment Without Drugs. Graduates of Canadian Chiropractic College, Toronto. Office hours 9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 5 p.m. Phone 4314. Bridge St. E., Belleville, Ont. Phone 1276.

INSURANCE

The Strength of Fire-Loss Sale its Turnover when you're protected with one Fire Insurance.

SANDY BURROWS

HOWARD FROST
LIFE AND FIRE INSURANCE
321 FRONT ST. PHONE 120

HALL & EARLE

General Insurance Agents
236 Front St. Phone 1126-w

LEGAL

ALLENSTON, CAMERON AND CO. Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, Etc. Bridge Street, Belleville. Solicitors for Bank of Montreal, Merchants Bank Building, corner Front and Bridge streets. Belleville. Ontario.

MALCOLM WRIGHT, BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, Notary Public, Etc. Office, Campbell St., Belleville.

T.T.WILLS, BARRISTER, SOLICITOR Notary Public, Etc. 13 Campbell St., Belleville, Telephone 74. Money to loan on mortgage. C5-tf

FOSTER, PAYNE AND ARNOTT, Barristers, Solicitors, etc. Solicitors for Canadian Bank of Commerce. Office, Campbell St., Belleville.

PORTER AND GRAHAM, BARRISTERS Solicitors, Notaries Public, Commissioners, Conveyancers, etc. Solicitors for Bank of Montreal. Money to loan. Office, Campbell St., Belleville. Ont. Phone 28.

DONNAN AND BUTLER, B. O. Donnan, K.C., S. G. Butler, Barristers, Solicitors, etc. Notaries Public and Conveyancers. Solicitors for Dominion Trust building, Belleville, Ont. Phone 288.

WANTED

TO RENT OR BUY 10 TO 100 acres fruit land and buildings. Write stating particulars. Box "T" Ontario Intelligencer. 52-tf

EXPERIENCED SINGLE NEEDLE operators at once. Apply Deacon Shirt Company, Belleville. C30-2t

GOOD RELIABLE HOUSEKEEPER. Phone 2116W. C30-3t

FEB. 1ST, 3 OR 4 ROOM HEATED apartment; hardwood floors. Phone 2276W. C30-3t

GOOD QUALITY NORTHERN Muskrat Coat at a bargain for quick sale. Apply C. T. McMartin, 294 George St., Belleville, Ont. C30-3t

HUMI-THERMIC FURNACETTE in good condition. First ten dollars takes it. Phone 1137W. C30-3t

50 YEARLING HENS, 150 PULLETS for sale. Phone 76. J. C. Ball, R. 2, Belleville. C30-3t

FOR SALE

1931 CHEVROLET ROADSTER IN good condition; equipped with heater. Box "F" Ontario Intelligencer. C30-3t

GOOD QUALITY NORTHERN Muskrat Coat at a bargain for quick sale. Apply C. T. McMartin, 294 George St., Belleville, Ont. C30-3t

HUMI-THERMIC FURNACETTE in good condition. First ten dollars takes it. Phone 1137W. C30-3t

50 YEARLING HENS, 150 PULLETS for sale. Phone 76. J. C. Ball, R. 2, Belleville. C30-3t

TO LET

3 ROOMED APARTMENT, MODern conveniences, newly decorated, hot water service, garage. Apply 20 Catherine St. Phone 1974-w. C31-3t

HOUSE, ELECTRIC LIGHT, large garage, on No. 2 Highway, three miles from Napanee. Apply Mr. C. Potter, R. 3, Belleville. C31-3t

HALF HOUSE, 85 OCTAVIA ST. all modern conveniences, also half house, 314½ Station St. Apply R. S. Gordon, 314½ Station St. C10, 12, 13, 17, 19, 22, 24, 26, 29, 31.

SMALL FURNISHED APARTment, private entrance, very reasonable. Apply 3 Centre Street. C30-3t

DOUBLE ROOM IN COMFORTable private home, suitable for one or two students or young business men; excellent board. Phone 1965W. C30-4t

TWO ROOM HEATED AND FURnished apartment; all conveniences. Mrs. Draycott, 36 Bridge St. Phone. C30-3t

THREE ROOM APARTMENT FOR small family, private entrance and really heated, 230½ Front St. Apply 230 Front St. C28-3t

TO LET OR FOR SALE

SIX ROOM BRICK HOUSE, hardwood floors, furnace, garage. Apply: Immediate possession, 361 Bleecker Ave. Apply 21 Grove St. Phone 3214M. d16-d18

PUBLIC MEETING

A public meeting will be held in the City Hall on Friday evening, January 1st, 1937, at 8 o'clock for the purpose of nominating candidates for municipal honours the privileges of discussing municipal affairs.

J. WILFRED HOLMES,
City Clerk.
Belleville, Ont.
d30-1

PERSONAL

Women, worry won't help. Drop for all cases of menstrual disorders call. Free booklet this week at Graham's and Seldom's Drug Stores. C27-3m

MENI SEE YROSS AT OHCE and obtain new business cards without extra charge. Use coupon on Intelligencer. Only 50 cents per hundred. Call, write or phone for cards and coupon. Call, write or phone for cards and coupon. Call, write or phone for cards and coupon

RUGBY—
BOXING—WRESTLING—

SPORTS Of All SORTS

HOCKEY—
BADMINTON—
BOWLING—

O. H. A. INTERMEDIATE HOCKEY
Monday, January 4th.
8.30 p.m. Sharp
TRENTON at BELLEVILLE
DON'T MISS THE OPENING GAME.

PRICES:
Gen. Admission
32c plus tax
Reserved
45c plus tax

N.H.L. USHERS IN NEW YEAR WITH 3 GAMES

Fans May Make 'Whoopee' But Pucksters Must Tend to 'Knitting'

By A. M. Fulford, Canadian Press Writer)

National Hockey League athletic makers undoubtedly know their business but staging three games tonight seems as sensible as running a fiesta in opposition to an earthquake.

Everyone and his girl friend will be high-hatting and white-tieing it but there may be enough fans in the backwash from the gay sports to fill rinks at Montreal, Detroit and New York. They should pity the poor hockey player who must be in condition on a night like this.

The evening's battling probably will break up that old feud between Maple Leafs, Montreal Maroons and New York Americans for second place in the Canadian Division. All three teams are seven points behind Montreal Canadiens. The Habitants and Chicago Black Hawks are the only clubs which have the evening off from work.

Herme is Useless

Leafs and Maroons may make a difference in the standing when they clash at the Forum in Montreal. After taking a beating at Boston Garden on Christmas Day, Leafs will be all set to knock off the Lead in Toronto will have Lorne Chabot in his usual spot on the defence, the man who got his first start on Saturday with Boston through a slight illness, variously diagnosed as sore throat, influenza, Turkey and stomach 'flu.

Paul Haynes will take Carl 'Cue' Voss as a scratch man for the Montreal team and Coach Conacher said a report that Voss will be out for the season. He thinks a rest of two weeks or so will put Voss in condition for the rest of the season. He has been fighting everything illnesses all season.

Whether Allan Shields American defenceman will play at Detroit tonight is up to President Frank Calder. Shields incurred a match penalty to the American-Rangers fray in New York Tuesday and the rule is a match penalty means suspension at the pleasure of the president.

Fresh from their 3-0 win from Maroons, Art Ross' Boston Bruins will attempt to break their tie with Detroit for second place in the American Division by whipping Rangers in New York. The Garden, though accustomed to a great crowd to see the game as a warm up for the later gaiety over on Broadway.

Gambling Evil Faces Grid Coaches

New York, Dec. 31.—(AP)—Overshadowing, even such perennial bugaboos as subsidization and rule changes, the rise of gambling in U.S. College football has Collegiate sports leaders worried.

With the "serious menace" as the spanking grid coaches termed it, provided the outstanding aftermath today to the meeting of college athletics Big-wigs, which reached a new high in "deploring" hits-and-runs about extra-curricular features of the game.

"By the first time the coaches are going to do something about gambling. After hearing a committee report that more money was bet on the grid game last season than on horse racing, an investigation was voted.

Harry Kipke, Michigan coach and new president of the Football Coaches Association of America, will name a committee to make the study and submit recommendations at the 1937 convention.

The gambling evil, earlier deplored by the convention of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, was brought into the coaches meeting in a report from the public Relations Committee headed by Clark Shaughnessy of Stanford.

"The increase in gambling last year," the report said, "was unbelievable. Professional gamblers are interested in a big way."

HERSHEY IN WIN COLUMN

Hershey, Pa., Dec. 31.—(CP)—Hershey Bars blanked Atlantic City Sea Gulls 3-0 in an Eastern Amateur Hockey League game here last night. Phil Morris and Vince Blanchard clipped home Hershey goals in the first period. Church Bremner added a third in the last session while the Sea Gull attack fumbled before the hefty Hershey line.

Sports Roundup

(By Scotty Reston).

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, Dec. 31.—(AP)—The United States football coaches finally justified their stay in the big town by getting off some of the year's best banquet yarns. . . . Harry Stuhldreher of Wisconsin was first with this one: his team was riding in a string of cabs back of a police escort at Madison. . . . Streouts to the stadium to play Minnesota, and a big Swedish band headed the parade. . . . Strung around all traffic to one side of the road, except one old farmer who jogged along in the middle. . . . finally the Swedish cop pulled up to the old man, grinned and asked: 'Say, wouldn't, wanna break into this funeral procession, now would you?' . . . Next was young Fred (Moon) Mullins, former Notre Dame star, now coaching at St. Mary's of Kansas. . . . He recalled going to the 1921 Notre Dame-Northern California game with a pal, who was, in due time, in a very pleasant mood. . . . which is to say he was drunk. . . . Southern Cal won 16-14. . . . And then Moon's pal was really drunk. . . . So Moon decided they should take a walk. . . . During which they passed a Butcher's store, and the pal stopped, began to weep. . . . 'Why, another close one,' he wailed, pointing to the window, where rested a sign:

"Hamburger 13
"Liver Sausage 12".

"Pass" McAuley, of Brown spilled one on himself. . . . His car driving several members of the Brown team to the last game of a disastrous season. . . . Said the Bears: They were riding in McAughey's big open touring car. . . . 'Coach,' you oughta be able to drive a bus after wheeling this big crate,' crashed one player. . . . 'I'll try,' Tuss replied: "Yeah, and if you don't get your blocking assignments better than you have all year, I'll probably be driving a truck soon."

Football coaches have one distinguishing physical illness: Bowegs. . . . Fred Thomsen, Arkansas coach, was a catcher for St. Louis Cardinals in 1926. . . . He also played up Schoolboy Rowe some years ago and tried to sell him to Branch Rickey, but Branch turned him down. . . . Predictions: Washington to edge Pitt; Alabama to thump Santa Clara; Texas Christian to beat Marquette; East to West; Auburn to beat Villanova, and a Happy New Year to You!

GIANTS BUY ALBANY CLUB

Joe Cambria to Quit Baseball, Sells All Interests

New York, Dec. 31.—(AP)—Sizzling over the baseball rumor boards from shouting denials of the sale, finally reached into the New York Giants' offices today and added the Albany Club of the National Baseball League's champions for a reported price of $50,000.

Cambria arrived with Frank Shaughnessy, President of the International League, and signed the papers. Acting like a worn-out business man about to take a long vacation, President Horace Stoneham of the Giants was all smiles as he told weary sports writers the deal finally had gone through.

The club said President Stoneham would be moved to Jersey City and a new corporation set up to manage its affairs at once. Travis Jackson, veteran Giant infielder and field captain, will be offered the managership of the team.

Cambria, denying the sale up to the last, said he might sell the Trenton Club of the New York-Penn League.

"My wife's health isn't any too good and I may decide to sell Trenton," he said.

Smith's Falls Seek Berth in Pro Loop

Brockville, Ont., Dec. 31.—(CP)—Smith's Falls, Ont., and Gloversville, N. Y., will apply for berths in the Canadian-American League at a meeting to be held next month in Cedenburg, N.Y., it was learned here yesterday.

The League, organized last year, included Brockville, Ottawa and Perth, in Ontario, and Cedenburg, Watertown and Gouverneur in New York State.

Player trades will also receive attention at the meeting. It was announced Eddie Tibbits, centre-fielder of Cedenburg, will play for Perth in 1937.

Recreation Alleys

C.N.R. LEAGUE

Roller Makers 2 points.

O. Beare	320
T. York	318
R. Sullivan	444
E. Schrieder	323
S. Symons	402
Total	2066

Stewart 2 points.

Clancy	330
Young	340
Morris	461
McCoschie	444
Total	2767

Lens 4 points.

A. Jones	527
A. Duffield	468
B. Graham	521
A. Knott	601
R. Robinson	663
Total	2780

Yard 1 points.

H. Pointer	533
W. Pointer	498
E. Taylor	510
D. Pointer	555
Hendershot	535
Total	2631

Sweep 2 points.

R. Adams	481
J. Pond	527
J. Jordon	571
G. Shaw	456
E. Donahue	499
Total	2534

Dept. 2 points.

B. Bunker	536
W. Hendershot	474
W. Waite	574
W. Storms	495
C. Gordanier	545
Total	2570

Major M League

Rovers 3 points.
H. Browning	464
H. Balzx	550
R. Simpson	455
H. Smith	541
F. Salsbury	517
Total	2628
National 1 point.
H. Wardyce	463
S. Munnings	395
M. Boyce	519
C. Kemp	422
H. Pointer	577
Total	2776
Garage Supply 1 point.
W. Hallam	504
T. Hughes	561
C. Day	533
Lloyd	633
L. Barrett	534
Total	2765
Certain 3 points.
H. Wardyce	515
K. Weeks	545
W. Sarazin	456
E. Dunnett	466
F. Drumm	502
Total	2609

HOCKEY RESULTS

International-American League
xPhiladelphia 4; Cleveland 4
Michigan-Ontario League
Chatham 8, Windsor 4

O.H.A. Junior "B"
Girafford Minors 5; St. Mary's 2
Stratford Nationals 5; Guelph 2

Regals 9
Hamilton Tigers 5, Hamilton Westsides 2

Nickel Belt League
Frood Mine 2, Ont. Refinery 1

Kingston War Memorial
Trenton Air Force 7, Kingston Garrison 2

Lanark County Junior
Perth 7, Smith's Falls 3

O.H.A. Intermediate "B"
Midland 4, Penetang 0
Senior "B" Lawrence League
Brockville 2, Chesterville 0

INTERNATIONAL CHESS RESULTS

Hastings, Eng., Dec. 31.—(AP)—Third round results of the International Chess Tournament here were:

Miss Vera Menchik, Czechoslovakia, lost to Ercuben Fine, United States, 36 moves.

Sir George Thomas, England, adjourned with F. M. Tyler, England 35 moves.

Willmas Winter, England, defeated G. Koltanowski, Belgium, 26 moves.

Erich Eliskases, Austria, drew with Dr. Alexander Alekhine, France, 30 moves.

Dr. Milan Vidmar, Yugoslavia, lost to C. Pelgin, Latvia, 32 moves.

Previously adjourned games completed today were:

Pelgin, Latvia, drew with Thomas, England, 52 moves.

Dr. Alekhine, France, defeated Dr. Vidmar, Yugoslavia, 71 moves.

SEATTLE-OAKLAND TIE

Seattle, Dec. 31.—(AP)—Seattle Seahawks came from behind in the third period to tie Oakland's Clippers, 3-3, in an overtime Pacific Coast hockey league game here last night.

Oakland's goals scored by the Bentley brothers, Arbour and Cecil King, came less than a half minute apart in the second period. Les Wilson and Don Proudfoot provided the Seattle counters.

At The Arena

A HAPPY NEW YEAR TO ALL
From the Arena Owners, Management and Staff.

PUBLIC SKATING
New Year's Afternoon and Eve.
SATURDAY MORNING
Free Skating for Children
8.30 to 11.30 a.m.
PUBLIC SKATING
Saturday Afternoon and Evening

GLENN MORRIS NO. 1 RANKING U.S.A. AMATEUR

In Nation-wide Vote Sports Observers Turn Thumbs Down on Decision

(By Sid Feder, Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, Dec. 31 (CP)—Sports observers in some quarters today wondered just how much Glenn Morris had thrown in relation to for his Sullivan award victory.

The eyebrow-raising was done by those who think Decathlon decision to turn professional after the Olympic games and his several run-ins with Amateur Athletic Union officials may have partially influenced the voting.

The award went to the world-record shrieking Texan Wednesday winner by the slim margin of 83 points—1,196 to 1,013 for Owens, Ohio State's great sprint star who won three individual Olympic crowns and recently was named the outstanding athlete of the year in the classical Associated Press poll.

Six hundred sports figures in all parts of the country bundled on 11,000 ballots, men and women, nominated for the award.

Advance Sportsmanship

The award-officially it's the James E. Sullivan Memorial—was announced last night by the A.A.U., by it, Morris is named the athlete, "who by his performance, example and influence as an amateur and a man, has done the most during the year to advance the cause of sportsmanship."

It can as astonishing career in which the former Colorado automobile salesman has skyrocketed from virtual obscurity to the top of the amateur heap in one brief track season.

Morris shot into prominence when he set a world's record for the decathlon in the United States Olympic tryouts at Lincoln, Nebraska last summer. He followed by taking the Olympic title at Berlin with a 7,900-point total to shatter his own mark and post a new all-time high.

Jack Medica, Seattle's Olympic swimmer, finished third to Morris and Owens with 691 votes to his credit. Trailing him in order were tennis player Helen Jacobs, Berkeley, Calif., with 204 points; sprint star Ralph Metcalfe, Marquette, 194; polo ace Tommy Hitchcock, New York, 170; amateur golf champion Johnny Goodman, Cincinnati 153; Dr. Charles P. Leonard, New York, swimmers pentathlon star, 151; skipper Dr. Charles P. Loomis, Jr., Olympic hurdler Forrest (Spec) Towns, Georgia and Middleman Herman Frasch Whitton, 34.

SUGGEST CHANGE OF JERSEYS FOR ROSE BOWL GAME

Contesting Squads Expect to Wear Conventional Colors, However

Pasadena, Calif., Dec. 31.—(AP)—Weather as unsettled as the colors of the jerseys to be worn by Pittsburgh and Washington threatened today to throw a monkey wrench into the football machinery of the Rose Bowl classic.

Rain-soaked the big Bowl, also everything around yesterday and the end is not in sight.

If the field is heavy tomorrow it will make the contrasted combination the color of the Jersey's unimportant—mud will make purple, blue or white quite obscure.

The Jersey question has been debated for the first time in Rose Bowl history. Each contestant expected to appear in its colors, blue for Pitt and purple for Washington. Each suggested the other wear white with neither inclined to budge its back on tradition.

Pittsburgh reached Pasadena last night ready to work out in the Rose Bowl this afternoon but may have to forego that late minute preparedness move to save the turf.

Husky and Panther practiced yesterday in a downpour.

Odds were even or 5 to 4 and take your choice. The change in weather did not change opinions the game was a toss-up.

Sports Review Reveals Surprises In Belleville During Season 1936

Two Championships Come to Belleville — George Pepper's Great Feat, and the City's Initial Softball Title.

(By KEN J. COLLING.)

As the year 1936 draws to a close some startling results have been witnessed in the local realm of Sportdom during the past twelve months. New sporting activities, hither-to-fore not included on the agenda of Belleville Sports Programs, loomed on the horizon and firmly established themselves as permanent fixtures for future years. Generally speaking, athletic activities in the city enjoyed a successfully good season and the future ashines brightly on the horizon for the Belleville Sports World for 1937.

Two championships were won by Belleville sons during the year, the year, the Canadian 200-mile Motorcycle championship by George Pepper and the intermediate O. A. S. A. softball title by the Belleville Percival Store team. Perhaps the most outstanding sporting event of the year was the Belleville Speedway, as far as interest was concerned, was the 200 mile Canadian motorcycle championship race held in the city on Labor Day. This event attracted over 10,000 spectators and was heralded as one of the greatest sporting events ever held in this district. The staging of the championship by a local son, George Pepper, made the event all the more popular. Some 30 riders, the cream of the North American Continent, competed in this exciting and thrilling event. Another very sporting event to meet with success was the Kinsmen's Club "Kid Kar" derby, staged locally on Thanksgiving Day before a large number of spectators. Walter Turner, Jr., was the winner and first champion of this unique event.

SOFTBALL—

Belleville won its first Provincial softball title in 1936 when the Percival Store team marched triumphantly through to the O. A. S. A. Championship in the intermediate ranks. A successful city league also functioned in softball and was won by the Belleville-Sargeant team. Softball fans of this summer league seems brighter as the New Year approaches.

HOCKEY—

It was left to the Belleville Collegiate Institute to bring the greatest hockey honours of the year to Belleville. The "students" advanced to the O. H. A. Junior scholastic finals, losing out in overtime to the Guelph C. I. team. A successful intermediate league was operated in the Ameliasburgh district, assisted in the stimulation of the national game. In the ranks of the O. H. A. Intermediate "B" ranks mediates lost a golden opportunity to bring another Provincial honour to the city when they were eliminated by the Wesley Red Wings in the third round play-offs of the O. H. A. The local junior O. H. A. entry was a disappointing team, material-

Stirling and District

Stirling—At the annual meeting of St. Andrew's Young Men's Bible Class held recently the following group of officers were appointed to direct the activities of the organization for the coming year. Hon., President, Mr. Robt. Ralston also Superintendent of St. Andrew's Sunday School; President, Mr. Thos. Ward; Vice-Presidents, George Tulloch and Russell Cain; Secretary-Treasurer, Mr. Roy Jubb. Team leaders for the attendance competition, Messrs. George Tulloch and Ernest Year's Work

The carefully planned report of the year's activities, as read by Secretary Roy Jubb, it was revealed that three open meetings had been conducted by the class with an average attendance of 125, and the regular class meeting attendance raised at 76 per cent. perfect. Among the objectives set forth by the class and reached were the purchase and presentation of one hundred books of Praise for use in the church, a donation of $15.00 to the church fund and also a similar donation of the Sunday school Christmas entertainment.

Following a most capable manner the various committees remembered the sick and bereaved throughout the year with the usual floral tributes etc. Social midweek activities of the organization included a very successful oyster supper held in the church parlours early in the year. The Class also took a prominent part in the organizing of the Community Christmas Carol Service held recently in the theatre, which was attended by more than five hundred persons.

With the close of its first year this fast growing organization has established a record for future days which will be difficult to improve. That however is the aim of the class for the coming year under the direction of the committee that guided it through 1936 with such success.

Personal Mention

Mr. Charles E. Allan of Campbellford, visited friends and relatives in Stirling on Tuesday of this week.

Mr. Duncan Monigomery has returned home after spending the past few months in Toquito.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Saleman of Montreal, Que., spent the Christmas holidays at the home of Mrs. Walter Wright and other relatives in the district.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Wannamaker and Douglas spent Christmas visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Moorecroft, Hazard's Corners.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Eggleton and family accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thain and family spent Christmas as the home of Mr. and Mrs. Moorecroft at Hazard's Corners.

Rev. R. J. and Mrs. Kolfend of Toronto, spent Christmas visiting at the home of their son, Rev. and Mrs. J. A. Kolfend of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church.

Mr. Lorne Anderson of White Lake, is spending the Christmas vacation at the home of his parents Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Anderson.

Mr. Wm. Davey of the Bank of Montreal staff spent the holiday week-end at his home in Hamilton, Ontario.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Fox of Toronto, spent Christmas with relatives in Stirling and district.

Mr. E. Munro left for the lumber camp in the northern part of the county this week, where the season's work has already begun.

Mr. Jack Potter has been engaged to do the cooking at the camp and left early this week.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Duffin were dinner guests on Christmas Day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McKee.

Rev. W. J. and Mrs. Scott and family of St. Paul's United Church spent Christmas Day visiting friends in Belleville.

Mr. Avery Mutton of Bishop's College, Quebec, visited friends in Stirling this week.

Miss Lillian McGuire of Belleville, was a recent guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Whitehead.

Mr. Howard Munro has returned to his work in Northern Ontario, after spending the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Munro.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Wells and daughter, spent Christmas visiting at the home of Mrs. Well's parents in Prince Edward County.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dodswell of Oshawa, visited friends and relatives in Stirling and Belleville, during the Christmas holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. James McNeilly of Peterboro visited friends in Stirling this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Broad, worth spent Christmas with relatives in Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Baker and Harold spent Christmas Day visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Savage in Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Andrews and Donald of Lindsay, spent the Christmas holidays with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Andrews, Church street.

Mr. Arthur Andrews spent Tuesday in Yarker and Wednesday in Napanee.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Reid and Gwendolyn of Ivanhoe and Mrs. James McMullen of Toronto, were dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wicket on Christmas Day.

Mr. Fred Joblin of Toronto University is spending a few days visiting friends and relatives in Stirling and district.

Misses Marcella and Eva Shea have returned to Buffalo, N.Y. after spending the Christmas holidays visiting at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Shea on the Frankford road.

Madgalyn Fisher, local representative of the Ontario Department of Agriculture is attending a few days this week at Guelph where he is attending an Agricultural Convention, being held at the Ontario Agricultural College.

Among the guests entertained for Christmas dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Bibbie on Front street, were Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. McCutcheon and Nancy Anne of Saginaw, Mich.; Mrs. Annie McCutcheon; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Meggisson of Bayside; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Daniels and Marion of Foxboro; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Scott and Donald; Mr. and Mrs. Percy Ulman, Ralph and Dorothy and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Meggisson.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry McCutcheon and Nancy Anne returned to their home in Saginaw, Mich., on Saturday, after spending the past week visiting at the home of the former's mother, Mrs. Annie McCutcheon, Front street and other relatives in Stirling and district.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray Hick, Helen and Marion, spent Christmas Day at the home of Mr. Hick's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hick in Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Tran Caldwell spent Christmas Day visiting Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hicks in Belleville.

Mr. Edward Nicholl of Hamilton, Bermuda, who is attending Ontario Business College in Belleville, is spending the Christmas vacation period at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Hanna, Tommy and Donald of Belleville, and Mr. and Mrs. James Cranston and Joan of Stirling spent Christmas Day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cranston, Front St.

Mrs. Wm. Waller and grandson, Frank Waller have returned to Stirling after visiting with Christmas holiday at the home of the former's son, Mr. Seymour Waller, Hastings.

Misses Dorothy and Betty Hulin are spending a few days visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Scott, Wellman's Corners.

Mr. Robert MacClellan of Toronto, visited friends in Stirling this week.

Among those entertained on Christmas Day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Weaver were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Vandervoort, Harry and Ralph; Mrs. Anne Bailey and Mr. Gordon Bailey, Mr. Oakley Vandervoort; Dr. and Mrs. Frank Weaver, of Longport, N.Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Telford and Wilmont of Bridgenorth, Ontario; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Weaver and Frank of Stirling; and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Weaver and daughter, Lois.

Mr. Frank Collins of Toronto, was in Stirling on Tuesday on business.

Mr. Maurice Bell spent Tuesday evening in Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Bailey accompanied by Mr. Thomas Montgomery Sr., and Mr. Stewart McGowan left on Wednesday morning by motor for Florida, where they will remain throughout the winter months. Mr. Montgomery will make his home in Tampa, Fla., while in the South.

St. James' Church Held Successful Card Party

A very successful card party under the auspices of St. James' Roman Catholic Church was held on Tuesday evening, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. Shea on the Frankford road. A good attendance took part in the games which consisted chiefly of progressive euchre and at the conclusion of the play the following prizes were awarded to the player with the highest total score: First prize among the ladies was awarded to Miss Pauline Shea and Mr. Shea, of Monmouth, Detroit, Mich. The first prize for men went to Mr. Arnold Forestall of Rawdon and the 2nd prize to Mr. Alfred Shea of Monmouth. Following the card games several of the ladies present assisted in serving a delicious lunch and a brief social period was thoroughly enjoyed by all the guests.

Nearly Four Hundred Attend Community Dance

Sponsored by a group of the most prominent citizens of Rawdon the Sidney Township Community dance held on Tuesday night in the Stirling Community building was without a doubt one of the year's leading social events. Nearly four hundred persons from all parts of both townships were in attendance and the various committees are to be congratulated on the manner in which the crowd was accommodated. Music for round and square dancing which was greatly enjoyed was provided by the Rose Orchestra, a group of talented artists. The midnight luncheon provided and served by the ladies of the community was both tasty and carefully planned.

Informal affairs such as this held from time to time throughout the year are a means of supplying the community with wholesome recreation with no financial object in view are proving immensely popular throughout the district and an hospitality permeates throughout the hospitality permeates throughout the evening. With its tickets on sale the public look forward to such events with an eagerness that always assures a large attendance.

MARMORA

Marmora, Dec. 31—Mr. and Mrs. L. McCrary of Madoc visited Mr. and Mrs. R. Phillips on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Lloyd and Mr. and Mrs. T. Lloyd of Bancroft were Sunday visitors at home of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Kilpatrick.

Mr. and Mrs. N. Hewitt of Peterborough spent the Christmas week end with relatives here.

Mr. Earl Mahood spent Christmas at his home in Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bud and three children of Hazzard's Corners spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Kilpatrick.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Embury of Frankford visited Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Kilpatrick on Sunday.

Miss Gertrude Naylor of Peterborough spent Christmas at her home here.

Miss Cora Yaschuck of Toronto is visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. K. Yaschuck for a few days.

Miss Marjorie Henderson is lying critically ill at the home of her sister, Mrs. M. R. Lavender.

Mrs. Jas. Hart is visiting relatives in Toronto for a few days.

The quality girls of the Sacred Heart church held a very successful dance in the town hall on Tuesday evening.

These Stories Made the World's News in 1936

By RAY COLLETT

Central Press Canadian Editor

Toronto, Ont., Dec. 31—Britain's royal Family — not customarily holders of the newspaper front page through the calm reign of His Majesty King George V—dominated the world's headlines of 1936. Subordinating such world shaking event as final demudication of the Treaty of Versailles by Adoph Hitler, completion of Il Duce's conquest of Ethiopia in defiance of the League of Nations, or outbreak of the most bitter and bloody war in Spain's and perhaps in the world's history, the story of Britain's kings must go down as the most dramatic, amazing and tragic of the year.

Between January 1 of the waning year, and this day, three kings at upon Britain's throne; a well loved monarch died; Prince Charming ascended the throne, was "beheaded" with assassination before hundreds of his loyal subjects, pitchforked his empire into its greatest crisis since the World War and finally, in a gesture that must go down as one of the most dramatic of all time, turned his back on the throne for the love of a beautiful commoner. His brother stepped to the vacant kingship.

Death and Rescue

Hardly had the new year dawned when King George V died and was buried in a tragically and colorful ceremony. Edward, Prince of Wales, was immediately acclaimed the empire's monarch. It was the year's first big news "break."

Also in January came the rescue of Lincoln Ellsworth and Hubert Hollick-Kenyon of Winnipeg from the Antarctic wastes the dramatic removal of Col. Charles and Mrs. Lindbergh to Britain to escape the spotlight of publicity that swept them as Bruno Hauptmann fought the death sentence for kidnapping the Lindbergh's son.

Japan took the front pages of February when an army putsch in Tokio snatched the lives by assassination of several of the empire's principal statesmen. In March the spotlight swung to Adolph Hitler. Defying and flouting decision, troops of the new German army swept into the demilitarized Rhineland zone and thereby tore to fragments last vestiges of the Treaty of Versailles. French troops to her frontiers and the world gasped as a new European war seemed imminent; calm counsels averted calamity—but Hitler's troops realized their new hold on the Rhine. Floods meanwhile were taking toll of life and property in eastern United States. The Hauptmann trial and subsequent appeals were climaxing the continent's most bitter pursuit of a criminal and on April 3, Hauptmann died.

Moose River Nezi

Few days later word flashed through Canada that three Toronto men, inspired by a broken down gold mine at Moose River, N. S. and year's most dramatic Canadian drama was open. Two days later Dr. D. E. Robertson, noted mining engineer, C. Alfred Stanley, stumbled to the surface after hour their rescuers acclaimed as "miracle men" and Tim Dwyer, a Herman Magill, their companion were found in the depths. Dr. Robertson meanwhile pushed on through Ethiopia to Addis Ababa, capital of the empire, to plead Britain's case of Nations' sanctions "drew" the Italian dictator. Relations between Britain and Italy to the brink of Mediterranean hostilities, Marshal Badaglio's troops were using both the aeroplane and gas attacks of Haile Selassie's forces, determined will tribesmen into the mountains. Addis Ababa fell early in May; the Negus fled to Britain's shores, a conqueror and pacification of the country remained to be done.

Transportation held the public eye in June with the huge dirigible Hindenburg making the first Atlantic flight to America and visiting New York and New York Queen Mary in public acclaim.

Then to Vimy

In late July a crusade of many years and months ended on the field plain that is called Vimy, in France, when a mighty memorial to Canada's war dead was unveiled in the presence of an army of Canadian ex-soldiers. King Edward VIII of England performed the unveiling ceremony; in the same July newspapers across the world shrieked the news that George Andrew McMahon, an unemployed journalist, had threatened the same month's life with a loaded revolver at his reside town Constitution Hill in London. McMahon received a one-year jail sentence. Edward went his way unharmed.

Then war flamed. Starting in August and still taking its toll as 1936 went out, Spain's civil war raged across the peninsula. Socialist government against Fascist rebel arms of her legal advisor as news of the execution of brought to her.

Canada's pilgrimage to Vimy Ridge, with hundreds of Canada's many service men flocking the Canadian memorial as the then King Edward, assisted by President Le-Brun of France, unveiled the mighty pile.

Re-election of President F. D. Roosevelt of United States with the biggest majority ever accorded a United States president; the president-elect acknowledges congratulations on the victory of his home supported by his son James.

Centre Panel, Top to Bottom

Accession of King George VI to the throne of England following abdication of his brother; the former Duke of York shown in a recent picture as he was to be acclaimed England's third king of 1936.

Germany's open defiance of the Treaty of Versailles, with Hitler's new army, cheered by the populace, marching into the Rhineland spiked at an open threat- of war with France.

Abdication of King Edward VIII of Britain in disagreement with the opposition of his cabinet to a marriage with his American sweetheart, twice-divorced Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson. The new king is seen with Mrs. Simpson during his vacation tour of Jugoslavia a few months before the constitutional crisis.

Right Panel, Top to Bottom

Death of beloved King George V a few weeks after the new year opened. A military guard of honor accompanies the casket enroute for burial in St. George's Chapel, Windsor, followed by a glittering group of royal and aristocratic mourners.

Johnstown floods of earlier years. Rescue of two Toronto men from the crumbling ruins of a gold mine at Moose River, N. S., after days of frantic rescue effort had roused the nation to a mighty pitch of emotional strain. Dr. D. E. Robertson, noted Toronto surgeon and one of the rescued, is seen being assisted from the tunnel by rescuers. C. A. Stanley followed him to safety. Herman Magill, Toronto lawyer, died of exposure.

Destruction of Ethiopia and property by sweeping floods through Pennsylvania that rivalled the tragic Johnstown floods of earlier years. Main Street cars are pictured submerged to their roofs. In the main streets on one Pennsylvania town.

Final conquest of Ethiopia by Italian armies culminated in the capture of Addis Ababa and flight of Haile Selassie to England. Italian troops are saluting their country's flag outside the Negus' palace as they invest the capital.

Left Panel, Top to Bottom

Spain's fratricidal strife with civilian militia, loyal to the government protected by hastily constructed barricades in the streets of Madrid, holding back the wall drilled ed forces of Fascist General Francisco Franco.

The execution of Bruno Richard Hauptmann for the kidnapping and murder of the Lindbergh baby; Mrs. Hauptmann is collapsing into the into self-imposed exile. In Europe back to the Spanish war, for its news; to presidents, Fuerrer and Duce, to the threat of a new strife in China and possible assassination of the great unifier Chiang Kai-shek. To a new Russian constitution and the possibility that Japan might again throw her hat into a ring—to be settled by intervention in China; to thoughts of the coming coronation —for a different king now—to more intensive rearmament, to fresh headlines.

Time into 1937—marches on.

Anne Shirley, Gertrude Michael and Herbert Marshall in "Make Way For a Lady", starting New Year's Eve with and big hit "Flying Hostess" at the Capitol.

A DAILY LETTER TO THE LOVED ONES FAR AWAY

300

Happy News Letters about people they know in the old Home Town and District.

SEND THEM

The Ontario Intelligencer

THE HOME TOWN PAPER
Phone 99

SIDNEY CROSSING

Sidney Crossing, Dec. 31— Mr. Clayton Chatterson and his mother of Moscow, Carmel took dinner on Thursday of last week with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Chatterson.

Mr. Donald Hubbs who has been spending the past few weeks in Detroit with relatives here.

Mr. Earl Mahood spent Christmas at his home in Peterborough.

Mrs. Harry Bud and three children of Hazzard's Corners spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Kilpatrick.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Embury of Frankford visited Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Kilpatrick on Sunday.

Miss Gertrude Naylor of Peterborough spent Christmas at her home here.

Miss Cora Yaschuck of Toronto is visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. K. Yaschuck for a few days.

Miss Marjorie Henderson is lying critically ill at the home of her sister, Mrs. M. R. Lavender.

Mrs. Jas. Hart is visiting relatives in Toronto for a few days.

The quality girls of the Sacred Heart church held a very successful dance in the town hall on Tuesday evening.

"KING of HEARTS"

By Edna Robb Webster

All masked, but smiling acknowledgment of the greetings, and greetings and kisses changing hands, to those who commanded them. Down by the flowers, generous selection of those when the King of Hearts, Thomas Miller Reid, been a pleasant partner, he discovered that there could be a more delightful one, and the lady whom he had danced a great deal she felt like that myself lady on the heavens which her questions satisfied, through swift clouds as she had been, her other carried on the bosom of the sky; seems she had been, for instance, she felt detached from everything, a remote part of the universe, one, odious only of a deep rhythm and an exalted rapture which carried her far into reality, the day and the evening, and those first dances had been like a beautiful dream; but now, they receded into the background; she felt insignificant and passive in a stirring, throbbing symphony.

Then it was the climax of everything this was the theme and meaning of the entire fantasy. Lynn tried to believe she did not know who he was this stranger who held her so possessively and held his face to hers in the unity of their rhythm. But she could not. He did not speak while they were dancing, and neither did she while they breathed between numbers. He remained through two dances and said, when the orchestra began the first strains of "I'll return soon. Don't run away," and left.

Later, she saw him dancing with Doll, about the ballroom floor, and gypsy, and Lynn felt a queer tightening of her throat, as if a band of steel encircled it. Then Doll danced "He belongs to Doll," she reminded herself sternly, and wisely dismissed from her mind the memory of the heavens when he had danced with her.

The short evening passed all too quickly. Then Lynn, standing again with the King of Hearts when the order was given to unmask. The jewelled pin the velvet-lined case. Then the announcement that he was correct. She was being presented with the Heart Trophy, and that it was hers, as they carry on all the other prizes, "for daddy, and for only I was a boy to carry on for him." Her regret sounded so deep that she quickly added, "But I'm glad you'll carry on for both our dads, and that's something."

Dewey had suggested that Lynn dance on to the Grill with him, but Doll objected, "No, we'll be seein' you there, later, Dewey."

"But maybe she won't find her, masked?" he protested, his glance entreating Lynn to encourage him.

"Then that'll be just too bad, won't it?" Doll retorted. "If you can't find her, you don't deserve to dance with her anyway."

"All right, you wait and see, I'll not dance until I do find her," he challenged, and they parted.

"I see where you are presented with the Heart Trophy at the ball tonight." Doll told her cousin in a confidential tone.

"What is that?" with happy curiosity.

"Each knave has a pin especially designed for the year, something like a Heart with a dagger and a member gives to the lady of his choice, and the presentation of the practically signifies the same thing as a betrothal. Serious business, some of them are only gold or silver, but some are set with real stones."

"But I couldn't accept it, I'm sure, even if he did offer it," Lynn was accustomed to the formality of such affairs of this prolonging day were moving.

"Oh, you are practically obliged to accept it. It's like a temporary engagement, almost. All the girls are eager to be favored, by the knave, whether they care for the fellow in a big way or not. The thing always ends in the dancers who follow these youths were danced away so many hours of their lives as naturally as they like to be left all trepidation as soon as she had glided half the length of the shining floor with the King of Hearts. The Thomas Miller Reid

"But Doll expects Miss Bartel to dance with us," Jack objected.

"Isn't Miss Bartel old enough to be out at night without a chaperon? I don't think she likes to be herded around like a lost sheep. You just tell Doll she'll be back her, later." His charming smile flashed for Lynn. "Don't go?"

Her glance left Jack's for a wavering moment, then some spark of defiance prompted her to say, "I don't think Doll will mind not having me with her, to make a crowd. I promised to go home with Mr. Goodson, and I think Doll expected me to, Mr. Thorpe."

"Of course, it was arranged, 'That's why I didn't dance with you' she tonight." Dewey turned away, his hand on her arm with an air of possession.

CHAPTER XIII

Jack awaited Doll in the reception room of the clubhouse. He felt a vague discomfort, which was new to him. Doll was one of these girls for whom one felt a good tolerant expectation and conceded that she had a right to keep them waiting. Jack could not have estimated the hours of his life which he had devoted to that pastime of service. But he never had considered them a loss of time until now.

His impatience mounted. He visualized a handsome youth whom he had known most of his life, bending a dark-haired girl whom he knew as Lynn Bartel, in devoted, vicious disturbed him, and he paced the length of the room with his hands thrust deep into his pockets.

Doll had talked to him a great deal about Lynn Bartel, saying that Doll always talked a great deal about people she disliked. Jack knew about Lynn, he wondered why Doll disliked her, and why Doll disliked Jack's interest. Often as not, he didn't listen carefully to what Doll said. Sometimes, when he was supposed to be listening. But, of course, he hadn't known Lynn Bartel then, so he sought himself wishing that he had.

The girls of Jack's life and experience had been those who were as established in his thoughts as his business associates. They were his home.... But Lynn was something very different from him. She was distinctly aware of her. Perhaps it was His fact, added to his restlessness, made him feel that Doll, which caused him to say to her when she appeared, the first of the usual words of their long association. "Why does it take you so much longer to dress than it does any gypsy? Almost everyone is ready before you."

"Oh, I'm a beauty specialist, a make-up to take off, and I thought I never would get through with that laughed, unaware of his stormy mood. "Jack, you are consistently bright as the tropical sun. The clouds of doubt or despair ever penetrated your consciousness. Your disposition reflected his attitude. But dispositions are changeable, and if there are no clouds to hamper them, they have no reason to shine. It is those which are the result of heavy clouds, which are brave and strong.

"Tomorrow is a long day," he observed soberly, as if he had not been anticipating it for the past several months with genuine pleasure.

"Is it? I hadn't thought of it as so far." Doll reminded him gently, and added with a sigh of weary breathless anticipation.

"But what he said," Jack "I don't think we should have let your cousin go with Dewey. She doesn't know him very well and I've grown to her as if we were trying to get rid of her."

"Why, Lynn was thrilled to go with Dewey, after all, she's quite old enough to be out with anyone who have danced with her several times in one evening. Besides, I'm her down here to trail around with us. Lynn needs a chance to meet eligible men and get acquainted."

"I don't think all the men in Chicago could be as interesting to her," tably.

"Why Jack, whatever is the matter with you? You're as cross as an old woman. If you can't quit grinding away at it, I'll offer you a crystal cruiser, and take a vacation, I'm going to think it is time you away."

"I'd rather work too much than play too much, as most of the fellows do" incorrectly.

x x x

Lynn's senses were keyed to their all-time high pitch. The moment she made the air like liquid silver, and it was yet a virginly sweet. Dewey had stopped his car under a pathtree and the leaves rustled together like whispering voices in the night. But they were as inarticulate as this transformation of Dewey was mysterious. She felt not so far away from Mrs. Kime's and not at the same time as though it was Lynn Bartel. She was someone else in whom she had no interest, saying so swiftly that the giddy gyrations of excitement made her quite bewildered. If only she might stop long enough to adjust her thoughts.

Even if she and her life could change so completely in a moment, how could she be sure of her reaction to it until she had time to think which to gain the right perspective on it? She had to find that time, somehow. Lynn felt a sudden need to stop his car before he arrived at Mrs. Mercilion's and, as she had known that he would. Intuition, and the acuteness of the day's events, had told her that he was going to had had so little experience of this kind. She sensed that it was a new example of what was known as Spanish Influenza. She had not been powerless to prevent Dewey stopping the car, nor to tell him what he would not, and knew that he would.

The objected, a trifle shakily, but lightly, "I must go straight home Doll will be expecting me."

"Not for a long time. Jack won't let her start home for quite awhile little lady. But I've been thinking about you ever since I saw you this afternoon."

"That hasn't been so long, has it?" Lynn asked, and was feeling a repetition of his earlier declarations.

"Time has nothing to do with it. When a man sees the girl he's been looking for all his life, it seems as if he has always known her. I've realized that all evening."

"Yes, you don't really know me." Lynn insisted, feeling more bewildered than ever. Here was a man whose attention most of the girls of the city had desired at some time telling her that she was the one for whom he had passed them by. "You don't know me."

"Then, let's get acquainted," he suggested, and drew her closer with his arm.

"Please," she misread, pressing her head against his shoulder to resist his embrace "You will know me better after I've seen you for a week."

"Then you will be going away-ers. Please say that you won't go away, that you will stay here always with me."

"I couldn't say that now—and be honest. You don't know me, either."

"Then you are wearing my pin," he reminded her, as he noticed the gleam of its emeralds in the light.

Her hand went up to it quickly as if she had forgotten it. "I'm grateful—if you misunderstood my acceptance of it. I expected to return it after tonight."

"I don't want it to you to keep."

"Doll told me—what it means, to the knave who gives it."

"Giving it means the same thing. It means to me, 'I love you.' Lynn."

"And that is why I can't."

"Why are you so sure? He asked you to marry him, I suppose."

She drew away abruptly. He was not the man she had known. Tonight. I shouldn't be at all surprised if those pale emeralds were not the ones he chased us both in a flaming chariot drawn by two dragons. Lynn, I've suddenly discovered that we were the fishes swimming in an ocean of green wine."

"What fairy tales you do confuse me," he chuckled.

"That is just how unreal everything seems to me. I've lived only twelve hours, and I'm not at all sure that I'm awake. My head has trembled a little with the strain of the day's prolonged excitements and I'm afraid I've lost my relationship. She wondered about his sincerity. Perhaps he was reading her thoughts. Was it possible that he proposed to every girl he met? Was he, at the moment, only in disdain her when the novelty of her attention had worn off? Doll had heeded Suzanne remark that Lynn was a girl who would marry a girl along until he was finished with her. But the men whom her cousin had known fitted Suzanne's description, hid been nothing like this man. Perhaps he was to impulsive, but surely he was not deliberately cruel.

He insisted, his hand clasping hers, "I can prove to you how real everything is. I'll say something to her lips, but she turned them away from his, and kept her cheek.

"Won't you please take me home? Mrs. Mercilion—"

"On one condition."

"What is that?"

"That you will let me take you to the ball, tomorrow evening, and that you will announce you can spare all this week."

"On one condition."

He smiled with amusement. "Fair enough. What is that?"

"That you will not ask me again to—marry you."

"That's bargain. And by the end of the week, you will have decided to stay here where you belong."

"By that time, you may have decided that I am not worth all this trouble."

The contract is signed and witnessed" he agreed blithely, and started the motor instantly.

(To be continued)

REDNERSVILLE

Rednersville—Mr. and Mrs. Everett Tompkins visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Gibson near Wellington.

Miss Vivian Snell of Belleville is spending Christmas holidays at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Adams spent Christmas Day with Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Prench, Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Farley and family spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Farley, Frankford.

Mr. Jack Taylor, Toronto, was a Christmas guest of his uncle, Mr. Ira Taylor.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lazier, Belleville, spent Christmas with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Smith.

Miss Ruth Sills spent the week-end with her brother and wife Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sills, Brockville.

Miss Dorothy Hagerman, Montreal, are spending Christmas holidays with Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hagerman.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Reiner spent Christmas with her father, Mr. Sidney Christian, Marmora.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ward, Keith and Leon spent Christmas at the home of her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Way, Bloomfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ward, Keith and Leon attended the fiftieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Ward, Wellington on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Reiner spent Christmas with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Fox, Victoria.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Simpson spent Christmas with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hotchepaw, Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. N. Wilder and daughter Joan spent Christmas Day with their daughter Mr. and Mrs. Tom Wannamaker, Havelock.

Miss Jessie Jones spent Christmas with Miss Bessie Wallbridge, Huffs Island.

Mrs. Prymer and Miss Ruth Prymer spent Christmas at her daughters, Mrs. Herb Pulver's, Centre.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hennessy, Oshawa and Mr. and Mrs. Welr and family, Consecon were Christmas guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wadsworth.

Miss Irene Holmes, Belleville, spent Christmas with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Holmes.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Roblin, George and Muriel, and Emiliana spent day at his sister's Mr. and Mrs. Carrol Kelley, Albury.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Roblin spent Christmas day with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Simonds, Consecon.

The Sunday School reports a very successful year with collections totaling $1,400 and Missionary Birthday Collection as haid of $34.16. Total collections $363.52.

CROFTON

Crofton—Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Covert spent Christmas day with Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Covert at Devondale's ville.

The Christmas concert held at the Hall on Tuesday evening was well attended. There was a good programme and Santa appeared just at the finish and distributed the presents from the well laden tree.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Munroe spent Christmas guests of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Morris at Massassaga.

Mr. W. J. Frink, Bert and Douglas spent Christmas with Major Frink at Toronto and the week end at Hamilton, returning home on Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Rongard, Mrs. Ernest Rongard spent Christmas with Captain and Mrs. Rongard at Gleeson.

Mr. Pat Quirk spent Christmas day with Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Munroe.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Jones, Lyle and Norman spent Christmas day guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Morden at Jerrichoe.

Mr. Donald Munroe spent Christmas and the week end with friends at Gleeson.

Mrs. B. Jones, Lyle and Noreen spent the week end with her mother Mrs. E. Williams and family at Big Island.

Mr. and Carson Williams of Big Island spent last week with his cousin, Lyle Jones.

CENTRE

Centre—Mrs. Aras Pulver spent Christmas with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Prymer, Centre.

Mrs. S. B. Fox spent the week end with her daughter, Miss Ira Fox, Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. John Coukell of Shannonville spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Giles and family.

Mr. Wm. Bowerman of Windsor spent Christmas at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Prymer.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Young, Mrs. Ross Young, Harold Young and Elmer spent the dinner hour on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Young.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith and Teddy of Belleville are the latest guests on Sunday at Mr. and Mrs. Harry Redner's.

Mr. Dick Creiney of Sudbury spent Christmas with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Creiney, Centre.

One day last week while Mr. Elmer Young and Mr. Morley Moy were strolling through the woods, Morley shot a large horned owl which had a wing spread of 56 1-2 inches.

Mr. Wellington Howell and sisters were entertained on Christmas with friends at Corbyville.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray Major entertained on Christmas Mr. and Mrs. James Holiday, Mr. Clayton Morden and family and Lloyd Graham and Mr. Lloyd Graham of Belleville and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Major of Corbyville.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ruff spent the tea hour on Christmas Day with friends, Mr. and Mrs. Rock Hubbs.

Fortunately no accidents occurred in this vicinity on Christmas night owing to the slippery conditions of the roads.

Mr. and Mrs. Peterly and Mrs. Alison of Belleville spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pulver, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Pulver and Morris, Mrs. Walter Prymer and Mrs Ruth Prymer.

Mr. Nelson Parliament of Ottawa spent Christmas with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Parliament.

6TH TYENDINAGA

6th Sidney—Mr. Maitland Sine and family spent Christmas with relatives in Detroit, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Striker and family were Christmas dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Striker.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Dafoe, Mrs. N. Sine, also Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Sine, Jr., were Christmas guests of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Sine, Frankford.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Campbell and John, spent Tuesday at the home of Mr. Earl Sine, Frankford.

Mr. Morley Sine and family spent Christmas Day with friends at Foxboro.

Mrs. Geo. Bell is spending a few days in Frankford with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ketcheson.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry of Windsor spent Christmas week with his wife and son, Ronald.

Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Scott spent Christmas Day in Belleville at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ross.

RiteshHanlo' rontoNon alichi-CH Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Ketcheson and Mr. C. W. Scott of Frankford, also Mr. and Mrs. Norman of Thurlow.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Ketcheson were guests on Christmas Day at the home of Mrs. Geo. Bell.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Hutchinson of Thurlow spent Sunday at the home of Mr. Maitland Sine.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Rose and family spent Christmas guests at the home of Mr. C. C. Davis of Foxboro.

TWEED

Tweed—Mrs. J. G. Frost, former organist of Tweed United Church, presided at the organ on the second morning and afternoon in the absence of the regular organist. At the morning service, Miss Isabel Dubuke, a member of the choir of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Peterboro, sang most pleasingly "Holy Child". Rev. R. Nicholson delivered a message appropriate to the New Year.

At the afternoon service under the auspices of the Men's Brotherhood an open service was held, a large number of ladies joined in the service. Mrs. Frost, Miss Semple, pastor of Bridge Street United Church, Belleville, gave a splendid address on "Lighting and Leading Lamps In Cold Rooms", in which he challenged his hearers to enter upon the New Year with a spirit of goodwill and friendliness towards their fellowmen which would be carried through the year. Mrs. F. E. Houston, former member of the choir of Tweed United Church, sang "The Palms" and "Calvary". Seldom has Mrs. Houston's fine soprano voice been heard to better advantage. The evening service is the United Church was well attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Angus of Toronto, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Sayers during the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Dawson Boyd of Belleville, were guests of the latter's father, Mr. W. J. Thompson, Queen St.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray Badgley of Toronto, were Sunday guests of relatives.

Mr. Reeve McCutcheon of Hamilton, spent Christmas with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McCutcheon.

Mr. A. C. Locke of New York spent a few days with his wife and family, during the Christmas holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Houston of Belleville, and Margaret, were in town on Sunday. Miss Enid Houston returned with them for a short visit.

Mr. Marwell Cotton and friend of Peterboro, spent Sunday with the former's mother, Mrs. F. Cotton.

The annual Rezall Contest sponsored by D. A. Rupert's Drug Store on a close on Thursday evening, December 24th, and the following prizes awarded: Prize No. 1 of the prizes awarded: Girls—Margaret Lehigh, doll carriage; Barbara Ann Ketcheson, week-end bag; Mary Locke, doll; Ruth Ketcheson, doll; Mary Locke, doll; Hazel Lehigh, doll carriage; Barbara Ann Ketcheson, week-end bag; Mary Locke, doll; Ruth Ketcheson

DAILY SHORT STORY

WASHED ASHORE

By H. Louis Rayhold

Scott was — was — called it with a start.

He sat up gingerly, both sides of his skull throbbing. Cold water was dripping from his sodden hair and running several feet down his face. The rope dangled from the ceiling. He was awake. Yes, there it was trailing. But it looked as if—by Jove, it had been cut!

Presently he that red-headed kid must have come to the beach, jumping around down and laughing at him. He smiled, then took hold of himself.

Thoroughly awakened by this time, Jim realized the futility of his efforts and so casually allowed himself to take a nap. There was no sense in rebelling against things that might serve as cure. He had been overworked for a long while, thereby doing considerable damage to his system, and she is to blame in the situation.

The glider rim of the small cockpit formed with blood from some of them grazy and tree limb, and he had been in a crash with a house on it.

Chances were that he would crash badly and one of those heads and could either pick up a car of the different models. Then he could instead signal the occupant of the plane to land. Why wait until some one of the boat discovered his absence and then start a search? At times, he thought the red-headed ruffian would never come back to own up to what had happened.

Not until Scott's other side actually called on the shoal did Jim feel positive certain, however, that he was actually going to strike the island and with a house on it. He felt a slight jar as the float first hit, then grazed the sand, then gasped all but sank.

Above him, obviously amused, was the prettiest girl he had ever seen.

Then it flashed upon him that she was speaking to him. Apparently she was asking if he was all right. Scott, if so, the advent of a strange man would cause a family hardship, she spoke first.

"I have been watching you, wondering if you would make it without landing. You see—my brother and I left Sandy Key and thought we'd take the boat and will be glad to take you back. I take it you are alone, or are you afraid?"

"You're said it!" cried Jim gaily. "Only red-headed devil and the rope, while I was taking a nap. You see, I was travelling for my health—short, that would be better all around. If she was the boat and he had a couple of them ought to get back to civilization."

"That's what it looked like. That is, I don't mean it looked as if you were a sissy, but as if you were adrift. Won't you now tell me how you got with your husband returns? He's out fishing now, I think you can see him. Organist—H. J. Madill.

"Why, that's a buoy!" she laughed. "Don't mean it looked as if you were a sissy, but as if you were adrift. Won't you now tell me how you got with your husband returns? He's out fishing now, I think you can see him. Organist—H. J. Madill.

"Why, that's a buoy!" she laughed. "Don't you know that? Why, that's the boat and will be glad to take you back. I take it you are alone, or are you afraid?"

"You're said it!" cried Jim gaily. "Only red-headed devil and the rope, while I was taking a nap. You see, I was travelling for my health—short, that would be better all around. If she was the boat and he had a couple of them ought to get back to civilization."

"That's what it looked like. That is, I

4% On Guaranteed First Mortgage Investments

A Good Investment for Trust Funds and Individuals

Ask for Booklet

THE STERLING TRUSTS CORPORATION

STERLING TOWER • TORONTO

Board Room Gossip

As related to Bay and Financial Street by Timothy Shy

Toronto, Ont., Dec. 31.—It is somewhat unusual to see official reports issued on the 31st or hottest year since the 1st of January, but such is the case with the report issued by the Dominion Meteorological Office. The report is dated December 31st, and it is likely that particulars for the period will be issued on January 1st, 1937. The reason for this departure from the usual practice is that the year 1936 has been such a remarkable one that it is thought advisable to get out the report at once. Another reason is that the Dominion Meteorological Office is now under the Department of Transport, and it is hoped that by getting out the report at once it will be possible to get a better start for the year 1937. Under the old Meteorological Office regime the report was usually issued in the middle of February. The report of 1936 will be awaited with interest by a great many people, as it is generally conceded that the year has been one of the most unusual in the history of the country. The report of 1935 showed that the year was one of extremes, with a good majority of the items of interest being on the side of the unfavorable. From a market point of view, the year 1936 has been one of extremes, with more activity and strength than has been seen for many years. The talents of 1936 have been varied, and